THE SOVIET SECRECY CONTRASTED WITH THE OPEN POSTWAR PROPOSALS TO ICELAND TO RETAIN RIGHTS TO AIRBASES IN THIS ISLAND. RUSSIA AND GREAT BRITAIN WERE FULLY INFORMED WITHOUT DELAY. THE PROPOSAL SUBSEQUENTLY WAS DROPPED BECAUSE OF NORWEGIAN OBJECTIONS.

DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES HERE SAID IT HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED THAT EITHER AT THE 1944 MEETING WITH LIE, OR LATER, MOLOTOV HAD PROPOSED:

1. EITHER OUTRIGHT CESSION OF BEAR ISLAND, WHICH IS SEPARATE FROM THE REST OF THE ARCHIPELAGO AND ABOUT 300 MILES FROM THE NORTH CAPE.
2. JOINT CONTROL OF THE WHOLE ARCHIPELAGO.
3. DENUNCIATION OF THE 1920 TREATY.
4. JOINT SOVIET-NORWAY DEFENSE AGREEMENT.

WITH ALLIANCE (200)

LONDON, THURSDAY, JAN. 16-(AP)-LONDON MORNING NEWSPAPERS OF VARIOUS POLITICAL LEANINGS WELCOMED TODAY THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE HAD AGREED TO CONCLUDE A TREATY OF ALLIANCE.

THE LABORITE DAILY HERALD, DECLARING THAT THE ALLIANCE DOES NOT CONCERN ONLY FRANCE AND BRITAIN, SAID: "IT COMPLETES THE STRUCTURE OF EUROPEAN SAFEGUARDS. IT WILL GIVE CONFIDENCE TO SMALLER STATES."

LORD BEAVERBROOK'S DAILY EXPRESS SAID: "A MILITARY ALLIANCE WITH FRANCE DIRECTED AGAINST THE GERMAN MENACE IS A PROJECT WHICH TODAY SEEMS TO BE REMOTE AND ACADEMIC. X X X IF THE MOTIVE OF THE ALLIANCE IS TO GIVE OUR OLD COMRADES, THE FRENCH, A NEW FAITH IN THEIR DESTINY, THEN ASSUREDLY IT MARCHES IN STEP WITH THE SYMPATHIES OF THE BRITISH PEOPLE.

"BUT AN ANGLO-FRENCH ALLIANCE WILL NOT BE THOUGHT OF IN EITHER COUNTRY AS THE SOLE OR EVEN THE FIRST OBJECTIVE OF POLICY AT A TIME WHEN PEACE IS BEING LABORIOUSLY REBUILT. ABOVE ALL OTHER CONSIDERATIONS AT THIS TIME STANDS THE NEED TO SUSTAIN AND STRENGTHEN THE UNDERSTANDING WITH RUSSIA. TO THIS AIM ALL OTHER PROJECTS MAY REASONABLY DEFER."

GREETING THE NEWS WITH A "CORDIAL WELCOME," THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY GRAPHIC DELCARED THAT THE TREATY "SHOULD FORM A COMPLEMENT TO THE FRENCH ALLIANCE WITH THE SOVIET UNION AND BE IN LINE WITH OUR OWN UNDERSTANDING WITH RUSSIA."

THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY TELEGRAPH PREDICTED THAT THE ALLIANCE WOULD MEET OPPOSITION FROM FRENCH COMMUNISTS "WHO, ECHOING MOSCOW, HAVE ALWAYS BEEN AGAINST EVEN A WESTERN BLOC."

NIGHT LEAD DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS

BY ALVIN J.STEINKOPF

LONDON, JAN 15-(AP)-RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN NATIONS DEADLOCKED IN THE FOUR-POWER DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL TODAY OVER AN AUSTRALIAN REQUEST FOR "FULL PARTICIPATION" BY SMALLER NATIONS IN DELIBERATIONS OVER THE GERMAN PEACE TREATY, AMERICAN AND BRITISH OFFICIAL QUARTERS REPORTED.

THE DEPUTIES RECESSED FOR THE NIGHT WITH ONLY RUSSIA OPPOSING THE AUSTRALIAN SUGGESTION. OFFICIAL SOURCES GAVE THIS ACCOUNT OF THE DISCUSSIONS DURING THE SECOND DAY OF MEETINGS:

THE AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT IN A NOTE TO THE COUNCIL ASKED THAT ALL BELLIGERENT NATIONS BE REPRESENTED AT ALL SESSIONS OF THE COUNCIL AND PARTICIPATE FULLY IN THE DISCUSSIONS.

FEODOR GUSEV, REPRESENTING RUSSIA, OBJECTED. HE SAID THE AUSTRALIAN PROPOSAL WOULD TURN THE MEETING INTO A FULL-SCALE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE. THAT WAS NOT THE INTENTION OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS, HE SAID.

ROBERT MURPHY FOR THE UNITED STATES AND SIR WILLIAM STRANG FOR BRITAIN AND MAURICE COUVE DE MURVILLE FOR FRANCE EXPRESSED GENERAL WILLINGNESS TO COMPLY.

THE COUNCIL DEBATED THE ISSUE NEARLY FOUR HOURS AND WILL RECONVENE TOMORROW MORNING. THE AGENDA CALLS FOR DISCUSSION OF THE AUSTRALIAN TREATY BUT BECAUSE PROCEDURE MUST BE ESTABLISHED FIRST THE AUSTRALIAN SUGGESTION PRESUMABLY WILL BE DEBATED AGAIN IMMEDIATELY.

ORIGINALLY, THE DEPUTIES WERE UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE ASSEMBLED TO DO THE SPADE WORK ON THE GERMAN TREATY WHICH WILL BE CONSIDERED BY THE FOREIGN MINISTERS WHEN THEY MEET IN MOSCOW MARCH 10. EIGHTEEN OTHER NATIONS HAVE BEEN INVITED TO SUBMIT THEIR VIEWS BUT NOT AS ACTIVE PARTICIPANTS.

DA6d3RES

LONDON, JAN. 15-(AP)-DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS OF THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA, GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE STARTED SPADEWORK FOR TREATIES WITH AUSTRIA AND GERMANY TODAY AND WERE CONFRONTED UNOFFICIALLY WITH BORDER DISPUTES, A FREQUENT CAUSE OF EUROPEAN WARS.

YUGOSLAV REPRESENTATIVES IN LONDON INDICATED MARSHAL TITO'S COUNTRY WOULD ASK FOR A SUBSTANTIAL PIECE OF SOUTHERN AUSTRIA. OTHER NEIGHBORS OF THE DEFEATED CENTRAL STATES EXERTED QUIET PRESSURE OUTSIDE THE COUNCIL CHAMBER FOR AUSTRIAN AND GERMAN LAND.

THE AUSTRALIAN DELEGATION WAS SO CONCERNED ABOUT POSSIBLE DELAYS OVER TERRITORIAL QUESTIONS THAT IT PROPOSED THAT A FACT-FINDING COMMISSION BE ESTABLISHED TO STUDY ALL CLAIMS.

THE DEPUTIES WERE PREPARING FOR THE DISCUSSIONS OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS THEMSELVES AT THE FORTHCOMING MOSCOW CONFERENCE. THEY WERE CONCERNED PRIMARILY TODAY WITH GERMANY.

A YUGOSLAV DELEGATION HEADED BY DR.JOZA VILFAN EXPRESSED CONCERN ABOUT A SLOVENE MINORITY IN THE AUSTRIAN PROVINCE OF CARINTHIA AND ASSERTED THAT THE SLOVENES SOUGHT UNION WITH YUGOSLAVIA. THE YUGOSLAVS SAID INFORMALLY THAT A TRANSFER OF POPULATIONS WAS NOT FEASIBLE AND THAT ANNEXATION OF THE VAGUELY DEFINED REGION WOULD BE A BETTER SOLUTION.

A YUGOSLAV SPOKESMAN SAID THEY ALSO WOULD DEMAND THE SURRENDER BY AUSTRIA OF A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF PERSONS CONSIDERED WAR CRIMINALS. HE CHARGED THAT MANY HAD FOUND REFUGE IN AUSTRIA AND THAT THE USTACHI, A FASCIST BAND WHICH HELD ABSOLUTE SWAY IN SLOVENIA DURING THE GERMAN OCCUPATION, STILL EXISTED IN AUSTRIA AS AN ORGANIZED FORMATION.

AUSTRALIA WAS UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE GIVEN GENERAL APPROVAL TO BRITISH AND AMERICAN DRAFTS OF AN AUSTRIAN TREATY OF INDEPENDENCE. THE DELEGATION ALSO SUGGESTED MEASURES FOR THE FEDERATION OF WHAT IS LEFT OF GERMANY, WITH STRONG FEDERAL STATES. AUSTRALIA URGED ALSO THAT A SUBSTANTIAL LIFT BE GIVEN TO GERMAN ECONOMY TO PREVENT THE COUNTRY FROM BECOMING A DRAIN ON THE ALLIED AND OCCUPYING POWERS.

THE DEPUTIES PROCEEDED WITH PREPARATION OF BOTH THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN TREATIES AFTER REJECTING A RUSSIAN PROPOSAL TO DEFER THE AUSTRIAN DRAFT UNTIL AFTER DISCUSSION OF GERMAN PEACE PLANS.

THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN, HOPING TO COMPLETE A DRAFT OF THE AUSTRIAN TREATY IN FIVE WEEKS, JOINED IN OPPOSING THE SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE, FEODOR GUSEV, WHEN HE ASKED YESTERDAY THAT GERMANY'S FUTURE BE DISCUSSED IN DETAIL BEFORE TURNING TO AUSTRIA.

THE ATMOSPHERE WAS REPORTED TO BE HARMONIOUS AS THE DEPUTIES BEGAN PRIVATE HEARINGS TO LAY THE GROUNDWORK FOR THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS' MEETINGS. BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN CALLED FOR "PATIENCE, STUDY AND DESIGN TO PREVENT GERMANY AGAIN THREATENING THE PEACE OF EUROPE."

EIGHTEEN EUROPEAN NATIONS HAVE BEEN INVITED TO PRESENT THEIR VIEWS ON THE TREATIES. FIRST COUNTRY TO SEND IN A MEMORANDUM WAS THE NETHERLANDS, WHICH URGED INTERNATIONAL CONTROL OF THE RUHR AND RHINELAND AREAS AND DECENTRALIZATION OF GERMANY TO PREVENT THE GERMANS EVER AGAIN ARMING FOR AGGRESSIVE WAR.

FIRST LEAD BEVIN

LONDON, JAN. 15-(AP)-THE MOSCOW NEWSPAPER PRAVDA ACCUSED FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN TODAY OF IGNORING THE ANGLO-RUSSIAN 20-YEAR MUTUAL ASSISTANCE PACT, AN ASSERTION QUICKLY DENIED BY THE FOREIGN OFFICE.

THE COMMUNIST PARTY PUBLICATION REPROACHED BEVIN FOR A BROADCAST SPEECH DEC. 22 SAYING GREAT BRITAIN "DOES NOT TIE HERSELF TO ANYBODY" EXCEPT UNDER OBLIGATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER AND SAID THIS "IGNORED THE EXISTENCE" OF THE WAR-BORN ALLIANCE. PRAVDA SAID BEVIN "WAS NOT SERIOUS" WHEN HE OFFERED LAST YEAR TO EXTEND THE TREATY WITH RUSSIA TO 50 YEARS.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE FOREIGN OFFICE SAID PRAVDA HAD TAKEN OUT OF CONTEXT ONE SENTENCE OF BEVIN'S SPEECH IN WHICH THE FOREIGN SECRETARY, ANSWERING SUGGESTIONS THAT BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY WAS LINKED TOO CLOSELY WITH THAT OF THE UNITED STATES SAID:

"GREAT BRITAIN BRINGS HER MIND TO BEAR ON EVERY PROBLEM ON ITS MERITS. SHE DOES NOT TIE HERSELF TO ANYBODY, EXCEPT IN REGARD TO HER OBLIGATIONS UNDER THE (U.N.) CHARTER AND I THINK WHAT I HAVE JUST SAID ABOUT OUR POLICIES SHOWS THAT WE HAVE A MIND AND PURPOSE OF OUR OWN."

ONE BRITISH SOURCE SUGGESTED THE ATTACK COULD INDICATE THAT RUSSIA WAS PREPARING TO ASK REVISION OF THE ANGLO-SOVIET ACCORD AND POSSIBLY OTHER TREATIES AS WELL. THIS SOURCE OBSERVED THAT RUSSIA, HER POSITION STRENGTHENED SINCE THE WAR, MIGHT HOPE FOR MORE FAVORABLE TERMS THROUGH RE-NEGOTIATION OF THE TREATY.

THE PRAVDA COMMENTARY ACCUSED BEVIN OF INSINCERITY.

"YESTERDAY MR. BEVIN PROPOSED PROLONGATION OF THE ANGLO-SOVIET TREATY FOR A TERM OF 50 YEARS," PRAVDA SAID, "AND TODAY HE IGNORES THE EXISTENCE OF THIS TREATY. NOW WE SEE THE REAL WORTH OF MR. BEVIN'S PROPOSAL FOR PROLONGATION OF THE ANGLO-SOVIET TREATY.

"THIS PROPOSAL WAS NOT SERIOUS AND DID NOT EXPRESS A REAL DESIRE TO STRENGTHEN RELATIONS WITH THE SOVIET UNION.

"PERHAPS MR. BEVIN HAS FORGOTTEN THAT GREAT BRITAIN HAS A TIE WITH THE SOVIET UNION BY THE TREATY OF ALLIANCE IN THE WAR AGAINST HITLERITE GERMANY AND HER ASSOCIATES IN EUROPE, AND OF COLLABORATION AND MUTUAL ASSISTANCE AFTER THE WAR."

RECALLING BEVIN'S STATEMENT THAT BRITAIN "BRINGS HER MIND TO BEAR ON EVERY PROBLEM ON ITS MERITS" AND HAS "A MIND AND PURPOSE" OF HER

OWN, PRAVDA ADDED:

"NOBODY WILL QUESTION THE RIGHT OF BRITISH DIPLOMACY TO HAVE AN INDEPENDENT MIND AND AIMS OF ITS OWN, BUT IN THE FIELD OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS EVERY STATESMAN WHO RESPECTS HIS PEOPLE AND HIS COUNTRY ALSO RESPECTS THOSE INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS WHICH HIS COUNTRY HAS ASSUMED."

"BEVIN'S FOREIGN POLICY," THE BROADCAST SAID, "DOES NOT INCLUDE WHAT THE ELECTORS WHO VOTED FOR THE LABORITES WANT -- NAMELY A CONSISTENT LINE OF COOPERATION AND FRIENDSHIP NOT ONLY WITH THE U.S.A. BUT WITH THE SOVIET UNION AS WELL.

"THIS EVOKES DOUBT AND ANXIETY IN THE MINDS OF ORDINARY MEN IN BRITAIN.

"HOW DEEPLY THIS ANXIETY HAS PENETRATED INTO THE MASSES IS PROVED BY THE FACT THAT AT THE LAST TRADES UNION CONGRESS IN BRIGHTON 2,444,000 VOTES WERE GIVEN FOR A RESOLUTION EXPRESSING ANXIETY AT THE WORSENING OF RELATIONS BETWEEN THE SOVIET UNION AND BRITAIN X X X"

THE SOVIET MONITOR IN LONDON, WHICH TRANSLATED THE BROADCAST FROM THE RUSSIAN, AT FIRST QUOTED THE MOSCOW RADIO AS SAYING THE PRAVDA ARTICLE WAS HEADLINED "BEVIN RENOUNCES ANGLO-SOVIET TREATY," BUT LATER CHANGES ITS TRANSLATION TO "DISAVOWS."

LONDON, JANG. 15-(AP)-A PUBLISHED ALLEGATION THAT WINSTON CHURCHILL'S POLICIES IN GREECE WERE INFLUCNED BY HIS HAVING BEEN "BAILED OUT OF BANKRUPTCY BY BRITISH BANKERS WITH GREEK INTERESTS" WAS WITHDRAWN IN OPEN COURT TODAY WHEN IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT CHURCHILL'S LIBEL SUIT AGAINST THE AUTHOR AND PUBLISHER OF THE BOOK, "DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE," HAD BEEN SETTLED.

COUNSEL G.O.SLADE SAID IN THE KING'S BENCH DIVISION THAT THE AUTHOR, LOUIS ADAMIC, AND THE PUBLISHER, HARPER AND BROTHERS, AGREED TO PAY "SUBSTANTIAL DAMAGES" TO THE WARTIME PRIME MINISTER, AND THAT BOTH ADMITTED WITHOUT QUALIFICATION THAT THE STATEMENT WAS UNFOUNDED. BOTH PUBLISHER AND AUTHOR APOLOGIZED FOR THE STATEMENT, COUNSEL SAID.

CHURCHILL'S SUIT WAS BASED ON A SINGLE FOOTNOTE IN THE BOOK, QUOTED IN COURT AS FOLLOWS:

"AS DREW PEARSON REVEALED IN ONE OF HIS COLUMNS EARLY IN 1945, THE MOTIVES FOR THE BRITISH POLICY IN GREECE WERE AT LEAST PARTLY LINKED TO THE FACT THAT HAMBROS BANK, OF LONDON, THE CHIEF BRITISH CREDITORS OF GREECE (GETTING UP TO 17 PERCENT ON THEIR LOANS WHICH THE LEFTIST OR EAM GREEKS WISHED TO SCALE DOWN TO 5 PERCENT) HAD BAILED WINSTON CHURCHILL OUT OF BANKRUPTCY IN 1912."

SLADE TOLD THE COURT:

"A GROSSER LIBEL UPON A PUBLIC MAN HOLDING THE HIGH POSITION WHICH MR.CHURCHILL HELD IS DIFFICULT TO CONCEVE AND THERE IS NOT ONE WORD OF TRUTH BEHIND IT.

"MR.CHURCHILL WAS NEVER ON THE VERGE OF BANKRUPTCY. HE NEVER HAD ANY FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FROM OR ANY FINANCIAL DEALINGS WITH HAMBROS OR THE HAMBROS BANK.

"BUT THE REFLECTIONS MADE UPON HIS SOLVENCY ARE AS NOTHING TO THE SUGGESTION THAT, IN HIS CAPACITY OF PRIME MINISTER, HE HAD ALLOWED HIS PRIVATE FEELINGS AND HIS PRIVATE INTERESTS TO SWAY AND INFLUENCE THE POLICY AND CONDUCT OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS BY THE GOVERNMENT OF WHICH HE WAS THE HEAD, AND ESPECIALLY IN REGARD TO OPERATIONS OF WAR, IN WHICH SO MUCH BLOOD WAS SHED."

SLADE SAID COPIES OF THE BOOK WERE SENT BY AN UNDISCLOSED AGENCY TO PERSONS PROMINENT IN BRITISH LIFE, WITH THE APPARENT INTENTION OF INJURING THE REPUTATIONS OF CHURCHILL AND THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT. HE SAID THE FOOTNOTE APPEARED TO HAVE BEEN INSERTED BY THE AUTHOR WITHOUT THE KNOWLEDGE OF HARPER AND BROTHERS AFTER THE FIRM HAD APPROVED THE BOOK'S PROOFS.

LAWYERS FOR ADAMIC AND FOR THE PUBLISHERS MADE BRIEF STATEMENTS CONFIRMING THAT THE STATEMENT WAS UNFOUNDED AND EXPRESSING REGRET THAT IT HAD APPEARED.

MOSCOW, JAN.15-(AP)-RUSSIA ANNOUNCED TONIGHT SHE HAD INFORMED THE UNITED STATES THAT SHE WOULD NOT JOIN WITH THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN IN ANY "INTERFERENCE" IN POLAND'S PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS NEXT SUNDAY.

(THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE RELEASED A THIRD BRITISH NOTE TO WARSAW, IN WHICH THE POLES WERE WARNED THAT "THE MANNER OF HOLDING ELECTIONS IN POLAND IS THE SUBJECT OF INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS AND IS MORE THAN A PURELY DOMESTIC AFFAIR.")

THE RUSSIAN NOTE SAID THE SOVIET UNION DID NOT AGREE WITH ACCUSATIONS THAT THE GOVERNMENT BLOC IN POLAND WAS VIOLATING PROVISIONS FOR FAIR ELECTIONS, AS SPECIFIED IN BIG THREE AGREEMENTS AT YALTA AND POTSDAM.

ALL OF THE AMERICAN ACCUSATIONS, THE NOTE CONTINUED, WERE BASED ON STATEMENTS BY MEMBERS OF THE OPPOSITION POLISH PEASANT PARTY, HEADED BY VICE PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK.

THIRD LEAD U.N.
BY FRANCIS W.CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JAN. 15-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES AND SOVIET RUSSIA FAILED TODAY TO AGREE IN A LAST-MINUTE CONFERENCE OFF THE FLOOR ON THE BEST WAY TO TACKLE THE ARMS QUESTION. THE UNITED STATES THEN REQUESTED THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TO DELAY ACTION ON THE QUESTION UNTIL FEB. 4 TO ALLOW TIME FOR STUDY.

WARREN R.AUSTIN, UNITED STATES DELEGATE SITTING FOR THE FIRST TIME, AND ANDREI A.GROMYKO, SOVIET RUSSIAN DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER, TALKED EARNESTLY IN THE DELEGATES LOUNGE FOR NEARLY 30 MINUTES BEFORE THE AFTERNOON MEETING OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

THEN GROMYKO MAINTAINED HIS POSITION FOR AN IMMEDIATE START ON THE WHOLE QUESTION OF GENERAL ARMS LIMITATION IN A BRIEF SPEECH TO THE COUNCIL AS IT RESUMED DEBATE AT 2:45 P.M. E.S.T.

A220UN

AUSTIN QUICKLY FOLLOWED WITH A PLEA THAT THE COUNCIL WITHHOLD ACTION UNTIL FEB. 4 TO ENABLE THE DELEGATES TO STUDY THE MOTIONS BEFORE THE COUNCIL AND TO MAKE UP THEIR MINDS. HE ALSO CALLED ATTENTION TO THE CHANGE IN THE UNITED STATES SECRETARY OF STATE AND NOTED THAT THE INCOMING SECRETARY SHOULD HAVE TIME TO STUDY THE PROPOSALS.

THE COUNCIL NOW HAS FOUR SEPARATE RESOLUTIONS PENDING ON THE MANNER IN WHICH IT SHOULD GO ABOUT THE STUDY OF ARMS LIMITATION. AUSTIN SUGGESTED THAT THE WHOLE MATTER COULD BE HELD UNTIL FEB. 4.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JAN. 15-(AP)-AUSTRALIA IN A COMPROMISE MOVE PROPOSED TODAY THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL SET UP AN ELEVEN-MEMBER DISARMAMENT COMMISSION AND SPEED UP CONSIDERATION OF ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL.

THE PROPOSAL WAS ADMITTEDLY MEANT TO RECONCILE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA ON HOW BEST TO APPROACH THE ARMS AND ATOMIC PROBLEMS.

THE COUNCIL RECESSED AT 12:58 P.M. E.S.T. UNTIL 2:30 P.M. E.S.T. FOR LUNCH WITH THE DEBATE STILL IN PROGRESS. ANDREI A. GROMYKO, SOVIET DELEGATE, WAS LISTED AS THE FIRST SPEAKER FOR THE AFTERNOON.

NORMAN J.O.MAKIN, CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNCIL AND AUSTRALIAN AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, SUBMITTED A RESOLUTION PROVIDING:

1. FOR A DISARMAMENT COMMISSION TO WORK OUT ARMS LIMITATION PROPOSALS.
2. FOR THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION TO CONTINUE ITS WORK ON ATOMIC CONTROLS.
3. FOR THE MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE TO DRAFT PROPOSALS FOR THE UNITED NATIONS INTERNATIONAL POLICE FORCE TO PRESERVE WORLD ORDER.
4. FOR THE DISARMAMENT COMMISSION, THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION AND THE MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE TO SUBMIT REPORTS BEFORE APRIL 30.
5. FOR THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO EXPEDITE CONSIDERATION OF THE FIRST REPORT OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, WHICH CONTAINS THE UNITED STATES PLAN FOR ATOMIC CONTROL.

BEFORE MAKIN INTRODUCED HIS RESOLUTION, DR. QUO TAI-CHI, OF CHINA, SUPPORTED THE UNITED STATES POSITION THAT ATOMIC ENERGY SHOULD BE GIVEN TOP PRIORITY IN THE ARMS LIMITATION STUDY.

CHINA ALSO SUPPORTED A RUSSIAN PROPOSAL FOR A COMMISSION TO DRAW UP PLANS FOR ARMS REGULATION.

THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA, FRANCE AND AUSTRALIA NOW HAVE RESOLUTIONS BEFORE THE COUNCIL SUGGESTING VARYING WAYS OF APPROACH TO THE ARMS PROBLEM.

WARREN R.AUSTIN, FORMER U.S. SENATOR, TOOK HIS SEAT TODAY AS THE U.S. DELEGATE. HE WAS OFFICIALLY WELCOMED BY THE COUNCIL AND IN RETURN HE SAID HE FELT A SENSE OF "DEEP RESPONSIBILITY" IN HIS NEW TASK.

AS THE COUNCIL MET AT 11:18 A.M. E.S.T., INFORMED QUARTERS SAID AUSTIN WAS READY TO PROPOSE THAT THE COUNCIL SET FEB. 4 AS A DEADLINE FOR THE BEGINNING OF DISCUSSIONS ON SPECIFIC ATOMIC CONTROL MEASURES.

MAKIN TOLD THE COUNCIL THAT THE AUSTRALIAN RESOLUTION WAS DRAFTED IN AN ATTEMPT TO COMBINE THE UNITED STATES AND SOVIET VIEWPOINTS. THE UNITED STATES RESOLUTION WOULD PUT ATOMIC ENERGY AHEAD IN THE ARMS STUDY; THE SOVIET PROPOSED TO TAKE UP THE SUBJECT OF GENERAL ARMS LIMITATION, WITHOUT PRIORITY FOR ANY WEAPON.

THE AUSTRALIAN PROPOSAL CALLS FOR A DISARMAMENT COMMISSION TO BE MADE UP OF REPRESENTATIVES OF EACH NATION ON THE 11-MEMBER COUNCIL. THIS COMMISSION WOULD WORK OUT THESE PROPOSALS:

"(A) FOR THE GENERAL REGULATION AND REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS AND ARMED FORCES, AND

"(B) FOR PRACTICAL AND EFFECTIVE SAFEGUARDS IN CONNECTION WITH

THE GENERAL REGULATION AND REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS AND TO SUBMIT SUCH PROPOSALS TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL."

"IF OUR RESOLUTION WERE ACCEPTED BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL," MAKIN SAID, "IT WOULD BE OUR VIEW THAT THE NEW DISARMAMENT COMMISSION WOULD COMMENCE WORK ON GENERAL DISARMAMENT IMMEDIATELY, AND THAT THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION WOULD ALSO CONTINUE ITS WORK WITHOUT WAITING FOR THE FORMAL ENDORSEMENT BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL OF ITS FIRST REPORT."

AUSTIN WAS SAID XXX ETC. AS BEFORE.

Plan to Unify Army, Navy Is Announced by Truman

SERVICES WOULD RETAIN SEPARATE ADMINISTRATIONS

Over - All Director Would Have Power to Lay Down Common Policies.

SEPARATE AIR FORCE

Four Secretaries Called for in Setup; Cabinet Status Uncertain.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 — (AP) President Truman tonight announced a plan to unify the Army and Navy. The secretaries of the War and Navy departments approved.

But the plan cannot go into effect unless Congress passes a law approving it, too.

It would create a separate air force and place a new secretary of national defense in over-all charge of it, the Army and the Navy. Each of the three services would have secretaries, too, who may be cabinet members.

The expected unification would be achieved by vesting the secretary of national defense with authority to lay down common policies and programs for the three arms. But each department would be administered as a unit.

No Over-all Commander

Moreover each service would have its own military chief, with no over-all military commander as proposed in previous merger plans.

The Navy would keep its Marine Corps and its land-based aviation, both fighting and transport. Other concessions to the navy [illegible] are contained in the plan.

A number of congressmen of both parties immediately applauded it. The Republican chairmen of the Senate and House armed forces committees predicted early passage of the necessary law.

Some legislators warily said they wanted to see details before committing themselves and one—Senator Robertson (-R-Wyo) said some parts of the plan seemed "loosely drawn."

Calls for 4 Secretaries

The plan provides for four secretaries where now there are only the two—the secretaries of War and the Navy. All four may have cabinet status, said Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate Armed Forces Committee, in congress' discretion.

They would be the secretaries of national defense, of the Army, of the Navy, and of the air forces. The secretary of national defense would have over-all direction of all three services, but each would be a department in itself and the secretaries heading them would have direct access to the president.

The matter of cabinet status for the three secretaries of Army, Navy and Air was left up in the air in the White House announcement. Senators Robertson (R-Wyo) and Russell (D-Ga), who received an outline of the plan in advance, got the impression that the three would be cabinet officers along with the secretary of defense.

Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House Armed Forces Committee called the plan "splendid" but noted its "provides for integration, not merger as such."

The president had urged unification in his state of the union message as an economy measure, but he made no mention of economy in a letter to Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal congratulating them upon their agreement.

Praised by Truman

"I recognize that each of the services has made concessions in the effort to reach this agreement," he wrote, "and I feel that it constitutes an admirable compromise x x x.

"I appreciate your fine efforts and I congratulate you upon an accomplishment which, I am sure, will contribute greatly to the efficiency of our national defense."

The plan provides for the Navy to retain its Marine Corps and for the Marines to have their own planes both for service with the fleet and at naval bases and "for the conduct of limited land operations."

The navy itself "will not be restricted as to types of aircrat maintained and operated" except that its air operations are to be "coordinated" with those of the separate air force to be set up. The army proposal to restrict the navy in its operation of land-based planes previously had caused bitter opposition in naval circles.

The navy not only will continue its air operations, including air transport, but also will continue its own aviation development and procurement programs. However, it is to use facilities of the separate air force "in all cases where economy and effectiveness will thereby be increased."

These and some other details of the plan were set forth in a draft of an executive order which Patterson and Forrestal proposed the President should issue when Congress passes the necessary legislation. The White House released the proposed order along with a letter from the two secretaries to the President and his reply.

More Details Today

Additional details will be made available by Army and Navy officials at a news conference at the White House tomorrow morning. Scheduled to participate in the conference are:

Forrestal; Kenneth C. Royall, undersecretary of war, substituting for Patterson; General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower, army chief of staff; Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations; Vice-Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, deputy chief of naval operations; and Major General Lauris Norstad, director of plans and operations of the War Department general staff.

The army itself would retain some aviation despite the creation of the separate air force, as it now operates some surface vessels. The proposed order stipulates that "the United States army includes land combat and service forces and such aviation and water transport as may be organic therein." This aviation undoubtedly would include artillery spotter planes, and also probably would include some troop carrier and other cargo ships.

The separate air force would include "all military aviation forces, both combat and service, not otherwise specifically assigned." It would conduct air operations in support of both land and sea fighting and furnish the air lift and support for airborne operations.

The plan stipulates that the three departments of army, navy and air "shall be administered as an individual unit" under the secretary of national defense.

The secretaries of the three departments could go direct to the President with reports or recommendations at any time provided they first informed the defense secretary.

Patterson and Forrestal worked out the agreement after long conferences which they undertook at Mr. Truman's request. Their letter to him pledged that they will "support legislation in which the following points are incorporated:

1. The establishment of a council of national defense, a national security resources board and a central intelligence agency (which already exists).

Letters on Plan for Army-Navy Unification

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP).—Following are the complete texts of an exchange of letters between President Truman and Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal on the new Army-Navy merger plan, and of a proposed executive order on armed forces' unification (subject to legislation by Congress):

Truman's Letter

January 16, 1947

Gentlemen:

I am exceedingly pleased to receive your joint letter of Jan. 16 in which you advised that you have reached full and complete agreement on a plan for the unification of the armed services.

I recognize that each of the services has made concessions in the effort to reach this agreement, and I feel that it constitutes an admirable compromise between the various views that were originally held.

The agreement provides a thoroughly practical and workable plan of unification and I heartily approve it.

You have both worked ably and effectively, with your respective staffs, in bringing about this result. I appreciate your fine efforts, and I congratulate you upon your accomplishment which I am sure will contribute greatly to the efficiency of our national defense.

Very sincerely yours
HARRY S. TRUMAN

Patterson-Forrestal Letter

Dear Mr. President:

On May 31, 1946, we jointly submitted to you a letter which gave our respective views on the major elements involved in establishing a greater measure of unification of our armed forces.

In your letter of June 15, 1946, you expressed gratification at the progress made in narrowing the zone of disagreement which had previously existed between the services and stated your position with reference to the essential points on which disagreement still existed.

In our opinion the necessity for a greement between the military services is now even greater than at the time of our earlier letter. We and our representatives have been meeting in an effort to secure further resolution, within the scope and spirit of the statement of your position of the views of the two departments. We are pleased to report success in this undertaking.

Support for Legislation

We agree to support legislation in which the following points are incorporated:

A. There shall be a Council of National Defense, a National Security Resources board and a Central Intelligence Agency (which already exists) as agreed by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy in their letter to the President of 31, May, 1946.

B. The armed forces shall be reorganized under a Secretary of National Defense so as to place the Army, the Navy (to include the Marine Corps and Naval Aviation), and the Air Force, each with a military chief, under the departments of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force respectively. Each shall be under a Secretary and, under the over-all direction of the Secretary of National Defense, shall be administered as an individual unit. The Secretary of any of the three departments may, at any time, present to the President, after first informing the Secretary of National Defense, any report or recommendation relating to his department which he may deem necessary or desirable.

C. A War Council shall be created consisting of the Secretary of National Defense as chairman and with power of decision, the Secretary of the Army, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of the Air Force, and the military heads of the three services, and also the Chief of Staff to the President if that office exists. Subject to the authority and direction of the Secretary of National Defense, the Joint Chiefs of Staff will provide for the strategic direction of the military forces of the United States, will formulate strategic plans, assign logistic responsibilities to the services and support thereof, integrate the military requirements and, as directed, advise in the integration of the military budget.

E. There shall be a full-time joint staff to consist initially of not over 100 officers to be provided in approximately equal numbers by the three services. The joint staff, operating under a director thereof shall carry out policies and directives of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

F. The Secretary of National Defense shall head the armed forces establishment, shall be vested with authority under the President to establish common policies and common programs for the integrated operations of the three departments and shall exercise control over and direct their common efforts to discharge their responsibility for national security.

We are agreed that the proper method of setting forth the functions (so called roles and missions) of the armed forces is by the issuance of an executive order concurrently with your approval of the appropriate legislation. We attach for your consideration a mutually agreed draft of such an order.

Respectfully Yours,
JAMES FORRESTAL,
Secretary of the Navy
ROBERT P. PATTERSON,
Secretary of War.

Proposed Order

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the United States, and as President of the United States and commander in chief of the armed forces of the United States, I hereby prescribe the following assignment of primary functions and responsibilities to the three armed services.

SECTION I—THE COMMON MISSIONS OF THE ARMED FORCES OF THE UNITED STATES ARE:

1. To support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic.

2. To maintain, by timely and effective military action, the security of the United States, its possessions and areas vital to its interest.

3. To uphold and advance the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To safeguard the internal security of the United States as directed by higher authority.

5. To conduct integrated operations on the land, on the sea and in the air necessary for these purposes.

In order to facilitate the accomplishment of the foregoing missions the armed forces shall formulate integrated plans and make co-ordinated preparations. Each service shall observe the general principles and fulfill the specific functions outlined below, and shall make use of the personnel, equipment and facilities of the other services in all cases where economy and effectiveness will thereby be increased.

SECTION II—FUNCTIONS OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

General

The United States Army includes land combat and services forces and such aviation and water transport as may be organic therein. It is organized, trained and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained combat incident to operations on land. The Army is responsible for the preparation of land forces necessary for the effective prosecution of war, and, in accordance with integrated joint mobilization plans, for the expansion of peace-time components of the Army to meet the needs of war.

The specific functions of the United States Army are:

1. To organize, train and equip land forces for:

A. Operations on land, including joint operations.

B. The seizure or defense of land areas, including air-borne and joint amphibious operations.

C. The occupation of land areas.

2. To develop weapons, tactics, technique, organization and equipment of Army combat and service elements, co-ordinating with the Navy and the Air Force in all aspects of joint concern, including those which pertain to amphibious and air-borne operations.

3. To provide, as directed by proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To assist the Navy and Air Forces in the accomplishment of their missions, including the provision of common services and supplies as determined by proper authority.

SECTION III—FUNCTIONS OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY

General

The United States Navy includes naval combat and service forces, naval aviation, and the United States Marine Corps. It is organized, trained and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained combat at sea. The Navy is responsible for the preparation of naval forces necessary for the effective prosecution of war, and in accordance with integrated joint mobilization plans, for the expansion of the peace-time components of the Navy to meet the needs of war.

The specific functions of the United States Navy are:

1. To organize, train and equip naval forces for:

A. Operations at sea, including joint operations.

B. The control of vital sea areas, the protection of vital sea lanes, and the suppression of enemy sea commerce.

C. The support of occupation forces as required.

D. The seizure of minor enemy shore positions capable of reduction by such landing forces as may be comprised within the fleet organization.

E. Naval reconnaissance, anti-submarine warfare, and protection of shipping. The air aspects of those functions shall be co-ordinated with the air force, including the development and procurement of aircraft, and air installations located on shore, and use shall be made of air force personnel, equipment and facilities in all cases where economy and effectiveness will thereby be increased. Subject to the above provision, the Navy will not be restricted as to types of aircraft maintained and operated for these purposes.

F. The air transport necessary for essential internal administration and for air transport over routes of sole interest to naval forces where the requirements cannot be met by normal air-transport facilities.

2. To develop weapons, tactics, technique, organization and equipment of naval combat and service elements, co-ordinating with the Army and the Air Force in all aspects of joint concern, including those which pertain to amphibious operations.

3. To provide, as directed by proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To maintain the United States Marine Corps, whose specific functions are:

A. To provide Marine forces together with supporting air components, for service with the Fleet in the seizure or defense of advanced naval bases and for the conduct of limited land operations in connection therewith.

B. To develop, in co-ordination with the Army and the Air Force, those phases of amphibious operations which pertain to the tactics, technique and equipment employed by landing forces.

C. To provide detachments and organizations for service on armed vessels of the Navy.

D. To provide security detachments for protection of naval property at naval stations and bases.

E. To provide, as directed by the proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

5. To assist the Army and the Air Force in the accomplishment of their missions, including the provision of common services and supplies as determined by proper authority.

SECTION IV—FUNCTIONS OF THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

General

The United States Air Force includes all military aviation forces, both combat and service, not otherwise specifically assigned. It is organized, trained and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained air offensive and defensive operations. The Air Force is responsible for the preparation of the air forces necessary for the effective prosecution of war except as otherwise assigned and, in accordance with integrated joint mobilization plans, for the expansion of the peace-time components of the Air Force to meet the needs of war.

The specific functions of the United States Air Force are:

1. To organize, train and equip air forces for:

A. Air operations including joint operations.

B. Gaining and maintaining general air supremacy.

C. Establishing local air superiority where and as required.

D. The Strategic Air Force of the United States and strategic air reconnaissance.

E. Air lift and support for air-borne operations.

F. Air support to land forces and naval forces, including support of occupation forces.

G. Air transport for the armed forces, except as provided by the Navy in accordance with Paragraph 1F of Section III.

2. To develop weapons, tactics, technique organization and equipment of Air Force combat and service elements, co-ordinating with the Army and Navy on all aspects of joint concern, including those which pertain to amphibious and air-borne operations.

3. To provide, as directed by proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To provide the means for co-ordination of air defense among all services.

5. To assist the Army and Navy in accomplishment of their missions, including the provision of common services and supplies as determined by proper authority.

VIEWS GIVEN ON UNITY PLAN 1947

Proposal Wins Quick Approval From Some Sources

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Truman's announcement of the proposal to unify the nation's armed forces won quick approval from some Congress members tonight but others said they wanted to "see the details."

Senator Gurney (R., S.D.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he thought Congress now can adopt any legislation needed to put the plan fully into effect "without controversy."

"This plan represents a compromise in viewpoints by the Army and Navy," hesaid. "It takes a load off Congress and there ought to be no controversy over putting it into effect."

Wants To See Details

Gurney said he expected the War and Navy departments to submit drafts of legislation shortly. Considerable work has already been done toward whipping a bill into shape, he said.

House Speaker Joe Martin (R., Mass.) said:

"I want to see the details before I comment. We still are an independent legislative body."

Representative Hoffman (R., Mich.), chairman of the House Expenditures Committee, which will handle any unification legislation, said he will "do everything I can to give a merger bill an early hearing."

Representative Andrews (R., N.Y.), chairman of the House Armed Forces Committee, said:

"Splendid. This provides for integration, not merger as such, and it will make for economy and efficiency in a modern way."

"No Special Ideas"

Hoffman said he had "no special ideas" on a merger and that as an individual he favored giving any bill all the hearing needed.

"My only hope," he said, "is that we have some bill that will be of practical value—that it will give real national defense and prevent waste. And, we want no more Canol oil projects."

Representative Cole (R., N.Y.), of the Armed Forces Committee, who fought merger proposals previously, said:

"If this agreement is as I understand it, it is the best news to come out of Washington since V-J day.

"It means that the Army and Navy can now get down to the business of protecting the country instead of fighting for preference, prerogatives and control."

Thinks It Was "Loosely Drawn"

Representative Phillips (R., N.Y.), member of the House Appropriations Committee: "Anyone who had any connection with this last war saw the absolute need of some kind of unity at the top level. I am very glad the President has taken this step—it is a big one forward."

Senator Robertson (R., Wyo.), who reviewed an outline of the plan at a meeting of senators with Secretary Forrestal before the White House announcement, said it was his understanding that all of the four proposed secretaries would have Cabinet rank.

The Wyoming Senator, who has opposed past merger proposals, complained that the agreement was "loosely drawn" in some respects, adding that Congress might have great difficulty in putting it into legislative form.

Navy To Keep Marines

For instance, Robertson said the plan provides that both the Army and Navy shall maintain tactical air forces, with the Navy retaining both its carrier-based and land-based aircraft. Both also will have separate air transport, he said.

He added that he thought the authority of the new air force division was "not defined closely enough." There was no specific provision, he said, as to which service should undertake training and which should supply the aircraft needed by the various branches.

He said the Navy would retain control of the Marines, a point of controversy in past merger proposals.

"This is all going to be very difficult to put into legislation," he said. "There may be a number of controversial questions left for Congress to decide."

Tydings's Comment

Senator Tydings (D., Md.), member of the Armed Services Committee: "I haven't read the plan. I have a perfectly open mind but I am not in position to comment unless I know what I am talking about."

Senator White, of Maine, Republican majority leader: "I would say generally that if the three branches of the armed services have reached an agreement on unification, that creates a substantial presumption in favor of the plan."

Representative Bates (R., Mass.), another member of the former Naval Committee:

"If the agreement was not made under duress and by direction of the President, this is one of the best pieces of news I've heard in a long time. Morale in the armed forces was fast deteriorating because of the open and bitter conflict that has been raging between the Army and Navy for the past few months."

Thinks It's "Very Fine"

Representative Havenner (D., Cal.), who also served on the Naval Committee: "I should think that if the plan for merger can be carried out intelligently it would be in the interests of efficiency and economy."

Representative Thomason (D., Texas), top Democrat on the Armed Forces Committee: "Very fine and very encouraging. I just hope it's as strong as the War Department has been asking for. But whatever it is, I indorse the general principle. I think it spells efficiency and economy."

Yugos Demand 1000 Square Miles of Austrian Territory

LONDON, Jan. 16—(AP) Yugoslavia submitted demands today to the Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers for 1,000 square miles of Austrian territory, including Klagenfurt and Villach which rank eighth and ninth in population among the cities of Austria.

The deputies, who will draw up recommendations for the treaties with Germany and Austria to be submitted to the Foreign Ministers Council in Moscow in March, agreed to invite Austria to make suggestions on the treaty which will reestablish that country as an independent nation.

It was a foregone conclusion that Austria would oppose strenuously the Yugoslav request presented in a memorandum. The Austrians claim that the region, which is predominantly agricultural, is vital to the future of their country.

On the matter of the German treaty the Russians won approval of a complicated process which places Poland first on the list of states which will make recommendations on peace terms to be imposed on Germany.

Soviet Deputy Feodor T. Gousev refused to agree to an Australian proposal to give the smaller Allied nations the right to sit at the conference with full negotiating powers. It appeared they will be able to present their views, but not to participate in the conference either as negotiators or listeners.

Gousev regarded Poland's appearing first as a matter of prestige. Others in order of appearance will be the Netherlands, Yugoslavia, Australia, South Africa and Canada.

Yugoslavia's demand for Austrian territory were submitted while the deputies were arguing over the Australian proposal. In addition to the territory the Yugo-slavs asked autonomy for an "island" of 70,000 Croats living in Burgenland, eastern Austria, near the Hungarian frontier, or else the exchange of the Croats for Austrians in Yugoslavia.

The request urged cession of 950 square miles of Slovene Carinthia which would include all the strategic Drava River valley running from a point near Harmager in the Karn Alps to Dravograd, where the Drava now enters Yugoslavia.

This 80-mile long strip would take in the industrial city of Klagenfurt, often an Allied air target during the war, with its population of approximately 30,000, and Villach, with a population of about 24,000. The town of Voelkermarkt would also be added. Villach is about 10 miles north of the juncture of the Italian, Yugoslav and Austrian frontiers.

The Yugoslavs also asked for 50 square miles in Styria, forming the so-called Radkersburg triangle northeast of Maribor and southeast of Graz. They asked for the territorial adjustment on "historical, ethnical, geographic and economic facts." Of the 190,000 population in the area, 126,000 are Slovenes, the memorandum said.

In another decision today, the deputies decided to set up four committees to organize their work: Steering and coordinating, political structure and territories, finance and economy, and military affairs.

Brazil, in a note sent to Sir William Strang of Britain, chairman of the conference for this week, protested that the smaller states were not being adequately represented.

It said that Brazil "feels strongly that the vital questions linked with the organization of Europe and world peace are such as to fully justify the right of all countries at the meeting to discuss not only their own views but also those of the great powers."

Slavs Ask Land From Austria (D)

London, Jan. 16 (AP)—Yugoslavia, without awaiting a decision on whether she and seventeen other "little nations" would participate directly in drafting German and Austrian peace treaties, submitted demands to the Deputy Foreign Ministers Council today for 1,000 square miles of Austrian territory.

Premier Marshal Tito's regime urged cession of 950 square miles of Slovene Carinthia and 50 square miles of Styria, in which it declared a population of 190,000 included 126,000 Slovenes.

In a handsomely printed memorandum, with maps and six annexes, Yugoslavia also demanded either autonomy or the right to be exchanged for Austrians from Yugoslavia for a group of the 70,000 Croats living in Bergenland, eastern Austria, near the Hungarian frontier.

Debate Resumed

The memorandum was submitted as the Deputy Foreign Ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Russia resumed debate, deadlocked last night by Russian opposition, on Australia's demand that eighteen small nations that fought Hitler be permitted to join in drafting the treaties.

Yugoslavia expected the Allies to "fulfill her just claims," she said, ". . . especially in view of the fact that her justified demands had not been given due consideration in the drafting of the peace treaties so far."

The new frontier demanded by Yugoslavia "on historical, ethnical, geographic and economic facts" which the memorandum said had already been cited in a previous memorandum dated February 18, 1946, would give Tito's stake all the Drava River valley east and south of Villach.

Frequent Bomb Target

The river now enters Yugoslavia at Dravograd, about 60 airline miles farther east. The part of Carinthia claimed by Yugoslavia includes industrial Klagenfurt, a frequent target of American bombers during the war.

Melikovec (Volkermarket) would also be added to Yugoslavia in a strip about 80 miles long by 30 miles wide at its widest point, running east from a point in the Karn Alps, to be sliced off southern Austria southeast of Graz.

The part of Styria demanded is the so-called Radgona (Radkersburg) triangle northeast of Maribor. ADD

ANGLO - FRENCH ACCORD CALLED SOCIALIST AID 1947

Plans for Military Alliance Seen as Bid to Bolster Party on Continent.

PACT AIMED AT REICH MENACE

Britain and France Also Pledge Economic Co-operation in Reconstruction Problems.

London, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—The British announcement of a forthcoming military alliance with France was interpreted by circles within the British Labor Government today as a forthright bid to strengthen Socialism on the European Continent.

Significantly, Prime Minister Attlee announced the agreement on the eve of the French elections in which Vincent Auriol of the minority French Socialist party was elected President. Great Britain chose to announce the plan after consultations with Leon Blum, a Socialist Premier and interim President of France. There was a feeling in Great Britain that if a Socialist-led Government took over and succeeded in France, its success would boost the Socialist movement elsewhere in Europe.

Alliance Aimed at Reich.

The British Government of course, had the strongest desire for the military alliance itself, which in Attlee's phraseology, would be directed against any fresh German menace. The alliance in conjunction with the Anglo-Soviet pact of 1942 and the French-Soviet treaty of 1944, would constitute a triangular encirclement of Germany, which is considered by the British as the fountainhead of wars.

The alliance would be a direct descendent of the "Entente Cordiale" of 1904, which was considered ended with the fall of France in 1940. Close relations with France have been a keystone of British foreign policy throughout this century.

While some observers wondered whether Soviet Russia might not be cool toward such a Western entente, a British Foreign Office spokesman declared that the alliance completes "a magnificent triangle in post-war treaties linking Eastern and Western Europe."

The joint British-French announcement said that in addition to the treaty of alliance, the two countries would strive for mutual reconstruction aid in the economic field. Blum failed in one of the most urgent tasks of his mission—that of getting more coal immediately from the British-occupied Ruhr—but the statement expressed the hope that coal shipments could be resumed in April.

"It was recognized," the statement said, "that the two countries, having been twice attacked by Germany in a period of twenty-five years, have equal interest in protecting themselves against a fresh German menace.

Previous Attacks Recalled.

"It was therefore agreed that in these circumstances, a treaty of alliance should be concluded between them at the earliest possible moment within the framework of Article 52 of the Charter of the United Nations and with the object of preventing any further aggression by Germany and of preserving peace and security.

The British Press Association said that both the United States and Russia were informed in advance concerning the proposed treaty.

'UNITED EUROPE' GROUP ORGANIZES

LONDON, Jan. 16 — (AP) Winston Churchill and leaders of several sections of British opinion, including the left, organized today to promote a "United Europe."

The "United Europe committee," favoring a regional organization such as the Pan-American Union, named Churchill as chairman but did not specifically endorse his plan for a United States of Europe, which the Russian press has said would be an anti-Russian bloc. Committee members included backers of "Federal Union", a plan for a union of Britain and the United States.

"The final elimination of war can be assured only by the eventual creation of a system of world government," the committee said in a statement of policy. "As a practical step toward this ultimate ideal, appropriate nations should be encouraged to group themselves together in larger units.

"It would be premature to define the precise constitutional relationship between the nations of a unified Europe. Unity can grow only from free consultation."

Committee members said they had been in touch with leaders of other European nations, and the policy statement said "since for the moment governments find it difficult to take the initiative the responsibility falls upon individual citizens."

Organizers included Victor Gollancz, leftwing book publisher; Earl Russell, philosopher-mathematician, a laborite; the Very Rev. W. R. Matthews, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral; George Gibson, trade union leader; and several conservative and labor members of parliament.

King George Presents Insignia to Winant

London, Jan 16 (A. P.).—King George presented the insignia of an honorary member of the Order of Merit today to John G. Winant, former United States Ambassador to the United Kingdom. The award, one of Britain's highest, was made to Winant in the New Year honors list. After the presentation, Winant had luncheon with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace.

PLANE HITS 618 M.P.H.

London, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—A former R. A. F. squadron leader, W. A. Waterton, claimed a world speed record of 618.4 miles an hour in a flight today from Paris to London. His elapsed time was 20 minutes 11 seconds for the 208 statute miles.

Piloting the R. A. F. Gloster Meteor 4-E-549, a jet plane, which made the previous world record of 616 miles an hour last September, he flew at about 10,000 feet.

6 Anti-Red Leaders Hanged

Accused of Forming White Guard to Fight for Germany

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP).—The Moscow radio said tonight that five White Russians and one German had been hanged after pleading guilty to charges of organizing White Guard (anti-Soviet) regiments to fight for Germany against Russia.

The Russians were, the radio said, Ataman (Cossack chief) P. N. Krasnov, Lieutenant General A. G. Shkuro, Major General Prince Klych Sultangirei, Major General S. N. Krasnov and Major General T. I. Domanov, all of the White Army, and German SS General Helmuth Van Pannwitz.

French Elect Auriol President

Members of Parliament Name Socialist as Head of Fourth Republic. (D) 1947

Paris, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—Vincent Auriol, veteran Socialist leader, today was elected President of the Fourth French Republic at Versailles Palace.

The official count of the ballots cast by the combined houses of the new Parliament gave Auriol 452 votes, with 242 going to the M. R. P. candidate Auguste Champetier de Ribes, 122 to Jules Gasser of Radical-Socialists and 60 to Michel Clemenceau, son of the old Tiger of France, representing the P. R. L.

Seven miscellaneous ballots brought the total cast to 833. Thus, Auriol obtained a twenty-one-vote majority. The Communists did not advance a candidate, but supported 62-year-old Auriol.

Second Honor in Two Days.

It was the second honor in two days for Auriol, long known as a peacemaker in French politics. He was chosen Tuesday as president of the National Assembly.

The left and center stood and applauded vigorously when Jacques Duclos, vice-president of the Assembly, announced the choice of Auriol as the first popularly chosen and regularly elected President of France since 1940.

Premier Leon Blum arrived at the palace and prepared to accompany the new President back to Paris in a triumphal procession, including patent leather-booted Republican Guards and representatives of France's most famous regiments.

Auriol's first task was to accept the resignation of Blum, interim president for a month, and long Auriol's colleague in the Socialist party.

Auriol's successor as president of the National Assembly will be selected by another Assembly election. Radical-Socialist leader Edouard Herriot was a leading candidate and was expected to get the support, for the most part, of the same factions which elected Auriol president of the Republic. ADD

AURIOL IS ELECTED HEAD OF NEW-BORN FRENCH REPUBLIC

R.C. WILSON (U)

PARIS, Jan. 16—(AP) Socialist Vincent Auriol was elected first president of the new-born Fourth Republic at Versailles Palace today by an almost exclusively Communist and Socialist vote. He was escorted to Paris with all the fanfare of pre-war France, watched in silence, by thousands along the Champs Elysees.

The 62-year-old "peacemaker" of French politics was elected with 452 ballots, 10 more than the required absolute majority of the 883 votes cast by the combined Houses of Parliament. The margin was provided by 10 Socialist and Communist delegates who arrived in Paris from French West Africa only a few hours before.

Calls Conferences

Aides of the short, bespectacled Auriol, who rode into French politics on a bicycle in 1914, predicted that a cabinet would be set up "within the next three days." He scheduled conferences with Communist Leaders Jacques Duclos and Maurice Thorez for tomorrow morning.

His first task is to nominate a premier to form a cabinet, and the aides said his choice will probably be his close friend, the veteran Socialist Leon Blum, who submitted his resignation to Auriol as president-premier of the interim government.

Blum's prestige reached new heights today because of his London talks resulting in a decision to negotiate a new Anglo-French alliance.

The election of Auriol demonstrated the power of the French left when it manages to unite.

3 Others in Race

There were three other candidates. They were the Centrist Catholic MRP's August Champetier De Ribes, who polled 242 votes; Jules Gasser of the Radical-Socialist who received 122, and Michel Clemenceau, of the Rightist PRL, who got 60. There were an additional seven scattered ballots.

The election climaxed a decided swing by the left toward Communist-Socialist cooperation that has been evident the past week due to the vacillating attitude of the MRP, which persisted in opposing Auriol both in his election Tuesday as president of the assembly and today.

Auriol was slated to be succeeded as assembly president by Radical-Socialist Edouard Herriot, a prewar premier.

MRP leaders said tonight they regreted that their party had not withdrawn Champetier De Ribes' hopeless candidacy, "because it is throwing the Socialists into the arms of the Communists." Georges Bidault, former foreign minister and premier, led an unsuccessful fight to have the MRP support Auriol.

What this portends for France's future depended largely upon whether Blum, 74, accepts the premiership. If he does, he probably will try to form a coalition cabinet taking in at least the three big parties, Communists, Socialists and MRP. He may try to give Bidault the foreign affairs portfolio.

The Communists, however, said they will battle for the foreign affairs posts as they fought in vain for the ministry of national defense during the last cabinet crisis.

istic land grab," he asserted. "If they get away with it they will do it in North Africa with the Italian colonies. In carrying out these policies their smooth propaganda machinery puts out lies that even Falstaff could not have thought of."

He said the British people were not "aware of the strong American sentiment over Palestine that endangers Anglo-American friendship" but he believed "there will be people in England who will raise the question of free speech and censorship when Parliament reconvenes."

Flew By Chartered Plane

The bespectacled professor spent $250 chartering a single-engined plane to cross the English Channel yesterday when regular airline seats were barred to him. Accused by the British of making inflammatory statements about Palestine on a previous visit, he had been warned he would not be allowed to re-enter the country where he had an apartment.

When he landed at the airport he was ushered to a police station and kept there until the return flight could be made.

He said Fowler Harper, a Washington attorney, had asked the State Department to protest.

BRITAIN DEPORTS PROF. SMERTENKO

1947 (D)

Paris, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—Deported from England, Prof. Johan J. Smertenko, vice-president of the American League for a Free Palestine, returned to Paris today in a chartered plane.

He flew to England from Paris yesterday, and spent last night in Wallington Police Station, classified as an unwanted visitor to Britain.

Scotland Yard agents and immigration authorities, enforcing a Home Office order excluding him from the United Kingdom, took Smertenko to the airport in England and saw him aboard the plane returning to Paris. He was taken into custody as soon as he arrived yesterday. ADD

Smertenko Asks U.S. Protest

Paris, Jan. 17 (AP)—Prof. Johan Smertenko, vice president of the American League for a Free Palestine, returned today from London, where he spent a night in a police station and said he had asked the United States State Department to protest his exclusion from England.

Smertenko, a Russian-born American citizen, told a news conference that "British bureaucrats" in banning him from England, where he has tried to organize a British counterpart of the league, were acting in "spite" and were trying to keep the English people ignorant of the real situation in Palestine.

AMG ASKS RUSSIA TO BARE GERMAN INDUSTRIAL PLAN

R. KASISCHKE (W)

BERLIN, Jan. 16—(AP) Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chief of American Military Government, asked the Russians for an explanation today of their announced plan to boost the level of German industry by 200 to 300 per cent in their zone.

Publication of the plan and of a promise to reduce substantially their reparations demands upon industrial production in the eastern zone caught Clay and other allied representatives by surprise.

With only a radio script of the announcement available to him, Clay asked the Russian representative on the Allied Control Authority coordinating committee to explain the proposed step at the committee's next meeting.

Asks Stands of Other Allies

The plan was disclosed today in the Berlin newspaper of the Soviet-sponsored Social Unity party and evoked from Otto Grotewohl, party co-chairman, a demand that "all the other allies promptly and frankly make known their reparations demands."

American sources said the plan to boost industrial production appeared to be fantastic, since the original four-power agreement was to cut Germany's industrial potential only 35 to 50 per cent. The plan would increase German production above pre-war levels and wreck the Four-Power agreement, these sources commented.

The action was seen as foreshadowing an attempt by the Russians at the Foreign Ministers Council in Moscow in March to obtain agreement among the occupying powers on taking reparations out of current production. This would be to the advantage of Russia, which is faced by an acute consumers goods shortage at home.

Says Attitude is 'Generous'

Terming the Russian attitude "generous" and giving assurance that Germany "will not become a potato patch" Grotewohl said:

"Up to the present we have learned only from the Soviet occupation power how great reparations demands shall be. The Soviet Union demands $10,000,000,000 for destruction done by German troops in Russia. In this sum shall be included all dismantled factories and machines. We ask that all the other allies also promptly and frankly make known their reparations demands."

The Soviet assurance came from Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet commander-in-chief in Germany, and followed conferences between Socialist Unity Party officials and Russian authorities in the Marshal's headquarters. The Russians gave their sponsored party the opportunity to make the prestige-winning announcement.

The Russians attached strings to some of their promises. They gave assurance that dismantling of factories in the Soviet zone would cease but only "after the dismantling of war industries has been completed." They made an exception of seven German coal mines, "whose equipment is urgently needed for the repair of devasted coal mines in the Soviet Union."

They said that 200 large industries originally scheduled for dismantling had been taken into Russian ownership in the Soviet-Aktiengesellschaften (industrial corporations) and would remain in Germany working for the Russians. Of these 72 will be given back to state ownership of the Soviet zone's German government.

SOVIET TO EASE REICH DEMANDS

(P)

Berlin, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—The Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party announced today it had assurances from Marshall Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet commander-in-chief in Germany, that the Russians would substantially reduce their reparations demands upon Germany and grant an increase of 200 to 300 per cent in the level of industrial production in the Soviet occupation zone.

The announcement followed conferences between party officials and Russian authorities at Sokolovsky's headquarters. It was presented by the Socialist Unity party's official newspaper under this banner line: "Germany Can Be Hopeful."

In giving their sponsored political party opportunity to make a prestige-winning announcement, the Russians promised concessions to the Germans on seven points. However, to some of these there were strings attached—especially to a promise that dismantling of factories in the Soviet zone would cease. Dismantlings will halt, the Soviet announcement said, "after the dismantling of war industries has been completed." The Russians made an exception of seven German coal mines "whose equipment is urgently needed for the repair of devastated coal mines in the Soviet Union."

The Russians also announced that 200 large industries "which were originally scheduled for dismantling" had been taken into Russian ownership in the big Soviet-Aktiengesellschaften (Industrial Corporations) and would remain in Germany working for the Russians. ADD

German Economic Chief Quits Under Pressure

Hamburg, Jan. 16 (AP)—Dr. Rudolf Mueller, chairman of the Bi-Zonal Economic Board of occupied Germany, resigned suddenly today under political pressure.

Mueller, whose job was the highest position in the German economic world since the recent economic merger of the British and American occupation zones, surrendered his post after receiving a vote of no confidence by German economic ministers representing the six states of the two zones and the cities of Hamburg and Bremen.

The ministers nominated Dr. Victor Agaritz, 49, a trade authority, to succeed Mueller.

SCHACHT INDICTED

Stuttgart, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's former financial expert, was indicted today by German de-Nazification authorities. The former chief of the German Reichsbank, freed of war crimes charges by the International Military Tribunal, could face ten years' imprisonment if convicted by his countrymen of being a "major offender"—the worst kind of Nazi.

A fifty-three-page indictment against Schacht was filed by Stuttgart Prosecutor Franz Karl Maier, charging him with being a central figure in Nazi Germany's rise to power. Schacht is in a hospital in Ludwigsburg.

Rome, Jan. 16 (AP)—Frightened citizens of Milan breathed easier today when doctors reported marble dust they had been eating in bakery bread probably would do them little harm and might do some good by providing minerals ordinarily lacking in their diet.

The court also ordered confiscation of all the propery he owns in Yugoslavia.

The British Embassy had an observer at the trial, but a spokesman said at the embassy that the British Government claimed "absolutely no knowledge of Zoellner's activities."

POLISH LEADER TELLS OF THREATS ON LIFE

WARSAW, Jan. 16—(AP) Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, mild-mannered leader of millions of Peasant Party followers who has raised the cry of "freedom of man" in Poland's elections next Sunday, said today he had received numerous telephoned threats against his life.

Agitators of the pro-government bloc are openly declaring that "Mikolajczyk will hang" after the elections, he added.

The one-time premier of the exiled Polish government in London who says he returned to his country to help it get on its feet after six years of war and Nazi occupation, declared that between 80,000 and 100,000 of his supporters have been arrested, released and re-arrested by security police in harassing actions since Dec. 12. Polish Reds, Opposition Trade New Accusations

Warsaw, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Communist-dominated Government and its highly vocal oppostion continued trading accusations of terrorism today in the campaign leading up to Poland's parliamentary election next Sunday.

Premier Edward B. Osubka-Morawski said last night that members of the opposition Polish Peasant party, in league with anti-Government underground bands, were to blame for much of the terrorism in Poland.

59 Vote Officials "Slain"

He branded as fantastic suggestions of a Polish Peasant party upset victory and forecast a Government triumph in the election. He claimed evidence that many peasants were quitting the opposition party because of an underground stigma. Osubka-Morawski said travels through the country had convinced him that voting would be "free and unfettered."

Earlier a Foreign Ministry spokesman reported underground guerrillas had slain 59 election officials and volunteer militiamen in December and the first ten days of January. He charged the underground with agitation by means of anti-Jewish literature.

On the other side, Vice Premier

Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, Peasant party leader, in the second pre-election broadcast allowed him, said: "The future of Poland cannot rest in the power exercised by the present regime, in the militia, in the security police or in the army being used against defenseless people."

Favors Present Border

His speech was much censored. In one part that censors cut out his manuscript read, "without constitutional rights of freedom of expression, of public assembly and without a guarantee of personal freedom, there has been created an atmosphere of lies, of moral decay and of alarm."

Mikolajczyk spoke in favor of an alliance with the Soviet Union and good relations also with the United States, Britain and France. He said Poland's border with Germany must be maintained on the Oder and Neisse rivers.

Norway Qualifies Spitsbergen Plan

Oslo, Norway, Friday, Jan. 17 (AP). The Norwegian Foreign Office said today that in April, 1945, it signified a willingness to establish a joint arrangement with Russia for defense of the strategic Spitsbergen archipelago.

Declaring that the question now is under consideration by the Norwegian Government and Parliament, the Foreign Office's statement added, however, that Norway attached the following conditions to any plans to change the status of the Arctic islands:

Spitsbergen would be maintained under Norway's sovereignty. The United States, Britain, France, the Netherlands, Denmark and Sweden would have to approve any such Norwegian-Russian agreement. The arrangement would have to be acknowledged by the Norwegian Parliament.

Norway further said in 1945 that it wished to establish a joint arrangement for defense which might contribute to the security of both Norway and Russia and be a link in the construction of an international security organization, the statement said.

7,000 Civilians Evacuated In Hanoi During 4-Hour Truce

(W) L. ERICKSON

Hanoi, Jan. 15 [AP—Delayed]—A four-hour truce was declared in Hanoi today while 7,000 Viet Nam and Chinese civilians were evacuated from the crowded native quarter which Viet Nam armed youth have been holding against French siege for almost a month.

Under the truce arranged by the American, British and Chinese consulates, French authorities issued strict cease-fire orders, and thousands of ragged civilians—men, women and children—filed through the exits in the cold Tonkin rain.

Following prescribed routes, the refugees were permitted to enter either the French-hold zone of Hanoi or the countryside where Viet Nam troops held lines a few miles distant. Most of the 6,000 Viet Nam civilians chose the countryside.

Both Aided By Red Cross

Both types of civilians were met at the exits by the French Red Cross, which gave them food and milk for the children.

Police officers checked all the refugees, and 60 young men among the Viet Nam civilians were arrested as suspected members of the Tu Ve, extremist youth organization. Pistols, daggers, bayonets, dumdum bullets and a Communist flag were seized from the 60 arrested, police said.

Ten thousand Chinese and several thousand Annamites have been encircled in the strategic area since fighting broke out December 19. The about 1,000 Tu Ve still hold the quarter which commands communications between central Hanoi and the airport.

Refused To Evacuate

The Tu Ve has refused to evacuate the quarter and the French have not attempted a major mopping-up operation because of the danger to civilians.

Chinese, American and British consular representatives held their third rendezvous today with delegates of the Viet Nam Republic at a point on the Hadong road to discuss an agreement for Viet Nam withdrawal from the area.

The best available evidence from these negotiations indicates that Ho Chi-minh, president of the Viet Nam Republic, still is personally directing Viet Nam operations against the French from his headquarters at Hadong, 7 miles southwest of Hanoi.

The Viet Nam negotiators have been Hoang Minh-giam, Assistant Secretary of Foreign Affairs in Ho's Government, and Nguyen Van-ho, Interior Minister. Both have been Viet Minh (Ho's independence party) leaders from the beginning of the Nationalist movement. Hoang went to France last summer with Ho as a negotiator, and Nguyen remained behind as acting president.

In all negotiations with the consular representatives the agents of Viet Nam have insisted they had to consult with the "President" before reaching a decision.

French official sources, however, have continued to insist they had no knowledge of Ho's whereabouts and have cast doubt on his continued authority in Viet Nam.

This stand apparently is based on the hope that Ho will emerge from the present situation with evidence that power was taken from his hands, that he had no connection with the Hanoi attack and that the French will thus be able to negotiate with him again when the circumstances are right.

Ho's record is that of a wily bargainer, however, and the French may be unduly optimistic.

Civilians Evacuated

Hanoi, Indo-China, Jan. 15 [AP—Delayed]—About 6,000 Viet-Namese civilians and 1,000 Chinese were evacuated today from their quarter of embattled Hanoi under a truce effected after negotiation with Viet-Nam republic leaders by the Chinese, British and United States consulates.

French authorities agreed to a four-hour truce arranged by the consuls and gave strict cease-fire orders to troops besieging the district. The truce was to expire at noon.

The quarter has been held against the French by the Viet-Namese Tu-Ve, an armed youth group.

Thousands of ragged Viet-Namese were checked at an exit to the countryside, where Viet-Nam troops were holding Tonkin province positions. The evacuees, carrying their possessions, were searched for firearms.

Dum-Dum Bullets Found

French officials distributed leaflets telling the Viet-Namese civilians they were free to remain in French-controlled areas if they wished, or to proceed to the Viet-Namese lines.

About 60 young men bearing arms were arrested on suspicion of being members of the Tu-Ve. Some carried pistols, others daggers, bayonets and cartridges, including eleven of the dum-dum type. A large Communist flag was discovered in the luggage of one man and he was arrested as a Tu-Ve leader. A Japanese who tried to escape among them was also arrested. A small portion of the civilians chose to remain.

Ho Still In Charge

Meanwhile, high French officials appeared convinced that Ho Chi Minh, President of the Viet-Nam Republic, was not directly responsible for the December 19 attack at Hanoi that set off the fighting.

The choice of Viet-Nam negotiators in truce meetings inside Viet-Namese lines with neutral consular representatives seemed to indicate, however, that Ho was still in charge of his regime's policy at Hadong, 6 miles southwest of Hanoi.

Viet Nam Cambodian Attack Is Reported

Saigon, Indo-China, Jan. 16 (AP). The semi-official French Press Agency reported today that several hundred Viet Nam guerrillas killed 200 Cambodians and burned their villages near Triton on January 6 in a raid along the Cochin China-Cambodia border 120 miles west of here.

This appeared to have been the strongest attack operation thus far carried out by the southern segment of the Viet Minh party which has been increasing its activities constantly since the outbreak of fighting at Hanoi in the north.

Viet Nam sources said the operations were directed at convincing the French that a colonial war would be more costly than an agreement with them.

Heavy Fighting Is Reported In Heart Of Hanoi

Manila, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Viet-Namese radio today reported heavy fighting in the heart of Hanoi, Indo-China, and said Viet-Nam troops were advancing on General Morliere's headquarters in the face of French artillery, tanks and armored cars.

The broadcast, sponsored by the Viet-Namese resistance committee and recorded here by the Associated Press, said Viet-Nam troops, assisted by self-defense units, had launched a fierce assault Monday night and knocked out a French strongpoint on Jules Ferry street.

Artillery On Both Sides

Viet-Namese then advanced as far as General Morliere's headquarters, also on Jules Ferry street, which they attacked until early (Tuesday) morning.

The French fired mortars and machine guns into Viet-Nam positions. That night Viet-Nam artillery heavily pounded French positions in the citadel in northeast Hanoi.

The Viet-Nam communiqué said six armored cars were knocked out in heavy fighting as the French threw an "important number" of tanks, armored cars and ground forces into a three-way attack south of Hanoi.

They said the French had suffered further heavy losses in an attempted landing on Kien, 4 miles east of Haiphong.

Minor Parties Insist On At Least Attempt At Parley

Nanking, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Chinese Government officially launched today an attempt to resume negotiations with the Communists, but it was generally expected to end in failure.

Minority party liberals have insisted that the Government at least make the effort, however, as the prerequisite for their own participation in a projected coalition regime.

The Ministry of Information announced that Gen. Chang Chih-Chung, governor of Sinkiang province, had been selected to go to Communist headquarters in Yenan. J. Leighton Stuart, United States Ambassador, relayed the word to the Communists' Nanking office.

No Hint Of Compromise

No reply was received immediately, but broadcasts Tuesday and Wednesday from Yenan, quoting a policy statement of Gen. Chou En-lai, chief Communist negotiator, contained no hint of possible compromise.

The Yenan radio quoted Chou as refusing on behalf of the Communists to participate in any coalition government headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Chou was bitterly critical both of Chang and of the American mediation attempt directed by General Marshall.

Chang Chim-chung, the Government's choice as negotiator, was regarded as the most likely man with whom the Communists would deal if they dealt with anybody.

Serious doubt continues, however, that the Communists will retreat from their demands for nullification of the new constitution and return to the military positions of a year ago.

Situation Called Dark

Pro-Government press dispatches said the military situation continued dark, with fighting at many points.

These unconfirmed reports said 10,000 Communists were attacking Mushihho and approaching Chiutai, 30 miles north of Changchun, Manchurian capital, and that Government troops were counter-attacking at Tehhui, 55 miles north of Changchun.

Fighting also was reported at several places in Shantung province and in southern Shansi province. In Shantung the Communists claimed to have captured Gen. Ma Li-wu, commander of Government forces in the Linyi area, and Gen. Li Pu-ching, commander of the Government's 114th Brigade.

China Will Present New Peace Bid (2)

NANKING

Nanking, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Government announced officially today it "is going to resume negotiations with the Communists," and selected Gen. Chang Chih-chung, governor of Sinkiang province, to present its proposals to Communist headquarters at Yenan.

Chang was an original member of General Marshall's former Committee of Three that negotiated a quickly aborted truce a year ago."

United States Ambassador Stuart, who is keeping in touch with both factions, relayed the Government's decision to the Communist representative here. Success of the plan to send an emissary to Yenan will depend upon the reaction of Communist leaders there.

Proposals Not Revealed

The Minister of Information, who announced the Government's peace bid, gave no indication what it is prepared to offer.

Selection of Chang is regarded as an excellent choice. He and the Communists' No. 2 man and chief negotiator, Chou En-lai, acquired mutual knowledge and respect during their months of close association on the Marshall committee.

Chou once described Chang as "the only Kuomintang (Government party) soldier with whom I can get along."

It must be emphasized that the decision to resume negotiations is completely unilateral and must remain so until Yenan's reaction is known.

Communists' Demands

Serious doubt remains that the Communists will retreat from their demands: That the Government return all territory captured from the Communists in the past year and that it nullify the recently revised constitution.

The Communists spurned the National Assembly at which the constitution was adopted.

Only two days ago, Chou sharply criticized Marshall's recent statement blaming the Government and Communists alike for failure to end their civil war.

[From Peiping, Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson radioed that the fighting appeared to be spreading. The official newspaper Chih Shih Jih Pao described conditions along the Sungari River northeast of Changchun as critical.

100-Mile Offensive Reported

[The paper said yesterday that 100,000 Communists had opened an offensive on a 100-mile stretch of the river—dividing line between Communist and Government areas in north Manchuria.

Counterattacking, Government troops tried to smash a Communist drive against Tehhui, 55 miles north of Changchun. Another dispatch said 10,000 Communists were attacking 30 miles northeast of Changchun.

[In Kirin province, Gen. Lin Piao's Communist forces, stepping up their attack, captured Chiatamu and were reported to have surrounded the provincial capital, Kirin City.

Fighting In Coal Area

[In southern Shantung province, the Communists were reported attacking in the Tsaochuang coal mining area and to have captured Kuolichi, five miles away.

[Elsewhere, the Communists were said to be attacking Anshan, a Peiping-Mukden Railroad town 100 miles northeast of Tientsin; and skirmishing at Langfang, 27 miles southeast of Peiping on the Peiping-Tientsin Railroad, and at Peihotien, 35 miles southwest of Peiping on the Peiping-Paoting rail line.]

Britain Negotiating Treaty With China

Canton, China, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sir Ralph Stevenson, British Ambassador, told a press conference today that Britain was negotiating with China for an extension of British airlines to China.

Stevenson said a Chinese-British trade treaty with a most-favored nation clause probably would be signed shortly.

Asked if Britain would help to mediate the dispute between the Government and Chinese Communists, the Ambassador replied the matter should best be settled by the Chinese but if any foreigner were going to help he would be United States Ambassador Stuart. Stevenson described Marshall's China report as an honest opinion made with the best of intentions.

Japan Abandons Plan For Coalition Cabinet

Tokyo, Friday, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Japanese Government abandoned efforts today to form a coalition Cabinet with the Social Democrats, Kyodo News Agency said, and decided to reorganize by drawing new men from the ranks of Conservative parties.

The agency said Premier Yoshida's negotiations to obtain active support of the Social Democrats split on a disagreement over distribution of Cabinet portfolios.

Japanese observers said Yoshida now was attempting to complete a new Conservative Cabinet slate before he resigns. He then is expected to succeed himself. The Cabinet crisis has been brought on by economic conditions.

More Jap Fishing Ships

Tokyo, Jan. 16 (AP)—Two hundred and four new ships, all steel except one, have been added to the Japanese fishing fleet with General MacArthur's authorization. They total 40,723 tons. In the past eight months, MacArthur has authorized 797 new ships, totaling 115,073 tons.

Dr. Fine Coming To U. S.

Tokyo, Jan. 16 (AP)—Dr. Sherwood M. Fine, New York and Washington (D.C.) chief economic adviser to the head of General MacArthur's economic and scientific section, leaves today by air for Washington. He plans to return after a 30-day visit and conferences in Washington.

CANADA PROTESTS TO BIG FOUR OVER DRAFTING OF PACT

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (AP)—Canada as a major participant in the war against Germany has protested to the Big Four powers over what she regards as a slight to her in connection with preliminary arrangements being made for drafting the German peace treaty, it was announced tonight.

The special deputies of the Council of Foreign Ministers, meeting in London, invited the Canadian government to present its views on the German settlement before a meeting of the deputies last Tuesday. Canada feels no room was left for discussion of the view of small powers.

Drafted 'Carelessly'

"The Canadian government" said Extertal Affairs Minister Louis St. Laurent in a special statement, "does not regard the invitation in its present form as affording Canada an opportunity for participation in the peace settlement in the way which would be appropriate for a country which contributed substantially to the war against Germany."

An official spokesman added the comment that "the invitation may have been carelessly drafted, but no country would accept it."

"The terms of the invitation suggest that the Canadian government would place before the special deputies of the Council of Foreign Ministers a written statement of its views on the German peace settlement, and supplement this statement with any oral comment it might feel to be desirable," said St. Laurent.

"There is no indication whether there would be opportunity for the Canadian representative to discuss with the special deputies, either the substance of the peace treaties with Germany and Austria or the procedure by which those treaties will be drafted.

"It may have been intended discussion should take place, but the invitation does not make this point clear."

Asked to Present Views

Canada was on Jan. 4 invited to present its German settlement views to the deputies' meeting on Jan. 14, St. Laurent said, the invitation being given by the United States government to the Canadian ambassador in Washington and not being available for consideration in Ottawa until Jan. 6—"a little over a week before the date on which the views of the Canadian government were to be presented."

Canada has submitted a statement of its position to the special deputies in London indicating, St. Laurent said, that Canada "does not regard the procedure as it now stands as giving suitable opportunity for the expression of Canadian views."

CANADA TO SLASH DEFENSE FORCES

New Cut to Be 25 Per Cent Below Figure Planned 1947 Year Ago.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 16—(AP) Defense Minister Brooke Claxton told a news conference today that Canadian defense forces, vital to North America, would be cut 25 per cent below the figure planned a year ago.

Total personnel of about 38,000 will be approximately 5 per cent of the war-time peak of 780,730, he said.

Originally it had been planned to have a peace time force of 51,000, including 25,000 army, 16,000 airforce and 10,000 navy. In 1939 Canada had an army of 4,500, only a few thousand airforce personnel and virtually no navy.

"The international situation, the proposals made at the recent session of the United Nations, the rapid changes in types of weapons—these and other considerations make it undesirable at this time to settle finally the composition or character of the future armed forces of Canada," Claxton said.

"We will keep our forces flexible," he continued. "Changing circumstances in the world make this a difficult year to plan what should be done."

Claxton spoke in generalities in replying to questions about hemisphere defense. He cited previously announced plans for standardization of equipment among the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada, adding only that "we have very close working relationships with both countries."

Asked whether the United States was pressing for establishment of more weather stations in Canada's arctic territory, Claxton replied "there will be inevitably a development of meteorological stations, and that will take place. There is very close international cooperation."

As to whether the Soviet Union would have access to information gained through operation of such stations, Claxton said that Canada would "follow the accepted international practice."

Canadian Clear of Spy Charge

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (AP)—Frederick William Poland, 37-year-old R. C. A. F. squadron leader, today was acquitted of a charge of communicating confidential information to Russia. County Court Judge A. C. McDougall ruled that Poland had satisfactorily discharged the onus placed on him by the charge.

Truman-'Big 6' Talk Reported Harmonious

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Truman's first meeting with the Congressional Big Six wound up today with Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) reporting good results.

The Republican-Democratic legislative conference at the White House lasted twenty minutes longer than scheduled and ended in what all participants said was an atmosphere of good will.

The President and the four Republican and two Democratic leaders called in Maj. Gen. Robert Littlejohn, War Assets Administrator, during one part of the conference dealing with war-surplus disposals.

"Very Pleasant Talk"

Vandenberg, the Senate president, acting as spokesman for the congressional group after the 50-minute session, told reporters:

"We had a very pleasant talk with the President about the possibility for co-operation with respect to legislative problems as differentiated from political issues.

"The discussion was confined very definitely to nonpartisan problems."

Problems discussed, he said, included:

1. War-surplus disposition.
2. The question of authorizing the Maritime Commission to continue shipping operations, authority for which expires March 1, "and must be renewed."

Future Parleys Planned

A third decision, Vandenberg said, involved procedure for future conferences of the President and the four Senate and two House leaders.

They will reassemble, Vandenberg said, at "the President's option," when he has nonpartisan matters to discuss.

The other Republicans at today's meeting were Senate Majority Leader White (Maine), House Speaker Martin (Mass.), and House Majority Leader Halleck (Ind.). The Democrats were Senate Minority Leader Barkley (Ky.), and House Minority Leader Rayburn (Texas).

The session was harmonius throughout, Rayburn said.

"You mean there was kissing?" one reporter asked Barkley.

"Oh, there was no kissing," Barkley replied.

Taft Apparently Omitted

The lineup apparently left out of the bipartisan Big Six Senator Taft, of Ohio, who has taken the active lead thus far in Senate Republican moves on domestic questions.

But Taft who has given every indication he hopes to move into the White House after the 1948 election, said he is just as well satisfied to confine his visits there now to times when the Republicans have some specific legislation they want to lay before Mr. Truman.

Taft said such a time probably will come when the Labor Committee, which he heads, has completed work on proposed industrial-disputes legislation.

Showdown Seen Possible

With the Senate in recess, both parties awaited a showdown tomorrow on the question of continuing the War Investigating Committee. Republican strategists said they have a margin of five votes in favor of the action. Democratic aides said privately this count looked about right.

Nevertheless, Senator Tydings (D., Md.), leading the fight against any special committees, announced his intention to ask the new Armed Services Committee to take over all investigations of military matters.

HASTY SLUMP BILL OPPOSED —1947

Truman Economic Report Is Praised; GOP Weighs Action

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Republicans today deflated the prospect that Congress would rush out any anti-depression legislation based on President Truman's economic report last week.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio), prospective chairman of the joint committee on the economic report, told the committee's first meeting that he saw no reason why its recommendations should be issued before May 1, instead of the present February 1 deadline.

Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), retiring chairman, urged speedy action. A decision is expected next Wednesday, when the committee meets to receive O'Mahoney's resignation.

Business Praises Report

Business leaders praised the President's report. One of them—Clarence Francis, board chairman of General Foods Corporation, New York—declared that a "striking" feature was "the omission by Mr. Truman of any recommendations for direct short-term actions by Congress."

"Instead, the President puts the whole burden of keeping our economy healthy on the shoulders of business, agriculture and labor where, subject to proper Government regulation, it belongs," Francis said.

His was among a half-dozen statements requested from industrial men on the report sent to Congress by Mr. Truman last week. The President asked price reductions by business to bolster the public's buying power, argued against tax cuts, and urged wage increases based on "individual" cases.

Cites Recession Cause

"The President deserves everyone's approval," Francis added, "when he calls on business, labor and agriculture all to contribute to price reductions 'wherever possible'."

H. W. Prentis, Jr., president of the Armstrong Cork Company, Lancaster, Pa., said the report did not emphasize sufficiently the danger of wages going so high that "large numbers of customers will not be able to buy the products produced by these high-priced workers."

"When goods are priced beyond the purchasing power of customers, recessions in production and employment are inevitably precipitated," he said.

Other Executives Join

Other executives gave general approval to the presidential message. These included Beardsley Ruml, board chairman of R. H. Macy & Co., N.Y.; Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corporation, South Bend, Ind., and Robert V. Fleming, Washington banker and past president of the American Bankers Association.

Graded Tax Cut Favored Over Straight 20%

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Prospects are fading in Congress for the Republican bill to cut most income taxes a straight twenty per cent.

But tax cutting in a different way, giving low income groups the biggest saving, seems more likely to pass.

This was indicated today by an informal poll of the House Ways and Means Committee, which writes all tax bills.

Would Continue Excises

Meanwhile, Representative Grant (R., Ind.), prepared for introduction today a Republican-sponsored measure to continue wartime excises indefinitely on such things as liquor, furs, jewelry, luggage and lipstick.

Chairman Knutson (R., Minn.) said the Ways and Means Committee might approve this measure, holding tight to some $1,500,000,000 in tax revenue annually, at its first meeting tomorrow.

In the Ways and Means survey, at least three Republicans said they now preferred a graduated income tax reduction. If, as expected, the ten committee Democrats oppose a straight slash, the three Republican votes will give the anti-twenty per cent group a majority on the 25-member committee. That would defeat the bill offered by Knutson.

Budget Unit's Task

Most Democrats said they preferred to postpone tax cutting until the budget is actually balanced, but conceded that Congress would probably pass some kind of tax relief.

Knutson said the Ways and Means group would not take up the twenty per cent tax bill until the joint House-Senate Budget Committee has set a ceiling on Federal expenditures. He has called the 102-member Budget Committee to its first meeting on Monday.

Deadline Is February 15

However, the obvious difficulty in drawing up an independent budget by February 15 brought veiled talk in both houses today of amending or even junking the provision in the congressional reorganization law that instructs the four tax-writing and appropriating committees of the House and Senate to draw up a Federal budget by mid-February of each year. This would be independent of the President's budget, although giving it "due consideration."

But the four committees have no joint staff for undertaking such a labor. So, it is conceded the $37,500,000,000 Truman budget will have to be the basis for their estimate of necessary expenditures and probable receipts.

EXCISE TAX BILL SPEEDED IN HOUSE

Measure Would Continue High Wartime Levies on Luxuries Indefinitely.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—(AP) A bill to continue high wartime excise taxes at the present rate indefinitely was introduced in the House today and Republican tax managers moved to push it through quickly.

The bill, H. R. 1030, was offered by Rep. Grant (R-Ind). President Truman had requested such legislation.

The decision of Republican tax managers in the house to get behind it represented a change of stand on their part. They explained that it is necessary to pass the bill if income taxes are to be cut.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the Ways and Means Committee told newsmen it will be given priority over H. R. 1, the income tax cut, and everything else and may by approved by the committee at its first meeting tomorrow.

The wartime excise rates—on liquor, jewelry, cosmetics, phone calls and many other things—were slated for automatic reduction July 1 because hostilities officially ended last Dec. 31.

Knutson and other Republicans had expressed the intention of passing legislation to put the reductions into effect before July 1—as quickly as possible, so that customers would not defer purchases in anticipation of lower prices July 1, to the detriment of the businesses concerned.

But Grant explained, and others agreed, that continuation of the $1,500,000,000 annual revenue these levies yield seems necessary if income taxes are to be cut, as promised by Republicans. Definite action in this direction would be equally effective in eliminating business uncertainty.

Continued Indefinitely

President Truman in his state of the union message urged that the excise rates be continued as they are now until July 1, 1948. Grant's bill does even more—it continues them indefinitely, setting no date for their termination.

"The question of how long these present rates should continue, or what changes or alterations should be made in the rates, would be considered at some future time by the congress," he said in a statement.

Move Is Launched to Block Truman's Tariff Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—(AP) The first move in the dominantly-Republican Congress against the Democratic administration's tariff-cutting powers—a cornerstone of its foreign policy—was started today by Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio).

He filed a resolution calling upon President Truman to postpone a scheduled 18-nation conference at Geneva in March to conclude reciprocal trade pacts.

Sharp Statement

In a tartly-worded statement, he contended the administration had "speeded up" its reciprocal trade program since the Republican election victories in November in order to conclude them "before Congress can act in the matter."

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the Ways and Means committee, on which Jenkins sits, already has declared reciprocal trade matters will be given a high priority on the committee's busy schedule. Jenkins' resolution may set the stage for a preliminary showdown.

If passed by the House, it would request the President to delay any further adjustment of duties under the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act pending a "scientific study" by the United States Tariff Commission and a report to Congress.

Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.), also a member of the Ways and Means committee, told a reporter he is working on a bill for outright repeal of the Reciprocal Trade Act. The act permits the administration to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent in return for concessions from other countries.

He expects others to be introduced which would call for congressional confirmation of past and future reciprocal agreements—a move privately but vigorously bucked by the State department.

The 28 Republican House members from Pennsylvania went on record Tuesday against further reciprocal trade agreements until power for their confirmation has been returned to Congress.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said in a speech at Cleveland Saturday that "I believe we shall continue the device of reciprocal trade agreements, in one form or another."

Sees Free Trade System

Jenkins declared that "all trade agreements previously entered into have, without exception, reduced duties on commodities imported into the United States. With this record, it is safe to assume that those in charge of this program, if permitted to do so, would establish a complete free trade system."

"Under present chaotic world conditions of economy and foreign exchange," he added, "this is no time for such a parley (as that projected for Geneva), certainly not until Congress has further facts, x x x and I propose to press this resolution for immediate consideration."

Spanish-American Vet Pension Rise Seen

Clarksburg, W. Va., Jan. 16 (A. P.).—Spanish-American war veterans will not be overlooked by the Eightieth Congress, John White, commander in chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, says he has been assured.

White said last night in an address here his information was that the Congress would pass a blanket 20 per cent increase for pensioners of that conflict.

BOMB DEFENSE LACK IS CITED

State Department Presents Control Arguments

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—The State Department said today in a report on international atomic energy control policy that it must be accepted "for the foreseeable future there can be no adequate military defense against atomic weapons."

The department announced publication of a 281-page volume called "The International Control of Atomic Energy—Growth of a Policy."

For the most part the material in the volume is documentary statements and reports either of the United States Government or of the United Nations agencies concerned with evolving a control policy.

Conditions Search

In an introduction to the volume, however, it is stated that the fact that military use of atomic energy will develop first has "conditioned the search for agreement on international controls."

"It is the consensus in this connection," the State Department book said, "that certain basic concepts must be accepted:

"1. No nation can long maintain a monopoly of atomic weapons.

"2. No nation could long maintain or morally defend a monopoly of the peaceful benefits of atomic energy.

"3. For the foreseeable future there can be no adequate military defense against atomic weapons.

Processes Identical

"4. All the initial processes in the production of fissionable materials and certain subsequent processes are identical whether their intended use or purpose is peaceful or military.

"5. The nuclear chain reaction required for the release of atomic energy is now based upon uranium or uranium and thorium as the only suitable raw materials occurring in nature. Ores containing these materials are only relatively rare. Although rich deposits are not numerous, the lower concentrations of the ores have a wide geographical distribution."

The State Department said that these basic concepts "set the framework for any practical system of controls, and from them derive the necessity and the urgency for seeking international arrangements curbing the dangerous uses of atomic energy."

VETO CALLED NO HELP TO AGGRESSOR

Austin Says Such Use Would Nullify Charter And Bring On War

Chicago, Jan. 16 (AP)—Warren R. Austin declared tonight that use of the veto power in the United Nations Security Council to protect an aggressor nation would nullify the United Nations Charter and that "there is only one certain answer to nullification—war in support of the law and of the union."

Austin, United States representative to the United Nations, in an address before the general assembly of the Council of State Governments, said that use of the veto "to protect the aggressor from the consequences of his crime would, in itself, be a violation of the Charter."

Denies Aggression Legalized

"I have heard it said that the veto legalizes aggression by a permanent member, because that member can prevent enforcement action against itself," he said. "Of course, that is not true.

"Far from legalizing aggression, the use of the veto, either by an aggressor, or by another member to protect the aggressor from the consequences of the crime, would, in itself, be a violation of the Charter. It would be nullification. . . . There is only one certain answer to nullification—war in support of the law and of the union, whether it be the union of our states or the United Nations."

Austin stated that an essential element in the development of collective security "will be a system of international control and inspection over armaments and armed forces, which will safeguard complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions."

Calls For Precise Definition

"Any treaty establishing international control of atomic energy, or of any other major weapon adaptable to mass destruction, should include precise and unequivocal definition of what acts would constitute violation of its terms and provide for punishment appropriate to the nature of each violation," he said.

"The illegal possession of an atomic bomb by any state after the establishment of a system of international control prohibiting the manufacture of atomic weapons could be regarded as an armed attack upon the other signatories of the treaty and the treaty could so declare."

WAR REPORT DATA SOUGHT

Senate Group May Ask For F.D.R.'s "Secret" File

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Chairman Brewster (R., Maine) said today the special Senate War Investigating Committee planned to ask President Truman for a secret "war mobilization" report which the late President Roosevelt "refused Mr. Truman when he was a Senator."

President Truman formerly headed the war inquiry group.

Brewster said that the "secret report" was one prepared by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., former Secretary of State, and outlined detailed war mobilization plans which Brewster said "were not followed."

Brewster recalled that when Mr. Truman was head of the committee it found the war effort had "been delayed from a year to eighteen months" by failure to follow the mobilization plan.

"Senator Truman requested it of President Roosevelt and he was refused," Brewster said, adding that he did not know whether Mr. Truman as President would take a different view than he had as Senator.

The issue of whether the Senate War Investigating Committee shall be continued is now before the Senate and is to be decided tomorrow.

Brewster said that if the group is continued it would call for all facts on the "special secret funds" given to the late President Roosevelt for war purposes.

Brewster said he was told these amounted to $648,000,000.

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) declared in the Senate Wednesday that some of these funds had been used for other than war purposes.

Prepared Prior To War Entry

Brewster said the "secret mobilization report" was prepared before this country's entry into war, when Stettinius was serving as a presidential adviser in defense matters. Stettinius, a steel executive, later served as a Secretary of State.

Brewster said he had reason to believe that the Stettinius report contained many recommendations for mobilization that previously had been made by Louis Johnson, former Assistant Secretary of War; Bernard Baruch, presidential adviser, and the late Newton D. Baker, one-time Secretary of War.

"We know that certain recommendations were not followed for many, many months," Brewster said.

Navy Is Accused. . . Of Holding Data

San Francisco, Jan. 16 (AP)—A former War Department special investigator today quoted General MacArthur's intelligence officer as saying the Navy withheld vital information from the Army in the Pacific war theater as late as the Spring of 1945.

The declaration was made by Henry Clausen, San Francisco attorney, addressing a meeting sponsored by the San Francisco Life Underwriters Association. Clausen was a member of the Army's Pearl Harbor investigation board, and later a special investigator of the disaster for the Secretary of War.

Clausen said he obtained a sworn affidavit from Maj. Gen. C. A. Willoughby on May 8, 1945, in which the intelligence chief charged the Navy withheld information from the Army at Honolulu and contributed to the Pearl Harbor disaster.

"At this date (May 8, 1945), this same system is in vogue . . . and the possibility of error or incomplete selection (of information) is as evident now as it was in 1941," Clausen quoted the affidavit as saying.

At the time the statement was made, General MacArthur's forces were heavily engaged at Luzon.

Clausen quoted Willoughby as saying that at this point in the Pacific war the Navy had possession of the only decoding facilities.

Clausen said that the Navy had tapped telephones of Japanese consular officials and business men in Hawaii for eleven months prior to Pearl Harbor, but stopped on December 3, 1941, when personnel became incensed because the FBI had tapped the telephone of the consulate's cook. Clausen said the Navy had neglected to include the cook in its wire-tapping operations.

NAVY LIMITS DAIREN TRAVEL

Order Requires Clearance By "Responsible" Agency

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Navy said today it has ordered its ship commanders to take no more American business men or newspaper men to the Russian-controlled Chinese port of Dairen unless they are cleared by the State Department or another "responsible" agency.

The order was first reported in a news dispatch from Shanghai, which described it as a flat ban upon such travel.

A State Department spokesman, Michael J. McDermott, when asked about it today, said that "the order exists." He gave no details, except to say that it had not been requested by the State Department.

Denies Travel Is Banned

Later the Navy issued this statement:

"The Navy Department has issued instructions concerning the carrying of passengers on navy ships in the western Pacific to insure that passengers have been properly sponsored and cleared by the responsible Government agencies."

A navy spokesman said the order does not constitute a ban on civilian travel to Dairen or other ports.

The reason for the order was not stated officially. It was recalled that on December 22 a naval vessel on courier service for the State Department was ordered out of Dairen by Russian authorities after it had overstayed its authorized period there.

At that time an American business man and two newspaper men had gone to the Russian-controlled port. The ship was delayed in departing while American authorities sought permission for those three to enter Dairen.

Pole Vote Seen Unacceptable To U.S. 1947

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—United States disapproval of the Polish national elections next Sunday became an evident certainty today.

Thus one of Gen. George C. Marshall's first problems as Secretary of State may be to decide what to do about it.

The Polish situation—which finds Russia lined up with the Communist-controlled Government at Warsaw against Britain and the United States—is one of three in eastern Europe that threaten to prove troublesome for Marshall.

The other two:

1. An apparent effort by the Communist minority in Hungary to smash the power of the moderate Small Holders party.

2. Moves by the Communist government of Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia to establish some kind of economic bloc in the Balkans.

What makes the political situation in Eastern Europe particularly delicate at the moment is the fact that the Balkan peace treaties are soon to be signed and, it is expected, quickly ratified.

Other Provisions

These treaties provide for the withdrawal of Russian occupation troops from Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. In addition they impose a number of other provisions designed to restore the independence of the countries and to guarantee equality of trade opportunities throughout the Balkans.

The Russians thus appear to be faced with a need to consolidate their position in Eastern Europe before the effectiveness of the peace treaties greatly curtails their freedom of operation there.

The men who will be advising General Marshall on such matters regard the Polish election contest essentially as a struggle between (1) the Communist-dominated coalition seeking election as the regular government and (2) the opposition Polish Peasant party which United States diplomats contend could poll a clear majority in a free election.

Yalta Conference Recalled

At the Yalta Big Three conference and again at the Moscow Foreign Ministers conference in the summer of 1945 the United States, Britain and Russia agreed to the principle that the Polish election should be free and unfettered. Since that time the American Government has wrangled almost constantly with the Polish Government, charging repeatedly that the Warsaw regime was not living up to this principle which it had accepted.

Recently the United States sent a series of three notes listing charges of political oppression of the peasant party. Warsaw ignored them until yesterday. Then the answer made clear that Poland was rejecting completely the American demands for a change in the election system.

British complaints also have been rejected, and Moscow has announced that it considers the charges against the Polish Government unfounded.

Conditions Disapproved

This means that Sunday's voting will be held under conditions which this country has said publicly can not result in a fair and free ballot. Officials left no doubt privately that the result will not be regarded here as acceptable.

It is apparent that the State Department will not favor a break in relations with the Polish Government. That once popular practice of breaking off with any disapproved government is no longer regarded favorably in Washington.

Boston, Jan. 16 (A. P.).—British G. I. brides of greater Boston like their new homeland so much they want their folks to settle here.

"We have no brides of despair, in this State, in fact they're all boosting the United States of America," an official of the English Speaking Union Said today.

Mrs. Henry Jackson Jr. of Newton, who made the statement, is chairman of the organization's overseas wives committee and has kept track of more than 1,000 brides in the last two years.

Referring to British news stories of rejected British brides reputedly stranded in New York, she said: "We know of only one homesick girl here who wants a divorce, and we hope to talk her out of it."

A group gathered for a weekly tea party and baby shower agreed.

"Those unhappy New York brides you hear about probably rushed into marriage just to get a free trip to America," suggested Mrs. Arthur M. Wells of Brockton, who arrived two years ago—and paid her own passage.

"Our British wives are doing very well," said Mrs. Jackson. "There are so many baby showers scheduled, we have to run them three at a time."

Greek Probe Unit Sails For Europe

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council's Balkan investigating commission departed for Europe today.

The commission, made up of representatives of the eleven members of the Security Council and of the secretariat, will begin its task at a meeting in Athens, Greece, January 30. It has been instructed to investigate conditions in Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

The United States member is Mark Ethridge, of Louisville, Ky.

The Security Council, in recess until tomorrow while members considered what course to take on the arms limitation question, was shocked by the death of the Brazilian delegate, Dr. Pedro Leao Velloso, 60, of a heart attack in his hotel room here.

Velloso was a former Foreign Minister of Brazil and a veteran of the San Francisco days of the United Nations.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States delegate, paid tribute to Velloso in a statement praising his contributions to the Security Council as being of a "matchless and constructive character."

Bigger Role Hinted For Submarines

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—The hint of a shift in the pattern of future sea warfare emerged today from a Navy request for authority to go ahead with submarine experiments.

The formal request to Congress for permission to construct 4,000 tons of submarine vessels "for experimental purposes" stemmed, in the Navy's own words, from the "radical" wartime advancements of the underseas craft.

To Review Naval Ordinance

It came on the heels of an announcement by Chairman Andrews (R., N.Y.) that a subcommittee of the new and powerful House Armed Services Committee will undertake a review of naval ordnance and vessels in the light of new developments.

Just what experiments are planned by the navy remained uncertain. But some of the potentially significant development in undersea warfare already have been disclosed. Among these are secrets seized from the Germans.

They include a submarine with an indefinite underwater range, plane-carrying underseas craft, and high-speed motors which would increase both the submarine's striking powers and ability to take exclusive action.

Applying War's Lessons

Representative Cole (R., N.Y.), a member of the armed services committee, said that the lessons of the war, including the atomic bomb test, show that "submarines are still serviceable men of war."

"They are not a type made out of date as yet by scientific developments," he added.

Cole served on the House Naval Committee during the war. Among members of that committee, which since has been merged with the military committee, there has developed an increasing conviction that the nation's future security plan may rest primarily upon the submarine teamed with long-range land-based planes.

REP. MILLER URGES U. S. PROBE OWN PROPAGANDA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 — (AP) An investigation of "all propaganda and publicity activities" of Federal agencies was proposed today by Rep. Miller, R-Conn).

He introduced a resolution which would authorize a special House committee to study "propaganda, political discussions, publications, printed matter, news items, radio broadcasts, movie films, and all other forms of publicity media of any department, bureau, or subdivision of the executive branch of the government."

In a statement, Miller declared: "Thousands of high pressure publicity agents have been added to the Federal payroll at inordinately high salaries, not to assist the radio and the press, but to distort news into propaganda and release only such facts as their chiefs may choose."

Vandenberg Silent On Pepper 1947 Stand

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) today ignored contentions by Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), that the new Foreign Relations Committee chairman differs with official State Department policy toward China and Argentina.

Vandenberg said he planned no immediate comment on Pepper's speech on the Senate floor late yesterday.

The Michigan Republican, who is Senate president as well as Foreign Relations head, was presiding when Pepper arose to take exception to two points Vandenberg made in his Cleveland foreign policy address last week end.

Extracts From Speech

The Florida Senator read extracts from Vandenberg's speech in which the latter called (1) for a "shift" in United States policy in China to support the coalition of non-Communist forces backing China's new constitution and (2) for prompt action in summoning the long-delayed Rio de Janeiro conference on Western Hemisphere defense.

Both, Pepper said, are "in direct contradiction to the present declared policy of the State Department" and came before Gen. George C. Marshall, the new Secretary of State "had had an opportunity to decide what should be the new policy."

While noting that Vandenberg made it plain he was voicing only his own opinions, Pepper said "so great is his prestige" that both matters should be clarified for the Senate and the world.

Addresses Him Directly

"Surely, Mr. President," Pepper continued, addressing Vandenberg directly, "it cannot be helpful to the new Secretary of State in trying to find the policy with respect to harmony in this hemisphere, to have it already declared by the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee that the present policy of the State Department is wrong and that another should be put in effect."

Vandenberg remained silent when Pepper concluded.

CLAYTON, ACHESON PUT UNDER ATTACK

Two Diplomats Accused Of "Using" Official Posts

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Two Under Secretaries of State, William L. Clayton and Dean Acheson, were accused today by Representative Shafer (R., Mich.) of making big profits in private business "by reason of their high places."

Shafer demanded in a House speech that Gen. George C. Marshall, as the new Secretary of State, fire "Communists, 'One-Worlders' and multimillionaire playboy diplomats who have been using American funds indirectly to increase their family fortunes."

It was Shafer's argument that Clayton gets profits from a cotton-brokerage business and advocates such things as the $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain so that foreign countries can buy American cotton.

No Comment From Clayton

As for Acheson, Shafer said he "has learned well how to feather his own nest while serving in a public post." The Congressman relayed reports that Acheson's law firm stands to get a big fee if a loan to Poland goes through.

There was no immediate comment from Clayton or Acheson.

Shafer's was the hottest blast yet turned on the Democratic Administration from the new, Republican-controlled Congress. Shafer got off only part of it in the House chamber. He put the rest in the record of congressional business.

He cited the New Leader magazine, which he called a respected anti-Soviet and pro-Liberal publication, as authority for a statement that Acheson is a member of a Washington law firm, one of whose members is trying to get a $500,000,000 loan for Poland from the United States Government. The fee, he quoted the publication as saying, "is supposed to be $1,000,000."

Law Firm's Name Given

The firm was identified as Covington, Burling & Rublee. Shafer said the member "reputed" to be negotiating the loan is Donald Hiss, formerly chief economic adviser to Acheson in the State Department.

Clayton and his family, Shafer said, own 40 per cent of the stock of Anderson, Clayton & Co., the "largest cotton firm in the world."

He said the company "depends for its very livelihood on foreign dealings—and, to a large extent, on the decisions made by Will Clayton."

Clayton and his family, the Congressman said, got $5,500,000 of the firm's profits for the year ended last July 31.

Said To Be "Propagandist"

As Under Secretary of State in charge of economic affairs, Shafer said, Clayton is "always in favor of foreign loans" and was "principal negotiator" of the loan to Britain. He said Clayton is an "active propagandist" for loans to China, France, the Netherlands and Italy.

Clayton's reasons, he said, are that those nations "need more American dollars to buy more raw materials—including cotton."

Nine Civilian Japs Held Sue For $500,000

Chicago, Jan. 16 (AP)—Attorneys for nine civilian workers who were captured by the Japanese on Wake Island when it fell December 23, 1941, tonight said suit would be filed in Federal Court tomorrow asking $500,000 in back wages, bonus, subsistence and other items, from five construction companies which hired them.

The attorneys said that eventually as many as 700 survivors of the 1,200 civilians who were captured on Pacific islands and imprisoned might join in the suit, bringing the amount of damages requested to possibly as high as $50,000,000.

Eisenhower Gives Views On Universal Training

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, back from a Miami vacation, gave his views on universal training today to the civilian commission named by President Truman to study the question.

The commission, meeting in closed session at the White House, also heard from Dr. George Zook, president of the American Council on Education; Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, Philadelphia school superintendent; Lieut. Gen. Ira Eaker, deputy chief of the air staff, and Dr. Robert Bacher, member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The commission will meet again January 24. It expects to report in March.

NEW YORK, JAN.16-(AP)-A THREE-WEEKS' DELAY IN UNITED NATIONS DISCUSSION OF WORLD DISARMAMENT APPEARED ALMOST CERTAIN TODAY.

A SURVEY OF THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL INDICATED THE UNITED STATES WOULD SUCCEED IN POSTPONING THE VITAL QUESTION UNTIL FEB.4.

IN PLEADING FOR POSTPONEMENT, THE U.S. ADVISED THE SECURITY COUNCIL YESTERDAY IT WAS NOT YET READY TO DISCUSS ANY ARMS REDUCTIONS.

THE COUNCIL WAS EXPECTED TO VOTE ON THE AMERICAN APPEAL FOR DEFERMENT WHEN IT MEETS AT LAKE SUCCESS TOMORROW AT 11 A.M. (EST).

MEANWHILE, MOST DELEGATES BELIEVED THAT THE COUNCIL WOULD BE UNABLE TO TACKLE BEFORE MONDAY BRITAIN'S CASE AGAINST ALBANIA, WHOM SHE HAS ACCUSED OF MINING CORFU CHANNEL AND CAUSING THE DEATH OF 44 BRITISH SAILORS.

IN DISCUSSING THE AMERICAN REQUEST TO POSTPONE DISCUSSION OF DISARMAMENT, HERSCHEL JOHNSON, DEPUTY U.S. DELEGATE, SAID HE FELT THAT PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS BETWEEN NOW AND FEB.4 WOULD BRING A WIDER AREA OF AGREEMENT ON THE COMPLICATED QUESTION.

"THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION IS NOT PREPARED TO DISCUSS SUBSTANTIVE MATTERS (ON ARMS REDUCTIONS) AT THIS TIME, EITHER IN THE COUNCIL OR IN A COMMITTEE," JOHNSON DECLARED.

WARREN R.AUSTIN, NEW U.S. DELEGATE WHO OFFICIALLY TOOK HIS SEAT YESTERDAY, PUT FORWARD THE SURPRISE PROPOSAL AFTER FAILING TO REACH AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIAN DELEGATE ANDREI GROMYKO ON PROCEDURE.

AUSTIN ORIGINALLY HAD INSISTED THAT THE COUNCIL GIVE PRIORITY TO THE PROBLEM OF ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL. GROMYKO HAD INSISTED ON SETTING UP IMMEDIATELY A COMMISSION TO START WORK ON IMPLEMENTING THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S BASIC ARMS REDUCTION RESOLUTION.

AMERICAN SOURCES EXPLAINED THAT AUSTIN HAD NOT HAD TIME TO FAMILIARIZE HIMSELF WITH THE ARMS QUESTION AND THEREFORE NEEDED THREE WEEKS TO STUDY THE WHOLE QUESTION. THERE ALSO WERE INDICATIONS THAT AUSTIN WANTED TO CONFER WITH GEN.GEORGE MARSHALL, WHO IS SUCCEEDING JAMES F.BYRNES AS SECRETARY OF STATE.

RUSSIA OPPOSED THE POSTPONEMENT PLEA, BUT SOME COUNCIL MEMBERS BELIEVED THAT THE SOVIET DELEGATE MIGHT CHANGE HIS POSITION BEFORE FRIDAY MORNING.

OSCAR LANGE OF POLAND, WHO ALSO OPPOSED THE DEFERMENT, DECLARED THAT THE QUESTION OF DISARMAMENT WAS OF "SUCH PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE THAT IT SHOULD NOT BE SUBJECTED TO THE USUAL TANGLES OF DIPLOMATIC PROCEDURE."

"TO HELL WITH SMALL DIPLOMATIC PROCEDURE, TO HELL WITH HIGH POWER POLITICS, TO HELL WITH TECHNICAL OBSTACLES," LANGE SHOUTED IN AN APPEAL FOR ACTION.

NIGHT LEAD TREATY (290)

BY WILLIAM B.KING

LONDON, JAN. 16-(AP)-NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE CONCLUSION OF A TREATY OF ALLIANCE, ALREADY AGREED UPON BY BRITAIN AND FRANCE, WILL BE HELD UP UNTIL A NEW FRENCH PREMIER AND CABINET ARE NAMED, IT BECAME APPARENT TODAY, AS THE PEOPLE OF BOTH COUNTRIES AWAITED REACTION FROM MOSCOW.

THERE APPEARED TO BE NO PROSPECT, HOWEVER, OF UNUSUAL DELAY IN THE NEGOTIATIONS WHICH AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT PROMISED "AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT."

MEANWHILE, DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS WERE EXPECTED TO BE UTILIZED FOR DRAFTING THE BRITISH-FRENCH TREATY--A FAIRLY SIMPLE MATTER SINCE THE BRITISH-RUSSIAN AND FRENCH-RUSSIAN TREATIES PROVIDE EXCELLENT WORKING MODELS.

IT GENERALLY WAS EXPECTED IN LONDON THAT THE NEW ALLIANCE WOULD BE FOR A TERM OF 20 YEARS, THE SAME AS THE BRITISH-RUSSIAN PACT.
THE ALLIANCE WON GENERAL PRAISE IN BRITAIN WHILE THE FRENCH PRESS COMPLAINED THAT PREMIER LEON BLUM'S TRIP TO LONDON DID NOT SHOW MORE PROFITABLE RESULTS FOR FRANCE'S PRESSING PROBLEM OF MORE COAL FROM THE RUHR.
WONDER ABOUT RUSSIA'S REACTION TO THE ALLIANCE TOOK OPPOSING FORMS IN THE TWO COUNTRIES.
IN FRANCE THE PEOPLE DISCUSSED THIS SUBJECT ON THE STREETS, IN CAFES AND IN GOVERNMENT OFFICES BUT NEWSPAPERS WERE SLOW TO PUBLISH COMMENT ON THAT POINT.
IN BRITAIN NEWSPAPERS SEEMED TO ANTICIPATE COMPLAINT FROM THE KREMLIN--WHICH IN THE PAST HAS BEEN QUICK TO BLAST ANY SUGGESTIONS OF A WESTERN BLOC. TYPICAL WAS THIS COMMENT IN THE LONDON EVENING NEWS:
"SUCH AN ALLIANCE IS A FINE THING FOR OUR TWO NATIONS; AND FOR EUROPE AND THE WORLD AT LARGE IT CAN SERVE AS AN EXAMPLE OF WHAT STRAIGHTFORWARD, REALISTIC AND UNAGGRESSIVE DIPLOMACY CAN ACHIEVE. THERE IS NO THREAT IN IT, ONLY A BULWAKR FOR THE AS YET FRAIL STRUCTURE OF WORLD SECURITY."
FRENCH PAPERS OF VARIOUS POLITICAL SHADES TENDED TO EMPHASIZE THAT BLUM CAME BACK WITHOUT ANY MORE RUHR COAL. THE IDEA WAS FOREMOST IN THE COMMENTS FROM BOTH LE MONDE AND THE COMMUNIST EVENING PAPER, CE SOIR.

DECLARING THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR WAS SILENT ON THE CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATION'S PROPOSAL FOR COMMON ACTION AGAINST ANTI-LABOR MEASURES, THE BROADCAST SAID:
"THE CONDUCT OF THE REACTIONARY LEADERSHIP OF THE AFL AT THE PRESENT CRITICAL MOMENT IN THE AMERICAN WORKING CLASS MOVEMENT SHOWS ONCE MORE VERY CONVINCINGLY THAT THEY ARE PLAYING THE IGNOBLE ROLE OF HENCHMEN OF THE BIG CAPITALISTS IN THEIR OWN COUNTRY AND IN THE INTERNATIONAL ARENA."

PARIS, JAN.16-(AP)-VINCENT AURIOL, 62-YEAR-OLD PEACEMAKR IN THE TURBULENT FRENCH POLITICAL SCENE, REACHED THE PINNACLE OF A CAREER OF 32 YEARS IN POLITICS WHEN HE WAS CHOSEN TODAY AS PRESIDENT OF THE FOURTH REPUBLIC.

THE STUBBY, CHEERFUL, SPECTACLED SOCIALIST LEADER HAS BEEN HAILED HERE AS A "MAN ABOVE PARTIES," PARTICULARLY IN HIS ROLE OF PRESIDENT (OR

HERE AS A "MAN ABOVE PARTIES," PARTICULARLY IN HIS ROLE OF PRESIDENT (OR SPEAKER) OF THE TWO CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLIES AND OF THE PERMANENT NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

LACKING THE COLOR OF GEN.DE GAULLE OR RETIRING INTERIM PRESIDENT LEON BLUM, AURIOL WORKED STEADILY AND CONSCIENTIOUSLY AT THE UNSPECTACULAR BUT VITAL TASK OF KEEPING PEACE AMONG THE RIVAL DEPUTIES OF THE COMMUNIST, POPULAR REPUBLICAN MOVEMENT (MRP), SOCIALIST, RADICAL SOCIALIST AND RIGHTIST PARTIES. COUNTLESS TIMES HIS COMMON SENSE PREVAILED OVER VOLATILE FRENCH TEMPERS.

ONE OF HIS GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENTS WAS HIS ROLE IN KEEPING FRANCE FROM BEING SPLIT WHEN DE GAULLE ABRUPTLY RESIGNED A YEAR AGO AS PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT. DE GAULLE, ANGRY AND DISGUSTED WITH PARTY WRANGLING IN HIS CABINET, HAD PLANNED A BROADCAST TO THE NATION ON WHY HE WAS STEPPING DOWN. AT AURIOL'S PERSUASION HE REMAINED SILENT.

DE GAULLE, ACTUALLY A NOVICE IN THE COMPLICATED GAME OF FRENCH POLITICS, HAD COME TO LEAN HEAVILY UPON AURIOL FOR LIAISON WITH THE CONSULTATIVE ASSEMBLY IN NORTH AFRICA IN 1943 AND 1944.

AURIOL WAS BORN AT REVEL IN SOUTHWESTERN FRANCE AUG.27, 1884. HE STUDIED LAW AND FOR A SHORT TIME WAS A JOURNALIST, SHARING IN THE FOUNDING OF THE SOCIALIST NEWSPAPER.

EARLY IN HIS CAREER HE ACQUIRED THE ABILITY TO MAKE FRIENDS, AND DESPITE THE INTENSE RIVALRIES TODAY IN FRENCH POLITICS, HE RETAINS THE FRIENDSHIP AND RESPECT OF ALL THE PARTIES.

AURIOL ENTERED POLITICS ON A BICYCLE IN 1914, PEDALING FROM TOWN TO TOWN IN A CAMPAIGN WHICH WON HIM HIS FIRST ELECTION TO FRANCE'S LEGISLATURE. HE WAS RETURNED YEAR AFTER YEAR BY THE HAUT-GARONNE DEPARTMENT, AND IN THE CHAMBER WON RENOWN AS A FINANCIAL EXPERT. HE WAS A MEMBER OF THE CHAMBER'S DEBT COMMISSION FOR 23 YEARS, AND IN 1925 WENT TO WASHINGTON FOR THE DEBT TALKS. HE WAS FINANCE MINISTER IN LEON BLUM'S POPULAR FRONT GOVERNMENT IN 1936, AND WAS MINISTER OF JUSTICE IN THE SUCCEEDING CABINET OF CAMILLE CHAUTEMPS.

AURIOL'S CHARACTERISTIC SQUINT HAS BEEN A FAMILIAR PART OF THE FRENCH POLITICAL SCENE EVER SINCE. THE SQUINT IS THE RESULT OF HIS LOSS OF AN EYE IN A MOUNTAIN CLIMBING ACCIDENT WHEN HE WAS 20 YEARS OLD.

IN 1940, AFTER VOTING AGAINST GIVING FULL POWERS TO MARSHAL PETAIN, AURIOL WAS IMPRISONED BY THE VICHY REGIME. RELEASED LATER, HE WENT INTO HIDING UNTIL 1943, WHEN HE ESCAPED TO LONDON AND LATER ALGIERS.

WITH THE LIBERATION AURIOL BECAME A DOMINANT FIGURE IN THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT, OFTEN OCCUPYING THE ROLE OF PEACEMAKER.

SMERTENKO SAID ATTORNEY FOWLER HARPER OF WASHINGTON HAD ASKED THE STATE DEPARTMENT THERE TO PROTEST TO THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE AGAINST HIS EXCLUSION.

"THE LEAGUE HAS BEEN TRYING TO TELL THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT THAT SOMETHING WAS WRONG IN PALESTINE," HE TOLD REPORTERS. "THE BRITISH PEOPLE ARE NOT AWARE OF THE STRONG AMERICAN SENTIMENT THAT ENDANGERS ANGLO-AMERICAN FRIENDSHIP. MY EXCLUSION WAS AN ATTEMPT TO KEEP THEM UNAWARE."

THE RUSSIAN-BORN JEWISH LEADER WAS ACCUSED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS RECENTLY OF "OPENLY FINANCING TERRORIST ORGANIZATIONS IN PALESTINE" AND ALSO WAS CHARGED WITH MAKING INFLAMMATORY STATEMENTS CONCERNING THE SITUATION IN THE HOLY LAND. THE SOVIET A.G. WAS SET UP TO CONTAIN GERMAN PLANTS UNDER RUSSIAN OWNERSHIP AFTER THE RUSSIANS FOUND THAT IN SOME CASES IT WAS MORE PRACTICAL TO KEEP FACTORIES WORKING FOR THEM HERE THAN TO GO TO THE TROUBLE OF DISMANTLING THEM AND ATTEMPTING TO REASSEMBLE THEM IN RUSSIA.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THAT THE RUSSIANS PROMISED TO MAKE A "SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION" IN THEIR TAKE OF REPARATIONS FROM CURRENT MANUFACTURED PRODUCTION IN THE SOVIET ZONE. THEY PROMISED TO TAKE NO REPARATIONS FROM PRODUCTION OF SUCH CONSUMER GOODS AS SHOES AND CLOTHING. TO HELP GERMAN AGRICULTURE, THE RUSSIANS PROMISED TO LEAVE ALL POTASH PRODUCTION FOR GERMAN USE.

PERHAPS THE MOST IMPORTANT CONCESSION WAS A RUSSIAN PROMISE TO HELP THE GERMANS MEET REPARATIONS OUT OF PRODUCTION BY AGREEING TO INCREASE THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION IN THE SOVIET ZONE BY 200 TO 300 PERCENT OVER THE POSTWAR STANDARD AGREED UPON BY THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL.

IT HAD BEEN PREDICTED THAT THE RUSSIANS WOULD MAKE A SIMILAR PROPOSAL AT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL IN MOSCOW IN MARCH IN AN EFFORT TO OBTAIN AGREEMENT OF THE OCCUPYING POWERS TO REPARATIONS OUT OF CURRENT PRODUCTION, WHICH THE RUSSIANS NEED TO RELIEVE AN ACUTE CONSUMER GOODS SHORTAGE AT HOME.

ADD BERLIN-(D)-REICH DEMANDS OF RUSSIANS

BY THOMAS A.REEDY

NUERNBERG, JAN.16-(AP)-AMERICAN ATTORNEYS DECLARED TODAY THAT GERMAN GENERALS ARE GIVING THEM THE SILENT TREATMENT, A MAJOR IMPEDIMENT IN THE PROSECUTION OF WAR CRIMES.

REPEATED INTERROGATION OF HIGH-RANKING OFFICERS HAS FAILED TO DEVELOP THE SLIGHTEST TENDENCY TO "SQUEAL" ON EACH OTHER, THESE ATTORNEYS SAID. THEY INTERPRETED THIS SILENCE AS A MASSED EFFORT TO SALVAGE THE HONOR OF THE WEHRMACHT, BUT WHETHER IT STARTED AS A PLANNED EFFORT OR JUST GREW FROM INDIVIDUAL STUBBORNNESS IS A MATTER OF GUESSWORK.

ONE PROMINENT PROSECUTOR WHO ASKED NOT TO BE QUOTED BY NAME ATTRIBUTED THE SITUATION TO TWO THINGS:

1- THE GENERALS HAVE NOT BEEN GIVEN ANY INCENTIVE TO "TALK." ALL ARE UNDER LOCK AND KEY AND HAVE BEEN FOR A YEAR AND A HALF WITH THE EXPECTATION OF BEING PROSECUTED FOR SOMETHING.

2- MANY FEAR THAT THE GERMAN PEOPLE WOULD EVENTUALLY BRAND THEM AS "COLLABORATORS."

"WE OFFER THEM NOTHING, NOT EVEN FREEDOM FROM INDICTMENT, "THIS ATTORNEY SAID. "THEY FIGURE THEY HAVE NOTHING TO GAIN BY TALKING AND EVERYTHING TO WIN BY KEEPING SILENT."

"YOU CAN COUNT ON THE FINGERS OF YOUR HAND GENERALS WHO HAVE TOLD US THE FRANK TRUTH."

THE "COLLABORATION" ANGLE IS EQUALLY IMPORTANT, HE ADDED. THE GENERALS ARE ARROGANT, THINK GERMANY WILL BE "RELIEVED" OF OCCUPATION SOON AND THEY WANT TO RETURN TO THEIR FORMER HIGH STATUS IN THEIR COMMUNITIES. ANY NOTORIETY STEMMING FROM TESTIMONY AGAINST THE ARMY OR AN INDIVIDUAL WOULD FOLLOW THEM FOREVER, THEY CALCULATE.

THIS SITUATION EXPLAINS THE CONDUCT OF THE TRIAL OF FIELD MARSHAL ERHARD MILCH, LUFTWAFFE COMMANDER ACCUSED OF PROMOTING THE SLAVE LABOR PROGRAM AND EXPERIMENTS ON HUMANS.

THE ENTIRE PROSECUTION WAS BUILT AROUND DOCUMENTS. NOT ONE WITNESS FROM THE ARMED FORCES WAS PRESENTED. THE LAWYERS COULDN'T FIND ONE WHO HAD ANYTHING TO SAY IN COURT AGAINST MILCH. THE SAME THING IS TRUE OF THE TRIAL OF 23 SS DOCTORS FOR EXPERIMENTS THAT KILLED MANY VICTIMS. AND IT IS ALSO BAFFLING THE LAWYERS PREPARING THE CASES AGAINST THE HIGH COMMAND.

TOKYO, JAN. 16-(AP)-COSTS OF THE OCCUPATION CONSTITUTE ONE-THIRD OF JAPAN'S CURRENT BUDGET AND WILL TOTAL MORE THAN 38,000,000,000 YEN FOR THE PERIOD SEPT. 1, 1945 TO MARCH 1, 1947, FINANCE MINISTER TANZAN ISHIBASHI SAID TODAY.

AT LEAST 20 PER CENT OF THE EXPENDITURES REPRESENT EXCESSIVE CHARGES BY PROFITEERING JAPANESE CONTRACTORS FOR CONSTRUCTING HOMES, BARRACKS AND MILITARY INSTALLATIONS FOR ALLIED FORCES, HE TOLD FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS.

THE FISCAL BUDGET TOTALS 61,500,000,000 YEN. THAT IS LITTLE MORE THAN HALF OF THE COUNTRY'S LAST WARTIME BUDGET BUT REPRESENTS CONSIDERABLY LESS IN PURCHASING POWER BECAUSE OF INFLATION.

SIMILARLY, THE OCCUPATION COST TOTAL SHOWS ON THE BOOKS AS $2,500,000,000 AT THE 15-1 OFFICIAL EXCHANGE RATE BUT ACTUAL PURCHASING VALUE OF THE YEN IS NO MORE THAN 75 TO $1.

ISHIBASHI SAID ONE THIRD OF JAPAN'S BASIC PRODUCTION MATERIALS ARE BEING USED BY OCCUPATION FORCES, RETARDING INDUSTRIAL RECOVERY AND WORSENING INFLATION.

AMONG OCCUPATION COSTS, ISHIBASHI LISTED:

3,520,000,000 YEN FOR CONSTRUCTION OF SPECIAL PROJECTS INCLUDING AIRFIELDS, ROADS AND OTHER MILITARY INSTALLATIONS.

7,700,000,000 YEN FOR PREPARING 4,500 HOMES FOR OCCUPATION PERSONNEL.

6,000,000,000 YEN FOR FURNITURE FOR HOMES, BILLETS AND OFFICES.

3,000,000,000 YEN FOR JAPANESE LABOR ON THESE PROJECTS.

JAPAN'S 1944-45 BUDGET TOTALLED 111,000,000,000 YEN, OF WHICH 83,000,000,000 WAS EARMARKED FOR THE MILITARY.

DETROIT, JAN. 16-(AP)-DR. MARTIN NIEMOELLER, GERMAN RESISTANCE PASTOR WHO SPENT EIGHT YEARS IN A NAZI CONCENTRATION CAMP, PRAISED TODAY "A STRONG LIAISON" BETWEEN CHURCH AND LAY ORGANIZATIONS IN AMERICA.

DR. NIEMOELLER, IN DETROIT ON A CROSS-COUNTRY GOOD-WILL TOUR SPONSORED JOINTLY BY THE FEDERATED COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OF CHRIST AND THE AMERICAN COMMITTEE OF THE WORLD COUNCIL OF CHURCHES, SPOKE BEFORE A GATHERING OF MINISTERS IN THE FORENOON, AND WAS SCHEDULED FOR AN APPEARANCE AT THE MASONIC TEMPLE IN THE EVENING.

THE GERMAN CHURCHMAN, IN AN ADDRESS PREPARED FOR DELIVERY TO THE MINISTERS, TOOK NOTE OF THE PROMINENT PART THE CHURCH PLAYS IN THE TOTAL PUBLIC LIFE OF THE NATION. HE CITED THE NUMBER OF CHURCH RADIO BROADCASTS, AND A SUPPORT-THE-CHURCH CAMPAIGN BEING CONDUCTED BY KIWANIS INTERNATIONAL.

"CHRISTIANITY IN GERMANY HAD BEEN REDUCED AT THE ADVENT OF ADOLF HITLER'S REGIME ALMOST TO A PRIVATE AFFAIR," HE DECLARED.

NIEMOELLER TOLD OF HIS TRIAL FOR TREASON IN 1937. HE WAS CHARGED WITH MIXING IN POLITICS. HITLER HELD HIM TO BE "A POLITICAL PRISONER," HE SAID, ON GROUNDS OF HIS UPHOLDING THE TEN COMMANDMENTS, NOTABLY THOSE WHICH OPPOSED THE ANTI-JEW CAMPAIGN.

NIEMOELLER, A NAZI U-BOAT COMMANDER IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR, HAS BEEN MENTIONED AS THE LEADING DEMOCRATIC FIGURE IN POSTWAR GERMANY. OTHER GROUPS HAVE OPPOSED SUCH A DESIGNATION AND CITED HIS OFFER IN 1939 TO JOIN AGAIN THE SUBMARINE SERVICE, AN OFFER WHICH WAS TURNED DOWN BY GERMAN WAR LEADERS.

TORONTO, JAN 16-(AP)-AN OTTAWA DISPATCH TO THE TORONTO DAILY STAR SAID TODAY THAT THE ATOMIC ENERGY PLANT AT CHALK RIVER 125 MILES NORTHWEST OF THE CANADIAN CAPITAL COULD PRODUCE "WHAT IS PERHAPS A MORE DEADLY WEAPON THAN THE ATOMIC BOMB--DEATH DUST."

THESE "TINY RADIOACTIVE PARTICLES," SAID THE NEWSPAPER, "CAN BE PRODUCED IN GREATER VOLUME AND AT A MORE DEADLY POTENCY IN CHALK RIVER THAN IN ANY ATOMIC PLANT IN THE WORLD TODAY BECAUSE THE CANADIAN PLANT IS UNIQUE."

CANADIAN PRESS DISPATCHES, HOWEVER, QUOTED RELIABLE SOURCES IN OTTAWA AS SAYING THAT THE CURRENT STATUS OF A DUST BYPRODUCT OF THE CHALK RIVER NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL PILOT PLANT WAS LARGELY THAT OF AN INDUSTRIAL HAZARD AND THAT EFFORTS WERE BEING MADE TO KEEP THE MICROSCOPIC PARTICLES OF TOXIC POISON FROM GETTING INTO SCIENTISTS' LUNGS AND DESTROYING THEM.

CANADA IS NOT DEVELOPING THE DUST FOR MILITARY PURPOSES, THESE SOURCES WERE REPORTED TO HAVE SAID, BUT IN ANY FUTURE WAR SHE QUITE PROBABLY COULD AND WOULD. DEFENSE MINISTER BROOKE CLAXTON, SAID IN OTTAWA THAT BYPRODUCTS OF THE CHALK RIVER RESEARCH MIGHT BE USED FOR DEFENSE.

U.S. SHAPING ARMS POLICY

Proceeds With Caution Without Forcing Showdown Vote

L. HAUCK (U) 194

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 17 (AP)—The United States is slowly shaping a cautious arms policy stressing progress on United Nations atomic energy control without forcing a showdown vote with the Soviet Union, it was learned authoritatively today.

This policy further seeks to avoid any premature arms reduction program and, under it, the American delegation will counsel against establishment of a Security Council commission immediately, it was learned.

Delay On Question Sought

However, the United States was said to be ready to go along with setting up such a commission if other nations insisted, provided a definite line was drawn between the tasks of the new body and the already-functioning Atomic Energy Commission. The policy stressed that all weapons of mass destruction must be left under the Atomic Commission, along with the bomb itself, and not within the framework of any disarmament commission.

The American delegation still held that the Security Council at its next meeting Monday should postpone the whole arms question until February 4. Meanwhile, its representatives hoped for substantial off-the-floor progress on the atomic issue.

The Biggest Task

Admittedly the biggest task was to get everyone, including Russia, to put all their cards on the table.

The State Department was represented as wanting if at all possible to avoid the showdown vote with Russia on the basic plan for atomic control. This program, embodying the major principles of the Baruch plan, was accepted, 10 to 0, by the atomic body, with Russia and Poland abstaining, and has not been acted upon by the parent Security Council.

The suggested procedure would be to take up the plan's recommendations in the Security Council, paragraph by paragraph, and establish the areas of agreement. These portions then would be available for writing into a draft treaty.

A Matter For The Future

Everyone then would find out exactly where the Soviet Union stands and which points could not get Moscow's approval. The controversial sections would be subjected to drafting with all opinions known. Whether the American policy then would become more flexible was a matter for the future but the men making the decisions at least would be in a better position to judge how far they could, or would, go in seeking unanimity.

The United States was reported as feeling that establishment of an international force under the United Nations to guarantee security, implementation of the Act of Chapultepec calling for hemisphere solidarity, signing of the German and Japanese treaties and solution of the Pacific islands were all major problems that should be handled ahead of any arms reduction.

AUSTRIAN TREATY CLAUSE MAY BAR ANY REICH LINK

A. STEINHOFF (U)

LONDON, Jan. 17—(AP) An American informant said today that the big four deputy foreign ministers had decided that the proposed treaty with Austria should bar any possibility of a union with Germany.

They were agreed that Austria should be recognized as independent, but sought to exact from her a promise that she would maintain a democratic form of government assuring basic human rights to her citizens.

Substantial agreement was reached upon what should be contained in the preamble to the treaty.

The deputies decided that the preamble should neither praise nor condemn Austria, but should contain a short resume of Austrian history pointing out that the country had been under German domination, thus minimizing her war responsibility.

Another American informant said that the possibility of an interim stage in the long process of arriving at a final peace pact with Germany was introduced by Robert Murphy, the U. S. deputy.

Long Talk Seen

Sir William Strang, the British deputy, reminded the deputies that the final treaty for Germany may not be completed by the Big Four foreign ministers when they meet in Moscow on March 10.

This raised the possibility of the necessity of an intermediate stage when the affairs of Germany would be administered under an "intergovernmental agreement."

Feodor T. Gousev, the Soviet deputy, discussed but did not elaborate on obstacles that may defer a final peace and said deputies must consider the "absence of a German government."

A number of smaller Allies who have been clamoring for fuller participation in the conference were embarrassed today by having to confess they were not prepared. Yesterday Poland, with support of Russia who argued for several hours on the point, won the right to present its case first. Today when asked to be ready about Jan. 24 the Polish delegation requested more time.

Tentative arrangements call for Yugoslavia and South Africa to be heard Jan. 24, Poland Jan. 27 and Belgium Jan. 29.

Slash In Russian Claims On Reich Linked To Loan

ROBERT HEWETT (A)

London, Jan. 17 (AP) — British sources predicted today that Russia might seek a $5,000,000,000 loan from the United States as the price for scaling down reparations claims on Germany—one of the thorniest issues facing the deputy foreign ministers drafting German and Austrian peace treaties.

The influential London, Economist, terming reparations "the crux of the whole matter," said the "key to a German settlement" might lie in a United States loan to Russia.

"The Russians have asked for $10,000,000,000 worth of reparations from Germany," the paper said, "but the certainty of half that figure in dollars now would be of infinitely greater economic value.

Stalin Twice Cites Need

"Prime Minister Stalin has on two occasions recently referred to Russia's need for an American loan. The whole atmosphere of the coming Moscow conference might be changed if successful loan negotiations had already been completed in Washington."

Commenting on the heavy cost of occupation and asserting that unification of Germany would cut these expenditures, the Economist added that "Russian demands seem to Russians to be justified many times over and it would indeed be a remarkable situation if dollars could be found for a defeated aggressor but not for a devastated ally."

The Deputy Foreign Ministers appeared agreed today that there must be iron-bound guarantees that Austria and Germany never again can be united, an American source said today.

Would Exact Pledge

This informant said a proposal had been made to exact from Austria a promise to preserve the independence she will win.

The deputies discussed the preamble to the Austrian treaty and apparently reached substantial agreement on what it should express, but adjourned without writing any of it. Each of the four delegations named a committee, and at Monday's session, four proposed preambles will be submitted.

However, agreement was reached that the preamble should neither praise nor condemn Austria, but should contain a resumé of recent Austrian history and a statement that the country had been under complete German domination.

U.N. Membership Seen

The American position has been to give Austria a special status as liberated land, but the Russians want to pin some responsibility on her.

Suggestions have been made that in the future Austria could expect membership in the United Nations as a reward for good behavior. This is still in the discussion stage, but the Americans seem to favor it.

Australia apparently lost her appeal for active participation by the "little nations" in discussing the German and Austrian treaties.

Canadians Object

Feodor T. Gousev, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister, insisted that the smaller nations appear before the deputies council only when presenting their own treaty proposals.

The United States, Britain and France appeared to have dropped their earlier support of the Australian proposal.

Canada objected strenuously last night to the limitation.

"The Canadian Government does not regard the invitation (to present views to the deputies) in its present form as affording Canada an opportunity for participation in the peace settlement in the way which would be appropriate for a country which contributed substantially to the war against Germany," said Louis St. Laurent, External Affairs Minister.

Poland Heads List

The deputies agreed yesterday to invite Austria to state her views on the Austrian peace treaty and placed Poland at the head of the list of Nazi victims to make recommendations for the German peace treaty.

Yugoslavia asked for 1,000 square miles of Austrian territory in Carinthia and Styria, contending that of the 190,000 persons in the area, 126,000 are Slovenes.

JEWISH LEADER TO VISIT LONDON

London, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—An eleventh-hour effort to bring the Jewish Agency into the forthcoming London Conference on Palestine was foreseen in British Government circles today as the agency announced that its chairman, David Ben-Gurion, would arrive here Sunday from Jerusalem.

Authoritative British informants said it was certain that Ben-Gurion would be invited to confer immediately with Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones. Their talks, these persons said, "most probably" would cover ways of obtaining Jewish Agency participation in the formal conference, which is scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Signs multiplied today that Britain might attempt to set up parallel talks with the agency which would run concurrently with the Anglo-Arab discussions.

The Agudas Israel World Organization, a world organization of Orthodox Jews, said today that "no final decision has yet been taken in regard to participation" in the London talks, but added: "In any case, informal discussions with the Colonial Office will proceed during the course of the conference."

English Church Seeks Hymns For Atomic Era

London, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Church of England wants some new hymns for the atomic era.

The church's missionary society issued a blanket invitation to amateur hymn writers tonight to submit new words and music "to enrich if possible English hymnology with a selection of hymns which will express God's concern for the whole world in this new age."

FRENCH REPORTED LOSING CONTROL IN INDOCHINA REVOLT

REMBERT JAMES (N)

PARIS, Jan. 17—(AP) Cochin China officials were quoted tonight as saying the French had lost effective control of all but the main cities in the interior of that southern Indochina state, and Colonial Minister Marius Moutet declared an army of 150,000 was needed to put down the Viet-Namese nationalists.

President Hoach of the Cochin China government at Saigon was quoted in news dispatches as telling the government council that "the terror becomes more ferocious, events are stronger than we are."

Cites Total Insecurity

Councillor Ngoi of Hoach's staff was quoted as adding: "There is total insecurity in the interior provinces. For example in Dans province the principal city is the only one under legal government. The only master of the situation is the invisible government."

He said native nationalists had dismantled sections of the railway connecting Saigon, the capital, with the port of Mytho, 40 miles to the southwest.

Other dispatches said all electric power service for Saigon's industrial plants would be cut off for one day tomorrow because coal was short. Saigon's supply comes from Hongay, Annam Port, north of Haiphong, which is under siege by the Viet-Namese.

No Comment By France

There was no official French comment on the remarks of the Cochin China leaders. The Cochin China government was set up last June as a unit in a projected French Indochinese Federation. The Viet-Namese have been fighting for inclusion of the state in their republic. The southern state is the richest in Indochina.

Previous dispatches have reported scattered but growing clashes in southern Indochina.

Moutet who is continuing to act as colonial minister until a new cabinet is formed has just returned from a fact-finding trip to Indochina. He told the National Defense Council that France had 116,000 troops in the colony but would need 34,000 more to win a military decision over the Viet-Namese.

At Hanoi, capital of the north, French civilians and troops hailed arrival of the first truck convoy bearing food from the port of Haiphong since fighting began on Dec. 19. The residents had been on short rations.

Hanoi Hails Food Convoy

At Hanoi, capital of the north, French civilians and troops hailed arrival of the first truck convoy bearing food from the port of Haiphong since the fighting began on December 19. The residents had been on short rations.

A French armored column pushing southward from Hanoi freed a French and Canadian religious mission which had been isolated since December 19 and which had food for only five more days. More than 300 civilians, including an American, were rescued from the mission building which priests said had been fired upon by Viet Nam forces.

Paris, Jan. 17 (AP)—Dispatches from Saigon said tonight the French, in their struggle with the iVet-Nam nationalists, had lost control of all except the main cities in the interior of Cochin-China, richest of the Indo-Chinese states and an important rice-growing region.

"The terror becomes more ferocious," President Hoach of the Cochin-China Government told his council, "and events are stronger than we are."

Councillor Ngoi, of Hoach's staff, added:

"There is total insecurity in the interior provinces. For example, in the Dans province, the principal city is the only one under legal government. The only master of the situation is the invisible government."

Railroad Dismantled

Ngoi said the native nationalists had dismantled and removed large stretches of the railroad between Saigon, capital of Indo-China, and the port of Mytho, 40 miles southwestward.

Viet-Nam nationalists, since their uprising last December 19 at Hanoi, in Tonkin, almost 1,000 miles to the north, have been trying to get Cochin-China to join them in forming an independent state.

Associated Press correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Saigon that all electric power service for Saigon industrial plants would be suspended tomorrow for one day because Saigon coal supplies, which come from besieged Hongay, north of Haiphong, were growing short.

Hanoi Mission Relieved

Hanoi, Indo-China, Jan. 17 (AP)—A French armored column pushing southward Wednesday relieved a Canadian Redemptorist mission on the outskirts of Hanoi which had been isolated by Viet-Namese forces since December 19.

Living in the mission were 21 Canadian, 1 American and 40 native priests and more than 300 civilians, mostly women and children.

Contact had been established with the mission two days earlier by a French patrol, which reached the isolated group through a swamp while the main road to the mission was under Viet-Namese machine-gun fire.

Auriol Chooses Ramadier As Premier (D)

Paris, Jan. 17 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol tonight nominated Socialist Paul Ramadier, 59-year-old economist and lawyer, as French Premier.

Ramadier recently was Minister of Justice.

Leon Blum, who served as interim president and premier pending Auriol's election yesterday, declined nomination as permanent Premier because of his health. Blum is 74.

A member of the Radical Socialist party said Auriol earlier today offered the premiership to Edouard Herriot, but the prewar premier turned down the post because he felt he could not form a cabinet.

To Confer With Communists

The Communists are expected to seek the foreign ministry in the new cabinet. Auriol's schedule today included conferences with the Communist leaders Jacques Duclos and Maurice Thorez.

Within the next few days the National Assembly, Parliament's lower house, will select Auriol's successor for the speaker's post, Herriot was said to be slated for the speakership.

This would leave the Communists—the nation's largest party—without a presidency.

The MRP's (popular Republican movement) Auguste Champetier de Ribes is president of the upper house, the Council of the Republic. It was believed that this might prompt the Communists to insist on a key ministry.

German Industry (N)

L. HEINZERLING

Berlin, Jan. 17 (AP)—United States and British officials said tonight they expected to issue a directive to the German people in their zones in a few days which would set the level of German industry above that previously decided by four-power agreement.

An American official said the directive would transfer the emphasis in German economy from the traditional heavy industry to light industry and textiles.

This joint American-British step follows the action of the Russians in advising officials of the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party that industry in the Soviet zone would be increased by 200 to 300 per cent, that dismantling of factories for reparations would cease in the Soviet zone, and that reparations from current German production would be cut down.

Asks Russian Explanation

The Russian action, which was taken without prior consultation with the other occupation powers, caught Allied authorities by surprise and brought from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military government chief, a request for a Russian explanation. The Russians have promised a statement at the next meeting of the Allied Co-ordinating Committee.

American officials yesterday commented that the Russian plan would wreck the agreed four-power level for German industry and appeared even to raise it above the prewar level.

Until now, British and American economic experts have been studying means of making their economically merged zones self-supporting through an export-import program.

Below Peacetime Scale

The proposed new directive, American officials said, would set the level of industry higher than that agreed upon by the four powers, and higher than either the Americans or British would propose if all zones had been merged economically as proposed at Potsdam.

The level in the two zones will be below the previous peacetime scale, however. Emphasis will be shifted to such consumer goods as agricultural equipment, leather goods, costume jewelry and textiles.

The Germans will be told specifically which plants they will be allowed to keep in the two zones, officials said. There still will be factories set aside for reparations, they added, but they will be mainly in heavy industry.

Decartelization Law Seen For British Zone

Berlin, Jan. 17 (AP)—A decartelization law to break up excessive concentrations of German economic power soon will be promulgated in the British zone, a British spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the law will be "close to the ideas we know our Allies hold on cartels" and was drafted in consultation with American Military Government authorities.

The AMG has had a law prepared for weeks intended to smash enterprises employing more than 10,000 persons and it is expected to go into effect in the American zone simultaneously with the British law.

U-Boat Nearly Got Churchill, Doenitz Says

Nuernberg, Jan. 17 (AP)—Admiral Karl Doenitz asserted today that a German U-boat nearly counted Winston Churchill among her victims one month after the second World War started.

Doenitz, serving ten years as a war criminal, told an interrogator in his prison cell here that the incident happened west of the Orkney Islands in October, 1939, when a U-boat struck the 33,000-ton British battleship Nelson with three torpedoes that failed to explode because they were faulty.

Captain "Broken Man"

Doenitz said the U-boat captain was a "broken man" when he discovered later that Churchill was aboard the Nelson. He added that faulty torpedoes greatly hampered U-boat warfare, especially at the beginning of the war.

Doenitz did not say how he knew for certain Churchill was aboard the Nelson at the time, but he declared it had been confirmed through intelligence.

British Statement

London, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Admiralty said today it was aware of German claims that three torpedoes were fired at H.M.S. Nelson while Winston Churchill was on board shortly after the start of the war but declared "we have no record of them."

Churchill was on board the battleship in November, 1939, a spokesman said.

"But we have no record of three torpedoes being fired and no record of any of them having been seen," he declared.

The ship was mined during the same month, the spokesman said, but Churchill was not on board at the time.

'Axis Sally' Still In Reich, Report

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 17 (AP). An official United States Army spokesman said tonight that Mildred Gillars, the alleged "Axis Sally" of Germany's wartime radio, still was in Germany—free, but reporting regularly to military authorities.

Denying reports that she had arrived in Miami, Fla., the spokesman said:

"She reported on schedule to our Frankfurt office this afternoon, and we can produce her on an hour's notice if necessary."

The former American musician was reported staying at the home of a friend in or near Frankfurt.

[In Washington, Tom C. Clark, Attorney General, said Miss Gillars was reported to have arrived in Miami and that if she had entered the United States she would be arrested and charged with treason. He added, however, that an immigration department check showed that she had not arrived in the United States.]

Ex-Dachau Chief To Be Hanged

Dachau, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—Alex B. Piorkowski, a former pencil salesman, who commanded the infamous Dachau concentration camp in 1938, was sentenced to death by hanging by a United States Military Court today for taking part in the slaying of 8,000 Russians.

Pirkowski was arrested by British officials last August in Holland, where he had been operating a factory.

Franco to Aid Exiles' Return

MADRID, Jan. 17 (AP)—Approval of a decree to "facilitate the return of exiles to Spain" was announced today following a Cabinet meeting under the chairmanship of Generalissimo Francisco Franco. The announcement did not give the terms of the decree but stated that it "provides methods for legalizing the situation of Spanish exiles abroad."

Nenni Offer To Resign

Rome, Jan. 17 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi returned from his whirlwind travels in America today and was confronted with an offer of resignation by Pietro Nenni, Foreign Minister, which threatened the collapse of de Gasperi's six-month-old four-party government.

A spokesman for de Gasperi said it could not be said that the resignation of Nenni, leader of the pro-Communist wing of the Socialist party, had been accepted.

Premier Hold Holds Conferences

It brought about a crisis in Italy's government just at the time, however when de Gasperi—strengthened by solid assurances of United States aid in the form of a $100,000,000 credit and the diversion of six food ships to Italian ports—appeared to have reasons to hope for success in a battle for survival of his Cabinet.

The Premier emerged from long conferences tonight declaring it was "too early" to talk of a crisis, despite open discussion of the situation as such by political leaders and the newspapers of Rome.

De Gasperi said he had "taken note" of Nenni's desire to resign, but would make no further statement.

Conservative Action

Nenni's proffer came just at the time, too, when other elements in Italy's politics appeared determined not to rock the boat.

Just before de Gasperi stepped down from the big American army transport plane, Giuseppe Saragat, declared he would not precipitate the crisis. Saragat is the leader of bolting Socialists who threatened to undermine Nenni by their objections to his policy of collaborating with the Communists in a united front.

Mauro Scoccimarro, the Communist Finance Minister, also had given out an unexpectedly conservative interview in which he said he would not insist upon his plan to call in Italian currency to "shake out" gains of black marketeers and war profiteers—a plan which had been sharply criticized by conservatives who said it would destroy financial security.

Nenni Puts Party First

With apparent design to give de Gasperi a breathing spell, all parties also had agreed to defer reconvening of the Assembly from Monday until perhaps mid-February.

Nenni was quoted as saying in his resignation that he wished to devote all his time to his Socialist party leadership.

High Socialist circles said he also resigned because he did not wish to sign the Italian peace treaty, a copy of which was brought back from Washington by de Gasperi.

De Gasperi's Christian Democrats hold nine portfolios in the Cabinet, the Communists and Socialists four each, the Republican party two.

FASCIST TRIO FOILED

Milan, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—Two men and a woman, masked and armed, overpowered five members of the staff of a Milan radio station last night and shouted Fascist propaganda into a dead microphone for fifteen minutes.

Freed shortly after the trio fled in an automobile, a member of the station staff explained that he had cut out the microphone while his companions were being trussed up.

One of the gunmen, he reported, spoke at length in praise of the Fascist Democratic party, which boasted of having stolen Mussolini's body last April.

Greek Town Fight On

Athens, Jan. 17 (AP)—Greek press reports today described an eight-hour battle in a snowstorm between Greek military forces and a large guerrilla force for the village of Vlasti.

These reports said 20 guerrillas were killed and 60 wounded and abandoned in the snowswept crags of Siniatsiko Mountains around the village, which is south of Phlorina. The population numbers about 2,300.

One Greek officer was reported killed and five soldiers were missing.

American Named In Slav Spy Case

Belgrade, Jan. 17 (AP)—Chicago-born Ivan Pintar went on trial today in Sisak, Croatia, with sixteen others charged with having "actively participated in the organizing work of the Ustachi-controlled Crusaders with the purpose of overthrowing the existing state of order in Yugoslavia," authorities here announced.

A United States Embassy spokesman said records showed Pintar was born in Chicago in 1904, and was in Zagreb as a business man when he applied for registration to return to the United States. Embassy records showed nothing was heard of him from the time of his application until the report of his trial today.

Embassy Employe Arrested

The Foreign Office, meanwhile, notified the United States Embassy of the arrest of an Embassy employe, Miss Mille Markovich, Yugoslav citizen and daughter of a prewar banker-industrialist. No charges were mentioned and no explanation was given for the arrest.

Pintar is charged with having taken pictures of military objectives in Sisak during the Nazi occupation and turning them over to spies of the Ustachi, a terrorist organization of the puppet Croatian regime. The pictures included, the charges said, those of a bridge and an oil factory.

International Reaction

Others of the accused are charged in the indictment with having "placed themselves at the service of international reaction and established connections with the foreign spy, Ivan Pintar, a United States citizen."

The newspaper Politika said evidence was produced by the public prosecutor that Pintar promised to establish connections between the Crusaders, a new group accused of being made up of former Ustachi adherents, and the United States Army through friends in the American consulate in Zagreb.

SHELL BLAST KILLS 14 IN DUTCH TOWN

Amsterdam, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—Fourteen soldiers and possibly six civilians were killed today and hundreds of residents were injured when a truckload of German shells exploded at Muiden, causing widespread damage.

The windows of every house in the town of 3,000, eight miles southeast of Amsterdam, were shattered by the blast, which scattered ruin reminiscent of the war. Windows were smashed as far away as Hilversum, ten miles distant.

Soldiers and civilians joined in digging in the rubble for the injured. The bodies of ten of those killed were recovered as darkness fell.

One of the soldiers and civilian workers who were unloading the truck at the time survived the explosion, which ripped a crater 150 feet in diameter. The exact number of civilian workers killed could not be determined immediately. Bodies of some of the victims were found in trees and in a nearby canal.

The 150-pound shells came from German stores on the Dutch west coast and were being transported to a mill in Muiden to be dismantled.

Nazi Shells Go Off, Kill 14

Dutch Soldiers Die in Blast; 6 Civilians May Be Dead

MUIDEN, Holland, Jan. 17 (AP).—A truck loaded with 150-pound German shells exploded here this afternoon, killing fourteen Dutch soldiers and possibly six civilians. The blast was so terrific it drove the bodies of some victims deep into the ground, shattered windows in every home in this town of 3,000, eight miles southwest of Amsterdam, and caused a crater 150 feet in diameter.

The fourteen soldiers were unloading the truck, and one was believed to have dropped a shell.

Swedes Recognize Philippines.

Stockholm, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—Sweden's recognition of the Philippines as an independent State was officially announced today.

NOMINATED TO UN

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 17 — (AP) Sweden's minister to Washington, Herman Eriksson, has been nominated as Sweden's permanent representative to the United Nations, it was officially announced today.

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 17 (AP)—A civilian Norwegian court sentenced Oscar Hans, former Gestapo commandant, to death today on charges that he was responsible for the execution of 312 Norwegian patriots during the German occupation. After his arrest in 1945 he pointed out many mass burial places of Norwegians.

NORWAY OUTLINES ASSENT TO SOVIET

Oslo, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—The Norwegian Foreign Office said today that it had signified Norway's willingness in April, 1945, to establish a joint defense arrangement with Russia for the Spitzbergen Archipelago—but with three conditions.

First, a Foreign Office communique said, the arctic islands should continue under Norwegian sovereignty. Second, the United States, Britain, France, the Netherlands, Denmark and Sweden would have to agree. Third, the arrangement would have to be acknowledged by the Norwegian Parliament.

The Moscow radio said Monday night that Norway and Russia had reached an agreement for "joint defense of the Spitzbergen Islands" after negotiations in 1944 and 1945. The broadcast, based on a Tass dispatch, quoted "authoritative Soviet circles" as saying that the 1920 treaty giving the islands to Norway "cannot remain valid."

The Norwegian statement today said that the whole question now is under consideration by the Norwegian Government and Parliament, to which Foreign Minister Halvard Lange spoke yesterday in closed session concerning the recent Spitzbergen developments.

BLOC GROUPS OPEN FINAL CAMPAIGN FOR POLISH VOTES

HARRY ALLEN (N)

WARSAW, Jan. 17—(AP) The Communist-supported government bloc parties mobilized their entire enrolled membership of close to 1,000,000 tonight for an intensive house-to-house campaign to bring out the vote in Poland's parliamentary elections on Sunday.

Beginning at 7 a. m. tomorrow committees of three were directed to make a canvass of homes and instruct every eligible voter to cast his ballot for the bloc parties.

12 Million to Vote

Kazimierz Bzowski, 71-year-old court justice who is general commissioner of elections, estimated that 12,000,000 Poles were eligible to vote in Poland's first post-war parliamentary election. He said 200,000 were disqualified because of alleged collaboration with the Germans or underground bands.

Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, leader of the opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL), asked for a prediction of the outcome of the election, asserted he had been informed that the bloc parties already had arranged for the results to show the PSL receiving eight per cent of the vote.

He said it was difficult to understand why his supporters were being terrorized when the bloc controls all the machinery to arrange the election results any way it sees fit.

Wladislaw M. Gomulka, head of the Workers' party of the government bloc, declared that the future of the PSL party after the election would depend upon the party's behavior. He said he was convinced the nation would not "commit suicide" by handing over power to Mikolajczyk.

Oral Protests Planned

Bzowski said millions of voters would declare publicly at the polls for whom they were voting as a protest against waves of armed attacks by underground bands hostile to the pro-government bloc which he said have resulted in the death of 53 members of local and district election commissions.

He said the provision in the constitution for secret elections would be observed by counting as valid only ballots sealed in envelopes and dropped in boxes, although millions of voters would make known for whom they were casting their choices. PSL leaders contend that such "open voting" is illegal.

Bzowski said the Poles will vote in 6,726 precincts, choosing 444 deputies out of a total of 1,675 candidates. Of the total, 730 represent the government bloc, 428 the Polish Peasant (PSL) party, 287 the Labor party, 193 the "New Liberation" group which split off from the PSL; 15 the Catholics and 22 other candidates in various groups.

PSL Denied Ticket

Bloc lists were accepted in all the 52 electoral districts but PSL candidates were denied the ticket in 10 districts.

Mikolajczyk submitted originally a total of 864 candidates, but hundreds of the candidacies were barred because the government contended they had cooperated with the underground, were involved in other crimes or had collaborated with the Germans. Security police imprisoned 138 PSL candidates.

A foreign ministry spokesman said Catholics had recently "assumed an attitude of non-interference in political discussions" but declined to elaborate. Previously the government charged that Catholic priests were propagandizing in favor of Mikolajczyk's party.

Bzowski termed "ridiculous" a charge by Mikolajczyk that inhabitants of 96 villages had been disenfranchised en masse.

Big Section Accused

Gomulka said he was convinced that Poland would not "commit suicide" by handing over power to Mikolajczyk, whom he has pictured as desiring the return of leaders of the London wartime Polish Government-in-exile. He said big sections of Mikolajczyk's party apparently were involved in the anti-Government underground.

Gomulka denied Mikolajczyk's accusation that the security police had "beat up the political opposition." He said the only PSL members arrested were underground or criminal suspects.

80,000 Reported Arrested

Mikolajczyk reported that since December 12 security police had arrested 80,000 to 100,000 of his followers and, on the grounds of alleged underground connections, had padlocked 31 district headquarters of his party.

He said that in Warsaw, Katowice and elsewhere, armed gangs had attacked his party's offices and smashed its printing shops, and that in Torun, bloc agitators had burned stacks of his Warsaw newspaper, Gazeta Ludowa.

Mikolajczyk, former premier of the London government, said he came back to Warsaw only to help Poland recover from the war and German occupation.

London, Jan. 17 (AP)—The British Foreign Office said tonight that observer teams will be sent from the British Embassy in Warsaw to the larger cities of Poland Sunday to watch election proceedings. The official observer groups will not be allowed in the rural districts by the Polish Government, however.

STARTS FOR WASHINGTON

WARSAW, Jan. 17—(AP) Jozef Winiewicz, newly appointed Polish ambassador to Washington, took off in a plane today for London on his way to Washington.

SOVIET INTEREST IN SPITSBERGEN CREATED BY WAR

EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Jan. 17—(AP) The government newspaper Izvestia asserted today that World War Two had demonstrated the Soviet Union's interests in the Arctic Spitsbergen archipelago for defense purposes. It declared the validity of the 1920 pact giving Norway sovereignty over the islands "cannot be preserved."

(The islands stand on the Arctic flank of the convoy route to Russia's northern port of Murmansk.

Oslo Gives Version

(In Oslo, the Norwegian foreign office gave its version of the "understanding" which Moscow announced two days ago had been reached with Norway regarding a joint defense of the islands.

(The Norwegians said they had agreed to sign a joint preliminary declaration for joint military use of the islands, but that they had attached three conditions. These conditions were not mentioned by Moscow.

(The conditions were that the islands should continue under Norwegian sovereignty; that the United States, Britain, France, the Netherlands, Denmark and Sweden would have to consent to the agreement, and that the arrangement would have to be acknowledged by the Norwegian parliament. The Norwegians said they further had specified that the agreement would have to be a link in the construction of international security. The question is now under consideration by the Norwegian parliament.)

Izvestia charged that the governments of Britain, the United States and France, which signed the 1920 pact, ignored the interests of the then young Soviet Republic.

The newspaper said that "territorially and economically" the interests of the Soviet Union in Spitsbergen were "indisputable" and added:

Called Out of Date

"As everyone can see, the argument is out of date and does not conform to the international situation existing at present, and therefore its validity cannot be preserved."

The experience of the World War just over demonstrated that the strategic position of the Spitsbergen islands was of great danger to the defense of the Soviet Union, the newspaper said.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda gave its attention to another northern sector.

Pravda carried a Tass dispatch under an Ottawa date giving an account of "intense" military activity by the United States in the Aleutians—"the American territory closest to the Soviet Union."

The dispatch quoted a Fairbanks, Alaska correspondent of "World News Letter" as saying that despite almost "impregnable censorship" he was able to get out a story of the American military "working on the problems of a new war."

The Tass dispatch said that all American units which go to the Aleutians receive "special training" in Arctic warfare methods and that all types of new military equipment were being tested under conditions "similar to those climatically along the Russian northern coastline."

(The Tass office in Ottawa said "World News Letter" was a periodical news letter issued in Toronto by a former free lance radio correspondent in Moscow named Davies).

Moscow, Jan. 17 (AP)—A commentator in the Soviet Government newspaper Izvestia said today that the British, United States and French governments ignored the interests of the young Soviet republic when the international agreement governing the Spitsbergen Archipelago was signed in 1920.

[Norway, which was given sovereignty over the Arctic Islands by the 1920 agreement, signified her willingness in April, 1945, to establish a joint defense arrangement with Russia for the archipelago, the Norwegian Foreign Office announced in Oslo.

[This was contingent, however, upon approval of the United States, Britain, France, The Netherlands, Denmark and Sweden, continued Norwegian sovereignty over the islands, and approval of the arrangement by Norway's Parliament, the Foerign Office said.]

Interests "Indisputable"

"Territorially and economically," the Izvestia commentary said, "its (the Soviet Union's) interests regarding Spitsbergen are indisputable."

Izvestia said the positions of the governments which signed the 1920 accord toward the young Soviet Government were well known at the time. The commentator added that Italy and Japan were among the signatories. [Russia signed in 1925.]

The article said World War II demonstrated that Spitsbergen's position was of great danger to the defense of the Soviet Union.

"As everyone can see, the agreement is out of date," the newspaper said, "and does not correspond to the international situation existing at present, and therefore its validity cannot be preserved.

Time Ror "Real Reckoning"

"Twenty-seven years have passed since the signing of the agreement, and much has changed in the world, and the methods of 1920 should long ago have been put in the archives. The time was ripe long ago to move . . . to a real reckoning of mutual interests."

Izvestia said the Soviet Union, defending the principle of international collaboration, was not inclined to follow a policy of unilateral action, the adherents of which operate "rather actively in the Congress of the United States."

It added that the foreign press was raising "a hypocritical noise" on the Soviet-Norwegian negotiations (concerning joint defense of the islands) and said the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter was "serving its American protectors."

Polish Opposition 'On Probation'

Warsaw, Jan. 17 (AP)—The leader of the Communist-backed Workers party in Poland's Government bloc says the future of the opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL) after next Sunday's election will depend upon the opposition party's behavior.

This statement last night by Wladislaw W. Gomulka, Workers party chief, followed a report by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, leader of the Polish Peasant party, that he had received many telephoned death threats and that some Government-bloc supporters had predicted publicly that he would hang after the parliamentary election.

False Polish Data Misled U.S., Reds Say

GILMORE

Moscow, Jan. 17 (AP)—Izvestia, Soviet Government newspaper, said today that recent United States notes on the Polish election were based on "false and tendentious information," some of which, it declared, Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk had supplied to "representatives of foreign states."

"It is very significant," said Izvestia, "that the United States Government in its (latest) note . . . referred not to facts set forth by the Polish Government it recognizes but to the information of Mikolajczyk"—leader of the Polish Peasant party, opposing the Government bloc in Sunday's parliamentary election.

Blames "Reactionaries"

"Foreign reactionaries who last year suffered defeats in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Romania and Albania," the story said, "are endeavoring to take revenge in the January 19 Polish elections."

The writer, signing himself "the reviewer," said the "reactionary press" of the United States and Britain were campaigning against the Polish Government and trying to instill "distrust" between Poland and Russia.

Ignored In Spitsbergen Pact, Russia Declares

30.24-7413

French Aligned With West

PARIS, Jan. 17 (AP)—A French Foreign Office spokesman said today any revision of the 1920 treaty demilitarizing Spitsbergen should have the consent of all nations, except Japan and Italy, that signed the original pact. In effect, the pronouncement aligned France with Britain and the United States on the Russian negotiations with Norway.

JEWISH LEADER, CUNNINGHAM TALK

JERUSALEM, Jan. 17—(AP) Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, the Palestine high commissioner, late today summoned David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, to a 40-minute talk possibly aimed at getting Jewish leaders to meet in London when the Palestine conferences begin on Jan. 21.

Cunningham, who arrived in Jerusalem earlier by special plane from London, telephoned personally to Ben-Gurion who was meeting with the Palestine Jewish Agency executive in Ben-Gurion's Tel Aviv home.

Prior to Cunningham's call the Agency Executive had agreed to take part in a conference in London of agency members from London, Paris, New York and Jerusalem late in January. Jewish leaders said Cunningham may have wanted to get them into the British capital by Jan. 21.

The Palestine Arab Executive, which has agreed to take part in the London conference, said its four-man delegation would meet with the Grand Mufti in Cairo before going to London.

Patriarch Of Greek Church Is Improving

Istanbul, Jan. 17 (AP)—A medical commission has determined that Patriarch Maximos V is "entering a phase of recovery" from a serious nervous disorder, the patriarchate of the Greek Orthodox Church announced today.

Church sources disclosed recently that the 51-year-old patriarch had suered from a "restriction phobia" brought on by the close confinement required by his high position.

India's Untouchables To Complain To U.N.

Bombay, Jan. 17 (AP)—Leaders of India's millions of untouchables voted today to complain to the United Nations and to India's Constituent Assembly against high caste Hindus whom they accused of "acts of social, economic and political tyranny and constant resort to organized violence."

Dr. B. R. Ambeker, leader of the untouchable community and author of the resolution, declared conditions among the depressed classes in India were the same as those of Negroes in the United States.

The resolution, approved by the scheduled castes (untouchable) federation executive and by the federation's working committee, said the position of the untouchables was far worse than that of Indians in South Africa, who were the subject of an Indian complaint in the United Nations. It charged also that the British Government had failed to give the untouchables justice or protection.

Two Burmese Slain

Rangoon, Jan. 17 (AP)—A Government press communiqué said today that two Burmese were killed and two wounded Tuesday when police fired on a crowd of 300 Communists attempting to free comrades who were jailed in connection with looting rice.

21 Nazis Sentenced

Shanghai, Jan. 17 (AP)—Twenty-one Nazis were convicted today of helping Japan wage war after V-E day in violation of Germany's surrender terms and were sentenced to terms ranging from five years to life imprisonment at hard labor.

The Nazis passively heard their sentences passed by a four-member United States military commission.

Ludwig Ehrhardt, chief of Germany's Bureau Ehrhardt, wartime espionage network in the Orient, was given a life sentence.

Baron Jesco von Puttkamer and Alfred Romain were given 30 years each.

Woman Gets Five Years

Mrs. Maria Muller, only woman accused, was sentenced to five years.

Six other original defendants were acquitted.

Other sentences were:

Hans Mosberg, a Jew who was made an honorary Aryan for fifth-column service in Poland before the Nazi invasion, twenty years.

Erich Heise, chief of the bureau's Canton branch who gave the Japanese information on troop and supply movements over the Hump and ran spies into American airfields, twenty years.

Siegfried Fuellkrug, former Gestapo man, member of Heinrich Himmler's most trusted inner circle and chief of the bureau's Peiping office, twenty years.

Dr. Walther Heissig, second in command at the bureau's Peiping office, twenty years.

2 MURDERS LAID TO REDS

Catholic Missionaries Slain In China as 'American Spies'

SHANGHAI, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Franciscan Mission charged today that Chinese Communists murdered two Roman Catholic missionaries on charges that they were American spies, at Yentou on Jan. 1. Yentou is sixty miles east of Suchow, northern Kiangsu.

The mission identified the victims as Brother Benedict Jensen, 54, member of the Franciscan mission at Santa Barbara, Calif., and Father Augustine Holsum, a native of Germany.

Brother Jensen was born in Copenhagen, Denmark. He worked in California twenty years before coming to China.

The mission said the Communists charged the missionaries with being American spies and attacked them with knives. Hours later Holsum's body was found, with nearly 20 stab wounds, the skull split open and the face hardly recognizable.

There was a large wound in Jensen's throat and three or four others on the body.

Money Burden Eased

Shanghai, Jan. 17 (AP)—Inflation-ridden China's money burden was eased, physically, today.

The Central Bank of China put into circulation gold units in 250 and 500 denominations, worth 5,000 and 10,000 Chinese dollars. They are worth only about 85 cents and $1.70 at black-market prices, although the official exchange rate is double that.

Heretofore, $50 worth of Chinese currency was as much as a person could carry in his pockets, with the largest denomination 2,000 Chinese dollars.

TRUCE TEAM REDS AID COMMUNISTS, CHINESE CHARGE

TOM MASTERSON

PEIPING, Jan. 17—(AP) Accusing the Communist members of Chinese truce headquarters of aiding the Communist armies, the government today ordered their radio shut down and their "work" stopped at Changchun, Manchurian capital.

Explanation of the clamp-down orders came from a government spokesman after the American branch of the Executive headquarters in Peiping had protested that the step violated headquarters directives.

The spokesman for the government branch of the tripartite headquarters said the Communist members in Changchun were "in constant radio communication with the Red armies advancing against Changchun."

This spokesman asserted that "one hundred thousand Communist troops under Gen. Lin Piao are now pushing toward the Manchurian capital. The Communists have probably taken Tachimu by now and are converging on Tehhui, 55 miles north of Changchun."

Set at 20,000

Unconfirmed Chinese press reports agreed with the spokesman's report on the military situation except that they put the size of the Communist forces at only 20,000 and said the apparent objective was Kirin, 60 miles east of Changchun.

Kirin controls the electric power supply for Harbin, Communist stronghold in the north, which is blacked out because the government has cut off the current.

A Communist spokesman in Peiping professed not to know the reason for the government's action against the truce representatives, but said the Communist leaders in Changchun were confined to quarters and were "closely watched" by government men.

The headquarters has not functioned as an actual truce organization for several months since the breakdown of government-Communist negotiations in Nanking. The American government, and Communist branches all have remained in Peiping and Changchun, but the field teams by which they sought to end the war are on a bipartite basis.

Scattered over North China and Manchuria, these teams have American members, but there are no Communist members in government territory and no government representatives in Communist areas.

There have been frequent unofficial predictions that the whole ineffectual truce setup would be dissolved by the end of the month.

CHINESE EXCHANGE FIRM

Finance Minister Says Change Would Cause Price Rises

NANKING, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Government declined today to change the official exchange rate of Chinese currency but gave individuals some relief by issuing notes of larger denominations.

Finance Minister O. K. Yui told a committee of the people's political council that the Government would stick to the present rate of 3,350 Chinese dollars to one United States dollar although the black market rate is 6,500 to one United States dollar.

Mr. Yui said an increase in the official rate would stimulate high prices and that the only way to balance the Government budget was to try to keep the black market within reasonable limits.

Hiroshima Victims Still Bear Scars

FOY KOHLER

Tokyo, Jan. 17 (AP)—Some of Hiroshima's atomic bomb victims still show striking skin abnormalities and burn scars, but no one is known to have died from burns or other bomb action since October, 1945, investigators reported today.

An atomic bomb casualty commission has been studying Japanese injured by the bombs dropped at Hiroshima and Nagasaki in August, 1945, and is planning a long-term survey to determine long-range effects.

Lieut. James V. Neel, Army Medical Corps, assigned to the Manhattan district, said studies failed to reveal whether those injured by the bomb or who were in the area at the time of detonation will pass on any effects to their children. He said the final answer might not be known for 50 years.

No Abnormalities

Neel said, however, there have been no births in which abnormalities could be ascribed to the bomb.

Japanese who suffered a loss of hair or damage to blood-forming organs have recovered but it has not been determined whether their recovery is permanent, said another commission member, Lieut. Melvin A. Block.

Col. Crawford Sams, General MacArthur's public health officer, said one objective is to determine if the scars resulted from effects of the bomb or were "a racial reaction to skin injury."

The survey also includes a study of the effects of the atomic bomb on the life span, on fertility, and on disease and resistance to sickness.

Rumors Not Verified

Neel said there is no evidence yet that any disease condition has been arrested in those exposed to the blast.

Sams reported there is no verification for rumors of deaths among Japanese who went into atom-bombed areas shortly after the detonations although it is understood some who did return had been affected in such ways as loss of hair.

Sams reported all Japanese whose injuries were described as acute have been discharged from hospitals.

Britain Honors Head Of U. S. 1st Cavalry

Tokyo, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. William C. Chase of Providence, R. I., whose First Cavalry Division contends that it was the first to enter Manila, was notified today that he has been awarded the rank of honorary commander, Order of the British Empire, for that campaign.

The citation noted also that he "liberated prisoners at Santo Tomas Internment Camp by a swift and daring attack and rescued those prisoners unharmed."

Inflation Stayed

Tokyo, Jan. 17 (AP)—Japan's current inflation soon may be stayed temporarily, Tokyo newspapers reported facetiously today, because of a lack of coal to operate currency printing presses.

The newspaper Mainichi said that in the Kanto Plain region around Tokyo only plants producing priority items are getting coal. The shortage already has placed restrictions on railroads and the use of electricity.

The Yomiuri predicted a further curtailment of electricity unless rain or snow fills reservoirs of hydroelectric installations. It said that by the end of January households might get power only every third day.

Slavery Warning

Danasalan, Mindanao, P.I., Jan. 17 (AP)—President Roxas visited the heart of the Moro country today and warned 30 tribal chieftans slavery would not be tolerated.

The President was told upon his arrival that about 200 Filipino Christians still are held as slaves by the Moros. Roxas gave the tribes a month to free them or face prosecution.

The chieftains brought out gold-brocaded parasols, reserved for ceremonial occasions, and came to the meeting with Roxas at the head of 5,000 of their tribesmen. Some carried gold sabers and wore silver and gold helmets.

Roxas addressed the gathering from a balcony and told them freedom of religion did not extend to their practice of enslaving Christians.

Long Sought Kuroda Arrested in Japan

Manila, Jan. 17 (A. P.).—A United States Army War Crimes Section spokesman said today that Lieut.-Gen. Shigemori Kuroda, long sought "playboy general" who commanded in the Philippines, has been arrested in Japan. Kuroda is wanted to answer for atrocities committed against prisoners of war and for outrages against guerrillas during a cleanup campaign on Panay in 1943 conducted by Lieut.-Gen. Takaishi Kono, his subordinate. Kono now is under sentence to hang.

The late Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, who relieved Kuroda in 1944, accused him of neglecting the defenses of the Philippines while spending his time in Manila's night clubs.

Indonesia To Reduce Army, Hold Election

Batavia, Java, Jan. 17 (AP)—Premier Sutan Sjahrir said today that the Republic of Indonesia, as soon as possible after signing the Cheribon agreement with the Dutch, planned to reduce its military forces drastically and hold its first general election — probably this year.

Sjahrir said the republic had passed through its "revolutionary phase" and was prepared to sign the agreement as soon as a few remaining issues had been settled—notably boundaries. Dutch military perimeters and Dutch naval treatment of republican shipping.

The agreement would recognize the republic as an independent part of a United States of Indonesia in union with the Netherlands under the Dutch crown.

Filipinos Eight Japs

Manila, Jan. 17 (AP)—Fragmentary reports to Philippine military headquarters today said Filipino police are fighting a series of skirmishes with well-armed Japanese straggelers in uninhabited wilds of central Mindanao. Two Japanese were killed yesterday.

One Cabinet Officer For Defense Gets High Command Support

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The army and navy high command, agreed on a plan for "unification," today promised co-operation and greater efficiency under a single Cabinet officer.

One by one, Secretary of War Patterson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower gave their wholehearted indorsement to the new plan.

They spoke to a crowded news conference in the White House movie theater.

Still Only A General Plan

Then they turned the meeting over to experts to go into details. But, for the most part, the plan, announced by President Truman last night, remained only a general proposition, with the chinks to be filled in later.

Congress will have a big hand in that.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, opening the seminar, cleared up one point—that there will be only one Cabinet member for defense, not four, as previously conjectured.

The arrangement is to have three secretaries—one each for army, navy and air, serving under a Secretary of National Defense.

Can Be Called In

Only the latter, Ross said, would be in the Cabinet. But the others can be called in when necessary.

"In our view," Patterson said, "it (the plan) is a sound and workable procedure with the needed single direction and at the same time it preserves the valuable element of local autonomy in the three branches."

Forrestal arose to assert, as he said he had done during the war in testifying before congressional committees, "me, too."

Reaction Of Nimitz And Ike

Nimitz said he considers the plan a "definite and substantial forward step and I shall support it to the best of my ability." He said it would enable the services to get together on many essential matters and make progress.

Eisenhower said he has always deplored the differences between army and navy officers over a merger and, now that they had been resolved, he personally would "support it with all I have" as a "distinctive step forward." The United States, he said, would be the great gainer by a step of this nature.

During the seminar, President Truman met with his Cabinet at their regular Friday session in another part of the White House.

Truman "Seemed Pleased"

The meeting was largely devoted to a discussion of the Army-Navy "unification" agreement.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson told reporters that the President "seemed pleased" about the agreement and "that's about as far as we got."

When it came to details, questions at the news seminar brought out these points:

The plans make no specific provision in themselves for a single purchasing department for all branches of the armed services. But the nature of the setup indicates that this is contemplated.

Marine Corps Unchanged

The Marine Corps will continue unchanged as the traditional amphibious fighting group. But there will probably be greater co-operation, training and development for use of the Army, Navy and Marines together in such operations.

There is no intention in this plan to decide which service will use which weapons for the purpose of doing its job.

Research will probably continue along present lines, but with a strengthening and co-ordination under a joint research agency directed by Dr. Vannevar Bush.

Whether guided missiles will be the special concern of one branch rather than another is not determined in the merger arrangement. The experts say that if such weapons are needed for land operation they will be available, and if required for sea operations, they will be on hand for that, too.

Uniforms Not Discussed

These were points brought out by Vice Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, deputy chief of naval operations, and Maj. Gen. Lauris Norstad, director of plans and operations for the War Department general staff.

There has been no discussion yet of such things as uniforms, Sherman said, adding:

"My purely unilateral view is that I am opposed to any change."

The two planning officers likewise made it apparent that on other lesser matters time will be required to work out any formal agreements, if such are necessary.

"Swift Decision" Query

One reporter suggested that the lack of a military chief of staff, serving directly under the secretary of defense, would mean a lack of "swift military decisions in an emergency." The Army originally wanted such a chief.

Sherman said that, on the contrary, he thought there was "adequate provision for swift decision."

The Navy had held out for joint chiefs of staff—which the plan includes.

"As I see it," Sherman said, "the fundamental purpose of this whole proposition is to increase the effectiveness of the national defense and promote teamwork and co-operation among the services."

Cites Decentralization

He said the plan carries a "greater measure of decentralization and autonomy" for the various service branches than President Truman originally contemplated.

Sherman thought that legislation could be drafted "very quickly" to embrace the program. Ross recalled that Mr. Truman had promised a message to Congress on the subject.

Norstad likewise emphasized the "team" idea in the new setup, which he said would be "integrated at the top." As to specific savings which may be realized through the plan, no one was able to venture even a guess.

"No Firm Estimate Made"

Mr. Truman has called for $11,200,000,000 for the armed services in the year beginning July 1. Asked how much of this might be saved through unification, Ross said he thought "no firm estimate has been made."

Nor could Norstad or Sherman give any idea.

Sherman agreed that superimposing a new co-ordinating agency on the units now existing would mean extra expense. But he said that through this agency it should be possible to make savings down the line.

The Admiral added that any of the three subordinate secretaries can complain to the White House if they feel they are getting a bad deal and that this is "just the type of thing the plan is meant to cover."

Parallels British Action

The agreement, he said, has been in the process of evolution for some time but was signed and sent to Mr. Truman only yesterday afternoon.

Ross agreed with a question that the arrangement parallels a recent British reorganization of the armed services.

Norstad declined to try to define the arrangement as a merger, unification or reorganization. He told reporters that so far as the Army and Navy are concerned they can call it what they want.

Ross did add a detail—that while the Secretary of Defense will be a civilian, this does not preclude the selection of some one now in uniform.

On Council Of Defense

On a question of how a proposed Council of National Defense might be set up, Sherman said it has been visualized as including the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, the heads of the three military departments and the chairman of a board which would try to assure maximum use of the nation's resources for defense.

This, he said, would provide for "co-ordination of military aspects with foreign policy" and the use of natural resources.

In the truly military field of planning, strategy and tactics, he said, a proposed war council will operate.

Serving on it will be the secretary of defense, the three military secretaries and the generals and admirals heading the three services.

Queried About Air Force

Norstad was asked whether he could give any idea of how far the air force staff would be drawn up. He said this was beyond the scope of the present merger agreement.

Forrestal and Patterson made only brief appraisals of the plan, then hurried to the other end of the White House for the Cabinet meeting. Nimitz and Eisenhower were equally brief.

Ross said they had to go to Chicago for speeches to the Council of State Governments.

FIVE PEACE PACTS READY FOR SIGNING

Treaties Are For Finland, Italy, Hungary, Bulgaria And Romania

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Big Four Foreign Ministers Council reported today that the peace treaties for Italy, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Romania have been finally completed and are now ready for signing.

James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, is scheduled to sign all except the Finnish treaty Monday morning, probably his last official act before turning over the conduct of foreign affairs to his successor, Gen. George C. Marshall.

Will Not Sign Finnish Treaty

Plans for General Marshall's arrival here from Hawaii, where he has been resting after thirteen months in China, have not yet been announced, but most officials expect that he will come in this week end and probably be sworn in as Secretary immediately after Byrnes signs the peace treaties.

Byrnes will not sign the Finnish treaty, because the United States was not at war with Finland.

After the signing here, the treaties will be forwarded to the other great-power capitals with the expectation that Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister, will sign in London and Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, in Moscow. The treaties then will go to Paris, where they are to be signed by all the Allied and associated powers (with Ambassador Jefferson Caffery representing the United States) and by the former enemy states on February 10.

Printed In Three Languages

Copies of the official text, printed in five separate volumes, were distributed here yesterday to the diplomatic missions of the Allied and associated powers of World War II.

Completion of the treaties, which simply meant putting the final draft into formal diplomatic language, was announced by Dr. Warren Elchner, secretary general of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council.

The texts are the same as those on which Byrnes, Bevin, Molotov and Maurice Couve de Murville, French Deputy Foreign Minister, finished work in New York in December. They provide in general for restoring peace between the Allies and the defeated former enemy states, settling boundary questions, limiting their arms and determining the conditions under which the five states are restored to full membership in the family of nations.

$563,888,579 FUND REPEAL IS SOUGHT

Truman Asks Congress To Cancel Appropriations

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to repeal appropriations of $563,888,579, including $132,000,000 of spending authorizations.

Announcement of his request followed by several days a demand from Representative Taber (R., N.Y.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, for a detailed report on the current status of all appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Taber said he believed "untold millions" could be recaptured from unspent funds.

A White House statement said the $563,888,579 figure was in addition to five previous recommendations for reductions in appropriations made but found not to be needed.

Army Funds Slashed

It said these others, which included great slashes in army and navy appropriations, reduced the net authorized Federal program by more than $64,000,000,000.

This includes vast army and navy rescissions originally based on continuing the war.

Meanwhile, Taber said tonight that the rescissions "help a bit but they are not anywhere near enough."

"The President's action," the statement said, "is in accord with objectives expressed by the Congress—to maintain a continuous review of unrequired appropriation balances with a view to their recovery."

The main saving he asked is $325,000,000 made available to the Maritime Commission and not now required because of the liquidation of wartime shipbuilding programs.

Included in this is the $132,000,000 contractual authority given the commission as well as the appropriations.

Navy Items Included

Four navy items account for the return of $119,000,000, including $50,000,000 not needed to meet contract termination costs, $50,000,000 of War Department funds advanced to the Navy for purchase of aircraft materiel and ordnance, $15,000,000 for public works, and $4,000,000 for emergency ship facilities no longer required.

Mr. Truman also asked that $40,000,000 be trimmed from funds for the Atomic Energy Commission which, the commission reported, will not be needed in the fiscal year expiring June 30.

War Department savings recommended, totaled $33,500,000.

Of this, $17,500,000 had been intended for construction of buildings and utilities and equipment purchases, $15,000,000 represented a net gain to the Government in interest on guaranteed loans to war contractors, and most of the balance was earmarked for defense housing, seacoast defenses and similar items.

Treasury Also Affected

He asked that $10,000,000 be cut from Treasury Department appropriations as not now usable for acquisition of vessels and shore facilities by the Coast Guard.

The President cut in half the $3,000,000 emergency fund appropriated for his own use. It was said his recommendations for savings were taken into account in estimating expenditures in the 1948 budget, which he recently estimated at $200,000,000 less than anticipated income.

The President said he was ordering returned to the Treasury unneeded lend-lease funds, not available for obligation after June 30, 1946.

He said approximately $805,000,000 of the unexpended balance of these appropriations is being withdrawn from various agencies and carried to the surplus fund of the Treasury.

Reverse Lend-Lease Cited

In addition, he reported there is being deposited in the Treasury approximately $114,000,000 of funds received from foreign governments under reverse lend-lease.

Mr. Truman expects to save another $1,522,659 in funds no longer required for financing public works projects by the Bureau of Reclamation.

He said amounts totaling $213,741,215 now available in special accounts for replacing military equipment and supplies hitherto sold by the War Department are being transferred to the Treasury's surplus fund immediately instead of permitting them to remain available for obligation until June 30, 1947.

The statement said appropriations for United States participation in the UNRRA will not be disturbed by his repeal requests.

2% Appropriated

It was pointed out that Congress has appropriated for UNRRA operations a total of two per cent of the estimated national income for the year ending June 30, 1947, or $2,700,000,000, adding that other major contributors are making their contributions in full.

The President said this is an obligation of the Government to make its full share available in appropriate goods and services if this can be done within administrative requirements and the legal time limit for the obligation which is June 30, 1947. Any other course, he indicated, would seriously jeopardize UNRRA relief programs "vital to the economic and political stability of vast areas in the world."

Defense Budget Cut Plan Given

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee received a report today showing Congress how to whittle $1,500,000,000 off President Truman's budget estimates for the Army and Navy.

Since the figures were prepared even before the White House announcement that the armed services have agreed on a merger plan, they gave economy advocates high hope of making deep cuts in the $11,200,000,000 Mr. Truman proposed for defense spending.

Congressional proponents of merger have contended all along that unifying the forces under a single Cabinet member would eliminate many costly duplications.

Against Impairing Security

Chairman Bridges (R., N.H.) of the appropriations group said no slashes would be permitted at the cost of national security, but he remarked that the report to the committee was written by former Army and Navy officers who know their way around a budget.

Their study indicated about $1,000,000,000 could be lopped off the War Department spending estimate of more than $6,600,000,000, and half as much off the Navy's allotment of around $4,500,000,000.

Any such slash, cutting President Truman's $11,200,000,000 figure for the armed services back to $9,700,000,000 would be good news for legislators seeking to balance the budget and trim taxes.

Members Meet Monday

The Army-Navy budget is likely to be one of the main topics for talk when twenty members of the Senate and House taxing and appropriations committees get together Monday for a first look at the President's budget in relation to probable income, Bridges said.

The budgetary groups recommendations may give President Truman a line on how big the Republican leadership thinks the Army and Navy ought to be, a question he reportedly has urged them to settle among themselves at an early date.

Factor In Surplus Disposal

Mr. Truman was reported to have told "Big Six" congressional leaders of both parties at a White House conference yesterday that the War Assets Administration can hardly plan for closing out war surpluses until it knows about what the Army and Navy will need.

Congress already has put a personnel limit of 1,070,000 on the Army, as of next July 1. The Navy's personnel has been set at 600,000 men and 53,000 officers, including the Marine Corps. The sea arm retains its authorization for the mammoth wartime outlay of vessels.

Chairman Gurney (R., S.D.) of the new Senate Armed Services Committee said he knows of no disposition among Republicans to change the personnel figures.

Vote To Extend War Levies Is Unanimous

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—By a unanimous vote, the House Ways and Means Committee today approved legislation continuing indefinitely the wartime tax rates on liquor, jewelry, furs and many other goods and services.

Chairman Knutson (R., Minn.) announced that another bill will be introduced continuing the wartime postal rates which raised the local mailing charge from 2 to 3 cents and boosted mailing costs in some other categories.

July 1 Rollback Headed Off

Under Republican domination for the first time in sixteen years, the tax framing committee followed President Truman's recommendation that the automatic rollback of excise taxes, scheduled for July 1, be headed off so that the Government would get an estimated $1,130,000,000 from this source in the next fiscal year.

Although the committee took no formal action on the postal rates, Knutson indicated that legislation continuing the higher rates would get quick approval. This also was recommended by Mr. Truman and is expected to yield an estimated $65,000,000 a year.

Sees Passage Next Week

Knutson told reporters he expects the House to pass the extension bill early next week.

The legislation—House Bill No. 1030—was given priority even over Knutson's own House Bill No. 1, proposing a twenty per cent cut in personal income taxes this year.

MAY CONTINUE TRADE ACCORDS

Taft Doubts G. O. P. Will Attempt Their Repeal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—(AP) A proposal by Senator Butler (R-Neb) to suspend negotiation of trade agreements with 18 countries until the new Republican Congress could write a new foreign trade policy was rejected outright today by the State department.

At the same time Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters he did not think the Republicans would attempt to repeal the reciprocal trade program "if the State department does not go too far in cutting tariffs."

Sees Continuation

The existing law empowers the administration to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent in return for concessions from other countries.

Taft's prediction reinforced that of Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee that the administration's trade policy would be continued in some form.

Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton wrote Butler that in the election campaign the American people had been assured repeatedly there was no partisanship in foreign policy. He added that any party which sought to destroy the trade prorgam would "tar itself with the brush of economic isolationism."

Clayton, replying to a Dec. 19 letter from Butler, wrote:

"Far from intending 'to destroy our system of tariff protection' our government is entering into the projected trade negotiations for the purpose of insuring that tariffs, rather than discriminatory import quotas, exchange controls, and bilateral barter deals, shall be the accepted method by which nations regulate their foreign trade.

"If it were not for the initiative which our government has taken in this manner, the world would be headed straight toward the deliberate strangulation of its commerce through the imposition of detailed administrative controls."

List of Products Long

The list of products on which the United States plans to seek concessions from other countries is quite as long, Clayton said, as the list of those on which concessions may be considered.

"If any industry in the United States has suffered serious injury as a result of the operation of the trade agreements program, the record does not disclose it," he said.

Senator Taft told reporters that the Republican Steering committee which he heads would receive recommendations from the Senate Finance committee, of which Senator Butler is a member.

Tydings Urges Probe Shift

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—Senator Tydings (D., Md.) urged the Senate today to turn over the work of its Special War Investigating Committee to the standing Committee on Expenditures in Executive Departments.

The unexpected amendment which he offered for a Senate vote may delay a decision on the dispute over continuation of the war investigating group whose first chairman was Harry S. Truman.

The present chairman, Senator Brewster (R., Maine), has offered to scale down the special committee's jurisdiction if the Senate will grant it a year's extension.

Offers Limiting Amendment

Brewster offered an amendment limiting its subject matter to "excessive profits, fraud, corruption, waste, extravagence, mismanagement, incompetence and inefficiency" connected with the defense program prior to June 30, 1946.

Tydings said that if his amendment is not accepted, it will amount to an "insult" of the standing committee "because we will be saying it is not competent to do the work."

Brewster promised his colleagues "sensational new exposes" if they voted added life for his committee. He said his group already has accumulated "90 per cent of the material" that would make its previous disclosures look like "small potatoes."

Would Tap Two Secrets

And in addition to digging deeper into cases of suspected war profiteering, Brewster declared that if and when the extension is granted he plans to press the White House for:

1. All details on how the late President Roosevelt and his successor, President Truman, spent some $648,000,000 of secret funds granted them to carry on the war.

2. Disclosure of a "secret mobilization report" which Brewster said Mr. Truman sought when he was chairman of the same committee but "was refused" by President Roosevelt.

Confident Of Enough Votes

Brewster and other Republican leaders voiced confidence that they had more than enough votes to continue the war investigating group and also set up a new special small-business committee.

Democrats have been almost solidly against both special groups on the contention that, under the Congressional Reorganization Act, the reduced number of regular committees were to take over the work of all special groups.

Would Avoid Delay

Republican Leader White, of Maine, told a reporter, however, he had little doubt that both resolutions would be approved and added his hope that a vote could be had today.

"We have a team in the field and ready to go, Brewster said. "It would take a long time to train another. We have accumulated a lot of individual complaints."

Even a Cabinet member has called, he said, to suggest that his committee give its attention to the renegotiation of multi-billion dollar contracts.

"We want to look over the big fellows, the little fellows and many dummy corporations," Brewster said, adding:

"You can be sure that the things to come will make the Garsson and similar exposes seem unimportant."

Report Made By Stettinius

Brewster said the "secret mobilization report" was prepared by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., before this country's entry into the war when the steel executive was acting as a defense adviser to President Roosevelt. Stettinius later became Secretary of State.

Brewster recalled that Mr. Truman, as chairman of the war investigating group, publicly reported that failure to follow original mobilization plans had caused a "delay of from a year to 18 months" in the prosecution of the war.

Senator Taylor (D., Idaho) told reporters after a call on the President that the Chief Executive is in favor of discontinuing all special Senate committees.

LOYALTY-CASE CHARGE MADE

Former U.S. Employe Accused Of Hiding Communist Ties

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—Carl Aldo Marzani, 35, who worked on State Department intelligence for a year, was indicted today on charges of falsely stating he had never been a Communist.

At the same time, the State Department disclosed that intensive loyalty checks are being made on 53 employés who came to the department in 1945 from temporary war agencies.

The department, Michael J. McDermott, press officer, said, is "fully aware that the problem of protecting the security of the department against infiltration by disloyal persons is one which requires perpetual vigilance."

Clark Announces Indictment

Tom C. Clark, Attorney General, announced the indictment of Marzani by a Federal grand jury here. The specific charge is fraud upon the Government. Possible penalties run as high as $10,000 fine and ten years in prison.

Marzani was not in custody, a Justice Department official reported tonight. A telephone call to Marzani's home in near-by Arlington, Va., brought the response that he did not wish to make any comment at this time.

"The indictment," said Clark in a statement, "is the result of an intensive inquiry that has been under way by Government officials for some time as to Federal employés suspected of subversive affiliations."

Joined In 1942

Marzani joined the State Department in 1942 as an economic editor in the Division of Research and Analysis. He went on a military status with the Office of Strategic Services in 1943, then returned to civilian status in September, 1945.

From then until December 20, 1946, when he was removed, he was deputy chief of the Division of Presentation which prepares charts and such material. This is part of the Office of Intelligence Collection and Dissemination.

False Statements Alleged

Clark said the indictment charges Marzani with having "falsely stated and represented" to Government officials that he had never:

1. Been a member of the Communist party.
2. Attended any Communist meetings.
3. Contributed any services to the party.
4. Taken part in any party activities.
5. Used the name of Tony Whales in connection with Communist activities.
6. Made speeches against the conscription bill.

Charges Detailed

On the contrary, said Clark, the indictment charges that Marzani:

1. Used the name of "Tony Whales" and "was a member and worker in the said party in New York during the years 1940 and 1941."

2. Spoke at various gatherings in New York urging defeat of the conscription bill by which the United States was seeking to build up its armed forces.

3. Served as a branch organizer for the Communist party in New York in 1940-41 and helped recruit new members.

4. Instructed party members to sow discontent and resentment among Negroes by agitating the question of racial discrimination.

Instruction Alleged

Clark's announcement said the indictment charges Marzani with having instructed "various party members concerning a plan, policy and program of the Communist party, having for its purpose (1) disintegration of the morale of military forces of the United States, (2) teaching the principles of communism to men in the military forces, and (3) recruiting members for the Communist party from the ranks of the military forces, to the end that the Communist party might gain control thereof and thus bring about a revolt against the captialist system."

Marzani once passed tests of his character and fitness, Clark said. This was on July 29, 1943, after investigations by the FBI and the Civil Service Commission.

State Department officials said Marzani was born in Rome and was brought to Scranton, Pa., as a child.

Studied At Oxford

McDermott told a news conference that Marzani studied at Williams College and Oxford University in England, was in Spain during the civil war there and later taught at New York University.

Action has been taken against other persons "to insure that they are separated from the department," McDermott said.

He recalled that the department had taken in some 4,000 employés from the Office of Strategic Services, the Office of War Information, the Foreign Economic Administration and other war agencies.

The State Department made individual investigations of about 3,000 of them, he continued, although they had already been passed on by some other Government agency.

'Axis Sally' Arrest If She Enters U.S.

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—Attorney General Clark said today that Mildred Gillars, American musician who allegedly broadcast from Nazi Germany as "Axis Sally," will be charged with treason if she enters the United States.

Patterson Raps Row In Picking Invasion Chief

Chicago, Jan. 17 (AP)—Secretary of War Patterson disclosed today that wartime disunity of command in Washington prevented agreement upon a supreme commander for the projected invasion of Japan.

He added: "I trust that we shall not face that condition again."

In an address before the Council of State Governments, Patterson emphasized the value of the unified command system used in the theaters and commented on its lack in the top planning levels in the capital.

His comment came only a day after President Truman had announced "full and complete" agreement between the Army and Navy on a plan for unification of the armed forces.

Could Have Perilled Drive

Noting that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz commanded all forces in the Central Pacific and Gen. Douglas MacArthur controlled Army, Navy and air in the Southwest Pacific, Patterson said:

"But in the planned invasion of Japan no over-all commander ever was selected. The reason for this defect—and it might have been a threat to success—was that here at home there was no unified command.

"The war was conducted by two separate departments, the War Department and the Navy Department, with the joint chiefs of staff acting as a kind of committee. I trust that we shall not face that condition again."

The Secretary, in discussing the structure of the nation's present military defenses, reiterated that the day of "push-button war" has arrived as a result of scientific progress.

Opinion Of Scientists

Such warfare is "not just around the corner or even in the forseeable future," he said, adding that this view is the settled opinion of the "leaders of science who directed the great scientific and technological advances made in the war."

For the first time, Patterson said, there are real prospects of world organization for peace, because "the United Nations is a going concern." He recalled that he is on record as favoring disarmament "across the board, from atomic bombs to pistols."

However, the fact remains "that nations still talk and act in terms of force," Patterson said, and the maintenance of an adequate force by this country, during the period of transition, is necessary.

Military 'Secret' On Sale 5 Months

Services Withdraw Report on Nazi Installations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP).—Five months after publishing details of how the Germans went underground to avoid Allied aerial bombing, the Army and Navy have stamped the information as a military secret.

Involved, it was learned today, are three reports on construction and design of 116 German underground installations such as Adolf Hitler's Berchtesgaden retreat.

The joint Army-Navy Intelligence Objectives Agency approved the reports for public consumption before the Commerce Department's Office of Technical Services offered photographic and microfilm copies for sale to any one interested last Aug. 22. Now the O. T. S. has been directed to withdraw the copies, including those which had been available to patrons of the Library of Congress.

A War Department official said today that no explanation is likely to be made public.

O. T. S. officials said that no reason had been given them for the reclamping of secrecy, but that it would be logical to assume the intelligence agency believes something in the reports might involve national security.

They said the Army-Navy arm has done the same thing with a number of other reports—perhaps 300 or so—first approving their release, later ordering them withdrawn. Some have been made available again after deletions.

A check of O. T. S. files failed to show purchase of any of the German underground installation reports, but the files were "more than a month" behind on orders.

O. T. S. officials said almost all foreign nations have bought some of its reports, which cover a wide range of United States and German information, including industrial, aviation and ordnance information. Most sales are to American business concerns. The Soviet Union has been one of the best foreign customers. Great Britain has an arrangement with the United States for mutual exchange of such reports.

HALSEY WARNS U. S. ON SHIP SCRAPPING

CINCINNATI, Jan. 17 (AP)—Maintenance of our post-war Navy at its current strength and support of a large naval reserve was recommended tonight by Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., "to guarantee a sound, fair and lasting peace."

"Strength has always been the best insurance against aggression," he said in an address before the Navy League of Cincinnati.

"I firmly believe that a powerful Navy, both in active and reserve forces, is an urgent necessity. I propose * * * maintenance of our post-war Navy at its current strength and support of a large and efficient naval reserve."

Admiral Halsey said "the prospects of entering another war bereft of a powerful active fleet and air force are more alarming to me than the prospect of war itself.

"We cannot rearm at the last minute," the commander of the Third and Fifth Fleets, which played havoc with the Japanese in the Pacific, declared. "There will be no 'last minute' of grace in the next war.

"We cannot tell where or when the enemy will strike. This much we know: The days of the formal declarations of war are past; such declarations, if made at all, will be merely ex post facto formalities.

"We should not lay up one more ship until each of our former allies has done so. We must not be tricked into scrapping brand new warships if other countries scrap only obsolete craft or blueprint battleships. We must not scrap atom bomb plants until we have assurances that other nations will not take up the 'art' at any time in the future."

Harriman Belittles Reported Marshall-Churchill Friction

New York, Jan. 17 (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, tonight termed wartime reports of friction between Winston Churchill and Gen. George C. Marshall, soon to join President Truman's Cabinet as Secretary of State, as one of those "legends which were started during the war on which full information has not been given."

"From personal experience I know of the high regard that Mr. Churchill held for General Marshall," Harriman said before the National Publishers Association.

Called Honest Differences

"Of course," Harriman continued, "there were differences of opinion between Mr. Churchill and General Marshall as to the wisest strategy in the conduct of the war. These were honest differences of opinion as to how victory could best be assured. . . ."

Harriman told of being present at Tehran when Marshal Stalin pressed for appointment of a supreme commander to lead the invasion of France.

A Difficult Decision

"In the discussions regarding the selection of the supreme commander, Mr. Churchill urged the President to appoint General Marshall to that position," Harriman said.

"Stalin also advocated the appointment of General Marshall. Stalin had been much impressed by him during the conference. It was President Roosevelt who hesitated.

"The President was faced with a difficult decision. It was a question of where General Marshall could be of the greatest service—in Washington or in Europe.

"After weighing all the factors, the President came to the conclusion that General Marshall could not be spared from his post in Washington. In reaching this decision there can be no doubt that the President's confidence in General Eisenhower played an important part.

"General Eisenhower's appointment was warmly accepted by both Churchill and Stalin. The President telegraphed me in Moscow to inform Stalin of his decision.

Stalin's Reaction Recalled

"I recall Stalin's immediate reaction," Harriman continued. "He replied that he welcomed the appointment of General Eisenhower; that Eisenhower was experienced in directing large forces in combat and in amphibious warfare.

"Among the President's advisers I know of no one who did not applaud the President's decision to keep General Marshall in his vital position in Washington.

"I am giving you these facts as I believe that you and the American people are entitled to know of the high regard held for General Marshall, our new Secretary of State, by our principal Allies during the war."

Charges Denied By Clayton and Dean Acheson

State Department Aids Say Shafer Erred in Accusing Them of Misusing Posts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP).—Under Secretaries of State Dean Acheson and William L. Clayton denied in statements today charges by Representative Paul W. Shafer, Republican, of Michigan, that they had made big profits in private business as a result of their public offices.

Mr. Acheson said he had resigned his private law practice Feb. 1, 1941, and had had no financial interest since then in his former firm.

Mr. Clayton, in a more detailed reply, said that "whatever his intention, Mr. Shafer's statement is clearly wrong on its facts."

Representative Shafer told the House yesterday there were reports that Mr. Acheson's former law firm stands to get a big fee if a loan to Poland goes through.

The Michigan Representative said that Mr. Clayton and members of his family received more than $5,500,000 from the cotton brokerage firm of Anderson, Clayton & Co. in the year in which Great Britain obtained a $3,750,000,000 loan.

Mr. Clayton commented that the loan was approved last July 13, whereas the fiscal year of the brokerage firm ended the following July 31, "so that obviously the loan could not affect the profits to which Mr. Shafer refers."

Representative Shafer argued in the House that Mr. Clayton gets profits from the cotton brokerage house and advocates foreign loans so that foreign countries can buy American cotton.

Mr. Clayton asserted that Anderson, Clayton and Company actually sold only 3,500 bales of American cotton to Great Britain in the year ending last July 31. He added: "This was less than ¼ of one per cent of its total sales of 1,979,023 bales of American cotton for the season, which sales were very largely to domestic mills."

No cotton merchant, Mr. Clayton asserted, profited from government-financed exports of 2,000,000 bales during the 1945-46 season.

He said he was only a stockholder in Anderson, Clayton and Company and noted that the firm not only sold cotton but also was engaged in cottonseed oil milling, cotton ginning, and other industrial activities in this country and abroad.

Reserve Board Credit Order Effective Feb. 1

Chairman Eccles, Announcing Action, Says Postwar Inflation Has Largely Run Its Course

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board tonight restored security trading to a credit or "margin" basis effective February 1.

Chairman Marriner S. Eccles announced that postwar "inflation has largely run its course"—provided Government debt reduction continues and "further wage increases that bring about increased prices" are avoided.

The margin for buying and carrying stocks and bonds will be 75 per cent of the value of the securities, the same as it was last January 21 when the "100 per cent margin" requirement was imposed.

Can Lend 25% Of Value

This means that a broker may lend his customer 25 per cent of the value of securities in the customer's account to help finance his future trading. At present such loans are barred.

Eccles' statement noted that stock prices as a result of the September break are now about where they were when the margin-trading ban was imposed. There was some criticism of the margin ban following the slump, critics blaming the decline in part on the "thinness" of buying due to inability of buyers to get credit.

The allowance of 25 per cent credit on securities, however, applies both to those buying for investment or in hope of an advance in price and to those selling short in anticipation of a decline.

Relaxing the credit restrictions on stocks was in line with removal of various Government controls and with an easing recently by the Federal Reserve Board of controls over consumer credit, affecting various retail purchases.

Aside from the lower level of share prices now, Eccles listed these other factors on the anti-inflation front as contributing to the board's decision to ease the margin ban:

1. "The supply of money was reduced during the year as a result of a substantial decrease of the Government debt held by the banking system."

2. A budget surplus is in prospect if economy in spending is combined with "continued high levels of taxation."

Industrial Peace Needed

3. Veterans and war workers have been "largely absorbed in peacetime production."

He added that "full and sustained production depends on an extended period of industrial peace, the avoidance of further wage increases that bring about increased prices and the downward adjustment of prices which are now out of line."

4. "The supply of goods and services is now more nearly in balance with demand than was the case a year ago." Eccles observed that "as a result of higher prices and of the narrowing margin between individual incomes and expenditures, the intensity of demand has abated considerably."

The statement indicated that the board will watch the behavior of the market and of traders closely after the easier margin rule takes effect February 1. It said that "further action will depend upon the course of economic events."

First Applied During War

The order made no change in the 50 per cent margin requirement for specialists—traders who actually deal in particular stocks on the exchange floors as sort of "wholesalers."

The action was announced after the closing of security exchanges over the country.

The credit restrictions were first applied during the war to hold down "strong upward pressure" on price levels of securities due to wartime inflation.

'Wise Step,' Asserts Schram

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—(AP) Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock exchange, today termed the reduction in margin requirements a "wise step" but said the rate should have been fixed at 50 per cent instead of the 75 per cent authorized by the Federal Reserve board.

"A reduction of 50 per cent," Schram stated, "would enable our markets to function on a more nearly normal basis.

"It would also facilitate the flow of capital into business and industry."

Schram added that owners of unlisted securities had been able to make loan arrangements all along.

"It was this discrimination," he said, "which the New York stock exchange and the customers of its member firms resented most."

The Federal Reserve requirement that the full purchase price be paid for securities applied only to issues listed on registered national securities exchanges.

Stability is Forecast

Edwin Posner, president of the New York Curb exchange, said the reduction in margins would introduce stability and narrow the range within which stock prices move.

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, discussing requirements several months ago, said:

"When the situation changes and there is need to stimulate the use of credit for purchasing securities, it will be time to consider lowering margin requirements.

"This would be a time, as it seems to me, where there will be sufficient supplies of materials and labor to justify the encouragement of new issues of corporate securities, provided there is at the same time a prospect of declining production and declining employment."

Sales of new securities soared to a 10-year record volume in the first half of 1946 but dried up almost overnight as stock prices sagged during the summer and fall. Dealers in new issues found themselves, for a time, with large blocks of new securities which the public was unwilling then to buy.

A study by the Securities & Exchange commission attributed this sudden slow-down to a "buyers' strike" cause mainly by too high prices.

Activity in the new financing market picked up toward the end of the year but still fell considerably below the lush business of early 1946.

Wall street for the most part hailed tonight the action of the Federal Reserve board in restoring 75 per cent margins on stock dealings as "a step in the right direction."

The street has been advocating relaxation of the year-old ban against extension of credit on stocks and bonds.

The board's action came after most brokerage houses were closed for the day, but the easing of the credit rules came as an answer to concerted efforts to induce the board to "make the market more liquid."

First reaction was that any marked effect on exchange dealings would be only temporary.

See Support Return

Brokers pointed out that relaxation of the 100 per cent margin restriction would tend to eliminate the lack of support which has of late caused wider breaks in prices than would have occurred if the market were "cushioned" by margin-dealing.

"However, 75 per cent margins are high," one broker pointed out, "and there won't be any free-and-easy trading as in the old days."

The history of margins on the stock exchange shows that prior to 1933 investment houses had their own rules for each account and requirements ranged from 10 to 25 per cent.

The New York stock exchange in August, 1933, set margins at from 30 to 50 per cent, depending on the type of the account.

The Federal Reserve board established a 45 per cent margin in October, 1934. After some fluctuation, this was boosted to 75 per cent July 5, 1945, and to 100 per cent Jan. 21, 1946.

Senate Confirms Thorp, Austin And Others

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Senate confirmed Willard L. Thorp today as Assistant Secretary of State, and Warren R. Austin as United States representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission. Austin, former Republican Senator from Vermont, previously had been confirmed as United States representative on the United Nations Security Council.

Other nominations approved by the Senate included:

John D. Goodloe, of Kentucky, as a member of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, succeeding George E. Allen, resigned.

Raymond Michael Foley, of Michigan, as National Housing Administrator.

Frank Creedon, of Massachusetts, as housing expediter.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, of New York, as a member of the United Nations Human Rights Commission.

BOWLES PROPOSES ECONOMIC PLAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—(AP) Chester Bowles, former economic stabilization director and OPA head, proposed tonight that the United States spend $4,000,000,000 each year for the next two decades to bring economic benefits to less fortunate nations.

Speaking at the opening session of the Freedom House forum in the Wendell Willkie Memorial building, Bowles declared U. S. production would total "roughly two hundred billion dollars" this year, and continued:

"If the American people will support the investment of as little as two per cent of our total income each year for the next 20 years in the development of less fortunate countries, we might well change the entire tide of world history."

With this investiment, in addition to private investments abroad, he said, "the American people could help to modernize peaceful industries in many parts of the world which, in turn, would substantially raise living standards in Europe, Asia, India, South America and Africa, and enable countless people to become customers for the goods produced in our own factories."

SEES MANY G. I. LOAN REQUESTS

Bradley Predicts More Than Million in Fiscal Year.

Washington, Jan. 17 (A. P.)—Gen. Omar Bradley, Veterans Administrator, predicted today ex-servicemen will file more than 1,000,000 applications for loans under the G. I. bill during the 1947 fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

Bradley said in his annual report to Congress that the VA guaranteed or insured 188,417 veteran loans, with a total value of $872,276,106, during the 1946 fiscal year. The Government's liability was $303,977,513.

In making his million-loan estimate for the current year, Bradley noted the 1946 figures in comparison with a June 30, 1945, total of 12,228 loans withan estimated value of $55,209,420, of which the Government's liability was $19,644,825.

He said that the VA paid $1,025,091,242 to unemployed veterans, as readjustment allowances, during fiscal 1946.

Payments of disability compensation and pensions to world war II veterans increased during the year by $348,000,000, but payments to veterans of other wars declined.

The last VA pension payment in connection with the war of 1812 was paid to Esther Ann Hill Morgan, who was receiving $20 a month at the time of her death March 12, 1946. Her father was a private in the New York Militia.

BY JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JAN. 17-(AP)-THE MOST REALISTIC OFFICIALS OF THE UNITED NATIONS AGREED TODAY THAT IT PROBABLY WILL TAKE MANY YEARS TO PUT WORLD DISARMAMENT INTO EFFECT.

THESE OFFICIALS SAID THE TASK OF WORLD ARMS REDUCTION AND LIMITATION IS SO COLOSSAL AND COMPLICATED THAT IT IS NOT A QUESTION OF WEEKS OR MONTHS BUT OF YEARS.

THEY EXPLAINED THERE CAN BE NO DISARMAMENT UNTIL THE UNITED NATIONS HAS ITS OWN INTERNATIONAL ARMY SUFFICIENT TO MAINTAIN WORLD SECURITY.

THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL, CURRENTLY DISCUSSING THE BEST WAY TO TACKLE THE ARMS REDUCTION PROGRAM, MET FOR 53 MINUTES TODAY AND ADJOURNED UNTIL MONDAY OUT OF RESPECT FOR DR. PEDRO LEAO VELLOSO, BRAZILIAN DELEGATE WHO DIED YESTERDAY.

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL MEANWHILE CALLED THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL TO MEET MARCH 26 AND ASKED THE 10 MEMBERS TO NAME THEIR REPRESENTATIVES AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

THE CHARTER MAKERS AT SAN FRANCISCO BELIEVED THAT THE FIRST POSITIVE STEP TOWARD WORLD SECURITY WOULD BE THE ORGANIZATION OF THE MILITARY FORCES AVAILABLE TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

BUT THE COUNCIL THUS FAR HAS TAKEN NO ACTION TO CREATE SUCH A FORCE.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH DELEGATES TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL CANNOT VISUALIZE ANY ACTUAL WORLD ARMS REDUCTION UNTIL PEACE TREATIES WITH GERMANY AND JAPAN HAVE BEEN CONCLUDED. THE MOST OPTIMISTIC BELIEVE IT WILL BE AT LEAST A YEAR BEFORE A TREATY WITH GERMANY CAN BE CONCLUDED. AND NO ONE IS HAZARDING A GUESS WHEN THE JAPANESE TREATY WILL BE READY FOR SIGNATURE.

THE SECURITY COUNCIL HAS BEEN STALLED OVER THE QUESTION OF WHETHER PRIORITY IN ITS DISCUSSIONS SHOULD BE GIVEN TO ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL OR GENERAL DISARMAMENT.

THE AMERICANS INSIST THAT PRIORITY BE GIVEN TO ATOMIC ENERGY, WHILE THE RUSSIANS INSIST THAT "ALL PHRASES" OF DISARMAMENT SHOULD BE TAKEN UP IMMEDIATELY.

OTHER DELEGATIONS APPEAR DISPOSED TO TAKE UP THE TWO SUBJECTS SIMULTANEOUSLY. THIS WOULD MEAN ESTABLISHMENT OF AN ARMS REDUCTION COMMISSION WHICH COULD WORK SIMULTANEOUSLY WITH THE ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL COMMISSION.

BUT EVEN IF THESE TWO COMMISSIONS WERE ORDERED TO WORK AT THE SAME

TIME, U.N. OFFICIALS EMPHASIZE, IT WOULD TAKE MONTHS FOR THEM TO GET EVEN A BASIC DISARMAMENT PROGRAM DOWN ON PAPER.

AN AMERICAN OFFICIAL EXPLAINED THERE CAN BE NO DISARMAMENT UNTIL MILITARY AGREEMENTS ARE CONCLUDED AMONG THE UNITED NATIONS AND THE ATOMIC QUESTION IS RESOLVED.

"HOW IS A NATION GOING TO DISARM UNTIL IT KNOWS WHAT FORCES IT WILL HAVE TO PROVIDE THE UNITED NATIONS FOR THE WORLD SECURITY FORCE?" HE SAID.

MOST DELEGATES' AGREE THAT THE BASIC START IN THE DISARMAMENT PROGRAM MUST TAKE THE FORM OF LIMITATION, REDUCTION AND REGULATION OF ARMAMENTS. THEY CANNOT ENVISAGE ANY SYSTEM CONTEMPLATING THE ABOLITION OF ARMAMENTS.

"SUPPOSE," SAID A MEMBER OF ONE BIG FIVE DELEGATION, WHO DECLINED TO PERMIT PUBLICATION OF HIS NAME, "THAT WE ABOLISH OUR BATTLESHIPS AND OUR BOMBERS AND OUR ARMIES. IT IS EASY TO REASSEMBLE AN ARMY, BUT NOT BATTLESHIPS AND BOMBERS. THUS, THERE MUST BE A STRONG UNITED NATIONS SECURITY FORCE BEFORE ANY OF THIS CAN BE DONE."

OFFICIAL BRITISH SOURCES WOULD NOT DISCUSS THIS POSSIBILITY BUT, WHEN ASKED FOR COMMENT, OBSERVED THAT THE ARAB STATES NEVER HAD AGREED FORMALLY TO SIT AT THE SAME CONFERENCE TABLE WITH AGENCY REPRESENTATIVES. THEIR REFUSAL WAS BASED ON THE CONTENTION THAT THE JEWS HAVE NO LEGAL STATUS IN PALESTINE.

JEWS BOYCOTTED THE FIRST PHASE OF THE CONFERENCE LAST FALL. IT ADJOURNED WHEN THE ARABS, HAVING REJECTED THE MORRISON PLAN FOR A SEMI-FEDERALIZATION OF THE HOLY LAND, PROPOSED INSTEAD THAT PALESTINE BE GRANTED INDEPENDENCE BY DEC.31, 1947, AND THAT BRITAIN IMMEDIATELY ESTABLISH AN INTERIM GOVERNMENT OF SEVEN ARABS MINISTERS AND THREE JEWS.

LONDON, JAN 17-(AP)-WINSTON CHURCHILL, ANNOUNCING FORMATION OF A NON-PARTISAN COMMITTEE TO PROMOTE A "UNITED EUROPE," GOT A LUKEWARM RECEPTION FROM THE LONDON PRESS TODAY, WITH MOST JOURNALS APPLAUDING THE SENTIMENT BUT FRANKLY FEARFUL THAT RUSSIA WOULD VIEW THE PROPOSED UNION AS AN ANTI-SOVIET BLOC.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE CREATION OF A "UNITED EUROPE COMMITTEE," WITH THE OUTSPOKEN WARTIME PRIME MINISTER AS CHAIRMAN, WAS MADE LAST NIGHT. LEADERS OF ALL SHADES OF BRITISH POLITICAL OPINION JOINED CHURCHILL WITH THE AIM TO "UNITE ALL THE PEOPLES OF EUROPE" IN ELIMINATING WAR.

THE GENERAL STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE'S PROGRAM LIMITED THE UNION PROPOSAL TO ENCOURAGING EUROPEAN NATIONS "TO GROUP THEMSELVES TOGETHER IN LARGER UNITS" UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER AND DID NOT MENTION CHURCHILL'S PLAN FOR A UNITED STATES OF EUROPE AS PROPOSED LAST SEPTEMBER AT ZURICH.

EDITORIAL COMMENT THIS MORNING RANGED ALL THE WAY FROM THE CONSERVATIVE TELEGRAPH'S ASSERTION THAT THE "GENERAL IDEA IS GOOD" TO THE LABORITE DAILY HERALD'S FLAT DECLARATION THAT IT "WOULD AROUSE SUSPICION AND OPPOSITION IN RUSSIA AND WOULD TEND TO CREATE DEEPER DIVISIONS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND BRITAIN."

TACITLY ACKNOWLEDGING SOME PRESENT OPPOSITION TO A "UNITED EUROPE," THE COMMITTEE'S STATEMENT SAID "SOME COUNTRIES MAY FOR THE PRESENT FEEL UNABLE TO TAKE ACTION; BUT THOSE WHO CAN SHOULD MAKE A START. OTHERS WILL JOIN WITH THEM LATER."

"THE FINAL ELIMINATION OF WAR CAN BE ASSURED ONLY BY EVENTUAL CREATION OF A SYSTEM OF WORLD GOVERNMENT," THE STATEMENT SAID. "AS A PRACTICAL STEP TOWARD THIS ULTIMATE IDEAL, APPROPRIATE NATIONS SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED TO GROUP THEMSELVES TOGETHER IN LARGER UNITS."

NIGHT LEAD FRENCH

BY ROBERT C.WILSON

PARIS,JAN.17-(AP)-SOCIALIST PAUL RAMADIER WAS NOMINATED AS FRENCH PREMIER TONIGHT TO TRY TO FORM A COALITION CABINET TO DIRECT THE FOURTH REPUBLIC. LEON BLUM HAD TURNED DOWN THE POST DESPITE REPORTED LAST-MINUTE AMERICAN URGING.

THE 59-YEAR-OLD RAMADIER, TAPPED BY FRANCE'S NEW PRESIDENT, VINCENT AURIOL, HAD THE IMMEDIATE TASK OF CONSULTING WITH PARTY LEADERS TO SEE IF THEY WILL ENDORSE HIS NOMINATION. IF THEY DO HE WILL DRAFT A PROGRAM AND PRESENT IT TO THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY, PROBABLY NEXT TUESDAY.

RAMADIER, AN ECONOMIST AND LAWYER LITTLE KNOWN OUTSIDE OF FRANCE, MUST OBTAIN A CONFIDENCE VOTE FROM THE ASSEMBLY ON HIS POLICIES BEFORE HE CAN CHOOSE THE MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET. IF HE FAILS IT IS STILL POSSIBLE THAT THE 74-YEAR-OLD BLUM MIGHT BE CALLED AGAIN TO STEP INTO THE BREACH, OBSERVERS BELIEVE.

RAMADIER TOLD NEWSMEN UPON LEAVING THE PRESIDENTIAL PALACE TONIGHT THAT HE WOULD BEGIN CONSULTATIONS WITH PARTY LEADERS AT 11 P.M., AND THAT HE WOULD REPORT BACK TO AURIOL TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

BLUM ADDRESSING A MEETING OF THE SOCIALISTS AT THE PALAIS BOURBON, DECLARED THAT A COALITION GOVERNMENT SEEMED THE ONLY SOLUTION, AND

30. 24 - 7419

THAT HE DID NOT HAVE "THE PERSONAL STRENGTH" REQUIRED TO ARBITRATE THE CONSTANT WRANGLING IN SUCH CABINETS.

BLUM HAD LUNCHEON WITH U.S. AMBASSADOR JEFFERSON CAFFERY AND AN AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE WHO DECLINED TO BE QUOTED BY NAME SAID CAFFERY TOLD BLUM THE UNITED STATES "WOULD LIKE TO SEE YOU IN OFFICE."

AFTER BLUM ANNOUNCED HIS DECISION AGAINST TAKING THE NOMINATION AS PREMIER THE SOCIALISTS VOTED FOR A RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A CONTINUANCE BY THE FUTURE GOVERNMENT OF BLUM'S DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN POLICIES, INCLUDING HIS PRICE-CUTTING PROGRAM AT HOME AND THE PROJECTED FRANCO-BRITISH ALLIANCE.

WHILE THE MRP, THE CENTRIST CATHOLIC PARTY, FORMALLY VOTED TODAY FOR A RECONSTITUTION OF BLUM'S SOCIALIST GOVERNMENT, THE COMMUNISTS HAVE MADE IT CLEAR THEY WANT A COALITION GOVERNMENT.

WITHOUT COMMUNIST PARTICIPATION OR SUPPORT IT IS DIFFICULT FOR ANY FRENCH GOVERNMENT TO STAY IN OFFICE. ON THE OTHER HAND, IF THE COMMUNISTS STICK TO THEIR DEMANDS FOR EITHER THE NATIONAL DEFENSE OR FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTRY THERE MAY BE NO OTHER SOLUTION THAN A RETURN TO A ONE-PARTY CABINET SUCH AS BLUM'S.

ENTERING INTO THE NEGOTIATIONS WILL BE THE STRUGGLE TO FILL AURIOL'S VACATED POST AS PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY, THE PARLIAMENT'S POWERFUL LOWER HOUSE. RADICAL-SOCIALIST EDOUARD HERRIOT, WHO TURNED DOWN A NOMINATION FOR PREMIER, FORMALLY ANNOUNCED HIS CANDIDACY FOR ASSEMBLY PRESIDENT.

THE ASSEMBLY WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY TO ELECT ITS NEW PRESIDENT.

HE RETURNED TO THE PARTY AND TO THE POST OF UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR PUBLIC WORKS IN BLUM'S 1936 CABINET.

RAMADIER SERVED ALSO AS LABOR MINISTER IN 1938-40 CABINETS.

EXCEPT FOR HIS SHORT AND UNPOPULAR TERM OF OFFICE AS FOOD MINISTER, WHICH HAS BEEN HELD BY SIX MEN SINCE THE LIBERATION, RAMADIER'S POST-WAR ACTIVITIES IN THE GOVERNMENT HAVE BEEN LIMITED TO HIS 30 DAYS AS JUSTICE MINISTER AND SITTING IN THE LEGISLATURE, WHERE HE WAS VICE PRESIDENT OF THE SOCIALIST PARLIAMENTARY GROUP.

FIRST LEAD GERMAN
BY LYNN HEINZERLING

BERLIN, JAN 17-(AP)-A BRITISH OFFICIAL SAID TODAY THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN WOULD STATE THEIR VIEWS SOON ON THE AMOUNT OF INDUSTRY TO BE LEFT TO THE GERMANS.

A JOINT BRITISH-AMERICAN STATEMENT WOULD, IT IS BELIEVED, DO MUCH TO DISPEL UNCERTAINTY IN THE MINDS OF THE GERMANS IN THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH ZONES CONCERNING THEIR INDUSTRIAL FUTURE, PARTICULARLY IN VIEW OF YESTERDAY'S PROMISE BY THE RUSSIANS THAT DISMANTLING OF FACTORIES IN THEIR ZONE FOR REPARATIONS WOULD CEASE.

THE RUSSIAN STATEMENT IS KNOWN TO HAVE CAUSED CONSIDERABLE SURPRISE AMONG AMERICAN AND BRITISH OFFICIALS. THE SOVIET AUTHORITIES HAVE PROMISED TO EXPLAIN TO AN EARLY MEETING OF THE ALLIED COORDINATING COMMITTEE THEIR PLEDGE TO RAISE THE INDUSTRIAL CAPACITY IN THE SOVIET ZONE ABOVE THE LEVELS SET BY THE POTSDAM CONFERENCE.

THERE IS REASON TO BELIEVE THE BRITISH AND AMERICANS HAVE TOLD THE RUSSIANS THAT, IN THE ABSENCE OF FOUR-POWER UNITY ON THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY GRANTED THE GERMANS, THE ECONOMICALLY MERGED BRITISH AND AMERICAN ZONES COULD NOT BE BOUND BY LIMITATIONS SET UNDER A PLAN FOR A UNIFIED GERMANY.

THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN BERLIN, MEANWHILE, PUBLICLY CAST DOUBT ON THE RUSSIAN ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE PARTY STATEMENT, PUBLISHED IN ITS NEWSPAPER, SAID THAT "IN THE COURSE OF THE LAST YEAR IT WAS ANNOUNCED MORE THAN ONCE THAT DISMANTLINGS WERE AT AN END. SO IT WAS IN OCTOBER, 1945, AND AGAIN IN MAY, 1946."

"IF NOW AGAIN, ON JAN. 16, 1946, THERE COMES ANOTHER SIMILAR ANNOUNCEMENT, WE HOPE THAT THIS TIME IT ACTUALLY MEANS THAT THE DISMANTLING OF INDUSTRIES IN THE SOVIET OCCUPATION ZONE HAS COME TO AN END," THE STATEMENT SAID.

THE RUSSIAN PLEDGE, PUBLISHED BY THE SOVIET-SPONSORED SOCIALIST UNITY PARTY AFTER CONFERENCES OF PARTY LEADERS WITH MARSHAL VASSILY SOKOLOVSKY, SOVIET MILITARY GOVERNOR, INCLUDED A REDUCTION IN REPARATIONS OUT OF CURRENT GERMAN PRODUCTION AND AN INCREASE FOR FROM 200 TO 300 PERCENT IN THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY IN THE RUSSIAN ZONE.

THE SOVIET-LICENSED NACHT EXPRESS SHARPLY ATTACKED SKEPTICAL ELEMENTS, PARTICULARLY THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS, CHARGING THE LATTER WERE SEEKING TO CREATE "CHAOS IN THE EMOTIONS" OF THE GERMANS.

"SURELY," THE NACHT EXPRESS SAID, "THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS ARE NOT REALLY ATTEMPTING TO COMPARE THOSE EARLIER REPORTS THAT DISMANTLINGS WERE FINISHED WITH THIS DECLARATION FROM THE OFFICIAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOVIET UNION IN GERMANY."

THE FRENCH-LICENSED KURIER INTERPRETED THE RUSSIAN ANNOUNCEMENT AS SOVIET PREPARATION FOR THE MOSCOW FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL MEETING IN MARCH, ADDING THAT "THE SOVIET UNION IS ATTEMPTING ENERGETICALLY TO SEIZE THE INITIATIVE FOR THE (GERMAN) PEACE TREATY DISCUSSION."

BERLIN, JAN.17-(AP)-THE SOVIET MILITARY ADMINISTRATION FOR GERMANY ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT IT WAS ABOLISHING PRE-PUBLICATION CENSORHSIP FOR "THE MAJORITY" OF LICENSED GERMAN SCIENTIFIC MAGAZINES AND PAMPHLETS IN THE RUSSIAN OCCUPATION ZONE.

THE MOVE FOLLOWED BY ONE MONTH THE LIFTING OF PRE-PUBLICATION CENSORSHIP ON NEWSPAPERS IN RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED TERRITORY. THE RUSSIANS HAVE SUBSTITUTED POST-PUBLICATION SCRUTINY, WHICH LONG HAS BEEN THE AMERICAN SYSTEM.

IN ANNOUNCING THE NEW STEP, LIEUT.COL.B.A.KOLTYPIN, SOVIET PRESS CHIEF, SAID IT WAS A "FURTHER STRIDE IN THE DEMOCRATICIZING OF GERMAN PRESS AND SCIENCE" AND HE URGED PUBLISHERS TO "PUBLISH NOT ONLY THE PROGRESSIVE WORKS OF GERMAN SCIENTISTS BUT ALSO MAKE KNOWN TO GERMAN READERS THE SCIENTIFIC WORKS ABROAD OF WHICH GERMANY HAS BEEN DEPRIVED FOR A DECADE."

Madrid, Jan. 17--(AP)--It was reliably learned today that negotiations between the Spanish government and the Allied Control Commission for German assets in Spain were threatened with a deadlock over Spain's insistence it alone should expropriate private German assets here estimated to be worth 50,000,000 pesetas (about $45,000,000).

The allies agreed at Potsdam to take over German assets abroad. However, there were speculations negotiations here might be broken off after official reports were received from Washington and London.

The Spanish Foreign Ministry was understood to have intimated it would agree later on what share of the assets would go to the allies and what part to Spain.

Seymour J. Rubin, U.S. State Department economic expert, came from Lisbon Nov. 12 to open the next stage of negotiations. He had participated in negotiations whereby Switzerland and Sweden retained 50 and 23 per cent, respectively, of German assets in those two countries.

Spaniards reportedly are seeking to proceed on a similar basis, alleging their neutrality during the war, a position which the allies considered untenable.

Under discussion are the debts of Hitler's government to Spain; the Spanish civil war debt to the Germans, and gold which the Nazis had looted from occupied Europe and sent to Spain.

information on the talks has not been available since November, but the general impression here was that private progress had been made.

WASHINGTON,JAN 17-(AP)-EGYPTIAN AMBASSADOR HASSAN CALLED ON UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON TODAY AND LATER DISCLOSED THAT HE HAD EXPRESSED EGYPT'S SUPPORT OF THE CAUSE "OF TRUE SELF-GOVERNMENT" FOR THE EGYPTIAN SUDAN.

LEAVING ACHESON'S OFFICE, THE AMBASSADOR SAID THERE HAD BEEN GREAT MISUNDERSTANDING IN THE UNITED STATES OF HIS GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE TOWARD THE CONTROVERSY INVOLVING THE BRITISH AND EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENTS IN THE QUESTION OF THE STATUS OF THE SUDAN.

TO CLEAR IT UP, HE SAID, HE HAD PREPARED A STATEMENT SETTING FORTH THE VIEWS WHICH HE SUBSTANTIALLY EXPRESSED TO ACHESON.

"IT HAS BEEN STATED," HE SAID, "THAT THE SUDANESE WANT TO SECEDE FROM THE EGYPTIANS AND IT IS FURTHER CHARGED THAT EGYPT STANDS IN THE WAY OF SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR THE SUDANESE. OVERLOOKING THE FACT THAT THE BRITISH ARE NOT LEGALLY ENTITLED TO SPEAK FOR THE SUDANESE, THESE STATEMENTS DO NOT COINCIDE WITH REALITIES."

HASSAN SAID THAT FOR A HALF CENTURY GREAT BRITAIN "HAS BEEN THE VIRTUAL RULER" OF THE SUDAN. HE SAID: "HOW COULD IT BE THEN ALLEGED THAT THE SUDAN IS STRIVING TO RID ITSELF FROM THE YOKE OF EGYPTIAN RULE?"

"WHEN LEADERS OF MY COUNTRY DECLARE THAT EGYPT AND THE SUDAN SHOULD BE UNITED," HE CONTINUED, "THEY ARE ONLY EXPRESSING THE FERVENT DESIRE AND WILL OF THE PEOPLES OF THE NILE VALLEY, NOT ONLY OF EGYPT BUT ALSO OF THE SUDAN.

"NO ONE, MAY I ASSURE YOU, IS MORE HEARTILY IN FAVOR OF TRUE SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR THE SUDANESE THAN ARE THE EGYPTIAN PEOPLE."

WASHINGTON, JAN.17-(AP)-THE POLISH EMBASSY REPORTS A GREAT INCREASE IN "TERRORISTIC ACTIVITY" IN POLAND LEADING UP TO SUNDAY'S NATIONAL ELECTIONS AND BLAMES IT ON A "FASCISTIC" UNDERGROUND.

IT SAYS MANY MEMBERS OF THE UNDERGROUND INFILTRATED INTO THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY.

THE STATUS OF THE PEASANT PARTY IS A SUBJECT OF CONTROVERSY BETWEEN THE AMERICAN AND POLISH GOVERNMENTS. THE UNITED STATES INSISTS THE POLISH REGIME HAS DENIED POLITICAL FREEDOM TO ITS PEASANT PARTY OPPOSITION.

THE EMBASSY'S VERSION OF THE SITUATION WAS GIVEN AT A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY BY IGNACE ZLOTOWSKI, MINISTER COUNCILLOR, FORMER NUCLEAR PHYSICIST AT VASSAR COLLEGE AND OTHER SCHOOLS.

HE DECLARED THE "FASCISTIC" UNDERGROUND RECEIVED ORDERS LONG AGO TO INFILTRATE INTO THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY AND THAT THE PARTY HAD DECIDED TO ACCEPT THEM. FOR DOING THIS, HE DECLARED, THE PARTY HAS TO PAY A PRICE.

HE DENIED ANY TERRORISM BY THE GOVERNMENT BUT SAID THAT IN THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN PEOPLE ON BOTH SIDES "VERY OFTEN ARE USING VERY BRUTAL MEANS OF POLITICAL PRESSURE."

CHICAGO, JAN.17-(AP)-ANY USE OF THE VETO POWER IN THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TO PROTECT AN AGGRESSOR NATION, SAYS WARREN AUSTIN, WOULD NULLIFY THE U.N.CHARTER.

"THERE IS ONLY ONE CERTAIN ANSWER TO NULLIFICATION--WAR IN SUPPORT OF THE LAW AND OF THE UNION," SAID AUSTIN, THE U.S.REPRESENTATIVE TO THE U.N., AT A DINNER MEETING LAST NIGHT OF THE EIGHTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENTS.

AUSTIN, FORMER REPUBLICAN SENATOR FROM VERMONT, TOLD THE STATE OFFICIALS THAT IT WAS "NOT TRUE," AS SOME PERSONS BELIEVE, THAT THE VETO LEGALIZES AGGRESSION BY A PERMANENT MEMBER, BECAUSE THAT MEMBER CAN PREVENT ENFORCEMENT ACTION AGAINST ITSELF.

"FAR FROM LEGALIZING AGGRESSION," AUSTIN SAID, "THE USE OF THE VETO, EITHER BY AN AGGRESSOR, OR BY ANOTHER MEMBER TO PROTECT THE AGGRESSOR FROM THE CONSEQUENCES OF THE CRIME, WOULD, IN ITSELF, BE A VIOLATION OF THE CHARTER. IT WOULD BE NULLIFICATION. THERE IS ONLY ONE CERTAIN ANSWER TO NULLIFICATION--WAR IN SUPPORT OF THE LAW AND OF THE UNION, WHETHER IT BE THE UNION OF OUR STATES OR THE UNITED NATIONS."

AUSTIN, A MEMBER OF THE U.N.ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, SAID THAT AN ESSENTIAL ELEMENT IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF COLLECTIVE SECURITY "WILL BE A SYSTEM OF INTERNATIONAL CONTROL AND INSPECTION OVER ARMAMENTS AND ARMED FORCES, WHICH WILL SAFEGUARD COMPLYING STATES AGAINST THE HAZARDS OF VIOLATIONS AND EVASIONS. X X X

"THE ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF AN ATOMIC BOMB BY ANY STATE AFTER THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A SYSTEM OF INTERNATIONAL CONTROL PROHIBITING THE MANUFACTURE OF ATOMIC WEAPONS COULD BE REGARDED AS AN ARMED ATTACK UPON THE OTHER SIGNATORIES OF THE TREATY AND THE TREATY COULD SO DECLARE."

GEN.EISENHOWER SPOKE AT AN INDUSTRY-ARMY DAY DINNER AFTER A CONFERENCE CONDUCTED BY MEMBERS OF THE ARMY GENERAL STAFF TO OUTLINE WAR DEPARTMENT PLANS IN RELATION TO INDUSTRY.

"PEACEFUL SECURITY CANNOT BE MAINTAINED WITHOUT YOUR ACTIVE COOPERATION AS A MEMBER OF THE NATIONAL TEAM," HE TOLD THE INDUSTRIAL REPRESENTATIVES.

"PEACETIME, HOWEVER, AND THE RETURN TO NORMAL ACTIVITY INVOLVES DIVERGENCE OF INTERESTS AND ASSOCIATIONS. X X X WE CANNOT PERMIT COMPLACENCY OR AN 'ATOMIC BOMB MENTALITY'--A POSSIBLE MODERN COUNTERPART OF THE 'MAGINOT LINE MENTALITY'--TO LULL US INTO ANOTHER POSTWAR APATHY. X X X

GEN.EISENHOWER SAID "THE UREGENT NECESSITY OF ASSURING THIS COUNTRY'S SAFETY AGAINST ANY CONCEIVABLE AGGRESSION DOES NOT MEAN THAT WE ARE PESSIMISTIC AS TO THE FUTURE OF WORLD COLLABORATION," BUT "EUNTIL THAT GOAL IS ACHIEVED WE BELIEVE OUR COUNTRY MUST REMAIN STRONG."

NIGHT LEAD PUBLISHERS

NEW YORK, JAN. 17-(AP)-LINKING OF GERMANY'S ECONOMY WITH SUCH EUROPEAN NEIGHBORS AS FRANCE, BELGIUM AND THE NETHERLANDS WAS URGED TONIGHT BY JOHN FOSTER DULLES, WHO SAID THAT "A EUROPE DIVIDED INTO SMALL ECONOMIC COMPARTMENTS CANNOT BE A HEALTHY EUROPE."

DULLES, MEMBER OF THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS ADVISOR TO GOV.THOMAS E. DEWEY DURING THE 1944 PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN, SPOKE AT A DINNER CLOSING THE TWO-DAY MEETING OF THE NATIONAL PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION.

DULLES SAID THE FORTHCOMING MOSCOW CONFERENCE OF FOREIGN MINISTERS MAY DETERMINE WHETHER EUROPE MOVES TOWARD ECONOMIC UNITY OR TOWARD REBUILDING "THE OLD STRUCTURE OF INDEPENDENT, UNCONNECTED SOVEREIGNITIES."

IN PLANNING GERMANY'S FUTURE, DULLES SAID, THE GREAT POWERS SHOULD THINK MORE "IN TERMS OF THE ECONOMIC UNITY OF EUROPE AND LESS IN TERMS OF THE POTSDAM DICTUM THAT GERMANY SHALL BE 'A SINGLE ECONOMIC UNIT.'"

CITING THE PORT OF NEW YORK AUTHORITY AND THE TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY AS EXAMPLES OF ECONOMIC ORGANIZATIONS SUCCESSFULLY IMPOSED OVER POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS, DULLES SAID SUCH PRECEDENTS SUGGEST THAT "IT IS NOT BEYOND HUMAN RESOURCEFULNESS TO FIND A FORM OF JOINT CONTROL WHICH WILL MAKE IT POSSIBLE TO DEVELOP THE INDUSTRIAL POTENTIAL OF WESTERN GERMANY IN THE INTEREST OF THE ECONOMIC LIFE OF WESTERN EUROPE, INCLUDING GERMANY, AND DO SO WITHOUT MAKING GERMANS THE MASTERS OF EUROPE."

"THE BASIN OF THE RHINE, WITH ITS COAL AND INDUSTRIAL MANPOWER, CONSTITUTES THE NATURAL ECONOMIC HEART OF WESTERN EUROPE," DULLES CONTINUED. "FROM THAT AREA OUGHT TO FLOW VITALITY NOT MERELY FOR GERMANS BUT FOR GERMANY'S WESTERN NEIGHBORS.

"IF THAT HAPPENS, WESTERN EUROPE, AT LEAST, WITH ITS 200,000,000 PEOPLE, COULD DEVELOP INTO A MORE PROSPEROUS AND STABLE LAND."

REVIEWING ASPECTS OF FOREIGN POLICY DURING THE PAST YEAR, DULLES SAID THAT 1946 SAW THE BID OF THE SOVIET UNION FOR WORLD LEADERSHIP "DEFLECTED INTO CHANNELS MORE COMPATIBLE WITH PEACE."

DULLES DESCRIBED SOVIET POLICY AS "DOUBLE-BARRELED," WITH ONE

BARREL AIMED AT SOCIAL REVOLUTION THROUGHOUT THE WORLD AND THE OTHER AIMED AT NATIONALISTIC EXPANSION.

IN 1946, DULLES SAID, UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY HAD TWO MAIN ELEMENTS--"NEGATION TOWARD SOVIET EXPANSION AND RELIEF OF THOSE SUFFERING PRIVATION."

"IN 1947," HE CONTINUED, "WE SHALL STILL NEED THE ABILITY TO SAY 'NO.' WE SHALL STILL NEED TO PROVIDE SOME RELIEF. BUT WE SHALL NEED MORE THAN THAT.

"THE NEED IS FOR SPIRITUAL AND INTELLECTUAL VIGOR AND THE LEADERSHIP WHICH THAT BESTOWS."

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE W.AVERELL HARRIMAN URGED THE PUBLISHERS TO HELP CREATE CONDITIONS FAVORABLE TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW BUSINESS, AND TO CONTRIBUTE TO ECONOMIC EFFICIENCY BY AIDING THE SPREAD OF "ECONOMIC LITERACY"--FACTUAL KNOWLEDGE OF ECONOMIC CONDITIONS AND NEEDS.

Peace Pact Troubles

J. Smith

London, Jan. 18 (AP)—Big Four good will, that grew in the latter stages of the New York foreign ministers' meetin gappeared tonight to be threatened by wide disagreement over problems of Germany.

The disagreement was pointed up as the ministers' deputies met here this week to begin shaping up the peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

NIGHT

The deputies' primary assignment is to examine disputes and report on agreements, enabling the ministers to get directly to the nub of the issues when they meet in Moscow in March.

U.S. Officials Hear "Rumors"

United tSates State Department officials said they had heard "rumors" that Russia might propose immediate withdrawal of all four occupation forces in Germany. The reports weer entirely without confirmation, but were not discounted by American diplomats, who said they had univerified reports from Germany that Russia might spring the evacuation proposal as a surprise during the deputies' conference.

Officials said if the suggestion is made they presume dit would have the effect of boosting Russion prestige among the Germans, but that the other occupation powers weer not likely to adopt the idea.

A Soviet Embassy official said he had never hearl of any such proposal.

A Danger Spot In Border

The question of the German-Polish border was a danger spot. The Communist newspaper Pravda in Moscow vigorously supported today American opposed Polish claims to 40,000 square miles of rich territory reaching to the Oder-Neisse on Poland's western frontier.

The United States was reported ready to fight hard to have the region, or part of it, recognized as German again. Some western sources agreed, however, that United States objections to the Polish claims had been kept quiet too long to carry heavy weight in a council argument and that if the United States had wanted to keep the area away from Poland it should have started at Potsdam.

Poland took over administration of the area under terms of the Potsdam Conference. James F. Byrnes, former United States Secretary of State, questioned the Polish claim only last fall in his Stuttgart speech. In the interim Poland has replaced thousands of Germans in the area with Polish settlers.

Other Areas Of Disagreement

Poland holds that the region was awarded for keeps, subject only to confirmation by a peace conference. The entire issue was regarded as so controversial that no measure of agreement was likely to be discovered among the deputies.

Pravda went back to day to the Tenth Century to cite Poland's historic claims to lands along the Oder, declaring the Poles had "iron determination" to hold on to them and scoffing at "pitful and ridiculous" efforts to cast doubt on Poland's rights.

Citing the words of Premier Stalin and Vyocheslav M. Molotov, foreign minister, for ites views, Pravda declared "the ancient Polish lands in the west will forever belong to the Polish people."

Other areas of disagreement included French demands in connection with the Saar and Yugoslavian claims for 1,000 square miles of the Austrian provinces of Carinthia and Styria.

Work on Austrian Treaty.

London, Jan. 18 (A. P.)—Drafting of a preamble for the proposed Austrian peace treaty proceeded today as the Big Four deputy foreign ministers ended their first week of discussions on the future status of Germany and Austria.

DAY

The deputies themselves recessed for the week end, but a sub-committee hoped to agree on the wording of the Austrian preamble for approval on Monday. The deputies decided yesterday that the preamble should neither praise nor condemn Austria, but recognize the domination of the country by Nazi Germany, thus minimizing her war responsibility. The deputies also agreed that the Austrian treaty should recognize Austria's independence, but prevent any possibility of a future union with Germany.

Discussion of German peace plans will continue next week. American sources said that the deputies were considering the feasibility of merely outlining a plan to control German political and economic life, until a stable democratic government can be achieved.

Big Four Nears Formal Peace With Italy and Axis Satellites

Byrnes Will Sign Treaties With Bulgaria, Rome, Hungary and Romania on Monday —Finnish Draft Also Ready.

Washington, Jan. 18 (A. P.).—Formal peace between the Big Four and five former enemy States—Italy, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Romania—is now but a step away.

DAY

Final drafts of the five peace treaties, embodying terms agreed upon last December by Foreign Ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France are now in formal diplomatic language, complete and ready for signing.

Retiring Secretary of State Byrnes is to sign all but the Finnish treaty—the United States never was at war with Finland—on Monday. Then they will be forwarded to the great Power capitals for signing. At Paris on February 10 the treaties are to be signed by representatives of the Allies and of the five former enemy countries.

The treaties outline peace terms, settle boundary questions, limit arms of the five States and determine the conditions under which they are restored to good standing in the family of nations. Signing of the treaties probably will be Byrnes's last formal act before turning the State Department over to his successor, Gen. George C. Marshall, who is due to take over sometime on Monday.

Italian Navy Slashed.

The Italian peace treaty limits Italy to two battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers, and gives two battleships, five cruisers and seven destroyers to the major Allies.

Among the Italian war vessels to be placed at the disposal of the United States, Great Britain, Russia and France are the battleships Giulio Casare, Italia and Vittorio Veneto.

Major war vessels to be retained by Italy include the battleships Andrea Doria and Caio Duilo; the cruisers Luigi Di Savoia, Duca Degli Abruzzi, and Giuseppe Garibaldi. Italy also was allowed to keep fifteen torpedo boats, and numerous other minor vessels, including water carriers, tugs and similar craft.

Texts in Five Volumes.

Copies of the official texts, printed in English, Russian and French, in five separate volumes, were distributed here yesterday to the diplomatic missions of the Allied and associated Powers of world war II. The texts are the same as those on which Byrnes, Bevin, Molotov and French Deputy Foreign Minister Couve de Murville finished work in New York in December.

Soon after final signature of the treaties in Paris, where the United States will be represented by Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, President Truman is expected to send the four American-signed treaties to the Senate for confirmation.

The Italian treaty will become effective as soon as it has been ratified by the United States, Russia and France. The Balkan treaties will come into force with American, Russian and British ratification; the Finnish treaty with ratification by Britain and Russia.

May Then Join U. N.

The former enemy countries will then be eligible for membership in the United Nations and within ninety days of ratification will be freed of Allied troops.

In their final form, the treaties contain no point of substance that was not openly reported, day by day, during the seventeen months of negotiation, debate and agreement.

President Truman said of them, in his message to Congress on January 6: "This Government does not regard the treaties as completely satisfactory. Whatever their defects, I am convinced that they are as good as we could have hoped to obtain by agreement among the principal wartime Allies."

AMERICANS AT OXFORD FEAR DEPORTATIONS

OXFORD, England, Jan. 18 (AP)—More than twenty American student-veterans attending Oxford University under the GI Bill of Rights said today that if quick action to speed their tuition grants was not forthcoming from Washington their deportation from England probably would be inevitable.

NIGHT

Veterans complained that the only responses the various colleges of Oxford had received to demands for tuition fees were showers of elaborate forms. In at least three instances the colleges already have waited more than a year for their fees, one veteran said.

Allen Reeves of Cleveland, Ohio, said he came to Oxford a year ago assured of a regular grant to study philosophy, politics and economics, but he received a subsistence allowance only a few months and his college received none of its fees.

If the students become public charges it means deportation because the visas do not permit them to work in England or sell their personal belongings.

Former Capt. William Brothers of Seattle, Wash., studying at University College, said:

"We are completely fed up. We are getting no recognition at all from the Veterans Administration. We can't go on living on British charity and our people back home cannot afford constant sponging."

Rationing Of Bread Is Started In Eire

Dublin, Jan. 18 (AP)—Bread rationing began today in Eire. The weekly quota is 6 pounds of bread or 4½ pounds of flour.

This compares with 4 pounds, 15 ounces per person per week in Britain and Northern Ireland, where Bread rationing began last July.

British To Make Complaint To U.N. On Corfu Mines

L. Hauck

New York, Jan. 18 (AP) — The British Government disclosed today that it would present to the United Nations Security Council a contention that mines were sown a mile off the coast of Albania within the last eight months.

Two British destroyers struck mines in the Corfu channel October 22 with a loss of 44 lives, and London has filed a complaint against Albania with the Security Council, demanding an apology and compensation for property and lives.

Hinted Greece Was To Blame

Com. E. R. D. Sworden of the Admiralty said British mine sweepers went to work in the Channel three weeks after the October incident and turned up 22 freshly laid mines. He said evidence in the possession of his Government, confirmed by neutral observers, established that the weapons had been laid at most six months before the date of the sweeping.

The British charge that Albania laid the mines, which were of a type left behind by the Germans during the retreat from the Balkans.

NIGHT

Albania made no denial responsibility for the mines, hinted that Greece was to blame, and in turn protested against British invasion of her territorial waters.

Greek Government Denial

The case was expected to come up for full debate after the Security Council reaches a decision on an American appeal to put off the whole question of arms reduction until February 4. The United States delegation apparently has enough votes to put through its request at the next Security Council meeting Monday afternoon.

Supporting its charges with lengthy documents and stacks of photographs, the British contend the ships—the Saumarez and Volage—were operating on routine maneuvers on a recognized international route.

The complaint admits to a lack of eyewitnesses to the minelaying but offers the contention that mines could not be sown so near a well-guarded coast by any foreign ship. The Greek Government previously denied having anything to do with the act.

Russian-British Clash Seen

Opening of the debate was expected to touch off a clash between Russia and Britain. The Soviet Union strongly supported Albania's request for United Nations membership, which was rejected by the Security Council last fall with Britain one of the major objectors.

Meanwhile, two new commissions of the Economic and Social Council will begin deliberations Monday. Isidore Lubin will represent the United States on the Economic and Employment Commission and Arthur J. Altmeyer on the Social Commission.

Reds in Line, Ramadier Asks MRP Support

Paris, Jan. 18 (AP).—Premier-designate Paul Ramadier evolved a plan tonight for giving the Communists the national defense ministry that brought him close to success in his efforts to form a French cabinet.

NIGHT

He awaited word from former Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's Popular Republican Movement (MRP) that it would enter his government to climax his efforts.

Radical-socialist sources said that Ramadier, a Socialist, would name a Communist national defense minister, but create special protocol whereby all highly important decisions—for example, the appointment of generals—would require th esignature of the premier.

In addition, the Radical-socialists said, the ministries of the army, Navy and air would be distributed among the socialist, MRP and Radical-socialist ministers as an additional check.

Bidault, slated to become Foreign Minister if Ramadier forms his cabinet, saw Ramadier tonight, but refused to comment. It was evident Ramadier could not form a cabinet until tomorrow, when MRP leaders hold a meeting.

Ramadier tonight said he had made "important progress" in his talks and that he was assured of support from the Communist, Radical-Socialist and independent parties. He said he was "near an accord" with the MRP and was "optimistic."

Earlier the Premier-designate was reported to have struck a snag when the Communists balked over the extension of credits for expanding French military activities in Indo-China. (AP)

France's Cabinet Outlook Better

Paris, Jan. 18 (AP)—Socialist Paul Ramadier's negotiations toward the formation of a new French Cabinet took a favorable turn today when MRP (Popular Republican party) leaders let it be known that they might be willing to enter a coalition Government after all.

These leaders explained that the party's formal motion yesterday calling for the continuance of an all-Socialist Government, meant that they preferred a re-creation of such a Government only if Leon Blum were at its head. They said they were convinced now that Blum was definitely out of the running.

Socialist party leaders expressed confidence that Ramadier, who was nominated Premier yesterday, would be able to report success to President Vincent Auriol late today and set about drafting a presentation to the National Assembly next Tuesday.

DAY

Earlier Attempt Stymied

Ramadier's efforts to form a Cabinet earlier had appeared to be stymied by the MRP's apparent reluctance to enter another coalition Cabinet and their call for an all-Socialist Cabinet.

When the announcement of the MRP's call for continuance of the all-Socialist Government was made, the Communists promptly found in it an attempt to keep them out of the new government. The Communists oppose an all-Socialist government. However, if Ramadier should fail to form a coalition, another appeal by Auriol to Blum was foreseen.

Many observers believe that if Ramadier does abandon his efforts it will be all according to plan. One Radical-Socialist source flatly declared he did not think Ramadier's nomination was "seriously made."

Blum Is 74

These sources interpret the maneuvering this way:

President Vincent Auriol offered Blum the premiership. The latter refused, explaining publicly that presiding over an uneasy coalition would be too tiring at his age. He is 74. At the present stage it is necessary to envisage a coalition Cabinet, because the Communists demand it.

Auriol chose Ramadier, knowing, these informants say, that he could not succeed, with the aim of demonstrating clearly—to the Communists and everyone else—that it is impossible to form a coalition Cabinet.

Another Plea To Blum

Once such proof is given, Auriol will make another plea to Blum to reform his all-Socialist government, and Blum, they foresee, will accept.

CHINESE REPEAT CLAIMS

Paris Embassy Cites Notes to France on Paracels

PARIS, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Chinese Embassy reiterated tonight China's claims to the Paracels, a string of islands in the China Sea, to which France and Japan had laid claim before the war.

Numerous notes were exchanged during the 1930's with the French Foreign Office, the Embassy statement said, and in all of them China consistently renewed her claims to the islands which, they said, were Chinese from ancient times.

NIGHT

The statement recalled that the last note in 1938 had protested French occupation of the islands and had said that the Chinese Government affirmed anew, "without the slightest possible ambiguity," its sovereignty over the archipelago.

D. DeLuce

Weilheim, Germany, Jan. 18 (AP). Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Hungary's regent for 24 years, described himself today as a political recluse and a financial pauper.

Ending the postwar silence imposed on him until now by authorities of the American occupation zone, the 79-year-old former chief of state said Communist allegations in Hungary of a plot to restore a Horthyist regime were "a stupidity."

NIGHT

Hungarian anti-Communists have declared the Communist allegations were for the purpose of forcing a purge of parliament members belonging to the predominant Small Landholders party.

Smiles At Luxury Rumors

The ex-regent, sitting on a threadbare sofa in a cubbyhole village parlor, smiled wryly at Hungarian rumors that he was living luxuriously in a Bavarian castle secretly given him by Hitler.

"This modest house in Weilheim, for which I owe the rent, belongs to a local baker," he said. "All my property in Hungary—it was not a great fortune—is gone."

Technically under town arrest, Horthy reports twice monthly to the United State Military Government officer here. For his only regular contact with the outside world he listens to the radio which his pretty daughter-in-law hid in her baggage when she was taken to a Nazi concentration camp in 1944.

Out Of Touch Since Arrest

"I have been completely out of touch with my native land since Hitler had me arrested in October, 1944, when I tried to make peace," he said. "I have written—all of my family have written—but we do not even get a postcard in answer, though it is many months since Hungary was occupied by the Red Army.

"The other evening I heard the wireless give the names of those arrested in Budapest because they allegedly had conspired for an armed revolt. Of all the names I recognized only one, an able man whom I had not heard of for more than two years. He is too able to attempt such a stupidity as a revolt in Hungary under present conditions.

"Would 100 men challenge the power of 180,000,000? All this agitation now is merely useful to the Bolsheviks."

Seven "Displaced Persons"

The neat but comparatively small house on the outskirts of this sleepy highland village accommodates seven Hungarian "displaced persons": The tweed-suited admiral, his wife, his brother, his daughter-in-law, his 6-year-old grandson, the latter's nurse, and the former stud-master of his brother's confiscated horse-breeding farm in Hungary.

As displaced persons the Horthy family formerly drew UNRRA rations, but now receives German food at a slightly higher calory scale then Weilheim Germans. Like other displaced person they do not have to pay for it.

Not Called As Witness

Wearing a monocle and golf knickers of ancient design, Eugene Horthy, the brother, remarked that his present concern was to discover how to claim payment for eleven race horses that had been taken to the United States by American army officers and for more than a dozen other horses returned to occupied Hungary.

Held for several months in Nuernberg Prison in 1945 as a prospective witness against top Nazi war criminals, Admiral Horthy was released by the American prosecutor, Robert H. Jackson, without having been called to the stand.

United States Army officers recently have indicated the family probably will be permitted to seek asylum in another country.

"I want to find a job somewhere—anywhere but in Germany, and preferably in America," said the daughter-in-law, Ilona, the former Countess Edelsheim. The slim, blond woman, widowed when the Admiral's flyer-son, Stephen, met death on the Eastern Front said, "I know several languages—perhaps I could teach or interpret."

Russia Hopes for End Of German Trade Zones

Accord Involving $21,000,000 Signed by 3 Powers

MINDEN, Germany, Jan. 18 (AP).—A Soviet representative joined British and American officials today in expressing hope for abolition of inter-zonal trade boundaries in Germany. They spoke at a meeting with German economic officials from the three zones during the signing of a tri-zonal trade agreement.

NIGHT

The signing of the agreement, involving 210,000,000 reichsmarks ($21,000,000), marked a long step forward toward collaboration of the zones. Those attending the meeting said, however, that the agreement was not necessarily a fore-runner of a move by the Soviet Union to join in the economic fusion recently effected by the British and American zones.

Under the new agreement the Soviet zone will supply to the British and American zones as a single economic unit such items as wheat, rye, oats, seeds, sugar, potatoes, pit-props for coal mines, raw chemicals, buna (synthetic) rubber, newsprint, timber and woodpulp. The British-American zones will send to the Soviet zone iron and steel rolling mill products, tubes and tires, rubber conveyor hops and small motors.

GI Group Sets VD Record: 3.66 Cases Per Man

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 18 (AP). A record rate of veneral disease among a group of American soldiers was disclosed today, after a complaint by 225 GI's that they were "restricted to quarters" on Christmas Day.

The soldiers, writing to the unofficial army newspaper Stars and Stripes, asserted they were forced to spend Christmas "lying in newly painted and dimly lighted rooms, staring at a face across the aisle trying to visualize it as St. Nicholas."

DAY

Explains Why

Immediately countering their charge in the soldiers' gripe column of the newspaper, their commanding officer declared the GI's were restricted to the 3d Replacement Depot, at Marburg, because of a venereal rate that doctors said was unprecedented in the Army.

The restricted soldiers, said the depot surgeon, Maj. Linden H. Schwab, were among a group of 287 who had so much VD that in over a year's time they averaged 3.66 cases of infection per man.

Protection, Not Punishment

Compared with this group of soldiers, the VD rate in the entire army in Europe is 240 cases per 1,000 men per year.

The commanding officer, Col. J. O. Kilgore, said the men were restricted "not as a punishment but in accordance with the practice of preventive medicine." He said "drastic action was necessary in order to protect the soldier replacements as well as civilians."

Half-Million Police Due at Polish Polls

Warsaw, Jan. 18 (AP).—A high government official charged tonight that the entire underground was mobilizing to support the opposition Polish Peasant Party in tomorrow's parliamentary elections, the first since 1935, and ordered a half-million security police and militiamen to guard the polls.

The semi-official newspaper Rzeczpospolita said that underground bands were posting notices promising to emerge in force from their secret forest hiding-places when the vote counting begins Monday. The posters urged Peasant Party (PLS) members to "do the best they can" on election day.

Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, Peasant leader, handed the ambassadors of hte United States, Britain and Russia a new memorandum citing alleged terrorism by the secret police and mass arrests directed against his party members. He said the Yalta and Potsdam agreements guaranteeing democratic elections had been flagrantly violated and that "this cannot be a free and unfettered election."

NIGHT

Government Expects Triumph

The government insisted every precaution had been taken to safeguard balloting for 12 million citizens eligible to appear at the polls between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Members of the pro-government bloc parties predicted an overwhelming victory. An authoritative source said Mikolajczyk might quit the government if the bloc wins.

Col. Roman Romchowski, vice minister of public security said the slaying of election commission officials by the underground had passed the 100 mark and that in addition 51 militiamen, security police and soldiers were killed in gunfights with bands attacking polling places. He reported underground attacks were continuing.

Romchowski estimated that armed members of the underground, numbering about 15,000 and "in strength enough to cause several losses," were carrying out terror campaigns in the districts of of Balystok, Lublin, Rzeszow and Krakow.

He assailed Mikolajczyk as a "trustee of all polish reaction" and said tht terrorism by underground organizations "forces us to take repressive conteraction."

3 Million Voters Ruled Out

Mikolajczyk said that approximately three million voters were denied a choice between the bloc parties and the PSL because of mass cancellations from registration lists. He estimated that 100,000 peasants had been arrested, freed, rearrested and questioned by security police during the pre-election campaign. Romchowski said only 2110 PSL men were in jail. The total jail population was 50,000, he added.

Mikolajczyk declared that intimidation had reached to the Polish supreme court, with Justice Stanislaw Jagusz being releived of his post because of failure to withdraw his parliamentary candidacy.

He estimated that 138 PSL parliamentary candidates were imprisoned and another 250 eliminated from the ballots. Romchowski said only 21 candidates were now in jail.

The voters will choose 444 deputies to a one-house parliament from among 1675 candidates. The greatest number of candidates, 730, are from the government bloc—the Communist-backed workers, the Socialist, Democratic, and Independent Peasant parties. The PSL has 428 candidates, the Labor party 287; the New Liberation group, 193; the Catholics, 15, and miscellaneous 22.

The Parliament must draw up a constitution to replace the 1921 charter and then elect a president, who will appoint a cabinet.

Polish citizens went to the polls for the first time in eleven years last June when they approved a referendum on policies of the Government. The last parliamentary elections were held in September, 1935, under a new constitution embodying Marshal Pilsudski's strongman ideas. The opposition boycotted the 1935 elections.

Warsaw, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Government mobilized 500,000 security police and regular and volunteer militiamen today to guard the polls in tomorrow's parliamentary election, the first since the Germans marched in September 1, 1939, and started World War II.

Col. Roman Romchowski of the Ministry of Public Security said slayings of election commission members and militiamen had passed the 100 mark. He reported that 38 chairmen, vice chairmen and members of local district election commissions were killed in pre-election terrorist attacks by the underground organization WIN and bands allied with it.

DAY

Attacks To Continue

In addition, he said, 51 militiamen, security police and soldiers were killed in gunfights with bands attacking polling places. Another 25 were kidnapped and presumed killed, he said, adding that the attacks were continuing in widely scattered sectors of the country.

The opposition has charged that a victory for the Communist-dominated Government bloc in tomorrow's voting is predetermined.

The big fight will be between the Government bloc under Premier Edward Osubka-Morawski, Socialist, and the opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL) under Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczky.

The Government has accused Mikolajczyk and his followers of a tieup with the anti-Government underground, while Mikolajczyk has charged the Government with mob and security police suppression of his party.

8 P.C. Prediction

Yesterday he said he had heard that the bloc parties had already arranged for returns to show the PSL getting eight per cent of the vote. Government leaders have forecast a sweeping victory for their side, which won a referendum last June 30.

The United States, Britain and Russia will be waiting for the election result. The Soviet Union sponsored the provisional government out of which the current setup grew. The United States and Britain won Cabinet posts for Mikolajczyk, Premier of the wartime London Government in exile, and other London leaders. At Yalta and Potsdam, the three countries guaranteed Poland "free and unfettered elections."

In the last year, the two Western powers—which made such elections a condition of their recognition of the Polish Government—have protested in a series of notes that the current Government of National Unity has violated the guarantee. Both Russia and Poland have replied that the election is Poland's own business. On other occasions, Osubka-Morawski has promised the election will be free.

Observers In Cities

[In London yesterday, the British Foreign Office said teams from the Warsaw Embassy and from consulates elsewhere would observe the voting in the bigger cities. The Foreign Office said the Polish Government would not allow observation in rural areas.]

Twelve million Poles, half the population, are eligible for balloting, by estimate of Judge Kazimierz Bzowski, 71, General Commissioner of Elections.

They will choose 444 deputies to a one-house Parliament—372 from the districts and 72 at large—from among 1,675 candidates. These candidates number 730 from the Government bloc—the Communist-backed Workers, the Socialists, Democratic and Independent Peasant parties; 428 from the Polish Peasant party, 287 from the Labor party, 193 from the New Liberation Group, PSL splinter; 15 from the Catholics, and 22 from others.

Bierut A Candidate

The candidates include President Boleslaw Bierut, who belongs to no party and is a nominee of the powerful nonpartisan Central Commission of Trade Unions, and his 21 ministers.

Mikolajczyk has accused the Government of barring 250 of his candidates from the ballot and striking tens of thousands of PSL voters from election lists. He accused security police of arresting 80,000 to 100,000 of his supporters and 135 candidates.

The Government has answered that it has arrested only those suspected of collaboration with the current underground, of the occupying Germans or of other crimes.

Reports Underground Threats

WARSAW, Jan. 18 (AP).—Colonel Roman Romchowski, Vice-Minister of Public Security, charged tonight that the entire underground was mobilizing to support the opposition Polish Peasant party in tomorrow's Parliamentary elections. He displayed posters allegedly issued by the underground saying that those who vote for the government bloc tomorrow will be liquidated.

The semi-official newspaper "Rzeczpospolita "said underground bands were posting notices promising to emerge in force from their forest hiding places when the vote-counting begins Monday. The posters, the newspaper said, P. S. L. members to "do the best you can" on election day.

NIGHT

British Deny Pole Conspiracy Charge

London, Jan. 18 (AP)—Britain formally denied today in a note to Poland that the British Ambassador in Warsaw had communicated with an underground organization conspiring against the Moscow-favored Polish regime.

The Foreign Office announced the dispatch of the note soon after the Ambassador, Victor Cavendish-Bentinck, boarded a plane for Warsaw after talks with the Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin.

Cavendish-Bentinck was called home a week ago—just after he had been mentioned in a Warsaw treason trial—for the announced purpose of reporting on the campaigning for tomorrow's Polish elections, which Britain and the United States have branded as not free.

DAY

Bevin Satisfied"

A Foreign Office spokesman said the British note, not immediately made public, stated Bevin was "satisfied" that Cavendish-Bentinck had not engaged in any activities to which Poland could take offense.

The note acknowledged, the spokesman said, that the Ambassador had had a purely social relationship with Polish Count Ksawery Grocholski, who was sentenced to death for treason after Cavendish-Bentinck's departure. Grocholski, indicted for delivering state secrets to a "foreign ambassador," admitted supplying the British envoy with information obtained through the underground.

Britain's note said Cavendish-Bentinck never had obtained such information, the Foreign Office reported.

The British Government authorized Cavendish-Bentinck last week to answer in writing any questions in connection with trial testimony.

British Deny Envoy Plotted

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP). — The British Foreign Office sent a note today to the Polish government denying that the British Ambassador at Warsaw had communicated with an underground group plotting against the present Polish regime.

A Warsaw dispatch quoting reliable informants said Polish government circles expressed "anger and distaste" over the note's contents. The Warsaw dispatch said the note was presented to the Polish Foreign Ministry by Philip Broad, British Charge d'Affaires. The text was not made public here or in the Polish capital.

NIGHT

The announcement of the note was made here soon after Victor F. W. Cavendish-Bentinck, the ambassador, departed by plane for Warsaw. He had been called home a week ago, the British said, to report on the campaigning for tomorrow's Polish election.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said the note acknowledged that Cavendish-Bentinck had a purely social relationship with Polish Count Xavier Grocholski, key figure in a recent Warsaw treason trial. Another defendant in the trial had testified that the British Ambassador was supplied with information obtained from underground sources.

100 Who Claim U. S. Citizenship Held

Warsaw, Jan. 18 (A. P.).—A United States embassy source said today that Polish security police had imprisoned 100 Poles who claimed American citizenship. He said that the embassy was checking the claims and negotiating with the Polish Government for the release of the persons involved. The charges against the prisoners were not disclosed.

DAY

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 18 (AP)—The stream of refugee Jews across the Polish border into Czechoslovakia has grown to a flood in the fortnight immediately before the Polish elections, Czech journalists reported today.

The reporters said 10,000 alone poured over the frontier near Nachod in the last two weeks. Previously about 300 a day were coming over.

RELIEF FOOD CHARGE MADE

Pope Says Politics Mars Distribution Of U.S. Gifts

J. D. Knight

Vatican City, Jan. 18 (AP)—Pope Pius XII told a group of ten American newsmen today that food and supplies the United States had so "lavishly" shipped to Europe's hungry war victims had been tagged in some countries "with the price of adherence to a political party."

He said that the end of the war had brought no abatement in denial of men's civil and religious rights, but he held out the hope that world leaders "genuinely devoted to the physical and social betterment of all classes" would guide civilization "back to its safe moorings."

Names No Specific Country

The Pope made no reference to any specific country in his charge that political considerations were being applied to distribution of relief supplies. In his statement to the newsmen, who are touring Europe as guests of the United States Army, he said in part:

"Having fought the war, America girded herself generously to come to the assistance of the victims who survived the holocaust. They little thought that the food and clothing which they were so lavishly shipping overseas would be in some countries tagged with a price, the price of adherence to a political party.

"Denial Of Rights Unabated"

"Denial of men's civil and religious rights has not abated. Nor is it surprising. But it is tragic. It could be depressing—the thought that the heroic death of hundreds of thousands of the nation's brave and promising youth should have left so little peace and justice and charity in its wake."

He told the newsmen that "little is of greater interest to the millions who compose your reading and listening public than to get at the facts. They had believed and hoped to help rid the world of an inhuman tyranny over men's minds and bodies and to create a new order in which all peoples would be free with the freedom of the children of their common Father who is in heaven.

"That hope softened the sorrow of mothers and wives and families when the grim messenger knocked at their door after the battle was over; it fortified them for the sacrifices demanded of them without parallel in their history. Must you tell them their hope has been shattered against a succeeding tyranny?

Members Of Group

The Pope received the newsmen in the papal library of the Apostolic Palace.

The ten newspaper men in the audience were Coleman Harwell, a director and former executive editor of the Nashville Tennessean; Elon F. Tompkins, chief editorial writer of the New York Journal-American; Gene Gillette, United Press; John H. Martin, International News Service; Everett Holles, mid-West editor, Columbia Broadcasting System; Frazier Hunt, news commentator for Mutual Broadcasting System; Dwight E. Young, editor, Dayton (Ohio) Journal-Herald and secretary of the American Society of Newspaper Editors; Virginius Dabney, editor, Richmond Times-Dispatch; Victor O. Jones, night editor, Boston Globe, and Erik Oberg, editor, Machinery Magazine, New York.

The group will proceed to Trieste, Austria, France and Germany.

Civil Rights Still Under Attack, Pope Says

J. McKnight

Vatican City, Jan. 18 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, addressing a group of ten American newspaper editors and writers who arrived in Rome yesterday to start an army-conducted tour of Europe, said today that "ruthless persecution of men's civil and religious rights has not ceased" in the postwar world.

Receiving the newspaper men in the papal library of the Apostolic Palace, the Pontiff praised American generosity in aiding Europe's war sufferers.

DAY

Yet Americans who came to the assistance "of the victims who survived the appalling holocaust little thought," the Pope added, "that the food and clothing which they were so lavishly shipping overseas would be in some countries tagged with a price. The price of adherence to a political party."

"Denial of men's civil and religious rights has not ceased," he continued. "Ruthless persecution of men's consciences has not abated. Nor is it surprising. But it is tragic.

"But one dare not be discouraged. Leaders will not be wanting, they are not wanting, men of sterling character, not self-seeking but genuinely devoted to the physical and social betterment of all classes, who in the light of Christian principles will gladly and effectively recognize that religion and morality are the indispensable supports of political prosperity. . . ."

After his brief address, which was in English, the Pope chatted affably with each of the newsmen, recalled to several his visit to the United States while he was Cardinal Secretary of State, and asked that his greetings be conveyed to President Truman and the American cardinals.

over men's minds and bodies and to create a new order in which all peoples would be free with the freedom of the children of their common Father who is in Heaven.

That hope softened the sorrow of mothers and wives and families when the grim messenger knocked at their doors after the battle was over; it fortified them for the sacrifices demanded of them without parallel in their history. Must you tell them that their hope has been shattered against a succeeding tyranny?

Having fought the war, America girded herself generously to come to the assistance of the victims who survived the appalling holocaust. They little thought that the food and clothing, which they were so lavishly shipping overseas, would be in some countries tagged with a price, the price of adherence to a political party.

Denial of men's civil and religious rights has not abated. Nor is it surprising. But it is tragic. It could be depressing, the thought that the heroic deaths of hundreds of thousands of the nation's brave and promising youth should have left so little peace and justice and clarify in its wake.

But one dare not be discouraged. Leaders will not be wanting, they are not wanting, men of sterling character, not self-seeking but genuinely devoted to the physical and social betterment of all classes, who in the light of Christian principles will gladly and effectively recognize what was so luminously clear to him, whom you are pleased to call the father of your country, that religion and morality are the indispensable support of political prosperity, and that morality will not be maintained without religion.

We pray daily that God may give these leaders the patient courage of their convictions and the strength to guide civilization back to its safe moorings. We bless you and your loved ones at home, and we express the hope that you may see the truth and speak it unafraid.

TEXT OF THE POPE'S ADDRESS

ROME, Jan. 18 (AP)—The text of Pope Pius' address:

You have come to Europe, we are told, desirous of getting first-hand knowledge of post-war conditions. An important mission for men of your profession, and one that may be productive of far-reaching good.

Little is of greater interest to the millions who compose your reading, listening public than to get at the facts. They had believed and hoped to help rid the world of an inhuman tyranny

Signor Nenni, whose exit stemmed from the party split over the latter's advocacy of close collaboration with the Communists, had made it plain that he did not want his resignation to precipitate a collapse of the Premier's four-party Cabinet.

Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the bolting anti-Communist Socialists, and the Communists indicated also that they did not want to "upset the apple-cart."

The Republican party, which has been threatening for months to withdraw its two members from the Cabinet, was in conference at Bologna.

Premier de Gasperi appeared confident that he would save his government from shipwreck.

Sexton Accused Of Fascist Plan

Rome, Jan. 18 (A. P.).—Ansa, the Italian news agency, reported today the arrest at Siena of an 18-year-old sexton who, it said, had stored arms and explosives for a new Fascist revolution under an altar in his church.

The agency said that Sergio Cappanelli, whom it identified as a former member of Mussolini's Republican Guard, fled to another church near by when the police approached last night, held them off for an hour and surrendered only when they opened fire. The police found arms, ammunition and several pounds of explosives under the main altar of St. Martin's Church, the agency reported.

Naples Relief Workers Seized

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 18 (UP).—Police arrested fifteen persons employed in port warehouses today, because of irregularities in the handling of stored United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration supplies. The arrests climaxed an investigation of "corruption, falsity, cheating and conspiracy," police said.

DE GASPERI UNRUFFLED

Italian Premier Takes Stock of Nenni Exit, Scouts Crisis

ROME, Jan. 18 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi took his time today about dealing with Italy's Government crisis or even admitting that there was one.

He came back from the United States yesterday just in time to receive the news that his Socialist Foreign Minister, Pietro Nenni, had resigned.

Premier de Gasperi said that

DEFECTION THREAT TO TSALDARIS' RULE

Gonatas, Liberal, and 5 Others Quit Greek Cabinet—'Trick' Move Laid to Premier

ATHENS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Premier Constantin Tsaldaris met a challenge of six Cabinet resignations and opposition attacks tonight with a declaration that he would battle his opponents to a showdown when Parliament reopens Monday.

NIGHT

Political observers gave little chance to Mr. Tsaldaris, whose eight months in office have set a record of tenure for any Premier of the eight since the liberation of Greece. They noted that Mr. Tsaldaris' Populist (Royalist) party had only 164 of the 354 seats in Parliament and that if the voting followed party lines, he would fail to get a vote of confidence.

If Mr. Tsaldaris were repudiated in Parliament, King George II, according to Greek custom, would name the leader of the largest opposition party, former Premier Themistocles Sophoulis of the Liberals, to form a new Government.

Vice Premier Stylianos Gonatas resigned from the Cabinet, in which he also held the post of Minister of Public Works. Mr. Gonatas' National Liberal party withdrew its support of Mr. Tsaldaris and swung its thirty-two Parliamentary votes to the Opposition, which already had 142 votes. Another resignation was that of Minister without Portfolio Apostolos Alexandaris, leader of the Royal Reformist Group.

DAY

Sophoulis Assails Earlier Mr.

Earlier today Mr. Tsaldaris, following a conference with King George, had announced that he was ready to resign his post and accept a co-Vice Premiership with Mr. Sophoulis, in order to form a Coalition Government under a third person to be named by them as Premier.

The aging Mr. Sophoulis flatly rejected the offer, describing it as "a deceitful trick to misguide public opinion."

Mr. Tsaldaris had said his offer to resign was made to end disorders in Greece, which he asserted had been provoked "from without."

Astute political manipulation has carried Tsaldaris through two previous Government crises. His hurried trip to New York and appearance before the United Nations Security Council in December to present a complaint that disorders in Greece were inspired by her northern neighbors, Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, pulled him through a tight spot that had developed then.

Britain is to advance Greece $20,000,000, said an authoritative source tonight. Details of the terms of use of the money were lacking.

Vice Premier Resigns From Greek Cabinet

Athens, Jan. 18 (AP)—Vice Premier Stylianos Gonatas resigned from the Greek Cabinet today, verifying persistent predictions and causing speculation as to whether he would align his party's strength with the opposition in Parliament, a move which might cause the downfall of Premier Constantin Tsaldaris's Government.

Gonatas's National Liberal party, which has consistently supported Tsaldaris, controls 32 seats in Parliament. These votes, plus the 142 held by the recognized opposition, would give the Premier's opponents exactly half the votes in Parliament.

DAY

Concurrent with the news of Gonatas's resignation came the report that Apostle Alexandris had resigned as minister without portfolio. Prior to the formation of the new cabinet, Alexandris had been minister of national economy.

Earlier today Tsaldaris, following a conference with King George II, had announced that he would resign his post and accept a co-vice premiership with Liberal Themistokles Sophoulis in order to form a coalition government under a third person named by them as premier. But Sophoulis, a former premier, flatly rejected the offer, describing it as "a deceitful trick to misguide public opinion."

Egyptian Killed in Riot

Cairo, Jan. 18 (AP).—Egyptian police sources reported that one Egyptian was killed and 68 injured today in a clash at the gate of the Tel el Kebir British army depot when native workers attempted to leave without being searched, protesting that the searching was too slow.

New Terrorist Mine Found

JERUSALEM, Jan. 18 (AP)—Military authorities announced today the discovery of a "new type of terrorist road mine capable of blowing up a three-ton truck and all its occupants" on a road four miles out of Jerusalem last night.

No Break Expected In Impasse Until U. S. Clears Policy

Nanking, Jan. 18 (AP).—The Communists today rejected the Chinese government's overtures for new peace negotiations.

Sun Fo, chairman of the government's legislative yuan and leader of the peace effort, said the government would try to keep the door open, "but if the Communists desire a protracted civil war, the government will have no alternative but to continue fighting."

NIGHT

Other official but unidentifiable sources, however, were inclined to believe that no drastic political or military developments were in immediate prospect. They held that the impasse probably would continue until fuller clarification of United States policy toward China.

Sources close to both factions said there was no hope of resuming negotiations "at least for a few months," and speculated that the United States might do one of three things: allow the situation to drift along for a while, pull out of China completely, or continue aid to the government on condition that there be no civil war and that the government be reorganized along the lines suggested by General Marshall last week.

Marshall strongly favored liberal elements gaining more power.

Invited to participate in a new coalition regime, these liberal minorities had insisted first upon the government's making another offer to resume negotiations with the Communists.

The Communists, in rejecting the bid submitted through United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, said they would negotiate only if the recently adopted constitution were abandoned and troops returned to positions of a year ago, when the Communists held much more territory than they do now. (AP)

China Reds Reject Peace Talk Bids

H. Mills

Reds Reject Bid By Chiang For New Talks

H. Mills

Nanking, Jan. 18 (AP)—Chinese Communist headquarters today rejected a Government bid to reopen truce talks and authorized sources said that that killed the possibility of further American mediation "at least for a few months."

The Communists charged the Government with "pure deception" in offering to send an emissary to party headquarters at Yenan without first meeting two conditions the Communists long have said were prerequisite to a resumption of negotiations.

DAY

The Government did not announce the basis of its offer, but it undoubtedly was prepared to make some concessions. However, informed sources said there was no possibility of its accepting the Communists' two conditions, which were described as "half real; half for bargaining."

U.S. Policy Awaited

Observers said the Government now would sit tight and await an indication of new American policy, adding that the latter may take one of three courses:

1. Drift along, awaiting an opportunity to solve individual problems as they arise.

2. Withdraw completely from China.

3. Continue to aid the Chinese Government on condition that there is no civil war and that drastic governmental reforms are achieved.

Yenan's rejection started an immediate series of conferences among the highest Government officials—including one at Chiang Kai-shek's home.

Defense Budget Is Cut

Meanwhile, the executive council cut the budget of the Ministry of National Defense from a requested 730,000,000,000 Chinese dollars ($200,000,000) to 450,000,000,000 ($120,000,000). Last year's defense budget was 380,000,000,000 Chinese dollars. A Ministry official said higher prices actually made this year's budget worth less than last year's.

[From Peiping, John Roderick, Associated Press correspondent, radioed that Truce Headquarters officials predicted that their organization soon would be disbanded as a result of the Communist rejection.

[He also said the officials predict a clean break soon between the Government and Communists and foresee the outbreak of big-scale fighting in Manchuria, where both sides already have maneuvered troops into position.]

2 Demands Reiterated

The Communist Central Committee notified the Chinese Government, through United States Ambassador Stuart, that the Yenan high command is not interested in resuming negotiations without prior acceptance of the Communists' two demands: Restoration of the military situation of January 1946, and nullification of the revised constitution adopted recently by the Communist-spurned National Assembly.

Wang Ping nan delivering the committee's decision, told Stuart:

"If the Government wants a reopening of negotiations, let them approve our minimum demands. Once that is done we are willing to renew discussions at Nanking without the necessity of sending emissaries to Yenan."

Deception Suspected

"If the cease-fire order signed by General Marshall and Chiang Kai-shek's representative, Gen. Chang Chun, last January, can utterly be destroyed by Chiang Kai-shek, how can it be proved that this time to send a man with the same surname of Chang and introduced again by an American for 'peace talks' is not deception," Wang asked.

Chinese Girl Tells Court Marine Attacked Her

Her Version of Case That Led to Anti-U. S. Outbreaks

PEIPING, Jan. 18 (AP).—A Chinese college student told a United States Marine court-martial today that a marine corporal raped her twice on Christmas Eve, but a Chinese doctor testified he was unable to determine from two examinations whether this was correct. The rape charge had been made the basis of a series of anti-American demonstrations by students here and at Nanking and Shanghai.

The nineteen-year-old complainant said that Corporal William Gaither Pierson assaulted her on the polo field in the center of Peiping and that another marine held her. She said the two had seized her on the street as she walked to a movie. She did not know, she added, whether Pierson had offered her money, as she did not understand a word he said. Pierson contends that she solicited him and that he paid her.

The other marine, who has not been identified, is being held for trial later.

Peiping Girl Tells Of Attacks

Peiping, Jan. 18 (AP).—Shen Chung, 19-year-old Peiping coed, today accused Marine Corporal William Gaither Pierson of raping her twice, but a Chinese doctor who followed her to the witness chair said he was unable to determine whether or not she had been raped.

The girl positively identified Pierson to a United States court-martial despite a defense attempt to confuse her.

Then Dr. Kang Ho-cheng, physician in the Municipal Police Bureau, said he examined the coed twice. He said the second time, nine days after the first examination, he found a small cut and a bruise on [illegible]

Started Anti-U.S. Riots

The coed said Pierson made a third attempt to rape her. She testified that she struggled against him and a companion for 3½ hours.

Under crossexamination, the doctor said a strong, healthy girl—she weighs 125 pounds—would have suffered more injuries if she resisted rape than if she consented. He refused to estimate when the bruise was made or whether the girl had resisted.

Chinese University students in several cities made the case the basis for anti-American demonstrations early this month.

Pierson had pleaded innocent to four charges, including one of rape and another of attempted rape, and no contest to one of fornication. He previously had told Marine authorities that his relations with the girl were on a professional basis.

The coed said she didn't know whether he had offered her money because she didn't understand what he was talking about.

Two Look Alike

Seated beside Pierson was Marine Corporal Jay Cunningham, of Burley, Idaho, who resembles the accused.

Asked to identify the Marine she accuses, she hesitated as she looked at Cunningham. Then she looked closely at Pierson a second time and pointed directly at him.

The coed, who came here only 24 days earlier to enter Peiping National University, said she was seized by two Marines as she was walking to a theater.

"Because it was so sudden, I didn't know what to do and I cried," she testified.

On crossexamination, she said:

"When I became calmer, I noticed cars passing on the street. I shouted for help but one of the Marines held my mouth."

The second Marine, as yet unidentified, is held for court-martial on yet unspecified charges.

French Batter Viet Namese Suicide Cult

Hanoi, Jan. 17. (Delayed)—(AP). French troops, using planes, artillery, rifles and grenades, mopped up air raid shelters and basements in the southern suburb of University City today where they encountered a new Viet Namese suicide cult called the "Cam Thu," or "Volunteers of the Dead."

(Paris dispatches said the French cleared a circular area extending 2½ miles from the center of the city, killing numerous Nationilists and taking 150 prisoners).

Among the bodies was found that of a Viet Namese girl, about 20, dressed in men's clothing and with a heavy ammunition belt and sword beside her.

Viet Namese made their most violent surprise attack on Hanoi's main airfield last night. They fought hand-to-hand for hours and left 20 bodies behind.

FIGHTING RAGES AT HANOI AIRFIELD

Hanoi, Indo-China, Jan. 17 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Fierce hand-to-hand fighting raged for hours this morning, after a violent Viet-Namese attack on Gialam Field, Hanoi's main airport. It was the most determined assault yet loosed against that vital objective.

The attack came last night and Nationalist parties infiltrated to within a short distance of the runways before being cut down by French machine-gun fire. More than twenty bodies of Viet-Namese were recovered this morning. Nationalist artillery shells fell in the garden around the residence of the High Commissioner of Tonkin Province, Jean Sinteny, and other shells landed in the citadel area, causing damage, but no casualties.

French planes and artillery crushed Viet-Namese resistance in buildings of the university city in Hanoi's suburbs. The action was spearheaded by an attack by six French Spitfires, pinpointed on a building occupied by members of the Tu Ve, intensely nationalistic youth militarist group.

French troops mopping up in the university city encountered a group of Viet-Namese calling themselves the "Cam Thu," which means "Volunteers of the Dead," an inner cult of the Tu Ve described by French officers as patterned after Japanese suicide squads.

Tu Ve members fled, but the cultists remained and battled until all were killed in their basement hide-aways.

Says French Need 500,000

SAIGON, Jan. 18 (by courier to neutral transmitting station to escape French control scrutiny) (AP).—A Foreign Legion captain told today of fighting Viet Minh guerrillas supported by Japanese and Germans, and declared the French would need 500,000 troops to subdue elusive resistance in Indo-China.

The captain, who passed weeks fighting guerrillas south of the Meking River, said French officials promised to have 250,000 troops in the country by July, but "I think it would take twice that." He commanded a heavy-weapons company made up mostly of men recruited from among German war prisoners.

India Assembly to Meet Despite Jinnah's Silence

Reconvenes Tomorrow With Moslem Participation Uncertain

NEW DELHI, Jan. 18 (AP).—India's Constituent Assembly prepared to reconvene Monday still without any word from Mohammed Ali Jinnah whether his Moslem League delegates will participate in the writing of a charter for independence.

The Assembly adjourned on Dec. 20 after the dominant All-India Congress (Nationalist party) had adopted a conciliatory resolution which Viceroy Lord Wavell considers to be acceptance of interpretations placed upon the independence plan by the British government and the Moslem League. So far, however, Jinnah has not said whether he regards the resolution as an acceptance of his views.

Reticence On Vital Secrets Hit

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, General MacArthur's intelligence officer, declared today there was an "excessive mutual reticence" among all branches of the services to share vital secrets during the war.

"I am not suggesting any branch of the service was an exclusive culprit," Willoughby said when asked for comment on a former War Department investigator's charge that the Navy withheld vital information from the Army in the Pacific theater during the war.

"The Army, the Air Force, the Navy and the State Department indulged in excessive mutual reticence, shall we say, at a time when split-second information and the most complete lateral exchange of intelligence was necessary."

Affidavit from Willoughby

Henry Clausen, San Francisco attorney and former War Department investigator, told the San Francisco Life Underwriters Association Thursday that he had an affidavit from Willoughby charging the Navy's failure to share secrets contributed to the Pearl Harbor disaster.

"Clausen asked a million questions," Willoughby said today. "I do not recollect many.

"What I intended to convey then and now is that a lot of intercept messages were available that never got to the right places, or got there in time."

Surprised At Public Statements

He said he was surprised that Clausen, a wartime colonel, should make public testimony "given him as a special assisant to the Secretary of War under the seal of secrecy.

"I hardly expected our statements to become news items. Such testimony was something like a highly confidential whisper on an all too delicate subject. It was not gauged to be shouted from the housetops."

6,443,628 in Pacific Repatriated During '46

Allied Headquarters Expects to Complete Job This Year

TOKYO, Jan. 18 (AP).—Supreme headquarters reported today that 6,443,628 persons in the Pacific were repatriated in 1946, and termed it one of the biggest mass transportation feats in history.

More than 5,000,000 Japanese were brought home, and 1,000,000 Chinese, Koreans, Formosans and Ryukyuans were moved home from Japan. About 82,000 Japanese remain in Southeast Asia and 13,000 in the Netherlands East Indies, but headquarters expects them all to be returned this year.

The largest repatriation job remaining is that of shipping an estimated 1,000,000 Japanese from Russian-held areas. Approximately 67,000 already have been returned.

NEGLECT IN LEPER COLONY IS CHARGED

Manila, Jan. 18 (A. P.).—Aurora Quezon, daughter of the late President Quezon, charged today more than 600 lepers are living in shocking conditions at the Government's Central Luzon leprosarium at Novaliches, less than twenty miles from Manila. Miss Quezon, an active social worker, had just visited the leprosarium.

Manila newspapermen who accompanied her said they found the lepers are living like animals, existing on starvation rations with almost no medicine or medical attention. They are "barely managing to survive, and that, only through the help of kind-hearted officers and men of the United States Army."

A departing regiment gave the lepers Army cots and blankets but many still sleep on floors. There are only two nurses and two doctors to attend the patients. One of these is Mrs. Joey Guerrero, former operative in the Allied Intelligence Bureau.

During the Japanese occupation, lepers suffered more than prisoners of war or internees. The food situation became so critical at Culion Island, north of Palawan, where 7,000 lepers were confined, that doctors advised all who were able to make their way across the Sulu Sea to their home islands. Hundreds perished in flimsy rafts and canoes.

MARCH 31 END OF INVENTORY CONTROL SEEN

Truman Expected Not To List It In Request For Continued Powers

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Officials expect President Truman to permit inventory control to lapse March 31, surrendering the Government's chief weapon against hoarding of scarce goods and materials.

The officials, who are familiar with decontrol plans, reported today that a majority of White House advisers believe this curb on the accumulation of business stocks can be omitted from Mr. Truman's forthcoming recommendations on extension of the Second War Powers.

The President's proposals are to go to Congress within a fortnight in the hope that Congress will act on industrial control policies before the act's March 31 expiration date.

CPA Recommendation

He is expected to seek continued regulation over rubber and tin, scarce foodstuffs, certain building materials, and possibly antimony, cinchona bark for medical use and some other materials.

The Civilian Production Administration recommended that he also ask extension of the inventory-control authority, widely used in the last six months to force business firms to release scarce clothing, housing materials and cattle hides.

However, White House officials believe this will be stricken from the list of "minimum controls" which Mr. Truman hopes to retain. The incentive to hoarding by industry is lessening day by day with the increase in production of most raw materials and parts, officials said.

30. 24- 7433

Price Outlook Considered

In addition, prices of most commodities now appear to be approaching their peaks so that merchants and manufacturers are less likely to withhold goods in hope of speculative price increases.

The CPA, recently merged into the Office of Temporary Controls, has been relaxing inventory controls rapidly, either by wiping them out entirely on such products as textiles and electric irons, or by enlarging the permitted inventory.

The wartime limit generally was 45 or 60 days' supply. In most cases where controls remain, business men now are allowed to keep a "practical minimum working inventory."

Short List Indicated

Mr. Truman has not indicated which commodities he wishes to hold under priority and allocation control, but his budget message to Congress indicated the list would be short.

In asking a $47,600,000 appropriation for industrial controls he mentioned "export and import controls, priority and allocation controls on a few commodities, and a few other minimum controls" as well as rent ceilings, sugar rationing and price control of sugar, syrups and rice.

GOP STUDIES WAYS TO CUT FORCES' CASH

Will Call For Statements From Army And Navy To Show Merger Effect

Washington, Jan., 18 (AP)—Republicans bent on whittling down President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget disclosed today they will call upon the Army and Navy for a showing of money savings in the plan for unification of the armed forces.

Brushing aside arguments by some Republicans and Democrats that the $11,587,000,000 outlay for national defense in the fiscal year 1948 should not be touched, Chairman Taber R., N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee, declared

NIGHT

"There is going to be a thorough overhauling of Army and Navy spending estimates. We are going to ask what for and why on each item.

"Should Be Trimmed"

"There is no question but spending should be trimmed under the merger plan, unless its just another New Deal reorganization just superimposing an extra overhead. They are going to show us where we can save. If they don't, we will show them."

Army and Navy officers who discussed the unification plan with reporters at the White House yesterday said there had been no estimates on possible savings. Nor did President Truman's budget estimate take into account such a result.

Mr. Truman wrote House and Senate leaders today that he will submit unification legislation soon; it will be drafted by representatives of the White House and the War and Navy departments.

Will Be Available

These men will be available to congressional committees which will handle the legislation.

Other fast-moving developments on the money-taxes front included:

1. The joint House-Senate budget committee of 102 members, created under the Congressional Reorganization Act, was called to its first session on Monday. It is ready to begin studies of the President's budget estimates with a view to Congress putting its own ceiling on Government spending.

Moves To Recapture

2. Mr. Truman moved to recapture some $563,000,000 of unspent appropriations and remove from the books some $800,000,000 in old lend-lease funds. He got a quick nod of assent from Congress.

Taber said "that helps," but "it would help more if he would eliminate some undesirable functions of Government." Government fiscal experts said the recapture would not affect budgets this year or next, as the action already had been anticipated in preparing the estimates for the fiscal period beginning July 1.

3. Republicans plan to press through the House on Monday legislation, asked by the President, to freeze the excise taxes indefinitely at their high wartime rates—on liquor, furs, jewelry and many other goods and services. Extension action would prevent an automatic rollback of the levies on July 1 and avoid a $1,200,000,000 annual loss of revenue.

4. Prospects for a 20 per cent slash in individual income taxes this year faded. There still appeared to be enough votes to pass a bill granting some tax relief with the principal easement on lower incomes.

5 Senators Favor Merger Plan

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Five senators who served in the armed forces during World War II lined up today behind President Truman's plan for unification of the services under a single cabinet secretary of national defense.

President Truman notified Congress today of the proposed Army-Navy agreement on unification and said he will submit a bill to carry it out soon.

The bill he will submit will be drafted by representatives of the White House and the War and Navy departments.

All Republicans

The veterans, all newly elected Republicans, said they expected Congress to pass at this session legislation needed to carry out the merger.

They are Senators Cain, of Washington; Knowland, of California; Lodge, of Massachusetts; Martin, of Pennsylvania, and McCarthy, of Wisconsin.

A dissent came from Senator Magnuson (D., Wash.), 41, who served in the Pacific as a Navy lieutenant commander until 1943.

Opposed Merger Previously

Magnuson, a backer of the Navy in its successful fight against merger legislation during the last Congress, said he believes that such functions as procurement, research and intelligence can be combined successfully but that other Army and Navy operations should be separated.

Most enthusiastic supporter for the integration plan was Lodge, 44, who gave up his Senate seat in 1942 to become a captain in the tank corps and came out as a lieutenant colonel doing staff liaison in southern France.

Senator Cain, 41, who was mayor of Tacoma, Wash., when he went on active duty as an army major, agreed. Cain was a full colonel and assistant chief of staff with airborne troops when the war ended.

Other Opinions

Opinions of the other senator-veterans:

McCarthy, 37, who joined the Marines as a buck private and came out with captain's bars as intelligence officer in a dive-bomber outfit—"The mere fact that the Army and Navy have got together gives us an excellent basis to work upon. We should be able to work out the details."

Knowland, 38, who entered as a private and advanced to major in military government—"I'm favorably disposed to the idea. It should eliminate most previous objections."

"Objective Is Fine"

Martin, 67, a veteran of Spanish American and both world wars and a major general when discharged—"I favor the idea of unification. The objective is fine and if the two departments have worked out a plan it should be rather easy to pass legislation."

Senator Hill (D., Ala.), who sponsored a merger bill during the last Congress, said "we will pass the legislation this time."

Less certain of speedy action was Senator Robertson (R., Wyo.), one of the Navy backers last session when the merger bill was blocked.

Slug Fest Looms In Probe Issue

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Republicans and Democrats gave every sign today they intend to take off the gloves for a political slugging match over the question of breathing new life into the Senate War Investigating Committee.

Democratic strategists said they count on at least 39 from their ranks to vote next Wednesday against extending the committee's authority until January 31, 1948.

They figured they will need about seven Republican votes to prevail against the GOP, which holds a 51-to-44 margin in the Senate.

Taft Voices Doubt

Senator Taft (R., Ohio), one of the generals in a fight that has become almost wholly partisan, said he doubts that the Democrats can get that many Republicans to go their way.

DAY

The Democrats contend that the Senate Expenditures Committee, a regular group set up under the Congressional Reorganization Act, should conduct a projected investigation of graft, corruption and ineptitude in the war effort.

Senator Tydings (D., Md.), one of a new policy group of sharpshooters named yesterday by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.), proposed this as an amendment to a resolution which would continue the War Investigating Committee.

Chairman Aiken (R., Vt.) of the expenditures group told a reporter it was all somewhat embarrassing to him.

He wasn't going to let it be said, as Tydings adroitly did, that a vote against the Marylander's proposal was a vote declaring the expenditures group "incompetent."

But there is a question of party loyalty, Aiken pointed out. He added that he understands quite a bit of current legislation is coming to his group, indicating he hopes it doesn't get bogged down in a lengthy investigation.

Tydings Applies Sarcasm

Tydings noted that Senator Bricker (R., Ohio), a member of the Expenditures Committee, was the Republican choice for Vice President in 1944. He also said Senator Thye (R., Minn.), another member of Aiken's committee, is "an ambassador without portfolio" of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

"Would you take this work away from men such as these and give it to the Senator from Maine (Brewster), who, we all know, has no political ambitions whatsoever?" he inquired with heavy sarcasm.

Excise Tax Vote Unanimity Is Prevented

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Representative O'Toole (D., N.Y.), announced today he will block any effort at unanimous House passage of the bipartisan bill to freeze excise levies indefinitely at the high wartime rates.

Chairman Knutson (R., Minn.), voiced confidence the measure, approved unanimously by the House Ways and Means Committee, nevertheless will receive overwhelming House approval early next week.

Knutson had hoped to bring up the bill by unanimous consent for immediate passage without discussion, but since O'Toole has objected he will present it later under usual rules permitting debate and requiring only a simple majority vote for enactment.

DAY

No Dissent In Committee

The Ways and Means group, with Republicans as well as Democrats following a recommendation by President Truman, approved without dissent the bill by Representative Grant (R., Ind.) to head off an automatic rollback of the excise rates next July 1.

House Republican tax managers hope that maintaining the high taxes on liquor, furs, jewelry, cosmetics, luggage and many other goods and services will make it easier to cut individual income taxes.

Calls Tax Plan A "Sham"

O'Toole, who has offered a bill to roll back the excises immediately, issued a statement protesting that the Ways and Means Committee should have held "complete and open" hearings.

He termed Knutson's proposal of a twenty per cent income-tax cut on incomes up to $300,000 "a sham because the bill is absolutely no help to those earning under $10,000 a year." People in the lower brackets would get far greater relief, he argued, through the abolition of wartime excise rates.

Knutson is delaying action on the income-tax bill until the congressional budget committee agrees on a ceiling for Federal spending in the next fiscal year, as required by the Reorganization Act.

Marshall To Be Sworn In Monday

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall will be sworn in as Secretary of State at 11 A.M. Monday in President Truman's office, the White House announced today.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson will administer the oath to the successor to retiring Secretary James F. Byrnes.

The White House said the ceremony will be witnessed by members of the Cabinet and of Congress in both parties. General Marshall went on terminal leave from the Army yesterday and as soon as he takes the oath as a Cabinet member he will return to civilian status as a retired army officer.

Optional Under Law

Under the law General Marshall has the option of receiving the $15,000 annual salary of a Cabinet officer or his retired army pay. It is believed he has elected to take his army pay which amounts to $15,751.

The General, who spent thirteen months in China as President Truman's special envoy, was due to leave Honolulu by plane today for Washington. His arrival time is indefinite, but present plans call for him to reach here several hours before he goes to the White House for the oath-taking.

The White House said that after being sworn, Marshall will remain for a conference with the President.

May Add To List

A tentative list of those invited includes members of the Cabinet, Senate and House members, State Department officials and others. About 25 or 30 persons have been invited so far and General Marshall may add to this list.

The White House said arrangements for the ceremony had been made in cable communications between the President and Marshall.

Poland Planned March Against Moscow in '19

Offered to Make It With 500,000 Men but Allies Turned Proposal Down

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Long secret official records disclosed tonight that a Polish proposal to march on Moscow with an army of 500,000 men was considered by the 1919 peace conference.

Poland's Premier, Ignace Jan Paderewski, was confident his army could succeed where Adolf Hitler subsequently failed with a far stronger force, for the new Bolshevist regime was shaky. He wanted Allied backing and $5,000,000 a day for expenses.

The Allies turned him down. France's Georges Clemenceau argued the effect of the invasion would be to "set the whole of Russia against the Allies." Frank L. Polk, American Under Secretary of State, said the United States was prepared to help relieve the post-war economic plight of the Poles, but not to help them wage war.

The footnote to history is included in the latest bulky volume of official records of the Paris peace conference to be published by the State Department. It covers sessions of the heads of the United States, British, French, Italian and Japanese delegations from Aug. 29 through Nov. 5, 1919.

The Versailles Peace Treaty with Germany already had been signed and Woodrow Wilson had gone home, but still to be completed were treaties with Austria,

Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, and the conference was plagued by knotty problems. These included numerous frontier disputes, Romania's defiance of the Big Five in an invasion of Hungary, continued subjection of Germany, and the threatened spread of Bolshevism.

Poland had one of the largest of Europe's post-war armies and only a few months later it marched to Kiev.

The Polish proposal to march to Moscow was submitted Sept. 15 by British Prime Minister David Lloyd George. Before it was repected, Marshal Foch, General Maxim Weygand and Paderewski himself were called in for consultation.

WHITE POPULATION SHOWS HAWAII GAIN

Governor's Report Reveals Japanese Are on Decline, Natives on Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Territorial Governor Ingram M. Stainback says Hawaii's white population has increased, the ratio of Japanese has decreased and the happy-go-lucky native Hawaiian population is growing fast.

In his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, he estimated Hawaii's population at 519,503, and adds:

"The Cacausian element of Hawaii's population has more than doubled since 1940.

"At that time it numbered 74,542, or 18.92 per cent of the total. It now numbers 173,533, or 33.43 per cent of the total. This represents the outstanding shift in Hawaii's civilian population in the past decade."

Mr. Stainback says the ratio of Hawaiian residents of Japanese ancestry declined from 40.1 per cent in 1940 to 32.2 in 1946—168,463 persons.

"The Hawaiian and part Hawaiian group numbered 75,048, or 14.5 per cent—of whom 10,887 were pure Hawaiians.

"The Hawaiians and part Hawaiians, of all the ethnic groups in Hawaii are increasing the most rapidly through an excess of births over deaths.

Their ratio of births minus deaths, of 35.3 a thousand, compared with 17.5 for the total population and 22.6 for the Puerto Rican group, second in order of biological vitality. The proportion of persons with Hawaiian blood has not changed greatly during twenty years."

Mr. Stainback said smaller ethnic groups—Filipinos, Chinese, Koreans, Puerto Ricans and Negroes—make up slightly more than one-fifth of the population. Filipinos, bolstered by admission of 6,000 sugar and pineapple workers compose one-tenth of the population.

Although Hawaii's population increased 3.46 per cent by the addition of 17,381 persons during the year ended June 30, 1946—compared with an annual rate of growth of 5.09 per cent during the war years—Oahu was the only island with a significant increase.

Oahu has 358,911 inhabitants—69.1 per cent of the Hawaiian total compared with 58 per cent in 1940.

Oahu's population has increased 57.2 per cent since 1940, while that of all the other Hawaiian islands has declined during that period an average of 5.8 per cent.

Other Hawaiian facts as reported by Governor Stainback:

There were more job opportunities in Hawaii than there were takers among the 14,000 World War II veterans.

Less than 1 per cent of the Hawaiian veterans filed unemployment compensation claims compared to 15 to 25 per cent on the mainland and 50 per cent in Puerto Rico.

Hawaii's schools attained their most favorable pupil-teacher ratio in history—one classroom teacher for each thirty pupils.

Tax collections indicated that Hawaii's commerce in the first year of peace exceeded the wartime level by almost $3,000,000.

Of $42,473,900.63 collected in taxes by the territory, 26 per cent was gross income and consumption taxes.

Hawaii's crime rate was low, 1,204 major crimes per 100,000 population and juvenile delinquency increased slightly.

RED REJOINS INSIGNIA

Army Restores Color Dropped During War With Japan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The color red, which was on the Army-Navy black list during the war, has rejoined white and blue in the insignia of the armed services.

The old red-circle-on-white-star design which used to decorate such equipment as airplanes and trucks was dropped when experience showed gunners were prone to mistake it for the Japanese "meatball" marking in the heat of battle.

A white star flanked by a white rectangle on a blue background was substituted. The red returns, with peace, as a stripe centered on the white rectangle.

To Tour Japan and Korea

9 U. S. Publishers and Editors to Visit Philippines Also

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP).—A group of nine publishers and editors will leave here Tuesday for a month's inspection trip through the occupation areas in Japan and Korea. They also will visit the Philippines. They will make the trip at the invitation of the War Department.

The group includes Roy W. Howard, of the Scripps-Howard newspapers; Erwin D. Canham, "The Christian Science Monitor"; E. Z. Dimitman, "The Chicago Sun"; Robert W. Reed, "The Kansas City Star"; Wayne Coy, "The Washington Post"; Carroll Binder, "The Minneapolis Tribune"; Thor M. Smith, "The San Francisco Call-Bulletin"; Sevellon Brown, "The Providence Journal," and Ralph Donaldson, "The Cleveland Plain Dealer."

U. S. O. Shows End in Europe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP).—The curtain has fallen on the last U. S. O. camp show for G. I.s in Europe.

The Army announced today that 221 performers, the last group in the European theater, are due to arrive by ship at New York on Tuesday. The players made up fourteen touring companies. During the peak year of 1945 U. S. O. shows in the European theater were attended by 53,353,000 soldiers.

The Army said the camp shows will continue to play in the Pacific area "for an indefinite period," as well as at Army and veteran hospitals in this country.

A-Bomb Apathy Hit By Ike

Jan. 18

Chicago, Jan. 23 (AP)—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States "cannot permit complacency or an 'atomic bomb mentality—a possible modern 'counterpart of the Maginot Line mentality'—to lull us into another postwar apathy."

"The muzzle velocity of war has increased in geometric progression from the musket to the rocket," Eisenhower said last night in an industry-Army Day dinner.

"The time interval between initial assault and a crippled nation has been narrowed by every improvement in offensive weapons," the chief of staff said.

"Incontestable Conclusion"

"An incontestable conclusion that emerges from World War II is that modern wars are fought with the concerted strength of whole nations, and that the integration of our national economy into an effective security machine must be accomplished—in thought and in plan—before an emergency occurs.

"The responsibility for achieving this purpose rests with all of us. . . . The whole task must be shared by all our productive facilities and all instrumentalities of government."

Eisenhower said that, far from being pessimistic about world collaboration, the Army, "along with all others who understand the basic futility and stupidity of war, believe that only through success in international co-operation is there any absolute security for us and for all nations.

"We believe that enlightened self-interest urges us forever to seek and support agreements whose universal acceptance will one day eliminate the need for armed forces."

Relief Grain Shows Sharp Output Rise

New Tax Year, High Prices, More Transport Cited

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP).—Famine-relief grain for Europe and Asia today was pouring out of producing areas in sharply increased volume continuing a trend which started shortly after the beginning of the new year.

Aside from the high price which the government is willing to pay to get the grain dealers ascribed the outpouring to two factors:

First producers are more willing to sell now that a new income-tax year has started; second the government is telling producers that it will see that railroad cars are available at country stations to move the grain.

Difficulties in transportation, caused by a shortage of box cars, appeared to grain men to have been at least temporarily overcome as wheat and corn flowed into major grain markets.

Since the beginning of this week receipts of wheat at twelve principal interior terminals have totaled 8,221,000 bushels. Corn receipts totaled 11,129,000 bushels. That compares with 5,576,000 bushels of wheat in the preceding week (Monday through Friday) and 5,744,000 in the like 1946 period. Corn receipts last week (Monday through Friday) were 7,375,000 bushels and a year ago 5,422,000 bushels.

Most of the grain is destined for shipment abroad. It represents efforts by this government to fulfil promises made to meet the needs of foreign countries.

United To Threaten Democracy In U.S., Uruguayan Says

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Communists and reactionaries united in common cause against the democracies are a danger to the United States and the American republics, Eduardo Rodriguez Larreta, Foreign Affairs Minister of Uruguay, said here today.

The Uruguayan chancellor said in an interview that communism in South America may be a remote threat to the United States, "but care must be taken not to provoke the opposite reaction, toward Fascism. Fascism can be a threat as well. Both tendencies join in common cause to fight the democracies. That is the danger."

Rodriguez Larreta is spending a week in New York and will go to Hyde Park Monday to visit the grave of President Roosevelt.

He participated in an international forum in Cleveland last week and said he was amazed that "12,000 people paid $3 each to come in to hear a discussion of political and international affairs."

Speaking about conditions in Uruguay, Rodriguez Larreta said the political situation was good, and the new President, Tomas Berreta, would take office next March under excellent auspices. President-elect Berreta is scheduled to visit Washington in February.

Communism No Problem

The Uruguayan statesman said the democratic parties had triumphed in the recent elections, in spite of a "bitter and most violent campaign of slanderous type by the reactionary groups, which have increased their strength taking advantages of shortages and postwar difficulties in the country."

Asserting the struggle against communism was not a grave problem in Uruguay, he said: "there is little favorable atmosphere for it. In the elections three months ago, they won four seats in the House of Representatives out of 100."

Rodriguez Larreta said Uruguay had good defense against communism because communism is a creed that thrives on social inequalities and "the democratic parties in Uruguay have carried out a sound policy of social welfare and social equilibrium. That is the best way to combat communism.

"It will thrive where social differences are deep. It has no chance where they do not exist. That phenomenon may be observed in certain Latin-American countries easily," he concluded.

Europe Economic Unity Urged

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—John Foster Dulles called last night for a German peace settlement that would open the way for economic unification of Europe and meet what he said was the Soviet challenge to United States leadership in world affairs.

The Republican adviser on international affairs also urged the decentralization of Germany on a federal-state formula and integration of that nation's economy into that of her western neighbors.

Such a program, he told a dinner of the National Publishers Association, should be included on the agenda of the forthcoming Moscow Conference of Foreign Ministers which he said may determine whether Europe will move toward economic unity or toward rebuilding "the old structure of independent, unconnected sovereignties."

Need For Efficiency

"A Europe divided into small economic compartments cannot be a healthy Europe," he said. "All of Europe's economic potentialities need to be used at maximum efficiency and European markets should be big enough to justify modern methods of cheap production for mass consumption."

Dulles, member of the United States delegation to the United Nations General Assembly, told a news conference before the dinner that his speech had been shown to Republican Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, GOP presidential candidate in 1944.

"Both have expressed concurrence in the thesis the speech presents," he said.

LONDON, JAN 18-(AP)-THE MOSCOW NEWSPAPER, PRAVDA, DELVED INTO HISTORY TODAY--AS FAR BACK AS THE 10TH CENTURY--TO SUPPORT POLISH CLAIMS TO FORMER GERMAN LANDS ALONG THE ODER AND REAFFIRMED THE "IRON DETERMINATION" OF THE POLISH PEOPLE TO STAND GUARD ON THEIR WESTERN FRONTIERS.

SCOFFING AT "PITIFUL AND RIDICULOUS" ATTEMPTS OF "THE HANGERS-ON OF DEFEATED GERMAN IMPERIALISM AND THEIR FOREIGN PATRONS TO CAST DOUBT ON THE POLISH CHARACTER OF THESE LANDS," THE COMMUNIST PARTY PUBLICATION DECLARED IN A BROADCAST:

"IT IS WELL KNOWN THAT THESE FRONTIERS WERE FIRMLY ESTABLISHED BY THE BERLIN CONFERENCE OF THE LEADERS OF THE THREE GREAT POWERS.

"STALIN'S WORDS THAT THE USSR CONSIDERS THE WESTERN FRONTIERS OF POLAND PERMANENT HAVE RESOUNDED ALL OVER THE WORLD.

"IN MOLOTOV'S WELL-KNOWN DECLARATION, IT IS STATED CLEARLY THAT THE DECISIONS OF THE BERLIN CONFERENCE ON THE WESTERN FRONTIERS OF POLAND CANNOT BE SHAKEN BY ANYONE."

THE PRAVDA COMMENTARY CAME ON THE EVE OF THE POLISH ELECTIONS AND ALSO COINCIDED WITH THE LONDON MEETING OF DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS PREPARING A DRAFT OF THE GERMAN PEACE TREATY. IT COULD BE REGARDED AS A REITERATION OF THE RUSSIAN POSITION STATED AFTER THE SEPTEMBER STUTTGART SPEECH OF JAMES F.BYRNES, AMERICAN SECRETARY OF STATE, WHO DECLARED THAT EASTERN GERMAN BORDERS FIXED AT POTSDAM WERE ONLY PROVISIO

LONDON, JAN 18-(AP)-U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID TODAY THEY HAD HEARD "RUMORS" THAT RUSSIA MIGHT SUDDENLY PROPOSE IMMEDIATE EVACUATION OF GERMANY BY ALL FOUR OCCUPYING POWERS.

THE RUMORS WERE ENTIRELY WITHOUT OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION.

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS FROM GERMANY, THE DIPLOMATS SAID, HAD SUGGESTED THAT RUSSIA WOULD SPRING AN EVACUATION PROPOSAL AS A SURPRISE DURING THE CONFERENCE OF BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS DEPUTIES, MEETING HERE TO PAVE THE WAY FOR A GERMAN PEACE TREATY.

THE OFFICIALS EMPHASIZED, HOWEVER, THAT THESE REPORTS WERE NOT MADE ON ANY DIPLOMATIC LEVEL.

THEY SAID THEY CONSIDERED IT "UNLIKELY" THAT RUSSIA WOULD MAKE SUCH A PROPOSAL BUT OBSERVED THAT, IF MADE, IT WOULD HAVE THE EFFECT OF BOOSTING RUSSIAN PRESTIGE AMONG THE GERMAN PEOPLE.

"FOR THAT REASON," ONE DIPLOMATIC SOURCE SAID, "THE RUSSIANS MIGHT HAVE SOME REASON FOR PROPOSING IT, PARTICULARLY BECAUSE THERE IS NO LIKELIHOOD THAT THE OTHER OCCUPYING POWERS WOULD AGREE."

STUTTGART, JAN.18-(AP)-PROSECUTOR DON S.FARRENS ASKED AN AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT COURT TODAY TO ASSESS THE DEATH PENALTY AGAINST ALL BUT ONE OF 11 ALLEGED NAZI TERRORISTS ACCUSED OF BOMBING GERMAN DENAZIFICATION COURTS IN STUTTGART AND NEARBY TOWNS.

"NO PENALTY COULD BE TOO SEVERE FOR THESE CONSPIRATORS," THE DECATUR, NEB. PROSECUTOR SAID IN HIS SUMMING UP OF THE CASE AGAINST SIEGFRIED KABUS AND THE YOUTHFUL GANG HE ALLEGEDLY TRIED TO MAKE THE NUCLEUS OF A NEW NAZI MOVEMENT WITH HIMSELF AS "FUEHRER."

THE VERDICT IS TO BE ANNOUNCED ON TUESDAY.

THE DEFENSE ARGUED THAT KABUS WAS MENTALLY IRRESPONSIBLE, AND COUNSE FOR THE OTHER DEFENDANTS PLEADED THAT THEY WERE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR ACTIONS BECAUSE THEIR YOUTHFUL MINDS HAD BEEN POISONED BY NAZI PHILOSOPHY AND THEY HAD BEEN DUPED AND COERCED BY KABUS. THEY ALSO ARGUED FOR CLEMENCY ON THE GROUND THAT NO ONE WAS INJURED AND LITTLE DAMAGE WAS DONE BY THE GANG'S HOMEMADE BOMBS.

MOSCOW,JAN.18(AP)-THE SOVIET ARMY PAPER RED STAR ASSERTED TODAY THAT ATTEMPTS BY REPRESENTATIVES OF THE U.S. WAR DEPARTMENT AND THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE TO DENY THE EXISTENCE OF A SECRET AGREEMENT BETWEEN MILITARY LEADERS OF THE TWO NATIONS WERE CAUSING WIDESPREAD CRITICISM.

THE PAPER CITED IN PARTICULAR A STORY IN THE LONDON DAILY WORKER ON DEC.2 CONCERNING AN ALLEGED SECRET AGREEMENT, WHICH IT SAID CAUSED COMMENT IN THE PRESS OF MANY NATIONS.

RED STAR SAID THAT A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCED AT A NEWS CONFERENCE ON DEC.9 THAT AN EXCHANGE OF OPINIONS BETWEEN THE GENERAL STAFFS OF THE U.S., BRITAIN AND CANADA ON THE QUESTION OF ARMAMENT STANDARDIZATION HAD TAKEN PLACE.

"HOWEVER," RED STAR ADDED, "THE REPRESENTATIVE REFUSED TO ANSWER FURTHER QUESTIONS OF CORRESPONDENTS CONCERNING DETAILS OT TALKS, REFERRING CORRRESPONDENTS TO THE WAR DEPARTMENT."

PREIM MINISTER ATTLEE OF GREAT BRITAIN, RED STAR ASSERTED, ALSO REFRAINED FROM GOING INTO DETAILS, BUT, THE PAPER ADDED, DETAILS DID COMMENCE TO APPEAR IN THE PRESS.

THE ARTICLE SAID A NUMBER OF SPEECHES WERE BEING MADE ON THE SUBJECT BY AMERICAN OFFICIALS, MANY OF THEM DISAPPROVING IN NATURE. IT ADDED THAT PROTESTS ALSO WERE BEING RECORDED IN THE CANADIAN PRESS.

"THUS," RED STAR CONCLUDED, "THE EFFORTS OF SOME CIRCLES OF THE U.S. AND BRITAIN TO ESTABLISH A MILITARY COLLABORATION HAVE RUN INTO A NUMBER OF OBSTACLES, THE MAIN ONE OF WHICH IS A DESIRE OF THE BROAD MASSES OF POPULATIONS OF THESE COUNTRIES FOR A LASTING, FIRM PEACE."

MOSCOW,JAN.18-(AP)-PRAVDA, COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER, SAID IN A SHANGHAI DISPATCH TODAY THAT PERSONS ARRIVING FROM JAPAN HAD REPORTED APPREHENSION IN THAT COUNTRY THAT "COLOSSAL" OCCUPATION COSTS WOULD THREATEN THE NATION WITH BANKRUPTCY.

A PRAVDA CORRESPONDENT SAID THE JAPANESE HAD SPENT OVER 50,000,000 YEN BUILDING GOLF COURSES FOR UNITED STATES TROOPS, 40,000,000 YEN ON U.S. BARRACKS AND 1,300,000 YEN ON ONE HOUSE FOR AN OCCUPATION FAMILY. HE REPORTED JAPAN'S SPENDING TO MAINTAIN ALLIED TROOPS REACHED 19,000,-000,000 YEN BY LAST DECEMBER AND BY APRIL, 1947, WOULD TOTAL 50,000,-000,000 YEN MORE.

(THE OFFICIAL QUOTATION FOR THE YEN IS 15 TO THE DOLLAR, BUT THE ACTUAL RATE IS 75 TO THE DOLLAR.)

MEANWHILE, IZVESTIA, RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER, COMMENTED THAT BRITISH RECOGNITION OF THE UNITED STATES' DOMINANT ROLE IN THE FAR EAST EXPRESSED A FOREIGN-POLICY LINE MARKED BY A TENDENCY TOWARD ALLIANCE WITH THE U.S. FOR "DIVIDING THE WORLD AND ACHIEVING ANGLO-AMERICAN DOMINATION."

THE PAPER SAID BRITISH-U.S. DIFFERENCES OVER JAPAN REFLECTED "CONTRADICTIONS IN THE POST-WAR POSITION OF ENGLAND, WHICH IS FIGHTING FOR A 'DECENT PLACE UNDER THE SUN' BUT WHICH SIMULTANEOUSLY IS [illegible] ORDINATING ITS POLICY MORE AND MORE TO THE INTERESTS OF THE UN[illegible] STATES."

MOSCOW, JAN.18-(AP)-THE RUSSIAN PUBLIC TODAY RECEIVED ITS FIRST EYE-WITNESS ACCOUNT OF THE DEVASTATION WROUGHT BY ATOM BOMBS DROPPED ON HIROSHIMA AND NAGASAKI, JAPAN.

L.VYSOKOOSTROVSKI, CORRESPONDENT FOR THE MAGAZINE NEW TIMES REPORTING ON VISITS TO BOTH CITIES, EXPRESSED SOME DOUBT AS TO THE BOMB'S MILITARY SIGNIXICANCE BUT STRESSED THAT "IT TOOK MANY LIVES OF DEFENSELESS PEOPLE."

"DESTRUCTION IN HIROSHIMA WAS GREAT," HE WROTE. "IT IS DIFFICULT, OF COURSE, TO PASS JUDGMENT ON THE FULL MILITARY SIGNIFICANCE OF THE ATOM BOMB. BUT, AS A MASS DESTRUCTION WEAPON, IT REALLY MEANS DISASTER FOR THE CIVILIAN POPULATION. WE WERE GRAPHICALLY CONVINCED OF THIS."

HE CONCLUDED THAT "OUR OBSERVATIONS IN HIROSHIMA AND NAGASAKI WHOLLY CONFIRM THAT THE ATOM BOMB IS THE INSTRUMENT OF MASS DESTRUCTION OF HUMAN BEINGS. PEACE-LOVING HUMANITY'S DEMAND THAT ATOMIC WEAPONS BE OUTLAWED WITHOUT DELAY IS JUST."

MOSCOW, JAN 18-(AP)-NEW TIMES, COMMENTING ON UNITED STATES TRUSTEESHIP PROPOSALS FOR FORMER JAPANESE-MANDATED ISLANDS, SAID TODAY THE AMERICAN "CLAIMS TO ACTUAL ANNEXATION" OF THE ISLANDS COULD NOT BE JUSTIFIED "EITHER BY DEFENSE NEEDS OR BY THE INTERESTS OF THE LOCAL POPULATIONS."

REPEATING SOVIET CHARGES THAT THE VATICAN HAD COLLABORATED WITH AXIS POWERS DURING THE WAR, THE MAGAZINE SAID THAT RECENTLY THE CHURCH'S EFFORTS HAD BEEN DIRECTED TO "FALSIFYING HISTORY AND CREATING A LEGEND ABOUT THE SUPPOSED SERVICES RENDERED BY THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IN THE FIGHT AGAINST FASCISM."

THE PERIODICAL ALSO CHARGED THE VATICAN WITH "SAVING A MAXIMUM NUMBER OF PROMINENT FASCISTS AND WHITEWASHING CARDINALS, BISHOPS AND PRIESTS WHO WERE IMPLICATED IN ASSISTANCE TO HITLER AND THE GERMAN ARMY."

"THE VATICAN, CATHOLIC CHURCHES AND MONASTERIES HAVE BECOME REFUGES FOR PROMINENT FASCISTS," THE MAGAZINE ADDED.

BUDAPEST, JAN 18-(AP)-HUNGARY'S LEFT WING LEADERS TODAY FOR THE FIRST TIME PUBLICLY ADVOCATED RULE BY A LEFTIST MINORITY AND URGED THE MAJORITY SMALLHOLDERS PARTY TO "ABANDON ARITHMETICAL DELUSIONS."

ADDRESSING ROUGHLY 3,000 PERSONS AT A DEMONSTRATION, AND THE NATION BY RADIO, DEPUTY PRIME MINISTERS MATAS RAKOSI, COMMUNIST LEADER, AND ARPAD SZAKASITS, SOCIAL DEMOCRAT CHIEFTAIN, DECLARED ALL PERSONS INVOLVED IN AN ALLEGED COUNTER-REVOLUTIONARY PLOT WOULD BE "RUTHLESSLY" PUNISHED AND THAT THE SMALLHOLDERS PARTY "MUST PURGE ITSELF" OF "REACTIONARIES."

SMALLHOLDERS SAY THE INTENTION BEHIND THIS IS TO CUT THEIR MAJORITY IN HALF, THEREBY GIVING THE LEFTISTS THE CONTROL THEY FAILED TO ACCOMPLISH WITH BALLOTS.

SZAKASITS TOLD THE GATHERING "THE UNNATURAL ELECTORAL VICTORY" IN NOVEMBER, 1945, IN WHICH THE SMALLHOLDERS WON A 57 PERCENT MAJORITY IN PARLIAMENT "HAS CHANGED THE STRUCTURE OF THE SMALLHOLDERS PARTY. REACTIONARIES OF THE DIRTIEST NATURE FILL THE RANKS."

SZAKASITS SAID THE LEFTISTS WANTED "A HEALTHIER COALITION". SMALLHOLDERS CLAIM THIS MEANS A "LITTLE COALITION" DOMINATED BY COMMUNISTS AND SOCIAL DEMOCRATS.

A HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL SAID, MEANWHILE, THAT RAKOSI DECLARED WEDNESDAY AT AN INTER-PARTY MEETING THAT UNLESS SIX MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT ACCUSED OF COMPLICITY IN THE ALLEGED PLOT TO RETURN FORMER REGENT ADM.HORTHY TO POWER WERE NOT PROMPTLY ARRESTED, REGARDLESS OF IMMUNITY, SOVIET OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES WOULD INTERVENE. THIS OFFICIAL SAID ALL SIX HAVE BEEN CONFINED TO THEIR HOMES SINCE WEDNESDAY. ONE OTHER IS REPORTED IN HIDING.

SAIGON, JAN. 18-(AP)-(BY COURIER TO NEUTRAL TRANSMITTING STATION TO ESCAPE FRENCH CONTROL SCRUTINY)--A FOREIGN LEGION CAPTAIN TOLD OF FIGHTING VIET-MINH GUERRILLAS SUPPORTED BY JAPANESE AND GERMANS TODAY AND DECLARED THE FRENCH WOULD NEED 500,000 TROOPS TO SUBDUE ELUSIVE RESISTANCE IN INDOCHINA.

HIS PICTURE OF FIGHTING IN SOUTHERN INDOCHINA WHICH GRADUALLY HAS SPREAD FROM THE NORTH SINCE DEC. 19, WAS SUPPLEMENTED BY A VIET-MINH GUERRILLA CAPTAIN AND A YOUNG GIRL COURIER WHO WERE INTERVIEWED SEPARATELY IN A SMALL CAFE IN SAIGON'S NATIVE QUARTER.

THE VIET-MINH CAPTAIN SAID THE GUERRILLAS WERE WAGING A DESTRUCTION CAMPAIGN ON DIRECT ORDERS FROM HO CHI-MINH, LEADER OF THE VIET-MINH PARTY AND PRESIDENT OF THE VIET NAM REPUBLIC IN NORTHERN INDOCHINA.

HE SAID THE GUERRILLAS NOW ARE CONCENTRATING ON CUTTING RAIL LINES AND BURNING RUBBER PLANTATIONS AND "NEXT WE WILL BURN RICE CROPS ON FRENCH LAND--WE WILL LEAVE ONLY ENOUGH RICE FOR THE LOCAL POPULATION."

THE LEGION CAPTAIN WHO SPENT WEEKS FIGHTING GUERRILLAS SOUTH OF THE MEKONG RIVER SAID FRENCH OFFICIALS PROMISED TO HAVE 250,000 TROOPS IN THE COUNTRY BY JULY BUT "I THINK IT WOULD TAKE TWICE THAT."

THE OFFICER WHO COMMANDED A HEAVY WEAPONS COMPANY MADE UP MOSTLY OF PERSONNEL RECRUITED FROM GERMAN WAR PRISONERS, SAID HE PARTICIPATED IN ONE CLASH IN WHICH THE LEGION WAS UNDER FIRE FROM JAPANESE ON ONE SIDE OF THE ROAD AND GERMAN DESERTERS ON THE OTHER.

THE GERMAN DESERTERS CALLED OUT TO THEIR FORMER COMRADES BY NAME AND URGED THEM TO JOIN THE GUERRILLAS, THE OFFICER RELATED.

"THE FRENCH HOLD ONLY THE IMPORTANT PLACES" IN THE INTERIOR OF SOUTHERN INDOCHINA, HE ASSERTED. "THE GUERRILLAS HOLD THE COUNTRYSIDE. THE FRENCH CANNOT MOVE THROUGH THE COUNTRY ANYMORE EXCEPT IN ARMED CONVOY."

HE SAID HE HAD CONCLUDED THAT THE VIET-NAMESE ARMY ACTUALLY WAS BETTER ORGANIZED THAN THE FRENCH. HE SAID HE HAD SEEN CAPTURED GUERRILLA HEADQUARTERS EQUIPPED WITH EXCELLENT MILITARY MAPS, TYPEWRITERS AND OTHER EQUIPMENT. WHILE USUALLY SHORT OF AMMUNITION THEIR SUPPLIES ARE REPLENISHED BY DESERTING GERMAN LEGIONAIRES AND NATIVES WHO TAKE THEIR WEAPONS WITH THEM.

ONE LEGION REGIMENT OF 3,500 MEN LOST 300 KILLED AND 700 WOUNDED IN THE LAST YEAR, HE NARRATED. THE VIET-NAMESE USUALLY FADE INTO THE JUNGLE "SO THICK YOU CAN'T SEE ONE YARD AHEAD"--AFTER A SURPRISE ATTACK, HE SAID, AND "WHEN YOU CAN'T CATCH THEM YOU CAN'T KILL THEM."

THE VIET-MINH CAPTAIN HERE ON A SECRET MISSION SAID THE IMMEDIATE POLITICAL GOAL WAS UNION OF RICH COCHIN CHINA IN THE SOUTH WITH VIET NAM.

"WE DEMAND THAT THE FRENCH LIVE UP TO THEIR PROMISE OF A REFERENDUM HE EXPLAINED. "I AM CERTAIN 94 PER CENT OF THE COCHIN CHINESE WOULD VOTE FOR UNION."

THE GIRL COURIER SAID THE PEOPLE HAD BEEN POLITICALLY AWAKENED BY "OPPRESSION AND TAXES."

THE PRESENT PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF COCHIN CHINA, SHE SAID, LEVIED TAXES "ON EVERYTHING" AND THE LOCAL TAX COLLECTORS FREQUENTLY MEET SUDDEN DEATH.

A DAUGHTER OF A FORMER ANNAMITE OFFICIAL UNDER THE FRENCH AND ACCUSTOMED TO A SHELTERED LIFE, SHE NOW TRAVELS ON LONG JOURNEYS CARRYING MESSAGES.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, JAN. 18-(AP)-THE LARGEST NUMBER OF REPORTERS TO VISIT MOSCOW IN MANY A YEAR IS PLANNING TO GO THERE BY MARCH 10 TO COVER THE WORK OF THE BIG-FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS ON GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN PEACE SETTLEMENTS.

WHETHER ALL WILL BE ABLE TO GO DEPENDS ON WORD NOT YET RECEIVED BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT FROM THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT. THE RUSSIANS HAVE EXPLAINED THAT THEY HAVE EXTREMELY TIGHT HOUSING CONDITIONS IN THEIR CAPITAL. BUT AMERICAN OFFICIALS ARE EXPECTING ARRANGEMENTS TO BE MADE FOR A MAXIMUM NUMBER OF NEWSMEN, AND ARE HOPING FOR INFORMATION BY FEB. 1.

MEANWHILE, MICHAEL J.MCDERMOTT, STATE DEPARTMENT PRESS OFFICER, HAS RECEIVED INDICATIONS FROM MORE THAN 60 AMERICAN REPORTERS AND PHOTOGRAPHERS, IN THIS COUNTRY AND ABROAD, THAT THEY WANT TO COVER THE CONFERENCE.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THESE AND OTHERS WHO MAY STILL FILE APPLICATION TO GO, MCDERMOTT ISSUED THIS WEEK SUGGESTIONS ON HOW TO PROCEED AND WHAT TO EXPECT IN THE SOVIET CAPITAL.

ON THE BASIS OF INFORMATION PREVIOUSLY GATHERED BY AMERICAN VISITORS IN MOSCOW, HE HAS MADE IT CLEAR THAT WHILE THE NEWSMEN MAY GET A WARM WELCOME FROM THE RUSSIANS THEY WILL BE IN FOR A COLD AND FAIRLY EXPENSIVE TIME OF IT.

THE CONFERENCE IS SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 10 AND IN MARCH "WINTER STILL PERSISTS IN MOSCOW," THE STATE DEPARTMENT MILDLY REMINDS THE PROSPECTIVE TRAVELER. "A HEAVY WINTER OVERCOAT AND RUBBERS ARE A NECESSITY."

THE DEPARTMENT'S UNDERSTATEMENT LEAVES MUCH UNTOLD, ACCORDING TO PERSONS FAMILIAR WITH THE MOSCOW WINTER. LONG UNDERWEAR, FLANNEL PAJAMAS, HEAVY SUITS AND SHOES AND A FUR HAT WILL NOT BE OUT OF PLACE IN THE SUB-ZERO TEMPERATURES LIKELY TO PREVAIL.

AS FOR EXPENSE, COSTS HAVE TO BE FIGURED AT THE RATE OF 12 RUSSIAN RUBLES FOR $1. REGULAR DINNERS--FOR WHICH, AS AMERICAN RESTAURANTS SAY "THE PRICE OF THE ENTREE DETERMINES THE PRICE OF THE MEAL"--COST A MINIMUM OF 28 RUBLES, ABOUT $2.33. BUT FOR ONE WHO DINES IN A RESTAURANT AND ORDERS BY THE DISH, THE MINIMUM DINNER CHARGE WILL BE ABOUT 130 RUBLES, OR $10.84. TIPS WILL RUN ABOUT 10 PER CENT ADDITIONAL.

THE MINIMUM HOTEL COST FOR ROOM WITH BATH IS GIVEN AS 60 RUBLES A DAY, OR $5. THE PRICE GOES UP FROM THERE. FOREIGNERS IN MOSCOW USUALLY LIVE IN ONE OF THREE CENTRALLY LOCATED HOTELS, THE NATIONAL, SAVOY OR METROPOLE, THE LATTER ORDINARILY HOUSING NEWSPAPERMEN. A FOURTH MODERN HOTEL, THE MOSKOVA, ALSO MAY BE USED TO HOUSE FOREIGNERS DURING THE CONFERENCE.

THE BASIS OF RUSSIAN POLICY TOWARD THE PRESS WAS LAID DOWN BY FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV DURING THE CLOSING DAYS OF THE RECENT BIG-FOUR COUNCIL MEETING IN NEW YORK. HE TOLD SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES SUBSTANTIALLY:

"THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT WILL BE HAPPY TO SEE THE MINISTERS IN MOSCOW AND EVERYTHING WILL BE DONE IN SPITE OF THE HOUSING DIFFICULTIES TO ACCOMMODATE THE CORRESPONDENTS AND TO CREATE THE MOST FAVORABLE CONDITIONS FOR THEIR WORK.

"THEY WILL BE ABLE TO REPORT FROM MOSCOW ON THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONFERENCE AS THEY REPORTED IN PARIS AND NEW YORK."

OFFICIALS REGARD THAT AS MEANING (1) THAT DIPLOMATS PRESENT IN EACH COUNCIL MEETING WILL REPORT THE PROCEEDINGS TO THE PRESS AS IN PARIS AND NEW YORK AND (2) THAT DISPATCHES WILL BE ALLOWED TO GO OUT OF MOSCOW WITHOUT CENSORSHIP AND OVER FACILITIES ADEQUATE TO HANDLE MANY THOUSANDS OF WORDS PER DAY.

MCDERMOTT HAS INSTRUCTED CORRESPONDENTS INTENDING TO MAKE THE TRIP TO FILE VISA APPLICATIONS--THAT IS, REQUESTS FOR ENTRY PERMITS--AT THE NEAREST SOVIET CONSULATE. HE HAS ASKED ALSO THAT HE BE ADVISED WHEN THIS IS DONE AND LATER BE INFORMED OF ACTION--APPROVED OR DISAPPROVED--TAKEN BY THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT.

ON THE BASIS OF THIS INFORMATION MCDERMOTT WILL THEN ADVISE THE SOVIET EMBASSY HERE EXACTLY HOW MANY REPRESENTATIVES OF THE AMERICAN PRESS WILL NEED CONFERENCE CREDENTIALS. THE QUESTION OF RADIO REPORTERS GOING OVER TO MAKE DIRECT VOICE BROADCASTS BACK TO THE UNITED STATES IS STILL UP IN THE AIR. AT PRESENT THE RUSSIANS DO NOT ALLOW SUCH BROADCASTS.

A129WX

SOME NEWSMEN ARE ARRANGING TO SAIL FROM NEW YORK ON THE SWEDISH LINER GRIPSHOLM ON FEB. 14 AND JOURNEY FROM STOCKHOLM TO MOSCOW MAINLY BY TRAIN. OTHERS MAY FLY THERE EITHER IN SWEDISH, RUSSIAN OR AMERICAN PLANES OR SOME COMBINATION. THE STATE DEPARTMENT HAS ASKED WHETHER THE RUSSIANS WOULD OBJECT TO AMERICAN PLANES FLYING GROUPS OF CORRESPONDENTS DIRECTLY FROM THE UNITED STATES OR FROM BERLIN. ROUNDTRIP COMMERCIAL AIR RATES ARE MORE THAN $1,000 PER PASSENGER.

ONCE IN MOSCOW THE AVERAGE CORRESPONDENT, JUDGING BY STATE DEPARTMENT INFORMATION, WILL FIND A VARIETY OF NEW EXPERIENCES AWAITING HIM IN ADDITION TO THE LANGUAGE AND THE WEATHER.

HE MAY GET A HAIRCUT IN A HOTEL BARBERSHOP FOR ABOUT 2 RUBLES BUT SHOULD TIP 5 TO 10 RUBLES. HE CAN RIDE ON A BUS, STREETCAR OR SUBWAY FOR ABOUT .20 RUBLES AND THE SUBWAY IS SAID TO BE ONE OF THE BEST ANYWHERE. TAXIS WILL BE DIFFICULT TO OBTAIN. THE HOTELS WILL PROVIDE LAUNDRY AND PRESSING SERVICES BUT PROBABLY NO DRY CLEANING.

WASHINGTON,JAN.18-(AP)-SECRETARY OF WAR PATTERSON SAID TONIGHT THAT THE ARMY'S DECISION ON WHETHER TO ASK FOR EXTENSION OF THE DRAFT WILL DEPEND ON THIS MONTH'S RECRUITING FIGURES AND HE IS "NOT SANGUINE ABOUT THE RESULTS."

A RECOMMENDATION WILL BE MADE EARLY IN FEBRUARY.

THE SECRETARY, IN AN INTERVIEW ON NBC'S UNIVERSITY OF THE AIR BROADCAST, SAID HIS OWN PREFERENCE WOULD BE AN ARMY OF VOLUNTEERS. DRAFT EXTENSION WILL NOT BE RECOMMENDED HE ADDED, "IF WE CAN SEE ANY OTHER WAY OF GETTING THE MEN WE NEED."

"WE ARE NOT GETTING" THE 37,000 ENLISTMENTS MONTHLY NEEDED TO MEET THE ARMY'S MANPOWER GOAL OF 1,070,000 MEN FOR THIS YEAR, HE SAID.

THE SECRETARY, ON THE GENERAL THEME OF "THE STATE OF OUR DEFENSES," MADE THESE OTHER POINTS:

1--"MY PERSONAL OPINION IS THAT OCCUPATION (OF FORMER ENEMY LAND) WILL CONTINUE FOR LONG TIME."

2--"WE CANNOT OCCUPY GERMANY AND JAPAN WITH ATOMIC BOMBS OR GUIDED MISSILES," SO THE NEW SCIENTIFIC WEAPONS HAVE NOT ELIMINATED THE NEED FOR BIG FORCES.

3--FURTHER, ALONG THAT LINE, "MODERN WAR, BECAUSE OF THE WEAPONS USED AND THE DISTANCES INVOLVED, DISPERSES THE FIGHTING FORCES, SO THAT LARGE NUMBERS OF TROOPS ARE NEEDED IN MORE PLACES."

4--ASSERTIONS THAT THE ARMY IS STIFLING SCIENTIFIC DEVELOPMENT ARE "NONSENSE;" THE ARMY WOULD WELCOME A NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION AND WOULD "WILLINGLY TRANSFER TO IT SUCH FUNDAMENTAL RESEARCH CONTRACTS AS THE WAR DEPARTMENT NOW SUPPORTS; THE SERVICE HAS ALWAYS FAVORED POSTWAR CIVILIAN DEVELOPMENT OF ATOMIC ENERGY.

5--THE NATION NEEDS UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING PART BECAUSE AGE, DEATH AND OTHER FACTORS TAKE AWAY EACH YEAR A MILLION AND A HALF OF THE TRAINED WAR VETERANS.

6--TEN YEARS OF UNIVERSAL TRAINING WOULD NOT MAKE AVAILABLE AS MANY MEN AS WERE IN THE ARMY DURING WORLD WAR II.

7--"ALL THE WATER HAS BEEN SQUEEZED OUT" OF THE ARMY'S $6,700,000,000 BUDGET FOR THE NEXT FISCAL YEAR "AND IF WE GET ANOTHER SUBSTANTIAL SQUEEZE WE WILL BE UNABLE TO CARRY OUT OUR TASKS."

8--ANY DISARMING THIS NATION DOES WITHOUT AN EQUIVALENT CONCESSION BY OTHER NATIONS "IS NOT THE KIND OF DISARMAMENT THAT WILL LEAD TO PEACE."

9--THE PROSPECTS FOR LASTING PEACE THROUGH THE UNITED NATIONS ARE "GOOD."

ALTHOUGH THERE HAVE BEEN STRONG INDICATIONS THAT NO EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO CONTINUE THE DRAFT BEYOND ITS PRESENT EXPIRATION DATE ON MARCH 31, A FINAL DECISION WILL BE MADE AT THE PENTAGON AND SENT TO CONGRESS.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S BUDGET MESSAGE NOTED THAT HE WAS TRANSMITTING NO ESTIMATE FOR SELECTIVE SERVICE BECAUSE OF THE IMPENDING EXPIRATION DEADLINE.

APPROPRIATIONS COULD BE VOTED, HOWEVER, SHOULD THE ADMINISTRATION AND CONGRESS DEEM EXTENSION NECESSARY.

PATTERSON TOLD REPORTERS THE ARMY HAD MADE NO DRAFT CALLS IN RECENT MONTHS BECAUSE IT WAS UP TO SCHEDULED STRENGTH, NOW ABOUT 1,300,000.

RECRUITING FIGURES ARE BEING WATCHED CLOSELY. THE SECRETARY SAID THE PRESENT WEEKLY RATE OF RECRUITING INDICATES A TOTAL OF ABOUT 26,000 FOR THIS MONTH, WHICH WOULD BE SHORT OF THE GOAL OF APPROXIMATELY 37,000.

THE CRITICAL POINT IN ARMY STRENGTH AND IN THE RECRUITING CAMPAIGN, SAID PATTERSON, WILL BE REACHED NEXT SPRING AND SUMMER. THEN THE ONE AND THE ONE AND ONE HALF YEAR ENLISTMENTS UNDER WHICH MEN SIGNED UP AFTER THE WAR WILL EXPIRE. THE NUMBER OF THOSE WHO RE-ENLIST WILL BE A MAJOR FACTOR IN THE ARMY'S MANPOWER SITUATION.

PHILADELPHIA,JAN 18-(AP)-ATOMIC ENERGY "HAS CREATED MANY PROBLEMS AND HAS DIRECTLY SOLVED NONE," REAR ADMIRAL WILLIAM S.PARSONS, NAVY DIRECTOR OF ATOMIC DEFENSE, DECLARED TODAY, AT THE SAME TIME EXPRESSING BELIEF THAT "MAN WILL BE INSPIRED TO SOLVE THEM."

"IT IS ALMOST CERTAIN," THE ADMIRAL SAID AT A FOUNDER'S DAY LUNCHEON AT THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA, "THAT A MAJOR WAR IN THE FUTURE WILL END WITH ONE OR BOTH SIDES USING ATOMIC BOMBS."

"THEREFORE," HE ADDED, "IT IS NECESSARY IN ORDER TO PLAN FOR THIS CONTINGENCY TO DETERMINE THE EFFECT OF ATOMIC BOMBS ON MILITARY AND NAVAL EQUIPMENT AND TACTICS."

THE OPERATIONS CROSSROADS BOMB BLASTS AT BIKINI GAVE AMERICAN MILITARISTS AND SCIENTISTS "INFORMATION OF GREAT VALUE," HE SAID NOTING THAT "THE RESULTS OF TEST BAKER (THE SURFACE TEST) DEMONSTRATED CONCLUSIVELY THAT THE ATOMIC BOMB IS NOT ONLY A MOST TERRIBLE BLAST INSTRUMENT BUT, DETONATED UNDER WATER, IT IS ALSO AN EXTREMELY POWERFUL SPREADER OF RADIOACTIVE POISON."

ADM.PARSONS SAID THAT MANY PERSONS HAVE RECEIVED "DANGEROUS" IMPLICATIONS FROM PURPORTED DISCUSSIONS OF THE ATOM BOMB AND LISTED THREE GENERAL STATEMENTS WHICH HE SAID SHOULD BE KEPT IN MIND WHEN ANALYZING THE ATOMIC AGE. HE NAMED THESE AS:

1. "IN THE ATOMIC ENERGY FIELD IT IS NOT THE ATOM THAT MAY GET OUT OF CONTROL, IT IS THE HUMAN. THE SCIENTISTS AND STATESMEN OF THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION HAVE CONCLUDED THAT INTERNATIONAL CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY IS TECHNOLOGICALLY FEASIBLE. TO TRANSLATE THIS TECHNICAL POSSIBILITY INTO AN ACTUAL FACT WILL REQUIRE TEAMWORK OF SEVERAL GENERATIONS OF THE WORLD'S MOST BRILLIANT SCIENTISTS AND STATESMAN, INCLUDING MILITARY STATESMEN."

2. "ATOMIC ENERGY WILL BE A GREAT BOON TO HUMANITY BY PROVIDING CHEAP SOURCES OF POWER. EVENTUALLY THIS WILL BE TRUE IN AREAS WHERE COAL AND WATER POWER ARE SCARCE, BUT IT WILL TAKE AT LEAST FIVE YEARS AND PROBABLY MORE TO DO THE ATOMIC ENGINEERING."

3. "RADIOACTIVE MATERIALS AVAILABLE IN THE ATOMIC AGE WILL BE OF IMMENSE BENEFIT TO SCIENCE, PARTICULARLY MEDICAL SCIENCE."

NEW YORK, JAN 18-(AP)-SECRETARY OF COMMERCE W.AVERELL HARRIMAN SAYS THAT BOTH PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL AND PREMIER STALIN URGED THE APPOINTMENT OF GEN.GEORGE C.MARSHALL TO LEAD THE INVASION OF WESTERN EUROPE BUT THAT THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT CAME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT THE THEN CHIEF OF STAFF "COULD NOT BE SPARED FROM HIS POST IN WASHINGTON."

HARRIMAN ALSO TOLD THE NATIONAL PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION LAST NIGHT THAT WARTIME REPORTS OF FRICTION BETWEEN CHURCHILL AND MARSHALL, SOON TO JOIN PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S CABINET AS SECRETARY OF STATE, WAS ONE OF THOSE "LEGENDS WHICH WERE STARTED DURING THE WAR ON WHICH FULL INFORMATION HAS NOT BEEN GIVEN."

CHURCHILL HELD FOR GENERAL MARSHALL," HE ADDED. "FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE I KNOW OF THE HIGH REGARD THAT MR.

INFORMATION HAS NOT BEEN GIVEN."

"FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE I KNOW OF THE HIGH REGARD THAT MR. CHURCHILL HELD FOR GENERAL MARSHALL," HE ADDED. "OF COURSE, THERE WERE DIFFERENCES OF OPINION BETWEEN MR.CHURCHILL AND GENERAL MARSHALL AS TO THE WISEST STRATEGY IN THE CONDUCT OF THE WAR. THESE WERE HONEST DIFFERENCES AS TO HOW VICTORY COULD BEST BE ASSURED."

"I WAS AT TEHERAN AND ATTENDED THE DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, CHURCHILL AND STALIN," HARRIMAN SAID.

"IT WAS AT THIS MEETING THAT AN AGREEMENT WAS ARRIVED AT FOR THE INVASION OF FRANCE IN THE FOLLOWING SPRING, TO BE SUPPORTED BY A STRONG ATTACK BY THE RUSSIANS FROM THE EAST.

"IN THE DISCUSSIONS REGARDING THE SELECTION OF A SUPREME COMMANDER, MR.CHURCHILL URGED THE PRESIDENT TO APPOINT GENERAL MARSHALL TO THAT POSITION. HE HAD GREAT CONFIDENCE IN GENERAL MARSHAL'S ABILITIES AND HE KNEW THE BRITISH PEOPLE SHARED THIS CONFIDENCE.

"STALIN ALSO ADVOCATED THE APPOINTMENT OF GENERAL MARSHAL. IT WAS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WHO HESITATED. THE PRESIDENT WAS FACED WITH A DIFFICULT DECISION. IT WAS A QUESTION OF WHERE GENERAL MARSHAL COULD BE OF THE GREATEST SERVICE--IN WASHINGTON OR IN EUROPE.

"AFTER WEIGHING ALL THE FACTORS, THE PRESIDENT CAME TO THE CONCLUSION THAT GENERAL MARSHALL COULD NOT BE SPARED FROM HIS POST IN WASHINGTON. IN REACHING THIS DECISION THERE CAN BE NO DOUBT THAT THE PRESIDENT'S CONFIDENCE IN GENERAL EISENHOWER PLAYED AN IMPORTANT PART.

"GENERAL EISENHOWER'S APPOINTMENT WAS WARMLY ACCEPTED BY BOTH CHURCHILL AND STALIN. I RECALL STALIN'S IMMEDIATE REACTION. HE REPLIED THAT HE WELCOMED THE APPOINTMENT OF GENERAL EISENHOWER, THAT EISENHOWER WAS EXPERIENCED IN DIRECTING LARGE FORCES IN COMBAT AND IN AMPHIBIOUS WARFARE.

"AMONG THE PRESIDENT'S ADVISORS I KNOW OF NO ONE WHO DID NOT APPLAUD THE PRESIDENT'S DECISION TO KEEP GENERAL MARSHALL IN HIS VITAL POSITION IN WASHINGTON."

BRITISH DENY PACT DROPPED

1947

Unusual Reply To Pravda Article Sent To Stalin

Wm E. Macklin

London, Jan. 19 (AP)—Britain formally denied tonight that she had repudiated her 20-year treaty of alliance with Russia, as charged by Pravda.

The Government sent word to Generalissimo Stalin that it considered Pravda's assertions "most misleading," and served notice that Britain does not consider that the United Nations has superseded the treaty signed in 1942.

Pravda, in an article Wednesday, had cited Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's December 22 statement that Britain "does not tie herself to anybody." The Communist paper said it was obvious that Bevin was "repudiating the Anglo-Soviet treaty of mutual aid."

Such Replies Rare

The reply was rare for the Foreign Office, which usually does not respond on diplomatic level to comments in foreign newspapers. It instructed the British Ambassador in Moscow, Sir Maurice Peterson, to convey to Stalin a statement saying:

"The fact that both governments wish to make the United Nations organization into an effective buttress of international security does not mean that the treaty lapses merely bec[illegible]nited Nations organization [illegible]ne into being.

"Moreove[illegible] security agreements have yet been adopted under Article 43 of the Charter such as could possibly be held to justify its supersession."

Text Of Statement

The text of the British statement:

"His Majesty's Ambassador in Moscow has been instructed to communicate to Generalissimo Stalin the following statement of the views of his Majesty's Government regarding an article which was published in Pravda on January 15:

"His Majesty's Government were surprised at a suggestion which was elaborated in the most misleading manner by Pravda in an article of January 15 that the Anglo-Soviet treaty of alliance and postwar collaboration might be regarded in London as superseded by the United Nations Organization.

"The Foreign Secretary on behalf of his Majesty's Government has several times urged an extention of the treaty and has expressed regret that his Majesty's Government's proposals to this effect have not found acceptance by the Soviet Government. His Majesty's Government's attitude has not changed and it has never occurred to them to consider that the treaty could have been superseded or suspended.

To Remain In Force

"Article IV of the treaty binds both countries to come to each other's assistance in the event of renewed aggression by Germany, and the text states that this article is to remain in force until both parties agree to supersede it. This seems to be perfectly clear and satisfactory.

"The fact that both governments wish to make the United Nations organization into an effective buttress of international security, does not mean that the treaty lapses merely because United Nations organization has come into being. Moreover no security agreements have yet been adopted under Article 43 of the charter such as could possibly be held to justify its supersession.

"Pravda also quoted Mr. Bevin's broadcast of December 22 as evidence that in his view the alliance was dead. There is no question of this. The broadcast was intended to show that Britain's foreign policy was not aligned in an anti-Soviet direction but on the contrary favored co-operation among all the United Nations and especially with Soviet Russia and the United States of America with the object of preserving peace and aiding reconstruction.

"Mr. Bevin's words that Great Britain 'does not tie herself to anybody except in regard to her obligations under the charter' were quoted by Pravda on January 15 out of their context, for he had just explained that he was answering the allegations that British relations with Soviet Russia were not so close as they should be and he went on to express his Majesty's Government's great desire for complete understanding and their readiness to co-operate with the Soviet Union.

"The logical conclusion of Pravda's interpretation of Mr. Bevin's remarks would be that all treaties and agreements between states are automatically superseded by the existence of United Nations organization, which would obviously be absurd."

Austria War Role Under Discussion

London, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers' deputies, ready to begin the writing of the preamble to the Austrian peace treaty, were reported today to be in some disagreement over how much of the responsibility for origin and conduct of the war should be attached to that country.

In preliminary discussions the deputies agreed broadly that the preamble should neither "praise nor blame" Austria, should note that in the war Austria was dominated by Germany, and that Austria is now regarded as a liberated country.

The disagreement arose over precise phrasing of the "no praise or blame" formula. It was apparent that the Russians, who had been up against Austrian divisions on the Eastern Front, were more disposed to pin responsibility upon the Austrians than were the western Allies.

While the Russian attitude was not elaborated there was some feeling among the Soviet negotiators that Austria was to some degree tainted by war guilt.

The deputies will continue to work this week on both the German and Austrian treaties. Their recommendations will be presented to the Big Four foreign ministers when they convene in Moscow beginning March 10.

Terrorism Condemned By British Jewish Board

London, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Board of Deputies of British Jews today expressed "unqualified abhorrence and condemnation of acts of terrorism by irresponsible groups" in Palestine.

A resolution adopted by Britain's largest Jewish organization said "much sympathy has been lost by the violent and fanatical acts, deeds of men crazed by the sufferings and slaughter of their nearest and dearest and by the obstacles put in the paths of their surviving relatives to join them in Palestine.

"But when all that is said, their acts are criminal and must be condemned without question."

FRENCH COALITION MEETS NEW SNAG

Ramadier, Attempting to Form Cabinet, Gets Proposal from MRP.

PARIS, Jan. 19—(AP) Premier-Designate Paul Ramadier accepted formally tonight the task of attempting to form a new French cabinet, but a new move by Georges Bidault's Popular Republican Movement (MRP) left the ultimate success of his mission in doubt.

Ramadier's acceptance of the premiership offered to him two days ago by President Vincent Auriol indicated the Socialist leader felt he could form a coalition government which would include the Communists, Socialists, MRP, Radical Socialists and Rightist Parties.

To assure Communist support Ramadier last night announced his intention of naming a Communist to the post of minister of national defense, a portfolio the Communists have demanded.

An MRP spokesman said tonight, however, that the MRP had submitted a counter-proposal to Ramadier which would divide defense functions between a minister of armaments, who would be a Communist, and a minister of the army, who would be a member of some other party.

In disclosing this proposal, the MRP spokesman said he doubted if Ramadier would accept it, which might thwart his efforts to weld all parties into a coalition.

FRENCH OPEN NEW ATTACKS IN INDO-CHINA

Land And Sea Operations Launched To Gain Capital Of Annam

Paris, Jan. 19 (AP)—An official announcement today said that French forces yesterday launched land and sea operations aimed at wresting Hue, capital of Annam province, from the Viet Nam forces.

During the day French ground forces were reported to have advanced more than 15 miles from the naval base of Tourane, 50 miles southeast of Hue on the east coast of Indo-China, meeting little resistance.

A French press agency dispatch from Tourane said French casualties were "extremely light."

Subjected To Attacks

Elements of the French Foreign Legion and of the 23d Regiment of Colonial Infantry were reported to have occupied many localities after crossing the Namo River, between Tourane and Hue.

Previous dispatches said that the situation in Hue itself was "difficult without being tragic."

The French press agency said the entire French population of the town was gathered in a small triangular area southeast of the imperial citadel under the protection of a French battalion. This small French garrison was reported to have been subjected constantly to attacks by Viet Nam units numbering as many as 5,000 men, supported by shelling from two Viet Nam guns.

Empress Is At A Mission

The Empress of Annam was reported to have taken refuge in the Canadian Redemptorist Mission which was reached by French forces some days ago.

A Viet Nam broadcast heard today in Manila said the northeast corner of embattled Hanoi, capital of northern Indo-China, was under complete Viet Nam control. The broadcast said that section of the capital had been evacuated last Wednesday under an agreement between Yuan Tse-chien, Chinese consul, and Viet Nam military authorities. Fierce fighting was reported between French and Viet Nam forces in the Nag Tu So district of Hanoi and at a French outpost at the village of Cay Che, near Haiphong.

French Cruiser Arrives

The French press agency reported from Hanoi that no news had reached French authorities regarding the fate of some 200 French hostages, held by the Viet Nam since December 19.

The arrival in Indo-China of the French cruiser Duquesne, carrying elements of the 25th Airborne Division and war material, was reported.

The Colonial Ministry denied that the French Cabinet had decided to recall Admiral Georges Thierry d'Argenlieu, French High Commissioner in Indo-China. The statement said that no decision concerning policies in Indo-China could be taken before a new government has succeeded that of interim Premier Leon Blum.

Coal Allocation Slashed For British Steel Mills

London, Monday, Jan. 20 (AP)—An official of the British Iron and Steel Federation said today that coal allocations for the steel industry would be cut 25 per cent immediately as a result of Britain's critical coal shortage.

The Government previously had announced a cut in nonpriority industry coal allocations of 50 per cent effective today, but the slash to iron and steel plants came as a surprise to the industry, aiming at a record steel production of 13,500,000 tons this year.

Stating the 25 per cent coal cut "will have a most serious effect on the industry," the Federation spokesman predicted several steel factories would have to cut their work week. Some observers estimated that the cut might reduce steel output by 1,000,000 tons in 1947.

Government coal board officials have said the British fuel situation will be critical for at least another six to eight weeks. No further reduction in rations for household use is contemplated, however.

Automobile plants are expected to be among the hardest hit by the steel production slump, but the Federation spokesman said the cut would have "serious repercussions on scores of industries which depend upon steel."

BERLIN BALL ENDS AT DAWN

Allied Control Council Hosts At Lavish Event

Berlin, Jan. 19 (AP)—Berlin's most lavish ball since the war ended at dawn today when 750 guests from 14 Allied nations went home through the ruins of this once-proud city. It was the second annual Allied Control Council ball.

Generals and diplomats and their ladies, resplendent in furs and jewels, danced to the music of six bands and watched such varied entertainment as Scottish bagpipers, Ukrainian dancers, French music hall stars and an American concert pianist: Julius Katchen, of Long Beach, N.J. Toasts were exchanged in vodka, champagne, British gin and American whisky.

Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, American and British occupation chiefs, and Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Russian commander of Berlin, were among the ranking guests.

Relief Parcels Reach Berlin

BERLIN, Jan. 19 (AP).—For the first time since the Allied occupation began, Berliners this week end received gift relief packages by parcel post from the United States and other foreign countries. This service was extended Wednesday to Berlin and the Soviet occupation zone, thus becoming country-wide.

German Unity Party Decries Zone Merger

Berlin, Jan. 19 (AP)—Officials of the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party (S.E.D.) declared today that the Russian occupation zone of Germany was not ready to join the economic merger of the American and British zones but preferred holding out for "complete unity" of the country.

Otto Grotewohl, cochairman of S.E.D., addressing the Saxon state assembly in Dresden, said that the Soviet zone regarded the bizonal merger in the West as "not conductive to the strengthening of German unity."

Grotewohl and other party leaders criticized the political and economic administration of the Western zones and claimed that they were far behind the Soviet zone in "progress on democratization."

Horthy Ridicules Revolt Plot Charge

WEILHEIM, Germany, Jan. 19—(AP) Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Hungary's proud regent for 24 years, described himself yesterday as a political recluse and a financial pauper.

Ending the postwar silence imposed on him until now by authorities of the American occupation zone, the 79-year-old former chief of state said Communist allegations in Hungary of a plot to restore a Horthyist regime were "a stupidity."

Hungarian anti-Communists have declared the Communist allegations were for the purpose of forcing a purge of Parliament members belonging to the predominant small landholders party.

The ex-regent, sitting on a threadbare sofa in a cubbyhole village parlor, smiled wryly at Hungarian rumors that he was living luxuriously in a Bavarian castle secretly given him by Hitler.

Berlin Has Little City In Gas Tank

Berlin, Jan. 19 (AP)—Down by the gas works in Berlin is a thriving little city concealed under a high dome of bomb-twisted steel.

One of the city's big gas storage tanks (called gasometers here), put out of business in the war, has become a transient hotel for 600 refugees, a charity home for 60 old people, a community kitchen for 3,000 outsiders and a school for children.

Families of six persons, not counting babies, sleep in three-tiered bunks in the 6-by-9-feet cubicles they call home and where they spend their leisure hours.

Most Of Women Are Widows

Most of the women residents are widows. With their children they have come from Germany's eastern territory now occupied by Poland.

Despite the miseries of their collective past, the inhabitants of the gasometer are not too downhearted about the future. Cheerfully they point out that their shelter is better heated than most homes in Berlin, and they don't have to worry about repairing broken window panes, because there aren't any windows in their cubicles, anyhow.

Each day the interior is plunged into darkness for several hours when the electricity for the surrounding district is shut off to save coal. But the gasometer folk are stoical about that, too. They say they got used to blackouts during the war.

May Be Home For Years

Berlin newspapers show a certain pride in the ingenuity which made the wrecked gas container habitable. An article in Der Telegraf told of how the children held their recent holiday celebrations there with quite as much enthusiasm as in better days.

Public health authorities, surveying the vast problem of rebuilding the wrecked city, look for the gas tank to continue as a home for the homeless for years to come.

Polish Voting Marked By Open Intimidation

1947

Eight Killed—Organizers Threaten Penalties For Ballots Against Government Bloc

Larry Allen

Warsaw, Poland, Jan. 19 (AP)—Polish voters chose their first post-war Parliament today in an election lacking in secrecy and marked by intimidation of the opposition to the Communist-supported Government bloc.

At least eight persons were killed in election-day violence, initial reports said tonight.

Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, leader of the opposition Polish Peasant (PSL) party, said tonight he would decide within a few days whether he would resign from the Government if the bloc parties scored an overwhelming victory.

Little Doubt Of Result

There seemed little doubt that the bloc would win, but Mikolajczyk clung to the hope that the PSL would be victorious if the votes were legally cast and counted.

The counting began tonight. Although official results will not be disclosed until January 31, scattered returns indicative of the election trend are expected to be announced tomorrow.

[Reports received in London from the Soviet news agency Tass on first unofficial returns from three election districts in the towns of Rogow, Kanew and Niemodlin, claimed a 100 per cent vote for the Government bloc. The Tass report, distributed by the Soviet radio monitor in London, said reports from all parts of Poland indicated the election had been held "in an atmosphere of perfect order and peace."]

Bloc organizers in cities throughout Poland, working in groups of three, went from house to house, rounded up the voters and led them to the polls. Many voters said they were told that unless they voted for the bloc candidates they would face loss of jobs, their homes, or even imprisonment.

Soldiers Killed In Clash

Reports of violence followed on the heels of the balloting. Seven Polish soldiers were killed in a clash with anti-Government underground bands at Vamosc, near Lublin. Another band of 40 tried to attack voting precincts but was driven off by militiamen. One member of the Workers party was killed by the underground in southeastern Poland.

Mikolajczyk said agitators among the bloc parties had spread reports that he was dead or was going to be arrested. He declared he did not expect arrest because there was "no reason" for the Government to take such a step.

He said he and ministers belonging to his party might step out when the election results were definitely known, but that his course of action remained to be determined.

Earlier Mikolajczyk had been jeered and booed by crowds when he emerged from the Warsaw precinct where he had voted. Militiamen broke up demonstrators who shouded "Down with Mikolajczyk" and "We don't want American and British ambassadors here."

He shook his head when asked for a prediction of the election outcome and said the voting "should have been secret."

Mild weather prevailed over most of the nation. Any hope that Mikolajczyk had for winning any sizable chunk of the 444 parliamentary seats at stake hinged on the turnout in the rural areas and whether the farmers would be permitted to vote their convictions.

Most Of Eligibles Appear

The voting was reported heavy in both cities and rural districts, and it appeared that most of the 12,000,000 eligible citizens appeared at the voting places between the hours of 7 A.M. and 7 P.M. The election came two days after the second anniversary of Warsaw's fall to the Russian Army.

The American and British embassies sent members of their staff to various parts of the country to watch the balloting. Both nations had made repeated protests to the Government against alleged anti-democratic handling of the opposition.

No. 3 On Bloc Ballot

Most of the voters who crowded into the nation's 6,726 precincts held in their hand a small white slip of paper—their ballot—bearing the number 3. That was the figure assigned to the bloc-list candidates on a uniform basis throughout the nation, compared with the figures 1, 4 and 5 assigned to the PSL.

Most Poles got their numbered slips from pro-government newspapers or bloc organizers who marshalled the voters under the shadow of rifles of 100,000 volunteer militiamen, supported by regular militia, soldiers and security police.

In the polling places the voters were identified at a table. They walked a few steps to a ballot box. In most cases an official of the election commission held open a blue envelope in which voters placed the numbered ballot. It was then dropped unsealed into a ballot box. In some precincts the envelops were handed to the voters, who inserted the ballot. Those who tried to seal the ballots were prevented from doing so by election officials.

Informed By Display Of Number

In a majority of instances election commissions were informed of how a person voted by display of the number 3 before it was placed in an envelope. Some voters, however, folded their numbered slips. There were no booths for secret voting.

President Boleslaw Bierut voted at the Mokotow district of Warsaw where he and a majority of members of the Government reside. Wladislaw Gomulka, head of the Communist-backed Workers' party, also voted there. He was greeted with cries of "Long live Gomulka."

Mikolajczyk appeared at the precinct at noon, but while other members of the Government were escorted up the stairway to cast their ballots he was wedged in a jostling mass of voters who booed him and shouted "Down with Mikolajczyk."

In Line 2½ Hours

He stood in line for 2½ hours and finally cast his ballot amid a dead silence of the throng before the ballot box.

Mikolajczyk literally fought his way down the stairway to the street. Men, women and children booed him when he entered his car.

There were no PSL watchers at the polls in Warsaw. Outside the 183 precincts white-and-red-flagged trucks, loaded with members of the Communist-backed fighting youth organization, cruised the streets. Demonstrators shouted "Mikolajchyk into the ashcan."

The PSL said it had about 100 watchers at the polls in the rural districts. Voters there appeared to be able to exercise more secrecy in casting their ballots and were able to vote with more freedom.

Army Votes In Garrison

The nation's armed forces voted mostly in garrisons. The army had actively propagandized on behalf of the bloc parties. Members of the high command, including Marshal Mihail Rola-Zymierski, were parliamentary candidates.

Kazimiers Bzowski, General Commissioner of Elections, asserted many of the people voted openly in protest against underground bands which had killed more than 100 election officials and militamen in recent days. He contended that secrecy of the ballot was preserved by placing it in the envelope.

Bishop Of Pola Said To Be Held By 'Slavs'

Rome, Jan. 19 (AP)—Ansa, Italian news agency, reported today that "Slav police" had arrested Catholic Bishop Raffaele Radossi of Pola, last Wednesday night at the Dignano road block north of Pola and had taken him to Fiume. The agency gave no further details.

Pola is near the tip of the Istrian peninsula in territory that is to go to Yugoslavia under the new peace treaty.

Rome Goodwill Meeting Is Broken Up By Riot

Rome, Jan. 19 (AP)—Police today broke up an hour-long riot of some 1,000 former Fascists and anti-Fascists who had met on the campus of Rome University for a forget-and-forgive ceremony. Ten persons were injured.

The gathering was the latest in a series of Sunday goodwill meetings at which the two extremes in Italian politics have tried to forget their differences for the good of the country.

An eye-witness reported that today's trouble started when a heckler interrupted the first speaker, a former Fascist. A fist fight developed between the heckler and the speaker's supporters, spreading throughout the crowd.

Wheat Ships Diverted In Mid-Ocean To Italy

Rome, Jan. 19 (AP)—United States wheat ships steamed toward Italian ports tonight after having their destinations changed while in the mid-Atlantic to cope with Italian hunger.

The Allied Commission announced that as of January 12, Italy had a 33-day supply of basic cereals "if these can be distributed to deficiency areas," chiefly in southern Italy. Transport is scarce because fuel is short.

Changes To Be Made In Listing Of Popes

Vatican City, Jan. 19 (AP)—Some new names will appear in the list of the Popes published in this year's Vatican Annual and some may disappear.

The Annual's editor, Angelo Mercati, explained in the Vatican Organ, L'Osservatore Romano, that historical research had disclosed that the list which has appeared for the last 40 years contained serious errors.

The second successor to Saint Peter, Mercati said, was listed twice, as "Cleto" and "Anacleto." Besides, he stated, some pretenders to the papacy, such as Felice II, Alessandro V, and Giovanni XXIII, were accepted as legitimate Pontiffs, and there is also a "Dono I" whose existence is disputed.

Some M.P.'s Believed Aboard

The mine presumably had eluded sweepers since the war. Mines off the coast of adjoining Albania damaged two British destroyers and killed 44 sailors last October, provoking a British complaint to the United Nations Security Council.

The Chimarra, formerly the German ship Herta which was awarded to Greece after the war, sailed from Salonika Saturday morning for the Athens port of Piraeus and struck the mine a few miles offshore from Rafina, which is fifteen miles due east of Athens on the opposite side of the coast of the Attica Peninsula. The disaster occurred near the Island of Kavaliani, south of Chalkis.

The Marine Ministry said some members of Parliament might have been aboard and lost, because Parliament reassembles tomorrow.

Packed "Like Sardines"

Swarms of people tried to force their way to the deck as the ship listed heavily to port immediately after the blast. Survivors among the first 38 reaching Athens late this afternoon said the ship had been packed "like sardines." They told of screams of horror from men, women and children while the ship lurched crazily before plunging downward.

Scores plunged into the frigid waters; others were trapped below deck. The cold and exposure apparently killed many and a heavy wind from shore drove back some trying to reach land.

400 Drown as Greek Ship Hits Mine, Sinks Off Athens

4 A.M. Explosion Blocks Efforts To Flash S O S. Only Two Lifeboats Launched From Rapidly Sinking Liner—Some M.P.'s Believed Aboard

Athens, Jan. 19 (AP)—Up to 400 persons drowned before dawn today in the icy waters of the Gulf of Petalion, about 20 miles east of Athens, when the crowded 1,800-ton Greek steamer Chimarra struck a mine and sank within a half hour.

It was the worst maritime disaster in modern Greek history.

The Merchant Marine Ministry said 200 survivors had been rescued from the 525 passengers and 87 crewmen aboard and that five ships were at the scene to pick up any others who might still live. Planes also aided the rescue.

The explosion at 4 A.M. tore off the port bow and knocked out the electric power supply, blocking efforts to send SOS calls. The ship sank so swiftly that only two of the six lifeboats could be launched. Moonless darkness added to the confusion.

Wireless Operator George Freris, 36, said he and the captain and first and second mates were the last on deck to leave the sinking ship, so far as he knew, in the "hellish" panic, heightened by the bursting of boiler pipes.

Mad Scramble For Lifeboat

Freris said passengers scrambled so madly for one lifeboat that it capsized and "I believe all aboard were drowned." He, the master and mates wore lifebelts.

"We swam for several hours before we managed to get a hold on some barrels," the radio operator recalled. "This helped save our lives. Later we were picked up by a caique. There were about 30 survivors on the caique, which was heavily loaded."

Freris estimated that about 200 women and children had been aboard the Chimarra.

Political Deportees Aboard

Some 50 political deportees were aboard, en route to an island exile. Also aboard were a number of gendarmes, who had escorted Prince Paul on his trip through turbulent Macedonia.

It was reported without confirmation that the Prince was aboard the destroyer Themistocles, which either had preceded or was following the Chimarra.

Freris said the captain tried without success to restore order after the explosion. He said there were lifebelts for all.

Another survivor said he heard pistol shots during the wild twenty minutes it took the Chimarra to sink.

Protests Declared Ignored

Freris said that crewmen of ships sailing those waters had protested to the Merchant Marine Ministry that the waters were extremely dangerous at night because of loose mines. He said the Ministry ignored the protests and ordered ships to continue their night schedules.

Demetrius Danis, a crewman who survived, told virtually the same story as Freris. He said he swam for six hours in the bitterly cold water before reaching the shore near Ravina.

Seven of the first 38 survivors reaching Athens were seriously injured and the others were treated for burns and minor injuries.

Near Historic Marathon Plain

First aid was given survivors at Rafina, which is only a few miles south of the Marathon Plain where the Greeks fought an historic battle with the Persians 2,300 years ago.

The Merchant Marine Ministry issued this statement early tonight:

"The passenger ship Chimarra left Salonika yesterday morning and stopped at Chalkis en route to Piraeus.

"At 4 A.M. [illegible] a mine south of Chalkis near the island of Kavaliani and half [illegible] later the ship sank. As so[illegible]he accident was announced. [illegible] ships, including the passenger boat Patris, were sent to the spot. As from 4 A.M. today survivors were being picked up from various points along the coast and brought to Athens and Rafina.

Minister Directs Rescue Work

"Athansios Perrotis, acting minister of Merchant Marine, personally went to the coastal area to direct rescue activities. Ambulances, doctors and vehicles were sent to Rafina for immediate removal of survivors to hospitals.

"A plane was sent to the area where the accident occurred and flew at a height of ten meters and reported five vessels at the spot picking up survivors. Rescue ships are plying along the coast and small inhabited islands, picking up survivors.

"According to general information there were 200 survivors, of whom 50 are on the island of Petali, 50 on the island of Styra and 25 on the island of Mamarri."

All Women, Young Feared Dead

ATHENS, Jan. 19 (AP)—One survivor of the sinking, a 44-year-old school teacher, estimated today that almost 200 of those drowned were women and children. He said: "I am afraid every child aboard was lost, and 95 per cent of the women."

It was the worst maritime disaster in modern Greek history.

The Merchant Marine Ministry said five rescue ships were at the scene. Planes also aided the rescue.

Aristedes Mytakis, the school teacher, said that shortly after the accident many of the passengers, still sleepy-eyed, lurched blindly into cabins and apertures, seeking exits to the deck. The deck itself was filled with a "solid wall of cursing, fighting men," he said.

Because the ship sank so swiftly, only two of her six lifeboats could be launched. Explaining that he had made his way to one of these boats, Mytakis said:

"Not a single woman was in our lifeboat when it dropped into the water. I learned that when we were pulling away from the ship, and I checked as best I could in the pitch darkness."

This moonless darkness had added to the confusion. The explosion, at 4 A. M., tore off the port bow of the Himara and knocked out the electric power supply, balking efforts to send SOS calls.

Mytakis said the ship's master had attempted to beach the vessel but had been prevented from doing so by a broken rudder control.

Swarms of persons tried to force their way to the deck as the ship listed heavily to port immediately after the blast. Survivors among the first thirty-eight to reach Athens said the ship had been packed "like sardines." They told of screams of horror from men, women and children while the ship lurched crazily before going down.

Scores plunged into the frigid waters; others were trapped below deck. The cold and exposure apparently killed many. A heavy wind from shore drove back some trying to reach land.

Wireless Operator George Freris said he, the captain and the first and second mates were the last on deck to leave the ship, so far as he knew, in the "hellish" panic, heightened by the bursting of boiler pipes. He said passengers scrambled so madly for one lifeboat that it capsized and "I believe all aboard were drowned." He and the master and mates wore lifebelts.

"We swam for several hours before we managed to get a hold on some barrels," the radio operator recalled. "This helped save our lives. Later we were picked up by a caique. There were about thirty survivors on the caique, which was heavily loaded."

Mytakis said he had heard Capt. Spiros Bilinis pleading with passengers over a loudspeaker system. He continued:

"They were racing back and forth on the deck, stumbling into each other in the darkness. The captain ordered them to keep calm and said he was going to ground the ship. I understand he attempted to do that, but the rudder control had been broken."

Grabbed By Throat in Water

Mytakis finally got into a lifeboat, which capsized twice. After the second time, he said, a man grabbed him by the throat while he was in the water but he managed to free himself and climb back into the craft.

"We sat perfectly still in fear of capsizing again," he continued. "I suggested we use hats to bail out the water, but none of the others would join me.

"A small boat passed near by when dawn came, but it did not stop to pick us up. Another came by, but it picked up some survivors who were swimming, and some floating bodies.

"Then that same boat returned and rescued us. I was so exhausted, I had to be lifted into it. Several of the others had collapsed from the bitter wind that cut into our wet bodies like a knife. One elderly man died of exposure in our boat."

Freris also said that the captain had tried without success to restore order after the explosion. There were lifebelts for all, he added.

Another survivor said he had heard pistol shots during the wild twenty minutes it took the Himara to sink.

Freris said that crew men of ships sailing those waters had protested to the Merchant Marine Ministry that the waters were dangerous at night because of loose mines. He said the Ministry ignored the protests and ordered ships to continue their night schedules.

Demetrius Danis, a crew man, told virtually the same story as Freris. He said he had swum six hours before reaching the shore near Ravina.

Seven of the first survivors to reach Athens were seriously injured. Others were treated for burns and minor injuries.

The mine that struck the vessel had presumably eluded sweepers since the war. The ship, formerly the German vessel Herta, which was awarded to Greece after the war, had sailed from Salonika yesterday for the Athens port, Piraeus, and struck the mine a few miles off Rafina, which is fifteen miles due east of Athens. The disaster occurred near the island of Kavaliani, south of Chalcis.

7 Opposition Parties Unite For Non-Tsaldaris Regime

Athens, Jan. 19 (AP)—Leaders of seven opposition parties commanding a majority in Parliament demanded today that King George summon the Crown Council with the view of forming a new government.

The leaders signed a protocol agreeing to participate in a new government under any premier the King might designate, barring the present Populist party Premier, Constantin Tsaldaris.

The seven parties control 181 of Parliament's 354 seats. The Royalist-dominated Populists have 167 seats.

The leaders took the action as continued defections from Tsaldaris's strength in the Parliament threatened to produce a paralysis in government functions.

Lineup Against Tsaldaris

Parties aligning themselves against Tsaldaris, with their leaders and the number of seats they control, were:

Liberals, Themistocles Sophoulis, 48; Venezelist Liberals, Sophocles Venizelos, 34; National Liberals, Stylianos Gonatas, 32; Social Democrats, George Papandreou, 27; National, Napoleon Zervas, 26; National Unionists, Panayotis Kanellopoulos, 7; Reformists, Apostle Alexandris, 7.

Tsaldaris, meanwhile, rejected a suggestion of the Communist-dominated EAM that a truce be arranged between guerrillas and authorities to facilitate an investigation by the United Nations.

Tsaldaris's Answer

"It was this Government that went before the Security Council and requested it to investigate foreign-inspired disorder in Greece," Tsaldaris said in an interview. "Our extreme Left opposed the commission's coming to Greece. It is now strange that the Left should become concerned over the commission's welfare. It obviously reflects a shift in the party line."

The Premier said the Government already had offered conditional amnesty and "guaranteed protection to those wishing to surrender."

Greece To Obtain 100 Liberty Ships

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Nicholas Avram, Greek Minister of Merchant Marine, announced today completion of arrangements between his Government and the United States for the transference of 100 Liberty ships to Greek ship owners to replace wartime losses.

Avram told a news conference that twenty of the vessels, whose value he estimated at between $550,000 and $560,000 each, already were en route to Europe with cargoes of coal and grain under the Greek flag and that contracts for thirteen others already had been signed. He said he hoped delivery of the remainder would be made within two months.

The purchase of the vessels have been financed, Avram said, through a plan whereby ship owners pay 25 per cent of the price of each ship in cash to the United States. The balance is carried on a mortgage guaranteed by the Greek Government.

Danes To Seek Return For Care Of Refugees

Copenhagen, Jan. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen said tonight that Denmark will present the problem of caring for 210,000 German refugees within her borders when she makes known her views on the German peace treaty to the deputy foreign ministers' conference in London.

The refugees, mostly from East Prussia and Soviet-occupied Germany, fled into Denmark ahead of the advancing Soviet armies late in the war.

In a speech, Rasmussen pointed to burdens placed on Denmark's 4,000,000 population by the refugees and asked: "Is it in accord with common justice to let Denmark carry this economic burden and force on us the enormous expenses of the refugee administration?"

He said also that Denmark hoped to obtain reparations from current German production and would ask for equal treatment of all nations in respect to use of German transport and communications facilities.

Romania Gets Shipment Of Hollywood Films

Bucharest, Romania, Jan. 19 (AP). Hollywood films returned today to Romania in the first private American venture in this country since the war.

Thirty films, with such performers as Greta Garbo, Rita Hayworth and Fred Astaire, arrived and will be distributed by the Motion Picture Export Association of New York representing M.G.M., United Artists, Fox, Columbia, Universal, R.K.O., Paramount and Warner Brothers. They were produced between 1941 and 1946.

A representative of the association said the films were intended to secure the Romanian market and probably will represent a 100 per cent loss. Spectators pay an average admission equivalent to 3½ cents, compared to 30 cents before the war. Postwar American films have been distributed previously by United States Government agencies, and have played to full houses.

Cheap Hungarian films, mostly smuggled into Romania, are the leading movie attractions in quantity. The American films will also face serious competition from British and French productions.

Romanian Paper Asks U.S. Aid

Bucharest, Romania, Jan. 19 (AP). The Jurnalul de Dimineata, most impartial and independent newspaper in Romania, appealed to the United States today to forget the past and help alleviate the famine threatening Romania. The editorial asserted that Romania's war work alongside the Axis was against the will of the people.

Pravda Charges Pressure In Anglo-French Agreement

Moscow, Jan. 19 (AP)—Pravda, Communist party newspaper, indicated today that a British-French agreement in London to conclude a military alliance between the two countries was being watched by Moscow with a close and disapproving eye.

"Anglo-French negotiations have shown once more that London is not inclined in the slightest degree to give up an opportunity to bring pressure on France, utilizing the dependence of the French economy on Ruhr coal for this purpose," G. A. Viktorov wrote in Pravda.

U.S. Pact Termed Pressure

He said that the French-American financial agreement, concluded on the eve of elections to the French Constituent Assembly, was another example of pressure on France.

Referring to the official communiqué on the London negotiations, according to which the alliance would aim at preventing future German aggression, Viktorov said that the whole question had been raised to allay the "alarm" felt by the French public over British plans for "restoring the military might of Germany."

He said results of negotiations to date were "not very consoling" to France, adding:

"The communiqué, which states it is necessary to increase coal imports for reconstruction of French economy, at the same time clearly points out that France cannot count on coal deliveries from the Ruhr in the near future."

Dulles Speech Assailed

Pravda also accused John Foster Dulles of using "cheap, slanderous phrases hostile to the Soviet Union" in a New York speech.

Viktorov said that Dulles—a member of the American delegation to the United Nations and foreign affairs adviser to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the 1944 presidential campaign—employed such phrases as "Soviet expansion" and "territorial seizures."

"This speech," Viktorov continued, "will not surprise those who know this is the same Dulles who was closely connected with the German banking firm of Schroeder. In 1939 Dulles enthusiastically greeted Fascist regimes in Germany, Italy and Japan.

"The question arises, what prompted Dulles to disdain elementary decency to give vent to a wrathful speech against the U.S.S.R.? The orator himself gave the answer. He was forced to acknowledge that the Soviet delegation at the General Assembly convinced the majority of the necessity of general arms reduction and that 'the United States should disarm in the interest of international peace.'

"The chief cause of Dulles's wrath is that the General Assembly unanimously advocated a general arms-reduction regulation. Apparently, such a course of events does not correspond to the plans of Dulles and those monopolist circles whose interests he represents."

Dulles Gives Reply

In New York, Dulles said his only comment on the Pravda article would be a reference to the statement on Soviet-American relations incorporated in the October 11, 1946, report of the Commission on a Just and Durable Peace issued by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Dulles quoted the statement by the commission, of which he was chairman, as saying: "We believe that every effort should be made to apply the provisions of the United Nations Charter for the regulation and multi-lateral reduction of national armaments."

Dulles pointed out that the commission's report was released prior to the disarmament proposal made by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov before the United Nations General Assembly on October 29.

"Double-Barreled Policy"

In the Friday address to which Pravda referred Dulles said that 1946 saw the bid of the Soviet Union for world leadership "deflected into channels more compatibel with peace."

He described Soviet policy as "double-barreled," with one barrel aimed at social revolution throughout the world and the other aimed at nationalistic expansion.

American foreign policy in 1946, he said, had two main elements: "negation toward Soviet expansion and relief of those suffering privation." He added that "in 1947 we shall still need the ability to say 'no.'"

Pravda Criticizes Dulles

MOSCOW, Jan. 19 (AP)—Pravda, Communist party newspaper, said today that John Foster Dulles had used "cheap, slanderous phrases hostile to the Soviet Union" in a speech before the National Publishers Association in New York Friday night.

The Pravda article, signed by G. A. Viktorov, attributed such expressions as "Soviet expansion" and "territorial seizure" to Mr. Dulles, United States delegate to the United Nations Assembly and Republican party adviser on international affairs.

"The question arises what prompted Dulles to disdain elementary decency and give vent to a wrathful speech against the U. S. S. R.," Mr. Viktorov wrote.

"The chief cause of Dulles' wrath is that the General Assembly unanimously advocated a general arms reduction regulation. Apparently such a course doesn't correspond with the plans of Dulles and those monopolist circles whose interests he represents," he concluded.

Occupation-End Talk Doubted

MOSCOW, Jan. 19 (AP).—There is no confirmation here of rumors that Soviet Russia might suddenly propose that all four of the occupying powers withdraw from Germany immediately.

[American State Department officials at London said Saturday they had heard the rumors but added they considered such Soviet action unlikely.]

Democrats Claim Victory In Iran

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 19 (AP)—The 77,000 votes cast in Tehran in the national parlimentary election were moved today to the Central Mosque, where they will be counted during the next week or ten days.

The secretary general of Premier Ahmed Qavam's Democrat party said "we gained an overwhelming victory." Dr. Mohammed Mossadegh, leader of the opposition coalition, charged again the elections were not free but said he would serve if elected. Voting was completed here last night and will end in the Caspian port of Rescht tomorrow.

Rebel Iranian Officers Are Reported Executed

Tehran, Jan. 19 (AP)—Newspapers here reported today that thirteen former Iranian Army officers had been executed at Tabriz, Ardebil and Mahabad for alleged desertion to join the rebel Azerbaijan and Kurdistan forces last year.

It was also reported that Fereidoon Ibrahimi, public prosecutor of the former semi-autonomous government in Azerbaijan province, had been executed at Tabriz.

Communist Leader Arrested

Baghdad, Iraq, Jan. 19 (AP)—Baghdad police arrested today the leader of the Iraqi Communist party and five members of the Central Committee in a raid. Police said the group had been leading the party underground for more than ten years.

Egypt Dons Mourning On Sudan Anniversary

Cairo, Jan. 19 (AP)—Egypt observed today the forty-eighth anniversary of the establishment of British-Egyptian condominium over the Sudan as a "day of mourning."

Divided authority over the Sudan was set up by a convention between the British and Egyptian governments signed here January 19, 1899.

Some Egyptians wore black ties today and other black ribbons. Flags were flown at half staff. In Port Said the flags were bordered with black. All except English-language newspapers were black bordered and gave most of their space to articles condemning the 1899 convention, declaring it was "signed under British pressure and therefore is void."

University students demonstrated within the college grounds, shouting "Down with Britain!" and demanding immediate evacuation of British troops from Egypt and unity with the Sudan.

Viet Nam Building Used For Housing Chinese

Hanoi, Indo-China, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Chinese flag now flies over the Viet-Nam War Ministry building here, lent by French authorities to the Chinese Consulate General for housing Chinese whose homes have been destroyed during recent fighting.

A thousand homeless Chinese have already asked to be housed in the shell-battered building until mines and booby traps in their district can be removed. The Consul General has received funds from China to aid Chinese sufferers.

Chinese circles estimated that between 6,000 and 8,000 Chinese were still in the area.

King Of Trans-Jordan Returns From Turkey

Jerusalem, Jan. 19 (AP)—King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, returning from an official visit to Turkey, disembarked at Haifa this morning from Turkish President Ismet Inonu's yacht Savarona.

Mohammed Shukeiri, Trans-Jordan Foreign Minister, announced that a friendship pact between Turkey and Trans-Jordan, signed in Ankara January 11, would be for ten years.

1,000 Wounded, 600 Missing in Dutch-Indonesian Battle

BATAVIA, Jan. 19 (AP). — The Netherlands Indies government announced tonight that 250 Chinese were killed, 1,000 wounded and 600 reported missing as a result of a battle between Dutch and Indonesians at Palembang, Sumatra, Jan. 3 to 5. It said 900 other Chinese lost their homes. The Chinese, part of a large mercantile population throughout southeast Asia, were caught in the middle and also were victims of looting and arson.

The belated announcement followed a complaint by the Chinese consul at Palembang, who estimated damage to Chinese property totaled at least $2,500,000. He estimated that the Dutch forces caused $100,000 of this damage and Indonesians the rest.

RED BLACKOUT AT CHANGCHUN, PEIPING HEARS

Communists Cut Off Electricity And Water In Manchurian Capital

Peiping, Jan. 19 (AP)—In a tit-for-tat operation, the Communists today cut off the electric power and water for Changchun, Chinese Government-occupied capital of Manchuria.

For weeks the Government has withheld similar facilities from Harbin, Communist-held metropolis 150 miles to the northeast.

Pro-Government dispatches reaching Peiping did not make clear where and how the Changchun utility lines were cut, but fighting has been reported east of the capital in the area where power for much of Manchuria is fed from the Sungari reservoir.

Believed Aimed Toward Kirin

Chinese papers have speculated that the current Communist campaign north and northeast of Changchun was aimed not at that city but toward Kirin, 60 miles east, control point for Harbin's electricity.

Latest Government reports claimed defensive victories at Tehhui, Chiutai and Nungan, 50 to 30 miles north and northeast of Changchun.

As a result of Changchun's thirsty blackout, Government quarters in Peiping offered to let the Communists truce headquarters resume use of the radio at Changchun if they would call off the military operation affecting that city. The Communists countered by threatening to withdraw their members from the Changchun establishment unless the radio ban were lifted.

No Truce Headway Apparent

Using the American team members' radio, the Communist representatives at Changchun sent a long message on the Government's seizure of their own set Thursday, calling it "unreasonable and cruel treatment of the Communist staff who are in Changchun at the Government's invitation to carry out peace work."

The truce efforts long have been without visible effect on either side, however.

Chinese Co-ed Calmly Tells Court Of Alleged Attack by Marines

PEIPING, Jan. 19—(AP) A Chinese co-ed told a U. S. Marine court martial yesterday that a Marine corporal raped her twice on Christmas Eve, but a Chinese doctor testified he was unable to determine from two examinations whether this was correct.

The rape charge was made the basis of a series of anti-American demonstrations by students in Peiping, Nanking and Shanghai a fortnight ago.

Testifying rapidly and with complete poise, the complainant, Shen Chung, 19, said that Cpl. William Gaither Pierson assaulted her on the polo field in the center of Peiping and that another Marine held her. She said the two had seized her on the street as she walked to a movie. The other Marine, who has not been identified, is being held for trial later.

Asked to identify Pierson, the girl quickly pointed him out at the council table, although the defense had seated next to him another marine, Cpl. Jay Cunningham of Burley, Idaho, who somewhat resembles Pierson.

The girl said she did not know whether Pierson had offered her money, as she did not understand a word he said. Pierson contends that she solicited him and that he paid her.

The Peiping police surgeon, Dr. Kan Ho-Cheng, followed the girl to the stand and testified that when he examined her after the incident he found only a minute cut, "about a fourteenth of a centimeter long." This is approximately one thirtieth of an inch.

The doctor said that he again examined the girl nine days later and found on her leg a small cut and a bruise which he had not noticed before. He declined to express an opinion whether these injuries had been inflicted before or after his original examination.

Chinese Shipwreck Toll Up To 600

Shanghai, Jan. 19 (AP)—Sinking of the steamer Chekiang with loss of up to 600 lives yesterday caused the operators, the Tung Chi Company, to shut up shop today.

Numbers of survivors, still clutching their tickets, remained outside, demanding compensation for losses, despite a notice on the door which said the offices would be closed for one week.

Only the intervention of police prevented the offices being wrecked yesterday by a mob of angry survivors and relatives of victims.

The Chekiang, a 300-ton vessel plying between Shanghai and Yangtze ports, sank after colliding with a lighter off Woosung.

The official Chinese Central News Agency placed the death list—all believed to be Chinese—at 600. Other estimates ranged downward to 300, but the actual number probably never will be known, as authorities said there were many irregular passengers among the 1,000-odd aboard the ship.

Jap Emperor Candidate Finds Going Is Tough

TOKYO, Jan. 19—(AP) Hiromichi Kumazawa is still "running" for emperor of Japan but admitted today that his campaign was losing its public appeal.

The 53-year-old grocer claims he is descended from "legitimate" rulers who were pushed off the throne several centuries ago by ancestors of Emperor Hirohito.

Tried and acquitted on charges of lese majeste, he is stumping the country.

Recently, he admitted, he attracted an audience of 400 in a town in central Japan. While he talked on and on, his listeners began to walk out, one by one.

"I don't care," he announced from the rostrum. "I'll speak to only five people if they are interested in my cause."

Then he looked again and sat down; there were only four persons left.

Manila Seeks To Halt Illegal Chinese Entry

Manila, Jan. 19 (AP)—Alarmed by a flood of illegal Chinese immigration, Philippines authorities have begun a drive to seal this Republic's coasts, which are longer than those of the United States.

The Davao edition of the Philippine Express reported today that two of three Chinese alleged to be masterminds of an alien smuggling ring in Mindanao had been arrested.

Engracio Fabre, immigration commissioner, is making a series of flying trips to the northern and southern ends of the islands, where most of the smugglers seem to be concentrated. He has said that several rings apparently are very active, using small, fast Moro-type outrigger canoes.

The Express said "co-operation of some corrupt Filipino officials was a large factor in the operations.

RIO PARLEY NOTICE GIVEN

Argentina Told Defense Talks Are Being Arranged

Buenos Aires, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Argentine Foreign Office said today it had received a note from Brazil saying preliminary talks had begun on the calling of the long-projected conference in Rio de Janeiro on permanent hemisphere defense.

United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) proposed January 11 that the conference be called immediately. The Argentine Foreign Office said the Brazil note indicated that the meeting would be held the first week in March.

In Rio de Janeiro a source close to the Brazilian Foreign Office said that new consultations had begun on setting a date for the Conference of Foreign Ministers of the Western Hemisphere on defense matters, and that only a definite date remained to be decided upon.

Speculate On Invitation

There was speculation in Buenos Aires over whether the note constituted an invitation to Argentina to attend the conference. The Foreign Office source in Rio de Janeiro said that the original invitation to the conference included Argentina as well as other American nations, and another invitation was not needed.

Vandenberg's proposal for calling the conference caused some senators and representatives in Washington to ask for an easing in the United States policy toward Argentina in order to give backing to Vandenburg's suggestion.

The conference was scheduled originally for last year but was postponed several times. United States refusal to sit down at the conference table with Argentina was said by some informants to have caused the postponement. The United States State Department has charged Argentina with delay in ridding her government of alleged pro-Nazi influences.

No Word In Washington

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States has no knowledge at the moment of any inter-American talks.

James F. Byrnes, retiring Secretary of State, said a week ago that everybody in the State Department agrees Argentina has not fulfilled its international commitments to clean house of certain Nazi influences.

Spruille Braden, Assistant Secretary of State, said Friday, after a conference with President Truman, that Argentina still has "plenty" to do.

Whether Gen. George C. Marshall will follow the Byrnes policy toward Argentina after formally taking over the State Department remains an open question.

AUSTIN, MARSHALL TO DISCUSS POLICY

United Nations Representative To Fight Arms Move

Burbank, Cal., Jan. 19 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, en route to Washington to assume his duties as Secretary of State, left here tonight in his Army C-54 for the Capitol.

His transport plane left at 6.52 o'clock after a nine-hour visit in the Los Angeles area. He arrived at 10.06 A.M. from Honolulu.

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate to the United Nations, will confer with Gen. George C. Marshall, incoming Secretary of State, within a week in Washington. The conferences are expected to lay the groundwork for a basic American policy or world-wide arms reduction.

Austin will go before the United Nations Security Council tomorrow to push for postponement of the whole arms discussion until February 4.

He was ready to resist any possible move by Russia or other countries for an interim disarmament subcommittee, and was confident of sufficient support to win the delay.

Would Take Up Other Matters

Under a slowly developing policy, still subject to Marshall's approval, the American delegation would resist suggestions for setting up a full-scale disarmament commission next month on the theory that progress first must be made on a wide series of subjects including atomic control, the German and Japanese peace treaties, and the act of Chapultepec calling for hemisphere solidarity.

After temporary disposal of the arms issue, the Security Council will turn to Great Britain's complaint that Albania sowed mines in the Corfu Channel, leading to the damaging of two British destroyers with 44 casualties last October 22.

The American delegation was reported weighing a possible suggestion that the case be referred to the International Court of Justice.

VANDENBERG'S VIEW ON RUSSIA

Senator 'Cautiously Hopeful' But Calls For 'Vigilance'

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) today said he is "cautiously hopeful" over the prospect for improving relations with Russia, "but I would never relax our vigilance for one split second."

The statement of the Senate Foreign Relations chairman drew an enthusiastic "amen" from William R. Castle, of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange.

Nelson Cruikshank, of the American Federation of Labor, taking part with the other three in an "America United" broadcast, had nothing to say on the point.

Agreement On Progress

The general subject of their half-hour discussion was the question, "Are We Making Progress Toward World Peace?" All four agreed that progress is being achieved.

The business, agriculture and labor officials laid emphasis on the unity of purpose shown in subsidiary organizations of the United Nations, such as those on cultural economic and food affairs.

Vandenberg said the United Nations itself already has "tempered" several situations that easily could have started war under the old order and has initiated movements "which promise vital contribution toward the substitution of justice for force in our pursuit of a free world of free men."

"Greatest Connumdrum"

The senator aclled Russia "the world's greatest conundrum" and said the question of future Soviet relations "is the issue upon which everything else hangs."

"It is my personal opinion," he said, "that America is prepared to live and let live, in a world of peace with justice despite this rivalry (of ideology with Russia)—if we are allowed to do so.

"We can neither condone nor appease conquest. We must require reciprocal fair play on a two-way street. There is a deadline beyond which we will not compromise our ideals. The answer to this question is largely in Moscow's hands.

"But I think our present policy of firm but friendly candor is making headway."

Business And Farm Views

The Senator's description of Russia as a "conundrum" summed up comments by Cruikshank and Goss, who said business and agriculture both want to deal with the Soviet Union but are unable to get the Russians to deal or to state their position.

Castle, a former Under Secretary of State and Ambassador to Japan, said business is committed to the idea that the only real prosperity for this country is "prisperity that is everywhere." Necessary to that end, he said, are relief and rehabilitation measures after the UNRRA ends, and buying from other countries as well as selling to them.

Vandenberg expressed the opinion that "there is no longer any partisan politics in the fixed and united American foreign policy" but said he expects the newly-dominant Republicans in Congress to "ask more questions" on issues of economic co-operation.

State-Monopoly Prospect

"We are bound to inquire of the world to what extent we are to be required to face state monopolies abroad; in trading, for example," he said.

"We are bound to inquire to what extent other countries are going to continue to make bilateral trade agreements for political purposes, instead of multilateral agreements such as we are committed to undertake."

The Senator got full agreement from the other three speakers that any failure to protect the American economy would be "as great a threat to the world at large as to the United States alone."

Atomic 1947 Robot Cruise

Robt. M. Farrington

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Navy is planning to tow some of the atom bomb target fleet without crews to Hawaii and the West Coast for thorough radiological and mechanical examination.

This will require seamanship of the highest order since no man can live aboard the still radio-active ships and set their courses.

Bad weather could break the tow lines and send the empty warships blundering wildly across the Pacific.

Rear Admiral William S. Parsons revealed tonight that navy yards at Pearl Harbor, San Francisco and Puget Sound will be given experience in handling ships that survive atomic bombardment.

"Samples" To Stay At Kwajalein

Some "sample" ships will remain at Kwajalein, where the fleet is now anchored, he said.

The Admiral denied reports that some of the ships which rode out two atom-bomb blasts last summer at Bikini will be scuttled soon as too "hot" to handle.

"These ships are very valuable as radiological studies," he said.

"We can't expect to get ships and atom bombs together every year, and it is up to us to make maximum use of these target ships.

Final Disposition Long Way Off

"No decision will be made as to scuttling or final disposal of any of the ships for quite a few months—six, anyway, and probably longer."

Parsons is chairman of the joint "Crossroads" committee handling followups on the atom-bomb test operation conducted under that code name.

The decision as to scuttling, while legally up to the Secretary of the Navy, will be made with the concurrence of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the admiral believes.

Just how to haul the stricken ships across thousands of miles of the Pacific Ocean will be quite a problem, he acknowledged.

They'll Need Good Weather

"We may have to put inspecting parties on from time to time," he said, "but no one will be living aboard. Then, the weather will make a lot of difference. We will need good weather."

The bulk of the technical report on the atom bombed ships has been completed and given to the joint chiefs of staff evaluation board, Admiral Parsons said.

What steps will be taken to protect the United States Fleet from A-bombs will be decided by this board.

The most apparent lesson of the Bikini test is the need to reconsider United States defense bases policy, the Admiral said.

Instead of several large bases, it may be necessary to have a number of small ones that cannot all be crippled at the same time by an atom-bomb attack, Parsons said.

M'MAHON SEEKS DATA ON HUNGARIAN LABOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 — (AP) Senator McMahon (D-Conn) announced today he has asked the State department for a statement on "reports that Hungarian nationals are being used for forced labor by the Czechoslovakian government."

McMahon made his request after receiving telegrams from the Rev. Stephen Chernitzky, pastor of St. Stephen's church, Bridgeport, Conn., and Dr. Tibor Kerekes, executive secretary of the American Hungarian Federation, Washington.

The Senator said Dr. Kerekes informed him many Hungarians had been "rounded up" in Czechoslovakia and sent into the Sudetenland for forced labor and some were sent to Russia.

Truman Outlines Plan to Obtain Truer Figures on Pay-Price-Profit

Norman Walker

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 — (AP) President Truman hopes to dovetail the work of all government agencies which keep figures to give the nation a better picture of wage-profit relationships, it was learned today.

The President announced his intention in a letter to Harvey W. Brown, president of the International Association of Machinists, an independent union, last month in reply to a suggestion from Brown that various government agencies, including the OPA, have "adequate information" to show the relation of labor cost and profits to actual total production cost.

Brown wrote that by assembling and publishing this data, the government "can and should turn the spotlight on manufacturers, processors, wholesalers and retailers who are placing artificial prices on consumer goods and farm implements."

In reply Mr. Truman steered clear of any comment on Brown's charge of "artificial" prices but expressed "appreciation" for Brown's views and added:

"What I am hoping to do is to get the Federal Trade Commission figures, the Budget Bureau figures, the OPA and Labor department figures coordinated.

"All statistical activities of the government should be consolidated and that is what I hope to do eventually."

Besides the agencies Mr. Truman mentioned, others which collect important statistics relating to business costs and profits include the Commerce department, Federal Reserve board and the Securities commission.

During the war a number of these agencies reduced their figure-kepeing activities because the OPA required firms to submit confidential reports on their financial situations, including labor costs. These OPA files have been turned over to the Federal Trade Commission where they are now being analyzed.

Rather than actually merge the various statistical agencies, Mr. Truman apparently wants to correlate their findings so as to present a more readily understandable and detailed picture.

The Commerce department assembles figures generally relating to trade and production quantity, the Labor department to prices and wages, the Federal Reserve board to savings and income, the Securities Commission to the fiscal condition of its listed firms—each getting part of the complete story.

EFENSE MERGER CHANGES CABINET

1947

Would Alter Succession Line To Presidency

D. Howard Oliver

Washington, Jan 19 (AP)—Congressional leaders said today the 61-year-old law which provides for Cabinet officers to succeed to the Presidency would have to be revamped if the Army-Navy merger plan is enacted.

When Gen. George C. Marshall is sworn in tomorrow as Secretary of State, he will be next in line to succeed President Truman under the law passed in 1886, since there is no Vice President.

Under the law the next in the presidential succession line, in order, would be the Secretaries of the Treasury and War, the Attorney General, the Postmaster General, and the Secretaries of the Navy and the Interior. This is the order in which their departments were created. Agriculture, Commerce and Labor are not affected since they were established after the law was passed.

New Post Provided

But the Army-Navy unification plan provides for a new Cabinet post, that of Secretary of National Defense. It also eliminates Cabinet rank for the Secretaries of War and the Navy, enjoyed since 1789 and 1798, respectively, and withholds Cabinet status for the proposed new Secretary for Air.

This would create a problem for congressmen drafting a new succession bill. For one thing, if they followed the seniority theory of the old law, the new Secretary of National Defense would be at the bottom of the succession list, making the sixth, despite the importance of his post. There are now seven in line, but the merger plan would reduce the Cabinet by one.

Ninth In Line

If the Agriculture, Commerce, and Labor posts were recognized in any new succession legislation and lined up in the order of their creation, then the Secretary of National Defense would be ninth to take over the White House.

"Eventually there will have to be a revamping of the succession law," commented Chairman Michener (R., Mich.) of the House Judiciary Committee. "But compared with many other things demanding attention, it is academic now. It is not immediately pressing."

Michener's committee soon will be organized into subcommittees. One of them will take up bills and constitutional amendments on the presidency.

Two-Term Limit Proposed

One proposed amendment, by Michener, would limit the presidency to two terms.

Another pending bill would provide for the House Speaker, now Republican Joe Martin, of Massachusetts, to succeed to the presidency in event both the President and Vice President died. This was suggested last year by Mr. Truman before the Republicans captured control of Congress.

ROBERTSON SEEKS CHANGES IN ARMY, NAVY UNION PLAN

Edwin B. Hankinson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — (AP) Senator Robertson (R-Wyo), criticizing the new service unification plan, announced today he will move to substitute a council for the proposed secretary of defense and keep the secretaries of the army and navy in the cabinet.

"I would not oppose a secretary for air in the cabinet too," he told an interviewer, "but I believe air is relegated to a less important status under the unification plan."

He explained that the Army, Navy and Marines "must retain their own air support," in his view, leaving the independent air force only strategic heavy bombing and guided missiles.

30.24-7447

The proposal which President Truman submitted to Congress yesterday calls for a secretary of national defense as the services' lone representative in the cabinet. The army, navy and air force would be organized as individual departments headed by secretaries not of cabinet rank.

Hits Concentration of Power

Robertson, who helped block the merger plan last session and now is a member of the Senate Armed Forces Committee, declared that the proposed secretary of defense would have "too much power for one man."

Instead the senator plans an amendment to set up a "national defense council" composed of the secretaries of state, war, navy and air (if a new department is created) together with chairmen of the four senate and house committees on foreign affairs and appropriations.

"The President for someone designated by him should preside over this national defense council," he said. "This would give congress an intimate knowledge of world conditions upon which to form policy. It would meet often enough to keep congress appraised of the world situation."

Robertson claimed "quite a little support" for his suggestion from military leaders as a result of experiences in the Pearl Harbor disaster and the "immediate Russian situation."

"I fear Russia not because of her territorial expansion but because of her infiltration of Communism into countries that are bankrupt and disorganized because of the war," he said. "Congress must be kept constantly informed on this."

U.S. INTERESTS PLACED AHEAD OF REFUGEES'

Early Lowering Of Immigration Bars Unlikely, Michener Indicates

1947

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Representative Michener (R., Mich.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said today that American interests must come ahead of those of European refugees in any move to lower the immigration bars.

His opinions were advanced amid diminishing likelihood that Congress will act on President Truman's recommendation for speedy action to "fulfill our responsibility" to the hundreds of thousands made homeless by the war, many still in emergency camps. The State of the Union message avoided any specific recommendation on relaxing the immigration laws.

"Extremely Controversial"

Michener said a Judiciary subcommittee on immigration will be named this week, but termed the problem "extremely controversial" and said he favors approaching it in a deliberate and judicial manner.

"The interests of the United States must be considered first," he declared. "I am against the elimination of barriers generally to permit admission of anyone who wants to come here in the hope of making a better living. But I am uncertain as to what should be done to meet this situation."

Registering opposition to breaking the immigration dam altogether, he commented:

"Water seeks its own level. I am in favor of keeping the United States a little higher than the rest of the world so that we can help pull the others up. You can't do that if you stand on the same level."

Immigration And Housing

Increasing the likelihood of a delay in any decision on the issue is the Congressional Reorganization Act, under which the Judiciary Committee took over the functions of the old House Immigration Committee. Only one member of the old committee was assigned to Judiciary.

Congressmen have reported a swelling volume of mail—particularly from veterans and their organizations—opposing increased immigration at least until housing difficulties are ended and uncertainty over steady employment is eliminated. They are also hearing from pleaders for the homeless refugees.

DEMOCRATS JOIN IN G. O. P. DRIVE TO SLASH BUDGET

Jack Bell

Coalition Develops as Committees Prepare to Tackle Fiscal Problems.

DOUGLAS IN PARLEY

Former Budget Director Fears National Income Will Not Reach Estimate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—(AP) A Republican - Democratic coalition aimed at slashing President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget appeared to be developing today in advance of Congress' first official action on it.

Representatives of the four committees which hold the purse strings in the two chambers meet tomorrow to begin the brand new task assigned them under the congressional reorganization act of making government spending fall within income—with something to spare for debt reduction.

That meeting takes top billing in a congressional week which will see:

The Senate voting Wednesday on whether to continue its War Investigating committee, and its Labor committee holding the first hearings on a flood of bills;

The House set to pass a measure continuing indefinitely the wartime "luxury" taxes otherwise due for reductions July 1.

Democrats Seek Economy

Even before the budget session, there were clear signs that some influential Democrats are ready to go along with Republican for substantial cuts in spending. The question of any immediate drop in income taxes remained in dispute.

A bi-partisan group of senators discussed general financial conditions with Lewis Douglas, former diector of the budget, at a Capitol meeting arranged yesterday by Senator Byrd (D-Va).

Besides Byrd, those present included Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich), George (D-Ga), Taft (R-Ohio), Robertson (R-Wyo), Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), White (R-Me), Butler (R-Neb) and Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Senate Finance committee.

It was represented as being Douglas' opinion that there may be a drop in the people's earnings below the $166,000,000,000 figure upon which the Treasury's tax revenue estimate is based. This might cut tax receipts substantially and force deeper slashes in the budget if there is to be anything to pay on the debt.

Byrd, a long time economy advocate, told a reporter that Douglas merely had discussed fiscal matters with the group, adding that there had been no talk of concerted action on the budget.

Will Support G.O.P.

However, another veteran Democratic senator, who declined use of his name, told this reporter he is prepared to support the G.O.P. economy demand to the tune of a $2,500,000,000 slice off the total fixed by the President.

This senator, who has had long experience in fiscal matters, said he is satisfied the country can operate efficiently in the next year on a maximum of $35,000,000,000.

Beyond that, he predicted that tax revenues under present laws would run $1,000,000,000 larger than the Treasury's $37,700,000,000 estimate in the budget "if strikes don't stop production." He is willing to reduce taxes, the senator said, but he wants the budget cutting to come first so there may be a substantial payment on the debt.

Republicans have been talking of a budget cut ranging upward from the $3,500,000,000 that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) estimated could be made to beyond the $5,000,000,000 figure Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota insisted could be substracted. Taft and some others have called for a 2 percent slice in personal income taxes, although they expect to go along with the House in continuing the wartime excise levies as Mr. Truman recommended.

How many Democrats will go along with the Republicans in the economy program still is undetermined, but G.O.P. legislators said they are confident of sufficient support to make substantial reductions even if some of their own members won't stay put.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) reportedly has told lieutenenants he intends to stand on Mr. Truman's $37,500,000,000 figure as being "rock bottom." Barkley is one of the Democrats who will meet with the G.O.P.-controlled Senate-House budgetary committee tomorrow.

At that time the Senate resumes debate on a Democratic proposal to kill off the War Investigating committee and turn its work over to the Senate Expenditures committee headed by Senator Aiken (R-Vt) There appeared to be no week-end change in a lineup the Republicans claimed will give them enough votes Wednesday to keep the special investigating committee alive with somewhat restricted authority.

HOUSE GROUP PACKED WITH MUCH POWER

Expenditures Committee Converted Into Main Investigating Agency

1947

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Republican leaders disclosed today that the once minor House Expenditures Committee has been packed with power and converted into their main investigating agency in the new House.

One member who did not want his name used said the State Department and some people in it may get "quick attention" when the investigation surge gets under way.

For years the committee was inactive. It went for months without meeting.

It is supposed to keep an eye on government agencies, see that they don't waste money and that they do their jobs as Congress intended. Republicans have yelped about the way some bureaus operate. Now they intend to investigate.

Group To Be Kept Busy

Party leaders were not calling the shots in advance. But House Republican Leader Halleck (Ind.) asserted:

"That committee is going to have much to do with scrutinizing executive departments, spending, and what can be done to improve the Government."

The new chairman is Representative Hoffman (R., Mich.), never noted for pulling any punches.

"Our committee," said Representative Clarence Brown (R., Ohio), "never paid much attention to expenditures under the Democratic regime. But we are going to check up and see if the money is being legally and wisely spent.

Committee Has Power

"We might deem it necessary to look into quite a few things. The committee has all kinds of power if it wants to use it."

As another member, Representative Chenoweth (R., Col.), sized things up, the idea is to "do away with a lot of special investigating committees and let this committee do most of the work."

The GOP turned the committee into a power house by assigning to it six of the eight Republican members of the key Rules Committee. These six—Brown and Chenoweth among them—can use their talents on legislation and investigations in the Expeditures Committee while blocking creation of special investigating bodies as members of the Rules Committee.

Besides Brown and Chenoweth, the Rules Committee Republicans assigned to the expenditures group are Rich (Pa.), Wadsworth (N.Y.), Rizley (Okla.) and Harness (Ind.).

Rules Group Must Approve

The Rules Committee has to approve creation of special committees. Its main job is to direct the flow of legislation through the House.

Hoffman has called a first Expenditures Committee meeting for tomorrow to organize. He plans a conference with Chairman Aiken (R., Vt.) of the Senate Expenditures Committee to see if they can figure out a way to keep from covering the same ground.

Senate Republicans seek to continue the special War Investigating and Small Business committees for some inquiries. Democrats are virtually solid in opposing the continuance of the War Investigating Committee but Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.) reported Democrats split on the question of continuing the Small Business Committee.

Stewart said he and some other Democrats are going along with the Republicans in an effort to re-establish the small business group formerly headed by Senator Murray (D., Mont.).

'Progress Report' On Congress

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Urging abolition of the filibuster along with other reforms, the National Planning Association said tonight the modernization of Congress is only half done.

Removal of barriers to rapid legislation is particularly urgent now, it declared, to prevent a stalemate resulting from a Republican Congress and a Democratic Administration.

Of "vital necessity," said the report, is the creation of a majority policy committee in each House made up of the Republican chairmen of each major standing committee, and a minority committee made up of the ranking Democrats on the same committees.

For Control Of Money Matters

"The present steering committee system is not strong enough to assure productive co-operation between the Republican and Democratic leaders, no matter how well-meaning they may be," the report stated. It suggested that a prime task of the proposed bodies should be to determine policy on taxation, appropriations and the national budget.

"Since the policy committees would be responsible for general management of Congress, it would be necessary that they control money matters, just as in the case of any general management," it added.

The report was written by Robert Heller, of Cleveland, industrial engineer, who drafted the association's 1945 recommendations for congressional streamlining. Many of the earlier proposals were embodied in the Reorganization Act.

Applauds Changes Made So Far

The association is a private, non-profit planning organization having representation from labor, business and agriculture.

The new document, described as a "progress report," applauded the changes made so far as "no small achievement particularly the reduction of the number of Senate committees from 33 to 15 and House committees from 48 to 19.

In releasing Heller's report, the association noted that "events following the convening of the Eightieth Congress" — presumably the dispute over seating Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) — "re-emphasize Mr. Heller's point that 'it is time for the elimination of the filibuster.'"

No Time Now For Filibustering

"The primary danger in the next two years is that of legislative inactivity resulting from a Democratic Presidency and a Republican Congress," the association said. "It, therefore, becomes imperative that any obstructions to the enactment of legislation by majority vote be removed.

"It is noteworthy that the filibuster or threat of filibuster has been used in recent years almost entirely for the obstruction of legislation generally regarded as desirable and progressive."

Focusing of responsibility upon the two parties—through the proposed policy committees — would avoid a possible two years of "legislative sterility," Heller declared, and would enable the people to "determine intelligently the accountability of each party."

Heller criticized the seniority system of picking committee chairmen and suggested that some means of choosing chairmen for their ability be worked out "within the congressional family."

"Extremely Desirable" Moves

He listed these as "extremely desirable" measures:

1. Self-government for the District of Columbia, to "reduce the workload of a Congress still burdened with time-consuming details."
2. More help for congressmen and establishment of an Office of Congressional Personnel to modernize staff operations.

"Less pressing but still desirable" are several recommendations made in the 1945 report, Heller said, including:

1. Greater use of "provisional legislation," which empowers the President to propose actions some time in advance of their effective date, with Congress retaining the right to veto them. This would unload minor matters on the executive agencies, leaving Congress free for major issues.
2. "Question periods," in which Government officials would be interrogated on their operations and plans by either house in full session.
3. Formal inquiries into basic national affairs—such as the study of labor-management relations asked by President Truman.

Staff College Control Shifted

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Control of the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., has been transferred from the War Department to the Army Ground Forces. Announcing this today, the department said the action was another step in decentralization of War Department activities, adding that there would be little or no change in operation of the school.

382 Ships Bring $1,702,628

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Maritime Commision announced today the Government got $1,702,628 from sale of 382 small vessels during September. This brought its total returns since June, 1944, to $36,892,148 for 3,009 small vessels.

ROME, JAN.19-(AP)-ROME NEWSPAPERS TODAY SAID THAT THE "MYSTERIOUS POLITICAL TESTAMENT" OF ONE OF THE ACCUSED MURDERERS OF GIACOMO MATTEOTTI, SOCIALIST MARTYRED 23 YEARS AGO, WILL FIGURE PROMINENTLY AT A TRIAL OPENING WEDNESDAY OF SOME OF MATTEOTTI'S ALLEGED KILLERS.

THE TESTAMENT, "IL MOMENTO" SAID, WAS FORMERLY HELD BY A SAN ANTONIO TEX., LAWYER NAMED ARNOLD, WHO TURNED IT OVER TO THE FBI IN WASHINGTON.

"IL MOMENTO" SAID THE FBI PROMISED TO DELIVER EITHER THE ORIGINAL OR A PHOTOGRAPHIC COPY IN TIME FOR THE TRIAL, AND THAT IT MAY CONTAIN "SENSATIONAL REVELATIONS." IT IS SUPPOSED TO BE AN ACCOUNT OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING THE MURDER BY FASCISTS OF THE PROMINENT SOCIALIST DEPUTY WHO IN 1924 CARRIED ON A ONE-MAN WAR AGAINST MUSSOLINI. AMERIGO DUMINI, ONE OF THE FOUR MEN WHO WILL GO ON TRIAL WEDNESDAY, IS REPORTED TO HAVE SENT THE ACCOUNT FOR SAFEKEEPING TO THE UNITED STATES.

THE EXISTENCE OF THE DOCUMENT ABROAD IS SAID TO HAVE SAVED DUMINI ONCE WHEN HE WAS ARRESTED BY FASCIST POLICE TWO OR THREE YEARS AFTER MATTEOTTI WAS MURDERED. DUMINI REPORTEDLY INFORMED HIGH FASCIST AUTHORITIES THAT IF ANYTHING HAPPENED TO HIM "THE FULL TRUTH" ABOUT MATTEOTTI'S DEATH WOULD COME OUT IN THE UNITED STATES.

FOUR OTHER FORMER FASCISTS ACCUSED BY POST-WAR ITALIAN INVESTIGJTORS OF THE MURDER ARE MISSING.

ONE OF MATTEOTTI'S TWO SONS, MATTEO, WHO WAS THREE WHEN HIS FATHER WAS KILLED, IS NOW LEADER OF AN ANTI-COMMUNIST ITALIAN SOCIALIST PARTY. MATTEO AND CARLO, 18, THE OTHER SON, ARE BOTH DEPUTIES IN ITALY'S CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY.

ROME, JAN. 19-(AP)-ROMAN NEWSPAPERS SAID TODAY THAT A "MYSTERIOUS POLITICAL TESTAMENT" BY ONE OF FOUR MEN TO BE TRIED FOR THE MURDER OF SOCIALIST DEPUTY GIACOMO MATTEOTTI WOULD BE INTRODUCED AT THE TRIAL, OPENING WEDNESDAY.

MATTEOTTI, WHO STRONGLY OPPOSED MUSSOLINI DURING THE EARLY YEARS OF THE FASCIST REGIME, WAS SLAIN IN 1924.

AMERIGO DUMINI, A DEFENDANT, IS REPORTED TO HAVE SENT HIS ACCOUNT OF THE AFFAIR TO THE UNITED STATES FOR SAFEKEEPING AS A GUARANTEE OF HIS OWN SAFETY AFTER THE MURDER. THE NEWSPAPER IL MOMENTO SAID THAT THE TESTAMENT, FORMERLY HELD BY A SAN ANTONIO, TEX., LAWYER NAMED ARNOLD, HAD BEEN TURNED OVER TO THE FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION IN WASHINGTON. EITHER THE ORIGINAL OR A PHOTOGRAPHIC COPY WILL BE INTRODUCED AT THE TRIAL AND MAY CONTAIN "SENSATIONAL REVELATIONS," THE PAPER SAID.

(IN WASHINGTON, THE FBI DECLINED ANY COMMENT ON THE REPORT THAT IT HAD RECEIVED THE DOCUMENT).

THE FACT THE DOCUMENT WAS HELD ABROAD WAS SAID TO HAVE SAVED DUMINI ONCE WHEN HE WAS ARRESTED BY FASCIST POLICE TWO OR THREE YEARS AFTER MATTEOTTI WAS KILLED. DUMINI REPORTEDLY INFORMED HIGH FASCIST AUTHORITITES THAT IF ANYTHING HAPPENED TO HIM, "THE FULL TRUTH" ABOUT MATTEOTTI'S DEATH WOULD COME OUT IN THE UNITED STATES.

ROME, JAN. 20-(AP)-DISPATCHES FROM VENEZIA GIULIA SAID TODAY THAT BISHOP RAFFAELE MARIO RADOSSI OF PARENZO AND POLA, DETAINED BY YUGOSLAV AUTHORITIES LAST WEDNESDAY AT THE VIGNANO ROAD BLOCK, HAD BEEN FREED AND HAD RETURNED TO PARENZO.

(THE BULK OF THE ISTRIAN PENINSULA, WHERE PARENZO AND POLA ARE LOCATED, IS TO PASS FROM ITALIAN TO YUGOSLAV CONTROL UNDER AN ALLIED TREATY WITH ITALY TO BE SIGNED IN PARIS FEB. 10.)

IN NEW YORK, DULLES SAID HIS ONLY COMMENT ON THE PRAVDA ARTICLE WOULD BE A REFERENCE TO THE STATEMENT ON SOVIET-AMERICAN RELATIONS INCORPORATED IN THE OCT. 11, 1946 REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE ISSUED BY THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA. DULLES QUOTED THE STATEMENT BY THE COMMISSION, OF WHICH HE WAS CHAIRMAN, AS SAYING: "WE BELIEVE THAT EVERY EFFORT SHOULD BE MADE TO APPLY THE PROVISIONS OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER FOR THE REGULATION AND MULTI-LATERAL REDUCTION OF NATIONAL ARMAMENTS."

DULLES POINTED OUT THAT THE COMMISSION'S REPORT WAS RELEASED PRIOR TO THE DISARMAMENT PROPOSAL MADE BY SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V. M.MOLOTOV BEFORE THE U.N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY OCT. 29.

IN THE FRIDAY ADDRESS TO WHICH PRAVDA REFERRED DULLES SAID THAT 1946 SAW THE BID OF THE SOVIET UNION FOR WORLD LEADERSHIP "DEFLECTED INTO CHANNELS MORE COMPATIBLE WITH PEACE." HE DESCRIBED SOVIET POLICY AS "DOUBLE-BARRELED," WITH ONE BARREL AIMED AT SOCIAL REVOLUTION THROUGHOUT THE WORLD AND THE OTHER AIMED AT NATIONALISTIC EXPANSION. AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY IN 1946, HE SAID, HAD TWO MAIN ELEMENTS: "NEGATION TOWARD SOVIET EXPANSION AND RELIEF OF THOSE SUFFERING PRIVATION." HE ADDED THAT "IN 1947 WE SHALL STILL NEED THE ABILITY TO SAY 'NO.'"

MOSCOW, JAN.20-(AP)-G.LAPTEV, PROMINENT SOVIET AGRICULTURAL EXPERT, CALLED TODAY FOR FURTHER STRENGTHENING OF THE COLLECTIVE FARM SYSTEM AS A MEANS OF OVERCOMING WHAT HE DESCRIBED AS THE "GRAVE CONSEQUENCES" OF THE 1946 DROUGHT IN RUSSIA.

WRITING IN PRAVDA, LAPTEV SAID IT WAS NECESSARY "VIGOROUSLY TO SUPPRESS ALL MANIFESTATIONS OF PETTY BOURGEOIS SURVIVALS ON THE PART OF BACKWARD COLLECTIVE FARMERS WHO ATTEMPT TO GET RICH ON THE LABOR OF HONESTLY WORKING COLLECTIVE FARMERS."

COMPARING THE PROSPECTS OF RUSSIA'S SOCIALIZED AGRICULTURE WITH THE OUTLOOK IN CAPITALIST COUNTRIES, LAPTEV SAID ALL SIGNS POINTED TO "AN APPROACHING ECONOMIC CRISIS OF OVER-PRODUCTION" IN AMERICAN AGRICULTURE.

MOSCOW, JAN.20-(AP)-A.SHAROV, A LEADING OFFICIAL OF THE STATE PLANNING COMMISSION, ANNOUNCED IN PRAVDA TODAY THAT THE U.S.S.R.'S POST-WAR HOUSING PROGRAM WILL BE STEPPED UP IN 1947.

SHAROV SAID THAT HOUSING WILL BE INCREASED ESPECIALLY IN AREAS WHICH UNDERWENT ENEMY OCCUPATION AND IN PARTS OF SIBERIA WHERE THOUSANDS OF WORKERS ARE ENGAGED IN BUILDING UP THE SOVIET UNION'S NEW INDUSTRIAL CENTERS.

HE CRITICIZED THE HEADS OF SEVERAL MINISTRIES FOR NOT DEVOTING SUFFICIENT ATTENTION TO HOUSING CONSTRUCTION, WARNED THAT THE WORKERS' EFFICIENCY WAS PARTLY DEPEND-UPON THEIR LIVING CONDITIONS.

SHANGHAI,MONDAY,JAN.20-(AP)-THE SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL AND 15 OTHER PUBLIC ORGANIZATIONS APPEALED TODAY TO PRESIDENT CHIANG KAI-SHEK AND COMMUNIST LEADER MAO TSE-TUNG TO STAY IN THEIR PRESENT MILITARY POSITIONS, RESUME PEACE TALKS AND REORGANIZE THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT.

THE APPEAL, A CIRCULAR TELEGRAM, ASKED ALL PUBLIC BODIES TO HELP END CHINA'S GROWING GOVERNMENT-COMMUNIST STRIFE.

THE SIGNATORIES EXPRESSED REGRET THAT THE COMMUNISTS WERE INSISTING ON TWO CONDITIONS BEFORE RESUMING PEACE TALKS: RESTORATION OF MILITARY POSITIONS OF JANUARY, 1946, AND NULLIFICATION OF CHINA'S NEW CONSTITUTION WHICH WAS ADOPTED WITHOUT COMMUNIST PARTICIPATION.

THE APPEAL SAID PROLONGED CIVIL STRIFE WOULD BRING TOTAL ECONOMIC COLLAPSE AND WOULD MAKE CHINA IMPOTENT IN ALLIED DISCUSSIONS ON A PEACE TREATY WITH JAPAN.

TOKYO,MONDAY,JAN.20-(AP)-THE FRANK STORY OF MILITARIST PLOTS TO PUSH PRE-WAR JAPAN INTO A TOTALITARIAN REGIME WAS READ IN THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES COURT TODAY--FROM A 1934 CONFESSION BY A NOW-INSANE WAR CRIMES DEFENDANT.

THE DEFENDANT, PROPAGANDIST SHUMEI OKAWA, MADE THE CONFESSION IN A TOKYO CRIMINAL COURT WHEN FACING CHARGES IN THE MAY 15, 1932, ASSASSINATION OF PREMIER INUKAI. HE WAS ACQUITTED, ALTHOUGH ADMITTING HIS TOTALITARIAN AIMS.

MOST OF HIS TIME IN THE 1920'S AND EARLY 1930'S, OKAWA'S CRIMINAL-COURT CONFESSION RELATED, WAS SPENT IN PLANNING THE OVERTHROW OF JAPAN'S TWO-PARTY SYSTEM AND THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A MILITARIST-DOMINATED GOVERNMENT.

NAMED IN HIS STATEMENT AS ALSO INTERESTED IN SUCH PLANS WERE THREE OTHER WARTIME JAPANESE LEADERS, NOW WAR CRIMES DEFENDANTS: SADAO ARAKI SEISHIRO ITAGAKI AND KINGORO HASHIMOTO. KINGORO, HIS STATEMENT SAID, ACTIVELY PLOTTED TO SEIZE POWER IN MANCHURIA.

OKAWA WAS ADJUDGED INSANE AFTER THE CURRENT WAR CRIMES TRIAL BEGAN HE HAD STARTLED THE COURTROOM BY SLAPPING DEFENDANT HIDEKI TOJO, WARTIME PREMIER, RESOUNDINGLY ON THE HEAD.

WASHINGTON,JAN.19-(AP)-AUTHORITIES SAID TONIGHT IT IS A CERTAINTY THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL DISAPPROVE THE CONDUCT OF POLAND'S RIOTIOUS NATIONAL ELECTIONS.

INDICATIONS ARE, HOWEVER, THAT NO DECISIONS WILL BE MADE AS TO THE EXACT LINE OF ACTION TO BE TAKEN UNTIL FULL REPORTS ARE IN FROM AMBASSADOR ARTHUR BLISS LANE AND OTHER OBSERVERS IN POLAND AND UNTIL GEN.GEORGE C.MARSHALL, TACKLING ONE OF HIS FIRST ISSUES AS SECRETARY OF STATE, HAS OPPORTUNITY TO SURVEY THE SITUATION.

REPORTS FROM WARSAW THAT VICE PREMIER STANILAUS MIKOLAJCZYK IS PROTESTING THE CONDUCT OF THE ELECTIONS TO THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND RUSSIA BROUGHT THIS QUICK REACTION FROM DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES HERE:

RUSSIA WILL REJECT MIKOLAJCZYK'S CRITICISMS IF THEY WIN ANY KREMLIN RECOGNITION AT ALL.

THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN WILL SUPPORT MIKOLAJCZYK BUT WILL BE IN SOMETHING OF A PREDICAMENT AS TO WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT. PREDOMINANT THINKING HERE RUNS TO SOME SORT OF ECONOMIC POLICY ON THE PART OF THE WESTERN POWERS WHICH WOULD BE UNFRIENDLY TO THE COMMUNIST-DOMINATED WARSAW GOVERNMENT.

WHILE THE BALLOTS HAVE NOT BEEN COUNTED, ALL WASHINGTON THINKING STARTS WITH THIS ASSUMPTION OF AN ELECTORAL VICTORY BY THE LEFTIST BLOCK BACKING THE GOVERNMENT.

WASHINGTON HAS ALREADY MADE ITS RECORD OF CRITICISM OF THE POLISH GOVERNMENT'S POLITICAL METHODS IN THREE STATEMENTS SENT TO WARSAW DURING THE CAMPAIGN.

THE UNITED STATES ACCEPTED AS TRUE, AND AS SUFFICIENT BASIS FOR FORMAL PROTESTS, INFORMATION SUPPLIED BY MIKOLAJCZYK THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAD DENIED POLITICAL FREEDOM TO THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY, EVEN GOING TO THE EXTREME OF MURDER AND TERRORISM TO DEFEAT IT.

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE QUESTION, POLISH GOVERNMENT DIPLOMATS AND OFFICIALS BOTH HERE AND IN WARSAW CLAIMED THAT THE TERRORISM WAS BROUGHT ON BY A FASCIST UNDERGROUND WHICH HAD INFILTRATED INTO THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY AND WAS USING IT AS A SCREEN TO TRY TO WRECK POLAND'S PRESENT GOVERNMENT.

THE KANSAN SAID IN A STATEMENT BROADCAST FROM HIS RADIO STATION IN TOPEKA, KAS. THAT HIS COMMITTEE WANTS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT THE FOOD AND AGRICULTURE ORGANIZATION PROPOSAL FOR AN INTERNATIONAL FOOD CONTROL BOARD "TO CARRY OUT A MANAGED WORLD FOOD ECONOMY."

ALTHOUGH TERMING THE OBJECTIVE OF THE FAO "MOST WORTHY," HE SAID HE BELIEVES "MANAGING THE WORLD IS A PRETTY BIG UNDERTAKING."

"HOWEVER," HE SAID, "THROUGH INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION I AM CONFIDENT THAT CONDITIONS FOR PRODUCERS AND FOR CONSUMERS CAN BE MATERIALLY IMPROVED, AND, I HOPE, MEASURABLY STABILIZED."

BUT WHERRY SAID HE WOULD NOT BE SATISFIED EVEN IF THE STATE DEPARTMENT AGREES TO GO SLOW ON FURTHER TARIFF CUTS. IT HAS AUTHORITY FROM THE LAST CONGRESS TO REDUCE CURRENT RATES AS MUCH AS 50 PERCENT FOR COUNTRIES WHICH AGREE TO CUT THEIR CHARGES A LIKE AMOUNT.

"THERE ARE SOME RATES ALREADY IN EFFECT THAT ARE PINCHING THE LIFE OUT OF SOME OF OUR INDUSTRIES AND WORKING AGAINST THE INTERESTS OF OUR FARMERS," WHERRY DECLARED.

U. N. Arms Talks Put Off to Feb. 4, Gromyko Objects

Security Council Overrides Russia Also On Albanian Case

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 20 (AP)—Overriding Russian and Polish opposition, the United Nations Security Council today approved an American request to put off consideration of world-wide arms reduction for two weeks.

The 9-to-2 vote on the arms motion came after the Soviet Union lost a fight to keep British charges against Albania off the Security Council's agenda. The ballot there was 10 to 0 with Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, abstaining.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate asked for the arms postponement because of Gen. George C. Marshall's taking over as Secretary of State and to enable the delegation to study more carefully a series of preliminary proposals already submitted by other countries.

Austin emphasized that he was not attempting to delay a decision but felt that a period of consideration might in the long run hasten consideration of a final plan.

He declared that the United States regarded "disarmament as one of the most important ways of putting an end to war."

Demands Immediate Move

Gromyko indicated that the United States merely wanted more time to prepare to push its original suggestion that control of atomic energy be given priority over arms reduction plans. He demanded that the Security Council immediately continue the arms debate.

Dr. Oscar Lange, the Polish delegate, did not speak but voted with Russia.

After Gromyko lost the fight to keep the Albanian case off the calendar, a debate developed over when the Security Council should take up the complaint. The delegates agreed that Albania, not a member of the United Nations, should be invited to send a representative to take part in the debate and Gromyko insisted that the case be held up until such an envoy arrived.

Makin To Settle Date

Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate, asked that the case be opened Wednesday, whether Albania was present or not. Gromyko renewed his objection and Chairman Norman J. O. Makin, of Australia, finally called for a "vote of confidence" on his proposal to set the date himself. Makin was upheld, 10 to 0, with Gromyko abstaining, and the time of the next session thus was left in the hands of Makin—probably Friday.

In its complaint, Britain charged Albania with responsibility for sowing mines in the Corfu Channel just off the Albanian coast. Last October 22 two British destroyers struck mines there with 44 casualties.

Gromyko Accuses Britain

The British contended that they had made fruitless efforts at direct negotiations with the Albanian Government, which rejected the charges and in turn accused the British of invading territorial waters.

In his argument against consideration, Gromyko held that London had failed to take advantage of mediation which he said had been offered by Albania. The Russian delegate then accused Great Britain of violating the charter by bringing such a complaint before the Security Council without first attempting private settlement.

Meanwhile, two commissions of the Economic and Social Council opened two-week meetings by selecting officers.

The Economic and Employment Commission named Prof. Ragnar Frisch, of Norway, chairman and the Social Commission selected Dr. Frantisek Kraus, of Czechoslovakia, as its head.

The Corfu Mines

These plans, of course, were subject to review by Marshall.

Following the arms motion, the Council faces British charges that Albania was responsible for sowing mines in the Corfu Channel, leading to the damaging of two British destroyers with 44 casualties last October 22.

Albania rejected the complaint and in turn accused the British of violating territorial waters. The American delegation, it was reported, may suggest referring the case to the International Court of Justice.

Arms-Cut Delay, Asked By U.S., Likely At U.N.

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 20 (AP)—An American motion to postpone United Nations discussion of world-wide arms-reduction plans for two weeks appeared assured of passage today by the Security Council.

Only Russia stood opposed on the basis of past arguments as the delegates reassembled after a week-end recess prompted by the death of the Brazilian delegate Pedro Leao Velloso.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, asked the delay until February 4 because of James F. Brynes's resignation as Secretary of State and to allow more time for studying a series of preliminary proposals tossed into the Council hopper by Russian, France, Colombia and Australia.

To [illegible] Marshall

He was believed opposed to any compromise setting up immediately a subcommittee to start the work of a suggested eleven-nation disarmament commission.

Within a week Austin plans to confer with George C. Marshall, the incoming Secretary, and lay the groundwork for a basic American policy on arms slashing

Having lost its fight to get priority for atomic-energy control, the United States planned to resist setting up a disarmament commission even next month. Austin might, however, agree to such a body if other delegates insisted, but would demand that all weapons of mass destruction be considered by the presently functioning Atomic Energy Commission and not by any new arms commission.

U.S., Britain Urged to Aid Other Nations in Atomic Research

LONDON, Jan. 20 — (AP) The United States, Britain and Canada, the "know how" nations, were urged today by the British Atomic Scientists Association to aid other countries in setting up non-military atomic research plants as a step in achieving world control of atomic energy.

A 2,400-word report issued by the council for the association, made up of 150 of Britain's leading atomic scientists, suggested a world accounting of fissile materials as a means of reconciling differences between Russia and the United States over control of the atom bomb.

A[illegible] Inventory

Commenting on the Soviet proposal to require destruction with a limited time of existing stocks of bombs as against the U. S. plan to postpone such action until international safeguards are established, the council said:

"On this question it is easy to understand the reasons for either point of view, but we think it would be reasonable to ask at least for a declaration by all countries of the amounts of fissile materials in their possession and of the production rates in existing or projected plants.

"Such a declaration might materially contribute to a spirit of confidence, while not appreciably impairing the security of the United States. We hope, in particular, that it may be possible to make these valuable materials available for productive uses rather than to destroy them.

"It is unlikely in any event that nations would agree to the destructoin of precious fissile materials, and without this the mere dismantling of existing bombs would be of no value, since the fabrication of bombs from fissile materials is not likely to be the bottleneck in the production of weapons."

The statement said that "it would be a generous and helpful measure if the nations now possessing the most advanced knowledge of atomic energy were to offer to the other nations collaboration in setting up small atomic reactors" (ovens which produce heat, radioactive rays and new atoms).

Such reactors are "of little use for military purposes," it said, "but are valuable for the purposes of of scientific research and for the production of tracer elements for research in medicine and other fields."

The report recommended that plans and personnel for such plants be offered by the "know how" nations, defined by officials of the association as the United States, Britain and Canada.

Give Control Views

Concerning proposals for international control of atomic energy, the statement said that it was unfortunate that the question of United Nations veto powers "reached such prominence" in the early stages of the discussion.

The scientists said they believed that the relations of the Atomic Development Authority, the UN organ for supervising control of atomic energy, to the rest of the United Nations would have to be clarified.

"As long as the UNO charter provides for the right of veto in certain decisions of the Security Council," the statement said, "we do not see how the application of sanctions in matters which concern the ADA can be made independent of this right."

The report said that possibly control measures might fail in view of the "present state of distrust between nations" because any effective scheme "must contain, at least in embryonic form, a measure of world government."

The association, organized less than a year ago, has a membership of 150, all scientists who worked in the development of atomic energy, said Dr. W. J. Arrol, of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, the official spokesman.

The members include Prof. M. E. Oliphant, chief of Britain's research team which co-operated in the atom bomb project. N. F. Mott, of Bristol University, is the president.

Atom Research 1947 Plants Urged

Ian Williams

London, Jan. 20 (AP)—The British Atomic Scientists Association urged today that the United States, Britain and Canada immediately give other nations help in setting up atomic research plants "of little use for military research."

"It would be a generous and helpful measure if the nations now possessing the most advanced knowledge of atomic energy were to offer to other nations collaboration in setting up small atomic reactors," a 2,400-word statement by the association's council said.

Atomic reactors are ovens which produce heat, radioactive rays and new atoms. The association said they "are of little use for military purposes but are valuable for the purposes of scientific research and for the production of tracer elements for research in medicine and other fields."

Suggests Plans Be Defined

It suggested that plans and personnel be offered by the "know-how" nations—defined by officials of the association as the United States, Britain and Canada.

As for military control of atomic knowledge, the association said:

"We are impressed with the strength of the case made in the Lilienthal report for giving to ADA (Atomic Development Authority) positive responsibility for production and ownership" (of atomic plants).

Amplify Baruch Proposals

It recommended that Bernard M. Baruch's American proposals for control be "amplified by making it clear that a definite succession of steps should be laid down from the outset and be accepted by each nation participating in the scheme."

Just what countries have atomic "know how" is a matter of dispute While British and Canadian scientists participated in work preliminary to construction of the atomic bomb, American officials have denied that the actual secrets of the bomb were known outside the United States.

Two Dissenters

Two members of the council, the foreword added, "have felt unable to support the whole of the memorandum." The dissenters were not named.

The council examined both the Baruch and Gromyko proposals for international control of atomic energy and the memorandum observed:

"The most important objection to the Baruch plan from the point of view of other nations is probably that it envisages in its first stages measures which may be construed as maintaining the dominance of the United States in the field of atomic energy, whereas the concessions which are to be made by that country appear mostly in the later stages.

Ratification Question

"If these later stages are not to be ratified until the previous ones have been achieved, technically Congress could withhold ratification at any stage."

Noting United States proposals to postpone immediate destruction of atomic weapons, as demanded by the Russians, the statement declared:

"We think it would be reasonable to ask at least for a declaration by all countries of the amounts of fissile materials in their possession and of the production rates in existing or projected plants.

Veto Called Unfortunate

The council said it was unfortunate that the question of United Nations veto powers "reached such prominence" so early in the discussion of schemes for atomic-energy control, "before other features of the plans had been adequately considered."

The scientists said they saw the need of an atomic development authority free to conduct its own day-to-day management, but added:

"The line between administrative problems which are the province of the ADA and policy problems to be settled by the Security Council is, of course, difficult to draw. There remain borderline cases in which the question of procedure will have to be settled by the Security Council, or possibly by the General Assembly of the United Nations."

Calls For ADA Ownership

The report said "it is an important feature of the Baruch plan that all 'dangerous production facilities,' i.e., all those that are easily adapted to the production of military weapons, should be owned by ADA. (AP)

PALESTINE PARLEY AGAIN POSTPONED

Arthur Gaer Shon

LONDON, Jan. 20—(AP) Britain deferred the Palestine conference for the third time today as Arab and Jewish leaders hurried to London by sea and air to share in shaping the Holy Land's future.

A spokesman for the British government said that the conference, which had been due to reconvene tomorrow after a three-month adjournment, was unlikely to open before next Monday because all Arab delegates had not arrived.

Some diplomatic observers suggested that Britain, still seeking to persuade Jewish representatives to participate in the discussions, might be "playing for time." These representatives, although not formally taking part in the conference, will be in London.

Observers noted that even if Arab representatives had arrived in London, the talks could not have started tomorrow because the St. James' palace conference rooms were not ready for use by the delegates. Workmen today were installing heating, lighting and communication facilities.

A government spokesman confirmed earlier reports that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones would address the Arab delegates when the talks are resumed.

Informants said Bevin and Jones will explain why Britain cannot accept the Arab League State's proposals for the creation of a sovereign, independent Palestine. Under this plan, Jewish rights would be guaranteed, but all further Jewish immigration would be prohibited.

Diplomatic sources said that before any new proposals are tabled, British leaders probably will call upon the Palestine Arabs—newcomers at the forthcoming session to the conference—for their views on a Holy Land settlement. Their leader, Jamala Effendi Husseini, vice-chairman of the Palestine Arabs' Higher Executive, is expected to amend the Arab League plan. (AP)

Jewish 1947 Call To End Terrorism

Jerusalem, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Jewish National Council, in a resolution condemning terrorism, tonight called on Jews to "resist with all means the threats of dissident groups designed to extort money or to extend their activities."

The resolution said that "Palestine Jewry and the Zionist movement condemn all terrorist methods" and reiterated a demand for recognition of Jewish institutions as the "supreme bodies" of Jewry.

David Remez, council chairman, in a statement prefacing the resolution, said, "As we have no police power or other state functions in Palestine, as we do not want fratricidal war among Jews, and as there are now but limited possibilities of co-operating with the Government in curbing terrorism, we again demand the stoppage of the activities of these dissident elements in our midst."

"Blackmail and Coercion"

After a long council session, Remez said, "Yishuv (the Jewish community of Palestine) will use force to oppose acts of blackmail and coercion and threats of intimidation by terrorist groups.

"We shall use force," he continued, "to prevent intimidation practiced for the purpose of obtaining funds for terrorism, for the coercion of teachers and youngsters, for threats against drivers with the intent to steal vehicles."

Remez emphasized that the "discipline of the Zionist movement and of Yishuv must be supreme in the struggle to tear asunder the White Paper policy of 1939, to open Palestine's gates to every Jew wishing to come here, and to guarantee our future as a free people in a free state."

"Outside Scope Of Planners"

Another council spokesman said that for "twenty months our problem has been outside the scope of the planners of the postwar world."

"We wish to continue our creative work of rebuilding Palestine, and we plan to call on the United States, Britain, Russia, or any other power for help," he said.

Referring to the forthcoming London conference on Palestine, which Jewish representatives have not yet agreed to attend, the spokesman said:

"If the talks are designed for a real solution, we have the right to demand to be able to take part in the knowledge that, while the talks are in progress no hostile acts by the authorities will take place, no Jews will be deported from Palestine, and responsibility for the acts of individuals and small groups will not be placed on the whole of Yishuv." Congress Urged To Aid Palestine Immigration

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Representative Javits (R., N.Y.) member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, urged Congress today to help in setting up a Palestine commonwealth.

Reporting on a trip through Palestine and Greece last fall, he told his colleagues "the situation of the Jews in Europe and Palestine will grow worse on all counts the longer a solution is deferred."

Javits recalled that the Senate and House last year approved a resolution which provided that the United States should "use its good offices" to obtain free entry of Jews into Palestine.

In line with this, Javits suggested the United States send a special mission to Palestine "to aid the British in supervising increased immigration and land settlement and the resumption of land purchase by Jews."

BRITISH WORKERS URGED TO SPEED NATION'S OUTPUT

William Phillips

LONDON, Jan. 20—(AP) Britain's Labor government appealed tonight to the country's 20,000,000 working men and women—backbone of the government's support—to shoulder voluntarily the burden of industrial speedup as the only means of economic salvation.

Prime Minister Attlee's peacetime version of Winston Churchill's wartime call for "blood, toil, tears and sweat" was published as a white paper, on the eve of tomorrow's reopening of Parliament.

"The position of Great Britain is extremely serious," said this document, addressed to employers as well as workers and issued with the admitted hope of becoming a propaganda "best seller" that will reach every executive office and assembly line in the country.

Ask Production

"The answer, in the end last, is increased production," it said, after detailing three great dangers:

The threat of inflation on the home front, an export balance short of imports by $1,312,000,000 in 1946, and a grave manpower shortage with no relief in sight "for some years to come."

"The American and Canadian loans only give us a short breathing space," the document said.

But it fought shy of laying down a national wages policy, for which agitation reached a peak during the recent "unofficial" transport strike.

Instead, the white paper, prepared in consultation with trade union and employers' representatives, recommended in effect a British adaptation of Russia's incentive speedup system, to be carried out voluntarily by both sides.

Program Is Advanced

Under this, in normal collective bargaining proceedings, the government indicated that it would like:

1. Employers to agree to higher wages and better conditions in industries regarded as seriously undermanned, largely manufacturing.

2. Employes' representatives not to press for improvements in industries relatively better off as to manpower.

3. This virtual "freezing" of conditions in certain industries—they were not named for what a Ministry of Labor spokesman called "obvious reasons"—would be broken only by pay increases linked to higher production.

The last point was stated only as "raising the level of output per head without prejudice to earnings," but the spokesman indicated it referred to such means of boosting production, without raising basic wages, as piece rates and incentive bonuses.

As its part the government pledged itself to "maintain, control and ensure that no unregulated increase in the prices of essential goods and services occurs."

Subsidies to keep down food and other prices will be continued.

Other Points

Some of the document's points were:

That the danger of inflation is based on an annual national income of $28,000,000,000 after taxes, against $24,000,000,000 worth of goods and services available to be purchased.

That at least 500,000 more workers are needed in export industries in order to reach prewar exports needed to attain a balanced trade figure.

That the present shortage of men is 675,000 in a group of seriously undermanned industries that includes coal mining, textiles, iron foundries, bricks and tiles and tinplate and sheet steel. Clothing, footwear, furniture, paper and printing, and laundries come also in this seriously short category.

Loan 'Not Aid To Tsaldaris'

London, Jan. 20 (AP)—The British Foreign Office confirmed today that Britain had lent Greece £5,000,000 ($20,000,000), but rejected suggestions that the loan was designed to strengthen Premier Constantin Tsaldaris's hand in the Greek Cabinet crisis.

Asked in Athens Saturday whether the loan constituted British indorsement of his regime, Tsaldaris said "you may form your own conclusion."

A Foreign Office spokesman said the purpose of the loan was to help the Greek nation and added "you might as well suggest that the purpose of the American loan to Britain was to help Mr. Attlee," British Prime Minister.

Premier's Ouster Asked

Athens, Jan. 20 (AP) — King George II was confronted today with a demand by the leaders of seven opposition parties that he summon the Crown Council with a view to dismissing Premier Constantin Tsaldaris and forming a new government.

FRENCH CABINET ISSUE REMAINS DEADLOCKED

PARIS, Jan. 20—(AP) The MRP party announced tonight it would vote tomorrow to confirm the nomination of Socialist Paul Ramadier as premier of the Fourth Republic, but was withholding a decision on participating in any coalition cabinet which gave the national defense ministry to a Communist.

In view of the MRP attitude, Ramadier was still far from certain of forming a cabinet taking in Communist, Socialists, the MRP, Radical Socialists and Independents. There was a strong possibility he might ultimately form an all-Socialist cabinet, which the MRP would approve but the Communists oppose.

After a long session tonight, the MRP, headed by former President-Premier Georges Bidault, made it clear that support for Ramadier would not bind its members to participate in his government. They deferred any decision to participate until they could discuss the defense post further with Ramadier.

The first item on the National Assembly's agenda tomorrow will be the election of a new assembly president. Radical-Socialist Edouard Herriot is the only candidate.

Politicians said today that Ramadier would give his Socialist party seven Cabinet positions, although it is outranked by both the Communists and the MRP. Both those parties and the Radical Socialists would get five posts each and two would go to independents, it was said.

Ramadier rejected an MRP proposal to split the National Defense Miinstry and was reported to be planning to give the intact position to a Communist, either Francois Billoux or Charles Tillon.

Other Posts For Reds

The Communists also were listed in political speculation for the Labor, Public Health, Veterans' Affairs and a Ministry of State post. The latter position was earmarked for Maurice Thorez, who spent part of the war in Russia.

Bidault was slated for the Foreign Affairs post. His MRP party also was scheduled to obtain another Ministry of State and the Justice, War and Population portfolios, politicians said.

Ramadier, two days after his nomination, notified Socialist President Vincent Auriol of his formal acceptance of the task of setting up the first permanent Government of the new Fourth Republic.

MRP Raises Issue

This indicated that he was sure of support of the MRP, Socialists, Communists, Radical Socialists and Rightist parties. The constitution says a Premier-designate must be guaranteed the backing of all the parties he wants in his government before he agrees to form the Cabinet.

However, an MRP spokesman later reported an MRP proposal that defense be handled in the Cabinet by a minister of armaments, chosen from the Communist ranks, and a minister of the army from some other party.

The night before, Ramadier—to get Communist backing—had said that he would give the Communists the top defense post—Minister of National Defense. In view of this, the MRP source expressed doubt that Ramadier would accept the MRP proposal.

Preferred To Coalition

Other sources said the MRP's object was to bring about continuance of Leon Blum's all-Socialist Government in preference to a coalition setup.

Earlier, an MRP parliamentary deputy reported that Bidault, offered the Foreign Ministry, had been reassured as to French policy toward Germany.

Bidault, this source said, had feared that Blum in recent London talks looking toward a French-British alliance had promised to change this policy. The deputy reported, however, that "Blum, Vincent Auriol and Ramadier all solemnly promised Bidault that the French position rests intact."

FRENCH WIDEN LINES IN HANOI SUBURBS

PARIS, Jan. 20—(AP) French troops have widened their lines in the suburbs of Hanoi, driving hard-fighting Viet-Namese nationalists back about 60 yards along a front several miles wide west of the city, press dispatches from Indochina said tonight.

At Nam Dinh, 50 miles from Hanoi, and at Langson, 80 miles north of the city, small scale fighting continued, the dispatches added.

A report from Hanoi said three Roman Catholic priests, including a Msgr. Drapier, apostolic delegate at Hue, had been seized by the Viet-Namese and still were in their hands.

Earlier dispatches said French troops were closing in on Hue in an effort to relieve the isolated and embattled town, which has been holding out against repeated Viet-Nam attacks since Dec. 19.

Meanwhile, the French liner Sontay arrived at Marseille from Saigon, bringing 723 passengers and 350 military personnel being repatriated from Indochina.

brisk week-end fighting between French and Viet-Nam forces in the Nga Tu So district.

French forces in Indo-China, meanwhile, were augmented by the arrival of the cruiser Duquesne carrying elements of the 25th Airborne Division.

Anti-Cartel Efforts Bared

Berlin, Jan. 20 (AP)—The American Military Government said today a anti-cartel policy has barred eight executives of a Luxembourg steel combine from entering the United States zone of occupation in Germany.

Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay said in a review of military government operations:

"Non-German Europeans closely affiliated with German cartel interests are endeavoring to renew their ties with their old German associates.

Aloi Meyer Included

Thus, eight top executives of Arbed (Luxembourg steel combine), including its head, Alois Meyer, who is also permanent president of the International Steel Cartel, have unsuccessfully sought entry into the United States zone.

"Likewise, Germans have been prevented from accepting appointment and from serving as directors of Swiss firms."

The AMG recently threatened legal prosecution of foreign business firms which it said had appointed Germans to their boards of directors, contrary to prohibitions established by the Allied Control Council.

Decartelization Planned

The AMG announcement said such appointments interfered with Allied efforts to confiscate all German assets abroad and place them in custody of the control council.

Meanwhile, the military government has prepared a decartelization law requiring the breaking up of any enterprise in the United States zone employing more than 10,000 persons as an excessive concentration of economic power.

PENALTIES FACE GERMANS

40 Guilty of Conducting Death March to Hear Verdict Soon

DACHAU, Germany, Jan. 20 (AP)—A United States Military Court said today it would hand down a decision this week on penalities for forty Germans convicted of having committed atrocities in the Flossenburg concentration camp, including a forced march of death just before the war ended.

The European version of the Bataan-like march was in May of 1945. Witnesses testified the defendants, operators and workers at the camp, had forced emaciated prisoners to march from Flossenburg to Dachau and that several thousand had died en route. Hundreds were shot when they became exhausted.

The Germans were convicted after a trial of seven months in which William D. Benson of Birmingham, Ala., was chief prosecutor. Five were acquitted.

Richard Strauss Called By Denazification Court

Munich, Germany, Jan. 20 (AP)—The composer Richard Strauss has been summoned by a denazification court in Garmisch to determine whether he profited under the Hitler regime.

Strauss, 82, has obtained Austrian citizenship and exoneration there of any taint. His German trial, within two weeks, may be in absentia. Before Germany collapsed, Strauss usually spent his summers in the Bavarian Alps at Garmisch and his winters in Vienna. Friends contended he would be acquitted.

DE GASPERI QUITS, FORCING ITALIAN CRISIS SHOWDOWN

Expected to Form New Government; May Bear Down on Leftists.

CALLS FOR UNITY

Political Situation Further Complicated by Protest to Big 4 on Treaty

ROME, Jan. 20 — (AP) Premier Alcide de Gasperi, bringing to a head a governmental crisis which developed during his recent visit to the United States, submitted his resignation tonight. He was expected, however, to form a new government—perhaps one in which the leftists would have less voice.

Almost simultaneously, the Italian political situation was further complicated with the announcement by the foreign minister that Italy had filed a strong protest with the United States, Great Britain, Russia and France against terms of the proposed Italian peace treaty. The pact will be signed at Paris Feb. 10.

To Post-Fascist Regime

De Gasperi's resignation was handed to President Enrico de Nicola, who said in a communique that consultations had begun to form the new government. The first person the president is scheduled to see is De Gasperi himself.

Twice in the last year, the 55-year-old De Gasperi, leader of the centrist predominantly Catholic Christian Democratic party, has been called to form a government. Each lasted about six months.

In his resignation today, the premier elected to precipitate a crisis which developed when the Italian Socialist party broke apart over the question of collaboration with the Communist party.

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE ON GREEK PREMIERSHIP

ATHENS, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Greek parliament adjourned today until Thursday in order to permit further negotiations by the seven parties demanding that King George appoint a Crown Council with the view of dismissing Premier Constantin Tsaldaris and forming a new government.

Leaders of the seven parties, which control 181 of the 354 seats in parliament, have advised the king they will join in a new government under any premier he may designate with the exception of Tsaldaris.

Ramadier Is Due To Pick Cabinet Despite MRP

Paris, Jan. 20 (AP)—Premier Designate Paul Ramadier is expected to appear before the National Assembly tomorrow for confirmation of a coalition Cabinet containing five Communists, regardless of whether former Premier President Georges Bidault's MRP party supports him.

French Try To End Siege

Paris, Jan. 20 (AP)—French troops were reported closing in on the Indo-China town of Hue today in an effort to relieve the isolated and embattled garrison, which has been holding out against repeated attacks by Viet-Nam Nationalists since December 19.

Launching of the relief operation was announced in a communiqué which said that a French column already had advanced more than 15 miles in the direction of Hue from the naval base of Tourane—about 50 miles southeast of the besieged capital of Annam province.

Elements of the French Foreign Legion and the 23d Regiment of Colonial Infantry were reported among the troops in the relief column.

Dispatches from Hanoi reported

12,000 Fifths Of Incentive

Berlin, Jan. 20 (AP)—The American Military Government announced today that it is releasing approximately 12,000 bottles of "schnapps" (hard liquor) for coal miners in the United States zone's program to spur production. Those doing the heaviest work will get one bottle (one-fifth gallon) per month under this plan.

The Military Government also announced the allocation of 28,000 cubic meters of lumber to the Ruhr for the housing of miners—an amount sufficient for the construction of about 2,000 dwellings or for the repair of several thousand.

30.24 — 7457

This break up was followed by two resignations: Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the insurgent Socialists, said he would step down as president of the constituent assembly. Pietro Nenni, Socialist leader accused by Saragat of taking orders from the Communists, subsequently announced his intention of quitting as foreign minister.

In an "order of the day" issued Saturday the Communists also called on De Gasperi for a clarification of the obligations of the four parties which form his coalition government.

The premier, at a news conference shortly before his resignation, gave an impression of confidence which led some observers to believe that the new government—when formed—would be more centrist than at present.

The cabinet now is composed of nine Christian Democrats, the largest party in Italy; four Socialists; four Communists and two Republicans.

Several Rome newspapers speculated that De Gasperi might take back the foreign affairs portfolio, which he held prior to Nenni's appointment.

Refers to U. S. Aid

De Gasperi stressed the importance of national unity. Referring to concessions and promises obtained during his American trip he said "all this is bound to the stability and consolidation of our democratic regime."

Nenni wound up his affairs in the government by delivering Italy's new protest to the ranking diplomatic representatives here of the Big Four powers.

The document said Italy found it necessary to "formulate the most express reserves" to the treaty's terms, and asked the victorious powers to "recognize the principle of the revision of treaties on the basis of bilateral accords with the interested states and under the control and within the scope of the United Nations."

The foreign office announcement gave no hint that Italy would balk at accepting the treaty, but quoted the note as saying that the treaty "offends the national conscience, especially by its territorial clauses."

These clauses would strip Italy of her African colonies and the Dodecanese Islands, and give Yugoslavia and France territory on her northeastern and northwestern frontiers.

Cabinet Resigns In Italy

Rome, Jan. 20 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Government resigned today.

President Enrico de Nicola accepted the resignation but immediately scheduled a conference with Gasperi tomorrow in the first of the consultations that will lead to a new Government. Gasperi was generally expected to be asked to resume the premiership.

Simultaneously Foreign Minister Pietro Nenni announced that Italy was protesting to the Big Four powers against the terms of the Italian peace treaty to be signed at Paris February 10.

Just Back From U.S.

A note to the United States, Britain, Soviet Russia and France said found it necessary to "formulate the most express reserves" to terms of the treaty. The pact reduces Italy's prewar territory and cuts her navy and armaments potential.

The Cabinet crisis came only a few days after Gasperi's fruitful trip to the United States. His four-party government has served six months.

Sees Admiral Stone

Gasperi said he was seeking to clarify the situation. He mentioned specifically the division in the Socialist party, headed by Nenni. One branch of the party has broken off, protesting that Nenni had collaborated too much with the Communists. Nenni offered his resignation as Foreign Minister on Saturday. Gasperi adheres to the Christian Socialist party.

Gasperi, after conferring with Nicola, talked with United States Rear Admiral Ellery W. Stone, chief Allied commissioner.

The Premier had announced his resignation in a statement whose tenor led many of his hearers to believe he was confident of coming out on top in the crisis.

Power Needs to Shut Italian Shipyards

Rome, Jan. 20 (AP)—(A. P.).—Dispatches from Trieste reported today that the Monfalcone Shipyards—the largest in Italy—would close down from February 4 to 20 because of a shortage of electric power resulting from an unprecedented cold wave.

Bishop Released By Yugoslavs

Rome, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—Dispatches from Venezia Giulia said today that Bishop Raffaele Mario Radossi of Parenzo and Pola, detained by Yugoslav authorities last Wednesday at the Vignano road block, had been freed and had returned to Parenzo.

RED BLOC SWEEP GROWS IN POLAND

100,000 Militiamen Stand Guard as Election Boards Continue Count.

WARSAW, Jan. 20—(AP) Landslide votes in cities and heavily populated industrial areas gave a mounting majority tonight to the pro-Communist government bloc parties, apparently assuring them of 80 per cent of the seats in Poland's new parliament.

More than 100,000 volunteer militiamen stood guard as election boards continued canvassing the ballots from yesterday's voting—Poland's first parliamentary election since 1935. A near-maximum vote of 12,000,000 was indicated.

138 Killed

A compilation of election violence, meanwhile, showed that 138 persons were killed in anti-government underground attacks during the campaign, including 23 on election day. Numerous attacks were reported driven off yesterday in the Lublin, Poznan, Rzeszow and Bialystok districts.

Although complete official returns from balloting will not be published until Jan. 31, unofficial results indicated that the bloc had captured about 355 of the 444 parliamentary seats.

Most of the remaining seats were won by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's Polish Peasant (PSL) party, the Labor party, and the new Liberation party.

The provisional government expressed itself as "quite satisfied" with the results, and said balloting was orderly despite "numerous attempts by the underground to break up elections and terrorize people, which did not succeed."

A spokesman for the government said it also was significant "that in the 10 districts where the Polish Peasant party called for a boycott, the vote was very heavy."

Mikolajczyk, however, said the boycott was effective, and that the only Peasants who voted were "those forced to do so by security police and militia."

The government spokesman also described as "astonishing" an announcement by Mikolajczyk that he would demand that the elections be declared void because of alleged irregularities.

The spokesman said he wondered who could declare elections invalid, and whether the vice premier planned to appeal to the big three powers. Mikolajczyk declared the appeal would be made to the supreme court from each of the 52 election districts.

Mikolajczyk previously had accused the government of arresting his candidates, intimidating his followers, striking the names of his candidates from election lists and packing the polls with pro-government elections officials.

The returns showed that the government bloc had piled up overwhelming majorities in the land taken over by Poland from eastern Germany. Unofficial figures gave the bloc 91 percent in lower Silesia, compared with six percent for the Polish Peasant Party.

Partial returns from Krakow, considered a stronghold of Mikolajczyk's strongholds and often referred to by the bloc as the "capital of the black reactionaries," showed the bloc received four times as many votes at the Mikolajczyk party.

In Katowice, the Pittsburgh of Poland, 52 precincts gave the bloc 86,437; Polish Peasant party, 17,090; Labor, 6,482, and new Liberation, 1,111.

Labor Party Shows Powers

A representative cross-section of unofficial returns in Warsaw showed that the bloc was receiving about 66 per cent of the capital's ballots.

The Labor party, which claims the support of many Catholics, showed surprising strength in some sections and may recapture as many seats as the Polish Peasant party, perhaps more.

Most of a list of fifteen Catholic candidates running as a group without party designation appeared assured of seats.

The Communist-backed Workers party and the Socialists—the two most powerful organizations in the bloc—will control the next session of Parliament, which is expected to convene early next month.

Bierut Reelection Expected

Shortly thereafter President Boleslaw Bierut and his Government will resign and Parliament will elect a new president. Bierut is expected to be re-elected, and he probably will reappoint Edward B. Osubka-Morawski as Premier.

Mikolajczyk and his two ministers in the provisional régime may quit the Government permanently as soon as election results are announced.

Mikolajczyk himself is regarded as certain to win a parliamentary seat, but his representation of 53 deputies in the provisional parliament, which has existed since the Warsaw régime was formed, may be considerably reduced.

Polish Reds May Have Won 80% Of Parliament

Warsaw, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Communist-dominated Government bloc parties appeared tonight to have won up to 80 per cent of the seats in yesterday's parliamentary elections.

Landslide votes were cast in the big cities and heavily populated industrial areas, where Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL) was at its greatest disadvantage.

It appeared that the PSL and its offshoot, the New Liberation party, were likely to share the remaining twenty per cent of the 444 seats in Parliament, somewhere around 90 places.

Will Appeal To Court

Mikolajczyk virtually abandoned hopes for victory by announcing he intended to ask the Supreme Court to nullify the election, charging irregularities and violations of secrecy.

The first eighteen precincts in Warsaw gave the Government bloc candidates 20,633 votes to 5,576 for the PSL, 4,222 for the Labor party and 1,409 for others.

More than 100,000 volunteer militiamen aided the security police in guarding the ballot boxes against possible attack from the underground. It was estimated that 12,000,000 votes were cast. The Government asserted that the election was legal and orderly throughout Poland.

American and British Embassy staff employes watched the voting in the heaviest centers of population.

Toll Put At 133

Campaign and election day attacks by the underground on poll commissioners and militamen appeared meanwhile to have cost 133 lives.

The Government said 35 poll commission officials were killed outright and another 24 were kidnapped and presumed slain. At least 16 underground fighters were killed, along with 58 members of the volunteer citizens militia and the regular militia.

Numerous attempted attacks were reported beaten off yesterday in the Lublin, Poznan, Rzeszow and Bialystok districts.

Complete Result Soon

Complete unofficial returns are expected within 48 hours. The official result will be announced January 31.

The Bloc parties—the Communist-backed Workers party, Socialists, Democrats and Independent Peasants—rolled up topheavy majorities in all sections, election counters said.

The territories that Poland absorbed from eastern Germany were reported to have given tremendous majorities to the Bloc candidates.

Krakow Backs Bloc

Government informants said unofficial returns showed that Lower Silesia gave the Bloc 91 per cent and the PSL six per cent. The same sources said that partial returns from Krakow, one of Mikolajczyk's strongest centers, gave the Bloc nearly four times as many votes as the PSL.

Mikolajczyk, who was booed at the polls, charged that a constitutional guarantee of the secret ballot had been violated and expressed belief that if the votes were counted fairly his party would get a majority of the 444 seats in Poland's one-house Parliament, which is to draw up a new Constitution and elect a President.

Commissions Guarded

Election commissions in 6,726 precincts, guarded by the Army, security police and militia, began counting ballots yesterday soon after the end of the twelve-hour voting period at 7 P.M.

In most big cities, voters, taken to the polls in tens of thousands by house-to-house campaigners for the Bloc, were said in many cases to have made known how they balloted by showing election officials their white No. 3 (Bloc) slips before putting them in envelopes designed to insure secrecy.

In many country districts, on the other hand, farmers were said to be insisting upon a secret ballot. In Warsaw's 183 precincts, the PSL said it had no poll watchers; in the country, however, it reported it had about 100.

In many Warsaw precincts, foreign correspondents saw citizens throw away the secret-ballot envelopes. Some staff members of the United States and British embassies also reported many instances of open voting.

British Contemplate Action In Polish Vote

London, Jan. 20 (AP)—Britain will consider withdrawing recognition from the Polish Government on the ground that Sunday's elections were not free, responsible sources said today, but less drastic action is ultimately likelier.

Two other courses lay open:

1. The British, in deliberations on the German peace treaty, might oppose Poland's claims to former German territory east of the Oder and Niesse rivers.

2. Britain might withhold millions of dollars' worth of gold brought here in wartime by the Polish Government in exile and not yet turned over to the present Moscow-supported regime.

Poland's gold deposits in Britain have been estimated by the Polish Government at $40,000,000. The British Foreign Office has fixed the sum at $28,000,000.

Russia Watches Elections.

Moscow, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—The Polish elections held the spotlight in the Soviet press and radio today, with reports emphasizing the high turn-out, organized character of voting and the festive atmosphere of the balloting.

A Pravda correspondent reported from Warsaw that the voting was calm and orderly throughout Poland except for "isolated efforts of reactionaries to disorganize and compromise the elections."

"The tallying of votes will show," wrote the Pravda correspondent, "to whom the Polish people have intrusted power in these first genuinely democratic elections in Poland. But the very organized manner in which it was voted speaks of the people's great, unbreakable faith in its Government."

BOMB POSSIBILITY PROBED IN SINKING OF GREEK VESSEL

L. S. Chafee

ATHENS, Jan. 20 (AP)—The possibility that a time bomb sank the Greek steamer Chimarri, sending an estimated 392 panic-stricken persons to their deaths yesterday in the frigid waters of the Gulf of Petalion, was being investigated tonight by officials of the Merchant Marine Ministry.

The original announcement of the sinking, the worst maritime disaster in modern Greek history, said the 1,800 ton former German vessel hit a mine. The Ministry did not rule out a floating or magnetic mine as a cause, but said it also was inquiring into whether a passenger might have been carrying explosives.

NIGHT

The ministry said 500 passengers and a crew of 87 were aboard the vessel when it left Salonika on Saturday. Of these 229 were saved and 16 others, at first believed lost, were found later to have disembarked at Khalkis, a seaport 30 miles north of Athens, three hours before the explosion.

A search was continuing for additional bodies. Some victims were trapped below the decks. Divers were being sent to the scene in an attempt to inspect the wreckage and ascertain the cause of the explosion.

The ministry of public order said 45 political prisoners bound for exile were aboard the vessel. They were being guarded by 12 gendarmes, nine of whom were missing. The prisoners were not in chains, but were permitted to move in a limited space. Their fate, however, was not immediately ascertained.

Survivors who were taken to Khalkis were ordered isolated by the harbor master, who said they would be questioned. (1200)

437 On Greek Ship Dead Or Missing

L. S. Chafee

Athens, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Merchant Marine Ministry today increased to 437 the list of persons missing and believed dead in the sinking of the 1,800-ton Greek steamer Chimarra, which went down 20 miles east of Athens yesterday after an explosion officially blamed on a mine.

The latest figures radioed here from shipping offices in Salonika indicated that the doomed vessel was carrying 548 passengers and a crew of 87 when she left there Saturday.

Thus far, the Marine Ministry said, only 198 survivors are definitely known.

DAY

Silent On Sabotage Talk

Officials of the Ministry, which said last night that the former German passenger ship had struck a mine, declined to comment on a report that the vessel was a victim of sabotage. There was no indication, however, that they gave any credence to the report.

Aristides Mytakis, a 44-year-old schoolteacher who survived the disaster, estimated that almost 200 of the casualties were women and children.

The Chimarra hit the mine a few miles off shore from Rafina.

Lifeboat Is Capsized

George Freris, wireless operator, said the passengers fought so madly to get into one lifeboat that it capsized.

The passengers included some 50 political deportees en route to an island exile.

Some of the first survivors reaching Athens were seriously injured. Many others were treated for burns and minor injuries.

BELGIUM'S 1947 ARMY

BRUSSELS, (AP)—The Belgian army in 1947 will have 73,500 men—24,900 professional soldiers and 48,600 recruits—according to a report from the Senatorial Commission for National Defense.

Yugoslavs Accuse Vatican

Red Newspaper Says Traitors Are Hidden in Monasteries

BELGRADE, Jan. 20 (AP).—The Yugoslav Communist party newspaper "Borba" today accused the Vatican of sanctioning the hiding of Yugoslav war criminals in monasteries throughout Italy, and of sponsoring intrigue and "propaganda undermining the freedom of the people of Yugoslavia."

A two-column editorial charged that the Vatican is working actively on "strengthening clerical influence" with members of the outlawed Ustachi and Chetniks who have fled Yugoslavia. The paper declared the Brotherhood of St. Geronimo in Rome is made up of Ustachi elements. In Rome, where, it charged, former Ustachi ministers and followers of Ante Pavelic, former puppet Croatian leader, have found refuge. It charged that Eugene Cardinal Tisserant is the link of "the Quisling Milan Nedic."

Russia to Step Up Housing Program

Moscow, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—A. Sharov, a leading official of the State Planning Commission, announced in Pravda today that the U. S. S. R.'s post-war housing program will be stepped up in 1947. Sharov said that housing will be increased especially in areas which underwent enemy occupation, and in parts of Siberia.

DAY

G. Laptev, Soviet agricultural expert, also writing in Pravda, called for further strengthening of the collective farm system as a means of overcoming what he described as the grave consequences of the 1946 drought in Russia.

TRIAL OF MARINE NEARS ARGUMENTS

PEIPING, Jan. 20—(AP) The court martial of a United States Marine charged with twice raping a 19-year-old Chinese co-ed neared the final argument stage today as threats were heard that more anti-American student demonstrations would follow any verdict short of conviction.

NIGHT

In concluding defense testimony, witnesses for Corp. William G. Pierson testified to details aimed at refuting the girl's story she struggled for three hours against the Marine's advances. A Navy doctor said abrasions found during an examination of the girl, Miss Shen Chung, were those which could have been made during a normal sexual relation.

The defense said more than 200 persons, unaware of any untoward incident, walked across the well-illuminated polo field of National Peking University within three to eight yards of the spot where the girl testified she was attacked on Christmas Eve despite her struggles and her screams.

A spokesman for university students in Shanghai said that students there might renew anti-American demonstrations if the U. S. navy tribunal trying Pierson should fail to convict him and mete out a severe sentence.

The spokesman said the students regard the court martial as "one-sided."

Girl's Complaint Called Tardy

Ed Masterson

Peiping, Jan. 20 (AP)—Second Lieutenant Richard C. O'Doud, of Kinston, N.C., today told a naval tribunal trying Marine Corporal William G. Pierson on a rape charge that neither the alleged victim nor Chinese police complained to marine military police the night of Pierson's arrest.

O'Doud, who was MP officer of the day, testified that the Marine Corps was not informed until the following day that Miss Shen Chung, 19-year-old National Peking (Peiping) University coed, had charged she had been raped. The charge set off a series of anti-American demonstrations by Chinese students.

DAY

Rape Not Mentioned, He Says

The lieutenant, who speaks Chinese, told the court that no mention of rape had been made by either Miss Shen or Chinese police on Christmas Eve, when the girl and Pierson were brought to MP headquarters.

Chinese police explained only that Pierson "had been caught with the girl on the polo field," O'Doud related.

Miss Shen and several Chinese policemen previously testified that rape charges were made at MP headquarters the night of the alleged incident.

Testifying for the defense, O'Doud and eight other witnesses said Pierson was intoxicated Christmas Eve.

Doctor's Testimony

Lieut. (jg) Percival I. Clark 3d, of Oklahoma City, naval doctor who examined Miss Shen on Christmas Day, testified he found only three tiny abrasions, which could have been made during a previous medical examination by two Chinese doctors.

The girl's injuries would have been greater had the girl struggled, he said. Miss Shen has testified she fought for three hours.

Traffic Statistics Introduced

Seeking to break down Miss Shen's testimony that she shouted and struggled to get away from Pierson, the defense introduced the results of a pedestrian traffic count showing 229 persons walked across the polo field within three to eight yards of the alleged rape spot in a comparative three-hour period.

It also sought to prove the field was well illuminated and normally quiet enough so that any outcry could be heard for some distance.

One army and three Marine military policemen testified that when Pierson and Miss Shen were brought into M.P. headquarters the girl did not object to being embraced, nor did the Chinese policemen with her interfere.

The defense concluded its case today.

MINORITY AIDS CHINESE REDS

Spokesman Urges Communist Role In Reorganization

Spencer Moosa

Shanghai, Jan. 20 (AP)—Strong opposition to any Government reorganization which would omit the Communists was voiced today by a spokesman for China's alliance of minority parties known as the Democratic

NIGHT

Lo Lung-chi, the spokesman, disagreed at his press conference with the prevailing view that Communist prerequisites for a resumption of peace talks are "impossible." These are (a) a restoration of military positions to those of January 13, 1946, when the Communists held vital positions since lost in civil war actions; (b) nullification of the new constitution approved by an assembly which the Communists shunned.

Lo said that any reorganization which left out the Communists would only prolong civil war and perpetuate the national split, currently involving the Kuomintang (Government party) and the Chinese Reds.

Policy Of U.S. Criticized

He deemed the mission of General Marshall a failure, blaming it on the "wrong policy" of the United States.

Lo disclosed the secession of the Social Democratic party, headed by Dr. Carson Chang, from the Democratic League, the second such action within a year. The Young China party seceded last year to branch out for itself. The league was formed in 1941 of six minor political groups.

Manchuria continued to be the focal point of military activity and inter-party wrangling. The central Government press reported, without confirmation elsewhere, that 300,000 Communist troops have been trapped in an area 48 miles northeast of Changchun. That Manchurian capital city is the object of a Communist drive which already has resulted in cutting off its electric power and water. (400)

New Order Follows Chinese Ship Sinking

Shanghai, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Shanghai Navigation Bureau today forbade further transportation of passengers in steamers with wooden hulls, after the river ship Chekiang sank Saturday with a loss of 300 to 600 lives.

DAY

Steps to prevent overloading also were being taken, the Navigation Bureau reported. Capacity of the Chekiagn was 300, but she carried more than 1,000, bureau officials said.

Medan Shelled By Indonesians

Batavia, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—Indonesian Nationalists shelled the European residential section of Medan, Sumatra, during a week-end flareup of fighting between Dutch and Indonesian forces. Five Dutch soldiers were reported killed. (1400)

Japs Get Cotton From United States

Tokyo, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—A total of 777,811 bales of raw cotton arrived in Japan from the United States as of last Sunday, the Japan Raw Cotton Import Association reported today. Another 20,000 bales are expected at Kobe the end of this month.

By the end of February Japan should have received the full 890,000 bales allotted from the 1946 crop, the association said.

Norwegians Visit Brazil

Rio de Janeiro, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Norwegian ship "Stela Polaris" arrived in Rio de Janeiro as the first ship from Norway to South America on a good neighbor mission since the war. Bankers, artists, businessmen, sportsmen, professors and industrialists were aboard.

SOVIET DEMAND REJECTED

Brazil Refuses to Pay Damages Charged to Envoy in Moscow

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 20 (AP)—Brazil has rejected categorically a Russian demand for compensation for damages allegedly caused by a Brazilian Embassy aide in a fight in the National Hotel of Moscow, it was announced today.

The Brazilian Foreign Office said a note to the Soviet Government had been delivered in which Brazil refused to pay any indemnity for the alleged damages and accused Russia of unfair treatment of Brazilian diplomats in Moscow. The Russian demand for indemnity followed the recall from Moscow of João Batista Hoares de Pinna of the Brazilian Embassy staff.

The Soviet Embassy here recently announced that Senhor de Pinna had been asked to leave Moscow because, while intoxicated, he damaged furniture in the National Hotel and assaulted Russian citizens. The Brazilian note said that Senhor de Pinna struck back after Soviet officials had assaulted him and that he acted "not from drunkenness but from defensive anger."

The note said also that the Brazilian Embassy in Moscow was in a "precarious" situation because of the Soviet Government's failure to house the Brazilian diplomats in the same manner as Soviet diplomats in Rio de [illegible]

Marshall Oath Is Delayed 24 Hours

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—The swearing in of Gen. George C. Marshall as Secretary of State was delayed 24 hours today after bad weather interrupted his flight to the Capital.

The plane bringing the wartime army chief of staff from the West Coast was forced down at Chicago this morning. A few hours later, he transferred to a train to complete the trip to Washington. He is due at 7.35 A.M. tomorrow.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the White House oath-taking ceremony will be held at 11 A.M. tomorrow, exactly 24 hours after it was originally scheduled.

DAY

Given Special Car

Marshall arrived on the West Coast yesterday from Hawaii, where he rested for a few days after a plane trip from China. He was in China as President Truman's special envoy.

Delayed four hours in Chicago, Marshall's party departed in a railroad business car attached to the Pennsylvania Railroad's Manhattan Limited. The special car was added to the train, railroad officials said, because all regular space had been sold.

Fur Coat Is Returned

As the General, Mrs. Marshall and his aides walked down the ramp at Union Station, a bellhop raced up with a fur coat for Mrs. Marshall. She had left it in a closet at the Stevens Hotel during the brief stopover. Marshall posed for photographers but declined to make a statement on national affairs.

"I can comment about your weather if you want me to," he said.

The Army's Air Transport Command headquarters reported there was "no possible chance" of Marshall completing the trip by air today. Weather conditions here were described as "rotten." Marshall originally was scheduled to arrive about 9.30 A.M. on the flight from Burbank, Cal.

Byrnes's Last Action

Retiring Secretary of State Byrnes, as his last official act, signed the peace treaties with Hungary, Romania, Italy and Bulgaria at a ceremony in the State Department.

Byrnes had expected to leave for his Spartanburg (S.C.) home tonight, but postponed his departure until tomorrow as a result of the delay in Marshall's arrival. He explained that he wanted to be on hand in the event he could be of assistance to his successor.

There is plenty of work ahead for Marshall, including preparation for the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference at Moscow in March on German and Austrian peace settlements. The American delegation will leave in about a month for the Soviet capital.

Three Big Problems

Diplomatic authorities said at least three major problems were confronting Marshall: yesterday's Polish elections, the future American attitude toward China, and the Argentine situation.

Strong American disapproval of the Polish Government's conduct of the election and pre-election campaigning was considered certain because of previous protests to the reported oppression of the Polish Peasant party, which opposed the Communist demoniated Government bloc.

More Support For Chiang?

The form of the United States disapproval, however, is not expected to be determined until after the receipt of reports from Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane at Warsaw. These were expected to bear out officially yesterday's press reports of Government coercion.

The China and Argentine situations appeared little less urgent.

With Marshall's return, American policy is expected still to seek to avert full-scale civil war between the Nationalists and the Communists. But Marshall himself appears to have laid the basis for stronger support of Chiang Kai-shek's Central Government at Nanking, provided that Government is reorganized to include a greater number of "liberals."

Messersmith Vs. Braden

The Argentine problem is urgent chiefly because Ambassador George Messersmith, the envoy to Buenos Aires, who is now in Washington, has disagreed sharply with Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden on the best way to deal with Argentina. Marshall may have to decide whether he wants to keep one or both of these men in their present jobs.

Messersmith is known to feel that the United States would get along better in Latin America if it assumed a friendlier attitude toward President Juan Peron. Braden demands that Peron rid the country of its remaining Nazi elements.

Marshall Takes Train As Storm Halts Plane

General Will Take Over Secretariat of State in White House Ceremony of 1947 Swearing In Tomorrow.

Chicago, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—Gen. George C. Marshall, forced down by bad flying weather en route from the Orient to Washington, transferred to a train today for the remainder of the trip to the capital, where he will be sworn in as Secretary of State.

After a four-hour delay in Chicago, the general's party left in a railroad business car attached to the Pennsylvania Railroad's Manhattan Limited, due in Washington tomorrow at 7:35 A. M. Eastern Standard time. The special car was added to the train, railroad officials said, because all regular space had been sold.

DAY

Comment on Weather.

As the General, Mrs. Marshall and his aids walked down the ramp at the Union Station, a bellhop raced up with a fur coat for Mrs. Marshall. She had left it in a closet at the Stevens Hotel during the brief stopover. The general posed for photographers, but declined to make a statement on national affairs.

"I can comment about your weather if you want me to," he said.

"We were en route to Washington, flying east of St. Louis, when we ran into bad weather," Marshall told newspaper men at the hotel. "The weather was icing."

Marshall did not explain why the plane flew on to Chicago, instead of returning to St. Louis. Marshall said that he received weather reports at the Douglas airport and learned that no airports between here and Washington were open.

Swearing-in Is Delayed.

Washington, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—The swearing in of Gen. Marshall as Secretary of State was delayed twenty-four hours today. Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters that the White House oath-taking ceremony will be held tomorrow at 11 A. M. (Eastern standard time), exactly twenty-four hours after it was originally scheduled.

Marshall arrived on the West Coast yesterday from Hawaii, where he rested a few days after a plane trip from China. He was in China as President Truman's special envoy.

Marshall, who left Burbank, Cal., last night, had been scheduled originally to arrive in the nation's capital at about 9:30 A. M.

Heavy Schedule Ahead.

There is plenty of work ahead for Marshall, including preparation for the Big Four foreign ministers' conference at Moscow in March on German and Austrian peace settlements. The American delegation will leave in about a month for the Russian capital.

Diplomatic authorities said that at least three problems were certain to claim Marshall's early attention: (1) American policy toward yesterday's national elections in Poland, (2) the future American attitude toward China, and (3) a study of the Argentine situation.

Strong American disapproval of the Polish Government's conduct of the election and pre-election campaigning was considered to be certain because of the protests already voiced here. They took sharp exception to the reported oppression of the Polish Peasant party, which opposed the Communist-dominated bloc supporting the Government.

Exactly what form United States disapproval would take, however, is not expected to be determined until after the receipt of reports from Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane, at Warsaw.

BYRNES SIGNS 4 PEACE PACTS

1947 Are With Italy, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania.

Washington, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Byrnes, as a final act, signed peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria today.

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Connally (D.-Tex.), who took part in the sixteen months of negotiations on the compacts, were at Byrnes's side in the ceremony at the State Department. There will be a second signing of the treaties at Paris on February 10 when representatives of the enemy satellite States will affix their signatures.

DAY

Other allies will sign the treaties at the same time. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery will act then for the United States.

Today's ceremony was arranged chiefly to permit Byrnes to sign the treaties before turning over his office to Gen. George C. Marshall. The actual ceremony required only two minutes; as Byrnes signed the documents at a table, Vandenberg was on his right and Connally at his left.

The Secretary signed the Italian treaty without changing pens. Several associates called to him to switch writing implements, and in signing the Bulgarian, Hungarian and Romanian pacts in that order, he used several pens. These he distributed among the two Senators and the diplomats who had worked with him for almost a year and a half on the writing of the treaties.

These included Dean C. Acheson, Under-Secretary of State; Assistant Secretary Willard Thorp, Ben Conen, State Department counselor; H. Freeman Mathews, head of the European Division; Samuel Reber, chief of the Southern European Division, and Charles E. Bohlen, Byrnes's special Adviser for Russian affairs. At the end of the ceremony, Byrnes grinned at the crowd and remarked: "If anybody wants to make a speech, he can have about five minutes right up here."

Byrnes himself made no statement. He did not sign the Finnish treaty because Finland, though at war with Russia and Britain, was not formally at war with the United States.

GEN. EISENHOWER FAVORS STRONGER OCCUPATION UNITS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 — (AP) Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today declared that strong occupation forces in Germany, Japan and Korea are "absolutely essential to the peace of the world" and in his view the American forces now there "are dangerously low" in strength.

Addressing the United States conference of mayors, the general of the Army and chief of staff begged recruiting assistance for the regular army. He said a strong America is essential for these two reasons:

NIGHT

Strong America Needed

First, to "make sure of our protection" until "the United Nations and world order prevail."

Second, to support the United Nations program.

"If we are strong, in a rounded way, we can really assist the United Nations in developing toward its goal of world peace," Eisenhower went on.

"Weakness, nakedness and poverty cannot cooperate with anything, but strength, with courage and humanity can cooperate to achieve that great goal."

Referring to the task of occupation, Eisenhower reminded the mayors that the "purposes for which we went to war were not fully achieved when the last shot was fired in the Pacific." The occupation forces already have been reduced, he declared, "until from my viewpoint they are dangerously low. They cannot go lower."

Eisenhower declared he would not attempt to advise Congress and the President on the "high and hazy developments" toward unification of the armed forces.

The type of integration he desires, the general said, is the one in which a youth entering the service realizes that he is serving not the Army or the Navy but the United States. He added:

"This kind of integration compels integration at the top."

High Court Ruling on World War I 'Vet' Affects 250,000 Draftees

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—(AP) A Supreme Court ruling today saved the government $16,800,000 in potential claims, attorneys said, from more than a quarter million World War I draftees who did not actually don uniforms before the armistice.

The court held unanimously that James John Lamb of Davenport, Ia., who went through the draft board induction procedure on Nov. 11,1918, but never got to camp, is not entitled to an Army discharge and the veterans benefits it would carry.

Attorneys said that if Lamb had won, more than 250,000 men in similar circumstances might have entered claims for the $60 discharge payments the Army gave them.

NIGHT

Other Decisions

In other decisions the cout:

1. Stuck closely by the rule that one state must give "full faith and credit" to court decisions in another, holding that a Missouri judgment against assets of an Illinois insurance company in liquidation must be recognized in Illinois.

2. Required the state of New Jersey to put its $15,000,000 tax claim against the Central Railroad company into the pot with other claims against the line, for adjudication by the U. S. District court in reorganization proceedings.

3. Classed persons threatened with eviction from living quarters as "subject to" the Price Control Act and therefore eligible to attack in court an OPA review to block eviction. The ruling put them in a different category from the general public, which, for instance, cannot sue on a price ruling even though it has to pay.

Lamb has been in court about the discharge since 1940 when the Iowa Supreme Court held that he was not entitled to the $500 state income tax exemption he had been getting on his "discharge from draft." The state court ruled that exemption is only for men with regular "honorable discharges" from the Army.

Lower Court Ruling Reversed

Lamb sued in Federal District court here for an Army discharge but lost. Then, in the court of appeals, he won. The Army carried the case to the Supreme Court which reversed the appeals court.

The records showed that Lamb reported as ordered on Nov. 11, 1918, and went through the draft board procedure. News of the Armistice and President Wilson's cancellation of calls for men came while his draft class was being entertained at luncheon by the board, preliminary to being sent to Camp Dodge for actual entry into the Army.

Lamb said he was advised at the time that his discharge from draft had the same effect as an Army discharge. He argued that he was subject to Army discipline after the board accepted him, and pointed to $4 he received later as four days Army pay. He said that payment showed the Army had taken him in.

Justice Black, delivering the court's opinion, pitched the ruling on the question whether a man had actually "performed military service after having become fully and finally absorbed into that service."

He said the court is convinced the War Department was within its rights in providing a different type of certificate for men turned loose before that had occurred. He noted that Lamb, and others like him, still could have been rejected after reaching camp.

Court Rules '18 Draft Issue

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that a draftee who reported for induction on Armistice Day in 1918 but was sent back home is not entitled to a certificate of honorable discharge from the Army.

The major import of the decision is that persons who had that experience are not veterans and hence not entitled to any of the rights and privileges Congress has provided for veterans.

DAY

Jehovah's Witness Loses

In an order, it upheld conviction of Thomas Balogh, a Jehovah's Witness, in United States District Court in Brooklyn on charges of refusing to report for induction in the farmed forces. Balogh was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. He had claimed exemption as a student preparing for the ministry.

The order attracted attention because the court in several cases has reversed convictions of Jehovah's Witnesses. It gave no reasons for today's findings, simply announcing the order with a notation that Justice Murphy disagreed with it.

Balogh had won a reversal from the United States Circuit Court in New York. The high tribunal's order set that aside.

The ruling that the draftee who is never inducted is not entitled to an "honorable discharge" was given on an appeal by James John Lamb, of Davenport, Iowa. Lamb contended he was entitled to such a certificate instead of what he did get—a "discharge from draft" certificate.

The court's opinion by Justice Black said that the justices were satisfied "that the War Department was within its power in granting a discharge from draft, rather than the type of discharge it granted soldiers who performed military service after having become fully and finally absorbed into that service."

Lost Tax Exemption

Lamb told the high court that up to the year 1940 he received under the tax laws of Iowa a $500 exemption granted on property of any "honorably discharged soldier." But in that year the Iowa Supreme Court decided that a man holding only a "discharge from draft" was not entitled to the exemption.

The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia had ordered the Secretary of War to issue to Lamb an honorable discharge certificate. The War Department then appealed to the high court, stating that the lower court's action created a potential demand for issuance of more than a quarter of a million such certificates.

Justice Black said that when the "extraordinary situation" developed on Armistice Day "it was certainly within the province of the War Department to provide for its solution by issuing to those returned home an appropriate form of certificate. . . ."

Won't Review Pennroad Case

The court today refused to review protests by two stockholders of the Pennroad Corporation against a 1945 agreement by the Pennsylvania Railroad to pay $15,000,000 in settlement of litigation between the two concerns.

The review was asked by Julia A. Perrine and Matilad J. Feldman. They appealed from decisions by the Supreme Court of Delaware and the United States Circuit Court in Philadelphia.

The Delaware court approved the agreement. The Circuit Court dismissed a complaint by Matilda Feldman which asked appointment of a receiver for Pennroad and urged that Pennroad be prevented from making a settlement with Pennsylvania.

Reverses Self In Schine Case

The court reversed itself and agreed to review a decision by a lower court that the Schine Chain Theaters, Inc., have violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The court last December 16 refused to consider the case. The corporation later asked reconsideration of the refusal. The tribunal, in announcing today that it would hear the case, stated that Justice Jackson had taken no part in the deliberations.

AIKEN OPPOSES RETENTION OF PROBING GROUP

Democrats Capture One GOP Vote Against Special Body

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Democratic senators opposing continuation of the Special War Investigating Committee picked up at least one Republican vote today, and credited President Truman with an assist.

NIGHT

Senator Aiken (R., Vt.) said he has decided to vote against extending either the Special War Investigating or Special Small Business Committee. The Republican leadership wants to continue both. A vote is set for Wednesday.

Aiken is chairman of the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments. This group would get the job of looking into war frauds and expenditures if the Special War Investigating Committee were not continued.

GOP Argument

One of the Republicans' chief arguments for extension of the special committee's authority is that it has White House permission to examine income-tax returns in connection with its work.

That argument got a body blow when Aiken told the Senate he had talked with Mr. Truman and had assurance the President would grant his committee the same authority.

The main Democratic argument is that the Congressional Reorganization Act adopted last year was intended to abolish special committees.

Wide Jurisdiction

Pressing it in debate today, Senator Lucas (D., Ill.) contended that the jurisdiction of the fifteen standing committees is so all-embracing that "there is nothing that can be presented to the Senate by way of resolution or bill that some of these fifteen committees cannot consider or investigate."

He declared it is "sheer balderdash, pure tommyrot, and worthless political poppycock" to insinuate that the Democrats are trying to block any investigations for fear of what might be turned up against the Administration.

"Fulminate And Fumigate"

"You can fulminate and fumigate to your hearts' content, with only your political conscience as your guide," he told the Republicans. "You can smear, smell, fish and hunt, and the Senator from Illinois will interpose no objection so long as it is done under the spirit and the letter of the Reorganization Act.

"I want to know today whether you meant what you said last year (in the Reorganization Act), or whether you were just kidding the people for political reasons."

Opening the debate, Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) told the Senate he had noticed that special investigating committees often produced "elements of sensationalism and politics that seldom crop out when regular committees do the work."

Joint Defense Talks Urged

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Chairman Andrews (R., N.Y.), of the new House Armed Services Committee offered today to cut in its Senate counterpart in on a projected review of the nation's diplomatic difficulties.

Andrews said he will propose a joint meeting of the House and Senate Armed Services committees to hear—first of all—a review of foreign policy by State Department officials. Senator Gurney (R., S.D.), head of the Senate group, was not available immediately to state his reaction.

DAY

Some Pending Questions

Andrews made it clear that upon this review will depend his committee's decisions on some of the more ticklish questions confronting Congress, among them:

1. The size of the armed forces.
2. Whether the expiring Draft Act should be extended.
3. The amount of military appropriations.
4. The outline of a peacetime security program.

His proposal for a joint hearing, Andrews said, is designed to eliminate the past double-feature aspect of Capitol Hill appearances by top-ranking administrative officials. In that legislative shuttle system witnesses appear first before a House committee and then before one of the Senate to repeat their testimony.

Plans Hearings Soon

The New Yorker said his committee hopes to start hearings early next week.

Aside from its immediate problems, the committee will tackle such questions as the need for universal training, the necessity for changing the complexion of the armed forces to meet the challenge of atomic energy and the advisability of disarmament.

Although there has been no official discussion of the question, members of the committee also have indicated a desire to discuss standardization of arms.

Awaits Army's Opinion

The committee is due to get the Army's official verdict on draft extension early next month.

Secretary of War Patterson said in a week-end radio broadcast that January recruiting figures will determine whether the Army thinks it can afford to let the Selective Service Act expires March 31.

SERVICE ARMS ASK GREATER TRAINING

Washington, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—The Army and Navy asked Congress today for authority to provide more specialized and advanced training for officers and enlisted men. The requests from the two departments were filed with the House Clerk.

The Army asked to be allowed to send an unlimited number of officers and men to civilian schools for study of personnel management, industrial practices and legal matters. They would be retained on active duty at least four years after finishing school.

The Army now can send 2 per cent of its officers and enlisted men to schools, Secretary of War Patterson explained in a letter. It wants that limitation removed, and the number left to the judgment of the department. Patterson estimated the cost at $1,209,000 in the next fiscal year.

The Navy submitted a proposed bill to establish its United States Naval Postgraduate School. It previously asked authority to locate the institution at Monterey, Cal.

The school would give bachelor of science degrees, and advanced degrees in engineering. It would cost about $2,549,887 a year to operate, the Navy estimated.

Another proposal by the Navy called for an increase in its appointments of enlisted men to the Naval Academy. It now may appoint 100 a year. It asked that this be increased to 160.

U. S. Will Seek A Bigger Share In India's Trade

Clayton Sees Negotiations for Treaty as Soon as British Privileges End

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP).—The United States is preparing to bid for a larger share of the trade of India's 400,000,000 population, the State Department disclosed today, while India's future political status is being worked out with great [illegible]

NIGHT

Under Secretary of State William L. Clayton said the government is ready to negotiate a commercial treaty with India just as soon as special privileges which British firms and individuals have enjoyed since 1935 are wound up.

In the meantime, a new counselor for economic affairs is en route to the American Embassy in New Delhi. He is Samuel H. Day, a veteran of both State and Commerce Department foreign service.

Under Secretary Clayton, in a letter to Representative Emanuel Celler, Democrat, of New York, indorsed plans of private American associations to promote greater trade with India.

Representative Celler has suggested a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with India, such as the United States has with many nations. Under Secretary Clayton said in reply the proposal has been discussed with Indian government officials and is favored, provided the United States receives "most favored nation" treatment. This means that American firms and individuals would be placed on an equal status with those of other nations.

The principle stumbling block, the Under Secretary said, is the "commercial safeguards" sections of Britain's 1935 government of India act, which gives Britons the same rights in India as local residents.

Another barrier to greater United States-India trade is India's frozen war-time $5,000,000,000 sterling balance with Great Britain.

MAYORS HEAR TAFT URGE EXTENSION OF RENT CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—(AP) Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today supported the extension of rent control beyond June 30 "in some form" and renewed his backing for a Federal public housing program.

Replying to questions after addressing the United States Conference of Mayors, the chairman of the Senate Republican Steering committee declared he would be "perfectly willing" to see another year of rent control if "the evidence shows there would otherwise be a general rise in rents."

30.24-7461

"In general," he added, "I think rent control should be extended in some fo[illegible]NIGHT

Sees Need For Adjustments

The Republican legislator said, however, that he believes there should be an "adjustment" to remedy "injustices." He declared that many owners have been caught by rent ceilings frozen "at a level where they do not get a fair return."

Senator Taft said the Wagner-Ellender-Taft long-range housing bill, of which he was a co-sponsor in the last Congress, will be reintroduced with his support. It passed the Senate in the last session but never emerged from committee in the House.

Questioned by reporters after the address to 350 mayors of American cities, the Senator said he thinks the measure would "get through" if it could be brought to a vote in both Houses in the next session.

"But to get it through, we might have to make some changes," Taft added.

Says Government Must Aid

The Senator said he does not see how the "lowest ten-to-twenty" per cent of the population can have decent housing unless the Federal government pays part of the freight in the form of appropriations for public housing as provided in the housing bill.

He made the reservation, however, that the government should see that not more than one-tenth of all building materials should be channeled into public housing. The rest, he said, should be made available to private enterprise.

The Wagner-Ellender-Taft measure provides for a permanent national housing agency to coordinate all Federal housing functions, lower-cost mortgage insurance to promote private building, and funds to assist the construction of about 100,000 public housing units annually, with the Federal government paying two-thirds of the cost.

Taft's qualified endorsement of continued rent control was touched off by a question from Mayor W. A. Church of New Rochelle, N. Y. Subsequently Church proposed that the conference pass a resolution endorsing continued rent ceilings. The motion was referred to the resolutions committee for action expected Wednesday.

Mayors Advised To Oppose Cut In U.S. Aid

1947

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Former Mayor Walter C. Chandler of Memphis, Tenn., urged the United States Conference of Mayors today to request Congress "most earnestly" not to curtail Federal aid for airports, highways, hospitals and education.

Expressing concern over what may happen to these projects in the current congressional drive for economy, Chandler declared:

"Any drastic curtailment of projects designed for the security and protection of the nation cannot be justified on the theory that the budget must be balanced at once regardless of the consequences."

DAY

"[illegible]al Lobby" Hit

Chandler also told the 350 municipal leaders attending the three-day conference that a nation-wide campaign must be organized to obtain pasesage of long-distance legislation for Federal-aid housing.

Chandler said enactment of such a measure was being stalled by "the powerful lobby organized by private interests."

"Serious blight and slum conditions already have overtaken approximately one fifth of the area of cities, creating tremendous health and social problems affecting the well-being of more than 25,000,000 people," he went on.

"It is difficult to understand the opposition of the real-estate and mortgage-loan groups when it is obvious that they themselves cannot solve the problem," he said.

Three "Pressing Problems"

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, president of the conference, urged his colleagues to address themselves to three "pressing problems" confronting all cities:

1. Obtaining a larger share of tax revenues collected by the states, to which city dwellers contribute heavily and, he said, receive so little in return that municipal governments are forced to resort to sales taxes and other "new and novel" forms of taxation.

2. The "more or less universal" problem of traffic and parking. Unless it is solved, Kelly observed, the central areas of many cities will suffer.

3. Rehabilitation of city plants and buildings, neglected during the war.

Labor Issue Tomorrow

Labor problems will be taken up tomorrow. Speakers will include Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Motors Corporation and former vice chairman of the War Production Board; Representative Francis Case (R., S.D.), author of labor disputes legislation, and William Green and Philip Murray, AFL and CIO presidents, respectively.

At other sessions, the mayors will be addressed by Robert M. Littlejohn, War Assets administrator, on the sale of war surpluses to cities; William Burden, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, on the Federal airport program, and by Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, medical director of the Veterans Administration.

Delegations from Canada and Mexico are among those registered for the sessions.

O'DWYER URGES CONTINUED AID IN CITY HOUSING

Sees Federal and State Help as Necessary to Provide Needed Homes.

FAVORS PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Says It Can Furnish 75 P. C. of Abodes—Message Read at Mayors' Conference.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Private enterprise can and must be permitted to undertake the major portion of New York's housing needs, Mayor O'Dwyer declared today in a message to the annual meeting of the United States Conference of Mayors.

The city's needs embrace 150,000 families, almost all of whom are veterans' families, who can find no homes of their own, and 600,000 families now living in slums and obsolete buildings, O'Dwyer said. He estimated private enterprise will be able to provide for about three-fourths of these families. The job of providing living quarters for 200,000, however, remains the responsibility of the Government, he said.

DAY

Butler Reads Statement.

O'Dwyer telegraphed the conference that "most urgent city business" prevented his attendance at the session, and Edmond Borgia Butler, chairman of the New York City Housing Authority, represented him and read the statement he had prepared.

Citing that health and family life is jeopardized by the housing shortage, O'Dwyer said it is the duty of the chief executives of cities to plan the steps necessary to solve the problem.

"It avails us little," O'Dwyer said, "to blame the war; the low rate of construction before the war, the lack of proper planning to avoid deterioration and decay of entire neighborhoods, or a dozen other things. What matters is that there is a job to be done now."

Pointing out that there is an absolute shortage of 150,000 apartments here, he said it means that 500,000 persons are living under the crudest and most difficult conditions.

"Our first concern, of course, is to provide decent homes for veterans and other families who are living under makeshift arrangements," he declared.

The problem of replacement and rehabilitation of deteriorated areas requires the utilization of all resources, private and public.

"Only that portion of the job which cannot be done privately must be undertaken by government," O'Dwyer said, refuting those who advocate a broad governmental program. The governmental responsibility, providing 200,000 apartments, requires an active partnership of the Federal, State and local governments, he said.

Federal Aid Imperative.

Under such a partnership in the past decade, the city has provided apartments for 17,000, but, he added: "It is a sad commentary on this nation's ability to overcome great obstacles that we have been able barely to scratch the surface in housing.

"In plain language, to solve this housing crisis within the reasonably near future, our cities need substantial sums of money now. The public housing requirements are of such magnitude that the Federal Government must continue as a major partner in this enterprise."

O'Dwyer called upon the mayors to support the Federal housing bill which is expected to be reinforced at the present session of Congress. Further, support must be extended to a general housing bill which would encourage the construction of rental housing by private enterprise.

Secondly, the States must be full partners in the program to the full extent that financial resources permit. In New York State, he is urging a continuance of State aid by means of an additional $300,000,000 for loans to municipalities.

Thirdly, the cities, although in a less favorable financial position to assume added obligations for public housing, must explore every means by which they may contribute toward the solution of the overall problem.

Mayors Cite Needs.

Later former Mayor Walter C. Chandler of Memphis, Tenn., urged the conference to request Congress "most earnestly" not to curtail Federal aid for airports, highways, hospitals and education. Expressing concern over what may happen to these projects in the current Congressional drive for economy, Chandler declared:

"Any drastic curtailment of projects designed for the security and protection of the nation can not be justified on the theory that the budget must be balanced at once regardless of the consequences."

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, president of the conference, urged three "pressing problems" confronting all cities.

1. Obtaining a larger share of tax revenues collected by the States to which city dwellers contribute heavily and, he said, receive so little in return that municipal governments are forced to resort to sales taxes and other new and novel forms of taxation.

2. The "more or less universal" problem of traffic and parking. Unless it is solved, Kelly observed, the central areas of many cities will suffer.

3. Rehabilitation of city plants and buildings, neglected throughout the war.

House Vets Bar Bonus, Push Housing

1947

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—A sample survey among House members who were in uniform in World War II today turned up a heavy demand for housing for their fellow veterans and strong sentiment against a soldiers' bonus.

Many also felt that:

Terminal-leave bonds of former enlisted men should be cashed at once. Under present law, they mature five years after the issue date.

Ceilings on allowances to students and those learning jobs by working at them should be lifted or removed. The ceiling now is $175 a month for single men and $200 for the married.

More hospital facilities are needed for veterans.

Former soldiers should be given more time to pay up back income taxes.

Congress should go the limit on helping disabled veterans get back on their feet.

DAY

Cross Section of Opinion

These ideas came from House members with war records, questioned at random by a reporter. They represent every branch of the service, every section of the country and both major parties.

They are among the 60 or 70 representatives who served in the last war. There are upward of 200 House members who are veterans of all wars.

Representative Javits (R., N.Y.) was one who hammered against the idea of a bonus, Saying it would place "a cash fee on going to war to protect yourself, your family and all you hold dear."

Sees Working Vets Paying

Representative Nixon (R., Cal.) said 35 per cent of the population already is made up of veterans and their families, and the figure might reach 50 per cent.

"That would mean," Nixon said, "that those veterans who work for a living would be paying for those who don't."

Taking the other side, Representative Preston (D., Ga.) declared himself in favor of a bonus "big enough to do some good and not just enough to buy a second-hand car." He said it should be paid while the country is in a prosperous condition."

Preston said a bonus bill introduced by a fellow Georgia Democrat, Representative Pace, would be "all right with me," even though it might cost $12,000,000,000 or $15,000,000,000. That bill would give a veteran $4 for every day of service at home and $5 a day for time spent overseas.

Housing Called "A Must"

Jackson described the housing problem as "a terrific headache in my part of the country." Nixon agreed. So did Representative Blatnick (R., Minn.).

"I feel awfully keen about this housing situation," Blatnick said. "It's got to be hit hard. It's a must. Labor legislation, budgetary economy, taxes—none is as critical as housing, and that isn't limited to homes for veterans."

But as to a solution for housing difficulties, none of the new congressmen had any on tap.

U. S. Loss Is $33,911,000 For Housing Built in '18

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—The Government closed its books today on twenty-eight years of housing woes left over from World War I.

The final check-up showed a loss of $33,911,000 on an original investment of $66,500,000.

A report to Congress by Commissioner John H. Fahey of the Federal Home Loan Bank Administration, told of the final liquidation of the United States Housing Corporation, which was created in 1918 to provide quarters for war workers.

While the bulk of the housing was sold in the first few years after the armistice, some 450 houses were left. They became involved in drawn out court battles over taxes and property rights, with the result that for many years they were occupied practically rent free.

In 1942, however, the corporation was transferred to the Home Loan Bank Administration, which began collecting rents and selling the properties. This resulted in a net return to the Treasury of $1,322,521.

Wilson Predicts Wide Benefits From Building

Allied Industries to Feel Effects of 21-Billion Program, Realtor Declares

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20 (AP).—Robert M. Wilson, president of the Philadelphia Real Estate Board, predicted today that the $21,000,000,000 national building program this year will have a tonic effect on scores of allied industries.

Addressing a session of the Classified Advertising Conference of the Northeastern States and the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association, Wilson declared that while housing will take up a large part of the money in building construction, much also will go for the repair and renovation of commercial and industrial structures. At the same time, Wilson added, a substantial amount will be spent for new commercial construction.

Veterans, he declared, have been treated shamefully in the matter of housing. "The situation," he said, "must improve with the easing or rent controls but a proposed 10 to 15 per cent increase in rent will not solve the problem.

"Many veterans paid outlandish prices for homes just to get a place in which to live," Wilson said.

The 100 delegates attending the meeting, which opened yesterday and concludes tomorrow, were welcomed at the opening business session by Leslie J. Cummings of the Vancouver, British Columbia, "Daily Province," president of the conference, and D. P. Barnhart of the McKeesport (Pa.) "Daily News," on behalf of the state publishers' group.

WYCHE IS NAMED INSPECTOR GENERAL

Truman Nominates Marvin Jones For Bench Promotion

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—President Truman today nominated Maj. Gen. Ira Thomas Wyche for inspector general of the United States Army to succeed Lieut. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, who died last week.

A field artilleryman, Wyche now holds the temporary rank of major general. Under his new appointment, he will hold the rank of major general in the regular Army during his four-year term.

The President also nominated Marvin Jones, former 'war food administrator and member of Congress for 24 consecutive years, to be Chief Justice of the United States Court of Claims.

Jones served in Congress from 1917 to 1940, when he was appointed to the United States Court of Claims by President Roosevelt. He is a Democrat.

On leave from his Federal judgeship during the war, Jones served as assistant to James F. Brynes, then Director of Economic Stabilization, and in 1943 was appointed chairman of the American delegation to the United Nations Food Conference and president of the conference.

Jones succeeds Richard S. Whaley, of South Carolina, who recently announced his retirement as chief justice.

Texan's Claim for Son Wins Official Recognition

WASHINTON, Jan. 20 (AP).—A father who recognized his son's back in the famous picture of the United States flag being raised over Iwo Jima, brought about today an official change in the identification of one marine in the group.

The man at the extreme right of the historic picture had been identified by the Marine Corps as Sergeant Henry O. Hansen, of Somerville, Mass.

But E. H. Block, of Weslaco, Tex., was convinced that the marine was his son. The father wrote to Representative Milton H. West, Democrat, of Texas, last September, and the Marine Corps began an investitgation.

Today, it officially announced that the man on the right, with his back to the camera, was Corporal Harlan H. Block.

But neither Sergeant Hansen nor Sergeant Block is alive. Only three men who mounted the slopes of Iwo Jima to put up the Stars and Stripes survived the battle. They are Rene A. Gagnon, of Manchester, N. H.; John H. Bradley, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Ira H. Hayes, of Bapchule, Ariz.

Others in the group, besides Corporal Block, the Marine Corps said, were Franklin R. Sousley, of Ewing, Ky., and Michael Strank, of Conemaugh, Pa.

The photograph was taken by Joseph Rosenthal, of The Associated Press, on Feb. 23, 1945. The original identifications were made by the Marine Corps some time later.

REDS BUY 2 NAVY TUGS

Washington, Jan. 20 (A. P.).—The Maritime Commission said today that Russia has bought two of the Navy's surplus ocean tug auxiliaries for $265,000 each.

A commission official told reporters that it was not unusual for foreign governments to buy surplus ships although sales in some cases have been restricted to American citizens or firms. The tugs were described at the Navy as non-combatant ships.

The ships are now at Orange, Tex. Russian crews have arrived there to take custody of them. The tugs originally were constructed for Russia under lend-lease, but the program was canceled before they could be delivered.

Supreme Court Favors Tenants In Eviction Case

Holds 15 in Co-operative Building in N. Y. May Challenge O.P.A. Ruling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP).—Fifteen tenants fighting proceedings to evict them from an apartment at 55 Central Park West, New York City, won a point in the Supreme Court today.

In a 6-to-3 decision, the court held that the Emergency Court of Appeals erred in holding that the tenants had no right to challenge an Office of Price Administration ruling. The net effect of the decision is to assure the tenants a hearing on the point they had raised.

Associate Justice Hugo L. Black read the court's decision. Chief Justice Carl Vinson and Associate Justices Felix Frankfurter and Harold H. Burton dissented.

The somewhat involved background of the legal issue is this:

The building is owned by the 55 Corporation. Under a co-operative plan, purchasers of stock in the corporation became entitled to proprietary leases on apartments. The O. P. A. granted the stock purchasers certificates authorizing them to exercise their rights under New York laws to evict tenants.

The tenants filed a complaint with the Emergency Court of Appeals against the O. P. A.'s action, but it was dismissed.

The emergency court based its finding principally on the limitations written into the price-control act on the classes of persons who might challenge O. P. A. rulings Those limitation were intended to stop the public at large from indulging in endless litigation.

The Supreme Court ruled, however, that in this case the tenants had the right of challenge. It said that the Price Administrator and the Emergency Court of Appeals previously had determined that the question whether a person does have that right "is dependent to some extent upon whether the order immediately, substantially and adversely affects him."

The tenants who appealed to the Supreme Court are: Jack Parker, Isidor M. Saks, Melvin Caplan, David Werth, C. Clarence Kaskel, Morton H. Baron, Robert Hermann, Samuel Ogus, Charles Maslow, George Willett, Harry Wiener, Charles Goldman, David Rudberg, William I. Hohauser and Sydney Maybaum.

RELIEF DRESS RETURNS HOME

Dakota Woman's Gift Bobs Up In Mail-Order Purchase

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Senator Young (R., N.D.) today told the Senate that a dress donated by a North Dakota woman in a Government-sponsored foreign relief drive last year turned up recently in a mail-order purchase from Chicago.

Young said the Senate Expenditures Committee will investigate.

The Senator said he didn't know how the dress got into the hands of the mail-order firm. He introduced a letter from Dick Forkner, editor and publisher of the Cavalier County Republican, Langdon, N.D., which told this story:

The dress belonged to Mrs. Lars Midjaas, Fairdale. N.D. She gave it last January to the drive's chairman in Fairdale, who in turn took it to the Kedney warehouse in Grand Forks, collection depot for the territory.

Note Pinned Inside Sleeve

"From there I don't know where it went," Forkney wrote.

Identity of the dress was discovered through a note pinned inside the sleeve, Forkney said. Written by Mrs. Midjaas, it wished the recipient "lots of luck" and expressed hope that the garment "will be of some real comfort and use to you."

"I would like to hear from you in return so that we can see what part of the country and friends this reaches overseas," the note added.

Dress Gets Back To North Dakota

The dress, Forkney said, turned up in an order for 100 used dresses at 18 cents each purchased by Miss Elizabeth Ohlhouser, Hazelton, N.D., by answering an advertisement. She wrote Mrs. Midjaas of finding the note in the dress sleeve.

Forkney said the Chicago firm was the V. Portnoy mail-order house, 567 West Roosevelt road.

UNRRA Can't Explain It

Young told the Senate he understood clothing collected in the drive eventually was shipped by UNRRA to foreign countries which then took immediate charge of its distribution. He said in a statement he had "no doubt but that most of the clothing collected for European relief went to the people it was intended for."

UNRRA said it could not explain how the garment got into the hands of a mail-order firm.

A UNRRA official explained that clothing donated by the public was first handled by local committees, then turned over to Treasury warehouses.

It was cleaned there, baled and then delivered to UNRRA at shipside. UNRRA handled the overseas distribution.

In Chicago, Nathan Portnoy, owner of Portnoy Brothers, general merchandise wholesalers, said he "couldn't explain this particular case, but we are salvage buyers and buy all over the United States."

"Must Have Been In Salvage Lot"

"The dress must have been in a salvage lot, although I don't understand how it got there," Portnoy said.

He said his firm bought army surplus rejects from department stores, and offerings of some charity organizations.

"Maybe this discarded dress was donated to some charity, which later picked out the best of the dresses to send overseas and sold the rest," Portnoy said. "We buy dresses in hundreds of thousands and sell in lots of 100 or more all over the United States and many foreign countries."

BLS Index Nov. 15-Dec. 15 Shows 1% Rise; Food Down

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Lower prices for food were more than offset by higher prices for all other major living essentials between mid-November and mid-December, forcing the consumer price index up another 1 per cent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported tonight.

The index for Dec. 15 is 153, compared to 100 for the period 1935-39. It is based on preliminary figures on prices in 34 cities. Final indices will be released y Jan. 31.

Retail food prices dropped about 1 per cent, while goods and services other than food and rent advanced about 3½ per cent, the bureau reported.

In the middle of December retail prices of living essentials were 15 per cent higher than in mid-June of 1946, and 18 per cent above January, 1946.

Chandler, 1947 Best In Court

Boston, Jan. 20 (AP)—Pleas of innocent were entered today in Federal Court for Robert H. Best and Douglas Chandler, accused of treason through propaganda broadcasts over Radio Berlin.

Chandler, former Baltimore newspaper man, made his plea in a firm voice and Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford ended a lengthy discourse by Best by directing the entry of a similar plea on his behalf.

Both men appeared without counsel, and, at Chandler's request, the court appointed two Boston attorneys, Claude B. Cross and Edward Park, to represent him.

"Need No Other" Counsel

"Yes, I have counsel, but it is from on High," Best told Judge Ford, "the one and only Holy Trinity, Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

"This counsel will be present and is presen tat this moment. I have no other and need no other. I don't care, at least for the present, for a lawyer. I cannot say if I will need a lawyer later."

Judge Ford continued the proceedings ten days. As the hearing ended, Best cried out that the proceedings were "inhuman, illegal and immoral, a world-wide conspiracy against God and man."

U.S.-Russ Relations Better, Stalin View Cited By Elliott

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt says Josef Stalin told him in a personal interview that "relations have improved" between the Russian and American peoples and "the danger of a new war is not real."

Reporting in the current issue of Look magazine twelve questions Stalin answered when Roosevelt and his wife visited him December 21 in the Kremlin, the son of the late President also quoted Stalin as saying that in the matter of atomic control:

"Russia should be subject to the same rules of inspection and control as any other nation must."

Terms Ties Improved

In answer to a question as to the present state of relations between the United States and Russia, Stalin was quoted as saying:

". . . Between the American and Russian peoples, no deterioration has taken place, but on the contrary relations have improved.

"As to relations between the two governments, there have been misunderstandings. Certain deterioration has taken place and then great noise was raised that their relations would even deteriorate still further. But I see nothing frightful about this in the sense of a violation of peace or a military conflict.

People Tired Of War

"Not a single great power, even if its government were anxious to do so, could now raise a large army to fight another allied power, another great power, because now one cannot possibly fight without one's people—and the people are unwilling to fight. They are tired of war.

"And besides, there are no understandable objectives to justify a new war. One will not know for what he has to fight and, therefore, I see nothing frightful that some representatives of the United States Government are talking about the deterioration of relations between us.

"In view of all these considerations, I think that the danger of a new war is not real."

Roosevelt said Stalin was "very emphatic" in this statement.

No Exceptions For Russia

Asking Stalin whether he believed the United Nations should control atomic energy in both its peaceful and military potenialities through inspection, Roosevelt said Stalin asked him, "in general?"

Roosevelt said he replied, "especially as to agreement in principle by Russia to such a plan."

Then, according to Roosevelt, Stalin declared:

"Of course. On the principle of equality no exceptions should be made in the case of Russia. Russia should be subject to the same rules of inspection and control as any other nation must."

In answer to a question as to whether he believed another Big Three meeting would serve a useful purpose, Stalin was quoted:

"I think there should not be one meeting but several of them. If there were several, they would serve a very useful purpose."

For International Force

Asked whether the Soviet Union was in favor of the creation by the United Nations Security Council of an international police force, composed of all United Nations, to intervene wherever armed warfare threatened the peace, Roosevelt quoted the Russian leader as replying: "Of course."

To a request for comment on the November 5 elections in the United States, Stalin was quoted as saying he felt it indicated "that the present Government is wasting the moral and political capital created by the late President, and thus it facilitated the victory of the Republicans."

Roosevelt said Stalin looked in good health, although his hair was grayer and thinner than it was three years ago. He added that "probably because of his recent loss of weight, Stalin's tunic appeared slightly loose at the throat."

(ADVANCE)-LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JAN.20-(AP)-FOR FOUR YEARS BROOKS HARDING HAS BEEN A MAN WITH A SINGLE IDEA.

HE BELIEVES THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SHOULD HAVE A FLAG--AND HE WAS READY TODAY TO TELL THE UNITED NATIONS SECRETARIAT JUST WHAT HE AND THE UNITED NATIONS HONOR FLAG COMMITTEE FEELS SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT IT.

HARDING, FORMER GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y., NOVELTY FURNITURE MANUFACTURER NOW LIVING IN WASHINGTON, D.C., THINKS THE UNITED NATIONS SHOULD HAVE THESE FLAGS:

1, A UNITED NATIONS HONOR FLAG, MADE UP OF FOUR RED PILLARS ON A WHITE BACKGROUND, FOR EACH MEMBER STATE TO FLY UNDER OR WITH ITS OWN NATIONAL COLORS TO SIGNIFY ITS CONNECTION WITH THE U.N.

2. AN OFFICIAL UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION FLAG, MADE UP OF THE SAME FOUR RED PILLARS ON A WHITE BACKGROUND WITH THE OFFICIAL SEAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS SUPERIMPOSED ON THE PILLARS.

HARDING EXPLAINED THAT THE OFFICIAL U.N. FLAG, IF HIS PLAN IS ADOPTED, WOULD BE FLOWN OVER UNITED NATIONS INSTALLATIONS AND AREAS UNDER U.N. CONTROL. 1947

HE WANTS HIS PLAN TO BE PUT BEFORE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY NEXT... SEPTEMBER.

HARDING SAID THAT THE FOUR PILLARS REPRESENT THE FOUR FREEDOMS. IT WAS HIS IDEA ORIGINALLY, HE ADDED, THAT THE FLAG WOULD BE THE FLAG OF THE FOUR FREEDOMS BUT THIS LATER MERGED INTO THE UNITED NATIONS FLAG.

THE UNITED NATIONS HONOR FLAG COMMITTEE INCLUDES, HARDING SAID, MANY NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS. HE SAID THE MEMBERSHIP OF ORGANIZATIONS ALREADY USING THE UNITED NATIONS HONOR FLAG TOTALS MORE THAN 5,000,000.

NIGHT LEAD DEPUTIES (250)

BY ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON, JAN.20-(AP)-THE THREE WESTERN MEMBERS OF THE FOUR-POWER CONFERENCE OF DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS WERE REPRESENTED TODAY AS FAVORING THE WITHDRAWAL OF OCCUPATION TROOPS FROM AUSTRIA AT LEAST WITHIN 90 DAYS AFTER THE SIGNING OF THE AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATY.

BRITISH SOURCES REPORTED THAT BRITISH AND FRENCH MEMBERS OF THE CONFERENCE SUGGESTED THE WITHDRAWAL WITHIN 90 DAYS, AND UNITED STATES NEGOTIATORS WERE UNDERSTOOD TO FAVOR EVEN EARLIER REMOVAL.

THE AMERICAN POINT OF VIEW WAS SAID TO BE THAT THE OCCUPATION FORCES SHOULD GET OUT OF AUSTRIA AS SOON AS THAT COUNTRY IS AGAIN DECLARED A SOVEREIGN STATE. THE AMERICANS ALSO WERE REPORTED TO FAVOR REPLACEMENT OF THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION WITH A DIPLOMATIC MISSION MADE UP OF ENVOYS OF THE FOUR POWERS AND WIPING OUT OF THE ZONAL STRUCTURE OF ADMINISTRATION IN AUSTRIA AS SOON AS POSSIBLE AFTER THE TREATY BECAME EFFECTIVE.

THE RUSSIAN ATTITUDE WAS NOT IMMEDIATELY MADE KNOWN.

THE DEPUTIES, TACKLING THE POLITICAL SECTION OF THE TREATY, ALSO EXPLORED MEANS OF PREVENTING ANOTHER "ANSCHLUSS" OF AUSTRIA AND GERMANY.

UNITED STATES SOURCES SAID THAT RUSSIA AND FRANCE APPARENTLY WANTED A SPECIFIC PROHIBITION AGAINST SUCH A FUTURE UNION, WHILE THE UNITED STATES SEEMED TO BE CONTENT WITH A GENERAL OBLIGATION ON THE PART OF AUSTRIA TO PRESERVE HER INDEPENDENCE. BRITAIN WAS SAID TO BE GIVING CONSIDERABLE SUPPORT TO THE AMERICAN POSITION.

FEODOR T.GOUSEV, RUSSIAN DEPUTY, PRESIDED OVER THE AUSTRIAN SECTION OF THE CONFERENCE, WHICH ALSO ARRANGED A SCHEDULE TO HEAR THE VIEWS OF SMALLER ALLIES ON THE AUSTRIAN PACT.

THE DEPUTIES WILL CONSIDER THE GERMAN TREATY TOMORROW, AND WILL RESUME WORK ON AUSTRIA WEDNESDAY. 1947

THE AUSTRIAN SECTION OF THE CONFERENCE ADJOURNED UNTIL WEDNESDAY.

RUSSIAN DELEGATE FEODOR T.GOUSEV DID NOT OPPOSE THE SUGGESTION, WHICH WAS INCORPORATED IN TREATIES DRAFTED AT THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE FOR THE SATELLITE ENEMY NATIONS.

THE NATIONS SPONSORING THE PROPOSAL WERE NOT NAMED PUBLICLY, BUT PRESUMABLY THEY WERE BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

BRITISH SOURCES SAID THE DELEGATES HAD FOUND A LARGE MEASURE OF AGREEMENT AMONG THEMSELVES REGARDING THE POLITICAL CLAUSES OF THE AUSTRIAN TREATY, BUT HAD DISAGREED OVER THE WRITING OF A PREAMBLE.

THE EXACT NATURE OF THE DISAGREEMENT WAS NOT IMMEDIATELY DISCLOSED. THERE HAD BEEN REPORTS, HOWEVER, THAT RUSSIA SOUGHT A STRONG STATEMENT OWAROSTRIA'F

LONDON, JAN.20-(AP)-THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, TAKING THE UNUSUAL STEP OF REPLYING TO RUSSIAN PRESS CRITICISM OF ITS FOREIGN POLICY, HAS SENT A MESSAGE TO PRIME MINISTER STALIN STRONGLY DENYING THAT FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN HAS "REPUDIATED" BRITAIN'S 20-YEAR TREATY OF ALLIANCE WITH THE SOVIET UNION.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE DISCLOSED LAST NIGHT THAT IT HAD DISPATCHED TO MOSCOW A NOTE CHARACTERIZING AS "MOST MISLEADING" AND "ABSURD" A PRAVDA ARTICLE OF JAN.15 INTERPRETING A PRE-CHRISTMAS ADDRESS BY BEVIN AS MEANING THAT THE PACT HAD BEEN SUPERSEDED BY BRITAIN'S UNITED NATIONS COMMITMENTS.

THE NOTE WAS DELIVERED TO SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV SATURDAY WITH A REQUEST THAT IT BE SENT IMMEDIATELY TO STALIN.

THE ACTION OF THE FOREIGN OFFICE, WHICH USUALLY IGNORES SOVIET NEWSPAPER COMMENT, WAS GENERALLY ACCEPTED HERE AS AN INDICATION OF LABOR GOVERNMENT CONCERN OVER CONTINUING ADVERSE CRITICISM OF BRITISH POLICY BY BOTH THE RUSSIAN PRESS AND RADIO.

SOME OBSERVERS ALSO SAW IN THE MOVE AN ATTEMPT TO WOO A REBELLIOUS ELEMENT IN THE LABOR PARTY WHICH PRECIPITATED A RECENT PARLIAMENTARY DEBATE WITH THEIR CHARGES THAT BEVIN AND PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE WERE LINING BRITAIN UP WITH THE UNITED STATES AGAINST RUSSIA.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE NOTE SAID THAT "HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT IS SURPRISED AT THE SUGGESTION, WHICH WAS ELABORATED IN A MOST MISLEADING MANNER BY PRAVDA IN AN ARTICLE ON JAN.15, THAT THE ANGLO-SOVIET TREATY OF ALLIANCE AND POST-WAR COLLABORATION MIGHT BE REGARDED IN LONDON AS SUPERSEDED BY THE U.N."

THE NOTE DECLARED THAT PRAVDA HAD REMOVED FROM THE CONTEXT BEVIN'S STATEMENT IN NEW YORK ON DEC.22 THAT BRITAIN "DOES NOT TIE HERSELF TO ANYBODY EXCEPT IN REGARD TO HER OBLIGATIONS UNDER THE CHARTER" OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

EXPRESSING REGRET THAT THE SOVIET UNION HAD REJECTED BEVIN'S OFFER TO EXTEND THE BRITISH-RUSSIAN TREATY AND DECLARING U.N. COMMITMENTS HAD NOT INVALIDATED THE ALLIANCE, THE NOTE ADDED:

"THE LOGICAL CONCLUSION OF PRAVDA'S INTERPRETATIONS OF MR. BEVIN'S REMARKS WOULD BE THAT ALL TREATIES AND AGREEMENTS BETWEEN STATES AUTOMATICALLY SUPERSEDED BY THE EXISTENCE OF THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION, WHICH WOULD OBVIOUSLY BE ABSURD."

LONDON, JAN.20-(AP)-RECENT STATEMENTS ON SOVIET AND INDIAN AFFAIRS BY JOHN FOSTER DULLES, A MEMBER OF THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY, DREW CRITICISM FROM BOTH MOSCOW AND NEW DELHI TODAY.

IN MOSCOW, THE COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER PRAVDA DECLARED DULLES USED "CHEAP, SLANDEROUS PHRASES, HOSTILE TO THE SOVIET UNION" IN A SPEECH WHICH IT SAID WAS MARKED BY SUCH PHRASES AS "SOVIET EXPANSION" AND "TERRITORIAL SEIZURES."

1947

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, VICE PRESIDENT OF INDIA'S INTERIM GOVERNMENT, TOOK EXCEPTION "WITH SURPRISE AND REGRET" TO THE REPORTED STATEMENT OF DULLES BEFORE THE NATIONAL PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION IN NEW YORK FRIDAY NIGHT THAT: "IN INDIA, SOVIET COMMUNISM EXERCISES A STRONG INFLUENCE THROUGH THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT."

(A TEST OF THE SPEECH PUBLISHED SATURDAY IN NEW YORK CARRIED THAT SENTENCE, SPECIFYING FURTHER, "THE INTERIM HINDU GOVERNMENT.")

NEHRU, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE HINDU-LED ALL-INDIA CONGRESS PARTY, COMMENTED THAT DULLES' WORDS CARRIED WEIGHT AND ADDED:

"HIS REPORTED DESCRIPTION OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT AND ITS POLICY SHOWS A LACK OF KNOWLEDGE OF THE FACTS AND WANT OF APPRECIATION OF THE POLICY WE ARE PURSUING. I DO NOT WANT TO SAY MORE AT THIS STAGE EXCEPT TO REPEAT THAT OUR POLICY IS TO CULTIVATE FRIENDLY RELATIONS WITH ALL COUNTRIES, NOTABLY THE U.S.A., AND NOT TO ALIGN OURSELVES WITH ANY PARTICULAR POWER GROUPING. OUR POLICY IS GOING TO BE AN INDEPENDENT ONE, BASED ON THE FURTHERANCE OF PEACE AND FREEDOM EVERYWHERE ON LINES LAID DOWN BY THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER."

THE PRAVDA ATTACK AGAINST DULLES, WHO WAS FOREIGN AFFAIRS ADVISER TO THOMAS E.DEWEY IN THE 1944 PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN, WAS WRITTEN BY G.A.VIKTOROV.

"THIS SPEECH," VIKTOROV SAID, "WILL NOT SURPRISE THOSE WHO KNOW THAT THIS IS THE SAME DULLES WHO WAS CLOSELY CONNECTED WITH THE GERMAN BANKING FIRM OF SCHROEDER. IN 1939 DULLES ENTHUSIASTICALLY GREETED FASCIST REGIMES IN GERMANY, ITALY AND JAPAN.

"THE QUESTION ARISES" WHAT PROMPTED DULLES TO DISDAIN ELEMENTARY DECENCY TO GIVE VENT TO A WRATHFUL SPEECH AGAINST THE U.S.S.R? THE ORATOR HIMSELF GAVE THE ANSWER. HE WAS FORCED TO ACKNOWLEDGE THAT THE SOVIET DELEGATION AT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY CONVINCED THE MAJORITY OF THE NECESSITY OF GENERAL ARMS REDUCTION AND THAT 'THE UNITED STATES SHOULD DISARM IN THE INTEREST OF INTERNATIONAL PEACE.'

"THE CHIEF CAUSE OF DULLES' WRATH IS THAT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY UNANIMOUSLY ADVOCATED A GENERAL ARMS REDUCTION REGULATION. APPARENTLY SUCH A COURSE OF EVENTS DOES NOT CORRESPOND TO THE PLANS OF DULLES

30.24-7465

AND THOSE MONOPLOLIST CIRCLES WHOSE INTERESTS HE REPRESENTS."
--DASH--
IN THE SPEECH TO WHICH PRAVDA REFERRED, DULLES SAID THAT RUSSIA'S BID FOR WORLD LEADERSHIP LAST YEAR WAS "DEFLECTED INTO CHANNELS MORE COMPATIBLE WITH PEACE" AND DESCRIBED SOVIET POLICY AS "DOUBLE BARRELLED", WITH ONE BARREL AIMED AT SOCIAL REVOLUTION THROUGHOUT THE WORLD AND THE OTHER AIMED AT NATIONALISTIC EXPANSION.
QUERIED IN NEW YORK ABOUT THE PRAVDA ARTICLE, DULLES REFERRED QUESTIONERS TO A STATEMENT ON SOVIET-AMERICAN RELATIONS INCORPORATED IN THE OCT. 11, 1946 REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE, ISSUED BY THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA, OF WHICH HE WAS CHAIRMAN.
HE QUOTED THE STATEMENT AS SAYING: "WE BELIEVE THAT EVERY EFFORT SHOULD BE MADE TO APPLY THE PROVISIONS OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER FOR THE REGULATION AND MULTI-LATERAL REDUCTION OF NATIONAL ARMAMENTS."

NIGHT LEAD POLISH REACTION (350)

BY JACK SMITH

LONDON,JAN.20-(AP)-AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH SOURCES SAID TODAY THAT BRITAIN MIGHT OPPOSE POLAND'S CLAIMS TO FORMER GERMAN TERRITORY AND REFUSE TO RELEASE POLISH GOLD DEPOSITS IN ENGLAND, AS A RESULT OF YESTERDAY'S POLISH ELECTIONS.

THESE INFORMANTS SAID ALSO THAT BRITAIN WOULD CONSIDER THE SEVERING OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE RUSSIAN-ENDORSED POLISH GOVERNMENT. THEY ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT SUCH DRASTIC ACTION WAS UNLIKELY.

THE BRITISH SOURCES POINTED OUT THAT THE WITHDRAWAL OF RECOGNITION OF THE WARSAW REGIME WOULD HAVE RAMIFICATIONS IN BRITAIN'S RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA, WHICH HAILED THE ELECTION AS A SMASHING DEFEAT OF REACTIONARY ELEMENTS IN POLAND.

THE SOVIET PRESS AND RADIO REPORTED THAT THE VOTING PROCEEDED IN A CALM AND ORDERLY MANNER, AND BLAMED THE "REACTIONARY OPPOSITION" FOR WHATEVER TROUBLE OCCURRED.

BRITAIN IS NOT EXPECTED TO TAKE ANY ACTION AGAINST POLAND PENDING A REPORT BY THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO WARSAW, VICTOR CAVENDISH-BENTINCK, ON THE CONDUCT OF YESTERDAY'S VOTING. REGARDLESS OF THIS REPORT, HOWEVER, BOTH BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES ARE ON RECORD AS ASSERTING THAT ALLEGED RESTRICTIONS ON CAMPAIGNING PRECLUDED FAIR AND UNFETTERED BALLOTING.

THE BRITISH SOURCES SAID THAT THEIR COUNTRY COULD NOT BE EXPECTED TO SUPPORT TERRITORIAL DEMANDS BY ANY GOVERNMENT CONSIDERED TO HAVE VIOLATED FREE ELECTION PROMISES. SUCH A STAND WOULD RESULT IN BRITISH OPPOSITION TO POLAND'S CLAIMS FOR FORMER GERMAN TERRITORY EAST OF THE ODER AND NIESSE RIVERS. THE UNITED STATES, EVEN BEFORE THE POLISH ELECTION, ASSERTED SHE DID NOT NECESSARILY FAVOR POLAND'S CLAIMS ON THIS LAND.

A BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID THAT THE RELEASE OF POLISH GOLD IN BRITAIN WAS CONTINGENT ON THE HOLDING OF A FAIR ELECTION. THE FOREIGN OFFICE HAS ESTIMATED THE VALUE OF THIS GOLD, BROUGHT TO ENGLAND DURING THE WAR BY THE POLISH GOVERNMENT-IN-EXILE, AT $28,000,000. THE POLISH ESTIMAE IS $40,000,000.

IN WARSAW, A FOREIGN MINISTRY SPOKESMAN ASSERTED THAT POLAND INTENDED TO ANSWER THE LATEST IN THE SERIES OF BRITISH NOTES CHARGING THE POLES WITH FAILURE TO FULFIL THE GUARANTEES FOR FAIR ELECTIONS, CONTAINED IN THE YALTA AND POTSDAM AGREEMENTS. MOSCOW, JAN.20-(AP)-OBSERVERS HERE WERE INCLINED TO PLACE LITTLE STOCK TODAY IN RUMORS ABROAD THAT RUSSIA MIGHT PROPOSE AT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' SESSION IN MARCH THAT THE ALLIED POWERS EVACUATE GERMANY IMMEDIATELY.

THESE OBSERVERS POINTED OUT THAT THE SOVIETS HAVE WARNED MORE THAN ONCE AGAINST A PREMATURE RELAXATION OF ALLIED CONTROL OVER GERMANY.

FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV, COMMENTING LAST MAY ON U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F.BYRNES' PROPOSALS FOR A 25-YEAR TREATY ON THE DISARMAMENT AND DEMILITARIZATION OF GERMANY, OBJECTED THAT BYRNES' SUGGESTION "MIGHT LEAD TO A RELAXATION OF INTER-ALLIED CONTROL AIMED AT PREVENTING A RECURRENCE OF GERMAN AGGRESSION, THE RELAXATION OF WHICH CONTROL IS, OF COURSE, ABSOLUTELY INADMISSIBLE."

POLITICIANS IN ITALY, POLAND AND FRANCE ATTEMPTED TO LINE UP NEW GOVERNMENTS LAST (MONDAY) NIGHT, WHILE GREECE'S KING GEORGE CONSIDERED DEMANDS THAT THE PREMIER BE DISMISSED.

PREMIER ALCIDE DE GASPERI, 55-YEAR-OLD CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT, RESIGNED AS HEAD OF THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT AND THUS BROUGHT TO A HEAD A POLITICAL CRISIS WHICH DEVELOPED DURING HIS RECENT TRIP TO THE UNITED STATES. HE MAY BE ASKED TO FORM ANOTHER CABINET, WHICH WOULD BE HIS THIRD IN A LITTLE MORE THAN A YEAR.

IN POLAND, WHERE THE PRO-COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT BLOC APPEARED TO BE SCORING A FOUR TO ONE VICTORY OVER THE OPPOSITION, THE NEWLY ELECTED PARLIAMENT WILL MEET EARLY NEXT MONTH. PRESIDENT BOLESLAW BIERUT AND PREMIER EDWARD B.OSUBKA-MORAWSKI WILL RESIGN SHORTLY THEREAFTER, AND BOTH ARE EXPECTED TO BE REAPPOINTED.

SOCIALIST PAUL RAMADIER WAS VIRTUALLY ASSURED OF BEING NAMED PREMIER IN PARIS TODAY (TUES) BY THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY, BUT IT WAS DOUBTFUL WHETHER HE COULD FORM A COALITION GOVERNMENT. THE CENTRIST MRP PARTY VOTED TO SUPPORT HIM FOR PREMIER, BUT TO WITHHOLD A DECISION ON PARTICIPATION IN ANY COALITION CABINET WHICH GAVE THE NATIONAL DEFENSE MINISTRY TO A COMMUNIST.

IN ATHENS THE GREEK PARLIAMENT DECIDED TO ADJOURN UNTIL THURSDAY, IN ORDER TO GIVE TIME FOR ADDITIONAL NEGOTIATIONS BY SEVEN PARTIES WHICH ARE DEMANDING THAT KING GEORGE APPOINT A CROWN COUNCIL WITH A VIEW OF DISMISSING PREMIER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS AND FORMING A NEW GOVERNMENT.

PREMIER ALCIDE DE GASPERI, BACK IN ROME FROM A FRUITFUL TRIP TO THE UNITED STATES, ANNOUNCED HIS RESIGNATION. HE SAID THIS WOULD CLARIFY THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN ITALY, WHERE SOCIALIST FOREIGN MINISTER PIETRO NENNI RESIGNED LAST WEEK. MANY EXPECTED PRESIDENT ENRICO DE NICOLA TO REASSIGN DE GASPERI, A CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT PARTY MAN, TO THE PREMIERSHIP.

IN GREECE KING GEORGE II WAS CONFRONTED WITH A DEMAND BY SEVEN OPPOSITION PARTY LEADERS THAT HE CALL A CROWN COUNCIL WITH A VIEW TO DISMISSING PREMIER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS AND FORMING A NEW GOVERNMENT. THE OPPOSITION LEADERS TOLD THE KING THEY WOULD PARTICIPATE IN A NEW GOVERNMENT UNDER ANY PREMIER OTHER THAN TSALDARIS, WHO HEADS THE ROYALIST-DOMINATED POPULIST PARTY.

FRANCE'S PREMIER-DESIGNATE, PAUL RAMADIER, WAS EXPECTED TO APPEAR BEFORE THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY TOMORROW FOR CONFIRMATION OF A COALITION CABINET INCLUDING FIVE COMMUNISTS. POLITICAL SOURCES PREDICTED RAMADIER WOULD GIVE HIS SOCIALIST PARTY SEVEN CABINET POSTS, ALTHOUGH ON THE BASIS OF PRESENT STRENGTH IT HOLDS ONLY THIRD PLACE AFTER THE COMMUNIST AND MRP PARTIES.

POLAND'S GOVERNMENT WILL BE REVISED AFTER THE NEW PARLIAMENT, ELECTED YESTERDAY, CHOOSES A PRESIDENT. VICE PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK AND TWO MINISTERS REPRESENTING HIS POLISH PEASANT PARTY MAY RESIGN EVEN BEFORE THAT.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 20-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PLAN FOR UNIFYING THE ARMED FORCES IS HITTING BUMPS ON BOTH SIDES OF CAPITOL HILL TODAY EVEN BEFORE ANY FORMAL DRIVE TO CARRY IT OUT.

IN THE SENATE THERE ARE REPORTS OF A POSSIBLE SCRAMBLE BY RIVAL COMMITTEES TO HANDLE THE BILL, ONCE IT ARRIVES FROM THE WAR AND NAVY DEPARTMENTS.

CHAIRMAN GURNEY (R-SD), OF THE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE TOLD A REPORTER HE EXPECTS THE LEGISLATION TO BE HANDLED BY HIS GROUP.

BUT SENATOR TAFT (R-OHIO), WHO HAS A BIG VOICE IN GOP POLICY MAKING, SAID THERE HAS BEEN "SOME TALK" OF SENDING THE MERGER BILL TO THE COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE EXPENDITURES HEADED BY CHAIRMAN AIKEN (R-VT).

SEVERAL SENATORS NOTED THAT UNDER THE CONGRESSIONAL REORGANIZATION ACT AIKEN'S COMMITTEE IS TO HANDLE LEGISLATION DEALING WITH THE "REORGANIZATION OF GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS."

AIKEN WAS SILENT BUT GURNEY SAID:

WASHINGTON, JAN 20-(AP)-SENATE AND HOUSE COMMITTEES BOTH WRANGLED TODAY OVER PROPOSED SALE OF THE BIG AND LITTLE INCH PIPELINES WHICH ONE LAWMAKER DECLARED WOULD SAVE THE GOVERNMENT OVER $4,000,000 A YEAR.

IN THE SENATE, THE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE VOTED 6 TO 1 TO SPIKE LEGISLATION CALCULATED TO DELAY SALE OF THE LINES FOR 90 DAYS.

CHAIRMAN GURNEY (R-SD) THEN ANNOUNCED THAT AS FAR AS THE COMMITTEE WAS CONCERNED, THE WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATION COULD GO AHEAD AFTER FEB. 3 AND DISPOSE OF THE LINES AS IT MIGHT SEE FIT.

ON TOP OF THIS GREEN LIGHT, HOWEVER, SENATOR HAWKES (R-NJ) 1947 INTRODUCED RESOLUTIONS SEEKING TO PROHIBIT SALE OF THE TWO LINES BEFORE AUG. 3, 1947, AND CALLING FOR A FULL INVESTIGATION OF THE DESIRABILITY OF SELLING THEM TO PRIVATE INTERESTS.

HAWKES SAID CONGRESS SHOULD DETERMINE THE PRICE TO BE CHARGED AND THE USE TO WHICH THE LINES SHOULD BE PUT.

WAA HAS RECOMMENDED THAT THE LINES BE SOLD TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER AND USED FOR TRANSPORTATION OF OIL OR NATURAL GAS, OR BOTH -- WITH A PROVISO THAT IN CASE OF EMERGENCY THE PIPES COULD BE RECONVERTED TO THE FLOW OF OIL WITHIN 90 DAYS.

IN THE HOUSE, REP. WALTER (D-PA), WHO REPRESENTS A HARD COAL MINING DISTRICT, TOLD THE COMMERCE COMMITTEE THAT TRANSPORTATION OF NATURAL GAS IN THE TEXAS-TO-ATLANTIC PIPES WOULD CREATE "AN ALARMING THREAT TO RAILROADS HAULING COAL" AND ALSO "MIGHT THROW THOUSANDS OF MINERS OUT OF WORK."

Marshall Sworn in; Has NO Political Ambitions

Promises to 'Do My Best' After Taking Oath as Secretary of State.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(AP) Gen. George C. Marshall, who has been mentioned as a possible presidential nominee, declared today that he "never could be drafted" for political office.

Then, with Democrats and Republicans applauding the seldom-equalled forthrightness of his statement, he took the oath as secretary of state and promised to "do my best" with the vast problems crowding in upon him.

Statement

Marshall's statement, dictated to newsmen who greeted his train in the bleak morning, was obviously designed to disentangle his new job as secretary of state from any political complications.

Evidently he felt that such problems as relations with Russia, the future of Germany, atomic energy and world peace could best be tackled if he did not have to face congress as a possible contender for the presidency in 1948. He had been mentioned in speculation about the Democratic nomination.

"I will never become involved in political matters," he volunteered. "I never could be drafted."

For the White House oath-taking ceremony a short time later, the five-star general of the army laid aside all military regalia. He was clad in civilian clothes, as if to symbolize the peacetime problems he will find so different from his wartime tasks.

Turning to President Truman after the ceremony, he said:

"I appreciate sincerely the honor and the compliment of your confidence. I'll do my best."

The reaction on Capitol Hill to his statement about politics was immediate and favorable.

Statement Praised

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) keynoted the general comment by telling reporters that the new secretary's announcement "puts him in a much stronger position as he assumes a task that will affect the destiny of this nation and the world."

Asked whether Mr. Truman had known in advance of Marshall's statement, White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said the Chief Executive "did not."

In its firmness and finality of tone, Marshall's announcement was compared with the historical comment attributed to William T. Sherman, Civil War general, who reputedly said of the presidency: "If nominated I will not accept. If elected I will not serve."

In a similar vein, Gen. Douglas MacArthur dashed cold water on talk of his taking the nomination as Republican candidate for the presidency in 1944 by saying: "I do not covet it nor would I accept it."

Marshall issued his declaration to newsmen shortly after arriving in Washington by train from Chicago.

Can't be "Drafted"

Questioned on a wide variety of subjects, Marshall cheerfully answered the newsmen.

When the questions ended, Marshall finally said: "Is that all you want to ask me?"

Then, as several reporters nodded, Marshall said in his mild, quiet voice:

"I think this is as good a time and place as any to terminate speculation regarding me in a political way.

"I am assuming that the office of secretary of state, at least under present conditions, is non-political and will govern myself accordingly.

"I will never become involved in political matters and therefore I cannot be considered a candidate for political office.

"The popular conception that no matter what the man says he can be drafted as a candidate for some political office would be without any force with regard to me."

He paused. He had been speaking without notes. Then, with emphasis, he continued:

"I never could be drafted."

Marshall said he was being "explicit and emphatic" to terminate "once and for all any discussion of my name with regard to political matters."

Takes Oath as Secretary

The 66-year-old general was sworn in by Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson at 11 A.M. in the presence of Mr. Truman and a gathering of notables. Cabinet members, top-ranking Congressional foreign policy leaders and newsmen representing the world press and radio witnessed the ceremony.

The President, while expressing regret over the resignation of Secretary James F. Byrnes, said he felt the momentous duties which lie ahead for Marshall are in "safe hands" and expressed his appreciation to Marshall for "your willingness to accept that burden."

After the ceremony, Marshall conferred privately with Mr. Truman for one hour. As he left the White House, he told reporters:

"There is a great deal I must do and not a great deal of time in which to do it."

The new secretary is tentatively scheduled to go to Moscow in March for the "Big Four" settlement of the German and Austrian peace treaties. He said, however, he did not know at this time whether he would go personally to the Russian capital.

Then he left for the state department to take over the reins from Byrnes. He said he is going to his Leesburg, Va., home tonight, and Mrs. Marshall plans to visit for a time in Pinehurst, N. C.

Marshall's return this morning climaxed a long journey home from China where he recently completed a 13-month mission as President Truman's personal representative in a futile attempt to make peace between Chinese Communists and Nationalists.

Despite the long trip, Marshall looked tanned and rested as he stepped from the train wearing a fur-collared tan overcoat and a blue pin-stripe suit. He had a rest in Hawaii en route home.

Statement Made In D.C. Without Solicitation

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall said today he is not a candidate for any political office and "never could be drafted"—even for the Presidency.

Arriving to take office as Secretary of State, Marshall told reporters he considered his new post nonpolitical. He then volunteered:

1. I cannot be considered a candidate for political office. . . .
2. I never could be drafted. . . .
3. I am being explicit and emphatic in order to terminate once and for all any discussion of my name with regard to political matters.

Takes Oath

Marshall took the oath as Secretary of State in the presence of President Truman and then pledged, "I'll do my best."

Numerous notables gathered in Mr. Truman's office to witness the ceremony, and to them Marshall said:

"I appreciate sincerely the honor and the compliment of your confidence. I'll do my best."

The wartime chief of America's victorious armies was assured by Mr. Truman that he felt the duties of Secretary of State are in "safe hands."

Truman's Appreciation

Mr. Truman told Marshall that, while he regretted very sincerely the decision of James F. Byrnes to resign as Secretary, he appreciated "very much your willingness to accept that burden."

The ceremony was brief. Members of the Cabinet, top-ranking congressional foreign-policy leaders and newsmen representing publications and radio organizations all over the globe crowded into the office.

The oath, administered by Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, places Marshall in line for the presidency in the event a vacancy should occur before the end of Mr. Truman's term.

Arrives By Train

Marshall first talked with newsmen after leaving the train that brought him from Chicago.

Since his appointment as Secretary of State, Marshall's name has been mentioned in speculation about presidential candidates in 1948. Some have speculated he might run on a ticket with President Truman or obtain the Democratic nomination if Mr. Truman were not a candidate.

In talking with reporters, Marshall made plain that in ruling himself out of political consideration he included the Presidency, as well as any other political office.

Not Asked About Politics

Marshall volunteered his comments on politics and the job of running American foreign policy to the newsmen who met his early morning train at Union Station. They questioned him briefly on a great variety of subjects but had not specifically asked him about politics.

The train arrived at 7.35 A.M.

The swearing-in ceremony at the White House originally had been set for yesterday, but bad weather forced Marshall to stop at Chicago on a flight from the West Coast, and to change to a train.

Avoids Foreign Policy

At the station Marshall declined to discuss details of foreign policy, saying that he knew nothing about them at the moment. In response to a specific question as to whether he would go to Moscow for the conference on the peace treaty for Germany, he replied:

"I don't know a thing about it; you see, I have not transacted any business with the State Department."

He added that he imagined the job of conducting diplomacy would be "tougher" than his wartime task as Army chief of staff because "military affairs were my business."

When the questions had ended, Marshall remained standing in the group of newsmen and finally said, "Is that all you want to ask me?"

Several nodded and then Marshall said that he had something he wanted to give out.

Text Of Verbal Statement

His statement, made verbally to the newsmen without reference to any notes, follows:

"I think this is as good a time and place as any to terminate speculation regarding me in a political way.

"I am assuming that the office of Secretary of State, at least under present conditions, is nonpolitical and will govern myself accordingly.

"I will never become involved in political matters and therefore I cannot be considered a candidate for political office.

"The popular conception that no matter what the man says he can be drafted as a candidate for some political office would be without any force and effect with regard to me. I never could be drafted.

"I am being explicit and emphatic in order to terminate once and for all any discussion of my name with regard to political matters."

Marshall Wins General Praise For Disavowal

Opinion of Both Parties Lauds No-Politics Step as Way to Co-operation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP).—Republicans and Democrats gave unanimous praise today to George C. Marshall's declaration that he is shunning all politics and won't even be drafted for public office.

The House speaker, Representative Joseph W. Martin, Republican, of Massachusetts, said the new Secretary of State, in disclaiming any political aspirations whatsoever, had won "a much stronger position" for obtaining co-operation in the conduct of American foreign affairs.

"Secretary Marshall has expressed himself clearly as to any political implications and his statement does not permit any misinterpretation," Representative Martin said.

Senator Claude Pepper, Democrat, of Florida: "General Marshall begins his duties as Secretary of State in the pre-eminent spirit with which he discharged his obligations as Army chief of staff—first, last and all the time an American. "It is a forthright statement. I suggest it as a pattern for all others who wish to make their positions clear about their availability for political office."

The House leader, Representative Charles A. Halleck, Republican, of Indiana: "Marshall's announcement is calculated to strengthen his hand in the great task before him."

Senator Edward J. Thye, Republican, of Minnesota: "That's just the type of statement you would expect General Marshall to make. The man's entire makeup is fairness and he never would be motivated by political reasons."

Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, Democrat, of Texas: "That ought to settle that question (of political speculation) once and for all."

Senator Dennis Chavez, Democrat, of New Mexico: "He's going to be a good Secretary of State. I'm prouder of him than ever, and I always was proud of him."

Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Republican, of Iowa: "I think it's a wholesome thing that he ends political speculation as he begins his new task. It is characteristic of the man."

Senator Styles Bridges, Republican, of New Hampshire: "I think that's a strong, fine statement, and it should make his work easier. It certainly should assure the co-operation of all parties and factions in our country in the conduct of our foreign affairs."

Senator Millard E. Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland: "An honest man, he made an honest statement. Nobody who knows him will doubt what he said, although I heard it with great regret."

Senator Joseph C. O'Mohoney, Democrat, of Wyoming: "This is another demonstration of the superior quality of General Marshall."

Senator Carl Hayden, Democrat, of Arizona: "Very good."

Senator Homer Capehart, Republican, of Indiana: "It is a very admirable statement."

GEN. MARSHALL BLUNT AS SHERMAN

Washington, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—Gen. George C. Marshall's flat statement today that he "never could be drafted" for the presidency or other political post compares with that made by William T. Sherman, civil war general. Sherman was quoted as having said: "If nominated I will not accept. If elected I will not serve."

No other statement by any presidential possibility since has had the ring of finality in it as that one except one by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in April, 1944, when after an original remark regarded by some as equivocal, the Pacific commander said:

"I request that no action be taken that would link my name in any way with the (Republican) nomination. I do not covet it nor would I accept it."

Ban On Reich, Austria Anschluss Sought

London, Jan. 21 (AP)—Russia and France were reported today to be lined up behind a proposal before the Deputy Foreign Ministers Council for an iron-bound guarantee in the Austrian peace treaty which would forever prohibit another Anschluss linking Germany and Austria.

British sources said there appeared little disagreement among the Big Four deputies on political phases of the treaty draft. Western powers were said to be pressing for withdrawal of occupation forces from Austria within 90 days after signing of the treaty.

Both the anti-Anschluss and withdrawal clauses were expected to go into the draft now being prepared for the March meeting of the Foreign Ministers in Moscow.

American sources said the United States favored a treaty clause obligating Austria to retain her independence but probably would agree to a specific ban on future union with Germany. British sources said there was no Russian opposition yesterday to the proposal to withdraw occupation forces 90 days after signing the treaty—a clause included in the treaties for Bulgaria, Finland, Italy, Hungary and Romania.

Britain Asks New Output Drive

London, Jan. 21 (AP)—Britain's Labor Government highlighted the reopening of Parliament today with an appeal to workers and employers to work harder and more efficiently for recovery.

Facing a fight in the House of Commons on such measures as the nationalization of transport and electricity, the Government warned that Britain's economic situation is "extremely serious" and called for a renewed production drive.

A picture of manpower shortages, wornout factories and threats of inflation was presented in a White Paper issued last night as a prelude to parliamentary debate on government economic plans to be presented within the next few weeks.

Wage Agreement

The Government report is indorsed by leaders of the British Employers Confederation and the Trades Union Congress.

It advocates increased production to combat the threat of inflation, but avoids any mention of a national wage policy backed in many circles to prevent a recurrence of "wildcat" strikes such as the recent transport stoppage.

The Government would like:

1. Higher wages and better conditions in undermanned industries, mainly manufacturing. The paper estimated the shortage at 675,000 men in the most seriously undermanned industries and said that at least 500,000 more workers are needed in export industries.

2. No pressure for improvements in industries relatively better off as to manpower.

3. Virtual freezing of conditions in some unspecified industries, to be broken only by pay increases linked to higher production.

BACK TO U. S. AT LAST

London, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—Two American children who went to Germany before the war for a vacation and were stranded there by the war, left London by American Overseas Airways plane today en route to Philadelphia and reintroduction to the English language and life in the United States.

An AOA spokesman identified the children as Marian and Frederick Schiller, 9 and 13 years old. He said that they would be met at New York by an uncle, Ernest Weingardt, and taken to live with August Schiller, another uncle, in Philadelphia.

About the necks of the brother and sister AOA officials at Frankfurt hung notes directing traffic officers along the route to care for them and explaining they had forgotten how to speak English.

Arms Talk Set By Austin,

Marshall

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 21 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate to the United Nations, will begin discussions early next week with newly appointed Secretary of State George C. Marshall on American plans for atomic energy control and world disarmament.

This was disclosed today by American sources who said the two diplomats would probably lay groundwork for a basic United States policy on world-wide arms reduction.

The United Nations Security Council, overriding Russian and Polish opposition, yesterday approved an American request to put off consideration of disarmament until February 4.

Reasons For Delay

The arms postponement was asked by Austin because of the shift in State Department leadership and to enable the United States delegation to study more carefully a series of preliminary proposals already submitted by other countries.

American sources said that Austin and Marshall would discuss the whole question of atomic-energy control and world disarmament. They said they had no idea how long the discussions would continue.

One of the things that will concern the two diplomats, these sources said, would be setting up machinery within the American Government to handle the disarmament problem as it will affect the United States.

Some American sources said they believed there would be little, if any, divergence of views between Austin and Marshall on the major issues.

Are Old Friends

They pointed out that Austin worked closely with Marshall during the war. At that time Austin was Republican leader of the Senate Military Affairs Committee and was considered a "wheel horse." They added that Austin and Marshall are old friends and that Marshall has a deep respect for Austin's capabilities and judgment.

In asking postponement, Austin declared that the United States regarded "disarmament as one of the most important ways of putting an end to war."

Andrei Gromyko, chief Soviet delegate, in opposing the move, suggested that the United States merely wanted more time to push its original suggestion that control of atomic energy be given priority over arms-reduction plans.

The Russian delegate also lost a fight to keep British charges against Albania off the Security Council agenda. The ballot was 10 to 0, with Russia abstaining.

Meanwhile, there was some sentiment in the American delegation for turning the case over to the International Court of Justice.

FRENCH CABINET HOPES BRIGHTER

PARIS, Jan. 21 — (AP) The French National Assembly today elected Edouard Herriot as it president and gave an overwhelming vote of confidence to Paul Ramadier, premier-designate who still faces the job of forming an acceptable coalition cabinet.

Ramadier, a Socialist, received the votes of all parties except a small rightist group, and won endorsement by a count of 577 to 10 after pledging to continue France's present foreign policy.

Prospects for his formation of a cabinet appeared brighter after the Centrist Popular Republican Movement (MRP) announced that Ramadier had agreed to a compromise on the question of the national defense setup.

The MRP previously had made it clear that it would not enter or support Ramadier's government unless he altered his plans to give the Communists the national defense ministry.

Ramadier told a reporter that he was "certain to succeed" in forming a government and said he hoped to complete it either tonight or tomorrow morning.

Prior to the vote of confidence, the assembly elevated Herriot, 74-year-old radical-Socialist, to its pesidency, with 429 votes. Although Herriot was unopposed, 120 votes were cast for various other deputies and 26 blank ballots were

FRENCH ASSEMBLY BACKS RAMADIER

Paris, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—France's National Assembly gave a vote of confidence to Paul Ramadier, Socialist, by a vote of 577 to 10 tonight as Premier-designate of the first Government of the Fourth French Republic.

Previously Radical-Socialist leader Edouard Herriot, 74 years old, was elected president of the assembly

Ramadier, pledged to leave France's foreign policy unchanged received the support of all parties, except for a small Rightist group. The powerful M. R. P. (Popular Republican Movement), party of former President - Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, made it clear, however, that its vote on Ramadier's proposed program and policies did not bind it to accept posts in his Cabinet. Bidault has been mentioned for Foreign Minister in such a Cabinet.

Ramadier said he hoped to form the Cabinet tonight, or in any event by tomorrow morning.

Herriot, who was unopposed, headed the old Chamber of Deputies from 1936-1942. He is in his forty-second year as Mayor of Lyon, France's third largest city. A protege of Aristide Briand, Herriot was three times Premier of France before the war. He succeeds Vincent Auriol, recently elected President of the Republic.

Herriot, needing only 310 votes for an absolute majority, received 429. Twenty-six ballots were blank and 120 went to various other men, although they were not actually candidates. The scattered opposing ballots indicated a split in the Radical-Socialist ranks. Election officials said that Edouard Daladier, Radical-Socialist who was Premier at the time of the Munich pact, was among those voting against Herriot.

FRENCH SCORE GAINS IN DRIVE AT HANOI

PARIS, Jan. 21 — (AP) Two French armored columns began a drive west of Hanoi in an effort to clear out Viet-Namese forces harrassing the capital of northern Indochina and met with initial success, dispatches reported from Hanoi today.

Tanks and armed cars were used with air and artillery support, and the two columns lacked only a mile of closing a pincers around an area extending from the Hadong Road north to the Rouge River along the outer belt highway, military reports said. One column made an advance of seven miles in the drive starting yesterday.

The Viet-Namese fell back, leaving small groups of Vu-Te (armed youth) to fight delaying actions and harrassing the French forward movement with mines.

French Columns Pushing West From Hanoi

Paris, Jan. 21 (AP) — French armored columns, in a pincers maneuver supported by planes and heavy artillery, have moved westward from Hanoi in an attempt to clear Viet-Namese forces from the environs of the city, dispatches from Indo-China reported today.

Two detachments of armored cars and tanks that began their advance yesterday morning were only one mile apart at the end of the day, threatening insurgent troops remaining in the vicinity of Hanoi with a tighter encirclement, the French general staff said.

Mines Delay Advance

The French command hopes to seize control of the area north of the Dong road to the Rouge River along the outer belt highway to the village of Yenthai. The bulk of the Viet-Namese forces were reported to have withdrawn before the French columns, leaving only small groups to fight delaying actions.

Land mines placed by the Viet-Namese in their retreat blowed up the French, the general staff commented.

Siege Proclamation Urged

In Saigon, the French-language newspaper Le Populaire published an appeal to the Government to proclaim a state of siege in Cochin-China, southernmost state of France's Far Eastern colony, warning that the time was ripe for a surprise Viet-Namese attack.

The appeal, published under the name of Remi Bourgeois, Cochin-China Government archivist, said the time for an attack would be favored particularly during the celebration of the Annamite New Year, with stores and factories closed until January 24. Bourgeois said it would be better for the French to attack than to defend.

Socony Buys Surplus Stores of U. S. in Azores

PARIS, Jan. 21 (AP).—Millions of gallons of gasoline and stores of lubricating oils and other property, comprising United States Army surplus supplies of Santa Maria Island in the Azores, have been purchased by Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. for $556,708, the office of the United States Foreign Liquidation Commissioner announced today. The supplies were estimated to have cost the United States $1,349,045.

The United States Army constructed and maintained during the war an air base on Santa Maria for servicing overseas planes and ocean patrol flights.

End Foe-Trade Ban, McNarney Asks

Berlin, Jan. 21 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney announced today he had recommended that the Trading With the Enemy Act be withdrawn in Germany and that relaxations be made in the State Department blacklist of foreign firms in order to spur import and export trade.

The American military governor said he hoped the Trading With the Enemy Act would soon be abolished entirely. He added that the matter was under consideration in the War Department and other agencies in Washington and was closely bound up with the projected reform of German currency.

McNarney disclosed that the Russians had not yet agreed to currency reform as contemplated by the British, French and Americans, but declined to discuss the United States plan on the ground it was being considered on a four-power level here.

The problem of achieving economic unity in Germany by bringing the Russians and French into the fusion already achieved by the British and American zones economically is no longer being considered in Berlin but has been handed to the forthcoming Foreign Ministers' Conference in Moscow, he said.

Need For Exchange Value

McNarney said it was necessary to fix an exchange value for the mark in international trade because Anglo-American efforts to increase German exports were hampered by the fact that trading would have to be done with dollars or with currencies readily exchangeable into dollars.

McNarney declared that while it would require a "nice balance," he foresaw no difficulty in bringing about economic unity in Germany and in following the American policy of decentralization and federalization.

He said he saw no danger that a strong central government would arise through the efforts to bring about a unification of Germany's economy.

NAZI LOOT WILL FINANCE RELIEF

Frankfurt, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—Gold teeth and jewelry the Nazis took from persons they killed in concentration camps soon will be sold to provide money for relief of the refugees who survived, Military Government officials disclosed today. The gold, conservatively estimated to be worth several million dollars, was stored by the Nazis in Germany's Reichsbank vaults.

By international agreement among the Allies, it was removed from German assets and alloted to the inter-governmental committee on refugees for relief work. The committee now is preparing to sell the gold on world markets.

U. S. Army Aiding 376,000 D. P.'s

Frankfurt, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—The United States Army said today that it was caring for 376,000 displaced persons as of last December 31—an increase in a half year of 8,000. During the last six months of 1947, 123,000 persons were resettled or discharged and 131,000 additional refugees took quarters in the camps, usually from Eastern Europe or Germany itself.

NEW 'FUEHRER' DOOMED

Gang Head to Die for Bombing Denazification Courts

STUTTGART, Germany, Jan. 21 (AP)—Siegfried Kabus, 25-year-old former SS [Elite Guard] officer, who was said by fellow defendants to have planned to take over Germany with himself as a second Fuehrer, was sentenced to death today by a United States military court.

Kabus and ten other defendants who received prison sentences ranging from one to thirty years, were arrested last November after a series of bombings of denazification courts. An arsenal of weapons and explosives was found in the gang's possession—a capital offense under the laws of the occupation.

Kabus, who organized the gang and confessed to plotting the bombings as a "protest" against Germans taking orders from Americans, appeared satisfied at the role he had played and smiled at the verdict.

Most of the defendants were under 20 years of age and were former SS and Hitler Youth members.

GI, Briton Swap Identities

Wiesbaden, Germany, Jan. 21 (AP). A Briton who said he hated England found himself in an American military jail today after swapping identities with an American soldier now missing.

Donald L. Jenkings, of London, said he spent 30 "joyous" days as an American soldier. His masquerade ended when he signed the pay roll incorrectly. He would have been transferred to the United States for redeployment within a few weeks.

Jenkings said he met the missing soldier in a Paris bar.

Changed Clothes In Movie

"The French girl I went to Paris to see was already married," he related, "so the American and I went to a movie and changed clothes. I took his uniform. He took my civilian clothes. I've always wanted to go to the United States, and the American wanted to quit the Army."

Within an hour, he was on a troop train bound for Germany. No one questioned him. He simulated a Brooklyn accent, bluffed his way through a reassignment center and was transferred to the military government in Wiesbaden.

Jenkings was told he would be turned over to the British Consul in Frankfurt. He said he would try to enter the United States legally "the next time." He declared that he liked the American jail better than his native land, adding:

"I hate England."

Army authorities said Jenkins posed as Private Gordon R. Palsbo, of Edison street, Buffalo, N.Y. The officials said military police were looking for Palsbo, but that no charges had been filed against him.

Von Papen To Fight Trial

Munich, Germany, Jan. 21 (AP)—Franz von Papen's lawyer will challenge the authority of the German de-Nazification court at Nuernberg to try the former diplomat on the grounds that von Papen's home is in the French occupation zone in Germany, it was disclosed today. Von Papen is scheduled to go on trial in Nuernberg January 27.

DE GASPERI USES U. S. VISIT IN BID FOR NEW REGIME

ROME, Jan. 21 — (AP) Alcide de Gasperi, who took upon himself the responsibility of precipitating an Italian political crisis by submitting the resignations of himself and cabinet last night, acted today like a man who already had been asked to form a new government.

Posters appearing on the walls of Rome made it evident that De Gasperi was banking strongly on the prestige gained in his recent visit to the United States to win popular support for his program.

Some of these posters were titled "Bread and the Future" and pictured him with F. H. La Guardia, former UNRRA head. Others showed grain-laden ships sailing toward Italy. Others showed De Gasperi with James F. Byrnes, former U. S. Secretary of State and proclaimed "Thanks to De Gasperi for defending the Italian workman." There was no mention of De Gasperi's party, the Christian Democrats.

L'Italia, actionist party newspaper, declared De Gasperi's resignation "to clarify the situation" was an effort to shake leftists out of the government. De Gasperi has headed a four-party coalition in which Communists and Socialists held eight portfolios.

The directive committee of the Socialist party headed by former foreign minister Pietro Nenni, decried what it said were "efforts to move the government towards the right."

L'Humanite, newspaper of the anti-Communist branch of the Socialists, also warned that "any effort to shift the government towards the right, even under the mask of broadened collaboration, will find us clearly opposed."

De Gasperi told the parliamentary bloc of his party what he has said before that the other parties in his government could not enjoy offices inside the government while sniping at it from the outside.

Italy Drawing Up New Cabinet

Rome, Jan. 21 (AP)—Provisional President Enrico de Nicola set about trying to find a new Italian government today to replace the Cabinet of Premier Alcide de Gasperi which resigned last night.

The general expectation here was that de Nicola would commission de Gasperi to form another government—his third since the armistice—perhaps with smaller Leftist representation than before.

Leaders Visited

The President scheduled conferences today with de Gasperi and four other former premiers and with leaders of the major parties in the Constituent Assembly.

De Gasperi's resignation was so much his own idea that some of his Ministers were reported to have learned of it from the newspapers.

Just before leaving the office last night, de Gasperi commented to newsmen:

"All parties must assume loyal obligations, without which the Government cannot be efficient and cannnot give the impression of being compact and stable, nor assure itself of confidence internally or abroad."

Old Theme, New Phrasing

This was his newest way of saying what he had said many times before: That the other parties in the coalition with his Christian Democrats—the Communists, Socialists and Republicans—could not enjoy the practical benefits of being represented in the Cabinet and still enjoy the right of sniping at the Government's policies.

Thus, apparently, he decided to force the much-heralded political crisis by resigning, to the definite chagrin of the Socialists and Communists, whose newspaper organs could find no pleasure in the present state of affairs.

RED BLOC PILES UP BIG POLISH LEAD

WARSAW, Jan. 21—(AP) Final unofficial returns from Sunday's parliamentary election gave a smashing victory today to the Russian-approved government bloc parties, which captured or will control 400 of the 444 seats in Poland's new parliament.

The bloc parties, composed of the Workers, Socialists, Independent Peasants and Democrats, took 383 seats. These included the so-called national lists, on which pro-bloc candidates ran without party designation since they were members of the present regime.

The bloc also will be able to control 17 other votes—the 13 seats won by the new liberation party, a split group of Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's Polish Peasant Party (PSL), and four seats won by smaller groups.

The two anti-bloc parties, the PSL and the Labor group, won 27 and 17 seats, respectively. Bloc officials said that neither Mikolajczyk nor other members of his party would be included in the new government, now being formed.

Approximately 12,000,000 votes were cast, but no figures were announced as to the division of the popular vote.

A key member of the government, meanwhile, asserted that James F. Byrnes, former U. S. secretary of state, and Winston Churchill, former British prime minister, were "linked with Mikolajczyk" and were considered dangerous to Poland's welfare.

Reds Of Poland Win 73 P.C. Of Seats

Warsaw, Jan. 21 (AP)—Complete unofficial reports from Poland's 6,726 voting precincts today apparently assured the Communist-backed pro-government bloc parties a smashing victory in Sunday's parliamentary elections, giving them 324 seats out of a total of 444, or approximately 73 per cent.

Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, leader of the opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL), was himself elected to a Parliament seat, but his party took a terrific beating, wining only an indicated 24 seats. It had 53 seats in the so-called pre-election provisional Parliament.

More Trials Held

Military tribunals, meanwhile, were stepping up the trials of underground band members, many of whom the Government charges bore PSL party cards. A Government source, however, termed as "nonsense" recurrent rumors that Mikolajczyk himself might be tried as a traitor.

Government-bloc newspapers charged openly that the underground was allied with Mikolajczyk in pre-election and election-day "terrorism." Mikolajczyk has countered that the bloc parties and the security police themselves were responsible for much of the terror.

Military courts in a half dozen cities sentenced 25 members of the PSL accused of underground connections to long terms in prison, and in Posnan two men were sentenced to death for leading a band which killed an election commission chairman.

Preparing To Appeal

Mikolajczyk was readying an appeal to the Polish Supreme Court to declare the elections invalid on grounds that the voting was neither free nor unfettered, as guaranteed at Yalta and Potsdam.

Seventy-two seats were filled by election of candidates on what was called the "national list," which included President Boleslaw Bierut and practically every other official now holding top Government positions.

The Labor party captured ten seats, the new liberation group of PSL—a splinter of Mikolajczyk's party—got seven, and four went to smaller political groups.

Other Three Seats In Doubt

[There was no immediate indication of the allotment of the other three seats.]

While Mikolajczyk reported that he was receiving a flood of complaints charging falsification of returns and irregularities during the voting, Karol Popiel, president of the Christian Labor party, charged in a statement to the press that the Warsaw regime had denied his party opportunity to participate in the elections.

He contended that a list of fifteen Catholic candidates in the elections was sponsored by the Communist-backed Workers party—part of the bloc—and was not reflective of Catholic sentiment.

Plans Appeal By Districts

Mikolajczyk said he intended to make a separate appeal to the Supreme Court on behalf of his party in each of Poland's 52 electoral districts. In ten of those his party was disenfranchised and Mikolajczyk had called for a boycott. The Government said the vote was "very heavy" in those districts, but the Vice Premier said the only peasants who voted there were "forced to do so by security police and militia."

He said he intended to cite to the court the mass disenfranchisement of voters, the intimidation of voters by security police and bloc organizers, the mass arrests of party members before and during the election and flagrant violations of the election ordinance guaranteeing secret voting.

No Booths Secret, He Says

Mikolajczyk said that, so far as he had learned, there was not a single voting booth in the land where a voter could mark his ballot secretly, and he declared that tens of thousands had openly voted pro-bloc. He said that only in the rural districts where PSL watchers refused to leave the polls did the balloting reflect majorities for PSL.

A near maximum vote of 12,000,000 was indicated in the returns, which will not be published in full until January 31.

Mikolajczyk's New Problem

Warsaw, Jan. 21 (AP)—In addition to his other problems, Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk faced the prospect of house-hunting today.

The Vice Premier, leader of the opposition Polish Peasant party, now lives in an apartment building called "Dom Rzadowy," meaning government home, where most other members of the Government also reside.

If he resigns, as he has incidated he might should the Supreme Court fail to uphold his claim that Sunday's elections were fraudulent, or is excluded from the new government to be formed as a result of those elections, he will have to find a ne whome—not an easy task in war-devastated Warsaw.

18 SENTENCED TO DIE

WARSAW, Jan. 21—(AP) Polish military tribunals today sentenced 18 persons to death on charges of participating in underground terroristic activities. The defendants were described as being members of Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajcyk's opposition Polish Peasant Party.

U. N. Board's Expenses In Greece Exceed Funds

By The Associated Press.

ATHENS, Jan. 21—The first contingent of United Nations committee members arriving here to investigate conditions inside Greece received an economic jolt today.

Col. A. Roscher Lund of Norway, principal secretary of the group, said their allowances had been fixed at $12.50 per day, or 62,500 drachma. The hotel bill for each for the first day was 80,000 drachmae, he said.

Amsterdam, Jan. 21 (AP)—Dr. S. Posthuma, Dutch economic expert, left for Batavia today to participate in Dutch-Indonesian discussions. Posthuma is a director of the Netherlands Bank and professor at Rotterdam's Economic University.

Longer Greek Amnesty Eyed

Athens, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Greek Government submitted a bill to Parliament today that would extend another two months a law granting conditional amnesty to insurgents who surrendered to the Government voluntarily.

A press dispatch said the village of Phteri, about 30 miles west of Lamia, had been captured by a band of 100 insurgents. Later the band was dispersed by a force of gendarmerie.

Belgium Lists Its Demands On Germany

Brussels, Jan. 21 (AP)—Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak announced today that a second note had been sent to the deputies of the four-power Foreign Ministers Council in London detailing Belgian claims on Germany.

Belgium, he told a news conference, wants delivery for at least 40 years of 6,600,000 tons of coal a year; 750,000,000 kilowatt-hours of power annually; 1,000,000 tons of lignite a year; 300,000 tons of industrial salt; 80,000 tons of ordinary salt; 500,000 cubic meters of wood, and about 100,000 tons of chemical.

Belgium also reserved an eventual claim on a forest territory along its frontier with Germany.

Rhine Navigation

The note, delivered through the Belgian Ambassador to the deputies now conferring on drafts of the German and Austrian peace treaties, also proposed reorganization of Rhine River navigation; asked for ships and tugs to rebuild Belgium's Rhine flotilla; construction of a Rhine-Danube channel, and extension of Belgium's right under the Versailles treaty to establish a Rhine-Schelde channel. Participation in the free use of German patents likewise is sought.

Spaak, who is president of the United Nations General Assembly, said Belgium wished Germany to be organized as a federation of states with central power limited strictly to economic problems in order to prevent Germany's resurgence as an imperialistic nation.

Favor U.S. Plan

Control of Germany's economy along lines laid down by the United States Secretary of State also is favored, he added.

The Belgians also want, Spaak said, establishment of a special control of the industrial Ruhr Valley by Belgium, France, Britain, the Netherlands and Luxembourg; occupation of western Germany by forces of those five nations even after general occupation is ended, and control of Germany's trade policy to prevent reorganization of a German war economy.

Russia Raises Civilian Output 20% Over 1945

Despite Worst Drought in 50 Years, Food Supply Increased 15% in 1946

MOSCOW, Jan. 21 (AP).—The State Planning Commission announced today that despite the worst drought in fifty years, Russia managed in 1946 to increase civilian production and employm[illegible]

Tallying up the country's achievements last year toward meeting the goals of the new five-year plan, the commission cited these accomplishments:

1. Production of civilian goods, increased 20 per cent over 1945; civilian employment increased by 3,000,000; industrial output in Russian territory occupied by the enemy during the war was up 28 per cent.

2. A total of 645,800,000 square feet of new housing was built, probably sufficient to accommodate 1,000,000 persons.

3. Enrollment in primary and secondary schools was 2,400,000 over 1945.

4. Eighty-five per cent more manufactured goods and 15 per cent more foodstuffs were sold to the public, at prices comparable to those of 1945.

The drought was described as worse than that of 1921, and comparable to the prolonged dry spell which resulted in thousands of deaths in 1897. The commission said the disaster was avoided by modern farming methods, by rushing prompt aid to afflicted regions and by the fact that the important grain-growing areas of Siberia and Kazakhstan were not affected and had better than average harvests.

Red Paper Says Canada Takes Anglo-U.S. Orders

Declares It Installs Military Defenses in North Regions

MOSCOW, Jan. 21 (AP).—The newspaper "Komsomolskaya Pravda," organ of the Communist Youth League, asserted today that Canada is politically and economically dependent on the United States and Great Britain and follows "instructions" from those powers in determining her foreign policy.

The article said this alignment was "graphically demonstrated at the Paris conference and at the United Nations General Assembly, where Canada's fulfillment of the will of these powers was not guided by its own national interests."

It added: "Although no danger threatens Canada from the north, nevertheless, under the mask of defense against some imaginary aggressor, the Canadian government is building big military installations in the northern regions, and carrying on military maneuvers. American war vessels appear off the northern shores of Canada from time to time."

Jobs-For-Vets Move On In Russia

Moscow, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet disclosed today that it had issued orders to Government agencies to find jobs immediately for demobilized servicemen who are not employed.

The Presidium emphasized that it is vital that the necessary measures be taken to put to work those demobilized men who have not worked for a long time and who avoid the jobs offered to them."

Soviet [illegible] To Meet February 20

Moscow, Jan. 21 (AP)—An official announcement today said the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, meeting at the Kremlin under President Nikolai Shvernik, had decided to convoke Russia's top legislative body in Moscow on February 20. This will be the third time the Supreme Soviet has been convened since the elections last February.

At the first session, held last March, the main subject on the agenda was the new five-year plan for the reconstruction and development of the U.S.S.R.'s national economy.

Russia's state budget for 1946 was the leading topic of discussion at the second meeting last October. The announcement did not reveal what would be taken up at the impending session.

Russ Charge Nazi Underground In West

Moscow, Jan. 21 (AP)—A. Arnoldov, Red Star correspondent in Germany, today asserted that an underground Nazi movement was stirring in western Germany and added:

"The tempo of de-Nazification in the western zones of Germany, as well as the revival and activization there of reactionary elements, evokes alarm among all advocates of the genuine democratization of Germany."

Arnoldov said that traces of this underground movement had penetrated even to Greater Berlin.

"Many active supporters of Hitler are still left in the western zones," he said. "It is even hard to call them illegal and in hiding, since the occupation authorities are very well informed about their existence and subversive activities.

"Numerous facts show cadres of the Hitlerite army and the basis of Fascism — industrial monopolies and big landowners—are being preserved in the western occupation zones."

MARINE GETS LIFE IN CHINESE CASE

Convicted of Assaulting Girl; Affair Led to Anti-U.S. Demonstrations.

PEIPING, Wednesday, Jan. 22—(AP) A U. S. Naval court today convicted Cpl. William G. Pierson of the Marines of raping a Chinese girl Christmas Eve and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

The seven-man court convicted him of raping Shen Chung, 19-year-old Chinese student, an incident which touched off anti-American demonstrations.

The court acquitted Pierson of charges of assault and assault with intent to commit rape and dropped two other charges of fornication and misconduct.

The defense wound up its case yesterday by arguing that the coed was "caught in the act of fornication" and resorted to the rape charge to cover up an "embarrassing situation."

(Marine officials have withheld other identification details, such as the home town of the defendant.)

Lt. Col. John H. Masters, of Anderson, S. C., defending Pierson, said Chinese soldiers and armed police heard no outcries although they twice got within 20 feet of the scene on the polo field. Miss Shen contends she was raped twice and warded off a third attempt there during a three hour struggle last Christmas eve.

Court Pondering Chinese Girl's Attack Story

Peiping, Jan. 21 (AP)—In an atmosphere so tense that United States Marine officials predicted violent anti-American outbreaks would follow in case of an acquittal, a United States Navy court tonight deliberated a Chinese coed's charges that Marine Corporal William G. Pierson raped her twice.

Marine officials said their compounds would be safeguarded immediately and all military personnel alerted if Pierson is acquitted.

Demonstrations Weeks Ago

Three weeks ago the rape charge was used by Chinese students in several cities, including Shanghai, Nanking and Peiping, as the springboard for "get-out-of-China" demonstrations and vitrolic insults against Americans.

Lieut. Col. John H. Masters, of Anderson, S.C., Pierson's attorney, told the court the girl, 19-year-old Shen Chung, made the rape accusation "to get out of an embarrassing position in which she had been caught."

Pierson pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to a fornication charge and innocent to four other charges, including one of rape.

Prosecutor's Statement

Lieut. Col. Paul A. Fitzgerald, the judge advocate (prosecutor), argued that the evidence proved Pierson raped the girl and said she "did all reasonable to manifest her opposition."

He demanded conviction on four charges—rape, assault with intent to commit rape and two of misconduct. They carry respective maximum sentences of life imprisonment, twenty years, three and six months, plus dishonorable discharge.

Masters argued that the coed's testimony was not corroborated and the she bore no marks of violence; that no one, not even the Chinese soldiers and police who testified they were within 20 feet of the couple, heard an outcry; that there were no marks on Pierson, despite the gril's testimony that she struggled three and a half hours.

The court will inform Pierson of any charges of which he has been acquitted—but not any of which he has been convicted, as is navy court-martial custom. Sentences would not be announced until approved by higher authorities.

UNRRA Doctor's Death Held Nonviolent

Shanghai, Jan. 21 (AP)—The English-language newspaper, China Press, today quoted reliable sources that the death January 10 of Dr. Tilson L. Harrison, UNRRA physician, was not due to violence.

The paper said the cause had not been determined, but the Canadian physician, who was 63, was known to have been suffering from fatigue and exposure on his long mercy mission to the southern Hopeh-western Shantung province area. He died near Hotse.

Harrison, who served with the British Navy in the war, voluntarily was taking a caravan of supplies into the destitute area.

1 KILLED, 150 HURT IN CALCUTTA RIOT

CALCUTTA, Jan. 21 (AP)—One person was killed and more than 150 were injured today when police, using gunfire and tear gas, dispersed a gathering of thousands of Indian students demonstrating their sympathy with the Viet-Nam cause in French-Indochina.

An official of the Bengal governmental said the police were forced to open fire when they were attacked by students hurling brickbats, acids and homemade bombs.

Woman Communist Seized in India

Bombay, India, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—Mrs. Godavari Paruleker, veteran Communist worker whom aboriginal tribesmen of the Dahanu District of Bombay Province have hailed as their inspiration in an uprising against Hindu landlords and employers, was arrested today on charges of inciting violence.

India Steering Committee

NEW DELHI, Jan. 21 (AP).—India's Constituent Assembly selected a steering committee today to co-ordinate the assembly's business and procedure, but left vacant eight seats on the twenty-man committee for Moslem Leaguers and representatives of the Maharajahs.

Troops, Reds Battle in Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 21 (AP)—Police and Durham Light Infantrymen fought for an hour today with 800 flag-bearing Communists who forced their way into the Rangoon Secretariat and staged a demonstration. Fifty to sixty persons were injured. When baton and hose pipe charges failed, the police and troops successfully used tear gas.

7 Escape Injury In Timor Crash

Tokyo, Jan. 21 (AP)—United States occupation strength in Japan will soon be reduced, authoritative sources reported today, but the specific figure was withheld.

Exact figures on troop strength are secret. Informants said reports that United States forces will be cut to 98,000 soldiers are incorrect, but did not say whether the figure was too large or too small.

There are about 120,000 American troops in Japan, plus thousands of civilian employes of the War Department. There were about 250,000 at the outset of the occupation.

British Cut Set

British occupation strength will also be cut from about 38,000 to around 32,000. Most of the home goers will be Autralians and New Zealanders.

Congressional action on military appropriations will affect the number of Americans in Japan, officials said. A recent Washington announcement said that if the Army reaches its goal of 1,700,000 troops, six divisions would be stationed here. There are four now, plus sizable headquarters units.

Seven Unhurt In Jap Crash

Tokyo, Jan. 21 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. C. H. Gairdner, personal representative of British Prime Minister Atlee at General MacArthur's headquarters, and six other passengers escaped injury when their special plane crashed at Koepang, Timor, Sunday.

United Kingdom liaison mission, which announced the accident today, said Gairdner was returning to Japan from Australia.

Others aboard included Col. C. S. Myers, of MacArthur's intelligence section, and Mrs. Helen Polster, Grand Rapids, Mich., wife of N.B.C. Correspondent George Thomas Polster.

None of the passengers or crew was injured. The plane tore off one wing and damaged its landing gear.

Tojo Name Left Out On Two Charges

Tokyo, Jan. 21 (AP)—The name of Hideki Tojo was inadvertently omitted from two war-crime charges, the prosecution told the

30.24 - 7479

International War Crime Tribunal today.

The prosecution asked to amend the indictment. The defense objected. The tribunal president, Sir William Webb, said the judges would "give serious consideration" to the matter. The trial has been in progress eight months.

Associate Prosecutor A. Comyns Carr said that only today was it discovered that the name of Shigenori Tojo, Foreign Minister at the time of Pearl Harbor, was inadvertently used instead of Tojo's in two counts charging aggression against Russia. Tojo, however, is named in another count charging the murder of Russian soldiers when the Japanese, violating treaties, attacked the Soviets on the Manchurian border.

Secret files introduced today disclosed that Tojo, while chief of staff of the Kwantung Army in China, had an allotment of 700,000 yen (then worth about $300,000) to spend at his discretion.

The files were presented to show the virtual financial independence of the Kwantung Army, which until 1935 controlled Manchurian opium revenues, reported to total 20,000,000 yen (about $9,000,000) daily.

Asks Troops to Set Example

TOKYO, Jan. 21 (AP).—American occupation troops in Japan "must strive to set an example these defeated people can admire," Lieutenant General Robert L. Eichelberger, United States 8th Army commander, told his men today. Most are doing so, he said, but there are "a few criminals and tramps in uniform who tend to give us all a poor reputation."

Jap Gets 28 Years For Prison Cruelty

Yokohama, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—Morizo Shinjo, former civilian guard at Yokkaichi P. O. W. camp near Osaka, for whom angry Americans searched in vain after their liberation, today was convicted of torturing Allied prisoners of war and was sentenced to twenty-eight years at hard labor.

Shinjo said he slapped but did beat prisoners.

Cpl. Walter Densmore told the United States Military Commission that convicted Shinjo about the liberated Yanks' fruitless search.

Two Transports Reach Japan

Yokohama, Jan. 21 (AP)—The transports Lagrande Victory and Frederick Funston docked today with 2,224 military personnel and nine dependents.

Held in Japan Fire

KYOTO, Japan, Jan. 21 (AP).—The 8th Army announced today the arrest of Hisashi Fujima and said he admitted trying to burn an American Army Counter-Intelligence Corps headquarters at Suga, Kyushu, because he "was brooding over Japanese war dead."

19 Leading Japs Are In Effect Set Free

Manila, Jan. 21 (AP)—Nineteen Japanese generals and admirals who have been held as common prisoners in Los Banos Prison Camp No. 1 were in effect ordered released today.

Chief Prosecutor William S. Yard, of General MacArthur's war crimes section, said the nineteen were being released for repatriation to Japan, but sixteen other Japanese officers of high rank were being held. Some of the latter are scheduled for trial within 30 days.

All 35 have been held on MacArthur's orders since the end of the war.

Now Are PW's

"We are authorized to reclassify the nineteen from common prisoner to prisoner-of-war category," Yard said. "When they have been released by us, it means that we have no further hold on them."

Among the sixteen held for prosecution is Maj. Gen. Iichiro Morimoto, labeled the "beast of Camp O'Donnel." He is accused of responsibility for the deaths of thousands of Americans and Filipinos interned at O'Donnel after the infamous Bataan death march.

Three other Japanese generals, charged with complicity in the murder of a Filipino martyr, Justice José Abad Santos, early in the occupation, are due for trial soon. They are Lieut. Gen. Yoshihide Hoyashi, Maj. Gen. Kiyotaki Kawaguchi and Lieut. Gen. Takaji Wachi, head of the Japanese military administration in the Philippines in 1942.

Yard said the war-crime office here had forwarded to Tokyo important papers in the case against Lieut. Gen. Shigenori Kurada, playboy militarist recently arrested in Japan. He has not been informed whether Kurada is to be tried here.

CUBA WORKERS PROTEST COSTS

10,000 Stop For 2 Hours, Gather At Palace

Havana, Jan. 21 (AP)—Ten-thousand Cuban workers, protesting the high cost of living and scanty food supplies, staged a two-hour work stoppage late today and demonstrated in front of the palace of President Grau San Martin.

The orderly demonstration was organized by the Workers Federation of the Province of Havana, which instructed its members to leave their jobs at 4 P.M., and go to the palace to participate in the show of strength.

Resume At 7 A.M.

All business and industry, including transportation, throughout Havana appeared to have come to a standstill at 4 P.M., but busses, trolley cars and night-working industries had resumed operations by 7 P.M.

President Grau, who witnessed the demonstration from a palace terrace, told the workers in a message which was broadcast Cuba that the Government had taken and would continue to take measures to control high prices and to prosecute speculators, pointing out that many black marketeers already had been arrested.

Lazaro Pena, secretary general of the Workers Confederation of Cuba, also spoke from the terrace, telling the President the workers had gatehered to ask the Government for measures to control usury and black markets.

Denounces High Cost

Denouncing the high cost of food articles of prime necessity, Pena referred to rise, now 25 cents a pound here, and butter, 80 cents a pound.

"This is not a Communist concentration nor a Communist demand against private property," Pena declared.

"It is also not a meeting of political character to attack private property, but to avoid the unequal enrichment of a few at the cost of the hunger and misery of the people."

Numbers of demonstrators carried placards demanding the removal of Cesar Casas, commerce minister, from office. He has been accused by workers' organizations as being responsible in part for high prices.

Cuba Strike Plan Halts Flights To Havana

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 21 (AP)—Airplane service was suspended between the hours of 1 P.M. and 5 P.M. today for a general strike protesting the cost of living. The city was quiet.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—All travel to Havana was cancelled effective at 12.45 P.M. today because a general political demonstration against the high cost of living is scheduled to be held in Cuba between 3.30 P.M. and 7 P.M., air transport officials reported.

The airlines were told that there would be no workers at airports to handle passengers, baggage and mail during those hours.

Pan American Airways reported that four Clipper schedules in each direction had been canceled and about 150 passengers reassigned to planes scheduled to resume service after the demonstration ends.

In Other Cities

An official of another airline said he understood the demonstration would be simultaneous in every city in Cuba.

The Cuban Consulate here reported it had heard unofficially that air travel to Cuba would be halted for a four-hour period and that a general strike might be held during that period, but had been unable to confirm it.

One air-transport official in close touch with the situation said "there will be a three-hour general cessation of work while a political demonstration is held." The extra hour would permit workers to reach the scene of the demonstration and later return to their jobs.

Palace Focal Point

It was reported the Presidential Palace would be the focal point for the demonstration at Havana.

No one here knew who sponsored the demonstration. It was reported that all was quiet in Havana today.

U.S. Rejects Red Request to 'Hand Over' Russian Critic

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(AP)—A Russian demand that the United States arrest and turn over to Soviet authorities Kirill Alekseev, who recently blasted at his homeland as a "hell of dictatorship," has been rejected, the State Department announced today.

The Russians on Jan. 4 formally asked the United States to "hand over" Alekseev, a former employe of a Russian trade mission in Mexico, "as a criminal." Specifically, the Russians accused Alekseev (who also spells his name Kiril Alexeiev) of embezzlement, treachery, treason, slander and refusing to go home.

The department announcement said the rejection, handed to the Soviet embassy yesterday, was based on the absence of an extradition treaty between the two nations.

At the same time, officials who requested they not be identified, disclosed that Alekseev's transit visa, with which he entered this country, will expire within a few days.

These officials said that it will be up to the immigration service to decide whether the visa will be extended; whether Alekseev will have to leave the country temporarily and return under a new visa, or whether he will have to quit the country permanently.

They predicted on the basis of this country's past attitude toward political refugees that in no event would Alekseev be forced to return to Russia, and that he probably would be permitted to stay here for a while.

In its reply to the Soviets, the State Department pointed out that "it is a well established principle of international law that no right to extradition exists apart from treaty" and that "no extradition treaty exists between the United States and the Soviet Union."

"And, moreover," the reply noted, "the Supreme Court of the United States has stated that under the domestic law of the United States, the power to provide for extradition is not confided to the executive branch of the government in the absence of treaty or legislative provision and that existing legislation does not confer power upon the executive to surrender a person to a foreign government where an extradition treaty does not provide for such surrender."

Prior to the Russian request for his arrest, Alekseev in a statement issued through an attorney, Martin Richmond, New York City, declared he would not "return to my homeland and doom my family, which has become accustomed to breathe the fresh air of freedom, to a life under the hell of dictatorship."

Soviet embassy officials said that Alekseev left Mexico in November to return to Russia by way of the United States. But they contended that instead of returning to his homeland to face charges over the alleged mishandling of money he "made a provocative and slanderous statement published in some newspapers of the U.S.A. in which he tried to base his actions on political motives."

NO CENSORSHIP AT BIG 4 TALKS

Soviet Also May Ease Radio Restrictions.

Washington, Jan. 21 (A. P.).—The Russian Government has assured the United States that correspondents will be permitted to report without censorship the Big Four Foreign Ministers' conference in Moscow starting on March 10.

United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith so advised retiring Secretary of State Byrnes today in a cable from the Soviet capital. Byrnes ordered the Ambassador's report made public shortly before he handed his post over to Gen. George C. Marshall.

Smith based his information on a conversation he said he had on Saturday with Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister. The Ambassador also predicted, though he said the Soviet had not decided, that at least limited broadcasting facilities will be made available for conference coverage. The Soviet Government presently forbids voice broadcasts by foreigners directly from Russia.

No Air Transport Bar.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department press aid, read Smith's cable to reporters. It follows: "The Soviet Government's position is as follows: Primary consideration is to provide suitable quarters and office space for delegations. Delegations and correspondents will be quartered in the Moscow Hotel, the larger part of which is now being cleared for the purpose.

"The Soviet Government is unable to determine the total number of correspondents that can be admitted until they know the size of the official delegations. The Soviet Government is unwilling to make even a tentative estimate on ceiling on number of correspondents at this time as this would constitute 'unilateral action.' There will be no difficulty about the arrival of correspondents by United States air transport.

"Decision has not yet been made as to whether broadcasting facilities will be available. Ambassador Smith pointed out it would be almost impossible to refuse broadcasting and believes that limited facilities will be made available.

"Correspondents will certainly be permitted to write with complete freedom on conference matters. Mr. Vishinsky pointed out that Mr. Molotov's statement in New York was for the purpose of assuring the press it would not be required to operate in a glass cage."

HOOVER TO SEE TRUMAN TODAY ON FOOD ISSUE

Survey Of Problems In U.S.-British Zones In Germany Sought

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—President Truman has asked former President Herbert Hoover, officials said today, to undertake a survey of food problems in the joint

United States-British zones of occupied Germany.

In New York, a spokesman for Mr. Hoover said he would confer with Mr. Truman at 12:30 P.M. tomorrow at the White House

"Nothing has yet been settled in regard to his economic mission to central Europe," the spokesman said.

NIGHT

Problems To Be Met

Officials here said the survey would deal with such problems as determining food needs of the nearly 40,000,000 population in the zones, Government control of crops and the black market.

As an overall objective, Mr. Hoover would help in efforts to make the zone self-supporting.

The 72-year-old former President, noted for his feeding of starving Belgians in World War I, already is familiar with primary problems of the zones as a result of his visit to Germany as Mr. Truman's "food ambassador" last spring.

Purposes Of Agreement

A follow-up survey would fit in with announced purposes of the new Anglo-American agreement which unified the zones economically, without waiting for agreement with Soviet Russia and France covering all Germany. The two governments are to share equally a $1,000,000,000 outlay spread over the next three years. At the end of that period the zones are expected to be self-supporting.

Neither zone produces enough food for its own use in normal times, and a substantial revival of industrial exports is calculated to make up the difference and end the current drain on American and British contributions.

Direct support of American zones is costing about $200,000,000 annually, mostly for food.

Germany.

DAY

This was disclosed today by a War Department official who asked that his name be not used. He said Mr. Hoover has not yet given his answer.

Presumably the proposal to the 72-year-old former President has the approval of the British Government and President Truman as well as the highest War Department officials concerned with occupation policies.

The British zone was coupled with that of the United States in the proposal, officials said, because of the recent agreement to unify them economically.

In New York, a spokesman for Mr. Hoover said he would confer with President Truman at 12:30 P. M. tomorrow at the White House.

"Nothing has as yet been settled in regard to his economic mission to Central Europe" the spokesman said.

Increase Output Aimed.

As a world authority on food problems since world war 1 days, Hoover was asked to make a personal survey expected to require several weeks and then to submit recommendations on means to increase food output and to assure its most equitable distribution.

Those familiar with the proposal said that among specific problems which need solution are the extent of Government controls of crops, black markets, food collection, calculation of requirements, and stock levels.

Describing the food situation, as among the most pressing of German occupation problems, officials noted the War Department is asking Congress for a $300,000,000 deficiency appropriation for the occupation of Germany, Japan and Korea. Of the sum, more than $50,000,000 is earmarked for the cost of meeting German food requirements.

The money would be available for use between the time of its appropriation and the end of the Government's fiscal year next July 1. Additional sums have been asked for the twelve months beginning then.

[A group of Congressmen who visited Germany last summer reported on their return that food conditions were bad. Senator Thomas (D.-Okla.), one of them, said he feared rioting unless there was improvement.]

Made Survey Last Spring.

At President Truman's request, Mr. Hoover made a world survey last spring of international food problems. He traveled more than 35,000 miles and visited thirty-eight countries—all the major ones except Russia. He found the world food situation less precarious than some officials feared, but had some harsh things to say about Communists.

Hoover told one news conference that the "universal party line of the Communist party in every country is trying to break down the provision of food for hungry people and thus produce chaos where they can fish in troubled waters."

In a birthday statement August 12, he set out another conclusion he had reached concerning Germany. This was:

"The dismemberment of the German State and the attempt to reduce the German people to a level of perpetual poverty will some day break into another world explosion."

Later, Hoover expressed belief that food supplies to Yugoslavia should be stopped because "directly or indirectly they are being used to feed Tito's army."

U.S.-CHINA TIES HELD STRAINED

Stettinius Assails 'Vacillating Attitudes Toward Neighbors'

Junction City, Kan., Jan. 21 (AP). Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., former Secretary of State, tonight scored this country's "vacillating attitudes toward our neighbors in other lands" and declared that mutual disillusionment "has strained the very piers of the bridge" of friendship between China and the United States.

In a speech that formally opened a national campaign for aid to China, the former United States representative in the United Nations referred to American-Chinese friendship as a two-way bridge and stated, "The stress of years of war, bringing forth the emotional extremes of both our peoples, has strained the very piers of this bridge."

"We Erred, Too"

NIGHT

Stettinius told the assembled group of American and Chinese visitors:

"We expect too much from our friends; and perhaps, on the other hand, the Chinese themselves have some cause to be disillusioned about us at the same time.

"Our own isolationist attitudes toward our neighbors in other lands do not make us ideal friends."

Continuing more cheerfully, the white-haired Stettinius said that truth, which "alone can strengthen the underpinnings of that bridge of friendship," is beginning to emerge from the confusion.

"The truth about current conditions on the other side of our bridge, as reported by Gen. George C. Marshall, has already brought forth expressions of confidence and optimism among the liberal leaders of both our countries."

Speaks Following Movie

Stettinius spoke following the première showing of a motion picture, "Bridge of Yinshi," which depicted the life of Junction City residents in comparison to that of the populace of Yinshi, China.

Junction City and Yinshi, both about 10,000 population, were considered typical American and Chinese towns.

Recalling that foundations of the "Bridge to Yinshi" were laid and dedicated to friendship more than 100 years ago, Stettinius said that "over the years this bridge has been strengthened by mutual contributions of tireless effort, millions of dollars and lifetimes of service.

"But now that bridge is weakened. . . .

"In China's ten-year war against the invader, well-meaning propagandists praised the Chinese to such an extent that we are shocked to discover that they—like most other folks—are not perfect in all things.

Political Differences Cited

"They have their political differences, one with another; their views on isolation against one world are divided, just as among our own people.

"Being Americans, we consequently are often impatient with the Chinese, as we are with peoples of other nations. We would do well to remember that the Chinese are picking up the shreds of life from a war in which practically all centers of culture and learning . . . were destroyed or taken over by the enemy."

Stettinius concluded on a hopeful note: "It is singularly significant that at the very moment when a national regeneration of a democratic way of life in China is rising from the chaos of a long and terrible war, we here in America should manifest our steadfast friendship and brotherly concern for the people of China."

Truman Urges Delay in Ending Of Ship Control

Asks Congress to Put Off Maritime Commission's Liquidation Until July 1

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP).—President Truman asked Congress today to extend the deadline for liquidation of the government's merchant fleet from March 1 until July 1.

NIGHT

The extension would require no appropriation because government shipping operations have made money consistently, Mr. Truman said in a letter to House Speaker Joseph W. Martin jr., Republican, of Massachusetts.

The Maritime Commission, taking over activities of the War Shipping Administration, has trimmed the government fleet from a war-time high of 5,200 vessels to about 1,000, the President reported. Half of these will go into the reserve fleet, and at least 100 more will be removed from the active fleet and sold by March 1.

The national economy and interest will be seriously prejudiced, Mr. Truman said, unless some shipping operations continue and unless the commission is given the additional time to dispose of the merchant ships left under its jurisdiction.

Mr. Truman added that Congress will receive later several recommendations for a permanent government shipping program.

Mayors' Parley May Split On Rent Curbs

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Delegates predicted today that the United States Conference of Mayors would indorse a new Federal public housing program but might split on rent-control extension.

Mayor Vincent Murphy of Newark, N.J., submitted a resolution supporting legislation patterned after the 1946 Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill which would provide Federal aid for 100,000 new publicly financed homes a year.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) assured the conference yesterday that he would reintroduce the measure, which got stalled in House committee last session after passing the Senate.

DAY

Favors Control Extension

Taft also declared himself in favor of extending rent control "in some form" after June 30.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the conference will support legislation similar to the Wagner-Ellender-Taft measure, as we did last year," Mayor Murphy told reporters.

"I'm in favor of another year of rent control, too," he added, "but I wouldn't try to guess what the conference will do."

Other delegates concurred privately with Murphy's views.

Wilson To Speak

The three-day conference of 350 city heads entered its second day with labor problems topping the agenda. On the program were Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors Corporation; Representative Francis Case (R., S.D.), author of the Case labor-disputes bill, and AFL President William Green.

The rent-ceiling issue appeared certain to get official attention—if only in the resolutions committee—because Mayor Stanley W. Church of New Rochelle late yesterday formally proposed that the conference reaffirm its 1946 resolution indorsing rent control.

National Housing Agency officials who sat as observers expressed elation at Taft's assurance that the long-range housing measure would be reintroduced. Among other things, it would establish NHA as a permanent, central agency supervising all Federal housing operations.

Terms Would Be Liberalized

The bill is designed to encourage construction of 1,250,000 dwellings annually for the next ten years, through liberalized FHA mortgage insurance terms and other steps.

"In my view public housing is justified," Taft told the mayors.

"I see no other way to solve the problem of providing decent dwellings for the ten to twenty per cent of our people who live in slum conditions and can't afford private housing."

Legion Slates Defense Talks

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Milt D. Campbell, national defense director of the American Legion, said that its five national defense committees would meet in separate sessions here tomorrow to disucss "the dangerous trend to reduce our armed strength beyond the limits of security."

1947

On Thursday, they will meet jointly to talk about universal military training, and on Friday they will consider Alaskan defenses and the "polar concept" of war by attack over the Arctic.

The Legion Auxiliary will consider defense problems at a Sunday conference.

SUGAR RATION EXPECTED TO BE CONTINUED

Price Control Also Will Be Retained, House Committee Head Asserts

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Representative Andresen (R., Minn.), chairman of the House Food Shortage Investigating Committee, said today "it is likely Congress will continue" rationing and price control of sugar.

Andresen made the statement after sugar industry representatives joined the Department of Agriculture in requesting that controls not be dropped "prematurely."

NIGHT

The Minensota lawmaker said a bill probably will be introduced soon to prevent expiration of the ration controls on April 1 and an end to price controls July 1.

Malcomb Baldridge, former Republican House member from Nebraska and now attorney for the Cane Sugar Association, appeared before the committee and pleaded that Congress "do something quickly" lest a "blowup" takes place in the sugar industry similar to the "wild scramble" when controls were removed following World War 1.

35-Pound Allotment

"If controls are taken off now it will be a tragedy," Baldridge said.

Andresen voiced hope that

30.24- 7481

American housewives will get 35-pound sugar allotments this year, instead of 25, due to an improvement in the supply, and that industry's allotments will be increased from 60 per cent to 80 per cent of what they got in 1941.

But he said it might be necessary to continue rationing and price control for a while.

James H. Marshall, head of the Agricultural Department's sugar branch, testified that if controls are lifted now "it is my opinion that the price easily would go to 40 cents a pound," and "the housewife would get less sugar."

12 To 15 Month Continuance

Most witnesses suggested that some controls probably must continue for twelve to fifteen months.

H. H. Pike, representing the Hershey Corporation, said decontrol might be "disastrous" and added:

"The quick decontrol of sugar after the last war was disastrous to many people in and out of the industry."

Marshall estimated the world sugar crop this year will be about 4,500,000 tons short of the 34,660,000 ton prewar production, although the crop will exceed last year's by 3,500,000 tons.

Price-Support Loss Spread Fought

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson will seek congressional advice this week on how to prevent the Government's $80,000,000 loss on last year's potato surplus from spreading to other products.

The loss resulted from wartime price supports which are not scheduled to expire until the end of 1948.

Anderson arranged to discuss the matter with the House Agriculture Committee tomorrow and with the Senate Agriculture Committee on Thursday.

A Ticklish Issue

The problem of carrying out Government farm price commitments promises to become one of the most ticklish economic and political issues to confront the new Republican Congress and the Truman Administration.

Farm experts agree that agriculture has moved into a new era of scientific farming. Except in case of drought or some other abnormal development, agriculture is capable of producing more of many commodities than markets will take at prices now defined by law as being fair to producers.

The problem facing policy makers is this:

"Should the Government place no restraints on production and permit farmers to produce all they can even though it cannot all be sold at the designated prices?"

Heavy Losses Possible

If the answer should be "yes," the result might be the expenditure of millions, perhaps billions, of dollars of public funds to take the surpluses off the market. There would be heavy losses among perishables.

A negative answer would require a return to rigid Gvernment production-control measures.

Neither the Democratic administration nor the Republican Congress want to take the responsibility for directing such a course because both parties have committed themselves, in political campaigns, to "agricultural abundance."

Dress Donated for Relief Sold by Mail Order House

Senators to Investigate, Official of U. N. R. R. A. Can't Explain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP).—The Senate Expenditures Committee interested itself today in a second-hand dress, donated by a North Dakota woman in a government-sponsored foreign relief drive, and later was sold by a mail order house.

Senator Milton R. Young, Republican, of North Dakota, told the Senate about the dress yesterday and said the committee will investigate.

This is the story as related by Dick Forkney, Langdon, N. D., newspaperman, in a letter to the Senator:

Mrs. Lars Midjaas, of Fairdale, N. D., donated the dress last January, first pinning a note in the sleeve. The dress then went to a collection depot at Grand Forks. Next Mrs. Midjaas received a letter from Elizabeth Ohlhouser, of Hazelton, N. D., who said the dress—still carrying the note—was among 100 used dresses she purchased at 18 cents each after answering an advertisement.

Mr. Forkney said the company selling the dresses was the V. Portnoy Mail Order House, of Chicago.

Nathan Portnoy, owner, said that he couldn't explain "this particular case" but that his company bought salvage throughout the country. "Maybe this discarded dress was donated to some charity, which later picked out the best of the dresses to send overseas and sold the rest," he told a reporter in Chicago.

An official of the United Nations Rehabilitation and Relief Association, which handled the overseas distribution of clothing donated in the drive, said he couldn't explain how the dress reached the mail order company. Clothing collected, he said, was handled by local committees and then turned over to Treasury warehouses where it was cleaned, baled and delivered to the U. N. R. R. A.

1,509 Troops Due In New York

[By the Associated Press]

The transport General Hersey, due in New York with 1,509 troops, six navy personnel and six civilians from Bremerhaven, is the only troopship scheduled to arrive in the United States today.

The Admiral May, with 505 army troops from Yokohama, docked yesterday at Seattle.

LONDON, JAN. 21-(AP)-DR. EMMANUEL NEUMAN, UNITED STATES MEMBER OF THE JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE, SAID TODAY THAT AMERICAN ZIONISTS WOULD CONTINUE TO "POUR MILLIONS OF DOLLARS INTO THE GREAT WORK OF MERCY AND RESCUE" IN TRANSPORTING UNAUTHORIZED JEWS FROM EUROPE TO PALESTINE.

HE TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT AMERICAN JEWS WERE NOT ANTI-BRITISH BUT ACTUALLY WERE ARDENT AND STAUNCH FRIENDS OF THAT COUNTRY. HE SAID THE "ANTI-ZIONIST POLICIES PURSUED IN PALESTINE BY BRITAIN IN RECENT YEARS" WERE DISSIPATING THE REGARD WITH WHICH BRITAIN WAS HELD BY AMERICAN JEWS.

"THE SAD AND DISCONCERTING TRUTH OF THE MATTER IS THAT BRITAIN, AFTER ALL THESE YEARS, SEEMS TO HAVE NO PLAN OTHER THAN THE SIMPLE AND CRUDE EXPEDIENT OF SUPPRESSING DISCONTENT BY OVERWHELMING MILITARY FORCE AND OF RULING PALESTINE WITH AN IRON ROD," HE SAID.

EIGHT LEAD DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS (300)

BY JACK SMITH

LONDON, JAN 21-(AP)-AMERICAN DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS SAID THE UNITED STATES SUGGESTED TO THE DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL TODAY THAT AN INTERNATIONAL PEACE STATUTE BE IMPOSED ON GERMANY.

THE STATUTE WOULD TAKE THE PLACE OF A FORMAL PEACE TREATY WHICH WOULD HAVE TO BE SIGNED BY GERMAN REPRESENTATIVES, AND MIGHT THUS SAVE A FUTURE DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT IN GERMANY FROM THE "ONUS" OF SIGNING A PEACE WITH CONQUERORS.

THE INFORMANTS SAID ROBERT MURPHY, AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE ON THE COUNCIL, BROACHED THE IDEA BUT DID NOT OFFER IT AS A PROPOSAL, EXPLAINING THAT HE MERELY WAS "THROWING OUT AN IDEA" FOR GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

HE WAS SAID TO HAVE REMINDED THE OTHER MEMBERS THAT ONE OF HITLER'S BIGGEST PIECES OF AMMUNITION AGAINST GERMAN DEMOCRATIC LEADERS AFTER THE LAST WAR WAS THAT THEY HAD SIGNED THE VERSAILLES TREATY.

MURPHY ALSO WAS SAID TO HAVE SUGGESTED THAT SUCH A STATUTE MIGHT BE SUBMITTED TO A GERMAN PLEBISCITE AT SOME TIME AFTER A GERMAN GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN FORMED.

THE BRITISH, RUSSIAN AND FRENCH REPRESENTATIVES MADE NO IMMEDIATE COMMENT.

THE AUSTRIAN SECTION, MADE UP OF DEPUTIES CONSIDERING A TREATY FOR AUSTRIA, SCHEDULED A SESSION FOR TOMORROW TO HEAR A YUGOSLAV DELEGATION. A YUGOSLAV MEMORANDUM BEFORE THE CONFERENCE ASKS THAT YUGOSLAVIA BE GIVEN A LARGE SLICE OF AUSTRIAN CARINTHIA.

IN BRUSSELS, PAUL HENRI SPAAK, BELGIAN FOREIGN MINISTER, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE HIS COUNTRY HAD PROPOSED TO THE DEPUTIES A FOUR-POINT PROGRAM FOR GERMANY, INCLUDING CONTROL OF THE GERMAN ECONOMY AND TRADE SO SHE COULD NOT ORGANIZE A PRO-WAR ECONOMY, LIMITATION OF THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT TO A FEDERATION OF STATES WITH FEDERAL POWER EXTENDING ONLY TO ECONOMIC MATTERS, ESTABLISHMENT OF A SPECIAL CONTROL OF THE RUHR BY BELGIUM, FRANCE, LUXEMBOURG, HOLLAND AND BRITAIN; AND OCCUPATION OF WESTERN GERMANY BY THE FIVE COUNTRIES EVEN AFTER THE PRESENT MILITARY OCCUPATION HAS ENDED.

Dublin, Jan. 21--(ap)--The Eire government announced tonight that it would establish a school of cosmic physics to investigate the peacetime possibilities of atomic energy.

A fund of $20,000 was set aside for research in the school which is an adjunct of the institute of advanced studies established earlier under the sponsorship of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera.

U.N.ATOMIC POWER
BY JOHN A.PARRIS, JR.
LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JAN 21-(AP)-UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC EXPERTS ON ATOMIC ENERGY SAID TODAY THERE IS NO CHANCE THAT ATOMIC ENERGY WILL TOSS PEOPLE OUT OF JOBS OR BE A THREAT TO ELECTRICAL POWER FOR AT LEAST TEN YEARS.

THESE EXPERTS HOLD THAT IT IS EXTREMELY IMPROBABLE THAT ATOMIC POWER CAN REVOLUTIONIZE THE COST OF POWER IN THE UNITED STATES IN THIS GENERATION OR DISPLACE COAL AS THE PRIMARY POWER FUEL.

AS A RESULT OF THEIR OPINIONS, THE U.N.ECONOMIC AND EMPLOYMENT COMMISSION DECIDED IT WOULD BE PREMATURE NOW TO ASSESS THE CONSEQUENCES OF ATOMIC POWER UPON WORLD ECONOMY AND EMPLOYMENT.

THE EFFECT OF CONVERTING ATOMIC ENERGY TO PEACEFUL PURPOSES WAS ONE OF THE MAIN ITEMS WHICH HAD BEEN PLACED ON THE COMMISSION'S AGENDA FOR DISCUSSION.

DR.ISIDOR LUBIN, U.S.DELEGATE ON THE COMMISSION, WHOSE COUNTRY HAS EXPENDED MORE ON RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT OF ATOMIC ENERGY FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES THAN ANY NATION, SAID AMERICA'S FINAL PILOT PLANT AIMED AT THE GENERATION OF ELECTRICAL POWER FROM NUCLEAR ENERGY IS NOT EXPECTED TO BE STARTED UNTIL NEXT YEAR.

ONE OF TWO CONTRACTS GIVEN BY THE WAR DEPARTMENT FOR DEVELOPMENT OF POWER WAS TO THE MONSANTO CHEMICAL COMPANY, WHICH OPERATES LABORATORIES AT OAK RIDGE, TENN. THESE LABORATORIES ARE NOW ENGAGED IN WORK ON A POWER PILE WHOSE BASIC "FUEL" IS URANIUM.

THE FINAL PLANT IS INTENDED, IN ITS INITIAL OPERATIONS, TO PROVIDE HEAT ENERGY AT CONVENTIONAL TEMPERATURE LEVELS RANGING FROM 650 DEGREES FAHRENHEIT TO 940 DEGREES FAHRENHEIT.

THE SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL COMMITTEE OF THE U.N.ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION DISCLOSED THAT IN THE OPINION OF SOME QUALIFIED OBSERVERS THE MAIN TECHNOLOGICAL DIFFICULTIES INVOLVED IN THE ECONOMIC GENERATION OF ELECTRIC POWER FROM ATOMIC ENERGY MAY BE SOLVED WITHIN THE NEXT TEN YEARS.

BUT THE EXPERTS ARE GENERALLY AGREED THAT EVEN IF ATOMIC ENERGY IS CONVERTED TO PEACEFUL PURPOSES WITHIN TEN YEARS THERE WILL BE NO IMMEDIATE INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION.

LUBIN DISCLOSED THAT A COST ESTIMATE MADE BY THE OAK RIDGE LABORATORIES SHOWED THAT IT IS MUCH CHEAPER UNDER PRESENT KNOWLEDGE TO OPERATE A COAL POWER PLANT BECAUSE OF THE INITIAL GENERATING COSTS.

RUSSIAN
BY FRANCIS V.CARPENTER
NEW YORK, JAN. 21-(AP)-SOVIET RUSSIA WANTS THE ATOMIC BOMB AND OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION BANNED IMMEDIATELY BY AN IRON-CLAD PACT AMONG THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD.

RUSSIA ALSO WANTS THE UNITED NATIONS TO DRAW UP AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE THE NECESSARY CONTROLS TO MAKE CERTAIN THAT THESE PROHIBITED WEAPONS NEVER AGAIN WOULD BE USED TO WAGE WAR.

THIS WOULD BE DONE BY A DISARMAMENT COMMISSION WHICH RUSSIA HAS PROPOSED. THIS COMMISSION ALSO WOULD DRAFT PROPOSALS FOR THE GENERAL REDUCTION OF ARMS AND THE REDUCTION OF ARMED FORCES.

RELIABLE SOVIET SOURCES THUS SUMMED UP RUSSIA'S POSITION ON THE ATOMIC AND ARMS QUESTIONS TODAY, CLARIFYING TO SOME EXTENT THE STAND RUSSIA HAS TAKEN IN COMPLEX DEBATES IN THE UNITED NATIONS.

THEY MADE IT CLEAR THAT SOVIET RUSSIA, WITH THE LARGEST ARMY IN THE WORLD, WOULD LEAVE THE QUESTION OF REDUCTION OF ARMED FORCES TO BE WORKED OUT BY THE DISARMAMENT COMMISSION. RUSSIA'S POSITION ON THE IT MIGHT TAKE YEARS TO COMPLETE THE TASK IN THE UNITED NATIONS. THEY ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE UNITED STATES, WHICH IS THE ONLY NATION THAT HAS USED THE ATOMIC BOMB AND IS, AS FAR AS IS KNOWN NOW, THE ONLY NATION POSSESSING IT, WOULD BE CALLED UPON UNDER THE RUSSIAN PROPOSALS TO DISCARD IT IMMEDIATELY. THE UNITED STATES ALSO WOULD BE REQUIRED TO DESTROY EXISTING STOCKS OF BOMBS WITHIN THREE MONTHS AFTER THE CONVENTION TOOK EFFECT.

THE UNITED STATES, FOR ITS PART, HAS OFFERED TO GIVE UP THE BOMB WHEN A SYSTEM OF EFFECTIVE INTERNATIONAL CONTROL IS ESTABLISHED. THE RUSSIANS SAID TODAY THEY FELT THE CONVENTION BANNING THE WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION AND THE ATOMIC BOMB WOULD FACILITATE THE WORK OF PREPARATION OF THE WHOLE SYSTEM OF CONTROLS.

THEY ADDED THAT SUCH A CONVENTION WOULD CREATE CONFIDENCE IN A GREATER DEGREE AMONG THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD. THEY WOULD SEE, THE RUSSIANS HELD, THAT SOMETHING POSITIVE WAS BEING DONE AT ONCE IN THE BEGINNING. ALSO, THEY WOULD SEE THAT THE NATIONS WERE GOING AHEAD WITH OTHER MATTERS AFFECTING ARMS CONTROL.

1947

WITH THE IMMENSE TASK FACING THE NATIONS, THEY SAID, WHY NOT DO FIRST THAT WHICH IS POSSIBLE TO DO NOW--AGREE TO THE CONVENTION. AFTER THE BROAD CONVENTION IS AGREED UPON, THE MATTER OF DETAILS COULD BE WORKED OUT.

UNDATED FRENCH REPUBLICS

by the associated press

France has just established its Fourth Republic. The other three were:

First Republic--established by the decree of a National Convention on Aug. 25, 1792, after the removal of Louis XVI from the throne.

Second Republic--established after the collapse of the monarchy of King Louis Philippe Feb. 24, 1848. Louis Napoleon was president; later he became Emperor Napoleon III.

Third Republic--Established after the overthrow of the Second Empire of Napoleon III (who had been defeated in the Franco-Prussian War) Sept. 4,

30.24-7485

The first president was Louis Adolphe Thiers. The third republic 1871. It continued until officially repudiated by the Vichy government of occupied FRANCE by the Vichy government July 12, 1940, after Hitler had conquered France. Albert Le Brun was its last president.

HERRIOT WAS THREE TIMES PREMIER OF FRANCE BEFORE THE WAR, AND SERVED FROM 1936 TO 1942 AS HEAD OF THE OLD CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES. HE SUCCEEDS VINCENT AURIOL, RECENTLY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC.

IN HIS FOREIGN POLICY DECLARATION, RAMADIER SAID FRANCE BELIEVED IN COOPERATION WITH THE UNITED NATIONS, AND WOULD NOT ENTER INTO ANY BLOC AIMED AGAINST A SINGLE NATION.

"WE WANT LOYAL ACCORDS BETWEEN EQUALS," HE SAID, ENDORSING THE FRENCH-RUSSIAN PACT OF 1944 AND INTERIM PREMIER LEON BLUM'S EFFORTS TOWARD A PROPOSED BRITISH-FRENCH ALLIANCE.

OUT OF THE LEFT-WING COLLABORATION THAT WON AURIOL THE PRESIDENCY CAME THE UNDERSTANDING THAT HERRIOT WOULD RECEIVE SIMILAR SUPPORT IN HIS ASSEMBLY CANDIDACY, ALTHOUGH COMMUNIST LEADERS PREVIOUSLY HAD HINTED THEY MIGHT WITHDRAW THEIR BACKING BECAUSE TWO DEFECTIVE RADICAL-SOCIALIST VOTES HAD ROBBED THE COMMUNISTS OF AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE CHAIRMANSHIP OF THE UPPER HOUSE.

HERRIOT, A FORMER PROFESSOR AT THE UNIVERSITY OF LYON, WAS PREMIER IN 1924-25 AND AGAIN FROM JUNE TO DECEMBER, 1932. IN THE INTERIM HE SERVED AS PRIME MINISTER FOR ONE DAY IN JULY, 1926 DURING A SERIES OF FRENCH GOVERNMENTAL CRISES.

RAMADIER, SEEKING TO ESTABLISH A WIDE COALITION GOVERNMENT, SAID HE WOULD DEMAND A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE BY THE ASSEMBLY ON HIS PROGRAM AND THEN WOULD ATTEMPT TO SETTLE DEFINITELY ON A CABINET.

THE MRP (POPULAR REPUBLICAN MOVEMENT), OF FORMER PRESIDENT-PREMIER GEORGES BIDAULT HAS BEEN WITHHOLDING A DEFINITE COMMITMENT TO ENTER THE NEW GOVERNMENT IF THE COMMUNIST DEMAND FOR THE POST OF MINISTER OF NATIONAL DEFENSE IS GRANTED. BERLIN, JAN. 21-(AP)-GEN. JOSEPH T. MCNARNEY EXPRESSED THE HOPE TODAY THAT THE TRADING WITH THE ENEMY ACT WOULD BE ABOLISHED IN GERMANY SOON AND THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT BLACKLIST OF FOREIGN FIRMS BE RELAXED TO ENCOURAGE THE REVIVAL OF GERMAN COMMERCE.

AT A NEWS CONFERENCE, THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNOR DISCLOSED THAT THE WAR DEPARTMENT AND OTHER AGENCIES IN WASHINGTON WERE LOOKING INTO THE FEASIBILITY OF ENDING THE TRADING WITH THE ENEMY ACT, A UNITED STATES WARTIME LAW COVERING IMPORT AND EXPORT TRADE WITH ENEMY NATIONALS.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT BLACKLIST, CONTAINING FOREIGN FIRMS WHICH FORMERLY TRADED WITH NAZI GERMANY, INCLUDES MANY COMPANIES WHICH WERE NOT LINKED WITH THE NAZI PARTY OR GERMAN CARTELS, MCNARNEY SAID.

MATTEOTTI (170)
BY JOHN P.MCKNIGHT

ROME, JAN 21-(AP)-EIGHT MINOR FASCISTS--THE ONLY DEFENDANTS REMAINING ON A LIST WHICH ONCE NUMBERED 72 AND INCLUDED SUCH FIGURES AS BENITO MUSSOLINI HIMSELF--WILL GO ON TRIAL HERE TOMORROW FOR THE MURDER 23 YEARS AGO OF GIACOMO MATTEOTTI, OUTSPOKEN ANTI-FASCIST.

FIVE OF THE DEFENDANTS--AMERIGO DUMINI, CESARE ROSSI, FRANCESCO GIUNTA, FILIPPO PANZERI AND AMLETO POVERONO--ACTUALLY WILL BE IN THE PRISONERS' DOCK. THE OTHER THREE--GIUSEPPE VIOLA, AUGUSTO MALACRIA AND FILIPPO FILIPPELLI--NEVER HAVE BEEN APPREHENDED AND WILL BE TRIED IN ABSENTIA.

DEATH HAS WIPED CLEAR THE SLATE FOR MANY FASCIST LEADERS ORIGINALLY LISTED AS DEFENDANTS IN THE KIDNAPING AND SLAYING OF MATTEOTTI, SOCIALIST DEPUTY WHOSE LASHING PARLIAMENTARY ATTACKS ONCE THREATENED THE FASCIST REGIME.

PROSECUTOR COMMENDATORE GIOVANNI SPAGNUOLO SAID HE DID NOT EXPECT THAT THERE WOULD BE ANY TESTIMONY DIRECTLY QUOTING MUSSOLINI AS GIVING THE ORDER FOR MATTEOTTI'S DEATH, BUT "IT IS OBVIOUS THE ORDER CAME FROM HIM."

THE MAXIMUM SENTENCE, UNDER PRE-FASCIST ITALIAN LAW, IS LIFE IMPRISONMENT. HOWEVER, SINCE ALL OF THE FIVE DEFENDANTS NOW IN CUSTODY HAVE ALREADY SERVED LENGTHY PRISON TERMS, THEY MAY NOT FIND THE PROSECUTOR DEMANDING TOO SEVERE A SENTENCE.

JAKUB BERMAN, UNDERSECRETARY OF THE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS, SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE POLAND WAS WARY OF BRITISH AND AMERICAN STATESMEN "WHO HAVE CONCILIATORY ATTITUDES TOWARD AN AGGRESSIVE GERMANY."

HE ADDED THAT CHURCHILL WAS LINKED WITH MIKOLAJCZYK "BY TIES OF OLD FRIENDSHIP," AND THAT BYRNES HAD FOLLOWED AN "ILLOGICAL" FOREIGN POLICY AND HAD QUESTIONED POLAND'S RIGHT TO HOLD PERMANENTLY LANDS WHICH SHE HAS TAKEN OVER FROM EASTERN GERMANY.

ASKED ABOUT REPORTS THAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES MIGHT SEVER DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH POLAND ON GROUNDS THAT THE ELECTION WAS NOT FREE AND UNFETTERED, BERMAN SAID "THAT WOULD BE A POLITICAL MISTAKE."

BERMAN SAID THAT WHILE MIKOLAJCZYK'S PARTY WOULD NOT BE INCLUDED IN THE NEW GOVERNMENT, IT WAS POSSIBLE THAT SOME MEMBERS OF OTHER NON-BLOC PARTIES WOULD BE ASKED TO PARTICIPATE. 1947

MIKOLAJCZYK WAS EXPECTED TO RESIGN HIS VICE PREMIERSHIP SHORTLY.

Poles, Slavs List Demands On Fallen Foe

1947

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—Poland and Yugoslavia today demanded settlements of land and money from war-flattened Germany and Austria.

Memoranda were prepared by the two Slavic-bloc states for consideration by deputies of the four-power Foreign Ministers Council drafting separate German and Austrian treaties.

Poles Ask Potsdam Line

Poland asked for a new German frontier giving her the 40,000 square miles of former German territory she administers under the Potsdam agreement. The Potsdam accord defined this area as "the former German territories east of a line running from the Baltic Sea immediately west of Swinemuende, and thence along the Oder River to the confluence of the western Neisse River and along the western Neisse to the Czechoslovak frontier."

The Polish note was not made public, but a Polish Government spokesman said the only changes it suggested in the Potsdam line were "minor rectifications." He added that the Oder-Neisse waterway, in Poland's view, is "already Polish." This suggested that Poland hoped the boundaries would be fixed along the rivers' western banks.

Distinct From Land Claim

Yugoslavia demanded sufficient reparations from Austria to settle war damages estimated at more than $11,000,000,000.

Yugoslav claims to more than 1,000 square miles of Austrian territory were registered here previously before the deputies.

The exact amount of Austrian reparations sought was not precisely stated, but a long memorandum presented to the deputies detailed vast war damages for which the Yugoslavs said they were entitled to compensation.

"High Ratio Of Austrians"

Austria was declared especially responsible for much of the damage and for a terroristic occupation in which tens of thousands of Yugoslavs were slain as hostages, deported as slave laborers or perished in concentration camps.

The Austrians, because of their geographical position, the memorandum said, had a greater interest than the Germans in subjugating Yugoslavia. The memorandum added that the proportion of Austrians in the armies used in the attack was far greater than ten per cent, "which is the proportion of the Austrian population to the population of Germany."

Yugoslavia's need for compensation cannot, therefore, be satisfied by a general assessment on Germany, the memorandum continued, saying the Austrians had incurred a special debt toward Yugoslavia.

In Specific Figures

The memorandum to the deputies stated that the War Damage Commission of the Federative People's Republic of Yugoslavia had fixed damages suffered by the nation as follows:

Loss of national wealth $7,458,206,468.

Loss of national income $3,750,589,661.

Occupation cost $374,848,492.

In addition to the territorial demand, the Polish memorandum said the Moscow-backed republic wanted restitution of property seized by the Nazis from Polish nationals in Germany and Austria.

Further Desiderata

It included demands for:

Complete democratization of Germany and Austria.

Prohibition of all irredentist movements and organizations inside the two countries.

Extradition of war criminals of all nationalities who collaborated with the Nazis either in Germany or Austria.

Effective continuance of the current de-Nazification program.

Conclusion of a railway, air transport and river shipping agreement with Germany in which Poland would participate no less advantageously than any other country.

Austrian Responsibility

The Yugoslavs argued in their note that not all responsibility for war damage attached to Germany and they demanded that Austria assume a "proper share" of the burden of reconstructing the Slav republic.

Yugoslav casualties were estimated as:

Killed	1,236,303
Disabled	275,385
Arrested and displaced	765,138

Austrian occupation was particularly oppressive in areas of northern Slovenia that, for administrative purposes, were annexed to the Austrian provinces of Styria and Carinthia, the memorandum said.

"More than 17,000 people were arrested in these regions in the first weeks of the occupation, according to lists prepared in Austria beforehand, and were sent to concentration camps or expelled to Serbia and Croatia," it said.

The Yugoslavs charged that Austrian capital and business enterprises followed the invading armies and exploited the country in "merciless plunder."

"The war damage that Yugoslavia suffered from the German-Austrian Nazi aggression has not been made good by far by the quota of reparations allotted to Yugoslavia by the International Reparations Conference in Paris or by the liquidation of the German-Austrian property in Yugoslavia," the memorandum said.

The reparations conference decided that the share of Yugoslavia in the German reparations should amount to 6.6 per cent in category A (German investments abroad and current production) and 9.6 per cent in category B (industrial installations, German fleet, &c.).

BURMA TO GET BORDER AREAS

(N)

Laborites Reverse Another Inherited Imperial Policy

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—Britain's Labor Government reversed another inherited imperial policy today. An official informant said Burma's frontier provinces would be incorporated conditionally in the new independent Burma now being created.

In effect another slice was cut off the empire. The frontier provinces comprise the northern and southern Shan states along the Siam and Chinese frontiers, totaling 62,000 square miles, and the large Chin hills area bordering India which was called the "unadministered district" until 1930. The total area of Burma is 260,000 square miles.

Inhabitants Varied

The inhabitants include head-hunters, Kachin, Karen, Chin and Shan tribes, Indians, Chinese and even some Europeans, all totaling about 5,000,000 people. Last month a deputation of Karens came to London and reportedly advised the British that they did not wish to become a part of Burma.

The informant said that Prime Minister Attlee in his conversations here with Burmese leaders had decided not to insist upon separating the wild frontier areas from the new state of Burma as was urged in the White Paper published by Britain's wartime coalition Government.

The White Paper had proposed

30.24-7493

dominion status for Burma at an unspecified time, and administration of the frontier areas on a colonial basis.

Leaders Wanted Shan States

Burmese leaders, however, in accepting Attlee's invitation to London, had made it plain they expected to receive independence for the Shan states and other frontier lands as well.

Attlee already had discarded the major part of the White Paper when he announced weeks ago that the Burmese leaders were free to choose independence either inside or outside the empire as they wished.

The talks with the Burmese delegation, headed by U Aung San, began against a background of an ultimatum by the Burmese Anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League that Burma must be independent by January 31, 1948, or the Burmese Executive Council, which now governs the country under a British governor general, would quit its job.

The Burma talks are to end Friday with the Burmese delegation declaring themselves "satisfied."

New Plan Gives Border States To Burma

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—Britain has agreed conditionally to the incorporation of the six frontier provinces of Burma within the independent Burma state now being created, a Government source said today.

The conditions stipulated will safeguard the rights of the people living in those frontier provinces, he said, because they are not in the same stage of development as the inhabitants of the rest of the country.

Britain had planned originally to partition the 260,000-square-mile country. The frontier provinces were to have continued under colonial administration. The present decision to incorporate the frontier provinces thus represents a reversal of policy.

Prime Minister Attlee has said that Burma is free to choose independence although the British Government hopes she will stay in the British Commonwealth.

Talks with a Burmese delegation are due to end Friday, and U Aung San, leader of the anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League, and his party will fly back to Burma January 28.

Stalin Anxious About Pact

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—A British Government source disclosed today that no less a figure than Joseph Stalin had "expressed his anxiety" whether Britain attaches due importance to the twenty-year British-Russian alliance.

A commentator in Pravda, Communist party organ, last week declared Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, had "repudiated" the 1942 pact in his December 22 broadcast to the British people, and until today this was the only known Soviet reaction to the speech.

On Saturday the British Government took the step of handing to the Soviet Government in Moscow a note reaffirming the validity of the pact, calling the Pravda commentary "misleading" and asking that Stalin be advised of Britain's views of the article.

Words Taken Out Of Context

The note said Pravda had taken Bevin's words that Britain "does not tie herself to anybody" out of the context of a passage answering criticisms that his policy was too close to the United States and not close enough to Russia.

Today the Government informant said Stalin in the course of an hour's long talk with Field Marshal Lord Montgomery during the latter's visit to Moscow had expressed anxiety about the basis of the British-Soviet treaty. Stalin stated it was no longer clear how the pact fitted in with Bevin's declaration that Britain was not linking herself to anyone.

"Called For Reply"

The informant said the British Government's note reaffirming the alliance "called for a reply" which should produce "a similar reaffirmation."

The source said Montgomery had brought back "few suggestions," however, which would alter substantially the existing relations between the two governments. The British chief of staff's examination of Russian military training institutions, he added, was "too superficial" to have resulted in any major developments in military or other spheres.

"No Legal Standing"

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—India experts in London said today that the independence resolution adopted by the Indian Constituent Assembly had no legal standing.

"The resolution is merely an expression of opinion by the Assembly," said an India Office official.

Leniency Promised British Deserters

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—A. V. Alexander, Defense Minister, promised lenient treatment today to thousands of deserters from the British forces if they will give up their "underground existence" by March 31.

Scotland Yard has blamed deserters from the British and other Allied forces for a large share of the jewel thefts and black-market activities which have flourished since the war ended.

Estimating that there are 20,000 British deserters "leading an underground existence" in Britain alone, Alexander told the House of Commons:

"Those who surrender voluntarily by March 31, 1947, will have this fact and any other mitigating circumstances taken into account when their cases are determined."

NEW FRENCH GOVERNMENT IS FORMED

Ramadier Brings MRP Into Cabinet Including Main Parties

Paris, Jan. 22 (AP)—Paul Ramadier, Socialist Premier, formed a compromise coalition Cabinet today embracing all major parties, and thus gave France her first complete constitutional governmental setup in seven years.

After five days of negotiations, Ramadier finally succeeded in bringing the Centrist Popular Republican Movement (MRP) into the Cabinet, by giving Georges Bidault the Foreign Ministry and working out a compromise on the National Defense Ministry.

Bidault, former MRP Premier, had served as Foreign Minister with but slight interruption ever since the liberation.

Socialist Interior Minister Ramadier's own Socialist party was awarded the key Interior Ministry, which controls the police.

In accordance with Ramadier's promise—to which the MRP had objected—the Communists received the National Defense Ministry. But separate ministries were created for war, navy and air, and these were divided among other parties.

Included in the Cabinet, besides the Communists, Socialists and MRP, are Edouard Herriot's Radical-Socialists and affiliated UDSR (Democratic and Socialist Union of the Resistance) and several independent Republicans.

Formation of the Cabinet of the Fourth Republic was a victory both for the 58-year-old Ramadier, who received an overwhelming vote of confidence yesterday from the National Assembly, and Bidault, who led the fight within the MRP to bring that party into the Government.

Regret Voted Down

The MRP parliamentary group, in a last-minute resolution tonight, voted to pull out of the Government if it did not conform to the policy outlined yesterday to the Assembly by Ramadier. However, a motion regretting the party's decision to participate in the Government was overwhelmingly voted down.

The Cabinet:

LEFTIST RALLY (Radical-Socialists and UDSR)—Vice Premier, Yvon Delbos; Air, Andre Maroselli; Justice, Andre Marie; Youth, Arts and Letters, Pierre Bourdan; Veterans Affairs and War Veterans, Francois Mitterand.

MRP—Foreign Affairs, Georges Bidault; Finance, Robert Schuman; Vice Premier, Pierre-Henri Teitgen; War, Paul Coste-Floret; Commerce, Jean Le Touraneau.

SOCIALISTS—Premier, Paul Ramadier; Minister of State, Felix Gouin; Interior, Edouard Depreux; Industrial Production, Robert la Coste; Agriculture, Pierre Tanguy-Prigent; Colonies, Marius Moutet; National Economy, Andre Philip; Transportation, Communications and Public Works, Jules Moch; Education, Marcel Naegelen.

COMMUNISTS — Vice Premier, Maurice Thorez; National Defense, Francois Billoux; Labor, Ambroise Croizat; Health, Georges Marrane; Reconstruction, Charles Tillon.

INDEPENDENT REPUBLICANS—Navy, Louis Jacquinot; State, Marcel Rociore.

RAMADIER FORMS BROAD COALITION CABINET IN FRANCE

Bidault Is Named Foreign Minister—Socialist Takes Interior Post

Paris, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—Socialist Premier-designate Paul Ramadier today formed a broad coalition French Cabinet with Georges Bidault of the M. R. P. party as Foreign Minister.

The Socialists took the key Interior Ministry, which controls the police. The Communists got the National Defense Ministry, but separate ministries were created for war, navy and air and went to other parties.

The Government takes in the Communists, Socialists, Popular Republican Movement (M. R. P.), the Radical-Socialists and affiliated U. D. S. R. (Democratic and Socialist Union of the Resistance) and several independent Republicans.

Ramadier called the prospective Ministers before President Vincent Auriol tonight for their formal presentation.

The Cabinet:

The Leftist Rally (Radical and U. D. S. R.) Vice-Premier, Yvon Delbos; Air, Andre Maroselli; Justice, Andre Marie; Youth, Art and Letters, Uierre Bourdan; Veterans' Affairs and War Veterans, Francois Mitterand.

The M. R. P.—Foreign Affairs, Bidault; Finance, Robert Schuman; Vice-Premier, Pierre-Henri Teitgen; War, Paul Coste-Floret; Commerce, Jean Le Touraneau.

Socialists—Premier, Ramadier; Minister of State, Felix Gouin; Interior, Edouard Depreux; Industrial Production, Robert Lacoste; Agriculture, Pierre Tanguy-Prigent; Colonies, Marius Moutet; National Economy, Andre Philip; Transportation, Communications and Public Works, Jules Moch; Education, Marcel Naegelen.

Communists—Vice-Premier, Maurice Thorez; National Defense, Francois Billoux; Labor, Ambroise Croizat; Health, Georges Marrane; Reconstruction, Charles Tillon.

Independent Republicans—Navy, Louis Jacquinot; Minister of State, Marcel Rociore.

The return of Bidault to the Foreign Ministry post he held during the crucial days of the Paris Peace Conference drew criticism from the newspaper Etoile du Soir. The newspaper, which reflects the views of the De Gaullists, said that Bidault's appointment would mean an abrupt rupture in steps toward a new alliance with Britain.

The newspaper charged that Bidault's chief secretary was "an inscribed member of the Communist party," with access to all State papers.

Bidault has headed the anti-De Gaulle faction among the Popular Republicans.

Formation of the Cabinet was as much of a success for Bidault as for Ramadier. Bidault fought for five days to get the M. R. P. to consent to enter the Government.

The Popular Republican Movement, numerically outranked in the assembly only by the Communists, was reported to have decided at the last minute to join the new government.

Robert LeCourt, head of the MRP's parliamentary group, announced the decision after a conference with Ramadier. He said the action had been decided upon "in the national interest."

The MRP previously had taken the position that it would not enter or support Ramadier's government unless he altered his plans to award the national defense portfolio to a Communist. Whether Ramadier had yielded or whether a compromise had been reached was not immediately disclosed.

VIET NAM FORCES NEAR HANOI ROUTED

French Armored Troops Lauded For Indo-China Action

Paris, Jan. 22 (AP)—French troops have cleared Viet Nam forces from a semi-circular area extending 10 miles from the center of Hanoi on the west, a French communiqué from Indo-China said tonight.

The communiqué highly praised armored troops who began the offensive two days ago to clear Hanoi's western suburbs.

Hanoi dispatches said bitter fighting raged at near historic Pont du Papier, where the most famous battle was fought in the 1883 conquest of Tonkin state.

At Saigon, in southern Indo-China, a communiqué disclosed officially for the first time that the French had been fighting a widespread action against an "important" Viet Nam offensive aimed at blockading that city.

Disclosing that the action had ranged from 350 miles north of Saigon to 150 miles south of the city, the communiqué said numerous actions had been fought day and night against Viet Nam guerrillas attempting to cut roads, block river traffic and blow up bridges, but "thanks to the untiring action of our forces" the Viet Nam offensive had failed to gain important results.

Hanoi dispatches said the French now controlled all the capital of Indo-China except for an isolated 1-mile-square native area held by about 1,000 armed youths.

Ho Promises A 'Holy War' Of Resistance

Manila, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Ho Chi Minh of the Viet-Nam today pledged "a holy war of resistance" against the French in a New Year's broadcast to the people of Indo-China.

Ho said the war would bring "the greatest hardships but also a glorious year to our people." The broadcast was recorded here by the Associated Press.

"The peoples of China, India and all other Asiatic peoples are supporting us," Ho said. "Even the peoples of France and other French colonies are supporting us."

He declared that peace efforts had failed because of French determination to subdue the Viet-Namese by force.

A Viet-Nam communiqué said the advance of French troops, supported by tanks and armored cars, toward Lang and Paper, villages southwest and east of Hanoi, had been checked.

Blockade Prevented

Saigon, Jan. 22 (AP)—French authorities announced today that French troops had thwarted a determined Viet-Nam attempt to blockade the Port of Saigon by cutting roads and railways, blowing up bridges and blocking river operations in southern Indo-China.

The announcement said Viet-Namese forces began their blockade attempt last week with a series of co-ordinated operations over a widespread area, ranging 250 miles north and west of Saigon and 150 miles south.

The Viet-Nam offensive failed to achieve its objective, a communiqué said, "thanks to the untiring action of our forces, who have been engaged day and night in numerous small combats."

Army Rearrests 'Axis Sally' In Reich On Order From U.S.

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 22 (AP). Mildred Gillars, the graying honey-voiced "Axis Sally" who broadcast over the German radio during the war, was rearrested here today on orders of the United States Department of Justice, army intelligence officers said.

The 37-year-old American woman, originally arrested last March on charges of treason, was released December 24 along with two other American propagandists for the Nazis.

Intelligence officers said they did not know why her rearrest had been ordered so soon after her release.

In several interviews during the last month, however, she has expressed strongly anti-Semitic and anti-Communistic opinions.

Sure Views Were Correct

In one such unsolicited interview, she said she was still convinced that the views she broadcast to American soldiers were correct.

"I tried to warn America against communism and Judaism, to show how they were threatening and undermining America," she said in that interview.

"All the things I warned against have become actualities. Oh, if only those poor G.I.'s who sacrificed their lives and futures had realized what was going on."

Her American passport was taken away in 1941. She said she did not know whether she was still an American citizen, although she said she would "dearly love to return to America." She was required to report periodically to United States military authorities in Germany.

Would Be Charged With Treason

Tom C. Clark, United States Attorney General, said in Washington last week that she would be taken into custody and charged with treason if she returned to America. His statement was made following reports that she had arrived at Miami, Fla.

Prior to her arrest today, she was last reported staying at Diez an Der Puhn, a town on the border between the French and American occupation zones, where many artists and writers live.

Born in Portland, Maine, Miss Gillars came to Germany in 1934 to study music, after a brief career on the American stage. She said she first went on the German radio because it "gave me the outlet I had always sought," and planned to go on the German stage after the war.

U. S. ARMY ARRESTS AXIS SALLY AGAIN

Frankfurt, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—United States Army intelligence officers said today that Mildred Gillars, better known as Axis Sally, was re-arrested here today on orders of the Department of Justice in Washington. Originally arrested for pro-Nazi broadcasts during the war, the American woman was released recently, together with two other American propagandists for the Nazis.

Intelligence officers said that they did not know why the Department of Justice had ordered her taken into custody again so soon after her release. However, Attorney-General Tom Clark told news correspondents in Washington a few days ago that Miss Gillars would be tried for treason if she returned to the United States.

Since her release from an Army jail near here on December 26, Miss Gillars had been required to report periodically to American military authorities. She was last reported living in Diez an der Puhn, a town on the border between the French and American occupation zones. In several press interviews Miss Gillars has expressed anti-Semitic and anti-Communist views and has defended her wartime broadcasts.

G. I's Sentence Cut In Reich Killing

Frankfurt, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—The life sentence given Pvt. Donald K. Nye of Syracuse, N. Y., a 19-year-old paratrooper, for the killing of a German girl, has been reduced to ten years, the staff judge advocate of the United States Forces Headquarters Command said today. The sentence was reduced by Brig.-Gen. Cornelius Ryan, chief of the Headquarters Command, who changed the court-martial's verdict from murder to voluntary manslaughter when he reviewed the case.

BREMEN BECOMES A STATE

U. S. Military Government Announces New Status

BERLIN, Jan. 22 (A.P.).—Representatives of the United States Military Government pasted up proclamations in Bremen today declaring that city to be a separate State in the American occupation zone.

Bremen thus became the fourth State in the American zone and will assume the same status as Hesse, Duerttemberg-Baden and Bavaria. The territory of the new State will include the city of Bremen and the city of Wesermuende, including the port of Bremerhaven, main port of the United States Army in Germany. The population is about 500,000.

Clay to Inspect Ruhr With Briton

Berlin, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Lieut.-Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, chiefs of the American and British military governments, planned to leave Berlin tonight for the Ruhr to make a personal study of means of increasing its vitally needed coal production. They will take with them their top experts in ecopomics, mining and man power.

DE GASPERI OPENS PARLEYS TODAY ON NEW GOVERNMENT

F. BRUTTO (N)

ROME, Jan. 22 — (AP) Alcide de Gasperi, who brought on Italy's current political crisis two days ago by resigning as premier, was asked tonight by President Enrico de Nicola to organize a new government.

The Christian Democratic leader will begin consultations tomorrow with the heads of other parties on the formation of Italy's third cabinet in a little more than a year.

Difficult Task

Rome's newspapers generally agreed that De Gasperi's task will be difficult. One of the new government's immediate and unpleasant obligations will be to sign the Italian peace treaty, against which the resigned foreign minister, Socialist Leader Pietro Nenni, filed a strong protest Monday. Another problem, almost as immediate, will be to get the war-damaged country firmly on the road to economic recovery.

Emerging from a three-quarter hour conference with De Nicola, De Gasperi told newsmen: "The president has asked me to form a new government."

The premier-designate added that he would begin his conferences by seeing Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the dissident socialist group who has submitted his resignation as president of the constituent assembly.

Most observers believed De Gasperi's first efforts would be directed toward the formation of a government of the center involving cooperation with Saragat's group—the new Italian Laborers' Socialist party formed after the Socialists split two weeks ago over Nenni's policy of cooperation with the Communists. The Laborers' Socialist party, however, has announced its intention of not cooperating in any government which would seek to exclude parties of the left.

Even before it was announced that De Gasperi had been commissioned to name a new cabinet, it had been rumored that he might try to keep the leftists out of the government and rule with a more tractable center-to-right or purely centrist government. De Gasperi's prestige has been bolstered by his successful visit to the United States, it was said.

De Gasperi's old four-party government, which ended with his resignation Monday, had served for six months.

De Gasperi Asked (N) To Form New Regime

Rome, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—President Enrico de Nicola tonight asked Alcide de Gasperi, leader of the Christian Democrats, to form a new Italian government.

De Gasperi resigned as premier on Monday, terminating his four-party government which had served for six months. Earlier one of his confidantes said that underlying the Italian government crisis was "the disagreeable question of who is to sign the peace treaty."

2 Fascists Steal (N) Rome Trial Show

J. P. McKNIGHT

Rome, Jan. 22 (AP)—Two quick, clever men of the sort Benito Mussolini liked held the center of the stage today when the trial of eight Fascists for the 23-year-old slaying of Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti opened here.

One was Francesco Giunta, early Fascist from Trieste who was the party's secretary for five months in 1923-24 and il Duce's under secretary of the interior on June 1, 1924, when fascism allegedly decided it had had enough of Matteotti's brillian, bitter attacks in the Chamber of Deputies and did away with him.

The other "smart man" of fascism was 59-year-old Cesare Rossi once Mussolini's slender, elegant press chief, now grown bald and portly during sixteen years as fascism's prisoner for plotting against Mussolini and two years in jail awaiting today's trial.

Four Defendants Absent

Absent from the trial were four defendants, one because of illness and three because they have not been apprehended. Also absent were 64 others originally named in the indictment in 1943. Death had accounted for fifteen of them, including Mussolini, and amnesty and completed investigations had cleared the rest.

The dapper Giunta, first of the four defendants in the dock to undergo the initial interrogation, sat comfortably in the chair facing judge and prosecutor with all the affability of an old friend about to exchange reminiscences about something that had happened long, long ago.

Nods, Bows And Smiles

Rossi came into the crowded little courtroom as though he were walking into one of the receptions his pretty French wife used to give. He nodded, bowed, smiled and reached over the railing several times to shake hands with acquaintances.

Giunta admitted freely that "I served fascism because I thought I was serving Italy disinterestedly," but he denied having organized or even having heard about the Fascist gangs which are alleged to have kidnapped and murdered Matteotti.

The other two defendants present were big-nosed impassive Amerigo Dumini, alleged to have been the "trigger man," and Amleto Poveromo.

Sentenced In One Killing

Once reported slated to head Mussolini's secret police, Dumini already has been convicted of the killing once—by a Fascist court back in 1926. Along with Poveromo, he was sentenced to serve 5 years, 11 months and 20 days in prison.

But a convenient amnesty got them out in two months and it was popularly supposed their trial was staged to quiet the uproar over the Matteotti case.

Dumini is expected to be questioned tomorrow.

25,000 Fleeing Pola Before Slavs Come

F. BRUTTO

Rome, Jan. 22 (AP)—Pola, once a naval station of the Roman Empire, may be only a ghost town when it is given to Yugoslavia.

From that city and the remainder of the Istrian Peninsula which is to change from Italian to Yugoslav hands, Italians are leaving by the thousands—taking with them knapsacks and factories.

A Trieste dispatch to Rome's Giornale d'Italia estimated that 100,000 already have crossed the Morgan Line.

About 35,000 have crossed from Fiume, another 20,000 from Zara.

200,000 To Leave Area

Some 25,000 of Pola's 33,000 population are expected eventually to leave, and estimates are that the mass exodus from the area will total 200,000 persons.

One of its recent witnesses said that today 20,000 citizens of Pola—some twenty days before the signing of the peace treaty that will give their city to Yugoslavia—live in suspense, not knowing where to go or how.

Listlessly they walk through streets where incessant hammering and sawing is heard from homes, shops and factories as property is crated for shipping to somewhere in Italy.

"Selling Cemetery Lot"

Windows of half the homes already are boarded up.

At the harbor and the railroad station, long lines of battered trucks, horse and donkey-drawn carts and handcarts are piling up hills of furniture.

Local newspapers have columns of avertisements such as:

"Selling cemetery lot, sewing machine, matrimonial bed."

An exodus committee has been established to aid the future refugees. Each family that wishes to go is given a certificate, and already almost 10,000 such certificates have been issued. Some 4,000—mostly persons of means—already have left the city.

Free Rail Transport

The Italian Government has allotted 10,000,000 lire and promised to send two big ships to help in the mass exodus.

Meanwhile, household goods are being transported free of charge by Italian railways to assembly centers in Trieste, Venice, Ravenna, Ancona and Brindisi.

Almost all of the city's six large factories and 100 medium and small shops—employing a total of 2,500 workers—intend to leave, but only two firms thus far have succeeded in shipping all their machinery and equipment.

Monastery To Remain

Property owners hope the Italian Government will reimburse them for the homes they plan to leave behind, and already claims have been filed for 1,479 of Pola's 3,200 buildings.

In all the sorrow and the bustle, a Franciscan monastery dating from the fourteenth century is unchanged. The monks continue their work, undisturbed. Their Father Superior said:

"We have been here for the past six centuries. We do not intend to leave now."

U. S. Studies Bomb Claims Of Vatican, San Marino

By The Associated Press.

ROME, Jan. 22—The American claims commission is investigating claims against the Allies for bomb damage to Vatican state property at Castel Gandolfo and to the Republic of San Marino, it was learned today.

While the Vatican listed property damage at approximately 170,000,000 lire, the republic in east-central Italy petitioned for unspecified "relief" from "woeful damages to the Republic of San Marino." It was not clear whether the Vatican's claim was computed on the former official rate of 100 lire to the dollar or the current rate of 225. At the former rate the total damage—if paid—would amount to $1,700,000. At the new value it would be $755,550.

Pope Cites Grave Religious Crisis

Vatican City, Jan. 22 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, addressing 400 women of the "Christian Renaissance" movement today, termed religion's present crisis "perhaps the gravest humanity has experienced since the beginning of Christianity."

To survive it, he said, required

"the greatness of a Christianity lived in its fullness with persevering constancy" and "the frank, courageous deployment of all those men and women—who, while living in the midst of the world, are ever ready to fight for their faith."

Source Of Salvation

"Modern thought and life," the Pope said, "must be guided back toward and regardful of Christ."

He declared the only source of salvation is the Catholic faith which, he said, should not be 'mutilated, anemic, sweetened faith, but full of its own integrity, its purity and its strength."

It must be recognized, the Pontiff continued, that under conditions of modern life, "to remain faithful, always and everywhere, without reserve and without compromise to the Commandments of God, exacts, day by day, a self-control, a constant effort, a sacrifice which sometimes reaches the point of heroism."

CHICAGOAN DOOMED AS YUGOSLAV SPY

Sentenced To Death On Charge Of Anti-Tito Plot

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Jan. 22 (AP). Ivan Pintar, 42-year-old native of Chicago, has been sentenced by a Yugoslav court to death before a firing squad for allegedly serving as a "foreign" wartime spy and plotting to overthrow Marshal Tito's present regime.

The court, sitting in Sisak in northwestern Yugoslavia, pronounced the sentence last night. Three Yugoslav citizens, one a woman, were condemned to death on similar charges. Eleven Yugoslavs were sentenced to jail terms ranging from five to 20 years, and one person was acquitted.

Spying For Ustachi

Pintar was accused of "being in the services of representatives of the international reaction," and of spying for the Ustachi, storm troopers of the puppet Croatian regime established by the Axis. He also was charged with taking pictures of important buildings and bridges in and near Sisak and with promising the Ustachi that he would try to obtain arms and food through his contacts with the American consul at Zagreb.

The prosecution said that after the war he was instrumental in forming the "Crusaders," which the Government describes as a postwar offshoot of the Ustachi, "with the purpose of overthrowing the existing state of order in Yugoslavia."

Applied For Return

A United States Embassy spokesman said that Pintar was in Zagreb as a business man, and had applied in 1946 for registration to return to the United States. Embassy records showed that nothing was heard of him from that time until last Friday, when Yugoslav authorities announced he had been placed on trial.

The Embassy maintained silence on the case during the trial, but observers had believed that the sentence would be light.

Others sentenced to death were Sejpan Krivoshic, Djuro Mapich and a woman named Zlapakolaric, all charged with being members of the Ustachi and the Crusaders. The woman was accused of having turned many victims over to "Ustachi cutthroats."

3 U. S. Natives Ordered Shot.

Belgrade, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—A Yugoslav court last night sentenced Chicago-born Ivan Pintar to be shot on charges of espionage and "being in the service of representatives of international reaction." Three Yugoslav citizens also received death sentences.

Summing up the case against Pintar, the court found that in the spring of 1946 he had "joined with the Ustachi terrorist group headed by Sejpan Krovishich (one of the accused who was also sentenced to death) and promised him he would do his utmost that the Ustachi would get arms, food and other materiel by plane.

A United States embassy spokesman said recently that records showed Pintar was born in Chicago in 1904 and was in Zagreb as a business man when he applied to return to the United States. Embassy records showed that nothing was heard of him from the time of his application until he went to trial.

The charges specified that Pintar contributed to the Ustachi approximately $20, 1,250 sheets of paper, typewriter ribbons, pencils, ink, &c.

Eleven other Yugoslavs received sentences ranging from five to twenty years. One was acquitted.

21 Captured by Guerrillas

ATHENS, Jan. 22 (AP).—The Ministry of Public Order reported today that a strong guerrilla force captured twenty-one Greek soldiers after killing one and wounding another in a four-hour clash at the village of Lehova, south of Phlorina, two days ago.

Belgrade Asks Greece To Withdraw Attache

Belgrade, Jan. 22 (AP)—A spokesman for the Yugoslav Foreign Office confirmed reports tonight that the Government was asking Greece to withdraw its military attache here, Commandante G. Diamantopoulos, and that Yugoslavia proposed to recall its military attache from Athens.

The spokesman said he was unable to give any further information and that he didn't know what reasons would be given by the Foreign Office. Asked about reports in Athens that Yugoslavia also was suggesting that the United States recall its military attache, the spokesman said there was no truth to them.

Slays Request Aide Recall

Athens, Jan. 22 (AP)—An authoritative source said today that Belgrade has asked Greece to withdraw her military attaché and has advised the Greek Government that Yugoslavia is withdrawing her military attaché from Greece.

It was learned here at the same time that Belgrade also has suggested that the United States recall her military attaché in the Yugoslav capital.

Government Bloc's Victory Hailed By Warsaw Crowd

Warsaw, Jan. 22 (AP)—Fifty thousand Warsaw residents braved snow and cold weather today in a demonstration at which speakers hailed the Government bloc victory in Sunday's Parliamentary elections as a forerunner of peace and the reconstruction of Poland.

Leaders of the bloc, conferred on the makeup of the new Government. Informed sources said it was regarded as certain that President Boleslaw Bierut would be re-elected, and that Premier Edward B. Osubka-Morawski would be asked to form the new Cabinet.

Will Resign Formally

Both the Premier and the President will resign formally during the first week in February, and Parliament is slated to convene before February 10.

Although there is a good chance that several ministries will go to nonbloc parties who are friendly to the present Government—thus giving the new regime a coalition aspect—it is certain that Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, of the opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL), will not be included.

It is doubtful also whether the two PSL ministers in the present Cabinet will be reappointed.

Mikolajczyk also may face a PSL reorganization and lose the leadership of the party.

An unofficial popular vote compilation showed the bloc parties received 9,003,682; PSL, 1,154,847; Labor, 530,979; New Liberation, 397,754; Catholic and smaller groups, 157,611.

Mikolajczyk, who has said he would appeal the election to the Supreme Court, expected to include in his charges that the pro-Government bloc "arranged in advance" that his party would receive only ten per cent of the vote.

Confers With Ambassador

The Vice Premier conferred at length with the British Ambassador, Victor Cavendish-Bentinck.

A military tribunal at Katowice sentenced to death seven alleged members of a new underground organization known as the Resistance Movement Home Army. Nineteen others were imprisoned.

Jakub Berman, under secretary of the Council of Ministers, predicted at a news conference that the underground would be liquidated this year. He said the Government would show the "utmost leniency" to underground members who leave their forest hideouts and return to normal lives.

Poland's Interim Regime Slated To Quit Soon.

Warsaw, Jan. 22 (AP)—Informed sources said today Poland's provisional government would resign during the first week in February and a new regime would be formed upon the convening of the newly-elected Parliament.

President Boleslaw Bierut and Premier Edward B. Osubka-Morawski, along with the ministers of the Communist - dominated Cabinet, however, are not expected to be long out of jobs.

Informed sources said it was regarded as certain that Bierut would be elected chief executive and that Osubka-Morawski then would be selected to form a new cabinet.

Red Bloc Wins By 4 To 1

The Communist-dominated government bloc won 9,033,682 of the 11,244,873 votes cast in Sunday's parliamentary elections, a compilation of unofficial returns showed today. The Polish Peasant Party (PSL) of Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk polled 1,154,847.

This gave the bloc parties 80 per cent of the popular vote, to 10.3 per cent for the Polish Peasant Party. They captured or will control nearly 90 per cent of the 444 seats in the new parliament.

Mikolajczyk Faces Exclusion

Bloc officials already have declared that neither Mikolajczyk nor any other member of the PSL, which won 28 parliament seats, will be included in the new government.

Other vote totals, according to the unofficial compilation, gave the Labor party 530,979 votes; the New Liberation group, a PSL splinter, 397,754 votes and eight seats, and the Catholic and smaller parties, 157,611 votes and four seats. The Labor party, which won twelve seats, is the only other group besides PSL which is definitely anti-bloc.

18 Of PSL Doomed To Die

Eighteen persons described as members of the PSL and charged with participating in underground terrorist activities were sentenced to death yesterday by Polish military tribunals.

Another military court in Katowice condemned seven members of a new underground resistance movement known as the home army. Nineteen others were sentenced to prison terms.

Jakub Berman, under secretary of the Council of Ministers, told a news conference last night the Government intended to show the "utmost lieniency" to members of the underground who leave their forest hideouts and return to normal life. He predicted the bands would be liquidated this year.

"Ruthless To Die-Hards"

Berman, often described as "the man behind the scenes" for the Warsaw regime and author of many of the Government's official acts, said that the future for Mikolajczyk, whose party the Government repeatedly charged was linked to the underground, would depend on his attitude.

"For those who persist in contacts with the underground we will be ruthless," Berman declared.

He emphasized that he regarded Mikolajczyk's connection with the underground as purely ideological and suggested that the Peasant party itself was now disintegrating because of internal strife.

India Assembly Ends Its Wait For Moslems

Predominantly Hindu Body Approves Resolution for an Independent Republic

NEW DELHI, Jan. 22 (AP).—India's predominantly Hindu Constituent Assembly, declining to mark time any longer while waiting for the Moslem League to join in its deliberations, unanimously approved today a resolution calling for the creation of an independent sovereign republic in India.

The resolution, proposed six weeks ago by Jawaharlal Nehru, passed after Nehru expressed regret that the Moslem League was boycotting the Assembly. He added, however, that "no work will be held up in the future, whether any one comes or not."

[Experts on India in London said the resolution had no legal standing, but was merely an expression of opinion by the Assembly. An India Office official pointed out that the resolution fixed no date for independence to become effective. He recalled that Nehru, in proposing the action, said it was not a part of the constitution which the Assembly would draft.]

Nehru, leader of the Hindu-dominated All India Congress (Nationalist party) and chief minister of India's interim government, told the delegates that he still hoped the Moslem League would join the Assembly, but "there has been waiting enough."

Nehru recalled that the Congress party had decided there would be no objection to a monarchical form of government within India's princely states, provided the people approved. "It is inconceivable that certain parts of India should have democratic freedom and certain parts should not," he said.

In Bombay, the powerful Bombay Students Union circulated handbills urging that the interim government assume full powers as a free provisional government.

Nehru Independence Resolution Adopted

New Delhi, Jan. 22 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's resolution recommending that India be proclaimed an independent, sovereign republic was adopted today by unanimous standing vote of the Indian Constituent Assembly.

Nehru, leader of the Hindu-dominated All-India Congress party and leading minister of India's interim government, concluded lengthy debate on the resolution with an address in which he again lamented the fact that the Moslem League was boycotting the Assembly.

Nehru said today that although he regretted the League's absence, "no work will be held up in the future, whether anyone comes or not."

"Six weeks have passed since I moved this resolution in this house and during this period there has been plenty of opportunity for those who wanted to come," he said.

"Unfortunately, they have not yet decided to come and they still hover in a state of indecision. . . ."

Referring to India's relations with Great Britain, he added:

"At no time have we thought in terms of isolating ourselves in this world from other countries or ever being hostile to countries which have dominated us. . . . We want to be friendly with the British people, its commonwealth and others.

"In this world you cannot remain in isolation. You must either co-operate or fight. There is no middle way."

Bombay Strike Called Today In Honor Of Bose

Bombay, India, Jan. 22 (AP)—Anti-British handbills were posted in Bombay today as students and members of the Adult Forward bloc announced plans to bring the city's business life to a standstill tomorrow in observance of the birthday of Subhas Chandra Bose, Indian National Army chieftain.

Observance of the birthday last year touched off anti-British demonstrations resulting in heavy casualties, in what probably was the worst single day's rioting in Bombay's history.

Although Allied military authorities long since announced Bose died in a plane crash in Formosa two years ago, rumors persisted that he was alive and would appear tomorrow. The National Army leader is a hero to the younger element and the Adult Forward bloc, a Left-Wing faction of the Congress party.

The Bengal Government announced in Calcutta that the "situation is now fast returning to normal" there after two days of fighting in which 1 person was killed, 38 injured and 25 arrested. The Calcutta demonstrations were called in support of the Viet-Nam Government in Indo-China.

Earlier today, Calcutta police used tear gas to disperse crowds of Hindu students. Four thousand students passed a resolution "condemning atrocities committed by police against peaceful student demonstrations."

Iraq To Raise D.C. Legation To Embassy

Baghdad, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Government announced today that the Iraq legation in Washington is to be raised to the status of an embassy in reciprocation for similar action taken by the United States with respect to its legation in Baghdad.

It was expected that Ali Jawdat, the present Iraq Minister in Washington, would be designated as the first ambassador.

Each Has Killed Peace, Chiang And Reds Claim

Nanking, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Chinese Government and the Communists belabored each other today with statements charging the other with wrecking China's peace.

The Government wound up expressing the hope that the Communists would "appreciate the Government's earnest efforts" and resume peace talks either in Nanking or Yenan, Communist capital.

The Communists, through spokesman Wang Ping-nan, said nothing doing, unless the Government bowed to their previous demand, tore up the new constitution and gave up territory won since January 13, 1946.

Other Chang Charges

The Government charged that the Communists obstructed in Manchuria, never lived up to agreements on army reorganization, sabotaged truce field teams and boycotted the recent constitutional convention.

Wang replied that the Government "by calling the unilateral National Assembly," which adopted the new constitution, itself violated previous agreements.

Government dispatches, meanwhile, claimed successes in skirmishing both in Manchuria and jn the vicinity of Peiping, two locales where the Communists have shown a recent resurgence of activity.

Red Retreat Reported

The Central News Agency said the Communists were in retreat northeast of Changchun after being driven from Chitamu, 48 miles from the Manchurian capital.

The agency also claimed that Government troops had captured Paichitun, 83 miles northeast of Changchun. It asserted that the city had been defended by 30,000 Communists.

In Hopeh province, Government troops captured Paoti, one-time Communist stronghold 42 miles east of Peiping, and Pingku, 40 miles northeast of Peiping, the Central News Agency reported.

Yank's Sentence Not Revealed

Peiping, Jan. 22 (AP)—Marine Corporal William G. Pierson was convicted by a United States naval court today of raping a 19-year-old Chinese coed, but will not learn the penalty for some time.

After announcing its verdict, the seven-man court adjourned to deliberate on the sentence. It will not be announced until passed upon by Maj. Gen. Samuel L. Howard, commandant of United States Marines in North China. Life imprisonment is the maximum.

Pierson, 23, who had sat through four days of testimony but did not testify, blanched at the verdict. Then his face turned a bright red.

Dashes From Courtroom

When Lieut. Col. Thomas B. Hughes, who headed the court, instructed military police to remove the prisoner, Pierson dashed headlong from the room, mumbling to himself, as guards followed him out.

Shen Chung, Peiping National University student, who testified that Pierson raped her twice on Christmas Eve, was not in court.

Both the conviction and sentence are subject to review.

The court acquitted Pierson of charges of assault, and of assault with intent to rape, ruling they were lesser counts to the principal accusation. It dropped two other charges—fornication and misconduct, holding that they were inconsistent.

LABOR UNREST WORRIES JAPS

Leader Stabbed—Tokyo Press Takes Grave View

Tokyo, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Tokyo press took a grave view today of the growing labor foment in Japan, heightened by the stabbing of a labor leader as he was helping plan a strike of 2,500,000 Government and municipal workers for February 1.

The influential Tokyo newspaper Asahi said the attack on Katsumi Kikunami by two members of an obscure political party "showed the first teeth of fascism since the war ended."

It demanded that the Yoshida Cabinet "take the responsibility for creating an environment that produced such a vicious manifestation of terrorism."

Social Revolution

The Tokyo Shimbun said the "ominous atmosphere" was "suggestive of social revolution." It surmised that if the strike plans are carried out to the fullest Japan would be caught in "the greatest general strike in the history of the world."

Kikunami, recovering from his wounds, said the strike would be held, despite the plea of Yoshishige Kawai, Welfare Minister, that it would "not only destroy the Yoshida Cabinet but also this country."

Solution Intimated

Among demands of the strike planners are establishment of a minimum wage, drawing up of labor contracts and rescinding by Premier Yoshida of a reference to labor in his New Year's radio speech as "recalcitrant elements."

Minister Kawai, without going into detail, intimated that the Government had a solution for the threatened strike.

Two men were booked by Tokyo police on charges of committing bodily harm to Kikunami, head of the Congress of Industrial Unions. They were described as members of the "New People's party" and were brought in by the party's head, Yasutoshi Maki. One assailant wore an aviator's jacket and army boots which he said were parts of the "party's uniform."

Jap Union Urged Not To Strike

Tokyo, Jan. 22 (AP)—Welfare Minister Yoshishige Kawai urged government workers today to abandon a general strike set for February 1 lest they "not only destroy the Yoshida Cabinet but also this country."

The Congress of Industrial Unions nevertheless pressed plans to call 2,500,000 government and municipal workers off the job and loosed another blast at Premier Shigeru Yoshida's government.

The Congress issued a statement blaming the knifing of Katsumi Kikunami, its president, on "reactionary forces" and asserted the "conservative, reactionary" Yoshida government was implicated.

It did not elaborate on the latter charge.

Kikunami is recovering.

Japanese police reported two young members of the obscure New People's Party surrendered today and admitted the stabbing. They are Hiroo Otsuka, 25, and Ryutaro Sakuma, 21.

4 Million Words Recorded In the Tojo Trial to Date

By The Associated Press.

TOKYO, Jan. 22—Court reporters of the International Tribunal trying Hideki Tojo and twenty-four other major defendants on war crimes charges have recorded more than 4,000,000 words already—and the defense side is yet to come. One hundred and two witnesses have appeared in person. Affidavits of 1,200 other witnesses and extracts from 1,100 documents have been read to the tribunal judges.

To keep the eleven judges, fifty prosecution attorneys and twenty-three United States defense attorneys posted and provide copies for court attendants, 300 copies of the transcript are mimeographed daily. Another 300 are printed in Japanese for the defendants and the eighty-one Japanese defense lawyers.

The prosecution has a clerical language investigating staff comprising 104 allied nationals and 184 Japanese. The defense clerical force numbers 200.

Japan Forbids Making Nonessential Goods

Tokyo, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Japanese Government today banned the manufacture of more than 100 nonessential and luxury items to make more raw materials available for goods essential to maintain life.

Prohibited items include many sold in black-market stalls—leather briefcases, aluminum tops, rubber mats and toys, furniture, smoking equipment and some toilet articles.

Jap Ex-Colonel Found Dead Of Knife Wound

Sendai, Japan, Jan. 22 (AP)—Tomoo Okubo, a former Japanese Army colonel suspected of forcing girl internees in Java into a brothel, was found dead Friday in Horin Temple with a butcher knife wound over the heart. Police speculated that he committed suicide.

Okubo a few days earlier told a former subordinate he feared he was under suspicion as a war criminal. He was, the Netherlands Government having asked General MacArthur's legal section to question him about the wartime Java brothel.

Okubo was commandant of an officer's training school in Java from 1942 to 1945.

Services Conducted By 2 G. I.'s and Wac

Yokohama, Jan. 22 (A. P.)—Two enlisted men and a Wac sergeant, all chaplain's assistants, held services Sunday when no Protestant chaplain was available for two United States Eighth Army chapels.

Pfc. Walter E. Lindberg, former assistant minister of Broadway Temple Methodist Church, New York, conducted services. He had completed two years toward a Ph. D. degree at Columbia when called into the Army.

Sgt. Ray L. Harwick of Souderton, Pa., member of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, led the singing. He plans to resume pre-ministerial studies after his discharge. Wac Sgt. Helen Havlon, a Uniterian, from St. Louis, was organist.

McNutt Returns To Manila

Manila, Jan. 22 (AP)—United States Ambassador McNutt flew back to Manila today from an Australian visit on which he conferred with United States Ambassador Butler in Canberra and United States consular officials in Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter, and Miss Grace Woody, their guest.

Waring To Urge More Funds

Manila, Jan. 22 (AP)—A source close to Dr. Frank A. Waring, chairman of the Philippine War Damage Commission, said today Waring will go to Washington in February and inform a congressional committee that Philippine industry needs $268,000,000 for adequate rehabilitation. That is in addition to $400,000,000 earmarked for claims of $500 or less, authorized but not yet appropriated by Congress.

Penalties Free Of Veto Sought

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—United States experts were reported authoritatively tonight to be canvassing methods of punishing violations of an atomic control pact without being stopped by a veto in the United Nations Security Council.

It was generally agreed that these methods involved, in the final showdown, war against any aggressor nation breaking the atomic treaty.

The Americans insist that the veto must not be used to prevent swift and sure punishment. They insist furthermore that adequate measures can be taken under authority already granted in the United Nations charter, without altering the veto set-up in any way.

Chief Stumbling Block

The question of dealing effectively with aggressor nations by inflicting swift punishment has been the principal stumbling block in the way of complete agreement on an atomic energy treaty, some observers said. Consideration of this problem was only part of the general overhaul of United States policy now under way in preparation for resumption of arms talks in the Security Council after February 4.

Warren R. Austin, chief of the United States delegation, is expected to go to Washington this week end for conferences with George C. Marshall, new Secretary of State, on American policy in the United Nations.

Permits Members Action

One method of atomic punishments, it is said authoritatively, could be worked out under Article 51 of the United Nations Charter.

It has been suggested that an international atomic inspection agency, which would be set up under the atomic treaty to operate without a veto, could declare there had been a serious violation of the atomic-control pact warranting heavy punishment.

Article 51 permits the United Nations members to take individual and collective action for self-defense until the Security Council can act. Thus, these nations could go to war against the violating nation immediately.

If the veto is invoked in the Security Council on such a serious occasion, it is suggested that this act itself would be tantamount to a declaration of war against the United Nations members.

Another Approach Suggested

Another approach, the Americans suggest, would be through articles 1 and 2 of the United Nations Charter which contain the general obligation not to use force in any manner inconsistent with the Charter and to take collective action against any threat or act of aggression.

A third method would be under Article 11 of the United Nations Charter, which gives the United Nations General Assembly the power to recommend to the Security Council or to the individual member states, or to both, immediate collective action in defense of the peaec and of the law.

Austin contends that the Security Council, in which the veto would not be altered, has the primary but not the sole responsibility under the Charter for maintaining international peaec and security.

Penalty For Atom Pact Violations Weighed

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—The United States delegation to the United Nations was reported today exploring ways of punishing nations violating an atomic-energy control pact without smashing directly into the United Nations Security Council veto.

One method said to be under consideration would provide that an international atomic-inspection agency could declare there had been a grave violation of the atomic-control pact warranting swift and heavy punishment.

This would be the signal, it was said, for individual nations adhering to an atomic-control treaty to declare war on the violating nation under Article 51 of the United Nations Charter; which permits member states to take individual and collective action for self-defense until the Security Council can act.

In short, this would mean that aggressive action would be taken promptly and would be in progress even if one of the five major powers should veto sanctions and military action by the Security Council.

Atomic Papers For Sale

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Two hundred and seventy once-secret papers on atomic energy were offered for sale today by the Commerce Department's Office of Technical Services.

"The papers," said John C. Green, director of the office, "constitute the first sizeable release of atomic energy information which has been made since the early days of the war, when a top secret classification was slapped on everything having to do with nuclear physics."

On Technical Discoveries

In general, the papers report on a variety of technical discoveries in mathematical, physical, chemical, engineering and medical fields. Most are of value principally to trained scientists, although a few are semi-popular articles.

Among important items in the group of documents are papers by Dr. Enrico Fermi on "Elementary Theory of the Chain-Reacting Pile," Dr. H. Fridell on "Atomic Energy and Cancer" and Dr. A. C. Klein on "Atomic Bomb Engineering."

Not Official Documents

Green pointed out that the articles are not official Atomic Energy Commission documents, but papers prepared by individual scientists who have worked or are working on the atomic project. These scientists prepared the papers on their own time and gave specific permission for their release through Green's office.

Copies may be obtained from the office upon payment of stated prices for photographic or microfilm copies of the papers, which range from $1 to about $4.

GOP WINS FIRST TEST AS SENATE EXTENDS WAR INQUIRY BODY

Republican Lines Hold Adequately in Nip-and-Tuck Roll Calls.

BREWSTER LEADS FIGHT

M'Mahon Welcomes Probe to 'Scrutinize Fat Cats of G.O.P. Party.'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 — (AP) Senate Republicans triumphed today in their first big legislative battle of the new Congress, winning a year's extension of life for the special War Investigating Committee.

Their victory came after nip-and-tuck roll calls which showed Republican lines holding adequately in a political pinch.

Vote Is Close

The final vote was 49 to 43, but the real test was the 47 to 45 count which defeated a Democratic move to take the investigation of war frauds and excessive war profits away from the special committee and give it to the standing committee on expenditures in the executive departments.

Four Republicans—Aiken of Vermont, Cooper of Kentucky, Morse of Oregon and Tobey of New Hampshire—voted with the Democratic organization on that one. The Democrats, in turn, lost the support of Senator O'Daniel (D.-Tex.), although retaining the votes of two members of the special investigating committee, Connally (D.-Tex.) and Kilgore (D.-W. Va.).

The outcome may well have been determined by (1) the flying weather between Chicago and Washington and (2) the illness of a senator's relative.

Senator Ball (R.-Minn.), a member of the special investigating committee, flew back to the capital wrapped in blankets in a wind-chilled plane whose heating equipment was out of kilter. He arrived hardly an hour before the vote and was rushed from the airport to the Capitol by an aide.

Senator Overton (D-La) was called away by the illness of his mother-in-law. His associates said he would have voted against the special committee had he been present.

Had Ball been unable to complete his flight, and if Overton had been in the chamber, the outcome presumably would have been a tie.

Clear Cut Dispute

The dispute over extending the life of the special committee until Jan. 31, 1948, was clear cut. The regular Republican organization backed the extension move; the Democrats went all-out in their effort to beat it.

Democrats argued that the creation or continuation of special committees violated the spirit of the congressional reorganization law, which whittled the number of standing senate committees down from 33 to 15.

Republicans contended that the investigating committee, founded by President Truman when he was a member of the senate, was a going concern with an informed membership and a capable staff which could complete the work at hand more efficiently than a standing committee with no previous experience.

Senator Tydings (D-Md), who led the Democratic drive, sponsored the amendment which would have given the expenditures committee the responsibility for the war contracts inquiries.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), chairman of that committee, voted for Tydings' amendment, but the other six Republican members (including four first termers) stayed with their party organization.

Senator Brewster (R-Me), who succeeded to the chairmanship of the special committee when his party took control of the senate, led the successful Republican effort.

Brisk debate preceded the vote.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed the belief that some Democrats were opposing the continuation of the committee because they feared it might "in some way injure their political future."

Senator Russell (D-Ga) predicted that passage of one such resolution would spawn a host of others, and result in the destruction of "the best features of the reorganization law."

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) said that extraordinary circumstances some times call for creation of special committees, but he also asserted that no such special circumstance now exists.

Senator Brooks (R-Ill), chairman of the rules committee which recommended extension of the special committee, declared that discontinuance of the investigation "would be a violation of the trust the people expressed in us when they made us the majority party in congress."

(The International News Service reported that Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) told Senate Republicans that Democrats welcome a war profit investigation to scrutinize "some of the fat cats of the Republican party" who held major war contracts. McMahon defended the Democratic record of administration in both world wars.

Excises Bill Gets Nod In House

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP) — The House Rules Committee today supported continuation of wartime excise taxes after getting testimony that the tax load would soon be lightened in other respects.

Upon recommendations of the Ways and Means Committee, the rules group voted for House action next week on a bill to continue war excises on liquor, cosmetics, jewelry, furs and some other items.

Without the legislation, the war rates would drop to prewar levels next July 1 under President Truman's recent declaration ending hostilities.

$1,130,000,000 Involved

Continuation of existing rates, said Chairman Knutson (R., Minn.) of the Ways and Means Committee, would bring in $1,130,000,000 next year which would be lost if the tax rates drop.

Knutson told the Rules Committee that the legislation is necessary to remove uncertainty which has slowed buying of the taxed items in anticipation of reduced prices.

He said there is "no immediate prospect for reduction" of the excise rates, but Knutson testified that they would be reviewed later by his committee and adjustments made where necessary.

"Will Carry Out Pledge"

Knutson said reports that demands for general tax cuts are "dying down are just wishful thinking." He reiterated that the Republicans "are going to carry out our pledge to reduce taxes."

However, he explained, the first reductions must be made in income taxes, and legislation dealing with them will be sent to the House as soon as committees now studying Federal spending complete their work.

TAX CUT PLEDGE TO BE KEPT, SAYS KNUTSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. — (AP) Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House Ways and Means Committee declared today reports that demands for tax cuts are "dying down are just wishful thinking."

Knutson told the House Rules Committee that Republicans "are going to carry out our pledge to reduce taxes." He is author of House Bill No. 1 for a 20 per cent income tax cut.

On his request, the rules group cleared the way for a house vote next week on a bill by Rep. Grant (R-Ind) to freeze excise levies—on liquor, luggage, jewelry and other so-called luxuries—at their high wartime rates, indefinitely.

Marshall Invited To State Views To Senators

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall has been invited to give the Senate Foreign Relations Committee an outline of his views on American foreign policy.

But Chairman Vandenberg (R., Mich.) extended the invitation in such a way, it was learned today, as to emphasize the committee's desire to co-operate fully with the new Cabinet officer.

Marshall was asked to appear at his own convenience, and some committee members said it would be all right if he did not find it convenient to testify until after the Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting at Moscow. The assumption is that Marshall will attend the Moscow meeting, even though he left the question open temporarily.

Praised By Congressmen

He buckled down to his first full day's work at the State Department with praise still being heard from both Republican and Democratic members of Congress for his expressed determination to run the nation's foreign affairs on a "non-political" basis.

The statement Marshall issued was widely interpreted as not only removing the General from the list of 1948 presidential possibilities, but taking foreign policy even farther away from partisan politics.

Little Policy Change Expected

The new Secretary of State indicated that he regards the policies of former Secretary Byrnes as those of the Government and not of an individual and that he will continue them.

"There is nothing I can say at this time regarding matters that pertain to my position in the State Department," Marshall said yesterday.

"But I assume the duties with a feeling of great responsibility and an earnest desire to carry out the foreign policy of this Government in a manner which was splendidly exemplified by my predecessor, Mr. Byrnes, my old friend."

Talk Of Reorganization

Among career officials and others in the State Department there was much speculation over whether Marshal will undertake an early reorganization of the department.

But on this, as on other specific questions, the General was silent for the time being. Some officials doubted he would have much opportunity to go into organizational problems before he goes to Moscow for the conference on German and Austrian peace settlements beginning March 10.

Court Holds Industrial Sugar Rationing Formula Is Invalid

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—A Federal judge held today that OPA's plan of rationing sugar to industrial users is invalid and an appeal was announced "in view of the importance of this issue to industrial users and consumers alike."

Philip B. Fleming, head of the Office of Temporary Controls, said that the Government will ask that the ruling be held in abeyance pending appeal.

OPA officials said the decision, by Judge F. Dickinson Letts, does not affect consumer rationing at this time but Fleming said in a statement that it is possible under the ruling that the present system of rationing to industrial users must be abandoned.

Less For Consumers

Should a new system provide more sugar for industrial users, it was noted, there will be that much less for consumers.

Judge Letts upheld a contention for the Moberly (Mo.) Milk Products Company that it should not be subjected to the "historical use" formula of dividing up sugar supplies.

The company contended that this method, which is based on use of sugar in years of plenty, discriminated against new industrial users in favor of old firms.

Raymond Dickey, of the law firm which represented the Moberly Company, said: "I think the ruling applies to one particular producer, but the import may be wider. We did not bring a class action. It was not necessarily our purpose to knock out the rationing program . . . it does not necessarily upset the program, but if OPA is unable to devise a method of rationing in conformity with the ruling, that decision is up to them."

Comment On Previous Case

In commenting on a similar case last year, OPA officials said that if it had lost that case, it might have had to abandon all sugar rationing. (The case never came to trial.)

It was noted then that if industrial users could buy unlimited quantities, it would be next to impossible to carry on rationing to ordinary consumers.

Charles W. Quick, chief counsel for OPA's sugar division, advised against speculating as to the possible effects of the Moberly case and said: "Of course, we plan to appeal the decision."

OPA officials said that most industrial users have been allocated sugar on the basis of their 1941 consumption, with varying percentages being allotted according to classification of the user. This has been known as a "historical use" base.

Provisional Allowance

Until last November 1, however, manufacturers of bulk sweetened condensed milk (such as the Moberly firm) were allotted sugar on the basis of their current production. This was known as a "provisional allowance."

Officials said this special provision resulted from large increases in milk production during the war.

After the war, however, less milk was available for preservation, and the Secretary of Agriculture recommended that the amount of sugar allocated for the purpose be reduced. He contended that supplies of sugar for condensed milk producers were disproportionately large in comparison with supplies for other uses.

New Applications Barred

Last August, OPA announced that no new applications for condensed milk sugar allowances would be accepted. Under an October 8 order, condensed milk producers were given a quota based on their use in 1943, 1944, and 1945. Varying percentages of the base period use were allowed, depending on the period in which the business was operated.

Users who began operations after October 1, 1945, such as Moberly Company, received a monthly quota based on a formula which included their average use up to November 1, 1946, and the relations of this use to total use in the industry, among other factors.

This total use reflected the "historical use" formula followed for much of the industry, but Judge Letts held the War Mobilization and Reconversion Act forbids following such a basis for sugar rationing.

Statutory Safeguards

He said Congress set up "statutory safeguards to protect small plants and new concerns from discriminatory use of historical use basis for any purpose in ration orders."

The Moberly Company told the court its sugar quota was cut from 67,500 pounds for October, 1946, to 5,900 pounds in November and 7,000 pounds in December.

Judge Letts did not say what relief should be given the company but ordered counsel to draw up papers for a judgment in the case.

Mayors Urge Rent Control Be Continued

Conference Bids Congress Act to Bar Hundreds of Thousands' of Evictions

Asks a New Program On Low-Rent Homes

Takes No Stand on Strike Curbs, Votes to Foster Voluntary Arbitration

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The United States Conference of Mayors today asked Congress to continue rent ceilings and thereby avert "hundreds of thousands" of evictions.

The resolution called for "adequate and fair" rent control until the housing shortage ends. It was approved unanimously shortly before the three-day session ended with the election of Mayor George W. Welsh, of Grand Rapids, Mich., as the new president.

The 350 city officials also asked Congress to approve at once a new, federally aided public-housing program to provide low-rent housing. Private builders can satisfy the needs only of the "high-income groups," this resolution stated.

The mayors said legislation like the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill, which calls for 100,000 publicly financed dwellings a year plus financial incentives for 1,000,000 privately built residences, is the "only practicable means" of meeting the housing needs of all classes.

Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican Steering Committee, promised the conference earlier in the meeting that the bill, stalled last session in a House committee after clearing the Senate, would be reintroduced. He also said he would support "some form" of extended rent control beyond June 30, when it is now scheduled to expire.

Sees "Highest Bidder" Aided

Without rent ceilings, said the conference resolution offered by Mayor Stanley Church, of New Rochelle, N. Y., homes in many areas would be let to "the highest bidders, forcing rents above the ability of veterans and people of modest means to pay."

The conference chose to take no stand on national strike-control legislation, though this was the most hotly debated topic at the meeting.

Instead, the mayors voted to "promote and encourage" creation of local management-labor committees in every city to nip potential strikes in the bud through conciliation and voluntary arbitration services. This was proposed by Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minneapolis.

In a rapid chorus of "aye" votes, the conference also urged that:

Congress provide funds "without delay" to finish the temporary housing program in cities and on campuses, which has halted for lack of money.

The government speed up disposal of surplus property, especially airports, to municipalities, and restore promptly to the cities the airports which were leased to the government for war use.

Asks Aid From States

The states turn over to the cities a large share of state tax revenues, to which city dwellers are major contributors.

The government make payments, in lieu of taxes, on city property occupied by the government (except that used for postoffices, courthouses and similar local public purposes).

Mayor Welsh will serve a one-year term as conference president, succeeding Mayor Edward J. Kelly, of Chicago. Mayor W. Cooper Green, of Birmingham, became vice-president, and Mayor A. P. Kaufmann, of St. Louis, chairman of the advisory board.

The following mayors were chosen trustees: Harry W. Baals, of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Fletcher Bowron, of Los Angeles; John J. Burns, of Burlington, Vt.; Thomas Burke, of Cleveland; Edward J. Jeffries jr., of Detroit; David L. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh; William O'Dwyer, of New York, and R. Earl Riley, of Portland, Ore.

The Newark Mayor, Vincent J. Murphy, had urged that the organization make a thorough study of Federal aid for education and support Federal aid legislation. Mr. Murphy told a reporter the pledge of support was eliminated by the Resolutions Committee, on which he served, because of different opinions in Congress as to the form such aid should take.

Committee Approves Housing Nomination

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today unanimously approved President Truman's nomination of Dillon Myer for Administrator of the United States Housing Authority.

Previously, Senator Taft (Ohio), head of the Republican Steering Committee, had said he would abide by the Banking Committee's decision.

Taft blocked Myer's confirmation with an objection before the Senate adjourned last summer. His explanation was that he felt Myer was better qualified in the agricultural than the housing field.

Anderson Wants Farm Control To Go With Fixing Of Prices

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, said today that if the Government continues to put a floor under the price of farm commodities it ought to have specific power to curb their production.

Otherwise, he told the House Agriculture Committee, it may spend $2,000,000,000 in 1948 supporting prices, with the result that production will outstrip the demand. This, he said, would spell waste of effort, money and soil.

Anderson also asked the House Agriculture Committee for quick legislation to allow sale of Government-owned wool at less than parity prices. Because of a law forbidding sale at less than parity, he said, imported wool (which can be sold without price restriction) is crowding American wool off the market.

Bought Up Wool Crop

A parity price is a price calculated according to a complex formula. It is designed to give farmers a "fair return" for products, in terms of what they have to pay for goods.

During the war, the Government bought up the entire wool crop in order to encourage production in view of uncertainties whether foreign wool would be available. The idea was that it would sell all the wool it bought. But it now owns about 460,000,000 pounds out of more than 1,250,000,000 purchased since 1943.

Anderson devoted much of his time before the Agriculture Committee to a discussion of price supports for various farm commodities, and the question of production controls.

Under law, the Government is pledged to support the price of a large number of commodities, such as milk, potatoes and hogs. The aim of the law was to stimulate production during the war and to give farmers some protection while they were changing over from a war to peace economy.

To do this, the Government stands ready to remove surpluses from the market through (1) purchasing programs, and (2) loans to growers of nonperishable products.

There is authority for controlling production of certain basic crops such as wheat, corn and cotton. This is done by limiting the acreage planted and setting marketing quotas. The Government tells a farmer, for example, that if he plants more than his share he can not benefit in full from the price-supporting program.

But on certain other commodities the power of control production is doubtful.

Anderson conceded he is on "questionable territory" in putting controls on this year's potato crop, and told the committee, "I would feel much better if Congress spelled out the authority." The controls were instituted after the Government lost $80,000,000 supporting 1946 potato prices, he said.

Representative Page (D., Ga.), Agriculture Committee member, said "the United States Treasury, as big as it is, can't support farm prices indefinitely, without production controls, and I'm sure the farmers realize this."

REPORT ASSAILS WAA HANDLING OF ALUMINUM PLANTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) Senator Murray (D.-Mont.), ex-chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, told Congress today that the War Assets Administration displayed "shabby" management in the disposal of government-owned aluminum plants costing $665,000,000.

In a sharply-worded report, climaxing two years of committee investigations, Murray also called for a "strong national campaign against monopoly and the concentration of economic power."

Singles Out Pollock

Assailing many phases of WAA, Murray twice singled out Deputy Director H. E. Pollock, whom he identified as "formerly connected with the Mellon interests."

The Montana lawmaker declared Pollock "should retain no responsibilities involving aluminum or other industries in which the Mellons have investments or indirect interests."

Again, later in the report, Murray said that Pollock, recently appointed as deputy administrator in charge of the office of real property disposal, "has spent most of his working life with the Mellon interests in positions of high responsibility."

"The Mellon interests," the report continued, "include oil, chemicals and aluminum, and are affected, in some instances, by policies required under the Surplus Property Act.

"The Mellons are large stockholders in ALCOA (Aluminum Company of America), which opposed the aluminum program of the surplus property board.

"Regardless of personal integrity, an individual with such a background should not be placed in a position conflicting with former associates."

Noting that WAA so far has disposed of little more than half the government's war-time aluminum properties, Murray declared:

"The disposal accomplishments of the War Assets Administration in the aluminum program have obscured the weaknesses of administration, the confusion, the inexcusable delays, and some important failures to follow policy laid down by the surplus property board.

"There should be little comfort in the successes of the aluminum program in the face of shabby administration and evidence that the program could have been more successful."

Points to "Weaknesses"

Among numerous "weaknesses," Murray said responsibility for disposal of the aluminum plants was charged to one person and "that individual does not even have a full-time secretary."

Murray recommended a new full-time authority to administer the aluminum program, separate from the WAA, and said Congress should require the WAA "within 60 days to show what it has done on the recommendations directed to it."

On a brighter note, Murray said the nation today is enjoying "the benefits of a competitive aluminum industry" for the first time in 50 years. This was brought about, he said, by the creation of two new aluminum-producing companies in opposition to ALCOA, which he described as "one of the most successful monopolies in American history."

WAA Bribe Attempt Laid To Four Men

Columbia, S.C., Jan. 22 (AP)—Four men were charged in Federal complaints here today with attempting to bribe a War Assets Administration official to influence the sale of surplus property.

Assistant United States District Attorney Henry H. Edens listed the men as Edward Siegel, of New York city; George A. Stein, of Atlantic City; Rudolph Shilfer and Charles Kessler, both of Philadelphia. Edens said the complaints were signed by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Edens said the men were arrested here last night after a WAA official reported he had been offered $20,000 to sell millions of dollars' worth of scarce surplus property.

"Sheet steel at the Charleston Navy Yard, about 80,000 pairs of officers shoes and much WAC clothing was involved," Edens stated. "Apparently they wanted a corner on all property that can be sold quickly."

'SUBVERSIVE' UNITS EYED BY THOMAS GROUP

Un-American Committee To Probe 'Influences' In Hollywood, Government

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Investigations of "subversive influences" in Hollywood, unions, schools and the Government were ordered today by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as it began what may be "the most active year" in its turbulent history.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R., N.J.) said he intends to make it that, and to "let the chips fall where they may."

"It doesn't make any difference to me," he said, "whether they fall on the Columbians (a Georgia organization), the Ku Klux Klan or the Communists."

Probably public hearings will be held here or in Hollywood on "Communist influences" in the movie capital, the chairman said. But where and when the committee will strike first still is under consideration.

Other Plans Adopted

At its first meeting under Republican control, the committee also agreed to:

1. Put agents on the trail of groups and movements "trying to dissipate our atomic bomb knowhow."

2. Start a backfire against "subversive propaganda" through frequent and regular reports to the people.

3. Rehire Robert E. Stripling to head its staff as clerk and chief investigator. Stripling, a protégé of former Chairman Martin Dies (D., Texas), was with the committee from the time it was created in 1938 until he was drafted into the Army two years ago.

With only Representative Bonner (D., N.C.) absent, Thomas said all decisions were by unanimous vote of the eight members present.

Harmonious Start

Thus the committee was off to at least a harmonious start under Republican direction. In the past, members have feuded and the committee has been denounced or praised perhaps as much as any in Congress.

Thomas promised its inquiries "will be both intensive and fair," and he said it will steer clear of "partisan politics."

"Our task will be difficult," he said, "because, unfortunately, subversive forces are well entrenched in our midst."

The committee formally adopted Thomas's plan to:

1. "Expose and ferret out" the Communists and their sympathizers in the Federal Government.

2. "Spotlight the sorry spectacle of having outright Communsts controlling and dominating some of the most vital unions in American labor, unions which are now being used as Moscow pawns for ambitious and unscrupulous Communist leaders."

3. Give a "good airing" to Communist forces in Hollywood and prompt attention to the "Communist element in our educational system."

May Set TVA Red Inquiry

Senate Unit Debates Whether to Ask Agency Officers if Communists Hold Post.

Washington, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—A Senate committee debated today whether to call officials of the Tennessee Valley Authority as witnesses and make a formal inquiry into assertions that Communists hold high TVA posts.

The issue was raised by Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.) during hearings by the Senate Public Works Committee yesterday on the nomination of Gordon Clapp to be director of TVA.

"Isn't it true that four well-known Communists are in your set-up?" McKellar asked and then called off these names: Joe C. Swidler, TVA general counsel; Arthur Jandrey, assistant general manager; E. B. Schultz, chief of labor relations, and James T. Ramey, an attorney.

Clapp replied that he knew "as a matter of fact that none of those men is a Communist." He later told reporters that Ramey no longer is with TVA.

After a closed meeting of the committee, Chairman Revercomb (R.-W. Va.) told reporters that the members had discussed the question of whether to call as witnesses the men named by McKellar, but that no decision was reached. The Senate group will meet again tomorrow to continue hearings on Clapp's nomination.

McKellar is not a member of the committee, but is fighting against Senate confirmation of Clapp for the TVA post. Among other things, he contends that Clapp is a protege of David Lilienthal, former TVA chairman. Clapp has been TVA general manager since 1939.

When Lilienthal headed the agency, he and McKellar disagreed frequently and violently over many TVA policies. Lilienthal resigned several weeks ago to accept nomination by President Truman to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Under McKellar's questioning, Clapp told the Senate group that there once were "a few individuals in TVA, mostly youngsters, who got tied up with that business (Communism). They are not still with us."

Asked about his own political faith, he replied: "I am an American. I am without political affiliation."

'U.S. MUST FEED GERMANY': HOOVER

Former President To Help Natives Get Back On Feet

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said tonight the United States must feed Germany "whether we like it or not" because "we cannot have the American flag flying over 40,000,000 people reduced to a gigantic Buchenwald."

Without elaborating on his reference to the Nazi horror camp at Buchenwald, Hoover said the Germans are now reduced to a daily diet of about 1,400 calories, compared with the average American consumption of 3,400 calories.

Must Feed People In U.S. Area

"The supply of food in Germany today is less than enough to maintain a worker fit to work," he said in a broadcast.

"Our soldiers are in this area, our flag flies there, and if for no other reason we must feed the people to protect our own boys," he said.

A few hours earlier, the former President who fed millions of Europeans engulfed by Kaiser Wilhelm's armies in World War I conferred with President Truman and agreed to undertake a new long-range mission to help the survivors of Hitler's Germany get back on their feet.

Accepting the assignment from President Truman, Hoover said:

1. There is little prospect that German food production will match internal needs for the next two or three years.

2. His mission will include non-Russian zones of both Germany and Austria and will be directed to "food and its collateral problems."

3. "It is hoped that methods can be devised which will relieve some of the burden on the American taxpayer."

Flies To Europe Next Week

Hoover said the United States is now paying upward of $300,000,000 a year to feed the German people, and it will take probably two or three years before the Germans rally sufficiently from the ruins of war to feed themselves.

The 72-year-old former President said he will fly to Europe the latter part of next week to begin his inspection tour. He will be accompanied by Dr. Dennis Fitzgerald, secretary general of the International Emergency Food Organization.

Hoover emphasized that the invitation to make the survey came from Mr. Truman and not the War Department, and said also:

"There are no political implications of the slightest degree in this mission."

Not To Enter Russian Zone

Hoover said his problems will center on the joint United States-British occupied zones in Germany and Austria and may eventually extend into the French occupation zone. Ultimately, he said, it "might apply to Italy."

He will not go into the Russian zone.

Hoover said he didn't know whether he would go to London, but will have discussions with the British either in England or in Germany.

FUNDS BEING SENT TO EX-GI STUDENTS

Veterans Administration Also Orders Aides To England

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Veterans Administration ordered $175,000 and 25 of its employés to England today to help American exservice men going to school there.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans Administration, said this is part of a program to expand foreign staffs dealing with GI students and veterans' dependent abroad.

Bradley, State Department officials and Eldon L. Bailey, State Department attache handling veterans affairs in London, held a three way transatlantic telephone conference on the situation today.

Oxford Complaints Discussed

J. Glenn Corbitt, Veterans Administration director of insular and foreign relations, said the telephone call dealt with complaints of twenty American student veterans attending Oxford University, who had said they face deportation from England if quick action is not taken to hasten tuition grants and subsistence payments.

One of the Oxford veterans, Allen Reeves, of Cleveland, said he started studying at Oxford a year ago, and received subsistence allowances only for a few months. He said the college had received none of its tuition fees.

Reeves added that if students become charges of the public they will be deported because their visas do not permit them to work in England or to sell personal belongings.

Corbitt said a check, being flown directly to Reeves, left here yesterday.

Corbitt explained that payments for five students at Oxford were suspended October 1, because the Veterans Administration had reason t obelieve they had ceased their studies. Payments to four have been resumed, but the Veterans Administration has no report on the fifth yet.

Tuition payments have been delayed because of improper handling of forms, Corbitt said. Some foreign colleges have failed to indicate the nature of the claims submitted — whether they include board and other expenses—and in some instances have failed even to name the student concerned.

"Obviously such claims cannot be paid outright," Corbitt said.

The Veterans Administration estimates there are more than 600 veterans in foreign schools.

SCHOLARS TO EDIT REICH DOCUMENTS

Washington, Jan. 22 (A. P.).—The Department of State said today that "eminent historical scholars" would edit for publication records and related documents of the German Foreign Office.

Publication of individual documents bearing on Nazi wartime and prewar intrigues has been going on for many months on a small scale. Some of Adolf Hitler's notes on his talks with Benito Mussolini and other Axis figures have been revealed here through the official State Department bulletin.

Some time ago it was announced that the captured German documents would eventually be published and today's State Department statement said simply that the scholars chosen to prepare them for publication "have been granted access to the German archives and will select for publication all documents which are, in their judgment, essential to an understanding of German foreign policy before and during world war II."

The American editor of the volumes is Raymond J. Sontag of the University of California. The British editor is John W. Wheeler-Bennett of Oxford. At a meeting in Berlin in December, they decided that their teams of historians would concentrate first on publication of volumes covering the years 1937-41. The volumes will be published first in the original German.

LEADER DEFENDS PALESTINE JEWS

WOODBURY, Jan. 22. — (AP) Johan Smertenko said in an interview here today that the Hebrew people in Palestine had no choice but to fight "the illegal forces of British imperialism which keep them enslaved and are seeking to enslave and destroy the surviving remnants of the Hebrews of Europe."

Smertenko, vice-chairman of the League for a Free Palestine, came into the news last week with his exclusion from England, an exclusion which he said was based on a British government allegation that he had made "inflammatory" statements about the Palestine situation.

Here today in his Woodbury home, where he has lived several years, Smertenko, former New York and Madison, Wis., newspaperman, attributed much of his trouble to a news conference he had given in London in December and its subsequent handling by the London press, particularly the mail.

That newspaper, said Smertenko, asserted that he was "in touch with Palestine terrorists."

Actually, Smertenko declared, what he had said in the interview was that he was not authorized to speak for any underground leaders and knew "nothing of their specific plans."

CLAIMS DOMINIONS HINTED REBELLION

Dr. Butler Reports 1921 Threat By British Possessions

New York, Jan. 22 (AP) — Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president emeritus of Columbia University, disclosed today what he said were the first details of an historic meeting in the Summer of 1921 at which Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India threatened to withdraw from the British Empire.

Dr. Butler said the meeting took place while empire representatives were in England for an empire conference. The secret parley was at Chequers, the Prime Minister's country residence.

Pledged To Secrecy

Lloyd George, British Prime Minister, pledged those at the meeting to secrecy, Dr. Butler declared. In an address before the Pilgrims of the United States, Dr. Butler said his was the first disclosure of the threatened withdrawals.

Butler said Lloyd George pledged him to secrecy also and told him that the prime minister of Canada, Australia and New Zealand and two representatives from India had said "their countries were prepared to withdraw from the British Empire and to set up independent existence—through revolution is necessary."

Canada, Australia and New Zealand were not willing to remain members of the British Empire," Butler said the Prime Minister told him.

Statute Enacted In 1931

"They desired to be in a position to maintain their devoted loyalty to the Crown and to accept the principles of democracy as worked out by Britain since the Magna Charta, but they were not willing to accept the control of the British Parliament and Foreign Office."

It was not until 1931 that the British Parliament enacted the Statute of Westminster, which set up the British commonwealth of nations, Butler said.

Butler declared Britain and the United States should set up in their zones of Germany a similar commonwealth or federal government. He urged that they "act without delay" lest "other forces" prevent the establishment of a federal system in Germany.

U. S. Extends to Finland 3 Credits of $32,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP).—The Export-Import Bank announced today three credits for the Republic of Finland totaling $32,000,000.

One for $20,000,000, is to enable Finland to buy from this country machinery, equipment and materials needed for recovery of its export production in the lumber, pulp and paper industry.

Repayment of this long-time loan will begin in 1954 and is scheduled to be completed by the end of 1958.

The second credit, a short-term advance of $10,000,000 which is to be repaid before the end of this year, is to permit Finland to continue buying essential foodstuffs from this country during the Winter decline in its foreign exchange.

The third credit, for $2,000,000, is a short-term advance to finance shipment of cotton to Finland.

U. S. Would Help Trade With Germany, Japan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP).—Secretary John W. Snyder said today the Treasury is "trying to work out" ways for business transactions with Germany and Japan to be freed from licensing controls. But he said there is no way even to guess when the general aim of removing controls can be carried out.

Mr. Snyder also told a news conference that assignment of a foreign exchange value for the German mark is "under very definite consideration," but did not amplify.

To Expedite Jap Appraisals

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—The War Department announced tonight that five American industrial engineers and appraisers will leave tomorrow for Japan to expedite the evaluation of Japanese property in connection with the reparations program.

The group will make a month's field study, as requested by General MacArthur, of industrial plants and equipment to be made available as reparations to the eleven-member nations of the Far Eastern Commission.

The group will be headed by Clifford S. Strike, of Hartford, Conn., and New York city. Strike was a member of the economic division of the United States Group Control Council for Germany and later deputy chief for reparations in Germany.

Other members are Horace B. Perry, Boston; Paul B. Coffman, New York; F. C. Mackrell, New York, and George F. T. Burgess, New York.

FIRST OF THE "LITTLE NATIONS" TO BE CONSULTED BY THE DEPUTIES CONCERNING PRELIMINARY GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATY DRAFTS, YUGOSLAVIA HAS ASKED FOR SECTIONS OF CARINTHIA AND STYRIA -- IN SOUTHERN AUSTRIA -- WHERE SHE MAINTAINS LARGE SLAVIC MINORITIES RESIDE. THE AREA INCLUDES AUSTRIA'S EIGHTH AND NINTH LARGEST CITIES -- KLAGENFURT AND VILLACH.

AUSTRIAN OFFICIALS, HEADED BY FOREIGN MINISTER DR. KARL GRUBER, ARRIVED IN LONDON LAST NIGHT TO REPRESENT THEIR COUNTRY BEFORE THE DEPUTIES COUNCIL AND WERE EXPECTED TO OPPOSE THE TERRITORIAL CLAIMS.

DISCUSSIONS OF THE PEACE PROGRAM FOR GERMANY WERE RECESSED UNTIL TOMORROW AFTER ROBERT MURPHY, U.S. REPRESENTATIVE ON THE COUNCIL, SUGGESTED THAT A PEACE STATUTE BE IMPOSED ON GERMANY INSTEAD OF FORCING ANY GERMAN GOVERNMENT TO BEAR THE "ONUS" OF SIGNING A PEACE TREATY.

U.S. SOURCES SAID MURPHY RECALLED THE NAZI ATTACK ON WEIMAR REPUBLIC LEADERS FOR SIGNING THE WORLD WAR I PEACE TREATY AND SUGGESTED THAT A STATUTE WOULD AVOID A SIMILAR STATE OF AFFAIRS IN THE FUTURE.

BRITAIN, FRANCE AND RUSSIA WERE DESCRIBED AS NON-COMMITTAL ON THE MURPHY PROPOSAL, WHICH U.S. SOURCES EMPHASIZED WAS MERELY A SUGGESTION AND NOT A FORMAL PROPOSAL.

POLAND--SLATED SOON TO GIVE HER VIEWS ON THE GERMAN PEACE SETTLEMENT -- WILL ASK THAT THE GERMAN TREATY BE SIGNED IN WARSAW. A POLISH EMBASSY SPOKESMAN SAID POLAND WOULD BASE THIS REQUEST "ON THE FACT THAT THE WAR STARTED IN POLAND AND THE LAST SHOTS WERE FIRED ON POLISH SOIL THREE DAYS AFTER GERMANY'S CAPITULATION."

THE RUSSIANS HAVE NOT YET MADE ANY PROPOSALS FOR THE GERMAN DRAFT BUT AN INDICATION OF THE CONTROVERSIES AHEAD WAS SEEN IN A MOSCOW RADIO BROADCAST CHARGING THAT BRITISH-AMERICAN PLANS FOR A FEDERATION OF GERMAN STATES "ARE DIRECTLY LINKED WITH PLANS FOR THE SOVIET UNION'S ISOLATION."

LONDON, JAN.22-(AP)-THE NATIONAL EXECUTIVE OF THE BRITISH LABOR PAR DECIDED TODAY ON A HANDS OFF ATTITUDE, FOR THE PRESENT AT LEAST, TOWARD WINSTON CHURCHILL'S NEW ALL-PARTY "UNITED EUROPE COMMITTEE" WHICHSEVERAL PROMINENT LABORITES HAVE JOINED.

EARL (BERTRAND) RUSSELL, THE PHILOSOPHER-MATHEMATICIAN, WAS ONE MEMBER WHO MIGHT HAVE FACED PARTY DISCIPLINE IF THE EXECUTIVE HAD DECIDED--AS HAD BEEN RUMORED--ON A PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT DISAPPROVING THE NEW UNOFFICIAL BODY HEADED BY THE OPPOSITION LEADER.

"THE LEADERSHIP DECIDED TO KEEP ITS ATTITUDE TOWARD THE COMMITTEE A PRIVATE MATTER AT THIS TIME," A SPOKESMAN AT PARTY HEADQUARTERS SAID FOLLOWING A MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE.

SPECULATION THAT THE PARTY MIGHT TAKE AN OFFICIAL STAND AGAINST THE COMMITTEE WAS BASED ON THE FACT THAT CHURCHILL, THE NEW GROUP'S CHAIRMAN, PERSONALLY ADVOCATES A FEDERATED "UNITED STATES OF EUROPE" WHICH THE LABOR GOVERNMENT DOES NOT SUPPORT AND WHICH RUSSIA HAS STRONGLY CONDEMNED.

THE ALL-PARTY COMMITTEE, HOWEVER, PROPOSES ONLY TO SUPPORT, IN GENERAL, THE VOLUNTARY FORMATION OF REGIONAL GROUPS OF NATIONS--AND THE SPOKESMAN INDICATED THAT SO LONG AS THIS IS THE CASE IT WILL NOT BE FROWNED ON OFFICIALLY BY THE LABOR PARTY.

NIGHT LEAD DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS
BY JACK SMITH

LONDON, JAN. 22-(AP)-DUE BILLS COVERING THE COST OF DEATH, MISERY AND DESTRUCTION OF EUROPE'S BLOODIEST WAR WERE PRESENTED AGAINST GERMANY AND AUSTRIA TODAY BY THEIR POLISH AND YUGOSLAV NEIGHBORS.

IN NOTES TO THE FOUR-POWER DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL WHICH IS DOING THE SPADEWORK ON GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATIES, YUGOSLAVIA ASKED THAT AUSTRIA BE MADE TO PAY A HEAVY SHARE OF A $11,000,000,000 REPARATIONS BILL AGAINST GERMANY AND AUSTRIA, AND POLAND ASKED PERMANENT TITLE TO 40,000 SQUARE MILES OF FORMER GERMAN TERRITORY EXTENDING TO THE ODER AND NEISSE RIVERS WHICH SHE NOW ADMINISTERS UNDER THE BIG THREE POTSDAM ACCORD.

IN ADDITION POLAND ASKED THAT HER FRONTIER ON THE BALTIC BE PUSHED WESTWARD TO JUST BEYOND SCHWEINEMUNDE, ABOUT 15 MILES WEST OF STETTIN ON THE ODER, AN AREA SHE HAS BEEN ADMINISTERING UNDER AN AGREEMENT BETWEEN HERSELF AND RUSSIA.

FURTHER, A POLISH SPOKESMAN SAID, IT WAS POLAND'S VIEW THAT THE RIVER BEDS OF THE ODER AND NEISSE WERE "ALREADY POLISH," A HINT THAT POLAND IS DETERMINED TO PUSH HER FRONTIERS TO THE WESTERN BANKS.

THE POTSDAM ACCORD, WHICH FORMER U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES HAS DECLARED WAS NOT THE FINAL DETERMINATION OF POLAND'S BORDERS, DEFINED POLAND'S ADMINISTRATIVE TERRITORY AS MERELY RUNNING ALONG THE TWO RIVERS.

THE POLES ALREADY HAVE MOVED SOME 1,700,000 GERMANS FROM THE REGION AND SETTLED 3,500,000 OF THEIR OWN PEOPLE IN THE TERRITORY, A POLISH SPOKESMAN SAID.

1947

HE SAID THE POLISH NOTE CALLED FOR "POLITICAL UNITY" OF GERMANY--AS OPPOSED TO FRENCH, DUTCH AND BELGIAN PROPOSALS FOR A CONFEDERATION OF GERMAN STATES.

THE YUGOSLAV NOTE SAID AUSTRIA ESPECIALLY WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR A "TERRORISTIC" OCCUPATION WHICH COST THE LIVES OF TENS OF THOUSANDS OF YUGOSLAVS AND MUCH DAMAGE, AND THAT AUSTRIA SHOULD PAY HER "PROPER SHARE" OF THE $11,000,000,000 BILL.

AUSTRIA'S SHARE OF THE TOTAL SHOULD BE MUCH LARGER THAN 10 PER CENT WHICH WOULD BE ACCORDING TO PROPORTIONATE POPULATIONS, THE YUGOSLAV NOTE SAID.

BECAUSE OF THEIR GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION, THE MEMORANDUM ADDED, THE AUSTRIANS HAD A GREATER INTEREST THAN THE GERMANS EVEN IN SUBJUGATING YUGOSLAVIA.

PERSONNEL OF THE OCCUPATION ADMINISTRATION WAS LARGELY AUSTRIAN, THE MEMORANDUM CONTINUED, AND AUSTRIAN CAPITAL AND ENTERPRISES FOLLOWED THE ARMIES AND WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR MUCH OF THE LOOTING.

YUGOSLAVIA LISTED HER LOSSES AS FOLLOWS: LOSS OF NATIONAL WEALTH $7,458,206,468; LOSS OF NATIONAL INCOME $3,750,589,661; OCCUPATION COSTS $374,848,492; KILLED 1,236,303; DISABLED 275,385; ARRESTED AND DISPLACED, 765,138.

IN ADDITION, YUGOSLAVIA HAS ASKED A STRIP OF AUSTRIAN CARINTHIA IN THE DRAVA VALLEY.

MEANWHILE, THE DEPUTIES WERE PRESENTED WITH A SECOND SHARPLY-WORDED NOTE FROM BRAZIL DEMANDING A FULLER PARTICIPATION FOR THE SMALLER ALIES IN THE DELIBERATIONS AND IMPLYING STRONG RESENTMENT AGAINS A "BIG POWER PEACE."

LONDON, JAN.22-(AP)-A GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID TODAY BRITAIN'S NOTE TO RUSSIA REAFFIRMING THE VALIDITY OF THE ANGLO-SOVIET FRIENDSHIP PACT" CALLED FOR A REPLY" WHICH SHOULD PRODUCE "A SIMILAR REAFFIRMATION."

THE BRITISH NOTE, HANDED TO THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT IN MOSCOW SATURDAY, FOLLOWED APPEARANCE OF A PRAVDA EDITORIAL IN WHICH FOREIGN SECRETARY BEVIN WAS ACCUSED OF HAVING REPUDIATED THE ANGLO-SOVIET PACT IN HIS CHRISTMAS BROADCAST TO THE BRITISH PEOPLE.

THE GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID PRIME MINISTER STALIN, IN THE COURSE OF AN HOUR'S TALK IN MOSCOW WITH FIELD MARSHAL MONTGOMERY, CHIEF OF THE IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF, PREVIOUSLY HAD "EXPRESSED HIS ANXIETY" ABOUT THE BASIS OF THE TREATY. STALIN, THE SOURCE SAID, HAD STATED IT WAS NO LONGER CLEAR HOW THE PACT FITTED IN WITH BEVIN'S DECLARATION THAT BRITAIN, LINKING HERSELF TO NOBODY, WAS BASING HER FOREIGN POLICY EXCLUSIVELY ON THE UNITED NATIONS.

THEREUPON MONTGOMERY ASSURED THE SOVIET LEADER, THE SOURCE CONTINUED, THAT IN THE BRITISH VIEW IT WAS STILL POSSIBLE TO ACCOMMODATE REGIONAL AND BILATERAL AGREEMENTS AND ALLIANCES WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

BRITISH OFFICIAL CIRCLES WERE "SOMEWHAT SURPRISED," THE SOURCE SAID, WHEN THE STALIN-MONTGOMERY TALK WAS FOLLOWED BY THE PRAVDA ARTICLE. ACCORDINGLY NO TIME WAS LOST IN ASSURING THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT THAT THE 20-YEAR PACT WOULD STILL BE HONORED BY BRITAIN.

THE SOURCE ADDED THAT BRITAIN AWAITED A REPLY FROM RUSSIA WHICH WOULD NOT ONLY EXPRESS SATISFACTION WITH THE CLARIFICATION OF BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE BUT WHICH WOULD ALSO CONTAIN A REAFFIRMATION THAT RUSSIA HERSELF STILL CONSIDERED THE PACT TO BE VALID.

PARIS, JAN 22-(AP)-GEN.CHARLES DE GAULLE TURNED DOWN TODAY A MILITARY MEDAL WHICH THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT PLANNED TO OFFER HIM, BECAUSE, HE SAID, "GOVERNMENTS DO NOT DECORATE THEMSELVES."

IN A LETTER TO RESIGNED INTERIM PRESIDENT LEON BLUM, DE GAULLE SAID HE HAD READ IN THE NEWSPAPERS THAT THE GOVERNMENT PROPOSED TO CONFER THE MEDAL UPON HIM, PRIME MINISTER STALIN, WINSTON CHURCHILL AND POSTHUMOUSLY, PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

HE SAID HE APPROVED GIVING IT TO THE THREE WARTIME LEADERS BUT "THE ACTS THAT I ACCOMPLISHED BETWEEN JUNE 18, 1940, AND JAN.22, 1946, WERE DONE AT A TIME WHEN, AS YOU KNOW, BY CIRCUMSTANCES I EXERCISED THE FUNCTION OF CHIEF OF STATE AND CHIEF OF GOVERNMENT.

"IT IS CLEARLY UNBELIEVABLE THAT THE STATE OR GOVERNMENT COULD DECORATE THEMSELVES IN THE PERSON OF THOSE WHO PERSONIFIED THEM X X X . LET ME ADD THAT, FOR A MAN WHO CHARGED HIMSELF TO LEAD FRANCE AND THE FRENCH UNION FROM DISASTER AND SERVITUDE TOWARD VICTORY AND LIBERTY, THERE IS NO OTHER ACCEPTABLE RECOMPENSE THAN TO HAVE SUCCEEDED."

Berlin, Jan. 22--(ap)--Kurt Schumacher, British zone leader of the Social Democratic Party, declared tonight that the four-power foreign ministers' council "must not only establish peace with Germany at its Moscow meeting but also reform Europe from the very bottom."

Addressing a meeting of Social Democratic Party functionaries in Berlin, Schumacher said:

"The Allies and those countries who feel themselves as Allies carry a responsibility as to whether there will be a Germany, but most of all a new Europe."

SOCIALIST LEADER PIETRO NENNI, WHO HAD SUBMITTED HIS RESIGNATION AS FOREIGN MINISTER BEFORE DE GASPERI SCUTTLED HIS GOVERNMENT, SUBMITTED A STRONG PROTEST MONDAY TO THE FOUR POWERS AGAINST THE ITALIAN TREATY.

DE GASPERI POINTED OUT AT A PRESS CONFERENCE UPON HIS RETURN FROM THE UNITED STATES THAT HIS JOURNEY "HAD NOT COMPROMISED THE FULL LIBERTY OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY INSOFAR AS THE TREATY IS 1947 CONCERNED."

IT IS BELIEVED, HOWEVER, THAT THE OUTGOING PREMIER, IF ASKED TO FORM THE NEW GOVERNMENT, WILL AIM AT ONE WHICH WILL SIGN THE TREATY.

DE GASPERI'S ASSOCIATE SAID THAT ONLY THE COMMUNISTS AS A PARTY HAVE AGREED TO THE TREATY. ALL OTHERS STAND AGAINST IT, BUT HAVE NOT TAKEN NEW STOCK SINCE DE GASPERI'S RETURN FROM AMERICA.

THIS, HIS CONFIDANTE SAID, IS A PRIME FACTOR FOR KEEPING THE COMMUNISTS IN THE GOVERNMENT.

IT HAS BEEN RUMORED THAT DE GASPERI, BOLSTERED BY THE PRESTIGE OF HIS SUCCESSFUL AMERICAN VISIT, MIGHT TRY TO SHOVE THE LEFTIST ELEMENTS OUT OF HIS GOVERNMENT AND RULE WITH A MORE TRACTABLE CENTER-TO-RIGHT OR PURELY CENTRIST GOVERNMENT.

MOSCOW, JAN. 22-(AP)-PREPARATIONS ARE WELL ADVANCED FOR RECEIVING A LARGE GATHERING OF FOREIGN DIPLOMATS AND REPORTERS EARLY IN MARCH FOR THE CONFERENCE OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS OF BRITAIN, FRANCE, THE UNITED STATES AND THE SOVIET UNION ON GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

IT WILL BE THE SECOND MEETING IN MOSCOW OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS, THE FIRST--LIMITED TO BRITAIN, AMERICA AND RUSSIA--HAVING BEEN HELD IN DECEMBER OF 1945. THE MARCH MEETING IS EXPECTED TO ATTRACT A MUCH LARGER REPRESENTATION OF FOREIGN DIPLOMATS AND REPORTERS.

THE UNITED STATES, BRITISH AND FRENCH DELEGATIONS WILL INCLUDE SIZEABLE STAFFS OF EXPERTS, TECHNICIANS, SECRETARIES, ADVISORS AND GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

FROM THE STANDPOINT OF THE PUBLIC AND THE PRESS, THE MEETING IS EXPECTED TO BE ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT NEWS EVENTS OF THE POSTWAR PERIOD, DEALING AS IT WILL WITH THE COMPLEX QUESTION OF DRAFTING THE PEACE TREATIES FOR GERMANY AND AUSTRIA AND SETTING UP AUSTRIA AS A NATION ONCE AGAIN.

IN KEEPING WITH RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV'S PLEDGE IN NEW YORK, IT CAN BE SAID THAT CORRESPONDENTS WILL BE ABLE TO REPORT FROM MOSCOW JUST AS THEY HAVE FROM RECENT CONFERENCES IN PARIS AND NEW YORK AND NEWS STORIES CONCERNING THE CONFERENCE WILL NOT BE CENSORED.

1947

SOVIET AUTHORITIES, IT IS BELIEVED, HAVE MADE NO FINAL DECISION AS TO HOW MANY CORRESPONDENTS WILL BE ADMITTED FROM THE OUTSIDE TO COVER THE CONFERENCE.

THIS IS DUE IN PART TO THE FACT THAT THEY HAVE NOT YET BEEN INFORMED FULLY ABOUT HOW MANY DESIRE TO COME. MANY WHO WISH TO ATTEND APPARENTLY HAVE NOT YET APPLIED FOR VIASAS AT SOVIET CONSULATES ABROAD.

A FURTHER COMPLICATING FACTOR IS THE LACK OF FULL INFORMATION ON THE SIZE OF THE INCOMING GOVERNMENT DELEGATIONS, WHICH WILL HAVE PRIORITY ON MOSCOW'S LIMITED HOUSING FACILITIES.

AUTHORITIES CURRENTLY ARE DEVOTING MUCH ATTENTION TO THE PROBLEM OF PROVIDING ADEQUATE FACILITIES FOR THE ENLARGED FOREIGN PRESS CORPS.

IT IS BELIEVED THAT FOREIGN REPORTERS WILL BE ACCOMMODATED IN THE LARGEST, NEWEST AND BEST HOTEL IN MOSCOW, THE MOSKVA. SPECIAL PROVISION WILL BE MADE TO ASSURE THEM TELEPHONE AND TAXI SERVICES.

THE GOVERNMENT POSTOFFICE, WHICH WILL HANDLE ALL DISPATCHES DURING THE CONFERENCE, LIKEWISE IS THINKING AHEAD AND PLANNING EXTRA SERVICE AND ADDITIONAL EMPLOYES.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 22-(AP)-GEORGE C.MARSHALL SHOULD KNOW BETTER THAN ANY OTHER AMERICAN SECRETARY OF STATE JUST WHAT MILITARY STRENGTH HE CAN COUNT UPON TO BACK UP THIS COUNTRY'S FOREIGN POLICY.
MARSHALL AS ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF ALSO SERVED ON THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF FOR FOUR YEARS.
THERE HE WAS IN A POSITION TO LEARN INTIMATELY THE STATUS NOT ONLY OF THE ARMY AND THE ARMY AIR FORCE BUT THE NAVY AS WELL.
THERE TOO, HE HELPED DRAFT SOME OF THE BLUEPRINTS FOR THE MILITARY AND NAVAL ESTABLISHMENTS IN THIS CURRENT INTERIM PERIOD BETWEEN THE CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES AND THAT FUTURE DAY WHEN THE ARMED FORCES WILL REVERT TO THEIR STILL UNDEFINED PEACETIME STRENGTH.
THE WEIGHT OF MILITARY FORCE IN INTERNATIONAL DISCUSSIONS HAS BEEN RECOGNIZED IN UNUSUALLY FRANK UTTERANCES DURING RECENT MONTHS.
SECRETARY OF THE NAVY FORRESTAL STATED THAT THE FUNCTION OF THE FLEET IS TO SUPPORT OCCUPATION FORCES AND TO IMPLEMENT--THAT IS, CARRY OUT--FOREIGN POLICY.
AND A RECENT WAR DEPARTMENT PAMPHLET ON THE NEED FOR UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING ASSERTED: "WHETHER WE LIKE IT OR NOT--AND MOST PEOPLE DO NOT LIKE IT--WE MUST FACE THE FACT THAT MILITARY POWER IS STILL THE MOST POWERFUL ARGUMENT AT THE PEACE TABLE."
THE NEXT PEACE TABLE IS SET FOR MOSCOW IN MARCH.
THE MILITARY PICTURE OF THE UNITED STATES NOW AND IN THE MONTHS JUST AHEAD IS SOMETHING LIKE THIS:
THIS COUNTRY HAS THE ATOM BOMB. THE ASUMPTION IS THAT IT IS THE ONLY COUNTRY THAT HAS IT NOW.
WHILE THE UNITED STATES MAY LAG BEHIND SOME OTHER POWERS IN THE NUMBER OF GROUND TROOPS, IT IS FAR AND AWAY SUPERIOR AT SEA AND IN THE AIR.
THE ARMY HAS ABOUT 1,250,000 MEN NOW. IT WILL HAVE 1,070,000 BY JULY. BUT ITS READY-FOR-COMBAT STRENGTH IS EVEN LESS THAN ITS STRENGTH IN SOLDIERS.
BY EARLY SUMMER THE ARMY'S COMBAT FORCE IN EUROPE WILL CONSIST OF ONLY ONE DIVISION, TWO REGIMENTAL COMBAT TEAMS, TEN CONSTABULARY REGIMENTS AND ELEVEN AIR GROUPS.
IT MAY BE ASSUMED THIS GROUND FORCE IS HEAVILY OUTBALANCED BY SOME OTHER POWERS. PUBLISHED ESTIMATES OF RUSSIAN TROOP STRENGTH, FOR INSTANCE, RANGE FAR ABOVE THE AMERICAN FIGURE.
AT THE OTHER SIDE OF THE WORLD THE AMERICAN POSITION WILL BE BETTER. THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION FORCE WILL CONSIST OF SIX DIVISIONS AND SIX AIR GROUPS. VIRTUALLY ALL ARMY COMBAT TROOPS ARE GONE FROM THE ASIATIC MAINLAND ALTHOUGH SOME MARINE FORCES ARE IN CHINA.
IN THE PACIFIC, OUTSIDE JAPAN, THERE WILL BE ONE AND TWO-THIRDS DIVISIONS AND 16 AIR GROUPS. IN ALASKA LESS THAN 2,000 MEN COMPRISING TWO BATTALIONS WILL MAKE UP THE GROUND GARRISON. THE DEFENSE IN THE SKIES WILL REST UPON TWO AIR GROUPS.

THE NAVY PICTURE IS SOMEWHAT THE SAME. THE JULY FIGURE WILL BE ABOUT 473,000 MEN, ONLY A LITTLE LESS THAN THE 491,633 THE NAVY HAD LAST DECEMBER 31.
THE SIZE OF THE NAVY'S FLEET AND AIR ARM FOR NEXT SUMMER HAS NOT BEEN DISCLOSED, BUT THE LATEST STATEMENT SHOWED 319 COMBATANT SHIPS IN THE FLEET AT YEAR'S END, WITH 165 IN THE PACIFIC AND 154 IN THE ATLANTIC. THE NAVAL AIR ARM AT THAT TIME CONSISTED OF 8,010 OPERATING AIRCRAFT, OF WHICH 1,461 WERE FIRST LINE COMBATANT AIRPLANES.
THE ARMY AIR FORCE IS MOVING DOWNWARD TO A STRENGTH OF 70 GROUPS OF PLANES (PERHAPS 6,000 AIRCRAFT OF ALL TYPES) AND 400,000 MEN. THE AAF HAS AT HAND ABOUT 3,000 LONG RANGE, HEAVY LOAD BOMBERS, A TYPE SUITABLE FOR WAGING WAR AT A DISTANCE.
THE MATTER OF OVERSEAS BASES IS TANGLED IN INTERNATIONAL NEGOTIATIONS AND MILITARY SECURITY. PRIMARY INTEREST IS TO THE NORTH FOR DEFENSE AGAINST AIR ATTACK.
RUSSIA'S RECENTLY DISCLOSED EFFORT TO PROCURE MILITARY BASE CONCESSIONS IN SPITZBERGEN HAS QUICKENED INTEREST IN THIS DIRECTION. BUT ATTENTION ALSO IS BEING PAID TO THE EASTERN AND SOUTHEASTERN APPROACHES, ACROSS THE ATLANTIC AND CARIBBEAN, AND IN THE PACIFIC.
THE NAVY HAD, AT THE YEAR'S END, A DOZEN OVERSEAS BASES, SOME OF THEM OLD ESTABLISHMENTS SUCH AS PEARL HARBOR, OTHERS NEWER ONES IN ONETIME JAPANESE TERRITORY.
THE ARMY'S INTEREST IN EUROPEAN BASES WILL ENDURE ONLY SO LONG AS OCCUPATION REQUIRES. ITS FUTURE INTEREST IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC HAS NOT BEEN DEFINED PRECISELY.

Small Nations Fought By Reds on Treaty Role

Jack Smith

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—Russia today opposed new demands of smaller nations for a full share in treaty-making, with the declaration that the major powers "paid in blood" for the right to draft the peace treaties with Germany and Austria.

NIGHT

An American informant said that Feodor T. Gousev, the Soviet delegate at the four-Power deputy Foreign Ministers' Council, asserted the Russian view during a sharp exchange with Colonel W. R. Hodgson, of Australia, who demanded full participation by all active belligerents in the deputies' deliberations.

WIDER CONTROL URGED

American and Australian sources said Hodgson also asked that the Council of Foreign Ministers enlarge the Potsdam agreement at their Moscow meeting in March to give the smaller powers an "active part" in control of Germany. The proposal, which Hodgson did not elaborate in detail, brought no immediate big-power comment.

The small nations have been invited to present their views to the deputies, who are making recommendations to be submitted to their chieftains for the Moscow meeting. There is no specific provision in instructions to the deputies to give the smaller countries an equal share in the deliberations.

Gusev said major decisions were left to the big powers during the war—a procedure he described as "necessary to achieve victory." The same procedure was essential in establishing peace, he said.

Called Interim Arrangement

Hodgson did not say exactly what role he felt smaller nations should play in Germany under a revised plan, which he said should serve as an "interim arrangement" pending final peace.

The "interim agreement," he said, "should have what Potsdam lacked—the authority and will behind it to see that it was enforced by all effective belligerents."

Australian and British sources said that Britain and the United States supported Australia's request. American sources, however, did not report complete United States support.

Brazil And Others Concur

Backing up his demand, in which Brazil, Canada and South Africa have concurred, Hodgson told the deputies that Australia mustered 700,000 effective military personnel in the war, or seventeen per cent of her population between the ages of 18 and 45. He said this percentage was higher than that of any other belligerent.

In proposing an interim arrangement, Hodgson said, "premature peace would produce instability and disunity, as already is seen in Italy, where the Government has fallen largely because of peace-treaty decisions."

The Australian said the interim plan should contain a clear-cut statement of the Allies' "ultimate aims" in Germany.

Hapsburg Ban Slated

The Deputy Foreign Ministers Council has agreed to write into the Austrian peace treaty a permanent veto on any future claim of the Hapsburg dynasty to the non-existent Austrian throne, an American informant said.

The informant said the ban had not been discussed in detail, but it would apply presumably to any aspirant to the crown.

The present pretender to the Austrian throne is Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, eldest son of Charles I. Both he and his brother, Robert, have been attacked by the Soviet press as seeking to establish a "southeastern European bloc" in Austria.

Last February the Allied Control Council in Vienna refused permission for several groups of monarchists to organize in Austria. Among them was the "monarchist party," headed by Robert.

Hoped For Leadership

In the latter stages of the war Otto went to Lisbon from the United States and associates said he had hopes of going on to Austria "in a position of leadership." In November, 1945, he visited Innsbruck in the French zone in secret to discuss the monarchist movement, but left for his home in Paris before the Austrian Government could formally protest his return to Austrian soil.

He claims the throne of Hungary as well. Hungarian royalists who attended a mass in Budapest on his birthday last year shouted "Long Live Otto." The Hapsburg dynasty ruled for more than six centuries, until the abdication of the Emperor Charles in November, 1918.

Greece Presents Demands

The Greek Government made known its demands upon Germany in a note which called for reparations from German production, including 500,000 tons of coal annually.

It asked that the treaty return to Greece her vital prewar tobacco market in the Reich by assurances that Germany would buy one third of her tobacco needs from Greece for the next twenty years.

Greeks Demand 'High Level' Of Reparations

Robert Hewett

London, Jan. 23 (AP)—Greece sought today to exact "the highest possible level" of reparations payments from Germany for the ruin wrought by the Nazis in the war.

A Greek note was presented to the deputies of the four-power Foreign Ministers Council drafting the German and Austrian treaties. It asked payment "in the shortest possible time" of reparations from current German production, including 500,000 tons of coal annually, and also sought restoration of Greece's prewar tobacco market in Germany.

The Greek claims were added to those of other victims of Nazi aggression as the deputies faced a showdown on Soviet opposition to an Australian demand for full participation by the smaller nations in drafting the two treaties.

Most Detailed Yet

The Greek memorandum was the most detailed yet presented. It called for revision of the Paris reparations agreement of January, 1946, under which the Allies allotted Greece 4.35 per cent of all German reparations payments, and said reductions in the payments to other nations "should, to the largest possible extent, go to increasing our share."

The note said Greek demands would receive added support if other Allied nations received territorial awards in addition to reparations as fixed in Paris.

"If the Saar goes to France, it would be inequitable that France should keep the full share allotted to her under the agreement," it said.

Yugoslav Share

The note added that the Paris agreement gave Yugoslavia 9.6 per cent of German reparations, more than twice the Greek share, and demanded at least an equal portion.

Greece asked for German property in Italy and Austria as part payment, a share of seized German war material, "including 30,000 head of livestock, preferably horses," and $32,000,000 for the cost of clearing Nazi mines from Greek waters. The note also called for compensation for ancient Greek archaeological and artistic treasures destroyed during the occupation.

Australian Stand

Australia has demanded full representation at all sessions of the deputies council and has expressed resentment toward any efforts for a "big power peace" for the defeated powers.

There were even hints from Australian and British sources today that the Australian representative, Col. W. R. Hodgson, might refuse, temporarily at least, the invitation to present his country's peace views unless assured of an equal voice with the Big Four in treaty deliberations.

No Decision In Debate

Australia has been backed by Brazil, Canada and other "small nations" in the demand for representation — sharply opposed by Deputy Foreign Minister Feodor T. Gousev of Russia. The issue was debated without decision during the first week of the deputies' session, with the United States, France and Britain all expressing willingness to let the smaller nations in on all discussions.

30.24-7509

Brazil filed a second note with the deputies yesterday, which authoritative American sources said demanded a fuller share in drafting peace plans. These informants said that Canada might also threaten a boycott of the Deputies Council unless given a better opportunity to be heard.

Eighteen nations have been invited to present their views to the deputies, but Gousev has contended they should bow out right after making their statements. The deputies are making preliminary drafts for peace treaties for use of the Big Four Foreign Ministers, who meet in Moscow in March.

Britain Can't Repay Loan, Woolton Says

Amery Hits Elimination of Empire Preference

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—Lord Woolton, a Conservative, said today that Great Britain has "no chance" of repaying the $3,750,000,000 American loan.

This statement by the war-time Minister of Food followed an equally gloomy economic prediction by Woolton's former Cabinet colleague, L. S. Amery. Britain, Amery said, could not pay her way in a "world of open, cutthroat price competition" after the elimination of the empire trade preference system—a condition of the loan.

Now president of the Empire Industries Association, Amery told an annual meeting of that group that the loan's condition that Britain abolish the practice of trading preferentially with her dominions and colonies was "humiliating." Any attempt to fulfill this condition "would make repayment of the loan itself impossible," he said.

"American manufacturers want to find an immediate outside market for the immense surplus of their mass production," Amery said. "They want to find jobs for 60,000,000 Americans by trebling their exports. For that purpose they want to keep the rest of the world broken up into small economic compartments, prevented by low tarrifs from competing with America even in their own markets, and still less capable of competing with America in neutral markets."

(The United States Bureau of Labor Statistics has forecast that America's working force will total 62,000,000 by 1950. The war-time peak was 59,000,000.)

Bevin Policy Seen Periled By Laborites

London, Jan. 23 (AP)—Lord Rosebery, president of the Right-wing Liberal Nationals, said today that Ernest Bevin, Britain's Laborite Foreign Secretary, either would be "broken by the growing rebellion in the ranks behind him" or would be "sustained by the support of the parliamentary opposition while the unity of the Socialist majority disintegrates."

"The general election story that the setting up of a Labor Government would lead to more harmonious relations with the Soviet Union today has a ring of sardonic mockery," Lord Roseberry said in a speech before the Constitutional Club, of London. His party has thirteen House of Commons seats and an informal alliance with the Conservatives.

"There is a serious and growing schism between those who put some limits to their doctrinaire beliefs in foreign policy and those whose main ambition apparently is to see the Foreign Office set up as the London branch of the world," he declared.

U.S. Trade Demand On Britain Hit

London, Jan. 23 (AP)—L. S. Amery declared today that submission to United States demand for elimination of empire preference in commerce would mean abandonment of protection for British domestic industries and agriculture and unlimited competition in the home market.

Amery was a Conservative member of Winston Churchill's wartime Government.

Now president of the Empire Industries Association, he told the group at its annual meeting that Britons were "living in a world of sheer delusion if we think that there is a ghost of a chance of our paying our way in a world of open cutthroat price competition.

Seeks Exports Trebled

"American manufacturers want to find an immediate outside market for the immense surplus of their mass production," he said. "They want to find jobs for 60,000,000 Americans by trebling their exports. For that purpose they want to keep the rest of the world broken up into small economic compartments, prevented by low tariffs from competing with America even in their own markets and still less capable of competing with America in neutral markets."

[The United States Bureau of Labor Statistics has forecast that the nation's working force will total 62,000,000 by 1950. The wartime peak was 59,000,000.]

Amery said that "if we submit to their humiliating demand for the elimination of all empire preference that will be the end of a position in which the empire takes four times as high a proportion of its manufactures from us [Britain] as compared with foreign countries."

75 P.C. Export Increase

Amery said Britain was told by the Labor Government that it "could only keep alive if we could increase our exports by 75 per cent in volume over the 1938 figure, but there is no prospect of any material increase in our exports of foodstuffs and raw materials."

"We must get rid of the most-favored-nation clause," he said, "at any rate in its co-called unconditional form, and be free to make bargains on fair give-and-take terms with individual foreign countries that wish to trade with us."

Amery said the association should warn both Britons and Americans that while the $3,750,000,000 United States loan "itself was a perfectly reasonable business proposition, the irrelevant conditions with which it was coupled could never be fulfilled and that any attempt to fulfill them would make repayment of the loan itself impossible."

EXCHANGE MAY TIGHTEN RULES

London, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—H. A. Marquand, parliamentary secretary for overseas trade, told the American Chamber of Commerce in London today that the United States, to protect her own interests, must increase imports of British-made goods.

If some part of the immense increase in the American national income were devoted to the purchase of British goods, he declared in a luncheon address, "Britain would be greatly helped in her endeavor to repay her debts and maintain imports of American farm products."

Expounding the Socialist Government's views on world trade, Marquand said "Britain faces the future determined to maintain full employment—that is to say a full and ever expandig demand for goods and a steady rise in the standard of living."

"In a country heavily dependent on foreign trade," he declared, "that means a steadily expanding demand for imports and the need for steadily expanding exports to pay for them.

"If every country in the world would pursue a policy of maintaining high and stable levels of demand, and thus of employment at home, coupled with the elimination of sub-standard conditions of labor, then the total demand for the goods and services exchanged in world trade would achieve a far higher level than ever before."

FRESH MEATS ALLOWANCE IS CUT IN BRITAIN

Beer Ration Also Slashed and Warning Is Given on Bread and Bacon.

CORNED BEEF MADE FREER

London, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—Britons learned today that they are to get less fresh meat and less beer and that cuts in their bread and bacon rations may be necessary soon. This bad news came to millions who are now eating poorer fare than they ate during the worst of the war years.

It brought a scarching attack on the Laborite government Lord Woolton, the wartime Food Minister, declaring in Parliament: "It's high time the people had a break in this debilitating austerity."

The present Food Minister, John Strachey, announced that the fresh meat ration was cut because of a drop in home production of beef and mutton, but added that extra supplies of corned beef would go on sale to keep the weekly ration at 1 shilling and 4 pence (about 28 cents) worth of meat. Under the present ration Britons must use at least twopence (about 4 cents) worth of corned beef. Beginning February 2 they will have to double that, thus cutting the fresh meat ration to a shilling.

Bread Cut Is Likely.

The output of beer, already so scarce that some pubs close early each night because their supplies have run out, will be cut by from 25 to 50 per cent immediately because of the coal shortage, the brewers announced. The Government ordered a 50 per cent cut in coal allocations this week to non-priority industries, and brewers are among those forced to curtail.

The possibility of cuts in bread and bacon rations was announced in the House of Lords by Lord Henderson, Government spokesman, who said that "acute shortages in the world supply of major foodstuffs would persist through the crop year of 1946-47," and that a cut in the present bread ration—ranging from five ounces for children to fifteen ounces for manual workers—may prove "inescapable" because British stocks of wheat have fallen "uncomfortably low" due to transport and coal strikes in the United States. Difficulty was looked for in maintaining the present bacon ration of two ounces per person per week, he added.

OLYMPIC BAN FOR JAP AND GERMAN

London, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—The organizing committee for the fourteenth Olympics closed the door to Germany and Japan today with an announcement that the two countries "would not be invited to compete."

Invitations for the Olympics, scheduled for London from July 29 to August 14, 1948, will be mailed soon. Other former enemy countries, including Italy, are expected to be invited.

The decision to bar Japan and Germany was disclosed in a fifteen-page report on the games by the British organizing committee, headed by Viscount Portal and Lord Burghley. Germany was host to the last pre-war games, in 1936, and Japan was to have been host to the games in 1940. Those games were not held because of the war.

Wants Coal Without Dollar Drain

London, Jan. 23 (A. P.)—J. Eaton Griffith, chairman of the twelve-nation European coal organization, said today he hoped "some arrangement will shortly be made" to ease the drain on Europe's slender dollar resources of paying $400,000,000 a year for American coal.

"My personal reaction is to ask, just what is the function of the International Bank set up under the Bretton Woods agreement?" Griffith said at a press conference.

Speaking as chairman of the voluntary group which co-ordinates coal production and allocations over much of the area from Britain to Turkey, however, he said he knew of no specific steps planned to ease the dollar burden.

U.N. Group Urges White Slave Curb

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 23 (AP)—The United Nations Social Commission decided today to recommend to the Economic and Social Council that functions formerly exercised by the League of Nations for the suppression of traffic in women and children be transferred to the United Nations.

The Council will meet next month and is expected to act on the recommendation at that time. Should the United Nations take over the League's activities, it undoubtedly would go deep into the problem of white slavery created in central European countries by Hitler's armies.

FRANCE FACES CABINET VOTE

Test On Confidence Question Expected Next Week

Paris, Jan. 23 (AP)—Paul Ramadier's new coalition government will be tested early next week by what amounts to the posing of a question of confidence, parliamentary whips reported today.

Deputy Rene Capitant, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's former Education Minister who tried to form a new party to split Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's Popular Republican Movement (MRP), filed a motion calling for a debate on the composition of Ramadier's Cabinet, the informants said. Parliament meets Tuesday.

Ramadier will ask that the motion be rejected, it was said, and the Assembly's vote will constitute a question of confidence. Ramadier already has received a vote of confidence on the policies he outlined to the Assembly, but that was before he had announced the names of his new ministers.

Leftists Hold 15 Posts

Communists and Socialists hold 14 of the 26 posts in the new Cabinet.

Yesterday the newspaper Etoile du Soir, which is pro-de Gaulle, made a violent attack on Bidault, declaring his return to the Foreign Ministry meant an abrupt rupture in the tentative steps toward an alliance with Britain that were taken by Leon Blum. The paper charged that Bidault's chief secretary was "an inscribed member of the Communist party" with access to all state papers and "the fact is that no foreign diplomat in Paris dares discuss matters openly with our Foreign Affairs Minister."

Bidault's policy of keeping aloof from any Anglo-Saxon or Russian bloc had only served to isolate France, the paper declared.

Free Hand Is Seen For Bidault

Paris, Jan. 23 (AP)—Georges Bidault, back in his old post of Foreign Minister, was reported today to have been promised virtually a free hand at the Moscow conference in a deal which brought his Popular Republican Movement (MRP) into the new French Cabinet.

Premier Paul Ramadier, Socialist, formed the six-party Cabinet last night after five days of negotiation toward a permanent setup to replace the all-Socialist 30-day interim government of Leon Blum.

This step completed France's political reconstruction under the constitution for the Fourth Republic, approved by voters last October, and gave the country a full constitutional setup — executive, parliamentary and judicial—for the first time in seven years.

Makeup of Cabinet

The Cabinet is made up of nine Socialists, five Communists, five members of the MRP, five members of the Leftist Rally (the Radical Socialists and the Democratic and Socialist Union of Resistance) and two Independent Republicans.

Bidault will speak for France at the Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting in Moscow, scheduled for March 10. Political circles said he had a promise that he could act in the drafting of treaties with Germany and Austria without constantly calling Paris for instructions.

They said he had extracted this promise in return for persuading his party to enter a coalition Cabinet including Communists in high positions. Last night the MRP's Parliamentary group voted a resolution calling upon party leaders to quit the Cabinet "if the Government's policy does not conform to that outlined by the Premier."

2 Vichy Aides Charged With Treason In Paris

Paris, Jan. 23 (AP)—The commission investigating charges of collaboration against former members of the Vichy regime today returned indictments against Jacques Benoist-Mechin, former Secretary of State for the Vice Premier, and Jules Brevie, Under Secretary of State in the Colonial Ministry.

Both men were accused of intelligence with the enemy, the French equivalent of treason.

American Delegation Arrives in France

Cherbourg, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—The American delegation on the United Nations commission to investigate the Balkans, headed by Mark F. Ethridge, arrived today on the liner America. They will board a French cruiser Saturday for Greece.

U. S. Will Ask Russia to Speed Captives Return

Request for Repatriation of 3,000,000 Germans To Be Made at Moscow

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (AP).—A high American Military Government official said today that for economic and humanitarian reasons the United States will ask Russia to speed the return of an estimated 3,000,000 German prisoners of war still held in the Soviet Union.

The request will be presented at the Foreign Ministers' Council meeting at Moscow in March, he said. That course of action was reported decided upon when the Russians refused to discuss in the Allied Control Council for Germany the exact number of German prisoners [illegible].

Germany needs its younger men to work for economic recovery, the American official said. He declared that the humanitarian grounds "are well known, and we Americans, as the first to free the prisoners, are the logical ones to present the argument."

"Although the letter of the Geneva Convention permits the retention of war prisoners until a peace treaty is signed, many people regard their continued confinement as slave labor," he said.

France has about 600,000 German war prisoners, next in number to the Russians. The United States already has asked France to try to repatriate them by Oct. 1.

The Americans have released all but 59,000 of almost 8,000,000 prisoners taken by them. All are expected to be released by July 1 or sooner.

The British hold about 400,000 Germans. They are being returned at a rate of 15,000 a month. Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxemburg have agreed to an American plan for repatriation of the 54,000 Germans they still hold.

Americans estimate that the Russians captured about 4,000,000 Germans. They have released 800,000 and 200,000 are estimated to have been lost through deaths, escapes or miscellaneous causes.

The number held by Poland and Yugoslavia is not known here.

U. S. PLANS P. W. PLEA

Berlin, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—The Americans will ask the Russians at the Foreign Ministers meeting in Moscow in March to speed the return of German prisoners of war, estimated at 3,000,00, still held in the Soviet Union, an American Military Government official said today.

The Americans, who bagged nearly 8,000,000 Germans, have released all but 59,000 still held in Europe. All these are expected to be released by July 1. Britain, according to AMG figures, still holds about 400,000 Germans. She is returning some 15,000 monthly.

U. S. Studying French Answer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP).—The State Department said today it is studying France's recent answer to an American request for speed in repatriating 620,000 German war prisoners still held by the French.

"We do not regard the answer as a rejection," Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, told a news conference in response to questions. He declined to elaborate, or to say when the text of the French reply would be made available.

The French reply was understood to have suggested specific steps that could be taken to carry out the objective.

SOVIET AUTHORITY WARNS GERMANS

Berlin, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—The Soviet Military Administration's official newspaper Tagliche Rundschau sternly warned the Germans today, under threat of quick punishment, to refrain from "provocations" against the occupying Powers and "hate propaganda against neighboring countries."

Rundschau said that sentences recently passed by Military Government courts upon subversive elements "should convince unwise elements that the occupying authorities are not asleep and that their democratic and humane methods do not betoken weakness."

Simultaneously, the Soviet-licensed Berliner Zeitung charged that certain German elements were joining in "a hate campaign against the democratic government of Poland" inspired from abroad, and accused the Social Democratic press here of participating in it by printing what it called unfavorable reports about Sunday's Polish elections and the sufferings of Germans expelled by the Poles from former German territories east of the Oder.

Allies Reach Pact On Reich Trade

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (AP).—An American-British announcement said today that the American-British zones of occupied Germany had concluded a trade agreement with the French zone for exchange of $6,600,000 in goods and materials during the first quarter of 1947.

An American-British trade agreement with the Russian zone for a $21,000,000 exchange of goods was announced last weekend.

Nazis Asked To Bomb Jerusalem, Army Told

Nuernberg, Germany, Jan. 23 (AP). A document brought here for possible use in war-crimes trials contains a purported record of a 1943 request by the Moslem Mufti of Jerusalem to the German air force to bomb Jerusalem. The document says Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering rejected the idea as dangerous from a propaganda viewpoint.

[In Cairo the exiled Mufti, Haj Amin el Husseini, described the report as "slander and completely without foundation," and suggested that the document was forged. He said he believed "Zionist propaganda" was involved.]

The document, in the hands of United States prosecution staffs, says the Luftwaffe contemplated for a time some air attacks on Palestine, particularly around November 2, 1943, when the World Zionist meeting was held in Jerusalem.

German Advice

The document said:

"As an act of demonstration incidental to the Zionist Congress, an attack on one of the military objects of the coast might also be contemplated.

"An attack on the building in which the congress will meet cannot enter into the question, as the place where the gathering will be held is not known. An attack for the sake of demonstration could perhaps be considered for the Jewish Agency, the office building of the highest Zionist administrative body. . . .

Suggested By Mufti

"Repeatedly the Grand Mufti suggested bomb attacks against Tel Aviv and Jerusalem, in order to hit Palestine Jews, and through such attacks to impress the Arab world as a means of propaganda.

"Up to this time we never followed such suggestions. The decision on the proposed attack against Tel Aviv has been referred to the Reichsmarshal and on 17 July (1943) he rejected such a proposition."

221 Nazis Doomed To Die So Far

Dachau, Jan. 23 (AP)—The sentencing of fifteen Flossenburg concentration camp operators to hang has brought to 221 the number of Germans given death sentences by American war-crimes courts, trial officials said today.

Of the 40 convicted of participation in Nazi cruelties at the Flossenburg camp, where more than 25,000 prisoners died of starvation and abuse, eleven ware sentenced to life imprisonment and fourteen others to prison terms ranging from 1 to 30 years. More Flossenburg camp operators are scheduled for trial soon.

660 Of 755 Convicted

A total of 755 Germans have now been tried by American war-crimes courts. Of these, 660 have been convicted, with 221 sentenced to die and 439 given prison terms. Only 95 were acquitted.

The list of convicted war criminals includes operators of the Dachau and Mauthausen concentration camps and 73 SS men found guilty of the Malmedy massacre of captured American soldiers. Many were convicted of murdering Allied airmen shot down in Germany.

Army Officers Returning

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 23 (AP).—The U. S. Army announced today it had too many high officers in the European theater and was sending 125 colonels and lieutenant-colonels home two months ahead of schedule.

Grenade Hits British Office

EMDEN, Germany, Jan. 23 (AP)—A hand grenade was thrown at the British military government's building here last night. No one was injured.

De Gasperi Says He's 'Optimistic'

Rome, Jan. 23 (AP)—Alcide de Gasperi, Christian Democratic party leader who was designated last night to form a new government, said today after four hours of consultation with party heads that he was "optimistic."

De Gasperi gave a hint of where he is looking for support when he conferred with Alberto Cianca, leader of a small "independent" group of ten in the Constituent Assembly, for an hour and spent only twenty minutes with the Communist chief, Palmiro Togliatti. He also saw Giuseppe Saragat, leader of anti-Communist Socialist bolters, for 30 minutes.

Cianca said he would call de Gasperi's proposed government "prevalently Rightist."

Left-wing spokesmen have accused de Gasperi of taking advantage of the prestige gained on his trip to the United States to form a new government. He turned in the resignations of himself and his Cabinet three days after his return.

DE GASPERI SEEKS ANOTHER CABINET

Rome, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—Alcide de Gasperi, Christian Democratic leader, embarked today on the task of forming a new Cabinet, Italy's third in a little more than a year.

He scheduled his first conference with Giuseppe Saragat of the new Italian Laborers Socialist party. Observers generally predicted that De Gasperi would aim at a middle-of-the-road Cabinet based on co-operation with this party.

De Gasperi, who resigned the premiership only last Monday, came out of a conference with President Enrico de Nicola last night and announced "The President has asked me to form a new Government."

Newspapers here were in general agreement that putting together a new Cabinet would be hard despite the popularity De Gasperi won in coming back from the United States recently with promises of a loan and wheat. The new Government must sign the Italian treaty next month.

Rossi Weeps, Denies Matteotti Case Blame

Rome, Jan. 23 (AP)—Cesare Rossi, one-time press chief for Mussolini, wept and protested his innocence in a three-and-a-half-hour oration today at the trial of eight Fascists charged with the 1924 slaying of Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti.

"I have never considered myself the second victim," he said in telling how the crime had pursued him down the years.

Rossi, once called il Duce's "political brain," was imprisoned sixteen years by the Fascists for plotting against Mussolini after breaking with the dictator and has been in prison two more years awaiting the present trial.

Denounces All Faults

"I who sit here was the first to point out Mussolini's fatal faults," Rossi said. "He is dead now, and now all denounce his faults. But then I was alone."

Admitting sharing responsibility for the advent of fascism, Rossi denied any connection with the Matteotti case, and said his name had been linked with the killing from the first because Mussolini and other high officials needed a scapegoat.

He said he took a middle ground as to whether Mussolini himself ordered the killing of the Socialist Deputy.

Giovanni Marinelli, secretary general of the Fascist party, must have overheard Mussolini's violent expressions about Matteotti and ordered the Fascist gangs to get rid of the Socialist, thinking he was doing Mussolini's will, Rossi said.

VOTES STOLEN, POLE CHARGES

Asserts Government Robbed Party Of Victory

Warsaw, Jan. 23 (AP)—Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk asserted today that the Government bloc had robbed his Polish Peasant party (P.S.L.) of victory in Sunday's balloting and that "an honest and fair Supreme Court must declare this election invalid."

He told 50 foreign correspondents that if the appeal to the high tribunal fails, the P.S.L.'s executive committee will consider a boycott of the new Parliament by the 28 P.S.L. members.

Mikolajczyk declared that even with the display of power by the bloc parties, the security police, militia and army the P.S.L. would have obtained 60 to 70 per cent of the vote if it had been permitted to have watchers at the vote counting. Unofficial returns gave the bloc 90 per cent of the vote.

Widespread Rebellion

He said that reports showed that the voters, herded to the polls early in the day by bloc party organizers aided by armed forces, later showed widespread rebellion. If there had been an honest count of the ballots, he added, it would have shown a majority for the P.S.L.

Mikolajczyk outlined these three conclusions from the voting:

"First, the election was a fight of a minority using brutal physical force to overcome the will of the majority of the people.

"Second, the fact that a majority vote would have been shown in favor of the P.S.L. was reflected in the tremendous majority given our party in those few precincts where we managed to have watchers at the vote counting.

30.24-7511

"Third, the election should promptly be declared invalid because the new government emerging from this election, at a decisive and difficult moment for Poland, will not be reflective of the will of the majority of the people."

Voters Treated Brutally, Says Mikolajczyk

Warsaw, Jan. 23 (AP)—Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk charged today that the Communist-dominated Government bloc parties had used "brutal physical force" to drive millions to the polls to vote for their candidates in Sunday's parliamentary elections.

Bloc parties, in unofficial returns, took 90 per cent of the vote.

The Vice Premier, head of the opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL), said "an honest and fair Supreme Court must declare this election invalid and order a new election that will be free and unfettered." He added that if this appeal failed, his party's Executive Committee would consider a boycott of the new Parliament by the 28 PSL members.

Has Charges

Mikolajczyk told 50 foreign correspondents in a news conference that he drew from the election these conclusions:

"First, the election was a fight of a minority using brutal physical force to overcome the will of the majority of people.

"Second, the fact that a majority vote would have been in favor of the PSL was reflected in the tremendous majority given our party in those few precincts where we managed to have watchers at the vote counting.

"Third, the election should be promptly declared invalid because the new government emerging from this election at a decisive and difficult moment for Poland will not be reflective of the will of the majority of the people. We should have new elections, free and unfettered, that will express the free will of the people."

Cabinet Expected To Quit

The Cabinet of Premier Edward B. Obsubka-Mowrawski is expected to resign formally in February, and he is expected to be chosen to form a new government, excluding Mikolajczyk.

Mikolajczyk said that his party would have obtained 60 to 70 per cent of the votes if it had been permitted to watch the voting, despite the government's use of security police, militia and soldiery. He said reports from all sectors disclosed that the people demonstrated a widespread spirit of rebellion.

Greece Sees Coalition Rule By 7 Parties

Athens, Jan. 23 (AP)—A new national unity, seven-party coalition Cabinet, headed by former Foreign Minister Demetrios Maximos and including five former premiers, was outlined for strife-torn Greece today, following a four-hour meeting of all party leaders except the Liberals.

Persons who attended the meeting said it was virtually certain that Maximos, Greek Foreign Minister from 1933 to 1935 and a former director of the National Bank of Greece, would be named Premier to succeed Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, in power since April 18, 1946.

Resignation Awaited

George Papandreou, leader of the Social Democratic party, said early today that Tsaldaris would submit his formal resignation tomorrow night and that the new Cabinet would be formed and presented to Parliament at once.

Tsaldaris, who has been under heavy pressure to quit for weeks because of the stanchly rightist policies of his predominantly Royalist party, was expected to join the New Cabinet as Foreign Minister.

Tiso Praised Hitler, Czech Court Is Told

Bratislavia, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 23 (AP)—Documents were introduced at the treason trial of Dr. Josef Tiso today to show the puppet President of Slovakia wrote in 1940 that he knew of "no one in the world who would keep his word better than Adolf Hitler."

An affidavit by J. Krejci, former Slovak Premier, referred to negotiations with the Germans before March, 1939, by persons later in Tiso's cabinet.

The national court trying the priest, who became President of Slovakia, heard a transcript of notes by Karold Sidor, missing former Slovak envoy to the Vatican, about events leading to the proclamation of Slovak independence.

Kmetko testified that, in accord with ecclesiastical regulations, Tiso, a parish priest, asked permission of the Vatican before taking the presidency of Slovakia, but received no written answer. He testified that after Tiso took office the bishops accepted him because they regarded an independent Slovakia under Tiso a lesser evil than German domination.

Didn't Misinterpret Bevin: Pravda

Moscow, Jan. 23 (AP)—Pravda denied today the British Government's charge that it had misinterpreted Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin when it accused him of repudiating the British-Russian treaty of alliance in a December 22 speech.

"The claim made by the Government of Great Britain says one thing, and the facts show the opposite," Pravda declared in an editorial. "We prefer to hold to the facts."

The editorial was accompanied by the full text of a note which the British Foreign Office delivered to the Russian Government last week protesting as "most misleading" an article that appeared in Pravda on January 12.

"Duty Of The Press"

Pravda not only denied that it had misinterpreted Bevin but likewise denied that it had quoted him "out of context," as charged by the British Foreign Office.

Bevin, in his speech, denied Labor rebels' charges that he was directing Britain's foreign policy away from friendship with Russia toward closer relations with the United States. He said Britain "does not tie herself to anybody except in regard to her obligations under the charter" of the United Nations.

"What other exposition of this sentence could be given by Pravda, which did not and does not engage in guessing what Bevin wanted to say but acquaints its readers with what he did say and with its meaning," said Pravda. "This is the duty of the press, and Pravda discharges this duty."

The paper suggested that Bevin might have answered his accusers in this manner:

"How could they make such charges when Britain is connected with the Soviet Union by a treaty of alliance in war and on postwar collaboration and mutual assistance?"

Farmers Near Prewar Level

Moscow, Jan. 23 (AP)—Nikita S. Khruschev, chairman of the Ukrainian Council of Ministers, said today in the Communist party newspaper Pravda that Ukrainian farmers have succeeded in restoring the total of their sown areas to about four fifths of the prewar level, despite severe shortages of tractors, horses and agricultural machines.

Reds Stress Article By Elliott Roosevelt

Moscow, Jan 23 (A. P.).—The interview given by Premier Stalin to Elliott Roosevelt was published prominently today on the front page of Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper. The interview, published by Look Magazine in the United States, was also broadcast by the Moscow radio.

8 ROB BANK IN JERUSALEM

Masked Men Escape With $20,000 And Gems

Jerusalem, Jan. 23 (AP)—Eight masked men, said by police to be Jews, robbed the Mizrachi Bank here today of $20,000 and a "considerable quantity" of diamonds and other valuable gems. They escaped in a brief exchange of gunfire in which apparently no one was hit.

Less than a month ago two bands of armed Jews robbed diamond factories in Nathanya and Tel Aviv of diamonds, cash and bonds valued at nearly $107,000.

Police and Jewish informants speculated that tonight's robbery, like the one of December 26, was performed by Jewish underground members seeking to replenish their "war chests."

Arrived In Taxi

The eight men arrived in a taxi. They took machine guns and revolvers from their coats. Four entered the bank while four remained outside as guards.

Meanwhile, police said they had no knowledge of reports that a tunnel had been found underneath the Latrun Detention Camp, where a large number of underground suspects are being held. Reliable informants said the tunnel had been found underneath a Nissen-type hut leading toward a camp fence. Police recalled that sixteen Jews accused of belonging to the Stern Gang escaped from a tunnel in the Latrun camp four years ago.

Chiang Troops Claim Victories In Manchuria

Imminent Drive Against Reds in China Proper Predicted in Peiping

PEIPING, Jan. 23 (AP).—Government forces reported progress against the Communists north and northeast of Changchun, in Manchuria, today while the Chinese press predicted an imminent campaign in China proper to drive the Communists from their strong positions in Shantung Province.

The government's Central News Agency confirmed capture from the Communists of Chitamu, sixty miles northeast of Changchun, and said "satisfactory progress" was being made near Tehui, forty-eight miles northeast. It said ground was being gained north of Kirin, sixty miles east of Changchun.

As to Shantung, where inconclusive fighting has been in progress for a year, pro-government papers intimated that a major campaign was in preparation. Recently these papers said the Communists had 640,000 men in Shantung under the command of General Chen Yi.

The Central News agency said the Communists were attacking Taierchuang and Tsaochuang, 140 miles south of the Shantung provincial capital, Tsinan, and had lost 30,000 or 40,000 men there. Yesterday, the same agency said government forces had withdrawn from Tsaochuang and that fighting was centered around Lincheng, 120 miles south of Tsinan. The Communist radio at Yenan reported capture of Kuancheng, which is 110 miles southeast of Tsinan, on Jan. 21.

Another government report said reinforcements had driven off Communists who for months had been besieging Fenyang, in Shansi Province, sixty miles south of Taiyuan.

Government would embark soon on a winter campaign to throw the Communists out of their strongest positions in Northeast China—Shantung p[illegible].

Preliminary skirmishes were reported around Lincheng, bitterly disputed city 120 miles south of Tsinan, the provincial capital. The Communists, meantime, reported they had captured Kuancheng, 100 miles southeast of Tsinan.

Estimated At 640,000

The pro-Government press recently estimated that the Communists have 640,000 troops in Shantung province, many concentrated in mountain fastnesses south of the capital.

The press accounts predicted the Government would use its best American-equipped troops for the campaign, which if successful would ease the constant Communist threat to north-south rail lines.

Siege Reported Broken

Westward in Shansi province, government reinforcements reported they had lifted the long Communist siege of Fenyang, railway city 60 miles south of Taiyuan, the provincial capital.

The official Central News Agency said National troops southeast of Tehhui, Manchuria, were making satisfactory progress and confirmed the Government capture of Chitamu, 48 miles northeast of Changchun. It reported Nationals north of Kirin were gaining ground.

Briton Assails Kuomintang

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—A suggestion that the British government send a representative to the Chinese Communist headquarters at Yenan "to obtain the facts" was made in the House of Lords today by a Laborite member who said he held "a very low opinion" of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government. Lord Lindsay of Birker, who made the suggestion, said he did not think Chiang's Kuomintang government could "exterminate" the Communists.

On behalf of the government, Lord Teviot quickly objected to Lindsay's views, saying he could not remember a speech "more likely to do harm between two countries."

2 Killed, 14 Hurt As Bombay Police Fire Upon Rioters

Bombay, Jan. 23 (AP)—Two persons were killed and fourteen were injured today when police opened fire for the second time in twelve hours on riotous communal demonstrators, a communiqué said.

The police fired 59 rounds in an attempt to halt stone throwing, looting and arson but declined to interfere with an outlawed student celebration of the birthday of Subhas Chandra Bose, Indian political leader who joined the Japanese during the war.

According to the police, the communal disorders had no connection with the student celebration.

Parading in defiance of police orders, the students distributed handbills demanding that the Constituent Assembly at New Delhi establish a provisional Indian government independent of Britain.

Although it has been announced that Bose died in a plane crash in Formosa two years ago, rumors circulated that he would appear today.

TOJO SCORES A POINT

Tokyo, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—Former Premier Tojo and his twenty-five co-defendants won an important point at their war crime trial today, the International Tribunal ruling that statements made after arrest would be admitted as evidence only against the individual who made the statement. The ruling sustained a months old defense motion.

Carlisle W. Higgins, assistant chief prosecutor, agreed with the decision, which accords with American court practice. It was pointed out that the ruling will not preclude any defendant from testifying voluntarily against other defendants.

Sun Goddess Proves Vulnerable To Arrest

Kanazawa, Japan, Jan. 23 (AP)—Japanese police today arrested for questioning by psychiatrists the self-proclaimed Sun Goddess Jiko, who defies General MacArthur's directives and orders her cultists: Bow first to me, then to the Emperor.

No. 3 in her ten commandments is: Practice the divine-people theory (that Japanese are the world's superior people).

Psychiatrists who sat in on a police questioning of Jiko and her followers, two of whom went into a trance when the interrogation became rugged, said "they definitely are mentally unbalanced."

Psychiatrist Police

As for Jiko, the doctors' verdict was religious paranoia.

Futabayama, 45, a former champion wrestler and a Jiko follower, became so overwrought at her arrest that he battered police with chairs and clubs. He was finally subdued by a judo expert after seriously injuring several policemen.

Futabayama was loaded into a fire engine and taken to jail, along with Jiko and several of her followers.

Police said Jiko, 44, is the eldest daughter of Marquis Ikeda, of Okayama prefecture, but changed her name to Yoshiko Nagaoka. She swooned in September, 1934, and thereafter declared herself transformed into a living sun goddess who never grows old or ill and who never dies.

Influence Jap Style

Police said she has a hypnotic influence over her followers, who give her an amazing 250,000 yen ($17,000) monthly plus rice and goods. They said her followers utterly disregarded all advice except hers.

As police arrived at her home, she announced that a tidal wave had swept Tokyo four hours earlier and "confusion prevails." Police told her they had just talked by telephone from this west coast town to Tokyo headquarters and no such disaster had occurred.

"God tells me such things and I simply convey them to the people," she retorted.

Different Bodies

Jiko says she and Emperor Hirohito are one, although of different bodies, but insists she be worshiped above him.

Police charged her with violation of a MacArthur directive forbidding Emperior worship and forbidding teaching that the Japanese are superior among peoples of the world.

Philippines Ex-Puppet Denounces Communism

Laurel, Who Served Japanese, Heckled by Chicagoan

MANILA, Jan. 23 (AP).—Jose P. Laurel, who was puppet President of the Philippines during the Japanese occupation, departed from a prepared speech tonight to attack Communism and "its godless system of education."

"There is no place in the world, including the Philippines, where you don't find some kind of Communism," declared Laurel in an address on harmonizing the Philippines educational system with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Professor Dunbar S. McLaurin, of the University of Chicago, a visitor, asked Laurel during an open forum why there seemed to be discrimination against foreigners in Philippines schools. He cited that the Chinese maintain separate schools here.

Laurel replied that Americans started the system by opening public schools for whites only forty years ago.

"Well, I see that you Filipinos loved to obey the orders of the Americans," McLaurin said. "Do not allow yourselves to be mere puppets in your own country." That drew laughs from the crowd.

Laurel is free on $25,000 bail pending trial on treason charges.

PLOT IS LAID TO EX-HOUSE GROUP HEAD

3 In Arms Combine Also Accused; Face $10,000 Fines, 2-Year Terms

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—A Federal grand jury today indicted former Representative Andrew J. May and three officials of the Garsson munitions combine on charges that they "conspired and agreed together to defraud the United States."

Indicted with the wartime head of the House Military Committee were these three men from whom, the jury said, May "did agree to receive $53,634.07 for services rendered":

HENRY M. GARSSON. He was described by army officers in a Senate inquiry last summer as "the brains" of the combine, which received more than $78,000,000 in war contracts.

MURRAY W. GARSSON. A brother of Henry, his salary as a director of the Erie Basin Metal Products Company, one of nineteen firms in the combine, was shown by Government records to have been $161,666.

JOSEPH F. FREEMAN. He was Washington office manager of the combine and, according to a stenographer-witness in the Senate inquiry, kept in frequent contact with May.

The Garssons and Freeman are scheduled to be arraigned before Chief Justice Bolitha J. Laws in District Court at 10 A.M. tomorrow morning.

There was no immediate indication as to when May might appear before the court.

Bench warrants for the four men had been handed the Chief Deputy United States Marshal, C. Michael Kearny, during the day.

In announcing the indictments, Tom C. Clark, Attorney General, said conviction could carry fines up to $10,000 and imprisonment for as long as two years.

May Comments

He said the law further provides that any person convicted under it shall "thereafter be incapable of holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the Government of the United States."

May said today at his Prestonsburg (Ky.) home:

"I am not guilty, I have done nothing wrong, and have not violated any law. I will appear in court and ask for a speedy trial, at which I will completely vindicate myself."

Murray Garsson, spotted as he left a Washington restaurant, said, "All our efforts were lent in winning the war, and we did nothing wrong."

He was accompanied by Freeman and an attorney.

Over protests of the attorney, Garsson dictated a statement in which he said:

"We made a marvelous contribution to the war effort and saved the Government hundreds of millions of dollars."

Vindication Predicted

Freeman said he had no comment on his indictment.

In Pittsburgh, another Garsson attorney, Charles J. Margiotti, said the trial will vindicate them, and added:

"It will also present to the country the record of the outstanding achievements of themselves and the corporations with which they were associated in the production of vital war material that contributed so much to our victory."

May was defeated for re-election last fall after serving sixteen years in the House. His doctors reported he suffered a heart attack last July. He is 71 years old.

May never denied helping the Garssons—he said every Congressman did the same thing—but he denied he ever got any money or favors from them. He said he was only trying to help the war effort.

Jury Sees Differently

The grand jury saw differently. It spoke of "his personal pecuniary interest in the success" of the combine.

On this point, the indictment said the accused had conspired together to defraud the United States of its right to have the duties of the Military Committee chairman performed "free from unlawful impairment, obstruction, corruption, partiality, improper influence, bias, dishonesty and fraud."

The grand jury, as did the Senate War Investigating Committee, went into the stories that May put pressure on War Department officials to give business to the Garssons.

It charged that the defendants conspired to defraud the United States of its rights to have its officers "free to transact the official business of the United States unhindered, unhampered, unobstructed and unimpaired by the exertion upon them of dishonest, corrupt, unlawful, improper and undue pressure and influence."

Further Charges

It charged further that "it was a part of said conspiracy" that the Garssons and Freeman "would corruptly give and pay money and other valuable considerations to Andrew J. May to bring the prestige, weight and influence of his office and committee chairmanship to bear upon the commissioned officers of the Army" and civilian employés "in order to promote the interests and desires of said corporations and of said defendants."

Another part of the alleged conspiracy was said by the grand jury to have provided for concealed payments from the Garssons to May through the Cumberland Lumber Company, at Prestonsburg.

The grand jury said the defendants conspired to "conceal the fact that said Andrew J. May was the owner" of the company and to show by "false entries" in the combine's books that the payments were legitimate ones for lumber.

35 Overt Acts Charged

It alleged that, in return for compensation, May was to put pressure on the War Department to grant commissions, promotions and furloughs to relatives of the other defendants.

The indictment said the defendants committed 35 overt acts to carry out the conspiracy. The listing of these accusations, some of which overlapped, included:

1. That Murray Garsson on August 22, 1944, had a $5,000 check delivered to May.

2. That on May 1, 1943, Murray Garsson had $1,000 delivered to May.

3. That on July 10, 1943, the other defendants had a $10,000 cashier's check of the American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago delivered to May.

Other Accusations

4. That on September 8, 1945, May asked the Under Secretary of War to hear combine officials protest in his office against withholding of funds they said were due from the War Department.

5. That two days later May interceded with high War Department officials to get these funds unfrozen.

6. That on March 24, 1945, May interceded with Robert P. Patterson, Under Secretary of War, in an effort to get the department to bestow an "E" award of merit to one of the combine's firms, the Batavia Metal Products Company in Illinois.

7. That on November 19, 1942, May protested to the chief of army ordnance against treatment received by Henry Garsson from the Chicago Ordnance district.

8. That on March 15, 1945, May wrote a letter to the adjutant general suggesting a furlough for Freeman's son and his appointment to officer's candidate school.

Complaint Charged

9. That on August 1, 1944, May called Brig. Gen. Miles Reber to his office to discuss an emergency furlough for the soldier, Private Albert H. Freemen.

10. That on November 14, May complained to Brig. Gen. Frank R. Denton that the manpower allotted the Batavia plant was insufficient.

11. That in early April, 1945, May called in Col. Clarence J. Hauck, Jr., to discuss with May and Murray Garsson methods to prevent the court-martial of Murray Garsson's son, Capt. Joseph Garsson.

[The captain was court-martialed after being accused of disobeying a battlefield order. After reviews, the sentence of dismissal from the service was suspended.]

12. That on April 12, 1945, May directed a letter to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in behalf of young Garsson and got Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt to take the letter with him by plane to Europe.

Other "Overt Acts"

The other "overt acts" dealt with a series of calls or protests to army officials about business for the Garssons.

There was no mention in the indictment of one of the sensations of the Senate hearing—the attendance of high army officers at a gay wedding party given by the Garssons.

The grand jury took over the case last October. The possibility it will report further was raised in Clark's statement.

He said the jury "has been temporarily recessed and is to be recalled to consider further evidence being developed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

The question of further evidence might be a bar to the early trial which May said he wants.

Garssons Out Of Firm

The Erie Basin Metal Products Company, of Elgin, Ill., and the Batavia firm have passed to other hands, with the Garssons out.

I. G. Grawoig, president of Batavia, issued a statement saying that this firm "since August, 1946, has been and still is operating under the supervision of the United States District Court."

Since that date, he said, "none of the parties named in the indictment has been associated with Batavia Metal Products, Inc., nor with any of its related companies."

FBI AIDED IN INVESTIGATION

Clark Says One Count Charges ex-Congressman 'Agreed to Receive $53,634.07.'

30.24-7513

Washington, Jan. 23 (A. P.). — Attorney - General Clark announced today the indictment of former Representative Andrew J. May (D.-Ky.) and three officials of a wartime munitions combine on charges of conspiring to defraud the Government.

Clark said those named with May in the indictment, which was returned by a Grand Jury here, were Henry M. Garsson, Murray Garsson and Joseph F. Freeman, all former officers and employees of Erie Basin Metal Products, Inc., of Elgin, Ill., and of Batavia Metal Products, Inc., of Batavia, N.

DAY

He said that one count charges that May, wartime chairman of the House Military Committee, "did agree to receive" from these firms "a total of $53,634.07."

May was defeated in last fall's election after a campaign in which his relations with the Garsson brothers had figured. Now 71 years old, he had served in Congress since 1930.

The indictment was returned to Chief Justice Bolitha Laws of the Federal District Court.

Clark said that a conviction under the conspiracy statute provides for a maximum of $10,000 fine and for imprisonment of not more than two years.

The Senate War Investigating Committee inquired at length last summer into relations between the Garssons and May.

The Story of the Inquiry.

The story it developed was this:

The Garssons organized nineteen firms into a combine which received more than $78,000,000 in war contracts. Joseph Freeman was Washington representative for the group.

May actively pressed War Department officials to give contracts to the Garsson firms.

The member of Congress never testified publicly at the Senate committee's hearings but acknowledged in public statements that he interceded with the War Department in behalf of the Garsson firms. He said he never received any payment and was motivated solely by a desire to aid the war effort.

The Grand Jury began an investigation last October. Records of the Senate committee were turned over to it.

Clark's announcement said that the indictment "follows lengthy presentation of evidence developed by an intensive investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

The Grand Jury, Clark said, "has been temporarily recessed and is to be recalled to consider further evidence being developed by the FBI."

Four Counts in the Bill.

The Attorney-General said the indictment is in four counts:

1. Conspiracy to commit offenses against the United States and to defraud the United States.

2. Violations of the United States code which makes it an offense for a member of Congress to receive or agree to receive any compensation for services rendered or to be rendered to any person in relation to any proceeding to which the United States is a party before any Government department.

A third count, Clark said, elaborates on the second and charges that May conspired to commit offenses against the United States and that the Garssons and Freeman "aided, abetted, counseled, procured and induced" May to commit the offenses.

"The counts are based upon the alleged receipt by May at Washington, D. C., of a check of Erie Basin Metal Products, Inc., in the amount of $5,000 on August 22, 1944," Clark said.

The fourth count charges that May "did agree to receive from Erie Basin Metal Products, Inc., Batavia Metal Products Inc., and from Henry M. Garsson, Murray Garsson and Joseph F. Freeman a total of $53,634.07 and other compensation to the jurors unknown."

The fourth count also charges Henry M. Garsson, Murray Garsson and Joseph F. Freeman with having "aided, abetted, counseled, procured and induced" the commission of the offense.

Possible Penalties.

In addition to possible fines and imprisonment, the law provides that individuals convicted of conspiracy to defraud the Government shall be "incapable of holding any office of honor, trust or profit" in the Government.

The indictment charges that payments were made to May directly and also through the Cumberland Lumber Company of Prestonsburg, Ky. (The Senate committee received testimony that the Garssons organized Cumberland Lumber Company and that May was Kentucky agent for it.)

Among the alleged "overt acts" charged are these:

1. "At Washington, D. C., on or about August 22, 1944, the defendant Murray Garsson caused check number 1219 of Erie Basin Metal Products, Inc., in the amount of $5,000 to be delivered to Andrew J. May."

2. "At Washington, D. C., on August 22, 1944, Andrew J. May obtained $1,000 in cash as part of the proceeds of check number 1219 drawn by Erie Basin Metal Products, Inc., and deposited the balance of the proceeds of said check, $4,000, to the credit of Andrew J. May at the National Bank of Washington."

3. At Washington, D. C. on or about May 1, 1943, Murray Garsson caused to be delivered $1,000 to Andrew J. May."

4. "At Washington, D. C., on or about July 10, 1943, Henry M. Garsson, Murray Garrson and Joseph F. Freeman did cause to be delivered to Andrew J. May a cashier's check of American National Bank & Trust Company of Chicago, Illinois for $10,000."

"Not Guilty" Says May.

Prestonsburg, Ky., Jan. 23 (A. P.).—Former Representative Andrew J. May said in a statement today on his indictment on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government: "I am not guilty, I have done nothing wrong, and have not violated any law."

The former chairman of the House Military Committee referred to the indictment of himself and three officials of a wartime munitions combine, announced in Washington by Attorney-General Clark.

He added: "I will appear in court and ask for a speedy trial, at which I will completely vindicate myself."

May declined to amplify the statement or answer questions.

PRESIDENT SAYS MARSHALL WILL HAVE FREE HAND

Reveals He Has Canvassed Foreign Policy With

New Secretary.

Washington, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that his new Secretary of State, George C. Marshall, has a free hand in the State Department.

The President made the comment at a news conference after disclosing that he had held a sweeping review of foreign policy questions with Marshall at a meeting in his office earlier today. The conversation, he said, included China, South America, Germany, Palestine, and many other things around the world.

Asked whether Marshall personally would attend the forthcoming meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers at Moscow, beginning on March 10, Mr. Truman replied that he had not discussed that matter with the new Secretary yet.

DAY

Inquiry Over Argentina.

Mr. Truman also told reporters that in a meeting with Marshall, either today or when the new Secretary took office on Tuesday, he had discussed with him the matter of an immediate investigation of the differences between Assistant Secretary of State Braden and Ambassador George Messersmith over Argentina.

The remark about Marshall having a free hand in the State Department came after Mr. Truman was asked about top personnel changes.

He said that Marshall had asked the top ranking personnel in the department to stay.

Hopes to Hold Rent Line.

Hope that the Government can hold the line on rent controls was expressed by the President. He told the news conference that the decision was up to Congress.

Reminded that there have been rumors that there might be adjustments in rent ceilings, Mr. Truman said that was the reason Congress should determine what is to be done.

Congress, he added, will have to pass on it.

On another subject, the President said that he had urged Robert E. Hannegan to remain at his dual post of Postmaster-General and Democratic National Chairman. He said that he talked with Hannegan recently and thought he looked fine. He said Hannegan was pleased at the request he remain on the jobs and he would give his answer when he was more certain about his health.

The President was bombarded with questions about future plans for Hannegan, who went South for treatment of a high blood pressure condition after the November elections.

Mr. Truman observed that there seemed to be a great strain on people around the White House, and apparently the strain was worse on others than on the President himself, since he felt fine.

He said there had been so many rumors and speculation about Hannegan's health and what he might do, that the first thing he said to his fellow Missourian when he saw him recently was to ask him to stay on.

Mr. Truman said that he and Congress were co-operating right along. He made this observation when he was questioned about the Senate vote to extend the life of the special war investigating committee which he once headed.

He said the decision on whether to continue that committee was a matter for Congress, that he didn't have a finger in it at all.

He made the observation during a discussion of White House co-operation with the Republican majority in Congress.

He said that the Senate vote did not affect that co-operation.

On the subject of automobile prices the President said that he was very happy over the Ford Motor Company's reduction and hoped others would follow suit. He said the reduction was in line with suggestions he made in his economic report to Congress that all industries should reduce prices where possible.

Army Perfects Rocket Chute

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (A.P.).—After a series of failures, Army ordnance experts have succeeded in getting a parachute to lower safely the warhead of a rocket shot 37 miles into space.

A ribbon-type chute, first perfected by the Germans during the war, was used. In earlier tests, standard type parachutes burst and the warhead and instruments in it were shattered upon impact with the ground.

NIGHT

Announcing the success, the Army said today that the rocket used was of the "WAC corporal" type, a missile much smaller and of shorter range than the giant V-2 rockets tested from the same experimental grounds at White Sands, N. Mex.

Lieutenant Colonel James G. Bain, chief of the guided missile branch, said a clockwork mechanism set off an explosion which blew the nose of the rocket free and tripped the parachute release mechanism as the rocket reached its zenith.

The 37-mile height compares with altitudes of 114 miles to which V-2 rockets have been fired.

The successful experiment with the smaller rocket presumably will lead into experiments with parachuting V-2 warheads.

Army Working On Parachute To Return Rocket Warheads

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Army, already sleuthing for two missing rocket warheads shot 114 miles into the sky, announced today it is working on a parachute to bring future standard caps safely back to earth.

DAY

So far, army experts have experimented successfully with a ribbon-type 'chute to retrieve the warhead of a projectile whizzed 37 miles into space.

That leaves them an extra drop of 77 miles to work on.

The Army said early tests, using standard-type parachutes, failed when the 'chutes burst and the warheads loaded with scientific instruments were shattered upon impact with the ground.

"WAC Corporal" Type

Lieut. Col. James G. Bain, chief of the guided missile branch, said a "WAC corporal" type rocket—much smaller and shorter of range than the giant V-2 rockets which have soared as high as 114 miles—was used in the test.

A clockwork mechanism set off an explosion which blew off the nose of the rocket and freed the parachute as the "WAC corporal" reached its zenith, he said.

Meanwhile, the "mystery of the missing missiles of New Mexico" was still unsolved.

It was disclosed some time ago that a V-2 warhead vanished in flight over the White Sands (N.M.) testing grounds on December 17.

Rocket Bodies Recovered

Today Lieut. Col. Harvey Rivkin, of the ordnance department, revealed that this was not the first one to go a.w.o.l. A one-ton warhead disappeared from a fourteen-ton modified German V-2 fired into the blue last July.

In both cases, the thirteen-ton bodies of the rockets came down and were recovered—as were the bodies and warheads of fifteen others sent up from the White Sands station. But nobody knows what did happen to the missing two.

Lieut. Col. Harold B. Turner, attached to the White Sands unit, said he believes the missing warheads also landed—probably within 18 to 30 miles of the launching site—rather than having taken off for the moon or being still floating around on their own. But jeep and plane searchers haven't spied them yet.

Officials' reassurances aren't keeping the laymen from ideas, however.

Since the first report of a V-2 blowing its top, the War Department rocket research section has been getting a flurry of tips from people in widely scattered parts of the country who believe they saw it.

Some Volunteer For Ride

Also, they've actually had volunteers for a rocket ride just to see what does happen aboard a footloose warhead.

John R. Boyd, of Sioux City, Iowa, wrote that he believes a man could be fired aloft and return safely by bailing out. "I would like to volunteer my services as a passenger on such a flight," he wrote.

Boyd would be in for a fast ride. The V-2's travel at 3,500 miles an hour.

DR. FISK TO DIRECT ATOMIC RESEARCH

Washington, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—Dr. James B. Fisk, industrial physical research expert, was appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission today to direct its division of research. Fisk, whose home is Concord, Mass., is presently with the Bell Telephone laboratories.

The commission also announced these other appointments:

Director of production: Walter J. Williams, former director of operations for the Manhattan Engineer District, a native of Alabama and now a Washington resident.

General counsel: Herbert S. Marks, now special assistant to Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Budget director: Paul W. Ager, former chief budget officer of the Tennessee Valley Authority and a resident of Knoxville, Tenn.

He is a member of the Un-American Activities Committee. Some of its Republican members said a fast look for Communists in the Government ought to begin in the State Department because:

1. There may be some housecleaning anyway under Gen. George C. Marshall, the new Secretary of State; and,

2. A former employé, Carl Aldo Marzani, was indicted here this week on grounds he falsely denied Communist connections, and a committee member said "53 more people are under suspicion."

Says Record Was In Files

J. Parnell Thomas (R., N.J.), committee chairman, put into the Congressional Record a declaration that the Marzani case might have broken earlier had there been more co-operation with his committee from Government agencies.

He said Marzani's alleged "Communist record" has been in committee files six years. But three years ago, he added, Harry B. Mitchell, president of the Civil Service Commission, "refused" to turn over to the committee its records on Marzani and 127 other Federal workers whom the committee regarded as Communists or engaged in Communist activities.

Links Reds to Portal Pay.

Representative J. Parnell Thomas (R.-N. J.) chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activities, declared today that the man who got the idea for portal pay suits and the lawyer who brought the one sustained by the Supreme Court both have long records of Communist affiliation.

Thomas said in a speech in the House that Ben Riskin, former research director for the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, is credited in the union's official publication with "concocting" the idea for the claims.

Thomas identified the attorney who brought the original action in the Mount Clemens Pottery Company case as Edward Lamb of Toledo. This was the action upheld by the Supreme Court, with the result that other union claims totaling more than $4,000,000,000 have been filed.

He said that Lamb signed a statement to the President defending the Communist party. He said that Lamb was a member of the national committee and of the national legal advisory board of the International Labor Defense, an organization Thomas said serves as the legal arm of the Communist party. Thomas said that Lamb was a member, too, of the executive committee of the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, which he called "a Communist front organization of foreign born."

ITALY URGES U. S. TO EXPEDITE GRAIN

Washington, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—Italian officials are urgently requesting the United States to expedite grain shipments to Italy this month, Government officials said today. Worried by a lag in promised deliveries, Italian authorities have conferred with State Department and Department of Agriculture officials in an effort to increase shipments.

Present estimates indicate that because of inland transportation difficulties in the United States the Italians may get little, if any, more than the 150,000 tons of the 200,000 tons allocated for January. Six ships carrying a total of 50,000 tons of wheat were diverted to Italy from Germany two weeks ago during Premier de Gasperi's visit when the first signs of the impending shortage became evident.

American officials said that they hoped to be able to add from 10,000 to 20,000 tons to the 150,000 tons definitely en route or in Italy, but said that it appeared now that the maximum of 200,000 tons could not be obtained this month. These officials indicated that they were not considering emergency divergence to Italy from any other area. Italy is scheduled to receive 220,000 tons during February, according to recent allocations.

000,000 in government issues and $40,000,000 in corporate issues.

Suspension of trading was ordered by the New York Stock Exchange in 1941 and Mr. Treanor said although the S. E. C. took no formal action, it asks brokers and dealers not to make a market for the Italian issues or issues of any Axis nation.

Mr. Treanor said no registrations of Italian issues were received by the S. E. C. after that country entered the war in 1940. Available information on the issues, therefore, is outdated, he added.

He said the initiative in obtaining "reliable" information is expected to be taken by the Stock Exchange.

The bonds in which trading is suspended include:

Adriatic Electric Co., due April 1, 1952; Ernesto Breda Co., due Feb. 1, 1954; Italian Credit Consortium for Public Works, due March 1, 1947; Italian Public Utility Credit Institute, due Jan. 1, 1952; Kingdom of Italy, due Dec. 1, 1951; Lombard Electric Co., due Dec. 1, 1952; City of Milan, due April 1, 1952; City of Rome, due April 1, 1952, and Mortgage Bank of Venetian Provinces, due Oct 1, 1952.

Powerful Tube Jammed Nazi Radar, Cut 'Path' For Raids

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 23 (AP)—A tremendously powerful ultra-short wave generator which was used to jam German radar systems during Allied air raids and which may give television and other kinds of radio a big boost in efficiency, was shown publicly today for the first time.

This new type of radio transmitting tube is called the resnatron. It is the invention of Dr. D. H. Sloan and Dr. L. C. Marshall, University of California electrical engineers, and was developed under war-time Government secrecy at the Westinghouse Laboratories, East Pittsburgh, Pa., in collaboration with Dr. W. W. Salisbury.

Formed Path For Planes

It is a copper-skinned tube somethink like the heart of an X-ray machine. It is about one foot high and about a foot in diameter at its widest part.

Two of these tubes hooked up to a horn-shaped antenna made of chicken wire blacked out German radar stations in an area 15 miles wide and 300 miles long, forming a path of comparative safety for American and British bombers on some of their most destructive raids.

The resnatron is so powerful that ordinary electric light bulbs explode when held in the invisible beam of radiation which it produces.

There are other radio tubes capable of equaling this feat but with one exception they generate only the longer radio waves, not the ultra-short ones needed by radar, television and some other kinds of electronics.

Heart Of U.S. Radar

The exception, the other powerful ultra-short wave transmitter, is the magnetron, which is the vital

COMMUNISM PURGE URGED IN CONGRESS

Rankin Asks For 'Fumigation' Of Party Members From Government

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—Cries of "fumigate the Government" and "stop communism" resounded in the House today as members of its Committee on Un-American Activities talked of hunting Reds in the State Department and other Federal agencies.

Representative McCormack (D., Mass.), the Democratic whip, urged "affirmative leadership" to fight what he termed a wave of communism aimed at destroying the United States and all democracies. He said this wave "is a part of the future military plans of the Soviet Union."

Representative Rankin (D., Miss.) unfurled a petition fully 100 feet long. He said thousands of Californians signed it in support of plans of the Un-American Activities Committee to give a "good airing" to alleged "Communist influences" in Hollywood.

"Fumigation" Asked

Stretching it across the House chamber, Rankin yelled that Communists must be driven from public life, the movies and radio. He called for a "housecleaning" in every Government department and "fumi-

House Democratic Whip Brands Subversive Wave a Part of Soviet Military Plans.

Washington, Jan. 23 (A. P.).—Representative McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic whip, called in the House today for "affirmative leadership" in a drive to stop what he said was a wave of Communism aimed at the destruction of the United States and all democracies. The subversive movement, he said, "is a part of the future military plans of the Soviet Union."

Representative Rankin (D.-Miss.) rolled out on the House floor a petition which he said was signed by thousands of Californians supporting the plan of the Committee on un-American Activities to investgate the movie industry.

The petition, in one continuous roll, stretched across the well of the House and all the way up a side aisle.

Rankin, a member of the committee, demanded a "house cleaning in every department" of the Government and "a fumigation if necessary."

Communists, he shouted, should be driven from public life, from which he called "one of the outstanding Communist fronts in the United States." The magazine contained an article by Riskin, he declared, urging "a high living standard for all by the creation of a workers' and farmers' society through the overthrow of the capitalist society."

Riskin also was a member of the advisory committee of the League for Mutual Aid, another Communist front, Thomas said, and had other Communist affiliations.

Lamb, like Riskin," Thomas said, "has followed the Communist party line and has associated himself with numerous fronts which have been set up

MCKELLAR ATTACKS NEW HEAD OF TVA

Says Clapp Was Linked With Communist Group'

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.) sought today to show that Gordon R. Clapp, President Truman's nominee for chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, was linked with a "Communist-front organization."

But Clapp, who has emphatically denied he is a Communist, stood on a previous statement that he is an American without political affiliation.

The Senator, long a critic of the way TVA is run, questioned Clapp at a hearing on his nomination before the Senate Public Works Committee.

Records List Clapp As Sponsor

The Senator showed committee members photostatic copies of records of the House Un-American Activities Committee (formerly the Dies committee) which he said listed Clapp as a sponsor in 1940 of a meeting of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Saying the conference was a "Communist-front organization," McKellar asked Clapp if he attended the meeting.

"I may have been listed as a sponsor," answered the nominee, "but I don't believe I attended the meeting."

Did Not Attend Meeting

Clapp added "If I didn't attend the meeting it was not because I had any hesitation about doing so." He said he had "great admiration" for the leadership of Dr. Frank Graham, head of the conference and president of the University of North Carolina.

"You mean to tell this committee," asked McKellar, "that the Southern Conference for Human Welfare is not a Communist-front organization?"

"I've heard it said, Senator," answered Clapp, "but that doesn't make it true."

Germ-Warfare Talk Ban

Resuming of Italian Bond Trade Being Weighed by U.S. Agencies

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23 (AP).—Resumption of trading in Italian bonds, suspended in 1941, is under discussion, the Securities and Exchange Commission disclosed today.

James A. Treanor jr., head of the S. E. C.'s trading and exchange division, said the S. E. C., the New York Stock Exchange and the State and Treasury Departments have entered into the talks. The principal obstacle to resumption of such trading, he said, is lack of information concerning the issues.

A Department of Commerce estimate, made at the end of 1940, showed American holdings in Italian bonds amounted to $33,-

Applied

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Army, startled by public discussions of germ warfare, has cloaked the whole subject under a "no-talk" policy.

While the desire for secrecy is understood to be an important factor in banning further reference to a weapon rated by some scientists as equal to the atomic bomb, some quarters in the Army also have been concerned over what they regard as extravagant statements about research progress.

This attitude is in line with a prevailing school of thought at the Pentagon—that the public is placing too much confidence in "pushbutton warfare," when much of it still is in the laboratory or drawing board stage.

Hushed On Present Status

However, instructions prevent bacteriological warfare experts from explaining their reasons for believing the present status of the weapon is overrated in the public mind.

The War Department during the past year has officially disclosed some information bearing on its research in germ warfare. This has included the fact that: (A) The study has been centered at Camp Detrick, near Frederick, Md., and (B) That both laboratories and a "pilot plant" were built there during the war.

The reference to a "pilot plant" has been assumed to mean that some of the toxic agents had reached the point of development where they were ready for mass production, if needed.

Two Aims Of Program

In general, the program has been twofold:

1. To perfect means of combatting mass attack on the United States with poison warefare and,

2. To devise means of retaliation.

The development of germs and other poisons suitable for military use has been directed not only at man, but against animals and plants to permit destruction of food supplies.

These explorations into bacteriology for military use also have led to new and valuable findings for more peaceful purposes concerning the control of diseases affecting humans, animals and crops.

Public Discussion Cramped

But the "don't-talk" order is interfering with public discussions of these nonmilitary aspects, persons in a position to know declare.

In this connection, George W. Merck, special consultant to the Secretary of War for bacteriological warfare, announced a year ago that steps were being taken to release technical papers which did not endanger military security.

Seven Arrested In Bribe Case

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—The FBI announced today the arrest of seven men in New York city and Columbia, S.C., on charges of conspiring to bribe a War Assets Administration official.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the men tried to bribe the WAA official at Columbia to give them preferential attention in the purchase of nearly $1,000,000 of steel and women's and men clothing.

The WAA official, Hoover said, was asked to open bids on surplus goods so the group could submit the right bid. The official, who was not identified, worked with FBI agents on the case, Hoover said.

Arrest List

The FBI director said special agents arrested the following at Columbia last Tuesday:

Edward Siegel, 44, a New York attorney; George A. Stein, 47, of Philadelphia; Rudolph Shlifer, 52, of Philadelphia, and Charles Kessler, 50, of Philadelphia.

Last night, Hoover said, FBI agents arrested, in New York city, George J. Aaronson, a merchandise buyer, and his two sons, Myron and Jules Aaronson.

$20,000 Bribe

Assistant United States District Attorney Henry H. Edens said in Columbia yesterday that the WAA official reported he had been offered a $20,000 bribe.

"Sheet steel at the Charleston Navy Yard, about 80,000 pairs of officers shoes and much WAC clothing was involved," Edens said. "Apparently they wanted a corner on all property that can be sold quickly."

WAA Probe Slated; O'Conor To Aid

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Senate Expenditures Committee today ordered a broad investigation of the War Assets Administration. It also made a bid for the right to act on forthcoming Army-Navy unification legislation.

Chairman Aiken (R., Vt.) told a reporter the committee decided to delegate three members to work with a House expenditures subcommittee in looking into the disposal of war surpluses. Reports that some surpluses have been withheld from the market will be one subject of inquiry, he added.

Three Named, Including O'Conor

Aiken named Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) as chairman of the subcommittee, with Senators McCarthy (R., Wis.) and O'Conor (D., Md.) as members.

All members of the full committee agreed, Aiken said, that legislation to put into effect the unification of the armed services should be considered by them under their authority to act on any reorganization of Government departments.

The Armed Services Committee, headed by Senator Gurney (R., S.D.), also has been bidding for this legislation.

To Scan Fertilizer Exports

Aiken named another subcommittee, which he will head, to look into what he described as reports that the War Department is shipping an excessive amount of fertilizer to foreign nations. Other members are Senators Thye (R., Minn.), Eastland (D., Miss.) and Willis Robertson (D., Va.).

"We want to look into numerous charges by agricultural interests that the War Department is diverting so much fertilizer from American needs to foreign fields that there is a serious threat that not enough food will be produced in this country this year," Aiken said.

R. F. C. Reports Net Cost Of War-Time Operations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP).—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation reported today the net cost of its war-time operations, not counting its lending activities, was $5,395,600,000 over a six-year period.

The R. F. C. also reported it derived a net income of $527,051,000 from its lending activities representing its gain on them after expenses and reserve provisions, over its first 14½ years, which include depression and war eras.

Those were salient figures in a consolidated balance sheet on the multi-billion dollar government corporation and its subsidiaries covering activities between R. F. C.'s founding in January, 1932, and last July 1.

Roosevelt Program Betrayed, Says Foster

New York, Jan. 23 (AP)—William Z. Foster, Communist party national chairman, told 18,000 persons at a Lenin memorial meeting last night that President Truman "has flagrantly betrayed the Roosevelt program, both in his domestic and foreign policies."

"The President's own proposals for anti-labor legislation, if enacted, would be highly injurious to the labor movement," Foster said. He added that organized labor "must therefore defeat Truman's anti-labor legislation, as well as that proposed by the Republican-Tory Democrat camp."

LONDON, JAN. 23-(AP)-DECLARING THAT HE COULD NOT OVERSTRESS THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE NATION'S MANPOWER SHORTAGE, SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS LAST NIGHT CALLED UPON BRITAIN'S WOMEN TO RETURN TO THE FACTORY JOBS THEY FILLED DURING THE WAR.

IF EITHER WORKERS OR EMPLOYERS "THINK THEY CAN WORK LESS AND EARN MORE WHEN THERE SIMPLY ISN'T ENOUGH PRODUCTION, THEN WE ARE JUST HEADING STRAIGHT FOR DISASTER," CRIPPS SAID.

LAKE SUCCESS,N.Y., JAN. 23-(AP)-A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY THAT GREAT BRITAIN WILL ASK THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TO RULE THAT ALBANIA MUST PAY COMPENSATION FOR THE CORFU CHANNEL MINE DISASTER IN WHICH TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS WERE BADLY DAMAGED AND 44 SEAMEN KILLED.

THE BRITISH CASE, CHARGING ALBANIA WITH "CRIMINAL DISREGARD" FOR THE SAFETY OF INNOCENT SEAMEN OF ANY NATIONALITY LAWFULLY USING AN INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY, IS SCHEDULED TO BE HEARD BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL NEXT TUESDAY.

THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL FIGURE MENTIONED OF THE AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION BRITAIN WOULD DEMAND, BUT AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES BELIEVED IT WOULD RUN INTO THE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

THE BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID HIS GOVERNMENT WOULD NOT ASK THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO SET THE AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION BUT MERELY TO RULE THAT THE SMALL BALKAN COUNTRY PAY SUFFICIENT DAMAGES. IF THE BRITISH SHOULD WIN SUCH A RULING, HE ADDED, THEN ALBANIA WOULD BE PRESENTED WITH A BILL.

THUS FAR, ALBANIA HAS REJECTED TWO BRITISH NOTES SEEKING A SETTLEMENT OF THE DISPUTE OUTSIDE THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

ALBANIA WAS NOTIFIED BY THE BRITISH THAT UNLESS THERE WAS SATISFACTORY APOLOGY AND COMPENSATION FOR THE MINING OF CORFU CHANNEL LAST OCT. 22 THE CASE WOULD BE BROUGHT BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

TWO WEEKS AGO BRITAIN FILED HER CASE. WHEN THE COUNCIL VOTED LAST MONDAY TO CONSIDER THE BRITISH CHARGES ALBANIA WAS NOTIFIED TO SEND A REPRESENTATIVE. ALBANIA IS NOT A MEMBER OF THE U.N.

THE ALBANIAN GOVERNMENT HAS NOT REPLIED AND THERE IS NO INDICATION THAT AN ALBANIAN REPRESENTATIVE WILL BE PRESENT WHEN THE COUNCIL MEETS TUESDAY.

THE BRITISH SPOKESMAN RECALLED THAT WHEN THE SOVIET UKRAINE BROUGHT ITS CASE AGAINST GREECE LAST FALL CHARGING A THREAT TO BALKAN PEACE THAT AN ALBANIAN REPRESENTATIVE WAS "AT THE COUNCIL DOOR, HAT IN HAND, WAITING TO BE CALLED TO TESTIFY."

"WE CAN'T UNDERSTAND THE DELAY NOR THE UTTER SILENCE OF ALBANIA NOW WHEN SHE IS DIRECTLY INVOLVED AND IS CALLED UPON TO ANSWER OUR CHARGES," THE SPOKESMAN SAID.

HE DECLARED THAT ALBANIA HAS HAD "SUFFICIENT NOTICE."

PARIS, JAN.23-(AP)-A FRENCH COMMUNIQUE TODAY REPORTED AN INCREASING NUMBER OF SORTIES AND A SERIES OF DETONATIONS FROM A MILE SQUARE NATIVE AREA OF HANOI, POSSIBLY INDICATING INCREASING DESPERATION AMONG THE 1,000 VIET-NAMESE ARMED YOUTH TRAPPED THERE.

THE COMMUNIQUE SAID GUNFIRE INCREASED IN INTENSITY AROUND THE PERIMETER OF THE ISOLATED AREA, ONLY PART OF THE INDOCHINA CAPITAL STILL HELD BY THE VIET-NAMESE, AND THAT THE DETONATIONS POSSIBLY WERE CAUSED BY BLOWING UP AMMUNITION STORES.

THE FRENCH HAVE NOT ATTACKED THE AREA IN WHICH 18,000 CHINESE AND ANNAMITE CIVILIANS ARE BELIEVED TRAPPED ALONG WITH THE TU-VE, OR ARMED YOUTH.

THE PLIGHT OF THE TU-VE HAS BEEN MADE INCREASINGLY DIFFICULT BY RECENT FRENCH OFFENSIVES WHICH HAVE SWEPT THE VIET-NAMESE OUT OF ALL THE IMPORTANT SUBURBS ON THE SOUTH AND WEST.

DURING THE LAST YEAR, THE EXPERT SAID, RUSSIA TOOK OUT ONLY 40,000 TONS OF BAUXITE--A THIRD OF THE SHIPMENTS SCHEDULED UNDER REPARATIONS. HE SAID THE RUSSIANS HAD SET UP AT ONE DNEPROPETROVSK ALUMINIUM FACTORY EQUIPMENT TAKEN FROM LAUTAWERKE OF GERMANY AND WERE SHIPPING HUNGARIAN ORE VIA THE DANUBE TO THE BLACK SEA.

"THIS WAS SLOW AND EXPENSIVE AND ENTAILED LOADING AND UNLOADING SEVERAL TIMES," HE ADDED.

AS A RESULT, HE SAID, THE BAUXITE INDUSTRY IN HUNGARY--ONE OF THE NATION'S MOST VALUABLE NATURAL RESOURCES--"IS PRACTICALLY AT A STANDSTILL."

"THE MOST LOGICAL SOLUTION SEEMS TO BE TO ESTABLISH FACTORIES IN THE AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH ZONES OF GERMANY WHERE THE ONLY EQUIPMENT OF IMPORTANCE IS NOW," HE ADDED. "BUT OF COURSE THERE REMAINS THE COMPLICATING FACTOR OF RUSSIAN PARTNERSHIP."

THE SOVIET-HUNGARIAN BAUXITE COMPANY WAS ONE OF FOUR SUCH ECONOMIC ARRANGEMENTS IN WHICH RUSSIA PUT UP HALF AND HUNGARY PUT UP THE REMAINDER. FOR THEIR HALF THE RUSSIANS PUT UP THE HOLDINGS OF THE BAUXITE TRUST OF ZURICH, WHICH OWNED 97 PERCENT OF HUNGARIAN BAUXITE, ON THE GROUNDS IT WAS A GERMAN-OWNED AND THEREFORE RUSSIAN PROPERTY UNDER TERMS OF THE POTSDAM AGREEMENT.

FURTHER, THE HUNGARIAN EXPERT SAID, UNDER THE AGREEMENT THE RUSSIANS WOULD FURNISH MACHINERY--PRESUMABLY TO BE CONFISCATED SOMEWHERE ELSE--TO RE-EQUIP MOST PROCESSING PLANTS IN THE COUNTRY. HUNGARY WOULD FINANCE ALL REPAIRS AND FINANCE FUTURE OPERATIONS. THE TWO COUNTRIES WOULD SPLIT THE PROFITS.

B28 (SEG)

BUT SO FAR, HE SAID, THE RUSSIANS HAVE BROUGHT IN NO EQUIPMENT, AND EVEN IF THEY HAD, HUNGARY COULD NOT AFFORD THE FINANCIAL BURDEN WITHOUT COURTING ANOTHER INFLATION.

ANOTHER MOURNFUL ASPECT OF HUNGARY'S DESTITUTION, HE SAID, IS THAT "WE DO NOT HAVE ENOUGH COAL TO PROCESS OUR TOTAL BAUXITE DEPOSITS. SOME PEOPLE MAY SAY WE COULD DO IT WITH ELECTRICITY, BUT NECESSARY EQUIPMENT WOULD COST $88,000,000."

HUNGARY'S BAUXITE DEPOSITS REPRESENT ONE-TENTH OF THE WORLD'S SUPPLY. THIS EXPERT SAID FRENCH DEPOSITS WOULD BE EXHAUSTED IN 10 TO 15 YEARS, AND ARKANSAS DEPOSITS WITHIN TWO YEARS.

BY NOT BEING ABLE TO MINE BAUXITE FOR EXPORT OR PROCESS IT FOR SHIPPING OUT TO FINISHING FACTORIES, HUNGARY IS LOSING AT LEAST $6,000,000 ANNUALLY, HE SAID.

ROME, JAN.23-(AP)-THE ROME DAILY AMERICAN TODAY QUOTED A HIGH-RANKING U.S. OFFICIAL IN TRIESTE AS SAYING THAT THE PROJECTED FREE CITY OF TRIESTE COULD BECOME "A TREMENDOUS CONTRIBUTION TO WORLD PEACE--IF THE WORLD WILL LET IT."

THE ENGLISH-LANGUAGE NEWSPAPER SAID THE OFFICIAL TOLD A GROUP OF VISITING AMERICAN PRESS AND RADIO CORRESPONDENTS THAT COMMERCE FLOWING THROUGH THE PORT TO AND FROM CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE COULD AID IN A "PEACEFUL PENETRATION" OF THE AREA DOMINATED BY SOVIET RUSSIA IF THE UNITED NATIONS TRULY IMPLEMENT THE AGREEMENTS REACHED ON TRIESTE.

"WE ARE COMMITTED TO MAKE IT GO," THE OFFICIAL WAS QUOTED AS SAYING. "WE ARE GOING TO PUT OUR JOHN HANCOCK ON THE TREATY AND THE RESPONSPBILITY IS PARTLY OURS."

THE OFFICIAL SAID THAT AN INTERNATIONAL PORT COMMISSION WOULD ARRIVE AT TRIESTE TO SUVERVISE DEVELOPMENT OF ITS FACILITIES, WHICH ALREADY CAN HANDLE 6,000 TONS DAILY.

THE PAPER SAID THE VISITING NEWSMEN WERE TOLD THAT THE ALLIED MILITARY GOVERNMENT IN VENEZIA GIULIA, WITH THE END OF ITS MISSION IN SIGHT, WAS "SATISFIED" WITH RESULTS ACHIEVED.

THEY ALSO WERE TOLD, IT SAID, THAT:

1- A "HEAVY SUBSIDY" FROM THE UNITED NATIONS OF AS MUCH AS $10,000,000 EVERY SIX MONTHS WOULD BE NEEDED DURING THE INITIAL PERIOD OF U.N. ADMINISTRATION, BUT THAT EVENTUALLY THE FREE STATE WOULD SUPPORT ITSELF.

2- A U.N. BOUNDARY COMMISSION WILL ARRIVE SOON TO SURVEY THE EXACT BORDERS OF THE NEW STATE. #

ROME, JAN. 23-(AP)-CESARE ROSI, THE MAN SOME USED TO CALL IL DUCE'S "POLITICAL BRAIN," TOLD THE COURT TRYING HIM FOR THE MURDER OF SOCIALIST DEPUTY GIACOMO MATTEOTTI TODAY THAT, THOUGH HE WAS INNOCENT, THE CRIME HAD PURSUED HIM DOWN THE YEARS.

THE ONE-TIME SECRETARY AND PRESS CHIEF OF MUSSOLINI THOUGHT OF HIS 18 YEARS IN FASCIST AND ANTI-FASCIST PRISONS, AND SAID:

"I HAVE ALWAYS CONSIDERED MYSELF THE SECOND VICTIM."

THEN, WHILE PRESIDING JUDGE ARTURO ERRA WAITED, ROSSI WEPT.

ROSSI IS ONE OF EIGHT SECOND-FLIGHT FASCISTS CHARGED WITH THE KIDNAPING AND SLAYING OF FASCISM'S MOST EFFECTIVE PARLIAMENTARY CRITIC JUNE 10, 1924. FOUR OF THE GROUP ARE ABSENT. OF MUSSOLINI'S CONNECTION WITH THE CASE, ROSSI SAID:

"THERE HAVE ALWAYS BEEN TWO THESES. ONE IS THAT MUSSOLINI GAVE THE DIRECT ORDER. THE OTHER IS THAT HE DID NOT. I TAKE MIDDLE GROUND."

THE FASCIST LEADER--"A VIOLENT, A VENGEFUL MAN"-- WAS OFTEN OUTSPOKEN IN HIS EXASPERATION AT THE "OBSTRUCTIONISM" OF THE PARLIAMENTARY OPPOSITION, ROSSI SAID, AND ADDED:

"I THOUGHT, MYSELF THAT MATTEOTTI WENT TOO FAR IN HIS LAST SPEECH."

ROME, JAN. 23-(AP)-U.S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS SAID TONIGHT THAT THE REVIEWING AUTHORITY HAD CONFIRMED THE DEATH SENTENCE OF ITALO SIMONETTI, ITALIAN NATIONAL CONVICTED OF KILLING ALFRED R.LYTH, OF KANSAS CITY, MO. HE WILL BE EXECUTED BY A FIRING SQUAD JAN. 27.

LYTH, A U.S. PILOT WHO WAS TAKEN PRISONER, WAS REMOVED IN FEBRUARY, 1945, FROM GERMAN INTELLIGENCE HEADQUARTERS WHERE HE HAD BEEN QUESTIONED, FORCED TO WALK TO A CEMETERY NEAR CAMPORGIANO AND SHOT. TESTIMONY AT THE TRIAL SHOWED THAT SIMONETTI, THEN A CAPTAIN IN A DIVISION THAT FOUGHT WITH THE GERMANS AFTER THE ITALIAN SURRENDER, GAVE THE ORDER FOR THE SHOOTING OF LYTH. #

ZAGREB, YUGOSLAVIA, JAN. 23-(AP)-REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNITED STATES CONSULATE HAVE CONFERRED WITH GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES CONCERNING THE DEATH SENTENCE AGAINST CHICAGO-BORN IVAN PINTAR, CONVICTED BY A YUGOSLAV COURT OF BEING IN THE SERVICE OF "INTERNATIONAL REACTIONARIES AND WAR MONGERS," IT WAS RELIABLY REPORTED TODAY.

THE CONSUL, THEODORE HOHENTHAL, REFUSED TO COMMENT ON THE REPORT, BUT SAID HE WAS "AWAITING RESULTS OF PINTAR'S APPEAL" AND PLANNED TO VISIT HIM VERY SOON.

ACCORDING TO REPORTS OF HIS TRIAL, PINTAR ADMITTED PROMISING OTHER DEFENDANTS, ALLEGED MEMBERS OF A TERRORIST GROUP, THAT HE WOULD TRY THROUGH FRIENDS IN THE AMERICAN CONSULATE TO HAVE FOOD AND AMMUNITION DROPPED TO THE GROUP. HE DENIED THAT HE WAS A SPY OR A FOREIGN AGENT.

THE CONSULATE TODAY DECLARED THAT ITS STAFF HAD NO CONNECTION WITH PINTAR, EITHER OFFICIALLY OR PERSONALLY, AND THAT THE ONLY TIME ANY OF THE PERSONNEL HAD SEEN HIM WAS IN FEBRUARY OF LAST YEAR WHEN HE APPLIED FOR REINSTATEMENT AS A UNITED STATES CITIZEN AND A PASSPORT TO RETURN TO AMERICA.

PINTAR, ACCORDING TO CONSULATE RECORDS, WAS BORN IN CHICAGO IN 1904 AND CAME TO ZAGREB IN 1933. HE LATER OPENED A SHOP SELLING AMERICAN GOODS IN SISAK.

MOSCOW, JAN. 23-(AP)-PRAVDA REFUSED TODAY TO WITHDRAW ITS CHARGE THAT BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN HAD "REPUDIATED" THE 20-YEAR BRITISH-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE. THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED THE BRITISH NOTE PROTESTING THE ACCUSATION, BUT SAID THE BRITISH FAILED TO SHOW ANY ERROR IN PRAVDA'S CONCLUSIONS.

ON JAN. 12 PRAVDA SAID THAT BEVIN HAD REPUDIATED THE PACT IN DEC. 22 BROADCAST TO THE BRITISH PEOPLE. BRITAIN REPLIED IN A NOTE TO THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT THAT THE PRAVDA COMMENTARY WAS "MISLEADING" AND THAT THE NEWSPAPER HAD QUOTED THE SECRETARY "OUT OF CONTEXT."

"THE CLAIM MADE BY THE GOVERNMENT OF GREAT BRITAIN SAYS ONE THING AND THE FACTS SHOW THE OPPOSITE," SAID A PRAVDA COMMENTARY ACCOMPANYING PUBLICATION OF THE NOTE. "WE PREFER TO HOLD TO THE FACTS."

PRAVDA DENIED THAT BEVIN'S STATEMENT SAYING BRITAIN WAS BINDING HIMSERSELF WITH NO ONE APART FROM HER OBLIGATIONS UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER WAS LIFTED OUT OF THE CONTEXT OF HIS SPEECH. THE NEWSPAPER DENIED ALSO THAT IT HAD MISINTERPRETED THE SPEECH.

PRAVDA RECALLED THAT BEVIN HAD DENIED CHARGES FROM HIS OWN PARTY MEMBERS THAT BRITAIN WAS TIED TOO CLOSELY WITH THE UNITED STATES IN MATTERS OF FOREIGN POLICY AND WAS DRIFTING AWAY FROM RUSSIA.

"IN REPLY TO CHARGES OF INSUFFICIENTLY CLOSER RELATIONS WITH SOVIET RUSSIA THE BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY MIGHT HAVE ASKED HIS ACCUSERS 'HOW CAN THEY HURL SUCH CHARGES WHEN BRITAIN IS BOUND WITH THE SOVIET UNION BY A TREATY OF ALLIANCE, IN WARTIME COLLABORATION AND MUTUAL AID AFTER THE WAR?'" PRAVDA SAID.

"BUT THIS IS PRECISELY WHAT BEVIN DID NOT SAY. HE SAID SOMETHING DIRECTLY CONTRARY TO THIS, WHICH PRAVDA CITED AND WHICH CANNOT BE DENIED."

LONDON, JAN. 23-(AP)-THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE, COMMENTING AS THE NEW SOVIET AMBASSADOR, GEORGI ZARUBIN, PRESENTED HIS CREDENTIALS TO KING GEORGE VI, REITERATED BRITAIN'S LOYWALTY TO THE 20-YEAR-OLD ANGLO-SOVIET TREATY OF ALLIANCE.

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN REPLIED TO RENEWED CRITICISM BY THE MOSCOW NEWSPAPER, PRAVDA, OF FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN'S BROADCAST OF DEC. 22 IN WHICH IT CONTENDED THAT BEVIN IN EFFECT HAD DENOUNCED THE TREATY BY DECLARING THAT BRITAIN WAS "NOT TIED" TO ANY NATION APART FROM HER OBLIGATIONS UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER.

THE SPOKESMAN CALLED ATTENTION TO A PASSAGE IN THE FOREIGN OFFICE STATEMENT ON THE MATTER LAST WEEK-END WHICH SAID BEVIN "HAS SEVERAL TIMES URGED AN EXTENSION OF THE TREATY AND HAS EXPRESSED REGRETS THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S PROPOSALS TO THIS EFFECT HAVE NOT FOUND ACCEPTANCE BY THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT."

"THE GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE HAS NOT CHANGED AND IT HAS NEVER OCCURRED TO THEM THAT THE TREATY SHOULD BE SUPERSEDED OR SUSPENDED," THE SPOKESMAN DECLARED.

DHAHRAN, SAUDI ARABIA, JAN. 22-(DELAYED)-(AP)-KING IBN SAUD MOVED LAST NIGHT FROM THE LUXURIOUS GUEST HOUSE OF THE ARABIAN AMERICAN OIL COMPANY TO A TENT IN THE DESERT WHERE DINNER GUESTS SAID HE TOLD THEM THAT FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT WAS "THE GREATEST MAN I EVER MET AND MY BEST FRIEND."

"HE UNDERSTOOD US," THEY QUOTED THE ARAB MONARCH AS SAYING.

IBN SAUD IS MAKING HIS FIRST VISIT SINCE 1939 TO THE HUGE OIL INDUSTRY DEVELOPED HERE BY THE AMERICAN CONCERN, OWNED BY STANDARD OIL OF CALIFORNIA AND THE TEXAS COMPANY, AND BY RECENT REPORTS, ALSO STANDARD OIL OF NEW JERSEY AND SOCONY-VACUUM.

GUESTS AT THE DINNER THE KING GAVE FOR AMERICAN OFFICIALS AND ARAB LEADERS SAID IBN SAUD TOLD THEM HE THOUGHT PRESIDENT TRUMAN WAS A FINE MAN, BUT HAD POOR ADVISORS.

THE KING, WHO MET ROOSEVELT ABOARD AN AMERICAN WARSHIP DURING THE WAR AND RECEIVED A TRANSPORT PLANE AS A GIFT FROM HIM, FREQUENTLY HAS CRITICIZED MR.TRUMAN'S PROPOSAL THAT AN ADDITIONAL 100,000 JEWS BE ADMITTED TO PALESTINE. IBN SAUD CONTENDS PALESTINE IS AN ARAB LAND AND SHOULD BE AN INDEPENDENT ARAB STATE.

ROAST SHEEP AND OTHER ARAB DISHES WERE SERVED AT THE DINNER. THE ARAB RULER SAT ON THE RICHLY CARPETED FLOOR WITH 75 GUESTS, INCLUDING 13 AMERICANS REPRESENTING THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AND THE OIL COMPANY.

IBN SAUD SAID HE ADMIRED THE NEATNESS AND STABILITY OF AMERICAN HOMES, BUT THAT THEY WERE NOT SUFFICIENTLY OPEN TO SUIT HIS TASTE.

"WHAT DO YOU DO IF FIRE BREAKS OUT ON THE UPPER FLOOR?" GUESTS SAID HE ASKED.

THE KING FOUND HIS DOUBLE-WALLED, ELECTRICALLY LIGHTED TENT MORE COMFORTABLE THAN THE NEW TWO-STORY AIR CONDITIONED GUEST HOUSE OF

THE OIL COMPANY. THE HOUSE HAD BEEN FURNISHED WITH EXPENSIVE ORIENTAL RUGS IN HIS HONOR AND PROVIDED WITH AN ENLARGED SHOWER ROOM TO ACCOMMODATE HIS HUGE FRAME.

IBN SAUD MOTORED THROUGH THE DHAHRAN AREA THIS MORNING WITH JAMES MACPHERSON, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE OIL COMPANY. HE SAW THE PLANT WHERE BRICKS ARE MADE FOR HOMES AND OFFICES OF THIS COMPANY TOWN WHERE 1,400 AMERICANS AND 8,000 TO 9,000 ARAB EMPLOYES LIVE.

HE SAW THE COMPANY'S SCHOOL FOR ARAB CHILDREN AND BLOCKS OF AIR CONDITIONED BUNGALOWS WHICH LOOKED LIKE THE RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT OF A WESTERN AMERICAN COMMUNITY.

A BANQUET IN THE KING'S HONOR WAS ARRANGED FOR TONIGHT IN THE COMMUNITY MESS HALL. THE PROGRAM THURSDAY CALLED FOR A VISIT TO RAS TANURA, WHERE THE COMPANY HAS BUILT A $45,000,000 REFINERY SINCE THE KING WAS HERE LAST.

BOMBAY, JAN.23-(AP)-FOR THE SECOND TIME IN 12 HOURS, POLICE FIRED ON RIOTOUS COMMUNAL DEMONSTRATORS TODAY, WOUNDING THREE PERSONS, BUT DECLINED TO INTERFERE WITH AN OUTLAWED STUDENT CELEBRATION OF THE BIRTHDAY OF SUBHAS CHANDRA BOSE, INDIAN POLITICAL LEADER WHO JOINED THE JAPANESE DURING THE WAR.

POLICE SAID THE COMMUNAL DISORDERS HAD NO CONNECTION WITH THE BOSE DEMONSTRATIONS. THE POLICE FIRED NINE ROUNDS AT STONE THROWERS LAST NIGHT.

NEARLY ALL MILLS, WORKSHOPS AND FACTORIES WERE CLOSED TODAY AND TROOPS WERE ON THE ALERT IN FIVE POLICE STATIONS, BUT THE BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION GOT OFF TO A RELATIVELY PEACEFUL START. THERE WAS NOTHING TO INDICATE THERE WOULD BE ANY SUCH FLAREUP OF ANTI-BRITISH FEELING AS OCCURRED ON THE ANNIVERSARY A YEAR AGO, THAT PROBABLY WAS THE WORST SINGLE DAY OF RIOTING IN BOMBAY'S HISTORY.

STUDENTS, PARADING IN DEFIANCE OF POLICE ORDERS, DISTRIBUTED HANDBILLS DEMANDING THAT THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY AT NEW DELHI ESTABLISH A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT INDEPENDENT OF BRITAIN. STONE THROWERS HALTED BUS TRAFFIC FOR A TIME ON BUSY SANDHURST ROAD, BUT ELSEWHERE SHOPS WERE OPEN.

POLICE EXPLAINED INFORMALLY THAT IN THE INTEREST OF PEACE THEY VIEWED THE STUDENT PROCESSION SIMPLY AS "PEOPLE GOING HOME" FROM A MASS MEETING EXTOLLING BOSE AND THEREFORE WOULD NOT INTERFERE. RUMORS CIRCULATED THAT BOSE WOULD APPEAR TODAY, ALTHOUGH THE ARMY ANNOUNCED LONG SINCE THAT HE DIED IN A PLANE CRASH IN FORMOSA TWO YEARS AGO.

DR.BUTLER, PRESIDENT EMERITUS OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, TOLD A DINNER OF THE PILGRIMS OF THE UNITED STATES IN NEW YORK LAST NIGHT THAT HE WAS WITH DAVID LLOYD GEORGE IN ENGLAND IN 1921 WHEN THE GOVERNMENTAL HEADS OF CANADA, AUSTRALIA, NEW ZEALAND AND INDIA THREATENED TO SECEDE UNLESS GRANTED GREATER REGIONAL AUTONOMY AND INDEPENDENCE FROM THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

"THERE IS NOT A WORD OF TRUTH IN IT," HUGHES SAID. "I CAN'T MAKE OUT HOW DR.BUTLER COULD HAVE GOT HOLD OF THIS FANTASTIC STORY."

FINLAND (240)

WASHINGTON, JAN. 23 (AP) UNCLE SAM IS PUTTING UP ANOTHER $32,000,000 TO HELP PUT HIS BEST PAYING FOREIGN BORROWER, FINLAND, BACK ON ITS FEET.

FINLAND, TREASURY OFFICIALS SAID TODAY, REMAINS THE ONLY BORROWER WHICH HAS NEVER FAILED TO MAKE THE PAYMENTS ON A DEBT CONTRACTED WITH THIS COUNTRY AS AN AFTERMATH OF THE FIRST WORLD WAR.

THE LITTLE BALTIC NATION WILL GET THE NEW CREDITS FROM THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK, WHICH LET IT HAVE $40,000,000 IN 1945 AND 1946 TO BUY SOME URGENTLY NEEDED MATERIALS AND EQUIPMENT IN THIS COUNTRY, MOSTLY TO RESTORE ITS LUMBER, PULP AND PAPER EXPORTS.

THE BANK SAID IT EXPECTS THE ADDITIONAL CREDITS--ALSO TO BE SPENT ENTIRELY IN THIS COUNTRY--PLUS "SOME FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FROM OTHER SOURCES" WILL ENABLE FINLAND TO REESTABLISH ITS FOREIGN TRADE ON A SELF-SUSTAINING BASIS.

BUT THE BANK'S DIRECTORS DOUBTLESS WERE COUNTING AS MUCH ON FINLAND'S PAST RECORD FOR PAYING UP AS WELL AS ITS FUTURE PROSPECTS WHEN THEY AGREED TO THE NEW LOAN.

1947

THAT RECORD LOOKED LIKE THIS ON THE TREASURY'S BOOKS:

FINLAND WAS FURNISHED WITH AROUND $9,000,000 WORTH OF RELIEF SUPPLIES ON CREDIT AFTER THE ARMISTICE IN 1918.

SINCE THEN, IT HAS PAID ABOUT $6,000,000 IN INTEREST ALONE. IT STILL OWES ABOUT $8,325,000 ON THE PRINCIPAL. INTEREST KEEPS PILING UP AT A 3 PER CENT RATE, WITH PAYMENTS DUE EACH JUNE AND DECEMBER.

FINLAND HAS NEVER DEFAULTED ON ITS PAYMENTS, ALTHOUGH SOME POST-PONEMENTS HAVE BEEN ARRANGED BY THIS COUNTRY, AS DURING THE FINNS' 1940-41 WAR WITH RUSSIA.

WASHINGTON, JAN 23-(AP)-CHAIRMAN BRADLEY (R-MICH) OF THE HOUSE MERCHANT MARINE COMMITTEE TODAY DEMANDED THE IMMEDIATE RETURN OF MORE THAN 200 U.S. MERCHANT SHIPS CHARTERED TO BRITAIN DURING THE WAR AND NOW BEING USED, HE SAID, "IN COMPETITION WITH THE AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE."

BRADLEY INTRODUCED A RESOLUTION FOR THE RETURN OF THESE SHIPS. HE ALSO TOLD REPORTERS THAT THE COMMITTEE HAD DECIDED ON AN INVESTIGATION OF THE CONDITION OF THIS COUNTRY'S IMMOBILIZED MERCHANT FLEET, BUILT DURING THE WAR.

THE MICHIGAN LAWMAKER SAID A FLEET OF "OVER 200" AMERICAN SHIPS WENT TO BRITAIN UNDER AN AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE U.S. WAR SHIPPING ADMINISTRATION AND THE BRITISH MINISTER OF WAR TRANSPORT DATED NOV. 24, 1944.

"SUCH VESSELS ARE BEING CHARTERED TO GREAT BRITAIN ON TERMS MORE FAVORABLE THAN THOSE UNDER WHICH CHARTERS ARE BEING MADE BY OUR OWN CITIZENS," HE SAID.

LABOUNTY, WHO HAS SAILED THE GREAT LAKES FOR 38 YEARS, WILL FIRST MAKE A STUDY OF THE LAID-UP MERCHANT SHIPS AND LATER OF THE REPAIR COSTS OF SUBSIDIZED MERCHANT VESSELS, BRADLEY SAID.

ASKED WHETHER THE COMMITTEE WILL CONTINUE ITS INVESTIGATION OF WARTIME SHIPBUILDING COSTS BRADLEY TOLD REPORTERS THIS WAS UNDECIDED PENDING A CONFERENCE WITH HOUSE REPUBLICAN LEADERS.

HE SAID HE FAVORS A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION THAT WOULD LEAD, "IF POSSIBLE, TO RECAPTURE OF GOVERNMENT FUNDS," BUT DECLARED IT WOULD BE EXPENSIVE.

"THE MUZZLE VELOCITY OF WAR HAS INCREASED IN GEOMETRIC PROGRESSION FROM THE MUSKET TO THE ROCKET," EISENHOWER SAID LAST NIGHT AT AN INDUSTRY-ARMY DAY DINNER.

"THE TIME INTERVAL BETWEEN INITIAL ASSAULT AND A CRIPPLED NATION HAS BEEN BARROWED BY EVERY IMPROVEMENT IN OFFENSIVE WEAPONS," THE CHIEF OF STAFF SAID. "AN INCONTESTABLE CONCLUSION THAT EMERGES FROM WORLD WAR 2 IS THAT MODERN WARS ARE FOUGHT WITH THE CONCERTED STRENGTH OF WHOLE NATIONS, AND THAT THE INTEGRATION OF OUR NATIONAL ECONOMY INTO AN EFFECTIVE SECURITY MACHINE MUST BE ACCOMPLISHED--IN THOUGHT AND IN PLAN--BEFORE AN EMERGENCY OCCURS.

"THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR ACHIEVING THIS PURPOSE RESTS WITH ALL OF US. XXX THE WHOLE TASK MUST BE SHARED BY ALL OUR PRODUCTIVE FACILITIES AND ALL INSTRUMENTALITIES OF GOVERNMENT."

EISENHOWER SAID THAT, FAR FROM BEING PESSIMISTIC ABOUT WORLD COLLABORATION, THE ARMY, "ALONG WITH ALL OTHERS WHO UNDERSTAND THE BASIC FUTILITY AND STUPIDITY OF WAR, BELIEVE THAT ONLY THROUGH SUCCESS IN INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION IS THERE ANY ABSOLUTE SECURITY FOR US AND FOR ALL NATIONS.

THE ROCKET, 19TH IN A SERIES OF FORTNIGHTLY TESTS, WAS ALLOWED TO ASCEND ONLY 28 MILES IN TO THE SKY, AND THE SPEED WAS KEPT DOWN TO 2,390 FEET A SECOND, THE WHITE SANDS COMMANDANT SAID. THESE FIGURES COMPARE WITH A MAXIMUM ALTITUDE OF 114 MILES AND 5,450 FEET A SECOND IN PREVIOUS TESTS.

THE CONTROLS WERE IN THE ROCKET. THROUGH RADIO AND OTHER SCIENTIFIC EQUIPMENT, COL.TURNER SAID, THE EXPERIMENT DEMONSTRATED THE RELIABILITY OF GROUND OPERATION OF ROCKET FLIGHT.

THE APPLICATION OF NEW WEAPONS TO ACTUAL WARFARE IS A LONG DISTANCE IN THE FUTURE. WE ARE NOT NOW IN ANYTHING LIKE A SUPER-BLITZ."

APPARENTLY REFERRING TO HIS RECENT STATEMENT IN FLORIDA THAT HE WAS NOT IN POLITICS AT THIS TIME, EISENHOWER TOLD THE INVESTMENT BANKERS, IN INVITING THEM TO ASK HIM QUESTIONS:

"I MUST WARN YOU THAT THERE IS ONLY ONE FIELD IN WHICH I AM MORE IGNORANT THAN I AM ABOUT FINANCE--AND THAT IS POLITICS."

GENERAL EISENHOWER ASSERTED FLATLY THE NATION AND ITS INDIVIDUAL COMMUNITIES MUST SEE TO IT THAT HOUSES ARE OBTAINED FOR VETERANS.

"ANY COUNTRY WHICH CAN POUR OUT ALL THAT WE DID IN THIS WAR CAN BUILD ENOUGH HOUSES TO TAKE CARE OF THE VETERANS WHO WENT OVERSEAS TO FIGHT IT," HE SHOUTED.

THE GENERAL MADE THE STATEMENT DURING THE QUESTION PERIOD.

Stalin Seeks Stronger Ties In Treaty With Great Britain

ANGLO-RED TREATY NOT 'REPUDIATED' SAY BEVIN, STALIN

GLENN WILLIAMS

Revision, Strengthening Before Extension Is Proposed by Russian.

TEMPEST SETTLED

England May Now Prove Willing to Remove 'Reservations.'

LONDON, Jan. 24—(AP) Prime Minister Stalin has agreed with Foreign Secretary Bevin that the 20-year British Russian alliance has not been "repudiated" but has suggested that it will have to be revised and strengthened if it is to be extended to 50 years, an exchange of notes disclosed tonight.

"It is now clear that you and I share the same view-point with regard to the Anglo-Soviet treaty," Stalin said in a note written Jan. 23 and released by the British foreign office.

But he added with regard to Bevin's repeated proposals to extend the treaty until 1992: "I must say that if one is to speak seriously of such an extension, then, before extending this treaty, it is necessary to change it, freeing it from the reservations which weaken this treaty."

British Stand Unclear

Whether Britain would be willing to negotiate a revised pact was not clear tonight, although informed British sources said Bevin soon might ask revision, extension and strengthening of the treaty.

A foreign office spokesman said this week, however, in answering newsmen's questions whether Bevin's offer to extend the pact implied revision also, that "as I understand it, the offer implied that the word 'twenty' would be substituted by the word 'fifty'."

One well-informed source said tonight that Great Britain now might approach Stalin with a willingness to remove the "reservations," as well as lengthen the time of the pact.

This source noted that a British-French alliance now was being drafted by the foreign office along the general lines of the French-Russian and British-Russian treaties and observed that if this trio of pacts could be cemented, they probably would become a firm basis for European peace.

Tempest Is Settled

The exchange of notes appeared to have settled the tempest which began Dec. 22 with Bevin's radio review of foreign affairs which contained the statement that Britain "does not tie herself to anyone."

That statement, construed at the time as an effort to answer criticisms that Britain's policy was too closely bound with the United States and as an effort to approach to easier relations with Russia, was picked up by Pravda, and interpreted by that Communist party organ in Moscow as a renunciation of Britain's Soviet alliance.

The British at once issued a public statement that the treaty was neither "superseded or suspended," and then on last Saturday sent the Moscow government a note declaring the Pravda article "misleading" and reaffirming the treaty.

Bevin also was disclosed today to have got off a note directly to Stalin asserting "it is certainly not my view" that the treaty was dead.

Stalin Is Puzzled

This note disclosed that Stalin also had expressed puzzlement at Bevin's Dec. 22 statement when the Russian leader talked with Field Marshal Lord Montgomery during the latter's recent visit to Moscow, and had inquired whether it left the treaty "suspended in the air."

In his reply, Stalin admitted he had been caused perplexity as "it seems to me that such a statement without a corresponding explanation can be used by the enemies of Anglo-Soviet friendship."

"For me," he continued, "it is clear that no matter what reservations there are in the Anglo-Soviet treaty, and no matter how those reservations weaken the significance of the treaty in the post-war period, the existence of the Anglo-Soviet treaty imposes obligations on our countries."

"However," Stalin added, "your message and the statement of the British government completely explain the affair and do not leave room for misunderstandings."

Agree to Publication

The foreign office said Bevin and Stalin had agreed to publication of the notes and that Bevin had sent Stalin a message thanking him for his "very frank and helpful statement."

The treaty provides:

1. Mutual aid against Germany and her European allies "until the reestablishment of peace."
2. Agreement not to negotiate with any German government, for a period of 20 years from 1942 except for German governments which "clearly renounce all aggressive intentions."
3. Agreement on a desire to join other states "for common action to preserve peace and resist aggression in the postwar period."
4. Agreement to give each other military and other support against revival of Axis aggression in the postwar period until more permanent peace keeping methods could be worked out with other states. This agreement to remain in force for 20 years and "thereafter until terminated."
5. An agreement to "work together in close and friendly collaboration after the reestablishment of peace for the organization of security and economic prosperity in Europe" and to "take into account the interests of the United Nations in these objects."
6. Agreement to "render one another all possible economic assistance after the war."
7. Agreement "not to conclude any alliance and not to take part in any coalition directed against the other."

Bevin-Stalin Messages

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Following are the texts, as made public by the British Foreign Office, of the messages exchanged between Foreign Secretary Bevin and Premier Stalin about the twenty-year treaty of alliance between Britain and the Soviet Union:

Bevin to Stalin, Jan. 18

I am gratified at the friendly reception which was given to the Chief of the Imperial Staff [Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery] in Moscow and am studying with interest the account which he has given me of his conversations with you.

We are, however, disturbed at the suggestion which you made to him that the Anglo-Soviet treaty of allied and post-war collaboration might be regarded in London as "suspended in the air" since it might be regarded as superseded by the United Nations organization.

This view has been attributed to me personally in the most misleading manner by Pravda in an article on Jan. 15, which takes out of its context and misinterprets one sentence in my broadcast of Dec. 22. In fact, I said what all other major Allies have said, namely, that they based their policy on the United Nations organization.

I cannot understand what is behind this line of reasoning, and I am the more amazed at the Pravda article since I understand from Field Marshal Montgomery that you said this was not your own view regarding the treaty. It is certainly not my view either.

Since Pravda has published this misleading article, I have no alternative but to issue a statement which I should like you to see in advance, making the views of His Majesty's Government clear once again on this subject. I propose to publish it on the morning of Jan. 20.

Stalin to Bevin, Jan. 23

I have received your message of 18 January. I must admit that your statement that Great Britain is not tied to anybody except in regard to her obligations arising from the Charter caused me some perplexity.

It seems to me that such a statement without a corresponding explanation can be used by the enemies of Anglo-Soviet friendship. For me it is clear that no matter what reservations there are in the Anglo-Soviet treaty, and no matter how those reservations weaken the significance of the treaty in the post-war period, the existence of the Anglo-Soviet treaty imposes obligations on our countries.

It was just these circumstances that I had in mind when I stated on 17 September, 1946, in my interview with Mr. Alexander Werth [correspondent of The London Sunday Times] that "the Soviet Union is bound by the treaty of mutual assistance against German aggression with Great Britain" and, that means, has obligations with regard to Great Britain, not counting the obligations arising from the Charter.

However, your message and the statement of the British Government completely explain the affair and do not leave room for misunderstandings. It is now clear that you and I share the same viewpoint with regard to the Anglo-Soviet treaty.

As regards the extension of the Anglo-Soviet treaty, to which special reference is made in the British Government's statement, I must say that if one is to speak seriously of such an extension, then, before extending this treaty, it is necessary to change it, freeing it from the reservations which weaken this treaty. Only after such a procedure would it be possible to talk seriously of an extension of the treaty.

Bevin to British Envoy, Jan. 24

Please thank the Generalissimo [Premier Stalin] for his very frank and helpful statement and inform him that I am releasing it for tomorrow's press, together with my message to him of 18 January.

GERMAN ECONOMY HELD PEACE PERIL

Relief Through Potsdam Agreement Revision Is Urged by South Africa.

A.J. STEINKOPF

LONDON, Jan. 24—(AP) The Union of South Africa joined Australia today in demanding a quick revision of the Potsdam agreement to improve Germany's war-blighted economy, which it described as a dangerous potential menace to peace.

E. K. Scallan, the union's acting high commissioner in London, in addressing the four-power deputy foreign ministers now preparing the groundwork for the German peace treaty, asked that the rate of current German coal exports, reparations deliveries and plant dismantling be "reconsidered," official American sources said.

Territory Demands Opposed

Scallan opposed large scale territorial demands on Germany and advocated a decentralized German government.

The 10th day of German-Austrian peace making brought these other developments, as reported by American diplomats:

1. South Africa and Australia pressed their demand for fuller participation by smaller powers in all treaty deliberations and again were rebuffed by Russian Deputy Feodor I. Gousev, with no final decision reached on the issue.

2. Australia asked for an early, separate peace conference on Austria and said that Austrian peace should impose no unjustifiable burdens or humiliations.

3. The deputies in the German treaty section scheduled a meeting tomorrow to hear the Canadian representative and agreed that the meeting would be cancelled if Canada carried out its threat to "boycott" the deliberations.

Unable to Pay

Meanwhile, Dr. Karl Gruber, Austrian foreign minister, told newsmen his war-flattened nation would be unable to pay reparations to anyone.

"We deny all claims," he said, declaring that reparations would make it impossible for Austria to stand alone as a free nation.

Yugoslavia already has demanded more than $11,000,000,000 in reparations from Austria, as well as the cession of part of Austrian Carinthia.

Gousev criticized both South Africa and Australia for raising questions of peace making procedure. He said that, as chairman of the session this week he had instructed both nations to discuss only the German problem itself.

Robert Murphy, the United States delegate, Sir William Strang of Great Britain and Jacques Paris of France said they could not agree to such instructions.

The deputies, after debating the issue at two meetings, agreed to reply in writing to a Canadian note asking assurances that if Canada presented her views now she would not be barred from taking part in later deliberations.

The reply, as finally drafted, said in effect that the deputies would be glad to hear Canada's presentation. There was no immediate indication whether Canada would consider the note satisfactory.

Separate Parley Urged

Earlier, Australia proposed a separate peace conference for Austria, while Czechoslovak spokesmen declared they were preparing demands for strict control of every phase of the political, social and industrial life of Germany.

Col. W. R. Hodgson of Australia told the four-power council which is doing the preliminary work on Austrian and German treaties that he favored a lenient peace for Austria. He said she should be deemed to have had no primary responsibility for the war. A separate peace conference for Austria should be held, he said, so the treaty could be concluded speedily and occupation troops withdrawn.

Czechoslovak spokesmen said they were preparing demands for substantial reparations and modest territorial concessions from Germany, but that their chief concern was iron-clad control to prevent a resurgence of aggression.

They will demand complete military disarmament of Germany, they continued, a planned economy to steer the country away from war production and a prohibition of agitation or propaganda against the peace settlements.

The final plan for Germany, they added, must allow for a gradual raising of the living standard of the German people.

Can't Pay War Claims: Austria

London, Jan. 24 (AP)—Austrian Foreign Minister Karl Gruber said today that his country would be unable to pay reparations to anyone.

Gruber told a news conference that if Austria was to be the free and independent nation advocated in the Moscow declaration, "the conditions making freedom and independence possible must be provided."

Yugoslavia has asked the four-power Foreign Ministers' deputies framing the German and Austrian treaties that Austria be made to pay reparations to compensate in part for German-Austrian war damages suffered by the Yugoslavs, estimated at $11,000,000,000.

"Deny All Claims"

Gruber said Austria, if made to pay reparations, would not be able to stand alone economically and added categorically: "We deny all claims."

The Foreign Minister, who, with other Austrian officials, will present their country's views to the deputies Thursday, also denied that Austria could afford to lose any of her territory and hope to survive as an independent nation.

Calling Austria the "first victim of Nazi aggression," Gruber said the peace treaty should preserve the country's 1937 borders, recognize its sovereign status, and end military occupation.

Separate Parley Asked

British sources said Col. W. R. Hodgson, of Australia, called today for a separate international peace conference for Austria, declaring that the Austrian treaty should impose no unjustifiable burdens or humiliations.

These sources said that Hodgson told the deputies that the treaty should be concluded quickly and that occupation troops, which he termed a burden on Austrian economy, should be withdrawn immediately after the signing ceremonies.

Russ Stand Firm

Russia stood firm in rejecting demands by small nations for an equal voice with the United States, Russia, Britain and France in writing the German and Austrian treaties.

Feodor T. Gousev, deputy Soviet Foreign Minister, sharply challenged claims by Australia and other small nations to the right of full participation in the deputies' conference now preparing preliminary treaty drafts for the Big Four Foreign Ministers meeting in Moscow in March.

"This right to draft treaties was not grabbed," Gousev snapped at last night's session, authoritative American sources reported. "It was bought with the greatest amount of blood."

Australian Stand

Hodgson, leading the fight of the small Allied belligerents, had protested that the little nations were given scant opportunity to determine what went into the treaties for Italy and other Axis satellites and now were being denied a full voice in the German and Austrian settlements.

Informants said Gousev declared that the Big Four made the major decisions during the war and should continue to do so in the peace treaties.

French, British and American deputies were reported as not adverse to the small-power demands for seats at the conference table, but no decision was made and, for the present at least, the smaller nations will continue to appear only on invitation.

Potsdam Change Asked

Hodgson, carrying on a fight he first began at the Paris Peace Conference last summer, asked that every active Allied belligerent be given a full voice in writing the German and Austrian settlements and proposed at the same time that the Potsdam agreement be enlarged to give smaller powers an "active part" in the control of Germany.

Hodgson supported an idea advanced earlier by United States Deputy Robert Murphy, who suggested that a peace be imposed upon Germany to save a new German government from the "onus" of signing the treaty. Murphy also suggested that the treaty be ratified in time by a plebiscite of the German people.

Stalin Rejects British Cadet Exchange Plan

Holds Move, Suggested by Montgomery, Might Be Interpreted as War Step

LONDON, Jan. 25 (Saturday) (AP).—The Moscow radio quoted the Russian official news agency, Tass, early today as saying that Prime Minister Stalin rejected a proposal by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery that the British and Soviet military academies exchange student officers, because Stalin held that the measure might be interpreted as a preparation for war.

Referring to a Paris radio report that Stalin had turned down the proposal, Tass said Montgomery raised the question during his recent visit to Moscow and that Stalin replied that such an exchange of officers was desirable but that the present time was "not quite appropriate for this."

"Stalin explained that whether the point lies in standardization of training and armaments or an exchange of officers in peace time, these measures might be interpreted as preparation for war," the Moscow radio quoted Tass as saying.

"Upon the initiative of the great powers, the United Nations organization adopted a resolution of armaments reduction. This produced quite a different mood of public opinion. Therefore, the exchange of officers at the present time would run counter to this mood of public opinion.

"Stalin noted at the same time that various press organs denounced Britain and the United States as preparing for war by practicing an exchange of officers and a standardization of training and armaments.

"The Soviet Union would not like also to become an object of denunciation, which would be the case had the Soviet Union also adopted such a path for better or worse. The great powers made public opinion believe there was no reason to prepare for war. The exchange of officers would be out of harmony with these peaceable sentiments."

London Palestine Parley Will Reopen Monday

London, Jan. 24 (AP)—Britain will resume its search for a solution to the thorny Palestine problem next Monday, the Colonial Office announced tonight, when Arab representatives—but no Jewish representatives—meet to reopen the London Palestine conference.

Newcomers to the conference will be the Palestine Arab delegation, headed by Jamal Effendi Husseini, cousin of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem. The British rejection of the Mufti as a delegate to the conference's earlier sessions last fall caused Palestine Arabs to boycott the sessions then.

Arab League states participating in the conference are Egypt, Iraq, Lebanon, Palestine, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Trans-Jordan and Yemen.

Burmans Guests of King George

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP)—King George VI held a Buckingham Palace luncheon today for U Aung San and other Burman leaders here for independence talks. A spokesman for the India and Burma office said no agreement on independence for Burma was in sight, but "progress has been made."

FRANCE PROPOSES CREATION IN REICH OF CONFEDERATION

J. DYNAN (N)

PARIS, Jan. 24 (AP)—France proposed today that the post-occupation government of Germany be modeled along the lines of a loose confederation, with a weak central government and with the states even reserving some powers over their own foreign relations.

Departing radically from a previous French stand, however, the plan did not mention any special status for the Ruhr valley. France's post-war governments have been demanding that the Ruhr be internationalized and that the Rhineland be detached from the Reich.

States Handle Diplomacy

Under the plan each state could handle its own special diplomatic relations with a neighboring foreign government. An official spokesman said this was intended to cover agreements between Bavaria and Austria, for example. Obviously however, it would also cover arrangements between the Rhineland and France, Belgium, Holland or Luxembourg.

The official spokesman said France has dispatched two memoranda to the other three members of the Foreign Ministers Council which is to meet in Moscow in March, one dealing with establishment of state and federal government organs during a transition stage under supervision of Allied Military Government, and the other dealing with Germany's permanent constitution.

Announcement of the formulation of France's detailed policy on Germany coincided with the return to the foreign ministry in Georges Bidault, and followed the first meeting of Paul Ramadier's new cabinet.

The French plan for a permanent German constitution differed from American views as expressed by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, who has proposed a "United States of Germany", in its emphasis on state powers.

Under the French plan there would be no national police or army for internal security. The states would have exclusive jurisdiction over police, education, justice, public health and related fields.

One-Year President

The central government would consist of a president elected for only one year, ineligible for reelection and responsible to parliament, a one-house parliament consisting of four "senators" appointed from each state, and a supreme court which would interpret federal and state poweres.

Central government ministries would be limited to foreign affairs, national economy, finance, food, transport, communications and agriculture.

The central government would be located in a federal district elsewhere than Berlin.

The spokesman said France was reserving her attitude on military questions and the number of states that should be created.

For the provisional period France proposed that the states reserve all powers not expressly delegated to the federal regime.

The veto over state actions would be kept by an Allied supervisor.

The central administration in this provisional period would be comprised of several councils of German state ministers under an Allied supervisor which would be entrusted with communications, transport, food supply and agriculture. Allied personnel would continue to direct finance and national economy with the assistance of German consultative committees of state ministers.

New System Urged For Reich Zones

Paris, Jan. 24 (AP)—The French Government today proposed a two-stage plan for converting the four German zones of occupation into a federalized central administration both under and after military occupation.

The Foreign Office, an official spokesman said, dispatched two detailed memoranda on German government to the other members of the Foreign Ministers Council for discussion in Moscow in March.

The first of these dealt with the establishment of state and Federal Government organs under the supervision of the Allied Military Government, and the second concerned Germany's postoccupation constituted.

Both would grant a preponderance of power to the state governments and restrict the Federal Government to authority specifically delegated to the state.

Hanoi French Battle Viet-Namese Snipers

Hanoi, Indo-China, Jan. 23 [AP — Delayed] — Armor-supported French riflemen struck at Viet-Namese barricades in the northern section of this embattled capital today, captured several blocks of streets and cleared approaches to the Doumer Bridge.

A mortar barrage opened the attack. Bazooka shells and hand grenades were used to fire houses from which Tu Ve (Viet-Nam youth) snipers engaged the French vanguards.

The snipers, using a trick widely developed in World War II, passed from one house to another through channels cut through the walls, to engage the French farther on when positions became untenable. They killed two French soldiers and wounded ten. [The Viet-Nam casualties were not reported in this dispatch, which passed through French censorship.]

The most severe fighting raged in the Rue Des Tubercules and near the Central Market. The Central Market, held by the Viet-Nam forces which seek full independence from French rule, was placed under French fire.

FRENCH TROOPS CLEAR HANOI AREA

PARIS, Jan. 24—(AP) French marines, parachute troopers and commandos used bazookas, mortars and grenades to drive Viet-Namese out of a 200-yard sector of streets and barricaded houses in southern Hanoi in some of the fiercest action there in weeks, dispatches from Indo China said today.

The Viet-Namese used a tactic employed in street fighting in World War II in Europe, punching holes through house walls to form continuous covered passageways for their snipers.

The fighting started at noon yesterday, the dispatches said, when the French began an attack on the northern perimeter of a mile square area in the native quarter held by about 1,000 Tu-Ve, or armed youth.

The attack was aimed at drawing the lines tighter about the Viet-Namese and at freeing the approaches to the Doumer bridge which links the main part of the city with the chief airport.

Although the French fought through barricades and burning houses and against sharp sniper fire along the "Rue des Tubercules" and near the Central Market, they said they lost but two dead and 10 wounded. They did not give the Viet-Namese losses.

A French press agency dispatch from Saigon in southern Indochina said 100 villagers at Nguyen Sang, 65 miles southwest of Saigon, were massacred and their town burned by Viet-Namese. Eight hundred villagers were left homeless by the raid, the dispatch reported.

PARIS BIDS FOR GERMANS

Seeks Poll of Prisoners on Offer of Freedom and Jobs

PARIS, Jan. 24 (AP)—The French Government today asked the International Red Cross to poll 426,000 German prisoners of war in France on becoming free workers or being returned to Germany.

France, in need of more manpower for mines, farms and industry, has offered to allow the prisoners to choose whether to remain on their jobs in France or be repatriated.

The Government is negotiating this question with the United States whose permission is necessary because these troops were captured by the American Army and later lent to France.

'Rigorous Discipline' Ahead, Ramadier Says

Paris, Jan. 24 (AP)—Premier-designate Paul Ramadier asked the French people tonight to accept "rigorous discipline" in his governmental program to defeat rising prices and save the franc.

"A man who at the present hour speculates on the fall of the franc is a public enemy," Ramadier, a Socialist, said in a nation-wide radio broadcast.

The head of the new coalition Cabinet, using persuasion and threat of official force, called on Frenchmen to support financial and economic measures he said would be applied "with vigor."

Ramadier praised his fellow Socialist, Léon Blum, head of the 30-day interim French Government which Ramadier's Cabinet succeeded, for initiating a five per cent price cut throughout France. Ramadier said the new Government would carry on with the same program.

PETAIN'S HEALTH IMPROVES

PARIS, Jan. 24—(AP) Henri Philippe Petain, recently ailing at his Isle of Yeu prison, is now in good health, the French press agency said tonight. Earlier the agency distributed in South America, and then killed, a report that the 90-year-old convicted traitor had died.

VON PAPEN'S TRIAL OPENS

Challenge Of De-Nazification Court's Authority Fails

THOMAS REEDY

Nuernberg, Jan. 24 (AP)—The trial of Franz von Papen on charges of playing Hitler's game and bringing Germany to destruction opened today in a Bavarian de-Nazification court only a mile from the building where the International Military Tribunal acquitted him of war-crimes charges.

It was cold and dark in the dilapidated municipal building where the 69-year-old former Nazi diplomat faced a possible ten-year sentence at hard labor. After four hours the court adjourned until Monday, because lighting facilities were too poor and coal had to be conserved.

Von Papen failed at the outset in challenging the right of the Bavarian tribunal to try him as a Nazi. The seven-man tribunal brushed aside his contention that his residence was in either the British or French occupation zone.

Accusations Given

Werner Fiebig, public prosecutor, said he would establish these accusations against von Papen: That he helped Hitler to power and "sustained nazism financially and politically"; as the creator of Hitler's first Cabinet von Papen promised Hitler he would dissolve the Reichstag and lift the ban against the wearing of uniforms by Storm Troopers; von Papen dismissed 24 high administrative officials because they opposed the Nazis; he "undermined" the Austrian Government of Kurt Schuschnigg and paved the way for the Austrian Anschluss.

Von Papen eagerly accepted the adjournment until Monday with the hope he could line up a number of witnesses.

To Call Von Tschirsky

He said he would call Fritz Gunther von Tschirsky, his secretary at the time of the June, 1934, blood purge. Von Tschirsky is now in London. Von Papen will seek to show that he was under house arrest by the Nazis and was fortunate not to be included in the list of purge victims.

Von Papen asked court permission also to call Baron Kurt von Lersner, German delegate to the Versailles Peace Conference, to testify about von Papen's political ideas.

brushed aside Papen's contention that he belonged in the French or British occupation zone and not in the American, and proceeded to try him on charges that he supported Hitler in the halcyon days of Nazism.

Conviction can mean ten years at hard labor for the 69-year-old German diplomatic ace, who once served as Hitler's Vice Chancellor.

Bavarians At Trial

The trial opened in the old municipal building, a mile from the courthouse where he was acquitted of war-crimes charges by the International Military Tribunal four months ago. Egon Kubuschok, who served as defense counsel for Papen in that trial, is acting in the same capacity again, with Papen's son. The courtroom's 200 seats were occupied mostly by grim-faced Bavarians, who traditionally have little love for Prussians.

Frau von Papen and her three daughters were also in the audience.

Kubuschok opened with a challenge of the court's jurisdiction. The court said Papen was in effect a resident of Bavaria and thus was subject to trial here. President Camille Sachs declared that Papen had "remained in Nuernberg voluntarily" after his acquittal last October.

Duplication Argument

Kubuschok then sought to set aside the proceedings on the ground the charges duplicated those in the war-crimes trial, but Sachs cut him short with the declaration:

"This is not the place to discuss the International Military Tribunal. The sentence is independent. We will prove this is a different matter."

Prosecution Case

Public Prosecutor Werner Fiebig told the court that he intended to prove that:

1. Papen helped Hitler to power and "substained Nazism financially and politically."

2. Papen, as creator of Hitler's first cabinet, promised the Führer he would dissolve the Reichstag and lift the ban against the wearing of the uniform by Storm Troopers.

3. Papen dismissed 24 high administrative officials because they opposed the Nazis.

4. Papen "undermined" Kurt Schussnigg's Austrian Government and thus paved the way for Anschluss.

(D) Maier Charged As Nazi

Nuernberg, Jan. 24 (AP)—Reinhold Maier, Minister-President of Wuerttemberg-Baden and outspoken critic of the de-Nazification program, was himself charged today under the de-Nazification law.

The German public prosecutor in Stuttgart announced this action as Franz von Papen, Nazi diplomat acquitted by the International Military Tribunal, went on trial here before a German de-Nazification court.

Maier, elected Minister-President last December, was accused of having voted to give Adolf Hitler supreme emergency legislative power at a 1933 session of the Reichstag. At the time Maier was the leader of the German People's party deputies.

Another Charged

Wilhelm Simpfendoerfer, Minister of Culture in the American zone state, was charged similarly. He was Reichstag chief of the Christian People's party in 1933.

Maier last November criticized the de-Nazification program as aimed at punishing more persons for Nazism than the Germans felt were guilty. He told his state's constitutional convention in Stuttgart that the law should be changed.

CONDEMNED SS MEN PLAN U.S. COURT PLEA

DACHAU, Germany, Jan. 24—(AP) Projected appeal to the United States Supreme court on behalf of German SS (Elite Guard) troopers sentenced to hang for the Malmedy "massacre" was disclosed today by attorneys at war crimes trial headquarters here.

The move is planned by Lt. Col. Willis M. Everett, Jr., defense counsel for 73 SS men tried last summer for shooting more than 150 American soldiers after they had surrendered during the Battle of the Bulge.

The bodies were found by returning American troops when the Belgian area was recaptured.

His colleagues disclosed that Everett had departed for Washington, carrying with him a copy of his review of the case in which he bitterly criticized the handling of the case.

Army Officer Charges Negligence In Death of His Infant Son

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 24—(AP) An Army investigation into the fatal illness of an officer's infant son, contracted aboard an Army transport en route from New York to Germany, was disclosed tonight.

The baby's parents, Lt. and Mrs. John J. Warren, Jr., of Loyall, Ky., attended services here Tuesday for their eight-months-old son and arranged for burial at Pine Mountain, Ky.

An autopsy report submitted to the Army inspector general showed the baby was stricken with acute bronchial and intestinal inflammation four days after sailing on the transport Willard Holbrook with his mother.

The infant was treated at Wiesbaden Military hospital and then was transferred to Frankfurt hospital, where death occurred an hour after his arrival last Saturday.

Mrs. Warren told newsmen that "if my baby had been given proper medical attention aboard the ship, he would be alive today."

"It was just plain negligence," Lt. Warren added.

Mrs. Warren said most of the children aboard the transport had diarrhea and that the passengers, all dependents of soldiers, were crowded more than 30 to a room.

When the baby became sick, she said, she took him to the ship dispensary ,only to be told it was "after visiting hours." Meeting a doctor who was passing by, she pleaded with him to look at the baby.

When the doctor said "it's after hours and, besides, I've got to eat first," Mrs. Warren broke into tears and the doctor finally consented to look at the, she related.

Mrs. Warren said the doctor did not take the child's temperature, however, and "only gave him some pink medicine for his cough."

At Bremerhaven, she said, an Army doctor pronounced the child fit to travel and they went on to Wiesbaden.

Russ Arrest 30 Germans

Berlin, Jan. 24 (AP)—Russian authorities today announced the arrest of 30 Germans who have allegedly been looting the Soviet sector of Berlin and communities in the Soviet occupation zone while disguised in Russian army uniforms.

The Russian report said that Germans were organized into three well-armed gangs which robbed farms and city dwellings and "in each case tried to place the blame on the Soviet Army."

One gang, which operated around Weissenfels, Saxony, was charged with fourteen major robberies in four months and was caught with huge stocks of slaughtered farm animals being prepared for sale in the black market.

De Gasperi Bid To Form New Government Balked

Rome, Jan. 24 (AP)—Alcide de Gasperi's initial efforts to form a new Italian Government were snagged, at least temporarily, tonight by the refusal of the Italian Laborers Socialist party to participate in a new Cabinet.

De Gasperi devoted much of his time today and tonight to conferences with leaders of the party, formed little more than two weeks ago after breaking away from the Socialist party because of the policy of the Socialist leader, Pietro Nenni, of co-operation with the Communist party.

DUMINI ADMITS MURDER ROLE

Confesses Part In Kidnap-Slaying Of Matteotti

J.P. McNIGHT

Rome, Jan. 24 (AP)—Amerigo Dumini, the defendant charged with the heaviest guilt in the case, admitted today a part in the 1924 kidnap-murder of Giacomo Matteotti, Fascism's sharpest foe, and threw himself on the mercy of the Italian republic.

Wearily, Dumini, now withered by paralysis, offered only contrition for his part in the removal of the Deputy whose attacks in Parliament were threatening Il Duce's still unsecure sway 23 years ago.

He admitted he and four others snatched Matteotti that hot June afternoon as he sauntered along the Tiber, that they beat him so badly he died, and that they then drove frantically for seven hours before deciding to dispose of the body in a shallow grave scooped at the roadside.

Didn't Mean To Kill Him

But, he said, they only meant to wring information from the Deputy, not to kill him.

He himself took no part in the beating, he said, and only drove the car.

As for Mussolini's role, Dumini said he overheard Cesare Rossi, another defendant, ask Giovanni Marinelli, Fascist party secretary, if "Mussolini knew what we were going to do. Marinelli said 'no.'"

Marinelli, he said, gave the direct order for the kidnapping.

Denies "Bloody History"

Dumini made no mention of the "political testament" he reportedly smuggled out to Martin Arnold, San Antonio (Texas) lawyer in 1930. Dumini, who once served two months of a long sentence by a Fascist court for the killing, once was reported holding a threat over Mussolini of disclosing Il Duce's role.

Dumini, often painted as a bully in the early "castor oil" days of the Fascist régime, denied that his was the "bloody history" attributed to him. He said he did not have on his conscience the eight killings blamed on him by Rossi.

KING SWEARS IN GREEK CABINET

Maximos Asks Parliament To Recess After Taking Office

LS, CHARLES

Athens, Jan. 24 (AP)—King George II tonight administered the oath of office to a new Greek Cabinet headed by Premier Demetrios Maximos, 74-year-old financier and member of the Royalist Populist party. Maximos requested immediately that Parliament adjourn to permit preparation of a new Government program.

Constantin Tsaldaris, the retiring Premier and also a Populist, was given the Foreign Ministry in the new Cabinet.

Other Cabinet posts included:

National Economy, George Papandreou, Social Democrat.

Public Works, Stylianos Gonatas, National Liberal.

Interior, Apostle Alexandris, Reformist.

War, Sophicles Venizelos, Venizelist Liberal.

Navy, Panayotis Kanellopoulos, National Unionist.

Without Portfolio, Gen. Napolon Zervas, Nationalist.

Additional posts will be announced tomorrow.

Maximos's Statement

Maximos read this statement to the Parliament:

"His Majesty, the King, has been pleased to trust me with formation of the Government. Leaders of most of the parties addressed an appeal to me requesting that I should leave my retirement and assume the Premiership of the country.

"I am deeply moved by this request and place myself at the disposal of my fatherland. The Government was sworn in and now is appearing before Parliament. As there is no time to work out a complete program of the new Governemnt, I request that Parliament adjourn in order to prepare a program and ask for a vote of confidence."

Tsaldaris Strongly Criticized

Tsaldaris's regime had been under strong criticism from the Left for its foreign and domestic policies, the latter including military action against guerrilla bands in the north described by Government officials as "Communists."

Press dispatches and Government announcements told today of clashes in which numerous members of the bands were slain or wounded.

Maximos, who wears a Van Dyke beard, is regarded as a wealthy man. He started in the banking business in Patras as a youth.

He came to Athens more than 30 years ago. He retired as an actual banker in 1922 after serving as governor of the Bank of Greece. When the Populist party came back into power in 1932 he became Foreign Minister under the late Panayotis Tsaldaris, uncle of the new Foreign Minister. During his two years in office he signed the Greece Balkan pact of "friendship and nonaggression" with Turkey, Yugoslavia and Romania.

He lives in a modest five-room home more than a block from the Government palace. He has been married twice and has no children.

Wallace Is Invited To Czechoslovakia

Prague, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Ministry of Information sent an invitation today to Henry A. Wallace, former United States Secretary of Commerce, to visit Czechoslovakia.

"Our people wish to make your acquaintance," the invitation said. "We have read and heard so much about your justified fight for progress, democracy and world peace."

SELF-PURGE OPENED BY HUNGARIAN PARTY

BUDAPEST, Jan. 24—(AP)—A prominent Hungarian politician said today that four Smallholder party members of Parliament had received letters from their own party executive committee asking them to resign from Parliament.

The informant said that the action constituted a Smallholders' "self-purge" brought about by repeated Communist demands that the Smallholder party expel "reactionaries" from its ranks.

The moderate Smallholders party is the largest in Parliament.

AMERICAN OFFICIAL PLANS TO VISIT PINTAR

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Jan. 24.—(AP) U. S. consular officials were reported today to have conferred with government authorities here on the death sentence meted out by a Yugoslav court at the spy trial of Chicago-born Ivan Pintar.

The U. S. consul, Theodore Hohenthal, declined to comment, saying merely that he was awaiting the results of Pintar's appeal and planned to visit him soon.

Pintar was charged with being in the service of "international reactionaries and war mongers" and with promising other defendants—alleged members of a terrorist group—that he would try through friends in the U. S. consulate to have food and ammunition dropped by plane to them. Pintar denied at his trial that he was a spy or foreign agent.

U.S. ASSAILS POLE ELECTION

Bloc Intimidation Charged By Embassy Observers

LARRY ALLEN

Warsaw, Jan. 24 (AP)—Intimidation by the Communist-supported Government bloc parties caused "frustration and regimentation" among Polish voters in last Sunday's parliamentary elections, American Embassy observers of the election reported today.

They told Arthur Bliss Lane, United States Ambassador, that the attitude of the Poles toward the election was one of "cynicism, hopelessness, fear and abject submission." They said the bloc parties, with the armed forces, produced mass open voting and cited a long list of violations of Polish constitutional and election laws.

Reports To Go To Washington

Lane declared he would forward to Washington next Wednesday reports on pre-election and election-day developments, based on the observations of the Embassy personnel and other Americans who visited all sectors of Poland before and during the election. Unofficial returns gave the Government bloc 90 per cent of the vote.

Lane, asked his opinion of the reports, said his views coincided with the note sent by the United States State Department to Warsaw and Moscow in advance of the balloting which criticized the election setup as guaranteeing neither free or unfettered voting.

Foreign Office Comment

A Polish Foreign Office spokesman, asked tonight to comment on the American observers' reports, expressed the belief that the election results demonstrated confidence in the Polish provisional government.

He added he was confident that Government bloc parties could have captured at least 70 per cent of the total vote without having staged a pre-election campaign.

Jakub Berman, under secretary of the Council of Ministers, said the Polish Government would consider abolition of the Ministry of Public Security "after the complete liquidation of the underground," possibly this year.

Mikolajczyk's Accusations

Security police were accused by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, head of the opposition Polish Peasant party (PSL), of intimidating and arresting party members.

Berman said the security police had been maintained as a separate ministry because of the battle against lawless elements. The police would be included within the structure of a ministry of public administration under the contemplated plan.

The Embassy observers said they found no secret voting booths in any precinct. They reported many arrests of PSL members, with one jail in Kielce holding 1,000 prisoners.

Voters Feared To Talk

The observers said that the voters feared to talk about the election and that the feeling prevailed that the results were a foregone conclusion.

Numerous violations of the secrecy of voting were reported during the early hours of balloting in Wroclaw (Breslau), Krakow, Katowicz, Gdansk (Danzig), Lublin, Posnan (Posen) and Warsaw. In Bsdgoszcz and Torun "there were many arrests and much intimidation and many people held as hostages," the reports added.

The observers declared the voting in Lublin was disorderly and probably thousands were unable to vote before the polls closed. Only those openly pro-bloc were afforded the first opportunity to cast a ballot. In Gdansk the Army brought out a display of tanks.

British Prepare Report

The British Embassy, headed by Victor Frederick William Cavendish-Bentinck, was also preparing an election report for London.

Informants close to Polish Government circles remained silent on whether Poland would formally declare to the British that Cavendish-Bentinck was regarded as persona non grata in Warsaw because of testimony in a war-crimes trial that he received military and Government secrets from the Polish underground.

The informants added, however, that Poland was making it clear that it would be advisable for Britain to send another ambassador to Poland.

Party Seeks Recognition

Tonight Karol Popiel, who withdrew his Catholic-supported Christian Labor party from all political activity last July, announced he would petition the new Polish Government, to be formed after Parliament meets on February 4, to recognize the organization and afford Catholics representation in Parliament.

At the time he withdrew the party, Popiel declared Poland's present provisional government denied it the freedom of action promised under the Yalta and Potsdam agreements.

Popiel said he hoped the new regime would adopt a more favorable attitude toward the Christian Labor party, which is supported by many high Catholic Church dignitaries.

Premier Edward Osubka-Morawski said today that many Catholic priests voted for Government-bloc candidates during last Sunday's national elections, and hailed it as a contribution to improved relations between church and state in Poland.

Polish Election Irregularities Reported

1947

(N)

Warsaw, Jan. 24 (AP)—United States Embassy observers reported to Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane today that the attitude of the Polish people to the parliamentary elections was one of "cynicism, hopelessness, fear and abject submission."

The reports told of "frustration and regimentation" among the nation's voters and attributed the condition to intimidation exercised by the pro-Government bloc parties, aided by armed forces which produced what was described as mass open voting and a long list of violations of the Polish Constitution and election laws.

The Ambassador said he would send detailed reports to Washington next Wednesday.

Important Areas Visited

Embassy personnel and other Americans visited all the important sector of Poland before and during Sunday's election.

Asked his opinion on the reports, the Ambassador said his own views were the same as those of the American Government in notes which were submitted to Moscow and Warsaw and which, in advance of the balloting, scored the election setup as being neither free nor unfettered.

Embassy observers reported that everywhere they found voters feared to talk about the elections and felt the results were a foregone conclusion.

Violations Observed

Reports from those who visited the polls in the cities of Wroclaw (Breslau), Krakow, Katowice, Gdansk (Danzig), Lublin, Posnan (Posen) and Warsaw, recited numerous violations of secrecy of voting by tens of thousands.

Observers said there were many arrests of members of the PSL (Polish Peasant party), that one jail in Kielce had 1,000 prisoners and "there was large-scale pressure by security police" to force the Poles to vote pro-bloc.

The report cited armed attacks against PSL district headquarters, and mass disenfranchisement of voters.

The reports told of no place which had booths for secret voting.

Lublin Disorderly

In Lublin the voting was disorderly and probably thousands were unable to cast their ballots before the polls closed, the investigators said. In many precincts only those openly pro-bloc were afforded the first opportunity to vote, they added.

The embassy reported it had little information on the counting of ballots. But in many places there were no watchers for the Polish Peasant party and that party was not represented on the election commission.

The British Embassy also is preparing a report to London.

Russians Find Three Flaws In Baruch Atom Curb Plan

MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—(AP) The Soviet New Times declared today that three basic flaws existed in Bernard Baruch's plan for atomic energy control and exclaimed that his recommendation for continued U. S. production of atom bombs disclosed "where the dog lies buried!"

(Baruch resigned on Jan. 4 as U. S. member of the United Nations Atomic Commission. He informed President Truman by letter that "I see no reason why this country should not continue the making of bombs," pending ratification of a treaty for international atomic controls.)

Lists Three Flaws

The Soviet publication said that the three flaws were:

1. The proposed international atomic energy authority would be independent of the United Nations Security Council in its activities and would be dominated by the United States as has been the U.N.

2. Atomic energy as envisaged by Baruch would operate like a "real world atomic trust" which could dispose of all resources and run all the work on atomic energy in all countries.

3. Baruch proposed to delay indefinitely the transfer to the atomic authority control of work being done in the United States in the sphere of atomic energy.

New Times described the Baruch plan, whose essentials have been adopted by the UN Atomic commission, as "too disdainful of the interests of the other states to serve as a basis for attainment of an international understanding."

New Times said the Security Council would be the agency under the UN charter to approve sanctions against any nation producing atomic bombs in violation of an international agreement.

"There can be no exceptions from this proposition," declared New Times. (This was an apparent reference to proposals to give an international atomic authority the power on sanctions in an effort to avoid the veto question in the Security Council.)

The publication charged that Baruch in recommending continuation of atom bomb production acted as the "mouthpiece and agent of imperialistic circles" in the United States.

"He spoke from the standpoint of ethics which say if there is no international treaty defining as criminal in character the producing and applying of atom bombs then Americans should take advantage of the good times to pile up the largest possible stocks of this weapon," New Times said.

Reparations Stand Hit

Another editorial in New Times, discussing the problems to be faced by the Big Four foreign ministers in their meeting in Moscow in March, charged that the Western powers were not desirous of carrying out reparations agreements on Germany stipulated in the Potsdam agreement.

It charged the U. S. and Britain with taking valuable properties out of Germany, and said in the case of the British 50 per cent of current production in some industries was being imported to Britain.

Commenting on the visit of Alcide de Gasperi to the United States, New Times charged that the United States was attempting to place post-war Italy in its economic and political orbit. It said that the Christian Democratic party headed by de Gasperi, who resigned as premier upon his return to Italy, was the "Vatican's agent."

New Times also declared that the Soviet Union "does not recognize immunity for princes of the Catholic church" in connection with political activity, and said the Vatican has "openly set its course for a struggle against democracy."

"He who gets involved in a political struggle, be he thrice a cardinal, should not complain if he gets repulsed," New Times said.

The publication denounced also the formation of the Committee for a United Europe headed by Winston Churchill. The committee was described as the former prime minister's "new combination aimed at creating a bloc against the Soviet Union."

Soviet Journal Assails Baruch Atomic Project

'New Times' Calls His Plan 'Too Egotistic' to Serve as Basis for Agreement

MOSCOW, Jan. 24 (AP).—The Russian foreign policy magazine "New Times" said today that the American plan for atomic energy control is "too egotistic, too disdainful of the interests of other states, to serve as a basis for the attainment of an international understanding."

"Therefore," the editorial said, "it seems to us that sensible Americans cannot insist upon adoption of the Baruch plan, and have no other grounds to blame other states for the inevitable failure of this worthless plan."

"New Times" declared there are these three basic flaws in the plan, which was advanced by Bernard M. Baruch when he was American delegate on the United Nations Atomic Commission:

1. The proposed international atomic energy authority would be independent of the U. N. Security Council and would be dominated by the United States government, "just as the Atomic Enegry Commission has been."

2. The atomic authority as envisaged by Baruch would act like a "real world atomic trust" which could, according to its own light, dispose of all resources and run all work on atomic energy in all countries of the world.

3. Baruch proposed to delay indefinitely the transfer to the atomic authority of control over work being done in the United States in atomic energy.

The editorial said that, "given strict control," it would not be easy to violate an atomic agreement.

"But despite this, if some state should violate the prohibition, who should decide the question as to possible sanctions?" the editorial asked. "Under the Charter of the United Nations, all questions of sanctions are decided by the Security Council in accordance with Article 27. There can be no exceptions to this proposition." (Article 27 provides for the veto power for the five permanent members.)

The editorial said Baruch "stubbornly" pushed proposals "which he knew could not serve as a basis for attaining an understanding among the members of the United Nations, as they contradict its Charter and principles.

"And when Mr. Baruch considered his mission concluded he declared in his message of resignation to President Truman: 'I see no reason why our country should not continue to produce atomic bombs, at any rate until the ratification of the treaty.'

"Here is where the dog is buried, in the interest of very influential American circles in their country's being able to go on uninhibitedly producing atomic bombs. Baruch plainly acted as a mouthpiece and agent of these imperialist circles.

280 Sheep, 2,000 Chickens Served

Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, Jan. 24 (AP)—About 500 Americans and Arabs, including King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, were guests last night at an Arab feast where 280 whole roasted sheep, 2,000 roasted chickens, 5,000 eggs and one young camel were served.

Prince Saud Bin Jaluwi, Governor of Alhassa province, gave the banquet at his establishment in Dammam, 9 miles north of this desert oil town built by the Arabian-American Oil Company. For the 70 Americans present it was lavish and colorful beyond the wildest dreams of the Arabian Nights.

Princes And Sheiks

The huge, bearded Ibn Saud was almost hidden from view by the roast camel and heaps of rice at the head table. Richly robed Salman Bin Hamad Al Khalifa, sheik of the neighboring island of Bahrein, sat at the King's right; formally dressed J. Rives Childs, American Minister to Arabia, was on his left.

Around the four tables the princes and shieks in gold-roped headdresses and colorful robes sat with the oil company employés in American business suits and American military and naval attachés in dress uniforms.

Soldiers Eat Kneeling

On the rug-covered floor of the huge banquet room the feast was spread for Arabian soldiers, who ate kneeling beside their rifles. Bright turbaned servants armed with daggers served coffee before and after the feast.

Pleased by his visit yesterday to the United States Navy oil tanker Cimmaron, Ibn Saud sent a truckload of food, including ten sheep, to that ship.

PUNJAB BANS UNIT OF MOSLEM LEAGUE

Outlaws Guard Group, Seizes 8 Leaders—200 Are Hurt in Wide Protest Riots

MINORITIES ACTION TAKEN

Assembly Adopts Resolution for Committee to Deal With 'Fundamental Rights'

LAHORE, Punjab, India, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Punjab Provincial Government today outlawed the Moslem League's National Guard, a semi-military volunteer body, and arrested eight high ranking League members.

Violence flared tonight in subsequent demonstrations, with nearly 200 persons injured when police, armed with clubs, charged into a group of league members.

Resentment against the government action spread 900 miles south to Bombay, where the League called upon the 2,500,000 Moslems in all Bombay Province to stage a protest strike tomorrow.

Dawn, the Moslem League's most powerful journalistic voice, demanded in an editorial that the people of Punjab depose the Provincial Government for what it termed "a vicious and vengeful blow at Moslem Punjab by the Hindu Government."

The Punjab Government, which supports the program of the predominantly Hindu Congress party, announced that it had also declared illegal the Rashtrya Swayam Sewak Sangh, Hindu youth organization. It said offices of the National Guard and Hindu youth group were raided at the same time, but announced no Hindu arrests.

In a communiqué the government said it wished to make clear that the action was not directed against any political party, but was intended only to prevent expansion of private communal armies that would be harmful to the peaceful position of the country.

Demonstrators appeared in Lahore, the provincial capital, shortly after the raids and arrests became known. At least thirty persons were arrested.

Ghazanfar Ali Khan, Moslem League member of the Interim Government of India, who is in Lahore, tonight cautioned the province League members against letting themselves be drawn into an "inter-communal (Moslem-Hindu) conflict."

Refuse to Ask for Bail

The Punjab Province, whose northern part lies among the foothills of the Himalayas, has a population of approximately 28,420,000, of which about 57 per cent are Moslems, 26 per cent Hindus and 12 per cent Sikhs. It embraces a rich agricultural area of almost 100,000 square miles.

The arrested members of the League refused to apply for bail. The Provincial Moslem League working committee met to decide a course of action, then recessed to convene again tomorrow.

In Bombay the provincial commander of the National Guards, said by league members to have been created for the purpose of maintaining order against "hoodlums" at League meetings, made this statement:

"By declaring the Moslem National Guard organization illegal he (the Punjab Prime Minister) has given an open challenge to the Moslems of all India. * * * I warn them that Moslems in general and the National Guards in Bombay in particular are ready to meet the onslaught of the Government."

Among those arrested were Begum Kamaluddin, head of the All-India Women's Moslem League, and Begum Shah Nawaz, another leader of Moslem women who recently visited in the United States.

The men arrested included Khan Iftikhar Hussain, president of the Punjab Moslem League and opposition leader in the Provincial Legislature; Sir Firoz Khan Noon, former member of the Viceroy's Executive Council and a member of the Moslem League's Committee of Action; Shaukat Hyat Khan, deputy leader of the League Assembly party and Amir Hussain Shah, commander of the Punjab Moslem League National Guard.

Sheik Sadiq Hassan was hastily elected president of the League after the arrest of the president,

Moslem Guard Ousted, General Strike Called

Bombay, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Punjab province government today outlawed the Moslem National Guard and arrested eight high Moslem League leaders in Lahore, 900 miles north of here.

The Bombay League called upon this province's 2,500,000 Moslems to strike tomorrow in protest.

Police raided the Lahore headquarters of the guard and arrested the provincial Moslem League president and seven others. Thirty persons who demonstrated after the arrests were also taken into custody.

Mass Meetings Slated

The official strike call summoned Moslems to mass meetings in the evening in Bombay province. There has been a ban on the assemblage of more than five persons at a time here since the start of communal rioting, which has cost the lives of more than 1,200 Moslems and Hindus since September 1.

The 300,000 Moslems in Bombay are employed in every walk of life, and a strike would shut down hundreds of shops in the Moslem areas, cripple some factories and possibly interfere with public transport.

The outlawing of the Moslem guard, a quasi-military organization, caused surprise in Punjab, a predominantly Moslem province, and in Bombay was criticized severely by Moslem leaders.

Held An Open Challenge

The Bombay provincial commander of the National Guard said in a formal statement:

"By declaring the Moslem National Guard organization illegal he (the Punjab Prime Minister) has given an open challenge to the Moslems of all India. Once again the Moslems face another Jaffar in Punjab who is to suffer a fate similar to Jaffar First.

[Moslems say Jaffar betrayed Bengal to the British in the Eighteenth Century. He was ostracized and then slain.]

"I strongly condemn and protest against this most unwise step of the Punjab government and warn them that Moslems in general and the National Guard in Bombay in particular are ready to meet the onslaught of the government."

Two Women Arrested

Begum Shah Nawaz, prominent woman leader who recently visited the United States, and Begum Kamaluddin, head of the All-India Women's League, were among those arrested.

Begum Kamaluddin was taken into custody at the home of the league guard commander in Lahore after more than 200 police were held at bay for hours by league women who said the authorities would search the house "only over our dead bodies."

Sheikh Sadiq Hassan, hurriedly elected acting president of the Punjab League after the arrest of the president, persuaded the women to let the police enter.

Burmese Red Chief Escapes Police

Rangoon, Jan. 24 (A. P.).—Thakin Soe, Burmese Communist leader, escaped from police who tried to arrest him today by dashing into Shwe Dagon Pagoda, which was crowded with worshippers. Police said that twenty-six other men also identified as Communists were arrested on rioting charges in a citywide roundup.

CHINA ASKS MORE TIME

NANKING, Jan. 24.—(AP) Government sources declared the five-month period given China to put her economic house in order to become eligible for a $500,000,000 U.S. loan was "far too short."

They said that was especially true if the U.S. government "expects a solution to the Communist question to precede economic readjustment."

Gen. Wu Ting-Chang, secretary-general of the government, told the Associated Press the time was inadequate unless there was speedy political peace to permit the entire government machinery to swing into a program of improving business and communications.

Fiscal authorities in Washington said Tuesday that China had five months to get its house in order or otherwise the half a million dollar loan earmarked for that country would revert to the Export-Import Bank's general fund.

CHINESE CLAIMING EX-RUSSIAN POST

Hydroelectric Installation Reported Taken Over

Nanking, Jan. 24 (AP)—Pro-Government dispatches from Manchuria today said Chinese troops had formally taken over the hydroelectric installations which the Russians had been garrisoning on the Yalu River northeast of Antung.

The Yalu River is the boundary between Manchuria and Russian-occupied northern Korea but the Japanese-built power units are on the Manchurian side. They had been the subject of negotiations since the Chinese Government troops drove the Communists out of the area last fall.

The dispatches today said Soviet troops had withdrawn entirely into Korea on January 21.

Push Communists Back

In central Manchuria, meanwhile, the Government was reported pushing Communists back northward across the Sungari River, which had been an unofficial boundary between the two forces for months until fighting recently broke out on the south side. Government dispatches gave no details.

In China proper the Government was pushing a counteroffensive which the official Central News Agency said had made swift progress in the areas of Fenyang and Hsioyi, 60 and 65 miles southwest of Taiyuan, provincial capital. The agency said the Communist siege of Fenyang had been broken.

On the political front, Gen. Wu Ting-chang, secretary-general of the Government, said five months was too short a time for China to meet the conditions to receive a $500,000,000 American loan.

Would Revert To Bank

Washington authorities said Tuesday that unless China put her house in order in that period, the earmarked money would revert to the general fund of the Export-Import Bank.

Wu said this was not time enough to solve the nation's many economic ills unless there was a speedy peace that would permit putting all Government efforts into improving business and communications.

Other sources within the Government agreed that there was little likelihood of substantial economic progress as long as the quarrel with the Communists continued.

A year ago Gen. George C. Marshall urged Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to cut military expenditures to avoid national bankruptcy. Some observers see the loan deadline as evidence of pressure being brought by General Marshall now that he is Secretary of State.

C-47 China Crash Survivors Tell Of Landing

Canton, Jan. 24 (AP)—Three of the thirteen Americans who survived a potato-field landing of an army C-47 transport arrived last night and described their 100-mile jeep journey from isolated Linping as far more exciting than their emergency landing.

The three are Lieut. Carl Hauser, New Haven, Conn., pilot; M/Sergt. Leonard M. Wu, Baltimore, crew chief, and W/O Harry Fair, Hollywood, member of an American Graves Registration Service team. The other ten survivors—three more crew members, Fair's teammate and six other Chinese-American GI's stationed at Peiping—will be brought here tomorrow.

En route from Linping, Fair said, one of the party's two jeeps went off the rough road and dropped six feet, bruising Hauser slightly; the other jeep broke down and the party was fired upon—but not injured—by bandits.

Strong Headwinds

Hauser said he took off from Shanghai in bad weather last Saturday and encountered strong headwinds en route to Canton. After two attempts he made an emergency landing in a Linping potato field. He did not explain why the landing was necessary. He said the landing was perfect, but at one time a wingtip was only a few yards from a mountain.

Capt. Paul E. McLaughlin, Tampa, Fla., led the rescue team.

Lieutenant Hauser's home address is 133 Fountain street, New Haven; Sergeant Wu's is 222 West Mulberry street, Baltimore.

Other survivors included S/Sgt. Paul W. France, 611 Eighth street, Fargo, N.D., and Sergt. Hoy Lee, 1105 Madison street, Covington, Kentucky.

Allies Rest Case Against Tojo After 9 Months

Defense in Far East Trial of Japan's War Leaders Set to Start in 2 Weeks

TOKYO, Jan. 24 (AP). — The prosecution at the Far East war crimes trial rested its case today against former Premier Hideki Tojo and twenty-five other former leaders of Japan, after almost nine months of hearings and more than 4,000,000 words of testimony.

The defense is to present a formal motion for dismissal of the indictment on Monday. After the expected rejection of the motion, the tribunal is to adjourn for two weeks to allow the defense time to prepare its case.

The trial opened last April 29, and testimony by the more than 100 witnesses began in May. Originally, there were twenty-eight defendants, but former Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka and Admiral Osami Nagano have died. Shumei Okawa, a propagandist, has been confined to an asylum but is technically still on trial.

The prosecution ended today in a burst of speed. The close was scheduled for 4 p. m. At 1:55 p. m. Associate Prosecutor A. Comyns Carr, of Great Britain, who had been reading faster and faster from the war-time diary of Marquis Koichi Kido, a defendant, informed the eleven judges that he would like to continue "a comparatively short time" past the closing hour. The judges, headed by Sir William Webb, consented unanimously, and Carr raced to his conclusion at 4:10.

The prosecution, in presenting its case, charged that from 1928 onward Japanese leaders conspired to dominate the Pacific and East Asia in violation of treaties. Throughout, the prosecution laid stress on connections of individual defendants with varied activities in a conspiracy "to plan, initiate and wage wars of aggression."

Tokyo, Jan. 24 (AP)—The prosecution today rested its case against former Premier Tojo and 25 other wartime Japanese leaders in a dramatic race against the clock.

Today's was the one hundred and sixtieth session of the international war crime tribunal, which began hearing the case April 29.

At 1.55 P.M., Associate Prosecutor A. Comyns Carr, of Britain, paused while racing through a document and informed the judges that he could finish in a comparatively short time. He requested permission to continue past the usual 4 o'clock adjournment.

Two Dead, One Insane

The judges assented and at 4.10 P.M. the acting chief prosecutor, Carlisle W. Higgins, of the United States, announced: "The prosecution has concluded."

Only 25 of the original 28 defendants were in court. Former Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka and Admiral Osami Nagano, chief of the navy general staff at the time of Pearl Harbor, died since the trial opened.

Dr. Shumei Okawa, a propagandist, was declared insane and confined to a hospital. Okawa, however, is being tried in absentia on the possibility that he later might be pronounced sane.

The trial record totals more than 4,000,000 words.

Defense Motion Due

The defense on Monday will present a motion for dismissal. If that is denied the tribunal has promised the defense a two-week adjournment to prepare its case.

Earlier today the court overruled a prosecution move to add Tojo's name to those accused of initiating aggressive warfare against Russia on the Manchurian frontier in the 1930's. The prosecution said former War Minister Shigenori Togo inadvertently had been accused when Tojo should have been named.

It conceded, however, that Tojo was accused similarly in other counts and the error would not materially weaken its case against him.

Prosecution Finishes Case Against Tojo

Police Free Goddess

Kanazawa, Japan, Jan. 24 (AP)—Jiko, the self-proclaimed Sun Goddess, was released from police custody today after a psychiatrist had pronounced her mentally deranged and said she should be confined.

Japanese officials did not say whether or not they planned to follow the advice of the Kanagawa Medical University psychiatrist.

Also released was Futabayama, one of her leading disciples who was so infuriated at her arrest that he battered several policemen with chairs and clubs.

Friends of Futabayama, former world champion sumo wrestler, reported that he has had enough of Jiko and would return to the prosaic job of coaching wrestlers.

Several leading Jiko cultists were held, however, to explain heavy collections of money and food for the sun goddess.

G. I. Killed in Fire in Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 24 (AP). — The death of Private Walter Boris, of South River, N. J., in a fire which destroyed the cooks and bakers school at Camp Drake, near Tokyo, was announced today by the Army.

GI Gets Ten-Year Term

Kyoto, Jan. 24 (AP)—Private Luther M. Horton, of Zebulon, N.C., today was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment at hard labor after being convicted by a United States Army court-martial of attempting to shoot Lieut. Fred Brouilette, of Palmer, Mass., and Sergt. Timothy Gilmore, of Shreveport, La., November 22. Details were not given.

STEPS TAKEN TO END BLOODSHED IN INDONESIA

BATAVIA, Jan. 24—(AP) The Netherlands Government commission and a delegation from the Indonesian Republic agreed today upon a series of concrete measure to end bloodshed in Indonesia.

Steps will be taken to implement the truce signed Oct. 14, a qualified source said, but the projected measures will not be announced until after assurance is at hand that all nationalist commanders will obey the terms. The informant said Indonesian Defense Minister Amir Sjarifuddin would travel to the interior to seek such a guarantee.

Peron Orders Government to Buy Axis Firms

Believes Action Would Meet Chapultepec Accord to Abolish Nazi Influence

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 24 (AP).—The Argentine Foreign Ministry announced today that a decree of President Juan D. Peron had empowered the government to buy all assets of business firms in Argentina which formerly belonged to nationals of Axis countries.

The Central Bank has set aside $25,000,000 as an advance against the total to be paid for the properties.

The sale would permit the government to claim it had complied with the Chapultepec agreement binding Latin-American countries to eliminate Nazi economic influence.

About sixty firms are affected, but a few which have brought suits to prevent government intervention are not included as they are protected in their present status by court orders.

All the firms at present are controlled by the Alien Property Board, but since the board cannot retain title to them, the sale will pass the title to the government without the usual expropriation process which requires Congressional action.

The government, the Foreign Minister said, will liquidate all non-essential firms, but those which are necessary to the country's economy will continue to be operated, either by the government or by private Argentine interests which will be permitted to purchase them from the government.

The announcement emphasized that the $25,000,000 was only to be the first payment, and that the total expenditure by the government for the properties is estimated at $100,000,000.

Free Press Coverage

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Bulgaria today became the first of the four nations involved in the United Nations Balkan investigation to guarantee free and uncensored press coverage of the inquiry.

Bulgaria's assurances were sent to the United Nations in response to a letter from David Owen, acting secretary general, in which Greece, Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria were asked to permit the press complete freedom to cover activities of the eleven-nation commission of inquiry now en route to Athens.

Greece Causes Inquiry

The commission, created by the Security Council late in December, arrived in Paris last night and will leave Toulon for Greece Sunday morning on the French cruiser Georges Leygues. The investigation of incidents along Greece's northern frontier will begin January 30 in Athens and will later be carried on along both sides of the border.

The inquiry grew out of Greek charges that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia were causing international friction by aiding guerrilla forces in northern Greece.

In a letter signed by A. Athanassov, secretary of the Bulgarian political mission to the United States, Bulgaria assured the United Nations that "correspondents accredited to the commission of investigation will be given by the Bulgarian authorities all facilities necessary for the performance of their tasks."

Special Accredidation Plan

The letter added:

"Nonaccredited correspondents, however, will have to comply with the rules established by the Allied Control Commission in Sofia; British, Soviet and American correspondents will have to obtain entry permits directly from the Allied Control Commission through their respective legations or political missions without the intervention of the Bulgarian Ministry of Foreign Affairs."

Under the United Nations plan, correspondents in the four countries involved as well as correspondents of the world press will be given special United Nations accreditation which would permit them to cover all activities of the commission, but would not provide for the filing of material not connected with the inquiry unless the necessary arrangements are made directly with the countries concerned.

Replies have not yet been received from Greece, Albania or Yugoslavia.

U.N.-Penal Commission Parley Is Voted Down

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—The United Natons Social Commission voted by 10 to 1 today against consulting on crime prevention with the International Penal and Penitentiary Commission, formerly allied with the League of Nations and which was supported by the Axis in wartime and includes Franco Spain in its present membership.

The action rescinded a recommendation adopted by the Social Commission yesterday which would have called on the IPPC for its findings and treatment of offenders.

The matter arose over transfer of special agency functions from the old League of Nations to United Nations.

Marshall Will Attend Big 4 Moscow Parley

Expected To Urge Vandenberg And Connally To Accompany Him To March 10 Conference

Washington, Jan. 24. (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, will attend the Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting on Germany at Moscow March 10, it was officially announced today.

Diplomatic informants expect he will urge Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Connally (D., Texas) to accompany him and that they will agree.

Marshall thus is expected to continue former Secretary Byrnes's pattern of direct personal negotiation on two peace settlements with the Russian, British and French Foreign Ministers.

Reluctance Indicated

Byrnes was accompanied to conferences in London, Paris and other places by Vandenberg and Connally. While the two senators have indicated reluctance to make the trip to Moscow, it is understood on excellent authority that they will go with Marshall to present the usual solid front of bipartisan foreign policy.

"Secretary Marshall plans to carry out the plans for attendance at the Moscow conference as made by Secretary Byrnes," said the State Department announcement.

The main purpose of the conference is to begin work on a final German peace treaty. The session probably will last a month to six weeks, although work on the treaty may continue for months.

Earlier, General Marshall received the ambassadors and ministers assigned to Washington at a buffet luncheon at the Blair House, the Government's official guest house for visiting dignitaries.

All attended except Nicolai Novikov, Soviet Ambassador, who was reported in New York.

Johnson Of U.N. Calls Arms Plan Imperative

Chapel Hill, N.C., Jan. 24 (AP)—Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States representative on the United Nations Security Council, declared today that the world faces the "irreparable disaster" of a future war with atomic bombs unless it can establish "genuine international controls" that will make peace permanent.

"The peoples of the world must not permit their representatives to fail in the effort to devise effective means of control of armaments and armed forces and the development of adequate forces to maintain the peace," he said.

Key To Security

Speaking at a convocation of the University of North Carolina, Johnson declared that the key to collective security was "genuine and effective international control over atomic energy."

"Intimately and indispensably linked with this problem of control is the establishment of a system of inspection," he added.

Johnson, who is a native of Atlanta and a graduate of the University of North Carolina, said the ware had shown there must be a peaceful transition from nationalism to true international co-operation.

Pattern Outgrown

"Science and technology, production, trade and finance have outgrown the pattern of nationalism," he declared. "Most nations are too small to take advantage of these fruits of nationalism within their limited boundaries. The vast shift of power leaves few nations with strength for the defense of their sovereignty.

"Yet the impulses nurtured by nationalism for self-determination and cultural freedom are greater than ever. The physical facts demand a new universalism while the spiritual urges still press for pluralism."

Johnson voiced confidence that the Security Council would be able to agree on suitable atomic-control measures and an adequate means of punishing violators.

Understanding For U.N.

He pleaded for more understanding of the United Nations in its work.

"Even in the case of our own country, where we were favored by so many factors conducive to union," Johnson said, "we began with the emphasis on the term 'States' and only gradually moved to the emphasis on the word 'United.'

"Given imagination and insight into the meaning of our times, we might bring ourselves to believe in the possibility of shifting the emphasis in the United Nations from the term 'Nation' to the term 'United.'

"With such a broad perspective, we will regard the United Nations as the instrument for the execution of the most exciting transition in history the transition from the smaller to the larger freedom, from insecurity and conflict to security and peace, from a world of nationalistic anarchy to a world community of nations living together under a common law."

ment spent any money on the project or figured in it in any way.

2. Whether it was part of a "propaganda" campaign to influence congressional opinion on merger of the armed forces, long favored by the Army.

Wording On Flyleaf

The book, by William Bradford Huie, was widely distributed in Congress a few weeks after Navy Department officials passed along a tip that supporters of armed forces unification planned to use it as an argument for the plan.

The flyleaf of the book says it "shows why the grip of the oldline reactionaries in the navy high command must be broken if we hope to survive another war."

It was published in 1946 by E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc., of New York.

In a telephone call at his home, Huie was asked who was responsible for the book's free distribution.

Told To Call Back

He replied:

"Call back in ten minutes and I'll tell you—I'll have to contact some other persons before making a statement."

Ten minutes later, he replied that he and his publisher were responsible. Upon learning that the expenditures committee was interested, he said: "Good, I'll be glad to come up and tell them about it."

In New York, John P. Edmondson, treasurer of the Dutton Company, said that he personally paid for distribution of the book to members of Congress and declared: "If anyone in Washington wants me to come down and tell them about it, I'll be glad to."

$341.90 Total Cost"

"The whole thing, including the cost of the books and the postage, cost me $341.90," Edmondson said. "No one in the Air Forces or anyone else contributed a dime toward it."

Edmondson said that he served overseas three years in the Air Forces and that he had "strong feelings" about the necessity for a separate Air Force and unification of the armed services.

"Mr. Huie has strong feelings about these matters, too," he said. "He has written another book on the subject, 'The Fight for Air Power.' When he suggested to me that copies of his latest book be sent to all members of Congress, we found we had the copies available and went ahead and sent them. That's all there is to it."

Handles Legislation

The House Expenditures Committee will handle the merger legislation being drafted by the White House.

It also exercises supervision over executive expenditures.

On the Senate side, the merger plan kicked up a rivalry between the chairman of two committees who both served notice that they expect to handle the legislation.

Chairman Gurney (R., S.D.) of the new Armed Service Committee, said the Reorganization Act "definitely assigns this to the Armed Services Committee."

Aiken Claims Jurisdiction

A few hours earlier, Chairman Aiken (R., Vt.) announced that his expenditures committee has jurisdiction, since the act says it will deal with "reorganizations in the executive branch of the Government."

Normally, the Senate presiding officer, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), decides which committee handles legislation. But because of the scramble under way an appeal to the full Senate from his decision appears probable.

House Unit To Probe Free Issue Of 'Case Against The Admirals'

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Chairman Hoffman (R., Mich.) said today that the House Expenditures Committee intended to investigate the free distribution among congressmen of the book "The Case Against the Admirals."

He said the committee specifically wants to know:

Ex - Congressman, Garsson Brothers Face Trial March 19

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The wartime chairman of the House Military Committee, Andrew J. May, pleaded innocent in a firm voice to Government fraud charges today and was ordered to trial March 19.

The 71-year-old ex-congressman complained of heart pain as he appeared to answer a grand jury indictment that he agreed to sell his influence with the army to three co-defendants in the Garsson munitions combine.

May and the trio charged with him were released on $2,000 bonds after their arraignment in the Federal Court building a few blocks from the Capitol.

Garsson Brothers Also Plead

There the Kentucky Democrat had been a powerful figure during the war. He was defeated for re-election last November after eight terms.

The others who pleaded innocent with May were Henry M. Garsson, head of a combine of nineteen firms which did a $78,000,000 business in war contracts; Murray Garsson, his brother and associate, and Joseph F. Freeman, their Washington agent.

Their indictment by a grand jury yesterday said May agreed to receive $53,634.07 and "other sums" from the Garssons to use his influence with high army officers in behalf of the combine.

Confident Of Being Cleared

May answered these charges before Justice Bolitha J. Laws tensely and without emotion: "I plead not guilty."

En route here by train from his Prestonsburg (Ky.) home, May said "I am confident that an impartial jury will clear me," saying he is innocent of "any wrong-doing either legally or morally."

After being finger-printed with the others, and making bond, May remarked to a group around him:

"Send to Prestonsburg for your jury and I won't challenge a one of them."

Says Heart Hurts Him

Agreeing to remain in Washington unless given court permission to leave, May told a criminal court clerk:

"My heart's hurting me—can I sign something and go to my hotel?"

May failed to appear before a Senate Investigating Committee last summer, his physician advising the committee May had suffered a heart attack. Later the committee turned its findings over to the Justice Department. Attorney General Clark said the FBI still is investigating the case.

Surplus Probe To Be Resumed

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—An investigation of millions of dollars of surplus property disposal was ordered today by the House Expenditures Committee.

Five members were named to work with a Senate group on the inquiry. They are:

Representatives Rizley (R., Okla.), as chairman; Snyder (R., W.Va.), Jenkins (R., Pa.), Holifield (D., Cal.), and Dorn (D., S.C.).

The Senate-House committee will hear witnesses at joint sessions, but each will maintain its own investigating staff. The committee decided also to seek power to subpoena witnesses.

NO SECRETS MISSING

Washington, Jan. 24 (A. P.).—Michael J. McDermott, press officer of the State Department, said today that he could find "nothing to substantiate" a report that secret papers are missing from the files of the department. He was told at a news conference that such a report has been published and was asked for information.

He said that he had inquired of Under-Secretary of State Acheson, of Acting Assistant Secretary of State John E. Puerifoy, and of various other responsible officials and that "nobody knows anything about this story."

McDermott was then asked, "Can you say that no papers are missing?"

"I have found nobody in the department who knows there are any papers missing," he said. "I am continuing my investigation."

Negro Army Unit Going To Japan

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The War Department plans to use a regiment of Negro troops as a unit of the 25th Division on occupation duty in Japan.

This was made known today in an announcement that a group of 535 officers and men of the 25th Infantry Regiment, a Negro unit, now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., is undergoing training for assignment late next month to the 24th Regiment.

The 24th, a Negro unit stationed in Okinawa since the end of the war, has begun moving to Japan. The Negro regiment will replace the 4th Regiment, a white unit of the 25th Division.

Units Used In Combat

Although Negro units of company or platoon strength were integrated with white troops in the 1st, 3d and 7th armies in combat during the European war, this will be the first time since then that integration of Negro combat units with white troops has been followed.

The department said the joining of Negro regiments into white divisions was adopted as a department policy last March.

Marcus H. Ray, civilian aide to the Secretary of War on Negro affairs, said he considers this "an excellent example of implementation of current army policy" and that he believes it will result "in the development of a better understanding between the white and Negro soldiers involved."

SENATOR HITS ARMY JUSTICE

Calls Private's Case Test of Trial System.

Washington, Jan. 24 (A. P.).—Senator Taylor (D.-Idaho), today called the case of Pvt. Leo W. Christensen a test of Army justice.

Christensen, whose home was in Iona, Idaho, was convicted last June 30 by court-martial of murder and assault while serving in Japan with the 24th Infantry Division. He was sentenced to hang.

Taylor made his plea today before a War Department review board.

"Since Japn was occupied," the Senator said, "there have been thousands of occupation troops and among them have been literally thousands of lawyers. I want to know why there was not an American lawyer in all of Japan who was able to represent Christensen. I want to know why, with thousands of graduates of the best law schools to choose from, the court assigned to Pvt. Christensen a counsel who had no experience in criminal defense."

Cites Forced Confession.

He said the record indicates that a confession was obtained from Christensen by methods which were fundamentally unfair, and that he was imprisoned five days without any one to advise him.

Saying that Congress extended

the draft to 18-year-olds after a great deal of speculation and discussion and that many members of Congress felt that the Army is no place for a boy so young, Taylor declared: "The Christensen case illustrates all these fears and doubts."

It raises, he said, "the big question: How well is the Army taking care of our 18-year-olds? How well is it protecting them from evil? And how well is it protecting those precious rights of American citizenship which these youngsters are unable to protect for themselves." He added: "If this is the type of procedure that the Army chooses to dignify by the name of trial, then I will be inclined to agree with those who feel that the Army is completely incompetent to deal with the prosecution and punishment of crime in its own ranks."

WAR ON 'BRASS HATS' PLANNED BY TABER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP) Representative Taber (R-NY), drum-major of the congressional economy parade, said he intends "to knock off some brass hats" to save money in the armed services.

The New Yorker, chairman of the Senate-House Budget committee which will review President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget, cited the Coast Guard as an example "that needs correcting."

Before the war, he told reporters, the Coast Guard had three rear admirals, no full admirals and about 18 captains. Now, he said, there are three full admirals, 18 rear admirals and 116 captains, although the number of enlisted men is about the same as pre-war.

benefits for veterans and not in the benefits themselves.

Representative Taber said also he intends "to knock off some brass hats" to save money in the armed services. He cited the Coast Guard as an example "that needs correcting." Before the war, he told reporters, the Coast Guard had three rear admirals, no full admirals and about eighteen captains. Now, he said, there are three full admirals, eighteen rear admirals and 116 captains, although the number of enlisted men is about the same as before the war.

Senator Walter F. George, Democrat, of Georgia, called on Congress today to trim President Truman's budget by at least $2,500,000,000, pay $1,000,000,000 on the national debt and put off cutting taxes until it is sure income will exceed outgo by at least $2,000,000,000.

A member of the new Congressional Budget Committee and former chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, he told a reporter he thinks a "breathing space" must be left in the budget to take care of any possible slump in business that would cut revenues in the next year.

His statement came at a time when Senator Styles Bridges, Republican, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, was telling reporters that the Senate-House Budget Committee is having difficulty in attempting to estimate income and outgo and balance them, as required under the Congressional reorganization act.

Senator Bridges said the group, which gets down to work next Tuesday, may have to bring in an over-all figure for the budget and decline to point out specifically where cuts would be made under the estimates submitted by President Truman.

BENEFITS TO VETERANS TO REMAIN UNCUT

Aim at V. A. Economies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP).—House Republicans shifted their economy guns to the Veterans Administration today, but promised no more than a near miss against the cash actually paid to former GI's.

Representative John Taber, (Republican of New York), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, told a reporter that the $7,000,000,000 budget for veterans can take a trimming. But he said the cuts will be made in the money spent to administer

Alaska Settlements Studied, Bolte Says

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Truman has a Cabinet committee studying the possibilities of veterans settling in Alaska, Charles G. Bolte, of the American Veterans Committee, said today.

Bolte, national chairman of the A.V.C., made this statement after a twenty-minute talk with Mr. Truman at the White House.

Bolte said he had gone to see Mr. Truman to suggest a study of Alaska. In a letter to Mr. Truman, Bolte said:

"The A.V.C. urges that a presidential commission be created whose function will be to make Alaska available to war veterans.

"This commission should develop and carry out a program for the settlement of Alaska with particular emphasis on encouraging the settlement of the tens of thousands of veterans who are keenly interested but need realistic guidance and assistance."

When he spoke to Mr. Truman about this, Bolte said, the President told him the Cabinet committee was at work.

George Would Cut Budget But Not Taxes

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Senator George (D., Ga.) called on Congress today to trim President Truman's budget by at least $2,500,000,000, pay $1,000,000,000 on the debt and put off cutting taxes until it is sure income will exceed outgo by at least $2,000,000,000.

George, a member of the new Congressional Budget Committee and former chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he thought a "breathing space" must be left in the budget to take care of any possible slump in business that would cut revenues in the next year.

The President's budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 called for spending $37,500,000,000, but George said:

"I am sure the budget can be leveled off at $35,000,000,000 and I hope it can be cut below that point.

Should Pay Billion On Debt

"We ought to arrange to pay not less than $1,000,000,000 on the national debt and to leave a breathing space of another $1,000,000,000 for possible shrinkage of revenues."

For practical purposes, George said, any such system would limit tax reductions largely to any amounts Congress might save by cutting the budget under the $35,000,000,000 figure he suggested.

A number of Republicans have advocated cutting the budget and taxes deeper than the figures mentioned.

George, who usually reflects the viewpoint of a number of his Democratic colleagues on financial matters, said he thought the "prime consideration" of Congress at this time "ought to be to assure the American people that the budget is going to be balanced, will stay balanced and that there will be no further deficit spending."

If Earnings Drop, U.S. Loses

Second in importance, he said, was a "substantial" payment on the national debt—at least $1,000,000,000.

"When these two primary considerations have been met," he continued, "I favor whatever reduction in taxes that can be made."

He pointed out, however, that President Truman's revenue estimate of $37,700,000,000 is based on the expectation that Americans will earn $166,000,000,000 in the next taxable year. If those earnings should fall $15,000,000,000, he said, revenues might be reduced as much as $4,000,000,000.

George's statement came at a time when Chairman Bridges (R., N.H.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee was saying the Senate-House Budget Committee is having difficulty in attempting to estimate income and outgo and balance them, as required under the Congressional Reorganization Act.

Economic Upheaval Seen If U. S. Sells Pipelines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP) Predicting that permanent use of the war-built big and little inch pipelines to carry gas would cause economic upheaval, representatives of coal producers and eastern railroads pleaded with Congress anew today to delay sale of the huge conduits.

Senator Hawkes (R-NJ) announced he will ask the Senate Armed Services committee to reconsider its action last Monday putting aside a resolution to forestall the sale.

Sees Economy Disrupted

The War Assets administration has announced its intention to dispose of the $145,000,000 lines Feb. 3 or shortly after, unless Congress instructs otherwise. The pipes, stretching from Texas to the eastern seaboard, were built by the government in wartime to transport oil.

Spokesmen for coal producers and railroad management and unions made new pleas to the House Commerce committee, which will act on the sale postponement resolution early next week.

Rep. Fenton (R-Pa) told the committee that disposal of the pipes for gas transport would put southwest natural gas "in direct competition with anthracite and would disrupt the entire economy of Pennsylvania."

Now Transporting Gas

Rep. Chapman (D-Ky), a Commerce committee member, suggested it might be well for the government to keep the lines for use as it sees fit "if John L. Lewis calls another coal strike." The pipes now are transporting gas under a four-month contract made by the government late last year for emergency fuel relief during the coal strike.

Joining in the plea for a delay in the sale until Congress can study the economic aspects were Reps. Scott (R-Pa), Hardie (D-Va) and Gillette (R-Pa); R. Granville Curry of Wilkes Barre, Pa., representing the Anthracite Institute; A. E. Lyons, of the Railroad Labor Executives association; James M. Sube, Association of American Railroads; John Schriber, Eastern State Retail Solid Fuel conference, and Samuel Weiss, American Coal and Coke Chemicals Institute.

Schriber said use of the lines permanently for gas transport would jeopardize 20,000 retail coal dealers in the northeast and the jobs of their 75,000 employes coal dealers, he reported, "are scared stiff."

Surplus Output Of Food Urged To Aid Needy

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—An international commission today urged the world's big agricultural nations to produce surpluses for sale to undernourished countries at cut-rate prices.

The plea was made by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization's preparatory commission on world food proposals. It came in a report which recommended international machinery for stabilizing prices of farm produce moving into regular commercial markets.

Production of surpluses to feed the needy in backward and undeveloped countries is to be preferred, the commission said, to the production control many countries practiced during the 1930's.

Control Renewal Talked

The commission's report, drafted after three months of study, was released at a time when such major food exporting countries as the United States are anticipating an early return of price depressing surpluses and some of their leaders are suggesting a return to production controls.

The United States delegate, Under Secretary of Agriculture N. E. Dodd, said the United States advanced the idea "of using excess supplies to support special food programs to improve the diets of the most needy groups."

Dodd said the commission has "broken new ground with significant recommendations."

Capacity Is Increased

"We hope," he added, "that the people of the United States will inform themselves of the recommendations in order that their representatives may finally express fully the people's decision."

The commission's plan will be submitted to the governments of the 40-odd member nations of the FAO.

The report said the world's capacity to produce has been greatly increased by wartime scientific and technological developments and that international co-operative action must be taken to absorb a greater output than ever before.

Disaster Is Alternative

If this is not done, it said, "we many find ourselves heading for a greater distaster than in 1929. The result may be millions out of work, an unparalleled business recession, and social and economic unrest, with renewed pressure for restriction of production."

The commission sugested that its program be carried out largely through intergovermental agreements, one for each commodity, such as wheat, cotton, sugar, rice, tea, live-stock products, fruits and vegetables, cocoa, fats and vegetable oils, wool and timber.

The commission in effect rejected a proposal by FAO's director general, Sir John Boyd Orr, that a world food board be set up with broad powers to buy, hold and sell commodities for the purpose of stabilizing prices and for diverting surpluses to needy areas.

Opposed By U.S.

The United States, opposing concentration of such power in an international agency, had led the move to seek the same goals through intergovernment agreements.

These would provide machinery for stabilizing prices of commercial exports at levels declared to be fair to producers and consumers alike. Importing as well as exporting countries would be parties.

Exporting nations would be required to maintain special reserves to protect importing nations as well as themselves against famine. They would be allowed to maintain, under international rules, other reserves for the purpose of price stabilization.

When prices tended to go too high, supplies would be sold from the stabilization reserve. When prices tended to go too low, supplies would be diverted into these reserves.

Steps Already Taken

Steps are already under way to draft agreements on wheat and cotton. Agreements of limited nature were in effect before the war for sugar, tea and cocoa.

Under the surplus disposal plan, recipient countries would be required to limit distribution to persons in need. They would have to prevent diversion of the surplus supplies to commercial or export markets.

The commission recommended that, in addition to this food, backward countries be given international aid in developing their agriculture and industry.

150,000 Tenants Of Uncle Sam Are Too Rich

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—At least 150,000 people around the country have too much money to suit their present landlord.

That many tenants, an Associated Press survey showed today, have been or shortly will be asked to move out of low-rental public housing projects because their incomes are too high.

In Washington, the Federal Public Housing Authority indicated the 150,000 figure was a minimum estimate, since it is based only on tenants who have filed statements of their earnings.

May Get Court Evictions

The requests to leave range in tone from polite suggestions to tenants that they begin looking around for new homes to definite eviction notices. The purpose, said an FPHA spokesman, "is to stimulate the ineligibles to look for other homes."

Generally, housing authorities don't expect to force any evictions if the tenants can find no other place to live. But there is a growing movement to seek approval of the Office of Temporary Controls (OPA's successor) for a policy of court eviction notices.

The object of all this is to make room in the Government-subsidized public projects for low-income groups, especially veterans unable to find homes elsewhere.

170,000 Families Altogether

In New York city alone, housing authorities have invited 2,769 families, about 11,000 inhabitants, to leave because their incomes have exceeded the temporary limit of $3,000 annually.

Nationally, there are about 170,000 families housed in low-rental projects. Of these, some 39,000 families are now ineligible for continued occupancy because of excessive income.

30.24-7533

Allowed $360 A Month

In the first half of 1946, the average income of the ineligible family was $2,472. In the same period, the average earnings of the eligible tenants was $1,450. Some low-rental project inhabitants are known to be earning $4,000 and $5,000 a year.

Tenants' income limits allowed by housing authorities vary widely. The lowest, $36 a month, is permitted in Delaware county, Indiana, and Knoxville, Tenn. The highest is $360 a month in New Orleans.

During the war, while incomes were rising, housing authorities around the country generally raised the maximum income limits. This was done because most of the tenants were war workers. Now, however, housing officials want some turnover in high-income tenants to make room for eligibles.

Sense Of Fair Play

Actually, few if any have been evicted because of their income. But eviction notices have been mailed to 1,500 families in Pittsburgh; 1,000 in New Orleans; 1,200 in Cleveland; 500 in Memphis; 140 in Birmingham, Ala., and 129 in Denver.

In cities like Detroit, Boston and Portland, Ore., eviction tactics so far have been avoided. Appeals have been made to the ineligibles to begin looking elsewhere and, in these cases, authorities are relying on the occupants' sense of fair play and patriotism.

Fleming said today he and Mr Truman went over the question of rent controls thoroughly but did not come to any conclusion. He said the "hardship" order was given earlier this week to the regional OPA directors.

In Congress, such Republican leaders as Senator Taft of Ohio have said they favor continuing control in some form past the present termination date of June 30.

The real estate industry has called for a 15 per cent increase in all ceilings, rent decontrol on all new dwelling units and professive decontrol of all rents when landlords offer leases carrying increases of not more than 15 per cent.

OPA Resists Decontrol

OPA has resisted decontrol, saying that return of veterans, war workers and their families to former homes have made the housing shortage worse than during the war. It said it had allowed hundreds of thousands of individual rent adjustments.

Last Oct. 30, in the midst of OPA's headlong retreat on most price controls, the agency slapped rent ceilings on additional areas with a population of 3,500,000.

Max McCullough, commissioner of price administration, said regulations are being eased to enable a greater number of landlords to apply for increases on the basis of hardship.

McCullough said a detailed announcement would be issued some time next week.

OPA officials familiar with rent regulations said the changes probably would allow small property owners to qualify more easily for higher rent schedules.

McCullough told newsmen the changes would be "important to individuals with hardship cases," but said the adjustments to be allowed "certainly are not applied to all properties."

"Hardship provisions are being broadened to include such things as borderline cases and some types now ineligible," McCullough said.

OPA officials said that under present regulations governing hardship cases, landlords must show a decrease in net operating income under base period income and the decrease must result from an increase in operating costs rather than for other reasons.

Property owners are allowed to choose a base period, showing their operating costs for any two years after 1939 and prior to the time their rents were frozen.

OPA officials said some small operators were caught in a "squeeze" when they applied for rent increases on a hardship basis because "lots of them had kept no records on operating expenses."

Fleming told a reporter there had been reports of many hardship and peculiar circumstance cases where owners had been unable to show sufficient proof in support of their requests for rent increases.

"The field offices had been rather rigid in their demands for approval of hardship," Fleming said. "We want them to be more liberal in their requirements for proof."

Landlords Suffering Hardship Can Seek Rent Increases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP) Landlords suffering hardship can get a rent increase under a policy announced today by Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, director of the Office of Temporary Controls.

Fleming told reporters, after a call on President Truman, that his office has directed regional OPA offices to "liberalize" rents in "hardship cases."

No General Break

While stressing that this does not mean a break in the general line of rent controls, Fleming said:

1. Any doubts as to the need of raising rents in a hardship case must be resolved in favor of the landlord.

2. Local costs will be the measuring rod as to whether rents are too low.

3. The new order is designed to correct local situations where rents of some properties are lower than those of similar properties in the same area.

Tariff on Sugar Argued Before House Group

Cuban Interests Urge 50% Cut in Rate; U. S. Candy Men Want It to Stand

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP).—Representatives of sugar and candy manufacturing industries today urged retention of the present tariff on Cuban sugar, while Cuban-American industry representatives advocated a 50 per cent reduction.

Representatives Walter K. Granger, Democrat, of Utah, and William S. Hill, Republican, of Colorado, also opposed a reduction in the 75-cents-a-hundred-pounds Cuban sugar tariff because of "the confused sugar situation which now prevails."

The case was argued before a subcommittee on reciprocity of information gathering data to be used in negotiations of trade agreements with eighteen nations.

H. R. Chapman, vice-president of New England Confectionery Co., said the sugar tariff should not be reduced, and "when the world supply of sugar is adequate, we may be justified in requesting that the former rate of 40 per cent ad valorem be reinstated."

He said a tariff reduction would increase competition between domestic and foreign candy manufacturers, especially Cuban and Argentine industries.

"During the last few years," Mr. Chapman said, "candy manufacturers from many sections of the world have toured the United States, visiting candy manufacturing plants, purchased candy-making machinery and offered positions to those skilled in United States techniques."

Representative Granger said "this is a very inopportune time to reduce tariff rates. The sugar situation is very confused, and the confusion is being used for political purposes.

Representative Hill declared "we should not add to the confusion of the sugar situation by reducing the tariff rate on sugar."

More Sugar In Sight

Cleveland, Jan. 24 (AP)—Ray Semans, regional sugar executive of the Office of Price Administration, said today the estimated world sugar production was expected to allow a 40 per cent ration boost to domestic consumers and 27 per cent to industrial users this year.

Housewives were granted 25 pounds last year for each member of their family and Semans said it was hoped the allotment would be increased to 35 pounds.

Persons who are agitating for a removal of sugar rationing are "misled" because without controls industrial users could outbid domestic consumers, Semans declared.

ASSAIL SOVIET INCOME FIGURES

Economists Call Russia's Report Overstated.

Atlantic City, Jan. 24 (A. P.).—Doctors Paul Studenski of New York University and Julius Wyler of the New School of Social Research told the American Economic Association today that current estimates of Russia's national income were overstated and useless.

In a paper on the economy of the U. S. R. R., Studenski and Wyler said Russian estimates "overstate the rate of growth of the Soviet national income and its various parts, while distorting the composition of the national income and shedding little light on its distribution and disposition."

Both said that bias continued in the Russian estimates were not intentional defects but were inherent in the material production concept of income derived from Marxian ideology, in the difficulties of measuring income in constant prices, and in the employment of inappropriate statistical technics.

Studenski said that "while there has undoubtedly been a very large growth" in Russian national income, the methods of computation indicated a "considerable degree of over-statement."

Questions Nation's Growth.

Stating that Russian estimates showed a 400 per cent increase in the Soviet national income in twelve years, Studenski added that no published estimates of any other country in the world show a comparable rate of increase of its national income during any time in its history.

"The only estimates published in the United States covering an extended period show that it took that country fifty years, from 1879 to 1929, to increase its national income in constant prices five-fold," he said.

Wyler said recent estimates prepared by him showed only half the increase in national income estimated by Russian statisticians.

Hickenlooper Heads Congress Atomic Group

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) was elected chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy at a reorganization meeting today.

Representative W. Sterling Cole (R., N.Y.) was named vice chairman.

Hickenlooper succeeds Senator Brien McMahon (D., Conn.), who remains a member of the eighteen-man committee. Half the members are from the House, half from the Senate.

The committee is entrusted with a continuing study of the activities of the Atomic Energy Commission, and reporting to Congress on those activities. In addition, the Senate panel considers all nominations to posts connected with atomic energy development.

The nine senators will open hearings Monday morning on six such nominations: David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the commission, Sumner T. Pike, Robert F. Bacher, William W. Waymack and Lewis L. Strauss as members, and Carroll Wilson as general manager.

All the nominees have been asked to be present. Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.) has announced he will oppose the nomination of Lilienthal, former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors.

PATRIOTIC GATHERING PRAISED BY TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Truman praised the Women's Patriotic Conference as "performing a most useful public service," as women representing twenty-nine organizations assembled today.

In a letter addressed to Mrs. Sally Cannon of Kansas City, Mo., chairman of the conference and national president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mr. Truman said:

"I am happy to extend sincere greetings to the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense, on the occasion of the twenty-first annual conference.

"It is heartening to know that the women of our nation, represented by the twenty-nine patriotic organizations who participate in your conference, are dedicating themselves to the proposition that the indivisible peace of the world can best be maintained by an America that brings vigor and strength to the cause of human justice.

"The policy of this nation continues to be one of firmness and patience in the right. To that cause is dedicated the united will of our citizens. In helping to express our united will, the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense is performing a most useful public service."

Among the organizations participating are the American Legion Auxiliary, the Daughters of the American Revolution, National Society Daughters of the Union, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, National Society Daughters of the Revolution, National Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans, Gold Star Mothers, National Auxiliary of United Spanish War Veterans.

Forrest Says 24 Nations Lack Free Information

South Carolina Press Institute Hears A. S. N. E. President

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 24 (AP).—Wilbur Forrest, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said tonight that of fifty-four countries which are members of the United Nations, twenty-nine have "very effective barriers against the freedom of information."

Freedom of information, Mr. Forrest said, means news and information allowed to circulate freely . . . in order that people shall know the truth, shall be informed about the people of other nations, and shall be able to judge whether hatreds which breed wars are justified, able to realize that war from now on means the end of civilization as we live it, and albe . . . to yield to the settlement of international disputes by negotiation, arbitration and conciliation."

Mr. Forrest, assistant editor of the New York Herald Tribune, spoke at a meeting of the South Carolina Press Institute.

He said a committee studying world journalism, of which he is a member, found that "to the Russians press freedom meant the right to have their news screened." The committee found in addition that Russian newspapers carry little news of other nations, he said.

The committee also found, he said, that "tens of millions of people are being deprived of news and information."

World freedom of information will depend on freedom of the press from government controls, Mr. Forrest said, adding that editors must strive "to spread freedom of the press throughout the world so that eventually some 2,000,000,000-odd human beings may have the right to learn and to know about others."

LODGE SEEKS AID FOR HUNGARIANS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—A letter protesting against the "inhuman deportation of Hungarian inhabitants in Czechoslovakia into slave labor camps," and urging an investigation has been sent to the Under Secretary of State's office by Congressman John Davis Lodge of Connecticut.

The protest, along with a request for a full report on the findings followed a telegram of protest to the Connecticut congressman from the Rev. Stephen F. Chernitzky, pastor of St. Stephen's church, Bridgeport. Congressman Lodge, has informed Father Chernitzky that he is "extremely sympathetic in the matter," and will do everything he can "to remedy this inhuman situation."

Congressman Lodge also has received a letter from Harry B. Flood, Stratford town manager expressing the thanks of the town for his assistance in obtaining approval of the town's application for supplementary funds for the preparation of plans for a town sewer project.

Giving Displaced Persons Property Is Considered

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Attorney General Clark told reporters today that he is considering a proposal that considerable unclaimed property in the American zone of occupation in Germany be turned over to displaced persons there.

Clark was asked about such a move on leaving a Cabinet meeting at the White House. He said he had a memorandum on the subject in his briefcase, but had not had opportunity to take it up with President Truman.

The property, he said, falls into two categories—monetary and non-monetary. Most of the former, principally gold, has been returned to the original owners. Much real estate and personal property, however, is still unclaimed. It is this that would be given to displaced persons, where the owners are not found and if it is legally proper to do so.

World Bank Loan for France

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP).—The International Bank probably will announce its first loan within the next few weeks—a credit of around $200,000,000 for France, bank officials reported today. These informants disclosed that consideration of the French application was nearly complete and that work on loan requests by Chile and Denmark also was going forward rapidly.

1,462 Horses on Way to Poles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP).—A shipload of 1,462 horses and forty dairy cows was en route to Poland today to help replenish that country's stock after its loss of 2,500,000 horses during the war and the occupation. Donations for 1,050 of the horses, contributed by the Rebuilders of Poland, came from Polish-American groups in Detroit, Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh and Buffalo. A United Nations Rehabilitation Relief Administration announcement said the relief cargo left Newport News, Va., today.

ARMY BARS APPEALS

Washington, Jan. 24 (A. P.).—The War Department announced today the rejection of appeals by five officials of a C. I. O. union who were dismissed from jobs at the Army's ordnance base at Aberdeen, Md., on the ground that they were members of the Communist Party.

The Department said that Secretary Patterson had turned down the appeals, but did not disclose his reasons. The five, including engineers and scientists, had sought a public trial.

They were dismissed last June under a law permitting the Army and Navy to drop any employee in the interests of national security. The Aberdeen proving grounds has been used for tests of rockets and other guided missiles.

The five, all members of the United Public Workers (C. I. O.) have contended that they are not members of the Communist party or any affiliate. Instead, they asserted that they were victims of a War Department "all-out union-breaking campaign.

PARIS--FIRST ADD GERMAN ADMINISTRATION (A89) (BY JOSEPH E.DYNAN)

X X X THE STATE.

NEITHER STAGE OF THE PROJECTED PLAN ENVISIONED ANY SPECIAL STATUS FOR THE RUHR VALLEY, AND THIS APPEARED TO BE A DEPARTURE FROM PREVIOUSLY EXPRESSED FRENCH VIEWS ON GERMANY.

INTERNATIONALIZATION OF THE RUHR AND SEVERANCE OF THE RHINELAND FROM THE REICH OF THE FUTURE.

THE FIRST STAGE SOUGHT TO ESTABLISH A STATUTE DELINEATING FEDERAL AND STATE POWERS THROUGHOUT GERMANY WHILE ASSURING CONTINUED STRICT ALLIED CONTROL OVER CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION, THE SPOKESMAN SAID.

RELEASE OF THE DETAILS OF THE PLAN COINCIDED WITH THE FIRST MEETING OF PREMIER PAUL RAMADIER'S NEW 11-PARTY CABINET IN WHICH GEORGES BIDAULT, THE NATION'S SPOKESMAN THROUGH THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE, AGAIN IS THE FOREIGN MINISTER. THE IMPLICATION WAS THAT THE PROJECT HAD THE ENDORSEMENT OF ALL PARTIES.

FORMER U.S.SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F.BYRNES SAID LAST OCTOBER THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, "FOR OUR OWN SECURITY AS WELL AS FOR THE WELFARE OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE," DID "NOT WANT TO SEE AN OVER-CENTRALIZED GOVERNMENT IN GERMANY WHICH CAN DOMINATE THE GERMAN PEOPLE INSTEAD OF BEING RESPONSIBLE TO THEIR DEMOCRATIC WILL."

FRANCE CONTENDS THAT A "UNITED STATES OF GERMANY" WOULD BE TOO CENTRALIZED.

FRANCE PROPOSES THAT THE STATES IN THE PROVISIONAL PERIOD RESERVE ALL POWERS NOT EXPRESSLY DELEGATED TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT OR RETAINED BY ALLIED FORCES, AND THAT THE STATES HAVE EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTION OVER POLICE, EDUCATION, JUSTICE, PUBLIC HEALTH AND RELATED FIELDS. THE STATE GOVERNMENTS WOULD BE ADMINISTERED BY GERMAN OFFICIALS UNDER ALLIED SUPERVISORS WITH VETO POWERS. THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION WOULD RULE ON DISPUTED POINTS.

THE CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION IN THE PROVISIONAL PERIOD WOULD BE DIVIDED BETWEEN ALLIED AND GERMAN OFFICIALS, BUT WITH ALLIED PERSONNEL CONTINUING TO DIRECT ALL MATTERS OF FINANCE AND GENERAL ECONOMY.

IN THE PERMANENT POST-OCCUPATION STRUCTURE, FRANCE PROPOSES A GERMAN FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IN A FEDERAL DISTRICT ELSEWHERE THAN BERLIN. IT WOULD CONSIST OF AN EXECUTIVE, ELECTED BY THE LEGISLATURE FOR A ONE-YEAR TERM AND RESPONSIBLE TO IT; A ONE-HOUSE LEGISLATURE FOR WHICH EACH STATE WOULD APPOINT FOUR "SENATORS" TO FOUR-YEAR TERMS; AND A SUPREME COURT WHICH WOULD OPERATE MUCH AS THE SUPREME COURT FUNCTIONS IN THE UNITED STATES.

MINISTERS UNDER THE PRESIDENT WOULD BE LIMITED TO FIVE--FOREIGN AFFAIRS, FINANCE, FOOD SUPPLY, TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATIONS--WITH AGRICULTURE AND NATIONAL ECONOMY TO BE DIRECTED BY A SUPERIOR COUNCIL OF THE CORRESPONDING MINISTERS FROM EACH STATE GOVERNMENT. THE FOREIGN MINISTER WOULD HANDLE FOREIGN RELATIONS OF THE NATION AS A WHOLE, BUT THE STATES EACH WOULD MAINTAIN DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS IN AFFAIRS PECULIAR TO THEMSELVES.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID FRANCE WAS NOT MAKING ANY DEFINITE PROPOSALS AT THIS TIME ON THE NUMBER OR SIZE OF FUTURE GERMAN STATES UNTIL THE FOREIGN MINISTERS AGREED ON A CONSTATITUIONAL STRUCTURE.

TARANTO, ITALY, JAN 24-(AP)-A BITTER REACTION IS EVIDENT AT THIS MAJOR ITALIAN NAVAL BASE TO TERMS OF THE ITALIAN PEACE TREATY DECIMATING THIS NATION'S ONCE IMPORTANT FLEET.

THERE HAS BEEN MUCH TALK, EMPHASIZED BY SEVERAL VEILED HINTS IN TARANTO NEWSPAPERS, THAT THE ITALIAN SAILORS MIGHT SCUTTLE THEIR SHIPS INSTEAD OF SURRENDERING THEM TO THE ALLIES UNDER THE TREATY TO BE SIGNED IN PARIS FEB. 10.

NAVY OFFICERS AND MEN SAY ALLIED PROMISES WERE MADE BEFORE THE 1943 ARMISTICE THAT ITALY WOULD BE PERMITTED TO KEEP HER FLEET IF SHE CAME OVER TO THE ALLIED SIDE.

(UNDER THE TREATY, ITALY WILL RETAIN ONLY TWO OUT-DATED BATTLESHIPS, FOUR CRUISERS, FOUR DESTROYERS AND OTHER MINOR UNITS.)

SAILORS RECALL VOYAGING TO MALTA TO JOIN THE FIGHT AGAINST GERMANY IN SEPTEMBER, 1943, AND MANY ASK "WHY ARE THEY DOING THIS TO US?"

SENIOR OFFICERS PROFESS OFFICIAL IGNORANCE ABOUT TREATY TERMS AND SAY THEY ARE CONTINUING IN COMMAND OF THEIR VESSELS "AS NORMALLY AS THOUGH THE TREATY DID NOT EXIST."

REAR ADM. UMBERTO MOSCATELLI, FLEET CHIEF-OF-STAFF, SAID ABOARD HIS FLAGSHIP, THE CRUISER EUGENIO DI SAVOIA, ONE OF THOSE TO BE SURRENDERED: "I KNOW NOTHING."

A WARRANT OFFICER ON THE CRUISER, ASKED IF THE SAILORS WOULD SCUTTLE BEFORE SURRENDERING AS THE GERMANS DID AFTER WORLD WAR I, REPLIED: "WHO KNOWS?" HE DESCRIBED THE MORALE OF THE MEN AS "BELOW ZERO."

"AS ITALIANS," HE ADDED, "WE FACE DISHONOR; AS SAILORS, WE FACE UNEMPLOYMENT."

SEVERAL NAVAL GROUPS IN TARANTO BARS AND CAFES SAID THEY WOULD INSTRUCT AMERICAN OR BRITISH SEAMEN IN THE OPERATION OF THE SURRENDERED SHIPS IF ORDERED TO DO SO, ALTHOUGH "WITH GREAT RELUCTANCE." THE ITALIANS ASSERTED THEY WOULD DESERT RATHER THAN INSTRUCT FRENCH OR RUSSIAN CREWS.

VEILED HOSTILITY WAS ALSO NOTICEABLE AMONG CIVILIANS OF TARANTO, WHO DEPEND ALMOST ENTIRELY ON THE NAVY FOR THEIR LIVELIHOOD.

ONE OF THE FEW BRITISH OFFICERS STILL HERE SAID:

"THIS IS QUITE A NEW ATMOSPHERE, WHICH BEGAN WHEN THEY REALIZED WHAT THE TREATY WOULD MEAN TO THEM. I THINK THEY BELIEVED THAT, IN THE END, THEY WOULD BE ALLOWED TO KEEP THEIR SHIPS. NOW THEY KNOW OTHERWISE."

HOWEVER, ONE SENIOR ITALIAN NAVAL ENGINEERING OFFICER WAS MORE REALISTIC.

"AS A RESULT OF INFLATION AND THE HIGH COSTS OF LABOR AND MATERIALS," HE SAID, "WE WOULD HAVE BEEN FORCED TO SCRAP ALL BUT TWO OF OUR BATTLESHIPS IN ANY CASE. WE WILL HAVE DIFFICULTY IN MAINTAINING WHAT WE ARE ALLOWED TO KEEP.

"BUT THE BIG POWERS HAVE SO MANY BIGGER AND BETTER SHIPS. IT IS INEXPLICABLE TO US WHY THEY ARE TAKING FROM US WHAT THEY CAN NOT USE. EVERYBODY KNOWS OUR SHIPS ARE BUILT FOR THE MEDITERRANEAN AND ARE NOT ABLE TO STAND THE HEAVY WEATHER IN THE ATLANTIC OR PACIFIC."

WASHINGTON, JAN 24-(AP)-THE SOLID FUELS ADMINISTRATION SAID TODAY IT IS STRIVING TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF COAL SHIPPED ABROAD BUT IS NOT YET EXPORTING TOP GRADES BECAUSE THEY ARE NEEDED AT HOME.

THAT WAS AN SFA OFFICIAL'S COMMENT TO A REPORTER WHO ADVISED HIM OF A COMPLAINT BY COPENHAGEN'S MAYOR THAT THREE-FOURTHS OF DENMARK'S ALLOTMENT OF SOFT COAL IS OF POOR QUALITY AND CAN NOT BE USED IN PRODUCING ARTIFICAL GAS.

IN ADDITION, THE SFA OFFICIAL SAID, OVERSEAS SHIPMENTS OF THE BETTER GRADES OF COAL ARE BEING LIMITED TO PRE-WAR PURCHASERS OF SUCH COAL. NONE OF THE EUROPEAN COUNTRIES, HE SAID, ARE IN THIS CATEGORY.

CAIRO, JAN. 24-(AP)-A NEW MESSAGE FROM THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT DELIVERED TO THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT TONIGHT WAS RELIABLY REPORTED TO RESTATE THE BRITISH POSITION ON THE SUDAN, AND OBSERVERS BELIEVED IT WOULD FAIL TO BRING AGREEMENT ON REVISION OF THE 1936 ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY OF ALLIANCE.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR SIR RONALD CAMPBELL CONFERRED FOR TWO AND A HALF HOURS WITH PRIME MINISTER NOKRASHI PASHA AND SAID AFTERWARDS THAT HE HAD SUBMITTED THE MESSAGE.

NOKRASHI PASHA TOLD REPORTERS THAT HE WOULD ANNOUNCE HIS REPLY SATURDAY OR SUNDAY.

NEITHER OF THEM REVEALED THE CONTENT OF THE BRITISH MESSAGE, BUT IT WAS UNDERSTOOD TO MAINTAIN BRITAIN'S STAND FOR SELF-DETERMINATION OF THE SUDAN AS OPPOSED TO EGYPT'S DEMANDS FOR UNITY OF EGYPT AND THE SUDAN UNDER THE EGYPTIAN CROWN.

EGYPTIAN POLITICAL LEADERS HAVE BEEN INCREASING DEMANDS RECENTLY FOR BREAKING OFF NEGOTIATIONS WITH BRITAIN AND SUBMITTING THE SUDAN ISSUE TO THE UNITED NATIONS FOR SETTLEMENT.

JERUSALEM, JAN. 24-(AP)-A RELIABLE SOURCE SAID TODAY THAT GEN.SIR EVELYN BARKER, BRITISH COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF IN PALESTINE, HAD CONFIRMED A MILITARY COURT DEATH SENTENCE IMPOSED RECENTLY ON DOV BELA GRÜNER, ALLEGED MEMBER OF THE UNDERGROUND ZIONIST ORGANIZATION IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, FOR HIS PARTICIPATION IN AN ATTACK ON A POLICE STATION LAST SPRING.

BECAUSE NO OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE OF THE CONFIRMATION HAS YET BEEN RELEASED, THERE WAS SPECULATION IN SOME QUARTERS THAT GEN. SIR ALAN CUNNINGHAM, HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR PALESTINE, MIGHT REPRIEVE GRONER, AND THAT THE CONFIRMATION AND REPRIEVE MIGHT BE PUBLISHED SIMULTANEOUSLY WITHIN THE NEXT FEW DAYS.

THE SOURCE SAID GRONER'S EXECUTION BY HANGING HAD BEEN SCHEDULED FOR NEXT TUESDAY. IT WAS LEARNED FROM OTHER SOURCES THAT THE CHIEF RABBI OF PALESTINE AND OTHER JEWISH OFFICIALS PLANNED AN APPEAL FOR COMMUTATION OF THE SENTENCE TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

IT WAS POINTED OUT AT HIS SENTENCING ON JAN. 1, THAT GRÜNER, A HUNGARIAN, WAS THE ONLY WAR SURVIVOR OF HIS FAMILY EXCEPT FOR A SISTER NOW IN THE UNITED STATES. IT WAS STRESSED ALSO THAT HE HAD NO POLICE RECORD AND A RECORD OF FIVE YEARS' SERVICE WITH THE BRITISH ARMY DURING THE WAR.

JERUSALEM, JAN.24-(AP)-A HIGH PALESTINE GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY THAT "CONTINUATION OF JEWISH TERRORISM MAY BRING ABOUT RUTHLESS SEARCHES AND RUTHLESS OCCUPATION OF PARTS OF PALESTINE, SHORT OF MARTIAL LAW."

THE SPOKESMAN, WHO CANNOT BE IDENTIFIED BY NAME, REFERRED IN A NEWS CONFERENCE TO THE POSSIBILITY OF NEW VIOLENCE AS "ASSURED", AND ADDED:

"IF THE JEWS SHOULD GET A JEWISH STATE, THE TERRORISTS WILL TURN ON THEIR JEWISH GOVERNMENT IMMEDIATELY AND CAUSE CIVIL WAR. WHY NOT HAVE IT NOW AND STAMP OUT THE TERRORISTS FOR GOOD?"

THE CIVIL GOVERNMENT, "WHICH NOW STANDS BETWEEN THE MILITARY AND THE POPULACE, MAY HAVE TO STAND ASIDE UNLESS THE DEPREDATIONS COME TO AN END," HE SAID. "THIS DOES NOT MEAN MARTIAL LAW. IT MERELY MEANS HANDING OVER THE COUNTRY MORE FULLY TO THE TROOPS."

THE SPOKESMAN CRITICIZED THE JEWISH NATIONAL COUNCIL (VAAD LEUMI) FOR "TWO NOTABLE OMISSIONS" IN ITS RECENT PRONOUNCEMENT AGAINST UNDERGROUND ACTIVITIES. HE SAID NOTHING WAS INCLUDED CONCERNING COOPERATION OF THE JEWISH COMMUNITY WITH THE GOVERNMENT IN STAMPING OUT THE ACTIVITIES, AND NOTHING WAS SAID OF ANY EFFORT BY THE JEWS "TO PREVENT ATTACKS BY TERRORISTS ON BRITISH TROOPS."

REFERRING TO SPECULATION ON THE POSSIBILITY OF AN ARAB UPRISING IF THE LONDON PALESTINE CONFERENCE REACHED A DECISION UNFAVORABLE TO THE ARABS, THE SPOKESMAN SAID:

"THE FELLAHEEN (ARAB PEASANTS) ARE NOT ANXIOUS FOR TROUBLE. THEY ARE BETTER OFF THAN EVER BEFORE AND I DOUBT THEY ARE WILLING TO GO TO BATTLE."

FIRST LEAD PUNJAB

BOMBAY, JAN 24-(AP)-THE MOSLEM LEAGUE'S NATIONAL GUARD IN PUNJAB PROVINCE WAS OUTLAWED TODAY AND EIGHT HIGH RANKING PUBJAB MOSLEM LEADERS WERE ARRESTED IN A GOVERNMENT ACTION WHICH CAUSED VIOLENT DEMONSTRATIONS IN THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL OF LAHORE.

IN BOMBAY, 900 MILES TO THE SOUTH, THE MOSLEM LEAGUE CALLED UPON BOMBAY PROVINCE'S 2,500,000 MOSLEMS TO STRIKE TOMORROW IN PROTEST.

NEARLY 200 WERE REPORTED INJURED WHEN POLICE WITH CLUBS CHARGED A CROWD IN LAHORE. MORE THAN 30 OTHERS WERE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY AS A RESULT OF PROTEST DEMONSTRATIONS WHICH CAME SWIFTLY IN THE WAKE OF POLICE RAIDS ON THE MOSLEM GUARD'S HEADQUARTERS AND THE HOME OF ITS COMMANDER IN LAHORE.

THE GOVERNMENT'S DECLARATION THAT THE GUARD WAS ILLEGAL WAS FOLLOWED BY A NEW AND EQUALLY SUDDEN ANNOUNCEMENT THAT RASHTRIYA SEVAK SANGH, HINDU YOUTH ORGANIZATION, ALSO WAS OUTLAWED. THE LATTER ORGANIZATION'S OFFICES ALSO WERE RAIDED. THE PROVINCIAL PUNJAB GOVERNMENT SUPPORTS THE PREDOMINANTLY HINDU CONGRESS PARTY.

BEGUM KAMALUDDIN SAID IN A STATEMENT THE POLICE ACTION SEEMED "ANOTHER ATTEMPT ON THE PART OF THE PUNJAB GOVERNMENT TO KILL THE MOSLEM LEAGUE ORGANIZATION BY FORCE, BUT LET ME TELL THEM THAT, BY ~~THE GRACE OF GOD, THEY SHALL~~ NOT SUCCEED. MOSLEM INDIA WILL NEVER TAKE IT LYING DOWN." ADD-BOMBAY-(PUNJAB) - NY ENTER.

AS NEWS OF THE ARRESTS SPREAD, MOSLEMS APPEARED ON THE STREETS OF LAHORE SHOUTING MILITANT SLOGANS.

A LARGE QUANTITY OF THE STEEL HELMITS, UNIFORMS AND BADGES WHICH MOSLEM NATIONAL GUARDSMEN WORE DURING THEIR FREQUENT PARADES IN VARIOUS PARTS OF INDIA WERE SEIZED BY POLICE, ALONG WITH THE RECORDS OF THE GUARD'S OFFICES.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY OF THE PUNJAB GOVERNMENT SAID THE RASHTRIYA SEVA SANGH, HINDU YOUTH GROUP, ALSO HAD BEEN DECLARED ILLEGAL.

THE MEN ARRESTED WERE KHAN IFTIKHAR HUSSAIN, PRESIDENT OF THE PUNJAB MOSLEM LEAGUE AND OPPOSITION LEADER IN THE PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE; FIROZ KHAN NOON, FORMER MEMBER OF THE VICEROY'S EXECUTIVE COUNCIL AND A MEMBER OF THE ALL-INDIA LEAGUE'S COMMITTEE OF ACTION; SHAUKAT HYAT KHAN, DEPUTY LEADER OF THE LEAGUE ASSEMBLY PARTY; AMIR HUSSAIN SHAH, COMMANDER OF THE PUNJAB MOSLEM LEAGUE NATIONAL GUARD; MAIN IFTIKHAR RUDDIN AND MAIN MUMTAZ DAULTANA.

BEGUM KAMALUDOIN WAS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY WITH THREE STUDENTS AT THE HOME OF THE LEAGUE GUARD COMMANDER, WHERE THE WOMEN DECLINED TO PERMIT POLICE TO MAKE A SEARCH FOR SOME HOURS, AUTHORITIES SAID.

(IN NEW YORK, THE INDIAN SECTION OF THE BRITISH INFORMATION SERVICE SAID THE MOSLEM NATIONAL GUARD WAS THE SEMI-MILITARY UNIT OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE IN THE PUNJAB, ORGANIZED SOME TIME AGO OSTENSIBLY TO PRESERVE ORDER AT LEAGUE MEETINGS AND PREVENT HOODLUMS FROM RIVAL PARTIES FROM INTERFERING WITH THE SESSIONS.)

SHEIKH SADIQ HASSAN, SPEAKING AS ACTING PRESIDENT OF THE PUNJAB MOSLEM LEAGUE, SAID IN AN INTERVIEW "OUR STRUGGLE IS NON-COMMUNAL AND NON-VIOLENT."

THE PUNJAB GOVERNMENT ISSUED A COMMUNIQUE SAYING IT WISHED TO "MAKE IT CLEAR THAT THE ACTION WAS NOT DIRECTED AGAINST ANY POLITICAL PARTY," BUT WAS INTENDED "ONLY TO PREVENT EXPANSION OF PRIVATE COMMUNAL ARMIES WHICH WOULD BE HARMFUL TO THE PEACEFUL POSITION OF THE COUNTRY."

THE COMMUNIQUE SAID 30 DEMONSTRATORS WERE ARRESTED AFTER THE RAID ON THE GUARD OFFICES.

ASSOCIATED PRESS STAFF WRITER

THE MOSLEM LEAGUE NATIONAL GUARD, OUTLAWED IN THE PUNJAB TODAY, PROBABLY IS THE MOST DISCIPLINED OF INDIAN POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONS, A QUALITY WHICH, EVEN WITHOUT THEIR DARK GREEN UNIFORM, MAKES IT DISTINCTIVE IN A LAND OF COMPLETELY UNDISCIPLINED, EVEN HECTIC, POLITICAL DEMONSTRATIONS.

ACTUALLY, ITS DISCIPLINE IS MILD. THE UNIFORMS ARE NOT UNIFORM AND MANY MEMBERS MARCH WITHOUT SHOES, BUT IN INDIA'S PLUNGING THRONGS

30.24-7539

A UNIT OF THE MOSLEM GUARD STANDS OUT AS AN ORGANIZED BODY.

SUPPORTERS OF THE PREDOMINANTLY HINDU CONGRESS PARTY PRIVATELY OBSERVE THAT THE GUARD HAS A NUMBER OF SUSPICIOUS RESEMBLANCES TO A NAZI OR FASCIST YOUTH LEAGUE.

MOSLEM LEAGUE LEADERS SAY IT WAS FORMED TO KEEP ORDER AT LEAGUE ASSEMBLIES AND TO SUPPRESS HOODLUMS, BUT THE GUARD HAS OTHER DUTIES. ITS MEMBERS, FOR EXAMPLE, SERVE AS THE TRAINED LEADERS OF CHEERING SECTIONS.

"MOSLEM LEAGUE," THE CAPTAIN SHOUTS.

"ZINDABAD," THE GUARD MEMBERS SHOUT IN REPLY.

"PAKISTAN," SHOUTS THE LEADER.

"ZINDABAD," THE GUARD ROARS.

THE GUARD MARCHES IN ESCORT TO LEAGUE PRESIDENT MOHAMMED ALI JINNAH FOR MILES, SHOUTING "PAKISTAN--ZINDABAD."

SERVING AS GUARD OF HONOR TO JINNAH AND OTHER LEAGUE OFFICERS IS ANOTHER OF THE GUARD'S DUTIES AND, AGAIN, CONGRESS MEMBERS FIND SOMETHING NAZI-LIKE IN THE CEREMONY AND STAGING OF JINNAH'S APPEARANCES BEFORE HIS FOLLOWERS. JINNAH THEN APPEARS IN A COSTUME WHICH HE NEVER WEARS AT OTHER TIMES. IT INCLUDES A LONG BLACK CLOAK, THE FUR CAP WHICH IN INDIA IS AS MUCH A SIGN OF THE MOSLEM AS THE RED FEZ, AND A SILVER NECKLACE. IF HE ADDRESSES AN INDOOR MEETING, THE HALL IS LIKELY TO BE PLUNGED INTO DARKNESS WHILE A SINGLE SPOTLIGHT SHINES ON HIS HEAD AND SHOULDERS.

THE GUARD USUALLY STARTS THE OVATION TO JINNAH WITH A BIT OF ORGANIZED CHEERING.

THE PUNJAB, INDIA'S RICHEST PROVINCE, WOULD BE THE KEYSTONE OF PAKISTAN AND IS THE SCENE OF INTENSE LEAGUE ACTIVITY.

A73

BUT FOR YEARS IT HAS BEEN GOVERNED BY AN INDEPENDENT PARTY, A COALITION OF ANTI-LEAGUE MOSLEMS AND OTHER ELEMENTS, EVEN SIKHS AND HINDUS. THIS INDEPENDENT PARTY HAS NO BRANCHES OUTSIDE THE PUNJAB AND HAS MAINTAINED ITS POWER BECAUSE THERE ARE ENOUGH PUNJAB MOSLEMS AGAINST JINNAH AND HIS FOLLOWERS TO MAKE A MAJORITY WHEN JOINED WITH THE MINORITY GROUPS.

THROUGH ITS LEADER, THE PRIME MINISTER, KIZAR HYAT KHAN, THE PARTY HAS SIDED WITH THE CONGRESS ON MOST ISSUES AND, AT THE SAME TIME, HAS MAINTAINED GOOD RELATIONS WITH THE BRITISH ADMINISTRATION. KIZAR HYAT KHAN REPRESENTED INDIA AT THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE LAST SUMMER. HE ALSO HAS BEEN A DELEGATE TO THE CONFERENCES TO DEVISE A FORMULA FOR ESTABLISHING AN INDEPENDENT INDIAN CENTRAL GOVERNMENT.

BECAUSE OF THEIR OPPOSITION, THE PUNJAB INDEPENDENTS ARE CERTAIN TO SUFFER IF PAKISTAN EVER IS ACCOMPLISHED. THAT MAY EXPLAIN THEIR FRIENDLY RELATIONS WITH CONGRESS, WHICH, IN TURN, EXPLAIN THE LEAGUE INTERPRETATION OF THE OUTLAWING OF THE NATIONAL GUARD AS A BLOW AGAINST THE LEAGUE INITIATED BY THE "HINDU GOVERNMENT" AT NEW DELHI.

RAS AT TANNURA, JAN. 23-(DELAYED)-(AP)-THE CIMARRON, GIANT OILER OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY, GAVE KING IBN SAUD A 21-GUN SALUTE TODAY IN A RECEPTION THAT THE DESERT MONARCH SAID WOULD DO MUCH TO CEMENT "THE GREAT FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES."

THE ARABIAN RULER VISITED THE 25,000-TON SHIP ON A TOUR OF THE $45,000,000 REFINERY BUILT HERE BY THE ARABIAN AMERICAN OIL COMPANY SINCE HIS LAST TRIP TO THIS REGION IN 1939.

FROM A DESERT CAMP NEAR THE OIL COMPANY HEADQUARTERS AT DHAHRAN, THE KING FLEW MOST OF THE 40 MILES TO THE PERSIAN GULF PORT OF RAS AT TANNURA IN A PLANE GIVEN HIM BY THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT. HE LANDED IN THE DESERT 10 MILES FROM THE REFINERY AND DROVE TO THE DOCK WHERE OILERS OF THE U.S. NAVY AND OTHER PURCHASERS LOAD.

THE SHIP'S CREW LINED THE RAIL AT SALUTE AS THE COLORFULLY ROBED RULER CAME ABOARD WITH J. RIVES CHILDS, U.S. MINISTER TO SAUDI ARABIA, AND OTHER AMERICAN OFFICIALS. AFTER MEETING SHIP'S OFFICERS, HE SAT DOWN AND CHATTED THROUGH AN INTERPRETER WITH CAPT. JOHN W. MURPHY OF WASHINGTON, D.C., THE COMMANDER.

"THE SPLENDID RECEPTION YOU HAVE GIVEN ME," SAID THE KING,

"WILL DO MUCH TO CEMENT THE GREAT FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN OUR TWO COUNTRIES."

IBN SAUD THEN DROVE THROUGH THE REFINERY, NOW PRODUCING MORE THAN 100,000 BARRELS OF OIL DAILY, AND LUNCHED IN THE REFINERY MESS HALL WITH AMERICANS AND ARABS.

AFTER LUNCH HE FLEW BACK TO DHAHRAN TO WELCOME THE SHEIK OF THE NEIGHBORING OIL-RICH ISLAND OF BAHREIN, REPORTED ENROUTE TO VISIT THE KING WITH 30 CAMELS, 30 MARES AND TWO STALLIONS FOR PRESENTS.

AT A BANQUET IN THE KING'S HONOR AT THE COMMUNITY MESS IN DHAHRAN LAST NIGHT, HE REITERATED HIS ADMIRATION FOR PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND SAID THE BEST MEAL EVER OFFERED HIM WAS THAT SERVED HIM ON A VISIT TO THE PRESIDENT'S SHIP DURING THE WAR.

TOKYO WAR CRIMES TRIAL).
BY FRANK L.WHITE

(ADVANCE)...TOKYO, JAN. --- (AP)-THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL FOR THE FAR EAST HEARD MORE THAN 4,000,000 WORDS OF TESTIMONY IN SUPPORT OF THE PROSECUTION'S CHARGES THAT FROM 1928 ONWARDS JAPANESE LEADERS CONSPIRED TO DOMINATE THE PACIFIC AND EAST ASIA BY AGGRESSION IN VIOLATION OF INTERNATIONAL TREATIES. THE PROSECUTION ENDED ITS CASE TODAY.

THE TESTIMONY AND THE 2,300 EXHIBITS -- SOME SUCH VOLUMINOUS TRACTS AS THE PEARL HARBOR REPORT -- CONTAINED LITTLE NEW EXCEPT A FEW MILITARY AND DIPLOMATIC SECRETS UNCOVERED SINCE THE WAR'S END. WITHOUT COMMENTING ON ITS WEIGHT AS EVIDENCE, IT MAY BE SAID THAT THE PROSECUTION HAS REDUCED TO SWORN TESTIMONY NEARLY TWO DECADES OF FAR EASTERN HISTORY, MUCH OF WHICH HAD BEEN PUBLISHED ONLY AS RUMOR WHEN WRITTEN BY CENSOR-PLAGUED CONTEMPORARY WRITERS.

THE EVIDENCE HAS NAMED ALL 25 DEFENDANTS STILL IN THE PRISONERS' DOCK ALONG WITH SCORES OF OTHER JAPANESE AS PRINCIPALS IN PLANNING AND CARRYING OUT AGGRESSIVE MOVES.

MANY OF THOSE NAMED BUT NOT ON TRIAL ARE DEAD, SOME BY THEIR OWN HAN SOME AS VICTIMS OF WAR, OTHERS OF OLD AGE AND ILLNESS. SOME INEXPLICABLY REMAIN FREE; SOME STILL ARE HELD IN SUGAMO PRISON WITHOUT CHARGE 18 MONTHS AFTER THE WAR ENDED.

THE TESTIMONY ON THE PEARL HARBOR ATTACK DISCLOSED TWO ITEMS NOT HITHERTO PUBLISHED. THESE WERE THAT EARLY IN 1941 THE JAPANESE PERFECTED A SHALLOW WATER TORPEDO NECESSARY TO INSURE A CRIPPLING BLOW TO BATTLESHIPS AT ANCHOR AND THAT THE JAPANESE NAVY FOUR MONTHS BEFORE THE ATTACK REHEARSED IT UNDER PHYSICAL CONDITIONS SIMULATING THE PEARL HARBOR SURROUNDINGS.

THE EVIDENCE FAILED TO DISCLOSE ANY JAPANESE PLAN TO FOLLOW IT UP WITH AN ATTACK ON THE WESTERN SHORES OF THE UNITED STATES. THE JAPANESE STRATEGY RATHER WAS TO CRIPPLE THE UNITED STATES FLEET, THEN RETIRE TO THE PROTECTION OF FORTIFIED BASES IN THE MANDATED ISLANDS WHILE THE IMPERIAL ARMY OVERRAN THE RESOURCES OF THE RICH SOUTH SEA ISLANDS AND THE ASIATIC CONTINENT UNTIL JAPAN BECAME SO POWERFUL THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD SUE FOR PEACE.

THE TRIAL OPENED APRIL 29, 1946 WITH THE PROSECUTION BRINGING OUT THAT JAPAN'S ORGANIC LAWS WERE SO DEVISED THAT THE MILITARY FORCES WERE ANSWERABLE ONLY TO THE EMPEROR.

SUBSEQUENT TESTIMONY ON AGGRESSION IN CHINA ADDED BUT LITTLE TO THE PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGE OF EVENTS. HENRY PU-YI WAS PRODUCED BY HIS RUSSIAN CAPTORS AND CONFIRMED THAT HE WAS A PUPPET OF THE JAPANESE KWANTUNG ARMY WHILE ON THE THRONE OF MANCHOUKUO (MANCHURIA). AFTER HIS TESTIMONY HE RETURNED TO THE OBSCURITY OF RUSSIAN CAPTIVITY.

OTHER EVIDENCE WAS AIMED TO SHOW THAT WHAT JAPANESE REFERRED TO AS "INCIDENTS" IN CHINA WERE CAREFULLY PLANNED VIOLATIONS OF TREATIES.

TESTIMONY ON JAPAN'S ALLIANCES WITH GERMANY AND ITALY CONFIRMED THAT THE ANTI-COMINTERN PACT IN REALITY MASKED A MILITARY AGREEMENT DIRECTED AT THE SOVIETS AND THAT THE TRI-PARTITE PACT WAS A PAPER PLAN TO DIVIDE THE WORLD INTO TWO SPHERES, DOMINATED BY GERMANY IN THE WEST AND JAPAN IN THE EAST.

THE EVIDENCE ON ATROCITIES AND VIOLATIONS OF RULES OF WARFARE REVEALED JAPANESE SOLDIERY AS UNCHECKED BY HIGHER AUTHORITY DURING A WIDESPREAD SERIES OF SADISTIC ACTS AGAINST CHINESE, BRITISH, FILIPINOS, AMERICANS AND FRENCH.

REVEALING ALSO WAS THE LENGTHY TESTIMONY OF AN EXPERT ON THE EXTENT TO WHICH JAPAN'S ECONOMY WAS INTEGRATED INTO PREPARATIONS FOR WAR.

JAPANESE LABOR (170)

TOKYO, JAN. 24-(AP)-ALLIED HEADQUUARTERS REPORTEDLY THREATENED "DECISIVE AND COMPLETE ACTION" TODAY TO HALT A STRIKE OF 2,500,000 GOVERNMENT WORKERS SET FOR FEB. 1 AND GAVE LEFT WING JAPANESE UNION LEADERS UNTIL SATURDAY TO SAY WHETHER THEY WOULD CALL IT OFF.

THE REPORT OF THE CRACKDOWN ON LEFTIST LABOR, WHICH HITHERTO HAS BEEN GIVEN ITS HEAD UNDER THE OCCUPATION, CAME FROM UNQUOTABLE BUT USUALLY RELIABLE JAPANESE SOURCES.

NEITHER HEADQUARTERS OFFICIALS NOR UNION LEADERS -- UNDER STRICT HEADQUARTERS INSTRUCTIONS TO SAY NOTHING TO THE PRESS -- WOULD DISCUSS THE MATTER.

BRIG. GEN. WILLIAM MARQUAT, HEAD OF HEADQUARTERS' ECONOMIC SECTION, AND THEODORE COHEN, CHIEF OF THE LABOR DIVISION, DECLINED TO COMMENT ON THE REPORT THAT THEY LAID DOWN THE LAW TO "SEVEN OR EIGHT" JAPANESE LABOR LEADERS.

BY THIS ACCOUNT, THE OFFICIALS DECLARED THAT A GENERAL STRIKE WOULD PROMOTE NATIONAL DISASTER, INTERFERE WITH THE OCCUPATION, AND CONSEQUENTLY WOULD NOT BE TOLERATED BY ALLIED AUTHORITIES.

THE GENERAL STRIKE WAS CONCEIVED BY LEFTWING LABOR LEADERS AS A DEMONSTRATION AGAINST PREMIER YOSHIDA'S CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT, WHICH THEY HAVE BEEN TRYING TO UNSEAT.

MARSHALL (400)

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, JAN.24-(AP)-THE CONFLICT BETWEEN ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE SPRUILLE BRADEN AND AMBASSADOR GEORGE MESSERSMITH OVER AMERICAN RELATIONS WITH ARGENTINA APPEARS CERTAIN TO BE RESOLVED SWIFTLY BY SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE LATE YESTERDAY THAT HE AND MARSHALL HAD DISCUSSED THE SITUATION. AND WHILE THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE DID NOT EXPRESS HIS OWN VIEWS, THERE HAVE BEEN REPORTS THAT HE URGENTLY DESIRES EARLY ACTION TO STRAIGHTEN OUT THIS IMPORTANT ISSUE IN UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY.

MESSERSMITH, WHO CAME TO WASHINGTON AT CHRISTMASTIME, IS STILL HERE. HE EVIDENTLY HOPES TO LAY BEFORE MARSHALL HIS ARGUMENTS FOR A MODIFICATION OF BRADEN'S FIRM INSISTENCE THAT THE PERON GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA MUST FULFILL ALL ITS INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS BEFORE THE UNITED STATES ADOPTS A FRIENDLIER ATTITUDE.

BRADEN CONFERRED WITH MR. TRUMAN A WEEK AGO AND IS REPORTED TO HAVE TAKEN THE POSITION THAT IF THERE IS ANY CHANGE IN HIS TERN HANDLING OF ARGENTINE RELATIONS HE WILL RESIGN.

THE SITUATION ALSO INVOLVES QUESTIONS OF MARSHALL'S RELATIONS WITH THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE.

SOME INFLUENTIAL MEMBERS OF THAT BODY ARE KNOWN TO BE CONVINCED THAT THE ARGENTINE SITUATION MUST BE CLEARED UP SOON AND ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR AN EARLY MEETING OF ALL THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS AT RIO DE JANEIRO.

AT THE MOMENT MANY OFFICIALS IN A POSITION TO KNOW ARE UNCERTAIN WHETHER MARSHALL'S HANDLING OF THE SITUATION WILL INVOLVE PERSONNEL CHANGES. THERE IS SPECULATION, HOWEVER, THAT EITHER MESSERSMITH OR BRADEN, POSSIBLY BOTH, EVENTUALLY MAY GO.

MARSHALL, WHO TALKED WITH MR. TRUMAN YESTERDAY ON A WIDE RANGE OF SUBJECTS INCLUDING CHINA, SOUTH AMERICA, GERMANY AND PALESTINE, APPEARED TO BE MOVING SWIFTLY TO COMPLETE THE TOP ORGANIZATION OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

HE ANNOUNCED THE APPOINTMENT LAST NIGHT OF JOHN E. PEURIFOY AS ACTING ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE FOR ADMINISTRATION, REPLACING DONALD RUSSELL WHO RESIGNED WHEN FORMER SECRETARY BYRNES LEFT THE DEPARTMENT.

THIS WAS MARSHALL'S FIRST PERSONNEL ACTION IN THE DEPARTMENT WHERE MR. TRUMAN SAID YESTERDAY HE HAS A COMPLETELY FREE HAND.

THE SELECTION OF PEURIFOY, AT 39 A VETERAN OF NINE YEARS IN STATE DEPARTMENT WORK, MAY SIGNAL AN EVENTUAL REORGANIZATION WITH HIM SHOULDERING DIRECT RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE JOB.

PEURIFOY, WHO HAS SERVED FOR THE LAST YEAR AS SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO UNDERSECRETARY DEAN ACHESON, HAS BEEN MOST CLOSELY ASSOCIATED WITH THE NON-CAREER OFFICERS IN THE DEPARTMENT. THUS ANY REORGANIZATION PLAN WHICH HE SPONSORED MIGHT GIVE INCREASED AUTHORITY TO PERSONS WHO ARE NOT PROFESSIONAL DIPLOMATS.

SMITH-BANK (420)
BY STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON, JAN.24-(AP)-THE UNEXPECTED DEATH OF HAROLD D. SMITH, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE WORLD BANK, LEAVING THAT GLOBAL RECONSTRUCTION AGENCY LEADERLESS AGAIN TODAY, PRESUMABLY WILL SPUR THE SEARCH FOR A NEW PRESIDENT.

SMITH, FORMER UNITED STATES BUDGET DIRECTOR, WAS STRICKEN SUDDENLY BY A HEART ATTACK LATE YESTERDAY AT HIS FARM HOME NEAR CULPEPPER, VA. HE WAS 48 YEARS OLD.

HE HAD BEEN SERVING AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF THE INTERNATIONAL BANK FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT SINCE DECEMBER 18, WHEN PRESIDENT EUGENE MEYER RESIGNED. SMITH RESIGNED, TOO, BUT AGREED TO STAY ON UNTIL THE BANK'S DIRECTORS ELECTED A NEW PRESIDENT.

COINCIDENTALLY WITH SMITH'S DEATH--WHICH CAME SO SUDDENLY THAT MEDICAL AID WAS NOT AT HAND--A BANK OFFICIAL INDICATED PRIVATELY THAT THE WIDE-RANGING SEARCH FOR A PRESIDENT MAY BE NEARING AN END. THE SELECTION IS "UNDER ACTIVE CONSIDERATION" AT THIS MOMENT, HE TOLD A REPORTER, AND THE DIRECTORS HOPE FOR AN EARLY DECISION.

FROM OTHER PERSONS FAMILIAR WITH THE 43-NATION, $8,000,000,000 INSTITUTION IT WAS LEARNED THAT THE DIRECTORS HAVE BEEN STUDYING WHETHER TO MAKE THE VICE PRESIDENCY A MORE POWERFUL POSITION.

THE PROPOSAL IN EFFECT WOULD SET UP THE JOB AS AN "EXECUTIVE" VICE PRESIDENCY. ITS HOLDER WOULD PRESIDE PERMANENTLY AT MEETINGS OF THE 12-NATION DIRECTORATE--AS SMITH HAD BEEN DOING TEMPORARILY--AND ASSUME ADDED DUTIES OF MANAGEMENT IN ORDER TO LEAVE THE NEW PRESIDENT FREE FOR POLICY MATTERS.

SOME OFFICIALS BELIEVE THIS PLAN WOULD MAKE THE PRESIDENCY, A $30,000-A-YEAR TAX-FREE POSITION WHICH SEVERAL PERSONS ARE KNOWN TO HAVE REJECTED, MORE ATTRACTIVE TO TOP RANK FINANCIAL MEN.

AMONG THOSE REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN SOUNDED OUT UNSUCCESSFULLY ARE SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HARRIMAN; FORMER ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR JOHN J. MCCLOY; PRESIDENT ALLAN SPROUL OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF NEW YORK, AND GRAHAM F. TOWERS, GOVERNOR OF THE BANK OF CANADA.

RECENTLY THE NAME OF WARREN LEE PIERSON HAS FIGURED IN SPECULATION. HE IS PRESIDENT OF ALL AMERICA CABLES AND RADIO, INC., AND FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK OF WASHINGTON. HE WAS AN ADVISER AT THE BRETTON WOODS (N.H.) CONFERENCE IN 1944, WHERE THE BANK AND THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND WERE BORN.

IT WAS ASSUMED THAT SMITH'S SUCCESSOR LIKEWISE WOULD HAVE A FINANCIAL BACKGROUND. SMITH'S EXPERIENCE WAS MAINLY ADMINISTRATIVE, BUT THE ORGANIZATIONAL PHASE OF WORLD BANK ACTIVITIES IS LARGELY OVER. IT IS EXPECTED SOON TO START MAKING LOANS FOR RECONSTRUCTION PROJECTS IN WAR-TRAMPLED COUNTRIES.

A52WX

EMILIO G. COLLADO, UNITED STATES MEMBER OF THE BANK'S DIRECTORATE, SAID SMITH'S DEATH WAS "TERRIBLE NEWS--I KNOW THE BANK'S DIRECTORS AND STAFF WILL BE SHOCKED AND GRIEVED."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, TERMING SMITH "ONE OF THE ABLEST SERVANTS IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE," SAID HE WAS "TERRIBLY SHOCKED."

SMITH HAD BEEN TREATED FOR A HEART CONDITION ABOUT A YEAR AGO, WHEN HE WAS BUDGET DIRECTOR.

HE LEFT THAT $10,000 POST LAST SUMMER, SAYING HE COULD "NOT AFFORD" TO PASS UP THE BANK POSITION WITH ITS $22,500 SALARY, TAXES ON WHICH ARE PAID BY THE BANK.

A FORMER DIRECTOR OF MICHIGAN'S STATE BUDGET, HE JOINED THE BUDGET BUREAU IN 1939. HE WAS BORN JUNE 6, 1898, IN LAWRENCE, KANS.

ATOMIC (350)
BY JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, JAN 24-(AP)-SENATORS TALKED TODAY OF CALLING BERNARD M. BARUCH TO A HEARING WHICH ONE OF THEM SAID COULD DEVELOP BOTH REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION TO SOME OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S ATOMIC CONTROL COMMISSION NOMINEES.

SENATOR BRICKER (R-OHIO) TOLD A REPORTER HE WILL SUGGEST TO THE SENATE MEMBERS OF THE JOINT CONGRESSIONAL ATOMIC COMMITTEE THAT THEY HEAR FROM BARUCH BEFORE PASSING ON MR. TRUMAN'S FIVE APPOINTEES TO THE COMMISSION, HEADED BY DAVID E.LILIENTHAL AS CHAIRMAN.

BARUCH HAS BEEN DESCRIBED BY SOME PERSONS AS NOT TOO WELL PLEASED WITH THE PUBLICATION OF THE SO-CALLED LILIENTHAL-ACHESON REPORT LAST SPRING WHILE THE ELDER STATESMAN WAS ENGAGED IN UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC NEGOTIATIONS. UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON JOINED LILIENTHAL IN SPONSORING THE REPORT WHICH LAID DOWN A PATTERN FOR SUGGESTED INTERNATIONAL CONTROLS.

BARUCH RESIGNED EARLIER THIS MONTH AS AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE ON THE U.N. ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION.

BRICKER SAID HE HAD RECEIVED "NUMEROUS" LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS URGING HOM TO OPPOSE SOME OF THE APPOINTMENTS. BUT HE ADDED THAT HE DOES NOT INTEND TO MAKE UP HIS MIND UNTIL HE HEARS ALL OF THE TESTIMONY TO BE GIVEN AT PUBLIC HEARINGS STARTING MONDAY.

"I HAVE A HIGH REGARD FOR MR. BARUCH'S OPINION AND I THINK WE OUGHT TO KNOW MORE ABOUT THESE MEN BEFORE WE UNDERTAKE TO SAY WHETHER THEY SHALL BE CONFIRMED OR NOT," BRICKER SAID.

AT THE SAME TIME, A DEMOCRATIC MEMBER OF THE ATOMIC COMMITTEE TOLD A REPORTER SOME DISSATISFACTION HAD BEEN EXPRESSED AT A MEETING OF THE GROUP THIS WEEK ON THE THEME THAT MR. TRUMAN'S APPOINTEES--ASIDE FROM LILIENTHAL--ARE NOT MORE WIDELY KNOWN.

THIS DEMOCRAT, WHO ASKED NOT TO BE QUOTED BY NAME, SAID HE WOULD NOT BE SURPRISED IF STRONG OPPOSITION DEVELOPS AMONG MEMBERS OF BOTH PARTIES UNLESS TESTIMONY SHOWS CLEARLY THAT THE APPOINTEES ARE PARTICULARLY QUALIFIED. HE NOTED THAT THE COMMISSION MAY BECOME ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT AGENCIES IN THE GOVERNMENT.

THIS SENATOR SAID HE WILL BACK BRICKER'S MOVE TO CALL BARUCH, ADDING THAT HE ALSO WANTS TO HEAR THE VIEWS OF FORMER SENATOR WARREN R. AUSTIN (VT), BARUCH'S SUCCESSOR ON THE U.N. ATOMIC COMMISSION.

NAMED WITH LILIENTHAL AS MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION ARE ROBERT F.BACHER OF NEW YORK, SUMNER T.PIKE OF MAINE, LEWIS L.STRAUSS OF VIRGINIA AND WILLIAM W.WAYMACK OF IOWA. CARROLL L.WILSON OF MASSACHUSETTS WAS CHOSEN AS GENERAL MANAGER.

SENATOR MCKELLAR (D-TENN) ALREADY HAS ANNOUNCED THAT HE WILL FIGHT LILIENTHAL'S CONFIRMATION, RENEWING AN UNSUCCESSFUL FEUD HE CARRIED ON WHILE LILIENTHAL HEADED THE TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 24-(AP)-CHAIRMAN THOMAS (R-NJ) OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT A SUBPOENA HAS BEEN SERVED ON GERHARD EISLER TO APPEAR BEFORE THE COMMITTEE FEB. 6.

EISLER WAS IDENTIFIED AT A COMMITTEE HEARING LAST YEAR BY LOUIS F. BUDENZ AS THE DIRECTOR OF COMMUNIST PARTY ACTIVITIES IN THE UNITED STATES. BUDENZ, FORMER EDITOR OF THE DAILY WORKER, RENOUNCED COMMUNISM AND BECAME A TEACHER AT NOTRE DAME AND FORDHAM UNIVERSITIES.

THOMAS SAID THE SUBPOENA WAS SERVED ON EISLER TODAY IN NEW YORK. THE FEBRUARY 6 HEARING, HE SAID, WILL BE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.

EG1123AES

NEW YORK, JAN. 24-(AP)-GENERAL OF THE ARMY DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER RAISED HIS VOICE TO A SHOUT WHEN HE TOLD THE BOND CLUB OF NEW YORK THAT "ANY COUNTRY WHICH CAN POUR OUT ALL THAT WE DID IN THIS WAR CAN BUILD ENOUGH HOUSES TO TAKE CARE OF THE VETERANS WHO WENT OVERSEAS TO FIGHT IT!"

DISCUSSION OF HOUSING AROSE DURING A QUESTION PERIOD FOLLOWING THE CHIEF OF STAFF'S ADDRESS TO THE CLUB LAST NIGHT.

"TAKE IT (HOUSING) TO YOUR HEARTS," EISENHOWER SAID. "SEE WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT WITHOUT WAITING FOR WASHINGTON TO DO IT."

INVITING THEIR QUESTIONS, EISENHOWER WARNED THE INVESTMENT BANKERS THAT "THERE IS ONLY ONE FIELD IN WHICH I AM MORE IGNORANT THAN I AM ABOUT FINANCE -- AND THAT IS POLITICS."

THE GENERAL SAID THAT AMERICAN OCCUPATION FORCES IN GERMANY AND JAPAN HAD BEEN REDUCED TO "THE POINT OF DANGER." HE SAID HE REGARDED CONTINUED OCCUPATION OF THOSE TWO COUNTRIES AS AMONG THE GREATEST CONTRIBUTIONS THE UNITED STATES COULD MAKE TO FUTURE PEACE.

BECAUSE THEY SERVE FOR A ONLY SHORT TIME IN RELATION TO THE COST OF THEIR TRAINING, DRAFTED MEN MAKE "THE MOST EXPENSIVE TYPE OF SOLDIERS," EISENHOWER SAID.

"THE SOONER WE CAN DESERT SELECTIVE SERVICE THE BETTER IT WILL BE FOR THIS COUNTRY," HE ADDED.

THE GENERAL URGED HIS AUDIENCE TO "JOIN OUR RECRUITING STAFF AND HELP US GET SOME MEN."

ONE SENTENCE OF PACT DONE

Result Noted After Two Weeks Of Conference

Jack Smith

London, Jan. 25 (AP)—The deputy foreign ministers finished their second week of preparatory work on the peace treaties for Germany and Austria today with just one sentence written.

The exact wording of even this sentence was not disclosed, but the four-power council had agreed it should recognize the re-establishment of a free and independent Austria, a principal already agreed upon by the deputies' superiors, the Council of Foreign Ministers.

NIGHT

Gen. Mark W. Clark, United States representative who takes over chairmanship of the Council next week, sarcastically remarked that this one-sentence record was "a magnificent achievement."

He planned a speed-up program next week, however. American sources said he would set up more experts' committees, divide up the work and make a drive to complete the deputies' task by the time the Foreign Ministers Council meets in Moscow March 10.

The Deputies canceled the meeting scheduled for today to hear Canada's views on the German treaty when the Canadian Government appeared to be boycotting the deliberations.

The Canadian Government said it was not ready to present its views. (CANADA-2)

Summary Of Claims

Here is a summary of the major small-power demands already presented:

Poland—Forty thousand square Oder and Niesse Rivers.

Holland—Germany to pay "full cost" of occupation and reconstruction.

Czechoslovakia—Some 350 square miles of border territory; plus free haulage of Czechoslovak freight on German railways, free navigation of German sections of Elbe and Danube, and free use of German ports of Hamburg, Kiel and Bremen.

Asks For Materials

Belgium—Vast payments in German materials each year for 40 years, including 6,600,000 metric tons of coal annually; plus ships and tugs, free use of German patents and eventual frontier rectifications.

Greece—"Highest possible" reparations payments in "shortest possible" time; 500,000 tons of coal annually; fuel compensation for ancient archaeological and art treasures destroyed; guaranteed restoration of Greece's prewar German market for tobacco.

In addition, France already has formed a virtual customs union with the Saar region and many French politicians sought its formal incorporation into France.

Canada Delays Her Word In Peace Talks

Jack Smith

London, Jan. 25 (AP)—The four-power Foreign Ministers' deputies, scheduled to hear Canada's views on the German peace treaty, today postponed the meeting after the Canadians said they were not ready to talk.

DAY

A semi-official Canadian source said Canada would never be ready to talk until she were assured that a representation of her views now would not jeopardize her rights to participate in subsequent deliberations on the German peace.

United States sources said Canada, seeking a stronger voice in the treaty-making, had "indicated informally" that she would boycott deliberations on the German pact unless assured that she could take part in later discussions.

Written Requests

Yesterday the deputies, in response to a written request from the Canadian delegation as to whether participation today would jeopardize Canada's future participation, said only that they would be glad to hear her views.

Meanwhile, disagreement was still apparent between the Soviet Union and the United States, Britain and France on the extent to which other "small" nations should be allowed to take part in drafting treaties for the March Big Four meeting in Moscow.

Feodor T. Gousev, of Russia, criticized South Africa and Australia for bringing up questions of peacemaking procedure. He recalled that in the role of chairman this week he had instructed them to confine their discussions to the German problem itself.

Other Nations' Stand

Robert Murphy, of the United States, and the British and French representatives made it clear they could not agree to instructions of this sort. Gousev's criticism of the Union of South Africa followed a statement to the Big Four deputies from E. K. Scallan, acting high commissioner for the Union in London, who declared the Potsdam agreement on Germany should be revised promptly to give nations outside the Big Three a part in German administration.

He opposed cession to Poland of German territory east of the Oder and Neisse rivers and to France of the Saarland and asked reconsideration of the current rate of German coal exports, reparation deliveries and industrial dismantling.

"There is grave danger of a further economic and social setback which may make Germany a new menace to Europe and the world," he said.

ANGLO-SOVIET TIES IMPROVE

Hopes Seen For New Moves In Wake Of Note Exchange

Tom Williams

London, Jan. 25 (AP)—A wide new vista for Soviet-British collaboration appeared to be opening tonight in the wake of the reaffirmation of the twenty-year British-Russian alliance.

Observing in bith Moscow and London declared that revision and extension of the treaty may form an entirely new basis for co-operation between the two powers.

Officially it was understood that Britain was awaiting amplification of the clause of Prime Minister Stalin's note to Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, calling for freeing the treaty from "weakening" reservations.

NIGHT

Term Considered Fortunate

Competent authorities on international subjects took the view that the exchange of notes between Stalin and Bevin brought fortunate results from misunderstandings dating back to December 22, when Bevin declared that Britain "does not tie herself to anybody, except in regard to her obligations under the (United Nations) Charter."

Stalin said Bevin's assertion made the Kremlin extremely uncomfortable about the entire basis of the alliance. Stalin expressed his anxiety to Field Marshal Lord Montgomery when the chief of the Imperial Staff visited him on January 10.

Five days after the Stalin-Montgomery talk the Communist party newspaper Pravda bluntly declared that the Bevin speech "repudiated" the treaty. Pravda's blast accompanied a London announcement of plans for a British-French alliance, and Soviet press and radio declarations of opposition to any British-American agreement on standardizatio nof arms.

May Have Led To Concern

Diplomats said these events also may have led to the Kremlin's concern over future British-Soviet relations.

Apparently Stalin's note was the first regarding extension of the treaty since Bevin reported last year that he had received no reply from Russia to his offer to make the pact effective for 50 instead of twenty years.

Bevin's December pronouncement, considered by the Russian's with Articles 3 and 4 of the treaty in wind, apparently led them to conclude that Pravda's conclusions were well drawn.

Staline may have been referring also to the same clauses asconstituting weakening "reservations."

The treaty was signed almost two years before the United Nations preparatory commission met at Dumbarton Oaks.

Terms Of Articles

Article 3 says that "the high contracting parties declare their desire to unite with other like-minded states in adopting proposals for common action to preserve peace and resist aggression in the post-war period."

Article 4 pledges immediate mutual aid if either party is attacked by Germany again or any state associated with Germany's acts of aggression in Europe. It adds: "This article shall remain in force until the high contracting parties, by mutual agreement, shall recognize that is is superseded by the adoption of the proposals contemplated in article 3 (one)."

Evidently Moscow saw in Bevin's December 22 broadcast declaration that he believed the time had come for the United Nations to supersede the alliance.

Encourages New Talks

Stalin's note that the misunderstanding was now cleared up and that he agreed with Bevin that the treaty still was in force was regarded here as encouraging for new treaty talks.

Britain also had not abandoned hope of effecting an exchange of British and Russian military officers.

A Tass dispatch reported that Stalin had rejected the proposal from Montgomery on the grounds such collaboration might be misinterpreted as "preparing for war." The Foreign Office would neither confirm or deny that Montgomery had made such a proposal to Stalin.

Cadets To Study Russian

However, Montgomery indicated today the possibility of an officer exchange. Speaking at Sandhurst, the British equivalent of West Point, he declared that language was a main obstacle to full understanding between Britain and Russia and announced the Royal Military Academy will start teaching all officer students the Russian language.

30.24-7545

"We want more generals to learn Russian," he told the cadets.

A high British source commenting on the possibilities of officer exchange said "the wider the collaboration between allied armies in peacetime the less can there be any suggestion that it is directed against any allied power. Britain is deeply interested in carrying over into peace the broad and effective collaboration of the Allies during the war."

Officer Exchange Plan Unwarlike, British Assert

1947

London, Jan. 25 (AP)—Foreign Office sources said today the British Government did not share Prime Minister Stalin's view that any exchange of British and Russian miltary student-officers might be interpreted by public opinion as "preparing for war."

Stalin's attitude was announced last night by the Moscow radio, which said Stalin had rejected an exchange proposal advanced by Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, British chief of staff, who visited Moscow recently.

British sources would neither confirm nor deny officially even that Montgomery had made such a proposal.

DAY

Britons to Study Russian

Montgomery meanwhile announced that all officer-students at the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst, Britain's West Point, would be taught Russian.

Montgomery, speaking to cadets at Sandhurst, said he believed that the language barrier was the main obstacle to full understanding between Britain and Russia.

"We want more generals to learn Russian," he added.

Montgomery today also indicated he had not abandoned the exchange plan.

Tass quoted Stalin as saying that Britain and the United States had been denounced "in various press organs" for their exchange of aviation students and for plans to standardize training and armaments, and that Russia "would not like also to become an object of denunciation."

Note Exchange Hailed

The British press, meanwhile, hailed the recent exchange of notes between Stalin and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin as clearing up a Moscow "misinterpretation" about the twenty-year Russian-British treaty of alliance.

In a note to Bevin, Stalin said the treaty still stands but that certain "reservations" would have to be removed if its extension until 1992 were considered.

The Foreign Office said that no steps had yet been taken toward meeting those "reservations" and that it was not known here exactly to what Stalin referred.

Previous Incidents

Previously publicized were Bevin's December 22 radio statement that Britain "does not tie herself to anyone"; the interpretation of Pravda, Soviet Communist party newspaper, that this repudiated the 1942 alliance and the British Government's denial that this was true.

Stalin referred also to Bevin's proposals that the treaty be extended to 50 years.

This week a British Foreign Office spokesman said he understood that Bevin's offer implied only "that the word 'twenty' would be substituted b ythe word 'fifty.'" Last night belief was expressed that Britain might now be willing to go farther and take out what Stalin referred to as "reservations" as well.

FAVORS CLOSER ANGLO-RED TIES

1947

But Shawcross Would Bar Spread of Sovietism.

Belfast, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—Sir Hartley Shawcross, Britain's Attorney-General, voiced hope today that Anglo-Russian ties will become closer and closer but without exposing British social democracy to the totalitarian Soviet system of government.

"I hope we shall always remain a parliamentary democracy," Shawcross said in a speech before the Belfast Fabian Society. "We are already allied to Russia within the framework of the United Nations for a twenty-year period and I hope that the alliance will acquire an ever-increasing importance and will be prolonged. I am certain that States organized on a basis of parliamentary democracy can live side by side with those which have a totalitarian Soviet system; both can co-operate in international affairs and preserve that form of government internally which seems best suited to their own needs.

DAY

Bulwark Against Reds.

"The British Laborite Government, along with other social democratic movements in Europe," Shawcross said, "is the one real bulwark against the spread of Communism—or for that matter of Fascism.

"I don't say that belligerently or offensively," he added. "The Communist theory of government might be right in some countries. I don't think it is. But I am quite ready to believe that others as honest and patriotic and sincere as I seek to be, sincerely believe that in the present stage of world development a benevolent dictatorship is more likely to achieve the greatest good for the greatest number than parliamentary democracy.

Accuses Tories.

"I say benevolent dictatorship, for one must concede that the totalitarian Soviet system, although it may involve a dictatorship, is at least a dictatorship in the interests of the masses, not like those which have existed in the interests of the few.

"Friendship and alliance with Russia," Shawcross declared, "is no reason why we should adopt the same machinery of government, and when I say that the Laborite Government is a bulwark against a spread of Communism, I mean that social democracy is—if you rule out Fascism—the only alternative to Communism . . . taking Europe as a whole and ourselves as an integral part of Europe, the choice obviously is a choice between Communism or Fascism and social democracy."

Shawcross declared that "ill informed" Americans regard social democracy as the same thing as Communism and attributed this misconception to "a very dangerous thing that is going on in Britain—an attempt by a section of the Tory party to pretend that they have some kind of special property in democracy, a monopoly of its principles."

More Holy Land Talks Monday

1947

London, Jan. 25 (AP)—British colonial experts and Arab representatives will have another try at untangling the Holy Land problem Monday when the London Palestine Conference reconvenes without Jewish representatives present.

Zionist spokesmen will confer separately with British representatives, however.

The conference recessed on a note of discord last October after the Arab delegates had turned down Britain's plan for dividing the Holy Land into four federated, semi-autonomous provinces.

No Partition Division

The Arabs offered a counterproposal which would halt Jewish immigration into Palestine and give the Arabs majority control of the British mandate. The British were to study the proposal during the adjournment, but they have announced no decision.

The Palestine Arab delegation, headed by Jamal Effendi Husseini, cousins of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, will be newcomers to the conference. The Palestine Arabs boycotted the parley last fall after the British had rejected the Mufti as a delegate.

Death Sentence Upheld

In Jerusalem, a reliable source said General Sir Evelyn Barker had confirmed the military death sentence against Dov Groner, alleged member of the underground Irgun Zvai Leumi, for his participation in an attack on a police station last spring.

This informant said General Barker, British commander in chief in Palestine, had ordered Groner to hang Tuesday but because no official communiqué had yet been released, there was some speculation that General Sir Alan Cunningham, high commisisoner for Palestine, might reprieve Groner.

NAZI GROUP'S BID FOR POWER TOLD BY STUDY BOARD

LONDON, Jan. 25. — (AP) The international committee for the study of European questions charged today that a Nazi network in Germany whose strength "is increasing more and more each month," was laying the groundwork to recapture power through control of Allied-fostered democratic institutions.

The committee, which includes many outstanding British, French, Belgian, Danish and Dutch leaders, said the exhaustive reports of trends in Germany was given to the price ministers and foreign ministers of the various allied nations yesterday.

Say Nazi Party Recovering

"The Nazi party has recovered from the first shock of Germany's defeat and is quietly reorganizing for a return to power through capturing control of the democratic institutions set up by the allies," the report declared.

The report said the network was "directed by former important Nazi leaders, by members of foreign 'collaborationist' movements who took refuge in Germany after her defeat, by officers and non-commissioned officers of the wehrmacht."

It said that among the leaders "are a fairly important number" of those liberated July 3, 1946, in the general amnesty granted by U. S. Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Dr. Robert Borel, is general secretary of the international committee, which includes:

Lord Brabazon of Tara, former minister of aircraft production; Lord Vansittart, former permanent under-secretary of state; Prof. D. W. Brogan, of Cambridge university, and labor and conservative members of parliament, for England; former premier Edouard Herriot and former Washington ambassador Paul Claudel for France; Senate President Robert Gillon, of Belgium; former foreign minister Christmas Moeller, of Denmark, and former foreign minister Deelaerts van Blokland, of Holland.

Passive Resistance First

The report said the Nazi organizations presently aim at "passive resistance only", endeavoring to:

1. "Thwart denazification and keep as many as possible of their own men in key positions."

2. Spy on the Germans both in their private and public life and maintain the nationalistic spirit among them either by intimidation or threats."

3. "Cause disorder in those administrations, industrial or agricultural organizations controlled by the powers in order to increase their difficulties and thus induce them to put more and more control into the hands of the Germans themselves."

The groups, the report said, "are instructed to avoid any sabotage of allied installations or military stores in order to prevent attracting attention to themselves and to let the responsibility for the disorder thus created rest upon the occupying powers."

The report accused Robert Murphy, political adviser to the American Military Government in Germany, of "premature" optimism in congratulating the Germans in a radio broadcast on the "brilliant way" in which they have adopted democracy.

"A thorough examination of the situation indicates that with the exception of a small minority of Germans—who, appear sincere and of goodwill—the great majority of the German people have in no way, at teh time being, entered the path of Democracy," the report said.

"It seems indeed regrettable," said the report, "that, while during twelve years of Nazi regime Germans never succeeded in organizing really efficient resistance movement against the Nazis, they have now for the first time succeeded in setting up a well-organized movement in order to hinder the denazification efforts of Allied authorities as well as industrial reorganization. . . .

Circulate In Uniforms

In recent months, the report said, "former members of the Nazi party and of the SS have been circulating again in uniform in various zones of occupation both in public and at private gatherings, particularly in Lower Saxony and Bavaria, and have received open manifestations of sympathy from the German people. An impartial examination of the existing facts shows that the denazification of Germany has, up till now, been a failure because of the opposition of a majority of the population and that there is actually no prospect of this coming to an end."

The report detailed alleged Nazi influences still surviving in Argentina, Switzerland, South Africa and Sweden and maintained that many Nazi assets remain in foreign countries under names of individuals and firms of those countries.

"The greatest part of the capital which the Germans deposited abroad before and during the war has remained in the hands of the citizens and nationalistic organizations of Germany who retain the possibility of using it freely. This capital amounts to considerable sums," the report said.

Modernized Transport Predicted for Britain

Minister Says Nationalization Assures Needed Capital

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP).—Minister of Transport Alfred Barnes declared today that public ownership of inland transport, now undergoing the Parliamentary process of nationalization, will provide the "hundreds of millions" of pounds needed to modernize the nation's railroads, canals and road haulage systems.

NIGHT

"One of the other benefits resulting from the nationalization of transport," he said in a speech prepared for a meeting of the London branch of Britain's ruling Labor party, "will be the availability of cheap capital and the assurance that this money will be spent where it is most urgently needed."

The nationalization bill now before Parliament, where it passa, is regarded as certain, calls for creation of a British transport commission authorized to borrow £250,000,000 ($1,000,000,000) for capital purposes and raise, by temporary loans an amount not exceeding £25,000,000 $(100,000,000).

Seeking Grain For Eire

Cork, Eire, Jan. 25 (AP)—Frank Hallinan, chairman of Grain Importers (Eire), Limited, plans to leave Cobh Sunday by the United States Liner America to seek more grain for Eire. Hallinan said he would visit New York, Washington, Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa trying to get allocations of cereals, principally wheat.

Russ Zone Party Hits U.S., British Reich Acts

Berlin, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party charged today that de-Nazification and demilitarization were lagging in the British and United States occupation zones and declared that "particularistic tendencies" in those areas "threaten to bring Germany into colonial dependence."

The statement, issued after a meeting of the SED's executive committee, said "the same forces which brought about the present conditions in Germany" control politics, economy and government in the western zones.

DAY

Russian Zone 'Cleansed'

In the Russian zone, the statement said, economy and government have been "cleansed" of Fascists and militarists.

The party meeting was called to examine the situation in Germany prior to the Moscow conference of Foreign Ministers in March.

The SED statement said too many foreigners had a hand in German economy in the western zones and added: "The future is more than gloomy."

"There is no sign of a serious, progressive social policy and the food crisis is growing worse," it continued.

Zone Merger "No Solution"

The party said economic fusion of the British and American zones was no solution of the problem and that, in fact, the German problem "is hindered by this measure."

"It depends on us Germans, ourselves, which way we will go and what goal we strive to reach," the statement concluded. "In eastern Germany, the new way, the right way, is being pursued. In the west and south, the mistakes made after 1918 are being repeated."

RUBBLE URGED FOR BUILDING

Berlin Engineers See Source Of Material In Wreckage

Berlin, Jan. 25 (AP)—Millions of tons of rubble in Germany's bombed-out cities are now regarded by Berlin engineers as a source of new building material for the future.

Just to clean away the ruins, it is estimated might take as long as 25 years, and mar the countryside with waste heaps.

But experiments are under way to demonstrate that the wreckage of buildings can be processed on the spot for new construction.

Large Mills Called For

Engineering plans submitted to Allied Military Government experts call for the establishment of large mills in bombed-out areas.

Scooped-up debris would be sifted to remove wood and metal. Brick and stone fragments would be put through heavy crushers. The resultant powder, it is said, has exceptional adhesive qualities and can be mixed with cement to form building blocks of high insulation and resistance to pressure.

Only 60 per cent of the rubble requires crushing, engineers estimate, because the remainder is already a suitable powder.

Berlin, alone, has 70,000,000 cubic meters of rubble.

Malmedy Appeal For 43 SS Men Borne To D.C.

Dachau, Germany, Jan. 25 (AP)—A United States Army lieutenant colonel was reported en route to Washington today to carry an appeal to the United States Supreme Court on behalf of 43 German SS (Elite Guard) troopers condemned to hang for the slaughter of 750 American soldiers captured during the battle of the Bulge.

Colleagues of Lieut. Col. Willis M. Everett, Jr., of Atlanta, defense counsel for the condemned men during their trial last summer, said he was carrying with him a review of the affair in which he bitterly criticized the handling of the case, widely known as the Malmedy "massacre."

"Mad As A Hornet"

These attorneys said at war-crime trial headquarters here they understood Everett intended to demand a special review by the Army's judge advocate general in addition to filing an appeal with the Supreme Court.

"He left here mad as a hornet," one officer commented.

Everett's review of the case openly charged that United States interrogators obtained confessions from the SS men by beating and mistreating them and by conducting mock trails to frighten them. He asserted that 90 per cent of the evidence in the case "consists of illegal and fraudulently procured confessions."

"The Malmedy trial can be considered no more than the exercise of victorious power under the cloak of legal form, but it was totally lacking the standards of American justice," Everett wrote.

Peiper's Order

In all, 73 defendants were convicted last July of putting 750 American prisoners and 150 Belgian civilians to death during the Ardennes battle in the Winter of 1944. Thirty of them, however, were given prison terms ranging from ten years to life.

Witnesses at the trial, some of them soldiers who managed to escape the massacre, testified that Col. Joachim Peiper, one of those condemned to the gallows, gave an order before the offensive opened that no prisoners were to be taken and that he ordered exhausted and disarmed American soldiers shot after they surrendered.

The frozen bodies were recovered later by advancing American forces.

U.S. Officer To Appeal Death Sentences Of Dachau Nazis

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—Officials of the Army War Crimes Branch expressed surprise today at reports that an American officer who defended 43 Nazi soldiers accused of the massacre of 750 American troops intends to appeal their death sentences.

Legal experts who worked on the prosecution of the Schutzstaffel (Elite Guard) troops alleged to have machine-gunned the American soldiers from tanks after they had been taken prisoner at Malmedy, Belgium, said the Nazis were given a fair trial and their guilt proved beyond a doubt.

En Route To Washington

A dispatch from Dachau, Germany, reported that Lieut. Col. Willis M. Everett, of Atlanta, defense counsel at the trial last summer, is en route to Washington to appeal to the Supreme Court and demand a special review by the army judge advocate general.

Everett contends Americans obtained confessions from the Nazi troopers by beatings and mob trials to frighten them. He charged that 90 per cent of the evidence consisted of "illegal and fraudulently procured confessions."

Officials of the war-crimes branch challenged this, but added that all judicial processes would be open to Everett in his appeal action.

Evidence Explained

Declaring that the prosecution built its case on a mass of carefully collected evidence, officials gave the following details:

To narrow the search for Nazi troops responsible for the slaughter near Malmedy crossroads in the Battle of the Bulge of December, 1944, the War Crimes Branch and other Army investigators sifted the records and interviewed literally hundreds of thousands of former German soldiers. In the United States alone, 350,000 German German prisoners of war in prison camps were screened.

Out of this process there were located 105 men who belonged to the combat group of the First Panzer regiment, commanded by Colonel Joachim Peiper.

"Specific Proof" Shown

These men were questioned and out of the 105, about a half dozen were found who had evidence or were at Malmedy at the time of the massacre. These half dozen were sent to Dachau and testified in the trial.

By a similar sifting process, a number of witnesses were located among former German soldiers in Europe.

War Crimes Branch officers showed evidence and testimony which they asserted proved specifically the case against 43 SS men, including evidence that the young Nazi colonel had given orders to take no prisoners, had ordered that prisoners taken be shot, and had watched some of the shootings.

RIGHTIST UNIT RISES IN REICH

National Democrats Given Test In American Zone

Frankfurt, Jan. 25 (AP)—A new right-wing political party campaigned today in American-occupied Germany as the "greatest enemy of socialism and communism" and as an advocate of the "immediate federation of Europe" proposed by Winston Churchill.

The "National Democratic party of Germany," its leaders said, has been given until February 15 by the United States Military Government to prove whether it can muster enough support to warrant its operating in more than its seven counties in the state of Hesse.

Outright Right Wing

The party has admitted being so "outspokenly right wing" that it terms even the powerful church-backed parties of southern Germany "leftist"—even though these parties generally are regarded as conservative.

The party is the first in postwar Germany to insert the word "national" in its name—a term heretofore steadfastly shunned by German politicians because they feared a connotation of militarism at a time when Germany is being demilitarized.

For a year party leaders have had military-government permission to organize in only three counties of Hesse. This week they were given a chance to show what they could do in four more counties. If they win enough members to justify existence, it will be allowed to operate at state level.

Communists See Danger

Communist leaders asserted today that the new party, "although not large, constitutes a danger for the rise of a new militaristic Germany."

Dr. Heirich Leughtgens, 70-year-old National Democratic party leader, a small-town banker in Friedberg, near Frankfurt, replied, "We are not militarists; we are individualists dedicated to private property and free enterprise. We want to go forward with the Anglo-Saxons in our foreign policy."

He said his party, claiming small business men, tradesmen, farmers and professional men as its members, had three main objectives: a two-party system, a federal Germany modeled on the United States system, preserving states' rights and having Frankfurt as its capital "to free Germany of Berlin's Prussianism," and "a western European federation under the leadership of Great Britain."

German Writer To Return To Reich

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 25 (AP). Frankfurt's Lord Mayor announced today that Fritz von Unruh, German playwright and novelist who left Germany in 1932 when he saw that the Nazis were rising to power, had accepted an invitation to return to this city from the United States.

Unruh, now living at 456 Riverside drive, New York, wrote the Mayor that "even a ruin would be good enough residence for me," and said he considered the invitation evidence that "Rat Catcher Hitler, by burning books . . . could not consume the souls of many citizens."

Unruh was one of the leading playwrights of the Weimar Republic. Last month he won the $1,000 Wilhelm Raabe literature prize of the city of Brunswick. His latest work, "The End Is Not Yet," will be published in the United States soon.

FINDS NAZIS RULE INTERNMENT CAMP

Regensburg, Germany, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—Flourishing behind the barbed wire of the Regensburg internment camp, a fantastic "Nazi paradise" was disclosed today by a Bavarian government investigation. State Commissioner Joseph Eder reported these abuses:

A former SS major-general acted as adviser to the camp denazification court. German newspaper men, attending court hearings, were "grossly insulted" by internees.

A former SS division commander became camp labor supervisor.

Police guards, living in poverty on an average salary of ninety marks ($9) monthly, were easy prey to bribery.

Wealthy internees carried on regular black market operations, hauling in truckloads of illicit supplies from outside the camp.

Eder said former Nazi bigwigs, buying their way into influential camp positions, "systematically sabotaged the efforts of German supervisors."

Pending completion of the inquiry, the camp director has been relieved of duty.

G. I. HELD IN REICH AS ROBBER CHIEF

Munich, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—The Military Government announced today that a wave of armed robberies in Munich was broken up by the arrest of an American soldier and two Germans and the killing of a fourth member of the gang.

All four in the group preyed on private homes within the past three months, committing their robberies at pistol point and in the uniform of United States troops.

Arrests were made in three raids Thursday night by Military Government personnel, German police and Criminal Investigation Division agents. One German, Alfons Fellermeier, who tried to get away was shot and killed by German police.

The statement identified as leader of the gang Private John Abernathy, 20, of a Military Police battalion. He is accused of providing the Germans with the uniforms and ammunition for carbines.

The raids yielded eighteen weapons, including machine pistols and American carbines, grenades, four Military Police helmets, 53,000 reichsmarks, fifteen cameras and jewelry valued at a half million marks.

Investigation disclosed that the gang planned to rob a Munich bank, the announcement said.

The group was charged with armed robbery of a Munich optician January 18, using uniforms as decoys with the explanation they had orders to search the dwelling. Fifteen cameras, jewelry and 4,000 marks were taken.

Five Britons Tell Of Harsh Deal By Yugoslav Captors

Vienna, Jan. 25 (AP)—Five British soldiers who said they wandered accidentally across the Yugoslav border five months ago told British authorities in Vienna tonight they had received harsh treatment from their captors until their release January 10.

The soldiers declared their efforts to contact British officials during their imprisonment were unsuccessful and that at one prison their diet consisted of soup at two means and coffee for breakfast.

They charged that although all of them suffered from heavy colds, they never were visited by a doctor.

During part of their interment, they said, they were with Roy H. Stoeckel, United States War Department civilian employé, of Kearney, N.J., who served a jail terms of nearly six months in Yugoslavia for having crossed the border without authorization.

Stoeckel, 24-year-old former soldier, is resting in a hospital here. Thus far he has declined to tell the story of his imprisonment and the United States Army has made no statement.

Spain Acts to Seize Foreign Property

Madrid, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—The Franco Cabinet last night empowered the Spanish Government to expropriate foreign property in cases where the security of the State makes such action necessary. A communique did not give specific reason for the action, but there was speculation the authority would be applied against German property in Spain.

Sweden Expects Marshall

Stockholm, Jan. 25 (AP)—An informed Swedish source said today that Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Secretary of State, was expected to visit Stockholm on his way to Moscow for the March session of the four-power Council of Foreign Ministers.

1,000,000 Poles Repatriated

Warsaw, Jan. 25 (AP)—It was announced today that more than 1,000,000 Poles had returned to their homeland in 1946 and that 1,635,627 Germans had been expelled. A total of 614,735 Poles have arrived from eastern Europe since 1945 and 2,019,949 Germans and 97,935 Ukrainians have been expelled, the announcement said.

U.S. Budget Aid To Militarists, Pravda Says

Moscow, Jan. 25 (AP)—Pravda declared today that the new United States Federal budget for the next fiscal year "will strengthen the increasing role of militarists in the whole political life of the country."

Asserting that military expenditures constitute one third of the Federal budget, the Communist party organ's writer M. Marinin said the new budget "will deepen the ties of the Government apparatus with the monopolies which have concentrated the Army orders in their hands."

[On January 10 President Truman proposed a $37,528,000,000 spending program for the ensuing fiscal year. The Army has asked for about $9,200,000,000 and the Navy wanted $6,400,000,000 for a total of $15,600,000,000; the President said, but he sent Congress an $11,000,000,000 national defense budget in which he recommended that the Army be given $6,658,000,000 and the Navy $4,423,000,000. The budget has not been adopted.]

Republican Critics

Marinin said supporters of the Administration had replied to critics of heavy military expenditures in last year's budget—such as former Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace—that the budget at that time was "transitional" and "not fully typical of peacetime budgets."

Commenting on what he termed favorable Republican reactions to President Truman's recent messages to the new Republican-dominated Eightieth Congress, Marinin declared that under the new balance of political forces the widely discussed two-party policy "signifies nothing other than that the policy of the Republican majority in Congress is accepted and implemented by the Democratic Administration."

He took the President's labor legislation proposals as an illustration of his point, asserting that the content of the Administration labor program was "fully acceptable to the Republicans."

Economic Crisis

Turning to the possibility of an economic crisis in the United States, Marinin said, "the President's recent messages to Congress show that new assertions by all sorts of professional optimists have no real foundations and are designed merely to temper the daily growing alarm in the broad strata of the American population concerning an approaching economic disaster."

The President's messages, he continued, "reflect fear concerning the consequences of a turbulent upheaval of capitalist economy" and Marinin expressed the opinion that President Truman's concrete proposals would not solve the problem.

Appeal On Prices

He singled out in particular the President's appeal to employers to "reduce prices wherever profits justify such reduction."

"Such appeals are doomed to failure," Marinin wrote, "for the Shylocks of capitalist business never make concessions when profits are concerned."

[The Ford Motor Company recently announced reductions in the prices of its automobiles.]

Izvestia Attacks U.S. Of Europe Idea

Moscow, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Government organ Izvestia today described a new movement for a "United States of Europe" as an attempt to revive an old plan creating a western bloc directed against the U.S.S.R.

In a review signed "Observer," Izvestia declared that 'any plan isolating the Soviet Union from participation in European affairs sounds now like a historical anachronism evolking bad memories of the Four-Power Pact at Munich and other combinations which led to World War II."

This new attack on the united European plan was in reply to a speech made January 17 by Viscount Templewood (formerly Sir Samuel Hoare) advocating a European federation to counteract "Balkanization of the Continent."

Press Carries Notes.

Moscow, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—All central Soviet newspapers and the Moscow radio today carried the text of notes exchanged by Prime Minister Stalin and Foreign Secretary Bevin on the 1942 Russian-British alliance.

French Girl Friend Of 'My' Duce Faces Trial As Spy

Bordeaux, France, Jan. 25 (AP)—Madelein Corabouef, who once had a love idyll with "my Benito" Mussolini and shot a French ambassador whom she blamed for breaking up the romance, will go on trial Wednesday as a spy for the Nazis.

The once-beautiful darling of the prewar Paris literary and theatrical world now is 47 and has become so nervous that doctors have been giving her sedatives.

The daughter and granddaughter of French artists, Miss Corabouef was married at 17, divorced two years later, and then became a newspaper woman who called herself Magda de Fontanges. She was on terms of warm friendship with numerous political personalities in the early thirties.

In 1936 she went to Italy to help "celebrate the Fascist era" and managed an introduction to Mussolini through the French Ambassador, Count Charles de Chambrun.

Later, after the romance soured, she blamed the Ambassador, and fired two revolver shots at him in a Paris railway station in 1937.

The shooting caused a sensation, but the case never went to trial.

She is charged with hiring herself out as a Nazi spy for $42.50 a month plus expenses and for denouncing several Frenchmen to the Germans.

At her preliminary hearing, she said she had given the Germans only valueless information that lulled and misguided them.

DE GASPERI MEETS NEW OPPOSITION IN FORMING CABINET

ROME, Jan. 25—(AP) Italians learned with concern today that their governmental crisis, heretofore taken fairly lightly, had turned serious over-night.

Whereas Alcide deGasperi, Christian Democratic Party leader and ex-premier, yesterday appeared well on the road to getting a new cabinet together, this objective seemed far away today.

Rome Rightists Offs

Rome [illegible] that highly regarded independents to whom deGasperi offered posts had turned him down. These were reported to be elder statesman Ivanoe Bonomi, of whom de Gasperi was said to have offered the ministry of national defense, and Francesco Saverio Nitti, ex-premier, "indirectly offered collaboration in economy and finance."

A rebuff also came from the heretofore uncertain right-wing Socialist party, led by Giuseppe Saragat who today published a categorical refusal to enter the new government on any conditions. Saragat, bolter from the regular Socialists, controls about 47 assembly seats.

Nicolo Carandini, ambassador to London and a member of the rightist liberal party which has announced it will not participate in a government with Communists, refused the offer of the foreign ministry, Il Messagero said.

DeGasperi ended his consultations yesterday visibly miffed by demands for ministries and a leftist program from Pietro Nenni, pro-Communist Socialist party chairman who was foreign minister in the previous deGasperi cabinet.

Early today deGasperi called on President Enrico DeNicola and then went to a Christian Democratic meeting reportedly debating the possibility of an exclusively Christian Democratic government.

De Gasperi Is Stalled In Cabinet Job

Rome, Jan. 25 (AP)—Premier-designate Alcide de Gasperi, weary after a second day of lengthy conferences with political leaders, admitted today his efforts to form a new Italian Government were meeting opposition.

Opposition to the Christian Democrati: leader's efforts came primarily from both factions of the Socialist party that split more than two weeks ago over a policy of cooperation with the Communists.

Visibly irked, de Gasperi said last night that while it had appeared earlier "even in talks with Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti and Socialist leader Pietro Nenni—that there were no irreconcilable elements impeding a quick solution to the crisis," this apparently was no longer true.

Plea Of 'Fall Guy' In Matteotti Case

Rome, Jan. 25 (AP)—Thin-lipped Amleto Poveromo did his best today to persuade the judge that he was really the povero uomo—the poor man or "fall guy"—of the Matteotti murder case.

However, he had talked too often and too freely in the 23 years since fascism rubbed out Benito Mussolini's arch critic. The dusty records of his earlier depositions wrought havoc with his protestation sthat he only went along with four others for the ride when Giacomo Matteotti, Socialist deputy in Parliament, was kidnapped and beaten to death.

Says Violence Was Used On Him

In the end, when the judge had prodded him sternly with "when do you ever tell the truth?" Poveromo fell back on th eplea that post-Fascism's interrogators had used violence to coerce him into signing his most damaging confession.

"I signed it with a machinegun at my spine," he averred.

Among earlier confessions of the one-time ardito (Italian commando of World War I) were admissions that he came from Milan with two other "squadristi" especially for the job of disposing of Matteotti, that he helped "case" Matteotti's house two days before the killing, and that he knew all about the order of the late Giovanni Marinelli, Fascist party secretary, to kidnap the socialist deputy.

Eight Being Tried

Poveromo blamed Albino Volpi and Augusto Malacria for striking the actual blows that killed Matteotti. Volpi is dead. Malacria is being tried in absentia and many think he is dead too.

The fourth defendant to be interrogated, Poveromo followed Amerigo Dumini, St. Louis-born fascist, to the stand.

Dumini, who gave most of his testimony yesterday, mentioned for the first time in court the two copies of his "political testament" which he said he smuggled out in 1928 to two San Antonio (Texas) lawyers, named as Martin Arnold and Hugh Robertson, with instructions to publish the contents if anything happened to him.

Dumini said there was nothing in them that he himself had not disclosed, now that Fascism is gone.

Eight former Fascists are being tried for the murder, three in absentia.

Italy Reported Planning To Devalue Lira 50 P. C.

Move Would Affect Tourists and Military Personnel

ROME, Jan. 25 (AP).—Banking sources said today the Italian government was preparing to issue a decree which would indirectly devalue the lira a little more than 50 per cent in all freely negotiable dollar, Swiss franc and pound sterling transactions in Italy. The decree was expected to become effective [illegible] upon publication.

Dependent upon the variable supply of export dollar exchange, the decree would make the dollar, now worth officially 225 lire, worth about 378. Last year Italy dropped the lira from 100 to the dollar to 225.

The new system would pay off on the dollar at a point half way between the present 225 lire a dollar and the variable, officially set export dollar rate, now at around 530 life. It would apply to tourists, military personnel and all others with freely negotiable credits.

Egypt to Declare Failure Of British Talks, Go to U.N.

By The Associated Press.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 25—A Government spokesman said today that Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha would announce the failure of negotiations for revision of the 1936 British-Egyptian treaty at Monday's session of Parliament.

It was learned reliably that Egypt had decided to submit the Sudan question to the United Nations Security Council.

Egypt is seeking full union with the Sudan, now governed under a British-Egyptian condominium. The British position is that the Sudanese should have the opportunity of deciding eventually whether they choose to be independent.

Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, Jan. 25 (AP)—Ten sheep and a truckload of other food sent by King Ibn Saud to the U.S.S. Cimarron, navy oiler, missed the boat, but the Saudi Arabian ruler took steps today to see that his gift would be replaced.

At his request, Capt. J. C. Woelfell, of Marion, Ind., United States Navy technical officer at Cairo, sent a radio message to Capt. John Murphy, of the Cimarron, which sailed late yesterday from Ras at Tanura, Saudi Arabia.

It said that the King directed Murphy to purchase 10 sheep, 1,000 pounds of rice, 200 pounds of sugar, 20 pounds of tea, 1,000 pounds of assorted fruit and 200 pounds of ghee (cooking oil) at the ship's next port of call. The bill should be sent, the messake added, to the Arabian American Oil Company, which pays the King's royalty checks.

Ibn Saud received a 21-gun salute when he paid a visit to the Cimarron yesterday. The King was so pleased with his reception on the huge oiler which carries oil from Arabia to the Pacific area that he directed the gift of food for its crew, but the gift arrived at the port after the Cimarron had sailed.

Qavam's Candidates Still Lead in Iran

Tehran, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—Candidates of Premier Ahmed Qavam's Democratic party continued to hold the lead today in unofficial totals as the counting of ballots proceeded in Iran's recent national elections. Up to noon today 30,476 of Tehran's 77,893 ballots had been counted.

The voting, which began on January 11 and continued for a week, has still not been permitted in Azerbaijan and Fars provinces, where the Government said the elections would be delayed until rebellious tribes surrender their arms.

CHINA REPORTS SUNGARI GAINS

Acknowledges Red Outbreaks Southwest Of Peiping

Nanking, aJn. 25 (AP)—Chinese Government forces claimed victory over the Communists along the ice-clad Sungari River of central Manchuria today, but acknowledged serious new Communist outbreaks in China proper some 100 miles southwest of Peiping.

Pro-Government dispatches said that six Communist divisions which drove close to Changchun a fortnight ago in a large-scale raid had now been driven back to the Sungari, 60 to 70 miles north and northeast of the Manchurian capital.

NIGHT

The Sungari has been a sort of impromptu boundary between Communist and Government holdings in Manchuria. The semi-official accounts of Government success said Gen. Tu Li-ming's national forces after capturing Chitamu, 60 miles northeast of Changchun, swept on 5 miles to the Sungari.

Tehui, 48 miles of Changchun, and Fulungchuan, 45 miles northwest, also were reported recaptured by fast-moving government columns which made a juncture at the river.

In China proper the Peiping-Hankow railway, main north-south artery that has been fought over almost since the moment of Japanese surrender, again was partly in Communist hands.

Fate Of Towns In Doubt

Dispatches to Chinese papers said 5,000 Communist cavalrymen led by Gen. Yeng Cheng-wu captured Wangtu, 111 miles southwest of Peiping, after a violent 48-hour battle with the Government garrison on January 21.

The garrison survivors fell back on Chingfengtien and Tinghsien, stations nine and seventeen miles farther southwest, but the fate of those towns also was in doubt.

Government communications authorities lost contact after learning that fighting was in progress around them, and expressed fears both might have fallen.

Some 350 miles farther south, pro-Government reports acknowledged that the Communists had captured Luyi, in Honan province 230 miles northwest of Nanking, making a prisoner of Gen. Chang Feng, Government commandant of the area.

While the civil war thus contained, United States Marines were busy with an airborne mercy mission for civilian victims.

Daily Parachute Drops

Dispatches from Tientsin said three Marine planes on Tuesday started making daily parachute drops of clothing, blankets and medical supplies to the destitute in Communist-held areas of western Hopei province.

Gathered by voluntary contributions in the United States, Canada and Australia a year ago, the 500-odd tons of supplies cannot be moved overland because of the fighting.

UNRRA teams in the drop areas will supervise distribution. Both Chinese factions have agreed not to fire on the planes and to give safe conduct to any crews making forced landings. The operation will require 25 days.

CHINA REINFORCES EX-FRENCH ISLES

Nanking, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—China has backed her claim to the former French-held Paracel Islands off Indo-China's east coast by dispatching the 10,000-ton transport Mumee loaded with reinforcements for the garrison already established, Chinese sources said today.

The newspaper Ta Kang Pao asserted that the French attitude had stiffened and that French troops were landed on two small islands in the Paracel group. Official French sources denied this report.

DAY

Earlier, Chinese quarters said that French Ambassador Jacques Meyrier might visit Indo-China shortly for a personal investigation of the Paracel question, but that he felt the problem was not serious.

Now, Ta Kang Pao claimed, the French were demanding the question be settled by United Nations arbitration. Recently a French warship tried to land troops in the Paracels but was ordered away by the Chinese garrison. Japan wrested the islands from the French in 1940.

China Red Raiders Reported Routed

Nanking, Jan. 25 (AP)—Six Chinese Communist divisions which swept south into government-held central Manchuria in a menacing winter raid have been routed, pro-Government dispatches asserted today.

DAY

The decisive engagement was fought around Chitamu, 60 miles northeast of the capital city of Changchun, Peiping accounts said. Chitamu's recapture by Government troops was reported three days ago.

Deep Penetration Erased

The Communist divisions crossed the Sungari River and struck deep into Government positions before they were contained. The Sungari, flowing between Changchun and Communist-held Harbin, has long been the dividing line between the warring rivals.

Pro-government dispatches conceded that 5,000 Communist cavalry had cut the Peiping-Hankow Railway again January 21 by seizing Wangtu, 105 miles southwest of Peiping, after a 48-hour battle.

Set To Hold Islands

China has backed her claim to the former French-held Paracels off Indo-China's east coast by dispatching the 10,000-ton transport "Mumee" loaded with reinforcements for the garrison already established, Chinese sources said.

The newspaper Ta Kang Pao asserted the French attitude had "stiffened" and that French troops were landed on two small islands in the Paracel group. Official French sources denied this report.

U. S. Marines Aid Reds

PEIPING, Jan. 25 (AP)—United States Marine planes today began dropping more than 1,000,000 pounds of clothing, blankets and medical supplies into destitute Communist-held areas of western Hopeh Province.

The supplies, voluntary contributions from the United States, Canada and Australia, are intended for more than 200,000 persons, many of them so destitute that an entire family shares one blanket. Because of the civil war, supplies cannot be shipped overland.

Three cargo planes, each making two trips a day, will drop 40,000 pounds daily. Nearly 200 trips are planned in the next twenty-five days. Drops will be made from 250 feet. Medical supplies will be parachuted.

To insure safety for Marine Corps crews, the Communists and the Government signed non-fire agreements. Crews have guarantees of safe passage to their nearest base in the event of a forced landing.

UNRRA representatives have been stationed at Laiyuan and Fowping, 100 and 135 miles southwest of Peiping, to insure equitable distribution.

Reports Of Slaying Of Priest Discounted

Nanking, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Polish Embassy, which on January 3 reported that a Polish missionary had been burned to death by Chinese Communists, announced today that it had received new information indicating he was alive and well.

NIGHT

Michel Lesniewski, charge d'affaires who made both announcements, said reports concerning the Catholic mission in Hopeh province still were confused but that he now was convinced the priest was alive.

The embassy's first report, contained in a protest to the Communist offices in Nanking, said that Communist raiders stole mission property, captured a score of priests, and burned to death Father Casimir Skowyra when he refused to confess to accusations of pro-Japanese activity.

The mission is near Singtai, also known as Shunthfu, 242 miles southwest of Peiping.

TEAR GAS USED ON MOSLEMS

Action Ruling National Guard Illegal Brings Trouble

Bombay, Jan. 25 (AP)—One person was killed today when police fired into crowds 45 times to quell a series of disturbances, knifings and stone-throwing. The number of injured was not reported.

Lahore, Punjab, Jan. 25 (AP)—Police sprayed tear gas into a procession of 200 shouting Moslem women and swung batons on other Moslem League members today in efforts to check violent demonstrations against the provincial Government's action declaring the Moslem National Guard illegal.

Elsewhere in India Moslem Leaguers staged protest strikes and closed their shops. Siddiq Ali Khan, national commander of the semi-military guard, appealed to league and guard members to "maintain discipline and to wait orders of the high command."

Twenty persons were injured in today's repeated clashes with police in Lahore.

NIGHT

Arrests Increasing

The number of arrests since the Government announced its decision yesterday mounted to more than 120 in Lahore. Among those taken into custody were Sheik Sadiq Hassan, temporary head of the Punjab League, and sixteen members of the Legislative Assembly. Sadiq Hassan took over as league leader only yesterday when the president was arrested.

The women were shouting "Pakistan," the name given the separate Indian nation sought by the league, and crying out against the Punjab ministry when the police fired a barrage of tear gas. Four girl demonstrators were removed to a hospital for treatment and three others were taken into custody, including the daughter of Begum Shah Nawaz, woman leader arrested yesterday.

Large Crowds Dispersed

Arrest of Sadiq Hassan and the legislative members occurred after a party caucus. Police said the legislators marched out in the streets shouting political slogans in defiance of a safety ordinance. They were taken into custody on a mall in the center of the city.

Large crowds collected immediately, and police fired tear gas to disperse them. The legislators included the deputy chief whip of the Moslem League.

Later the crowds reassembled in historic Moghul Square in downtown Lahore, and police used both batons and tear gas against them.

Brickbats were hurled at police from housetops, and several in the crowd were injured in the baton charge.

Business Places Closed

Police seized 22 demonstrators in Lahore's main shopping area.

Meanwhile, the eight leaders arrested yesterday appeared before a magistrate who told them they could be freed on bail if it was offered. The leaders said they would not seek bail and they were retained in custody. They are charged with obstructing police in carrying out searches.

Moslem merchants closed down their places of business in Lahore, in Delhi 275 miles to the southeast and in Bombay, 900 miles to the south. Protest meetings were called in major Bombay and Delhi mosques. The strike order had been given to 3,500,000 Moslems in Bombay province.

National Guard Defended

In Delhi Siddiq Ali Khan declared it was a "mischievous lie" to say that the Moslem National Guard was a "communal army." The Punjab Government said the guard had been declared illegal in order to prevent expansion of "private communal armies which would be harmful to the peaceful position of the country."

The guard was given its name in 1937 when it was an organization of volunteers used mainly to usher and keep order at league meetings.

Moslem Protest Broken Up By Tear Gas

Lahore, Punjab, Jan. 25 (AP)—Police used tear gas today to break up demonstrators protesting the arrest of high-ranking Moslem League leaders and the Punjab Provincial Government's decision outlawing the Moslem League's National Guard.

DAY

More than 1,000 Moslems were arrested, bringing the total of arrests to nearly 100. Seven Moslem League members of the Punjab Provincial Legislative Assembly were taken into custody for shouting defiant slogans in violation of a public-safety ordinance after they left a party caucus in Assembly chambers. The deputy chief Assembly whip of the Moslem party was seized.

Moslem merchants in Lahore, in Delhi, 275 miles to the southeast, and in Bombay, 900 miles to the south, closed their shops in protest against the Punjab Government actions, and protest meetings were called in major Delhi and Bombay mosques. Bombay province's 2,500,000 Moslems were ordered to strike.

Anti-League Coalition

Punjab province's population is predominantly Moslem, but its government is made up of a coalition of anti-league Moslems.

The eight Moslem League leaders arrested yesterday in Lahore, including the league's provincial president, were arraigned today before a magistrate, who remanded them to custody. They were held on charges of resisting a sudden police search of headquarters of the league guard, a quasi-military organization formed to keep order at Moslem League assemblies.

The district magistrate said the leaders could gain their release by offering bail, but the Moslems said they would not do so.

Police bearing rifles and long clubs broke up four major demonstrations in Lahore, one of them staged by a crowd in front of the Assembly chambers.

Women Demonstrate

A procession of 200 Moslem women and girl students was teargassed by police while shouting "Pakistan!" (Pakistan is the name for the independent state demanded by Moslems in India.) The daughter of Begum Shah Nawaz, woman leader arrested yesterday, was taken into custody with two other girl demonstrators. Four other girls were taken to hospitals for treatment.

Police arrested 22 other Moslem League demonstrators in the main shopping district.

MacArthur, 67 Tomorrow, Belies Age By Activity

By Tom Lambert

Tokyo, Jan. 25 (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur observes his sixty-seventh birthday tomorrow—his twelfth consecutive day out of the continental United States.

It will be a quiet day for the man who has held every top post in the Army of his country.

It will be another day of work, marked only by a family luncheon—complete with birthday cake—with his wife and son. His aides say he has no special plans for an observance.

MacArthur at 67 is thinking about the days when he will be finished with public service, say close associates.

Physical Condition Good

He still is in good physical condition. I talked briefly with him today. His handshake is firm. His carriage is as erect as ever. His voice is vibrant and strong.

MacArthur talks in confidence to correspondents. His look is direct and his blue eyes sparkle as he discusses the occupation of Japan—which entirely occupies him.

There are some signs of his 67 years, but the visitor is inclined to forget MacArthur's age because of his tremendous vitality and intensity. That intensity and vitality carry through his every day.

30.24-75-49

He ususally rises about 7 A.M., breakfasts an hour later, then works at his office in the American Embassy until 10 A.M., when he goes to his office.

Crowds Await Him

His arrival there still is a big event. Literally hundreds of Americans and Japanese crowd the sidewalks as the supreme commander, Allied powers, leaves his black Cadillac with its five-star shield and strides inside.

Despite the press of official work, MacArthur insists upon opening letters addressed to him personally. Staff officers say he thus gets an idea of what people want and think of him—"the good news with the bad."

About 2 P.M. he goes to lunch, then takes a brief rest. He returns to his office about 4 P.M. Ordinarily he concludes his day about 8 P.M., although he has stayed two or three hours later.

Despite his strenuous program, he has missed only a few days at the office, when he had a bad cold last spring. His doctor says he has a good appetite and is not finicky about his food.

Russia Yields 45,796 Japanese

TOKYO, Jan. 25 (AP).—Allied headquarters announced today 45,796 Japanese were repatriated from Soviet-controlled areas between Jan. 1 and 19, bringing the total from such regions to 74,009. Headquarters estimates more than 1,000,000 Japanese are in Soviet custody.

Philippine Reds Switch

Call Marxism Impractical Now and Back Capitalism

MANILA, Jan. 25 (AP).—Philippine Communists, who have made scant progress in converting the predominantly Catholic archipelago to Marxism, came out strong today for capitalism. They named an unknown, Jorge Frianeza, to head their party of less than 1,000 members as its general secretary. He succeeds Pedro Castro, who steps up to head the Politburo.

Frianeza told newsmen the new party policy is "creation of opportunities for a broad development of capitalism." The party still toils for Socialism in the islands some day, but says "the objective prerequisites for it do not exist at present."

Hulk Hiding Place

Manila, Jan. 25 (AP)—Harbor police today discovered that the rusting hulk of a partially submerged Japanese warship has been the hiding place for loot of a gang of pier thieves preying on merchant ships congesting this port.

Police Sergeant Ignacio Aguinaldo found twelve bales of cotton thread valued at $3,750 neatly stowed aboard the wreck.

A search of the 300 ghost vessels cluttering the harbor was ordered yesterday by Police Capt. Pedro Medalla after two customs employés were charged with throwing twelve bales of thread into the bay from the hold of the Niantic Victory. The bales were presumably to have been recovered by confederates.

BUYS AXIS FIRMS

Buenos Aires, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—The Central Bank of Argentina set aside $25,000,000 today to be paid as an advance for business firms formerly owned by Axis nationals, which the Government has been empowered to purchase by decree of President Juan D. Peron. Some sixty firms are involved.

The announcement stressed the fact that the $25,000,000 was only a first payment and that the total expenditure by the Government for the properties was estimated at $100,000,000. A few of the firms affected have brought suits to prevent Government intervention, and are not included, since they are protected in their present status by court orders.

Four newspapers which have opposed Peron were stormed last night by crowds leaving a mass meeting at which he spoke in support of his five-year plan. Many windows were broken before the police, who fired in the air, drove the demonstrators off. The papers were La Prensa, El Mundo, Critica and the weekly Vanguardia.

ATOM SECRETS TO BE GUARDED

Former Secret Service Head To Aid Control Group

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced plans tonight to tighten the secrecy around atomic data and named Frank J. Wilson, former chief of the Secret Service, as a "consultant on security."

The civilian control commission has continued the Army's security measures since it took over from the Manhattan District on January 1. Its announcement said that the Army's "measures will be studied with Mr. Wilson with a view to strengthening a security program."

Wilson, famed for roles in the income-tax investigation of Al Capone and the Lindbergh kidnapping, retired December 31 after ten years as head of the Secret Service.

More Reason For Security

Accepting the appointment, he said he could not disclose his plans but added:

"There will be more reason for more and more security in protecting our atomic secrets."

He would not elaborate.

Wilson said he did not know whether any salary is attached to his new task, but declared he would "be glad to do it on a dollar-a-year basis" if necessary. He is an uncle of Carroll L. Wilson, general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission.

New Problem Presented

Emphasizing the "importance of maintaining inviolate the restricted information concerning atomic energy," the commission said in a statement:

"During wartime, the importance of security of information was apparent and therefore the co-operation necessary to an effective system of security was forthcoming.

"When the country is at peace, however, the secrecy of information presents new and complex problems and requires continued improvements of security measures."

This will be necessary, the commission said, until Congress decides that "adequate international control of atomic energy" has been established.

In Revenue Bureau

Before becoming chief of the Secret Service in 1936, Wilson served for seventeen years in the intelligence unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. He led the Government's income-tax investigation of Capone, which sent the former Chicago gang overlord to prison. He also was responsible for recording the serial numbers of the bills which led to the capture of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the Linbergh kidnapper.

The commission also announced th e temporary assignment of Thomas O. Jones, of Chicago, as a special assistant on security problems. Jones served for three years as a security and intelligence officer for the War Department's Manhattan project, which developed the atomic bomb, and later as security officer at the Bikini atomic bomb tests.

RIO PARLEY CALLS GROW

U.S. Objection To Argentina Stands In Way Of Conference

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—Everybody wants the "Rio conference." Nobody can seem to get it.

The United States claims that various German spies and firms this country wants booted out of Argentina are still there. For this reason, an inter-American mutual defense treaty scheduled to be drawn up at a Rio de Janeiro meeting has remained in the project stage for about a year and a half.

But pressure within and without the State Department for a revision in United States policy toward Argentina is increasing. So too are urgings that the conference be called soon.

Marshall As Key Figure

The key figure is George C. Marshall, Secretary of State. His decision on Argentine policy will determine the future of the Rio conference. The issue seems assured of an early review.

Originally the Rio conference was scheduled for October, 1945. It was to negotiate and sign a treaty making permanent the peace-keeping features of the 1945 Act of Chapultepec. This act bound the hemisphere nations to help each other out in case of aggression.

The conference, however, met sudden death only a few weeks before it was to be held when the United States about-faced on Argentina and declared in effect:

"We won't sign the treaty with Argentina included until she gets rid of Nazi agents and firms within her borders."

Argentina Denies Claim

Today, about a year and a half later, the United States still stands on that position. The Argentines continue to deny United States claims they haven't lived up to their promises on this score.

The latest outcry for calling the Rio meeting began on January 12, when Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and James F. Byrnes, Secretary of State, differed on this point in Cleveland speeches.

Said Vandenberg: "I think it is past time to hold the Pan-American conference which we promised in 1945. . . . There is too much evidence we (the American republics) are drifting apart—and, that a Communistic upsurge is moving in."

Hopes For Compliance

Said Byrnes: "We are eager to proceed (with the treaty). . . . It is our earnest hope that before long there will be such reasonable and substantial compliance by Argentina with its obligations that the American republics, after consultation, will convene the Rio conference."

Eduardo Rodriguez Larreta, Uruguayan Foreign Minister, followed this up by saying that continued postponement of the meeting "keeps the hemisphere in a state of crisis."

Jose Vicente Trujillo, Ecuadorian Foreign Minister, added the prediction the United States-Argentine impasse would be solved shortly and that the conference would be held early in the year.

Shortly afterward the Argentine Foreign Office announced it had received a note from Brazil, the host nation, suggesting the hemisphere nations pick a new date.

"Time Not Yet Ripe"

Next day the Brazilian Foreign Office said it didn't know anything bout that and Raul Fernandes, Foreign Minister, commented the "time is not ripe yet."

All this, plus Marshall's unknown views, added to the considerable confusion that has surrounded the Rio conference almost from its inception.

Delegates to the Mexico City inter-American conference, which approved the act of Chapultepec, decided—rather informally—that a nice place to draw up a permanent mutual defense treaty would be the tropical city of Rio.

Shortly after the end of the San Francisco conference in June of that same year, 1945, things began to happen.

Denunciation Begun

Mr. Byrnes took over as Secretary of State. Nelson Rockefeller, who was handling Latin-American affairs as an assistant secretary, suddenly changed his mind about Argentina and vigorously denounced its Government.

Two days later, Byrnes picked up Rockefeller's resignation and appointed Spruille Braden, then United States Ambassador to Argentina.

One of the first things the United States did after Braden arrived here was to ask for a postponement of the conference. It announced it wouldn't sign the treaty with Argentina included until Argentina had taken action against Nazi influences there.

Truman Vows U. S. Effort to Help Italians

Writes to De Nicola of Plan to Alleviate Nation's Most Urgent Problems

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP).—President Truman has assured the Italian government that the United States is making sincere efforts to alleviate Italy's "most urgent needs" in its economic reconstruction.

The White House said today that Mr. Truman sent a letter on Jan. 20 to Enrico de Nicola, provisional President of Italy, assuring him of American interest in Italy's efforts to "rebuild and strengthen a peaceful, [illegible] and democratic" country.

The President wrote: "Upon the occasion of the departure from the United States of Prime Minister Alcide de Gasperi, I should like to reassure you, Mr. President, that the United States government is constantly mindful of the economic difficulties with which the Italian government is faced, and that sincere efforts are being made by our officials to find means to alleviate your country's most urgent needs.

"Signor de Gasperi's recent visit in Washington has afforded us a most pleasurable opportunity to review questions of interest to our two governments. In particular, our officials have received a better understanding of Italy's present requirements and of the outstanding job of reconstruction which your government and people are undertaking.

"In your communication of Nov. 26, 1946, you informed me of the grave emergency with which your government was confronted due to difficulties in the fulfillment of the U.N.R.R.A. grain program. That problem has been receiving the most urgent attention of our officials and remains under constant consideration and review.

"I have authorized a number of emergency measures to insure that every possible effort shall be made to expedite the delivery of grains to the peoples of the war-torn countries of Europe and Asia. As we have informed Signor de Gasperi, shipments of wheat have been diverted from other areas to meet the immediate requirements of Italy, and we have every expectation of being able to increase scheduled shipments of wheat to Italy beginning next month.

"Your Prime Minister will inform you of the other measures discussed with him which we fully anticipate will prove mutually beneficial to our two countries.

"The American people have many close bonds with the Italian people, and it is our sincere desire, in a spirit of fraternal co-operation, to do what we can to assist your country in its efforts to rebuild and strengthen a peaceful, prosperous and democratic Italy."

Messersmith Sees Gen. Marshall

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—Ambassador George S. Messersmith, who conferred with Secretary of State George C. Marshall on United States policy toward Argentina today and said afterward he plans to return to Buenos Aires within a few days.

Messersmith has been at loggerheads with Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden on the Argentine situation.

Leaving the office of the new Secretary of State, he told a reporter he and Marshall discussed "the general relationship of the United States to Argentina."

Messersmith's conference with Marshall came one day after a similar meeting between the Secretary and Braden.

Split On Question

Messersmith and Braden are known to be split on the general question of just how far the United States should go in demanding that Argentina comply with her international obligations with respect to elimination of Nazi influences.

Messersmith's disclosure that he would return to Argentina ended momentarily, at least, speculation that he might be retired from the foreign service.

Secertary Marshall is reported to have given considerable attention to the Argentine problem since taking office. He discussed it with President Truman a few days ago.

Messersmith's conference with the Secretary came shortly after an Argentine announcement that the Government is taking over approximately 60 concerns which formerly belonged to nationals of Axis countries.

HOUSING JOB NOW YOURS, U. S. TELLS PRIVATE INDUSTRY

Controls to Be Applied Only Where They Will Mean 'More Building.'

REALTY MEN CRITICAL

Cite Many Remaining Federal Curbs; Rent Hearing Set for Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(AP) Four Republican senators joined tonight in a proposal to boost rent ceilings 15 per cent, on the heels of OPA action that relaxed controls but apparently ruled out such an across-the-board boost by that agency.

Simultaneously the government gave notice that it has shifted to private industry the main responsibility for meeting the housing shortage, with federal controls and aid to be applied only where they "will result in more housing."

Sharp Opposition from C.I.O.

The Republican proposal on rents drew sharp opposition from the C.I.O. which called on all its unions to fight the plan.

The government's housing statement elicited sarcastic criticism from Herbert U. Nelson, vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, who enumerated remaining restraints and commented drily to a reporter that with those exceptions "private industry is practically on its own again."

Principal developments of a day of swift policy development on the housing front:

1. Senator Hawkes (NJ), McCarthy (Wis), Cain (Wash) and Malone (Nev) joined in the rent ceiling increase plan in a bill probably to be introduced Monday. The measure would extend the ceilings to a date tentatively fixed as Dec. 31, 1947 but take controls off new buildings and premises not rented in the previous year.

2. Chairman Tobey (R-NH) announced that the Senate Banking Committee will start hearings on rent control Tuesday and on public housing Feb. 4.

3. OPA officials said the relaxation of rent rules, for "hardship" cases, would be "most likely to benefit" small property owners. One official familiar with top level policy talk said he saw no prospect of a flat over-all increase.

Private Industry 'On Own'

4. Frank R. Creedon, housing expediter, and Raymond M. Foley, National Housing Administrator, set forth 1947 government housing policy in an official statement, listing controls that have been lifted and asserting that "these changes signify that in the moderate priced range of homes for sale, private industry is practically on its own again." They did not fix actual goods of housing construction as former Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt had done, but quoted industry spokesmen as estimating that 1,000,000 units can be completed this year and a similar number started.

5. Nelson, for the real estate boards, complained of rules against a house with more than 1,500 square feet of floor space and which he said make "a crime" of a second bathroom in a new house.

6. Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the Office of Temporary Controls, said in a speech that home ownership is likely to remain an "unattainable luxury" for most war veterans in 1947 but they maye be able to rent more houses as high-income people move into new quarters.

7. The CIO, in a communication to its unions ,said the plan of the four Republican senators would set off a wave of 15 per cent rent hikes. It took particular exception to a suggestion from Hawkes for decontrol of any property whose owner would sign a year's lease at no more than 15 increases, arguing that if the landlord got rid of the first tenant there would be no control over what he might charge a second.

Fleming's Claim Challenged

8. Tonight the National Association of Real Estate Boards in a statement by its president-elect, Morgan L. Fitch of Chicago, asserted that "a million new (housing) units and decontrol of rents would end the shortage emergency." Taking sharp issue with Fleming's statement that the country needs a million new living units a year for 20 years, Fitch said there are only 37,600,000 dwellings in the country and such a program would require junking three-fifths of them. The realty official asserted that the veteran is in better position for home ownership now than the general public ever has been and "there is just no basis" for Fleming's statement that it is an "unobtainable luxury" for most ex-GIs.

9. Representatives from 16 state real estate associations, meeting here today, adopted a plan for slum elimination programs on a local and state basis without federal subsidy They condemned federal public housing and its attendant controls and appointed a committee headed by Frank Kirkpatrick of Milwaukee to consider minimum standards of housing to be recommended for adoption by local and state governments. The bigger group, under the chairmanship of Clarence Treadwell of Detroit, urged that cities offer tax delinquent land in slum or blighted areas to persons willing to build within a limited time in accordance with local development plans.

Would Require Lease

Hawkes said he favors a provision by which landlords could raise rents up to 15 per cent beyond present levels if they offer tenants a year's lease. But he told a reporter he and the other senators have not decided whether to link the lease requirement with the authorization for increases.

McCarthy announced the bill will remove immediately all ceilings on new construction or quarters which had not been rented in the previous year.

"I believe that with a provision of this kind we can get a lot of people to make available living quarters they may have in their homes but have hesitated to rent because they didn't want to bother with the red tape of government controls and having some 22-year-old clerk tell them they would have to reduce their rent," he told an interviewer.

He added he has little doubt the removal of ceilings from new houses and apartments would boost construction materially and eventually tend to level off rents when more space became available.

Hawkes and McCarthy said the proposed date for ending all rent controls had not been determined finally but probably would be Dec. 31, 1947.

Rent Question Has Priority

Chairman Taft (Ohio) said the Republican Policy committee has marked the rent control question for an early priority but has not reached any decision on a party stand.

FLEMING URGES HOUSING CHANGE

Sees Mass-Production as the Real Solution

Washington, Jan. 25 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Administrator of the Office of Temporary Controls, said today home ownership is likely to remain an unattainable luxury for most war veterans in 1947.

But veterans may be able to rent more homes as the high-income classes move into the estimated 1,000,000 dwellings to be built during the year, the general said, in an address before the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense.

Offers Solution.

Gen. Fleming, who also is Adminstrator of the Federal Works Agency, declared that the building construction industry is still using technics which are generations old. He proposed:

1. Reduction of construction costs by the use of modern mass-production methods.

2. Revision of building codes.

3. Government construction of houses for low-income groups.

"For a country that boasts the greatest productive capacity on earth," Gen. Fleming said, "the wretched condition of much of our housing is paradoxical. Our economy has no particular difficulty in turning out each year a million automobiles, or refrigerators, or washing machines that families of modest income can afford to buy, but we have never achieved anything like that facility when it comes to producing homes.

1,000,000 Homes a Year.

"In building automobiles and refrigerators, every cost-cutting technological improvement is adopted almost as soon as it is discovered. But in the case of building construction, we are still using, to a large extent, the technics of our grandfathers. For the most part, each house is still laboriously and expensively assembled by hand labor."

Fleming said the 650,000 permanent new dwelling units started last year, under the veterans housing program, were "a mere drop in the bucket," compared to the nation's need of "at least 1,000,000 houses a year for twenty years."

Few Veterans Affected By End of Hostilities

But Midshipmen and Cadets Lose Benefits Since Dec. 31

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP).—The Veterans Administration ruled today that President Truman's proclamation ending hostilities Dec. 31 affects Navy midshipmen and Army and Coast Guard cadets, but almost no veterans.

Army, Navy and Coast Guard students are no longer on active-duty status, and since Dec. 31 have not been credited for veterans' benefits.

War-time rates of compensation continue to apply to service-connected disability and death cases for members of the armed forces until the official end of the war. However, in non-service-connected death and disability cases, rights depending on war-veteran status alone—such as hospitalization, domiciliary care and burial allowance—will be accorded only to those who served between Dec. 7, 1941, and Dec. 31, 1946.

The V. A. said the end of the war, not the cessation of hostilities, will be the determining factor in establishing the deadline for educational, loan and unemployment-allowance provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights and for vocational rehabilitation for disabled veterans.

Disabled veterans must complete their training within nine years after the end of the war. The V. A. may guarantee or insure G. I. loans up to ten years after the end of the war, education or job training may be started up to four years, and readjustment allowances expire two years after the end of the war.

UNRRA BARS POTATOES

Refrigeration or Dehydration for Shipment Is 'Too Costly'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Shipments of surplus American potatoes to needy countries abroad would prove either impractical or too costly, UNRRA supply officials said today.

These officials said UNRRA had noted the availability of 20,000,000 bushels of potatoes which farmers were told to dump as surplus. But, they added, UNRRA has concluded after examining the problem that:

1. Potatoes shipped in unrefrigerated vessels will spoil before they reach their destination.

2. Use of refrigerated vessels would be too expensive, even if they were available, when compared to the cost of shipping other more nutritional foods.

3. Processing or dehydration of potatoes prior to shipment is too expensive.

These officials said a thorough study had convinced the relief agency the cost of shipping dehydrated potatoes would be five times what it would be to send wheat of equal caloric value.

UNRRA Shipments Total 20 Million Tons

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—UNRRA announced tonight that cargo now being loaded aboard the Liberty ship Hoosier State will bring the total supplies shipped abroad since March, 1945, to 20,000,000 tons worth approximately $2,325,000,000.

Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, director general, said "about one-fifth of UNRRA's program remains to be fulfilled."

New Surplus Items May Be Reimported

Washington, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Foreign Liquidation Commission tonight added 79 new items to the list of goods which may be reimported in the United States after being sold as United States surplus abroad.

These items include automobiles and trucks, a great variety of building materials and construction equipment, paper and paper products of several kinds, textile and textile products of various kinds, transport aircraft, certain supplies of high alloy steel, bronze and copper known to be in Canada and many other things.

Maj. Gen. Donald H. Connolly, foreign liquidation commissioner, reported that most of the property still to be sold is in Germany and has an estimated value of $700,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

The commission said plans have been made to sell this surplus "over the counter" as soon as the Army has declared it available and inventoried it, probably in two months.

DULLES OFFERS PLAN FOR RHINE

Proposes Basin Control Under International Group

New York, Jan. 25 (AP)—John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser on international affairs, proposed today that the Rhine basin be placed under the control of a European authority "selected by and responsible to the peoples of Western Europe."

Speaking at a luncheon of the Women's National Republican Club of New York, Dulles asserted that under such a plan "its (the Rhine's) day-by-day use would not be directed by men who serve only Germany, but by men whose loyalty would be to a more prosperous, more peaceful and more unified Europe."

Says Danger of War Is Cut

Dulles asserted the principles of the International Atomic Development Authority (ADA) could be applied to Germany.

The "genius" of the ADA, he said, "is not that it calls for policing, which it does, but that it reduces the problem of policing to manageable proportions. It puts atomic-energy development in the hands of an international group which does not need to be policed because, in essence, they themselves are the policemen.

"The same principle could be applied to Germany.

"Good Deal Like Atom Energy"

"The basin of the Rhine, with its coal and industrial manpower, is a good deal like atomic energy. It can generate vitality for all of Western Europe. Also, as experience unhappily shows, it can stoke the terrible fires of war."

"It would be futile and stupid to provide by treaty for permanent disuse of this natural industrial center of Europe. Equally, it would be unsafe to leave its use exclusively under German national control, relying on treaty provisions like those of Versailles to prevent use for military purposes."

Treaty "Easy But Poor Way"

Dulles spoke the day after the State Department announced that Secretary of State George C. Marshall would attend the March session of the Council of Foreign Ministers in Moscow, at which the major subject will be preparation of a peace treaty for Germany.

Dulles asserted there was always a tendency to "be satisfied with treaties which sound well," adding that such acceptance was "the easy way" and that "treaties are not poems." He said:

"Experience under the Treaty of Versailles (which Dulles helped write), indeed the accumulated experience of ages, shows that men should never entrust their safety to treaties merely because the treaty words are reassuring.

Tests For Peace Treaty

"Every peace treaty should be subjected to these tests:

"Does performance depend upon continuing external coercion? Does performance depend upon some future government acting contrary to what, at the time, might seem its self-interest? If either of these questions must be answered in the affirmative, the treaty is not dependable."

Dulles said he was not condemning documents like the United Nations Charter, the League of Nations Covenant or the Kellogg-Briand Pact, which express men's higher aspirations.

"But," he asserted, "the treaties on which men depend for immediate self-preservation should be treaties which set up forces which make them self-enforcing. There is something defective about a treaty which needs to be bolstered by bayonets."

Pleased By Hoover's Job

At the outset of his address, Dules departed from his prepared text to say:

"Foreign diplomats suspect what we know, that two years from now a Republican will be in the White House," adding that consequently "foreign governments will not take very seriously" foreign policy proposals "which are backed only by the Democratic party."

PRICES FALLING ACROSS NATION

Decreases in Wholesale Lines Have Outstripped Retail Drops.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(AP) The thud of many falling prices was heard across the country this week and promises of more to come today sounded like good news for consumers in 1947.

Decreases in wholesale lines for the most part have outstripped retail drops. Once these are translated at the retail level the value of the housewife's dollars automatically will rise.

The Associated Press index of 35 wholesale commodities showed the greatest aggregate drop in the last two weeks of any like period since before 1935, with one exception. This came in a single two-week span last summer when prices were fluctuating widely during OPA's off-again-on-again act.

Behind these figures stood the promises. One prominent economist predicted this week a further drop of 25 per cent in food prices during the next 12 months. Another foresaw "50 cent butter." The National Retail Dry Goods Association held out hope of at least "partial progress" toward what it called consumer demands for $2.50 broadcloth shirts, $3 housedresses and $1.98 sheets. The president of one of the biggest Fifth Avenue department stores called on the textile trade to reduce its profits "until we find the point where the public will play ball with us."

Significantly, a drop in national retail sales for the first time since early last October was reported for the week ended last Wednesday by one business research group.

Even more convincing evidence of coming price decreases in some food lines came from the fuutre markets, where traders grow fat or thin by contracting now for commodities for delivery at a future date.

NIGHT

At the close of today's markets in Chicago, you could buy butter for June delivery for 52.75 cents a pound. Wheat for September delivery was a shade above $1.74 a bushel as against today's $2.19 cash spot price and September oats were quoted at less than 59 cents a bushel compared with today's 81 cents.

During the present week, declines were recorded in the cotton, grain, livestock and butter markets. Cattle prices were the lowest since OPA ceiling were removed Oct. 15. In New York, wholesale butter dropped another six cents a pound on top of last week's decrease of nearly 10 cents. Retail butter prices generally followed suit. Top grade butter could be purchased here for 63 cents a pound today. This was approximately the old OPA ceiling and represented a drop of 26 cents since Dec. 26.

None of these drops, or others, could be taken as any indication that the high general price structure was suddenly crumbling and might fall down. Prices on some items obviously were due to rise even higher, including probably ladies apparel. Steel and other metal prices were up and hard goods made from them frequently reflected these increases. Many producers and retailers found it necessary to increase prices because of the 17.5 percent boost in freight rates.

LONDON, JAN. 25-(AP)-BRITAIN'S LABOR REGIME, PREPARING TO TAKE ABSOLUTE CONTROL OF ALL FUTURE REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENT IN THE UNITED KINGDOM, MARSHALLED ITS PREPONDERANT MAJORITY TODAY TO RAMROD THE REVOLUTIONARY LAND BILL THROUGH THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

GOVERNMENT SOURCES REPORTED THAT SENTIMENT WAS HARDENING AMONG THE LOUDLY PROTESTING CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION, PROMISING TO MAKE THE DEBATE BEGINNING WEDNESDAY THE HARDEST BATTLE THE GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE TO FIGHT THIS YEAR.

TACTICS OF THE CONSERVATIVES WILL BE, FIRST, TO ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT THE MEASURE WHEN IT COMES UP FOR A VOTE THURSDAY NIGHT, AND, FAILING THAT, TO LOAD IT DOWN WITH AMENDMENTS.

LEADING THE GOVERNMENT FORCES WILL BE 57-YEAR-OLD LEWIS SILKIN, MINISTER OF TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING AND AUTHOR OF THE SCHEME WHICH WOULD DENY MANY CENTURY-OLD RIGHTS--INCLUDING PROFITS FROM DEVELOPMENT --TO LAND OWNERS.

THE BILL, IF PASSED, WOULD PREVENT A LAND OWNER FROM CONSTRUCTING ANY BUILDING WITHOUT GOVERNMENT PERMISSION. WHEN DEVELOPMENT IS PERMITTED, ANY RESULTING INCREASE IN LAND VALUE WOULD BE COLLECTED IN WHOLE OR IN PART BY THE STATE IN THE FORM OF A DEVELOPMENT CHARGE, WHICH MUST BE PAID OR SECURED BEFORE IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE.

BESIDES THE CONSERVATIVES, SILKIN MAY HAVE TO GUARD AGAINST AN ATTACK FROM EXTREMIST MEMBERS OF HIS OWN PARTY WHO ARE UNWILLING TO ACCEPT ANYTHING LESS THAN OUTRIGHT NATIONALIZATION OF ALL LAND.

BRITAIN'S COMMUNIST PARTY, WHICH HAS TWO MEMBERS IN THE HOUSE, ISSUED A STATEMENT TODAY ENDORSING THE "MANY PROGRESSIVE PROVISIONS" OF THE BILL. THE COMMUNISTS ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT THE "FULL SOLUTION OF THIS PROBLEM IMPERATIVELY REQUIRES NATIONALIZATION OF LAND."

TO COVER POSSIBLE OWNER CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION RESULTING FROM APPLICATION OF THE LAW, THE MEASURE ESTABLISHES A $1,200,000,000 FUND FOR PAYMENTS OF NEGOTABLE GOVERNMENT STOCK TO LANDOWNERS "WHO LOSE DEVELOPMENT VALUE."

THE LAND BILL WILL REPLACE HALF A DOZEN PIECE-MEAL PLANNING ACTS DATING BACK TO 1927, BUT WILL LEAVE UNCHANGED THE NEW TOWNS BILL UNDER WHICH THE GOVERNMENT HOPES TO RELIEVE CONGESTION BY BUILDING A SERIES OF SMALL CITIES--WITH FROM 50,000 TO 60,000 POPULATION--A FEW MILES OUTSIDE SUCH MAJOR METROPOLITAN AREAS AS LONDON, MANCHESTER AND BIRMINGHAM.

THE CONSERVATIVES ALSO ARE EXPECTED TO CRITICIZE, BUT IN MILDER

TERMS, THE AGRICULTURE BILL TO BE DEBATED MONDAY AND TUESDAY.
THIS PROPOSAL WOULD SET FLOORS UNDER FARM PRICES, ASSURE MARKETS AND DISPOSSESS INEFFICIENT FARMERS WHO FAILED TO HEED GOVERNMENT TECHNICAL ADVICE.

WARSAW, JAN 24-(DELAYED)-(AP)-ZYGMUND ZULAWSKI, 82, POLAND'S "GRAND OLD MAN OF SOCIALISM," DECLARED IN AN INTERVIEW AT HIS HOME IN KRAKOW TODAY THAT HE HOPED THE UNITED STATES WOULD PROTEST STRONGLY AGAINST THE CONDUCT OF LAST SUNDAY'S POLISH ELECTIONS.

ZULAWSKI, LEADER OF A GROUP OF SOCIALISTS WHICH BROKE AWAY FROM THE REGULAR POLISH SOCIALIST PARTY, NOW IS TRYING TO GET THE GOVERNMENT'S PERMISSION TO ORGANIZE A SOCIALIST DEMOCRATIC PARTY. HIS ADHERENTS IN FOUR DISTRICTS SOUGHT PARLIAMENT SEATS ON TICKETS WITH VICE PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK'S POLISH PEASANT PARTY, BADLY BEATEN BY THE GOVERNMENT BLOC PARTIES. 1947

ZULAWSKI SAID HE WAS CONFIDENT THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY WOULD HAVE RECEIVED A MAJORITY IN KRAKOW IF THE ELECTION HAD BEEN PROPERLY CONDUCTED. HE HAS BEEN ILL FOR SEVERAL MONTHS AND COMMENTED TODAY:

"I FELT BETTER BEFORE THE ELECTION, BUT ITS RESULTS HAVE MADE ME SICK AGAIN."

IN WARSAW, PREMIER EDWARD B.OSUBKA-MORAWSKI, LEADER OF THE POLISH SOCIALIST PARTY, DISCOUNTED ZULAWSKI'S INFLUENCE AND COMMENTED THAT ZULAWSKI OFTEN WAS DESCRIBED AS A "WALKING COFFIN."

BUDAPEST, JAN.25-(AP)-A SOURCE CLOSE TO PRESIDENT ZOLTAN TILDY WITHIN THE DOMINANT SMALLHOLDERS PARTY SAID TODAY CIVIL WAR MIGHT RESULT IN HUNGARY IF THE COMMUNISTS SUCCEEDED IN "ATTEMPTS TO DISPENSE WITH THE LAWFULLY ELECTED SMALLHOLDER MAJORITY IN PARLIAMENT."

A GROUP WITHIN THE SMALLHOLDERS PARTY ITSELF DEVISED A MEASURE WHICH WOULD HAVE CALLED FOR A SELF PURGE SUCH AS DEMANDED BY THE COMMUNISTS, BUT THEIR MOVE COLLAPSED LAST NIGHT AFTER 80 PERCENT OF THE PARTY'S DEPUTIES AGREED TO RESIGN IF THE MEASURE WAS ENACTED INTO LAW. THE SMALLHOLDER LEADERSHIP, THE INFORMANT SAID, WAS SET FOR A "DESPERATE STAND" NEXT WEEK AGAINST ANY FURTHER ATTEMPTS TO CUT THEIR PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATION. 1947

BY LINKING THE SMALLHOLDERS WITH AN ALLEGED PLOT TO REESTABLISH THE REGIME OF FORMER REGENT ADM. NICHOLAS HORTHY, THE COMMUNISTS HAD HOPED TO PURGE ENOUGH SMALLHOLDER MEMBERS TO PERMIT SETTING UP A COMMUNIST AND SOCIAL DEMOCRAT MAJORITY IN THE ASSEMBLY, THE INFORMANT SAID. THE SMALLHOLDERS IN NOVEMBER, 1945, ELECTIONS WON 57 PERCENT OF THE PARLIAMENT MAJORITY AND NOW HEAD THE COALITION GOVERNMENT.

IF THE COMMUNISTS WERE SUCCESSFUL IN THIS, THE INFORMANT SAID, "THE PEASANTS WILL BE CALLED UPON TO CEASE DELIVERIES OF FOOD TO BUDAPEST," AND THIS "PROBABLY WOULD RESULT IN CIVIL WAR.

"THE PEASANTS ARE DISGUSTED WITH THE DEFENSIVE ATTITUDE TAKEN BY THEIR LEADERS," HE SAID.

THE SMALLHOLDERS ADMIT THAT SOME "MINOR PLOT" MIGHT EXIST, HE SAID, BUT ADDED IT WAS NOT IMPORTANT ENOUGH TO WARRANT THE "PRESENT COMMUNIST HYSTERICS AND BLANKET CHARGES AGAINST EVERYBODY WHO IN THE PAST REFUSED TO AGREE WITH EVERYTHING THEY SAID."

"IT COULD NOT HAVE BEEN SO DANGEROUS, SINCE BOTH MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR RAJK AND RAKOSI HAVE SAID THE PLOTTERS DID NOT HAVE A CHANCE," HE ADDED. BOTH INTERIOR MINISTER LASZLO RAJK AND DEPUTY PREMIER MATAS RAKOSI ARE COMMUNISTS.

THE INFORMANT SAID THE SMALLHOLDERS WOULD TRY NEXT WEEK TO "DEFINE THE REAL CONSPIRATORS AND HAVE DONE WITH COMMUNIST GENERALIZATIONS."

THE COMMUNISTS HAVE CHARGED THAT THE PLOTTERS PLANNED NOT ONLY TO REESTABLISH THE HORTHY REGIME BUT TO ABOLISH LAND REFORM AND SET UP A MILITARY DICTATORSHIP, AND THAT THEY HAD LONG-EXISTING ORGANIZATIONS DEVOTED TO SUCH A PROGRAM.

FEW SPECIFIC CHARGES HAVE BEEN PLACED AGAINST ANY ONE PERSON ACCUSED AS A PLOTTER. GEN.LAJOS DALNOKI VERESS WAS SINGLED OUT AS THE SUPREME COMMANDER OF AN UNDERGROUND ARMY WHICH THE COMMUNISTS SAID WAS TO HAVE OVEERTHROWN THE GOVERNMENT "THROUGH ARMED UPRISING" ON THE DAY THE PEACE TREATY WAS SIGNED OR THE DAY THE RUSSIAN OCCUPATION FORCES LEFT THE COUNTRY. HOWEVER, NOBODY HAS DEFINED VERESS' DUTIES LESS GENERALLY, NUMBERED HIS ARMY OR LISTED ANY OF HIS EQUIPMENT, EXCEPT FOR SIX CRATED AIRPLANES.

HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WHO ARE MEMBERS OF THE SMALLHOLDERS PARTY HAVE ADMITTED THAT THERE WAS A CIVILIAN GROUP FORMED AS A RESISTANCE MOVEMENT DURING THE GERMAN OCCUPATION, BUT DISCLAIMED KNOWLEDGE OF ANY PLOT BY MILITARY MEN. 1947

ONE OF THESE OFFICIALS SAID MEN AND WOMEN WHO BELONGED TO THE WARTIME RESISTANCE MOVEMENT HAVE CONTINUED TO MEET SOCIALLY AND PERHAPS MIGHT HAVE "CRITICIZED THE COMMUNISTS AND THE RUSSIANS--WHO HASN'T?"

AN AMERICAN OFFICER WHO DURING THE WAR STUDIED THE HUNGARIAN UNDERGROUND AND WAS PREPARED TO PARACHUTE TO JOIN IT, SAID HE KNEW ABOUT THE CRATED AIRPLANES AND ADDED HE SUPPOSED THAT SINCE THE END OF THE WAR EVERYBODY ELSE KNEW ABOUT THEM TOO.

IN ADDITION, PROTEST MEETINGS WERE CALLED IN MAJOR DELHI AND BOMBAY MOSQUES.

IN DELHI, SIDDIQ ALI KHAN, NATIONAL COMMANDER OF THE VOLUNTEER, SEMI-MILITARY GUARD, APPEALED TO LEAGUE AND GUARD MEMBERS THROUGHOUT INDIA TO "MAINTAIN PEACE AND DISCIPLINE AND TO WAIT THE ORDERS OF THE HIGH COMMAND."

YESTERDAY, AFTER THE BAN WAS ANNOUNCED IN THE PUNJAB PROVINCIAL CAPITAL OF LAHORE, LEAGUE LEADERS IN BOMBAY CALLED FOR A STRIKE OF THE 2,500,000 MOSLEMS IN BOMBAY PROVINCE TODAY, AND IN LAHORE NEARLY 200 PERSONS WERE HURT AND AT LEAST 30 ARRESTED IN A POLICE CHARGE ON DEMONSTRATORS.

THE GOVERNMENT OF PUNJAB, IN NORTHWESTERN INDIA RUNNING UP INTO THE HIMALAYAN FOOTHILLS, SAID IT HAD BANNED THE NATIONAL GUARD--AND AT THE SAME TIME THE HINDU YOUTH ORGANIZATION, RASHTRIYA SEVAK

SANGH--TO "PREVENT EXPANSION OF PRIVATE COMMUNAL ARMIES WHICH WOULD BE HARMFUL TO THE PEACEFUL POSITION OF THE COUNTRY."

THE NATIONAL COMMANDER DECLARED IN REPLY TODAY, "IT IS A MISCHIEVOUS LIE TO SAY THAT THE MOSLEM NATIONAL GUARD IS A COMMUNAL ARMY. THE AIMS AND OBJECTS OF THE ORGANIZATION ARE TO WORK FOR THE ATTAINMENT OF THE AIMS AND OBJECTS OF THE ALL-INDIA MOSLEM LEAGUE, TO DISCIPLINE MOSLEMS AND TO TRAIN THEM IN ALL SPHERES OF LIFE, AND TO FOSTER A SPIRIT OF SERVICE AND SACRIFICE."

HE SAID IN AN INTERVIEW HE COULD NOT ESTIMATE THE NUMBER OF GUARDSMEN IN INDIA BUT ADDED THAT "EVERY LEAGUER IS ACTUALLY A MEMBER OF THE GUARD." HE REPORTED THE PUNJAB GUARDS HAD A GOAL OF A HALF MILLION MEMBERSHIP BUT HE COULD NOT SAY HOW CLOSE THEY WERE TO THAT WHEN BANNED.

THE MOSLEM NATIONAL GUARD WAS GIVEN THAT NAME IN 1937 WHEN IT WAS AN ORGANIZATION OF VOLUNTEERS USED MAINLY TO USHER AND KEEP ORDER AT LEAGUE MEETINGS. MILITARY-TYPE UNIFORMS AND INSIGNIA WERE PRESCRIBED IN A REORGANIZATION ABOUT TWO YEARS AGO.

SIDDIQ ALI KHAN SAID GUARDSMEN OFTEN WORE STEEL HELMETS FOR PROTECTION IN RESCUING MOSLEMS IN COMMUNAL RIOTS AND IN SOME PARTS OF INDIA STILL CARRIED SPEARS, THOUGH THESE WERE BANNED IN OTHER PLACES.

NIGHT LEAD ARGENTINE

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, JAN.25-(AP)-IN AN UNUSUAL STATEMENT APPARENTLY FORESHADOWING IMPROVED RELATIONS WITH ARGENTINA, THE UNITED STATES TODAY OFFICIALLY WELCOMED AN ARGENTINE DECREE FOR TAKING OVER AXIS FIRMS.

AT THE SAME TIME, THIS GOVERNMENT MADE PLAIN THAT IT STILL IS LOOKING TO PRESIDENT JUAN D. PERON TO RID ARGENTINA OF ALL AXIS AGENTS THERE.

THE STATEMENT WAS ISSUED A SHORT TIME AFTER AMBASSADOR GEORGE S. MESSERSMITH, A STORM CENTER OF AMERICAN DIPLOMACY FOR SEVERAL MONTHS, CONFERRED WITH SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL AND TOLD NEWSMEN HE WILL RETURN TO HIS POST AT BUENOS AIRES AS SOON AS TRAVEL ARRANGEMENTS CAN BE MADE.

MESSERSMITH ALSO SAW ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE SPRUILLE BRADEN, WHOSE HANDLING OF ARGENTINE AFFAIRS HE HAS CRITICIZED. INDICATIONS ARE THAT IN RETURNING TO ARGENTINA, MESSERSMITH'S MAIN TASK IS TO NEGOTIATE FURTHER WITH THE PERON ADMINISTRATION FOR DEPORTATION OF THE ENEMY AGENTS STILL IN THE COUNTRY.

THE DEPARTMENT'S STATEMENT WAS UNUSUAL BECAUSE OF ITS GENERALLY FRIENDLY TONE TOWARD ARGENTINA. DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES SUGGESTED THAT THIS MEANT NO CHANGE IN BRADEN'S INSISTANCE THAT THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT SHOULD LAVA UP TO ITS INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS TO WIPE OUT AXIS FIRMS AND INFLUENCES BUT REFLECTED THIS GOVERNMENT'S PLEASURE AT A MAJOR STEP IN THAT DIRECTION.

"THIS GOVERNMENT," SAID THE STATEMENT, "HAS LEARNED OF THE PROMULGATION OF A DECREE BY THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA ELIMINATING ENEMY OWNERSHIP AND CONTROL OF A LARGE NUMBER OF ENEMY SPEARHEAD FIRMS. THIS IS AN IMPORTANT STEP AND COMES AS A WELCOME ADDITION TO THE MEASURES ALREADY TAKEN IN RESPECT OF NAZI EDUCATIONAL AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS.

"CONSULTATIONS ARE CONTINUING WITH THE GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA IN RESPECT TO ENEMY AGENTS."

MESSERSMITH GAVE NO HINT AS TO WHETHER HE CONSIDERS HIS POLICY BATTLE WITH ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE SPRUILLE BRADEN A WIN, LOSS OR DRAW.

MESSERSMITH'S RETURN TO ARGENTINA, AT LEAST TEMPORARILY, WHILE BRADEN REMAINS HIS BOSS IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT, ALSO AT LEAST TEMPORARILY, INDICATED THERE HAS BEEN NO CHANGE IN BRADEN'S SO-CALLED TOUGH POLICY TOWARD THE PERON GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA.

BRADEN LONG AGO LAID DOWN THE POLICY THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT OFFICALLY DEVELOP THE FRIENDLIEST POSSIBLE RELATIONS WITH ARGENTINA UNTIL PERON HAD CLEANED OUT NAZI INFLUENCES.

MESSERSMITH, WHO WAS CHOSEN FOR HIS JOB BY BRADEN, DECIDED MONTHS AGO THAT PERON WAS DOING HIS BEST.

MESSERSMITH'S SPSPLIT WITH BRADEN AROSE OVER HIS FEELING THAT BRADEN WAS BEING NEEDLESSLY UNBENDING.

ACTUALLY, THIS MEANT THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT SIT IN ON THE INTER-AMERICAN CONFERENCE PROPOSED FOR RIO DE JANEIRO UNTIL ITS RELATIONS WITH ARGENTINA WERE PUT IN ORDER. IT ALSO MEANT THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT TURNED A DEAF EAR TO ARGENTINE APPEALS FOR AMERICAN ARMS.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, JAN. 25-(AP)-A DECISION OF THE WORLD WAR I ALLIES TO TRY TO ERECT A "BARBED WIRE FENCE" AROUND RUSSIAN BOLSHEVISM WAS DETAILED TONIGHT IN A NEW VOLUME OF OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE 1919 PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE WHICH THE STATE DEPARTMENT PUBLISHED.

THE RECORDS SHOW THAT AT A SESSION OF THE INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL OF PREMIERS AT LONDON, PREMIER GEORGES CLEMENCEAU OF FRANCE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT DIRECT INTERVENTION HAD PROVEN A COSTLY FAILURE AND PROPOSED THE SHIFT OF POLICY.

IT WAS APPROVED BY PRIME MINISTER DAVID LLOYD GEORGE OF BRITAIN, FOREIGN MINISTER SCIALOJA FOR ITALY, AND INFORMALLY BY AMERICAN AMBASSADOR JOHN W.DAVIS. DAVIS, HOWEVER, WAS ONLY AN OBSERVER.

AS SUMMED UP BY LORD CURZON, THE BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY, CLEMENCEAU'S PROPOSAL WAS:

"1. A BARBED WIRE FENCE, AS IT WERE, AROUND RUSSIA, WITHIN WHICH THE ALLIES SHOULD NOT INTERFERE.

"2. TO PUT AN END TO CONTRIBUTIONS OF SUPPLIES AND MONEY FOR THE PURPOSE OF UPHOLDING OR RE-ESTABLISHING ORDER IN RUSSIA.

"3. TO BUILD UP POLAND AS A BARRIER AGAINST RUSSIA AND A CHECK ON GERMANY."

CLEMENCEAU SAID THE PURPOSE, ASIDE FROM PREVENTING RUSSIA FROM "CREATING TROUBLE" OUTSIDE THE RING, OR "CORDON SANITAIRE," WAS TO "STOP GERMANY FROM ENTERING INTO RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA, WHETHER OF A POLITICAL OR MILITARY CHARACTER."

LLOYD GEORGE, IN EXPRESSING FULL AGREEMENT, SAID BRITAIN ALREADY HAD SPENT ABOUT $500,000,000 IN RUSSIA, MAINLY IN SUPPORT OF THE ANTI-SOVIET FORCES OF GENERAL DENIKIN.

THE MINUTES OF MEETINGS FROM NOV. 6, 1919, INTO THE FOLLOWING JANUARY WERE CONTAINED IN THE LATEST OF A SERIES OF LONG-SECRET PEACE CONFERENCE RECORDS TO BE RELEASED BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT. INCLUDED WERE THE OFFICIAL SUMMARIES OF DISCUSSION BY THE COUNCIL OF THE HEADS OF DELEGATIONS TO THE PEACE CONFERENCE, AND ALSO OF SEVERAL SESSIONS OF THE COUNCIL OF PREMIERS AND THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS.

AFTER THE DEPARTURE OF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION HEADED BY UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FRANK L.POLK ON DEC. 9, 1919, THE U.S. WAS REPRESENTED ONLY BY OBSERVERS.

ASIDE FROM THE POSTWAR TURMOIL IN RUSSIA ATTENDING THE RISE OF THE NEW BOLSHEVIST REGIME, THE CONFERENCE HAD TO WIND UP WORLD WAR I PEACE TREATIES, AND COPE WITH CRISES IN THE ADRIATIC, BALTIC STATES AND HUNGARY.

A137WX

THE SHIFT IN POLICY TOWARD RUSSIA CAME WITH DEFEAT OF THE ALLIED-SUPPORTED ANTI-BOLSHEVIST FORCES UNDER DENIKIN AND ADMIRAL KOLCHAK. IN THE DEBATE THE CONFERENCE HEARD FROM CLEMENCEAU THAT WINSTON CHURCHILL, WHO WAS TO BECOME BRITAIN'S WORLD WAR II LEADER, WAS "REPUTED TO HOLD VERY STRONG VIEWS" ON RUSSIA, AND REGARDED POLAND AS "THE LEFT WING OF DENIKIN'S ARMY."

CHURCHILL HIMSELF FIGURED IN A SESSION AT PARIS THE FOLLOWING JAN. 19 WHEN THE ALLIED LEADERS DEBATED MEANS TO BOLSTER AMERICA, GEORGIA AND AZERBAIJAN AS A SOUTHERN ANCHOR OF THE ANTI-BOLSHEVIST CORDON.

AT A SESSION ON DEC. 2, THE ALLIES UNDERTOOK TO FIX POLAND'S EASTERN BOUNDARIES WITH RUSSIA BY MEANS OF AN ARBITRARY FRONTIER LINE WHICH CORRESPONDED WITH THE SO-CALLED CURZON LINE OF THE FOLLOWING YEAR. THE POLES, THEN AT WAR WITH RUSSIA, REJECTED BOTH, AND WON LARGER TERRITORY AT RUSSIA'S EXPENSE IN THE 1921 TREATY OF RIGA. #

(ADVANCE)-WASHINGTON, JAN 25-(AP)-STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS CHARGED TONIGHT THAT RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA AGENCIES ARE TRYING TO TURN THE PEOPLE OF EASTERN EUROPE AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

SIMILARLY, THEY ALLEGED PROPAGANDA CAMPAIGNS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES IN CHINA, SPECIFICALLY IN THE COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED AREAS.

WILLIAM T.STONE, DIRECTOR OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL INFORMATION AND CULTURAL AFFAIRS, REPORTED THAT "SOME NATIONS ARE CAREFULLY MISREPRESENTING US TO FURTHER THEIR OWN ENDS," WHILE OTHERS ARE "TELLING THEIR STORY AND AT THE SAME TIME TELLING OURS."

SPEAKING OF THE DEPARTMENT'S PROGRAM FOR INTERNATIONAL BROADCASTING, MAINTENANCE OF LIBRARIES ABROAD AND OTHER MEANS OF SPREADING IDEAS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD, STONE DECLARED THAT "WE HAVE TO BE IN THERE TELLING OUR OWN STORY TO COUNTERACT THE MASS OF INFORMATION AND MISINFORMATION THAT IS BEING SPREAD ALL OVER THE WORLD TODAY."

STONE'S SPEECH WAS FOR A DEPARTMENT RADIO PROGRAM, "OUR FOR

TONE' PEECH WA FOR A DEPARTMENT RADIO PROGRAM, "OUR FOREIGN POLICY," WITH FRANK R. SHEA, CHIEF OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S INFORMATION SERVICE AT BUCHAREST, ROMANIA, AND MAURICE S. RICE, CHIEF OF THE INFORMATION SERVICE'S EASTERN EUROPEAN BRANCH.

SHEA DECLARED THAT "IN EASTERN EUROPE ATTEMPTS ARE BEING MADE TO TURN THE PEOPLE AGAINST US." HE SAID DISTORTIONS INCLUDE CMAIMS THAT AMERICANS ARE MILITARISTIC, DECADENT, MATERIALISTIC AND "TORN BY POLITICAL DISUNITY."

SHEA REPORTED THE AMERICANS HAVE A STAFF OF ABOUT 15 EMPLOYES IN BUCHAREST, THE BRITISH HAAVE 20 AND THE FRENCH 75, AND CONTINUED:

"THE RUSSIANS WORK THROUGH A ROMANIAN AGENCY WHICH IS TIED DIRECTLY INTO MOSCOW. THERE ARE ABOUT 500 EMPLOYES IN THE RUSSIAN-CONTROLLED PROPAGANDA OUTFIT. IN ADDITION THE SOVIET EMBASSY HAS AN INFORMATION OFFICE AND A CULTURAL RELATIONS OFFICE. THERE ARE ALSO TWO RUSSIAN NEWS AGENCIES. THE ROMANIAN NEWS AGENCY IS OF COURSE GOVERNMENT CONTROLLED."

A162WX

IN THE CASE OF CHINA, STONE REPORTED HE HAD JUST RECEIVED A SUMMARY FROM A REPRESENTATIVE IN SHANGHAI WHICH SAID THAT THE AMOUNT OF ANTI-AMERICAN FEELING "AND THE WAY IT IS GROWING CAUSES US ALL TO WORRY."

"THE RUSSIAN BOOKSTORES ARE CROWDED AND THE RUSSIAN NEWSPAPERS AND RADIO STATIONS HAVE A LARGE FOLLOWING," THE REPORT WENT ON. "THE STUDENTS ARE INTERESTED IN A BETTER CHINA AND ARE DOING A LOT OF INTELLECTUAL SHOPPING AROUND."

STONE SAID THE UNITED STATES WILL BEGIN ONE-HOUR A DAY SHORT-WAVE BROADCASTS DIRECT TO THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE IN THE RUSSIAN LANGUAGE NEXT MONTH.

IN ANOTHER STATEMENT ON THE FOREIGN INFORMATION PROGRAM, A SPEECH FOR THE WOMEN'S PATRIOTIC CONFERENCE ON NATIONAL DEFENSE, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE WILLIAM BENTON DISCUSSED THE COMPETITION OF AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN IDEOLOGIES.

HE SAID PROBABLY THE GREATEST OBSTACLE "TO FOREIGN RESPONSE TO OUR LEADERSHIP X X X IS FEAR OF ECONOMIC COLLAPSE IN THE UNITED STATES." #

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON.JAN 25-(AP)-CATHERINE E.F.LENROOT, CHIEF OF THE LABOR DEPARTMENT CHILDREN'S BUREAU, SAID TODAY IT IS MORE DANGEROUS TO BE A BABY IN AMERICA THAN IT WAS TO BE IN COMBAT DURING THE SECOND WORLD WAR.

"BETWEEN PEARL HARBOR AND V-J DAY, 430,000 BABIES DIED FOR LACK OF GOOD MEDICAL AND HOSPITAL CARE--NEARLY TWICE THE NUMBER OF MEN KILLED IN ACTION," MISS LENROOT TOLD THE 21ST ANNUAL WOMEN'S PATRIOTIC CONFERENCE ON NATIONAL DEFENSE.

MORE THAN 1000 WOMEN, REPRESENTING 29 PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATIONS, ARE ATTENDING THE CONFERENCE.

MISS LENROOT REPORTED CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE IN THE LAST GENERATION, ASSERTING:

"LESS THAN 40 CHILDREN IN 1000 DIED BEFORE THEIR FIRST BIRTHDAY, AS COMPARED WITH 100 IN EVERY THOUSAND THIRTY YEARS AGO."

WHILE MUCH HAS BEEN DONE TOWARD ELIMINATING CHILDHOOD COMMUNICABLE DISEASES, SHE PREDICTED ONE CHILD IN 20 WILL SPEND PART OF HIS LIFE IN A MENTAL INSTITUTION IF THE PRESENT RATE OF MENTAL DISEASES CONTINUES. RIGHT NOW 500,000 CHILDREN UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE SUFFER FROM RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE, 1,000,000 FROM HEARING DEFECTS, 4,000,000 FROM VISUAL DEFECTS AND 20,000,000 FROM DENTAL DEFECTS, SHE SAID.

FRIEDA S.MILLER, DIRECTOR OF THE LABOR DEPARTMENT WOMEN'S BUREAU, SAID AMERICA'S PEACE TIME ECONOMY, WITH ITS TREND TOWARD AN EXTENSION OF ALL KINDS OF SERVICES, NEEDS WOMEN AND IS GEARED TO HAVE MILLIONS OF THEM IN THE LABOR FORCE.

WOMEN EMPLOYED REACHED AN ALL-TIME HIGH OF NEARLY 19,000,000 IN MID-1944 AND NOW IS ONLY 1,000,000 LESS THAN A YEAR AGO, SHE SAID.

ASSERTING THAT WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, WOMEN WORK FOR THE SAME REASONS MEN DO, SHE URGED THE "COMBINED EFFORT OF MUTUAL HELP OF ALL WOMEN OF AMERICA" TO LESSEN INEQUALITIES IN OPPORTUNITIES AND COMPENSATIONS THAT STILL EXIST FOR WOMEN.

COLUMBIA, S.C., JAN. 25-(AP)-MORE THAN HALF THE COUNTRIES COMPRISING THE UNITED NATIONS HAVE ERECTED BARRIERS TO IMPEDE THE FLOW OF FREE NEWS AND INFORMATION, WILBUR FORREST, PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF NEWSPAPER EDITORS, TOLD THE SOUTH CAROLINA PRESS INSTITUTE HERE LAST NIGHT.

WITHOUT NAMING THE NATIONS HE CHARGED WITH PRESS INTERFERENCE, FORREST SAID THEY TOTALED 29 OF THE 54 U.N. MEMBERS.

GIVEN THE ADVANTAGE OF FREEDOM OF INFORMATION, THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD "SHALL BE INFORMED ABOUT THE PEOPLE OF OTHER NATIONS AND SHALL BE ABLE TO JUDGE WHETHER HATREDS WHICH BREED WARS ARE JUSTIFIED," HE DECLARED.

HE SAID A COMMITTEE STUDYING WORLD JOURNALISM FOUND THAT "TO THE RUSSIANS PRESS FREEDOM MEANT THE RIGHT TO HAVE THEIR NEWS SCREENED."

EDITORS, THE ASSISTANT EDITOR OF THE NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE SAID, MUST HAVE AS THEIR OBJECTIVE THE EMANCIPATION OF THE WORLD PRESS SO THAT EVENTUALLY "SOME TWO BILLION-ODD HUMAN BEINGS MAY HAVE THE RIGHT TO LEARN AND TO KNOW ABOUT OTHERS."

PHILADELPHIA, JAN 25-(AP)-THE PEOPLES OF EASTERN EUROPE ARE "ALMOST FRANTIC" IN THEIR DESIRE TO KNOW AND UNDERSTAND THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE, PARTICULARLY AMERICA, WILLIS WEATHERFORD,JR., SAID TODAY ON HIS RETURN FROM TWO AND A HALF YEARS AS A EUROPEAN COMMISSIONER FOR THE AMERICAN FRIENDS SERVICE COMMITTEE.

"YOU FIND IT IN ALMOST EVERY INDIVIDUAL YOU MEET, IN THE WELCOME YOU ARE GIVEN AND IN THE COUNTLESS QUESTIONS PUT TO YOU," WEATHERFORD SAID. "THE PEOPLES OF HUNGARY AND POLAND ESPECIALLY GO ALL OUT TO BE HOSPITABLE. ENGLISH IS THE NUMBER ONE FOREIGN LANGUAGE STUDIED WITH RUSSIAN SECOND."

WEATHERFORD SAID THAT WHILE THE MAJOR JOB OF SUPPLYING RELIEF NEEDS MUST BE DONE BY GOVERNMENTS, THE VOLUNTARY RELIEF AGENCIES ARE THE ONE WHICH REACH THE SPECIAL AND MARGINAL GROUPS--THE SICK, THE AGED AND THE DISPOSSESSED.

"THE VOLUNTARY RELIEF WORKERS REALV

THE DISPOSSESSED.

"THE VOLUNTARY RELIEF WORKERS REALLY FILL A PSYCHOLOGICAL VACUUM. THEY ARE THE ONLY PEOPLE WHO CAN INTERPRET THE FEELING OF THE AMERICANS BEYOND THE OFFICIAL POLICY."

EMPHASIZING THE CONTINUING MATERIAL NEEDS THROUGHOUT EUROPE, WEATHERFORD SAID HOPE AND COURAGE ARE INCREASING IN POLAND AND FRANCE, WHILE GERMANS ARE IN A LOW STATE OR MORALE BECAUSE OF THE BLEAKNESS OF THEIR POLITICAL FUTURE.

NEW YORK, JAN.25-(AP)-THE ARMY HAS RECEIVED VOLUNTEERS FOR A FLIGHT IN A GERMAN V-2 ROCKET 100 MILES INTO SPACE, AN ENGINEER WORKING ON THE CURRENT ROCKET TESTS IN WHITE SANDS, N.M., SAID TONIGHT ADDING, HOWEVER, THAT THE CHANCE OF SURVIVING THE TRIP "IS TOO SLIM AT PRESENT."

THE SCIENTIST, DR.JAMES A.VAN ALLEN OF JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY'S APPLIED PHYSICS LABORATORY, SPOKE AT THE ANNUAL DINNER OF THE EXPLORERS CLUB.

DR.VAN ALLEN THEORIZED THAT DURING THE FLIGHT THE PILOT WOULD FEEL ONLY SLIGHT PRESSURE AT FIRST BUT THAT SOON ACCELERATION WOULD INCREASE TO THE POINT WHERE, BETWEEN 50 AND 65 SECONDS AFTER TAKEOFF, HE WOULD BE SUBJECTED TO FIVE TIMES THE NORMAL GRAVITATIONAL PULL.

ON THE DESCENDING TRIP, THE ROCKET PASSENGER WOULD RELEASE HIS PRESSURIZED CABIN AND PARACHUTE TO THE GROUND, DR.VAN ALLEN SAID. TOTAL ELAPSED TIME OF THE TRIP, HE ADDED, WOULD BE ABOUT 10 MINUTES "AND MOST OF IT SPENT PARACHUTING."

FRENCH GAIN IN HANOI AREA

Recapture Control Of Route Circling Capital Outskirts

Paris, Jan. 26 (AP)—French forces pressed north today from Hanoi after capturing six villages beyond the River Rouge and gaining domination of the "route circulaire" controlling an 18-mile perimeter around the capital's outskirts, dispatches from the fighting areas said.

French headquarters in Saigon announced that infantry supported by aircraft had seized the towns of Xuan-Tran, Quan-Laso, Xuan-To-axa, Man-Dinh, Phu-To and Aha-Train. Viet Nam troops, seeking to cross the river, were caught in a deadly machine-gun and rifle fire that cut down at least 100 of their forces.

Also Gain Near Hongay

The French high command said also that their forces achieved another success near the port city of Hongay where they pushed across the Songhot River and captured Yen-lap with an important store of munitions.

Two French columns driving west from Hanoi enveloped a lake and completed a junction early yesterday afternoon despite numerous road obstacles left by retreating Viet Nam nationalists. The action, giving them control of the circular road, cost only three killed and seven wounded, and was the heaviest blow struck in the Hanoi outskirts since the outbreak of hostilities, advices from Hanoi said.

Paratroopers advancing through swamps and flooded fields captured two prewar model anti-aircraft guns which the Viet Nam troops had used to shell Hanoi. The guns were put out of commission by the retreating Viet Nam force.

The few prisoners taken appeared terrified. They were dressed in ragged uniforms and some still wore French or Japanese steel helmets.

Russian Says Vatican Leads Reaction Forces

London, Jan. 26 (AP)—A Soviet writer accused the Vatican and Catholic clergy today of "playing an active part in the world's reactionary enterprises" and warned that "we recognize no immunity for the princes of the Catholic church."

"The Vatican has openly adopted the course of fighting democracy," A. Galin wrote in an article in the Soviet magazine New Times which was broadcast by the Moscow Radio.

"But if they receive a well-deserved rebuff, let the papal politicians not cry out that the Catholic religion and Catholic religious sentiments are being attacked," he added.

The article declared the people of the world "do not want to be tools in the hands of politicians, secular or spiritual," and concluded that "the masses are not to be driven under the old yoke, whether the Vatican and the princes of the Church like it or not."

YUGOSLAV AIDE KILLED

Reported Attacked During Visit to Chetnik Camp in Italy

ROME, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Yugoslav mission to the Allied Control Commission said today that one Yugoslav repatriation official had been killed and another seriously wounded during an attack yesterday by inmates of a Chetnik camp in Naples.

The report said the repatriation officials had visited the camp in the hope of persuading the Chetniks, who had fought in Italy for the Allies, to return to Yugoslavia. The camp is under Allied (British) control.

The dead man, who had the rank of consul, was Vicko Cluncitch. His companion, Joseo Del, is in a serious condition.

Italy May Receive 29 Tons Of Gold

Rome, Jan. 26 (AP)—Il Globo, Roman financial newspaper, said today the United States had agreed to release to Italy 29 tons of gold (worth more than $24,000,000 at the official rate of $35 an ounce) to support the jittery lira.

The paper said the transaction was arranged by Senator Luigi Einaudi, governor of the Bank of Italy, who accompanied Premier Alcide de Gasperi on his recent trip to the United States. The gold will be paid for with dollar balances in the United States and will be consigned to the Bank of Italy at New York from the Bank of Canada in Ottawa February 11, Il Globo said.

Il Messagero, another Roman paper, said the purchase was "another notable fruit of de Gasperi's visit to the United States."

Resigned Premiership

De Gasperi, who returned from America January 18 and resigned from the premiership three days later as the result of the Government crisis precipitated by the split of Italian Socialists into pro and anti-Communist blocs, rested today in the country after a week's futile efforts to form a new Cabinet.

One factor in the crisis is a demand by Socialists for a broad program along Socialist lines, including the nationalization of the Bank of Italy, now the official but privately owned bank.

The lira will be officially devalued by a little more than 50 per cent Monday, the second devaluation within a year.

CLAY ANSWERS COMMITTEE

Says Group's Conclusions Were "Drawn Prematurely"

Berlin, Jan. 26 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, challenged as a "prematurely drawn conclusion today an assertion by the International Committee for the Study of European Questions that the great majority of Germans were not accepting a conversion to democracy.

"It is too early for anyone to say that the Germans are not responding to democracy," the Deputy American Military Governor said, "it has been recognized by a great many people that the democratic regeneration of Germany would take a great many years. We never claimed that it could be done quickly.

Feels Progress Was Made

"All that one can fairly do now is to assess our success in approximately two years and therefrom attempt to gauge our chances of success over the long pull. I definitely feel that progress has been made but I agree that we'll have a long pull before we have a democratic German state with a preponderant democratic opinion."

The committee—a private organization of British, French, Belgian, Dutch and Danish leaders—declared yesterday that recreated Nazi organizations were increasing in power and laying the groundwork to "capture control of democratic organizations."

The group said the subversive leaders "are a fairly important number" of those liberated by Clay in the general youth amnesty granted last July 3. The Nazis were accused of thwarting de-Nazification, spying on and intimidating Germans and creating disorder in organizations created by the Allies. The report said:

"The great majority of the German people have in no way, at the time being, entered the path of democracy."

Hitler Youth Excluded

Clay commented that the July amnesty excluded leaders of the Hitler youth organization.

He questioned the veracity of a committee allegation that former members of the Nazi party and the S.S. had been circulating again in uniform in public and private gatherings.

He said the American intelligence agencies were alert for any such manifestations and commented dryly:

"Perhaps their (the committee's) intelligence is better than ours."

The General declined to comment fully until he had seen the complete committee report, but he took issue with some accusations as they applied to the American Occupation Zone and the American police.

Charge Made On Capital

The committee charged that the "greatest part" of the capital the Germans deposited abroad before and during the war had remained "in the hands of the citizens and nationalistic organizations of Germany who retain the possibility of using it freely."

Clay said the Allied Control Council here had long ago passed a law confiscating the property of Germans abroad and added:

"Manifestly negotiations with the various foreign governments to carry out this confiscation is a governmental (foreign office) matter. I understand that the American, British and French governments have completed such negotiations with Switzerland, Sweden and perhaps other countries."

Dutch Can Now Trade With Reich Business Men

Berlin, Jan. 26 (AP) — A joint American-British announcement said tonight that a trade agreement had been concluded between the combined British and American zones of Germany and the Netherlands, permitting Dutch business men to enter Germany for direct personal dealings with German business men.

Foreign business men admitted to the Western occupation zones now have to conduct their dealings with Germans through Military Government agencies. However, spokesmen for the American and British Military Government said it was expected that the privilege of direct negotiations accorded to the Dutch would be granted simultaneously to business men of other countries.

The trade agreement was the first concluded for the combined zones with an outside country since their economic merger. Negotiations were conducted in The Hague from Monday through yesterday between a joint Anglo-American delegation and Netherlands officials.

In addition to the trade arrangements, contracts were signed for the sale to the Netherlands of $875,000 worth of German railway materials and other products.

Americans Tour Berlin

Berlin, Jan. 26 (AP)—Ten American editors and radio commentators visiting Germany as guests of the War Department today toured snow-mantled Berlin.

Reassurance Planned

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Jan. 26 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney was reported tonight to be working on a statement reassuring the more than 400,000 displaced persons in the American zone that they would not be forcibly repatriated to Eastern Europe.

Army sources said he would issue the statement this week to allay the sudden alarm among the displaced persons resulting from a survey of their case histories by United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration teams. The UNRRA's survey was halted temporarily by the Army after the refugees protested that it was "political."

Army informants said large numbers of displaced persons feared that information on their political backgrounds might reach the Governments of their native lands.

McNarney to Reassure D. P.s

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Jan. 26 (AP).—General Joseph T. McNarney was reported working tonight on a statement to reassure the more than 400,000 displaced persons in the American occupation zone of Germany that they would not be repatriated forcibly to Eastern Europe. Army sources said the European theater commander would issue the statement this week.

Thomas Mann's Ph.D. Restored

BONN, Germany, Jan. 26 (AP).—The University of Bonn announced today that it had restored to Thomas Mann, German author now residing in America, an honorary degree of Doctor of Philosophy which was awarded to him in 1919 but was withdrawn by order of the Nazis in 1933.

SELF-PURGE OPENED BY HUNGARIAN PARTY

BUDAPEST, Jan. 26—(AP) A prominent Hungarian politician said yesterday that four Smallholder party members of Parliament had received letters from their own party executive committee asking them to resign from Parliament.

The informant said that the action constituted a Smallholders' "self-purge" brought about by repeated Communist demands that the Smallholder party expel "reactionaries" from its ranks.

The moderate Smallholders party is the largest in Parliament.

They said that was especially true if the U.S. government "expects a solution to the Communist question to precede economic readjustment."

4 War Criminals Executed

Belgrade, Jan. 26 (AP)—Four men convicted as war criminals were executed today at Zagreb in Yugoslavia's campaign to liquidate all the former leaders of the Ustashi, pro-German force in Yugoslavia during the war.

Vandenberg Talk Pravda's Target

Moscow, Jan. 26 (AP)—Pravda declared today that the United States would "undermine the very foundation of international collaboration" if it followed the foreign relations program advocated by two Republican leaders, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles.

The Communist party newspaper said that Vandenberg's blueprint of foreign policy, outlined in a speech in Cleveland January 11, was a "consistent frank program of imperialist expansion."

Dulles's proposal for a linking of Germany's economy with such European neighbors as France, Belgium and the Netherlands was described as "an American variant of Churchill's notorious plan for a United States of Europe."

Pravda said that Vandenberg demanded "firmness" in American dealings with Russia and, "although after 'firmness', he mentions 'friendliness,' the meaning of this terminology coming from Vandenberg's lips leaves no doubts."

The newspaper said Vandenberg's assertion that the United States should "freshen" Pan-American solidarity in the face of a "threatening wave of communism" meant simply that the United States wanted to "force upon Latin American countries the so-called all-American defense plan."

RIOTING MARS INDEPENDENCE DAY IN INDIA

Police Snipers On Housetops Fire On Clashing Throngs In Bombay

Bombay, Jan. 26 (AP)—Police fired into groups of rioters today as Bombay tensely celebrated India's Independence Day, but authorities said that the situation did not get out of hand and that casualties were relatively light.

An official announcement said that at least five persons were knifed, and acid throwers were active.

Most of the fighting was between Moslems and Hindus, but in at least one area members of the Scheduled caste (Untouchables) clashed with caste Hindus.

Police Snipers Man Rooftops

Police snipers manned rooftops in the temple area and were ordered to shoot on sight acid-throwers who had filled electric light bulbs with searing fluid and were tossing them over the housetops, presumably with slings.

Police noted with satisfaction that crosswinds prevented any kite flying in the temple area. Trouble frequently has been precipitated in the past by the appearance of a kite marked with Congress party or Moslem League colors over the territory of a rival community. Rival kites are flown with specially prepared strings onto which ground glass has been glued, and each person with a kite tries to cut the strings of rivals.

Extreme tension hindered commerce and neither Hindu nor Moslem truck or cart drivers dared to venture across the demarcation line separating the Hindu and Moslem communities.

Six "Pushed Out Of Jail"

Lahore, India, Jan. 26 (AP)—Seven Moslem League leaders, arrested Friday during a Punjab police raid on the Lahore office of the league's outlawed National Guard, were released tonight, but six of them had to be "pushed out of jail."

The release was ordered unconditionally with an apology from the Premier of the Punjab. They had been charged with obstructing the police.

Six of the Moslems ordered freed refused to leave prison until more than 100 other league members arrested for demonstrating against the banning of the Guard, and others arrested also were set free.

Sought Lifting Of Ban

"We did not want to come out of jail until the ban is lifted and everybody arrested is released," said Firoze Khan Noon, one of the six and a former member of the Viceroy's Council.

"We were pushed out of jail," he added.

The general secretary of the Punjab Moslem League, Mian Numtaz Daulatana, declared: "We will go on and on until the ban on the Moslem National Guard is lifted."

Released with the seven arrested in the original raid was the Begum Jamaluddin, a leader of the Women's Moslem League, who was taken into custody along with three students during a demonstration which followed the raid at the house of the Punjab League guard commander.

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 26 (AP)—Nine thousand workers, representing forty-eight labor organizations, declared at a mass meeting here today their intention of staging an immediate strike until Jan. 31 "in anticipation of the Burmese delegation's return from London, when further orders may be issued."

A resolution was passed stating that if no reply was received regarding Burma's demands for independence by Jan. 31, the workers would "go one step further in achieving their aims."

KIDNAPERS SEIZE BRITISH DIRECTOR OF PALESTINE BANK

Victim Is Carried into Catacombs of Ancient Jerusalem Cemetery

TROOPS CALLED OUT

Search Pressed for Businessman Held by Jewish Underground.

JERUSALEM, Jan. 26 — (AP) Four men and a woman, described by police as members of the Jewish underground, chloroformed a British businessman tonight and then disappeared with him into an ancient Moslem cemetery containing a maze of catacombs.

The dramatic abduction unloosed rumors that other kidnapings had occurred throughout Palestine, all of which were denied by police. One report, which police said after investigation they were "unable now to confirm," told of the seizing of a British army officer.

Director of Bank

The businessman who was abducted was identified as H. J. Collins, 48, a former British army major and now director of the Jewish-owned British bank in Palestine.

Police said that a girl present at the abduction told them that Collins "was struck with a long wooden handle on the right temple and then on the right wrist as he raised his arms to protect himself."

A search for him was promptly organized.

Six hundred British troops, carrying machine guns and lighting their way with parachute flares and tracer bullets, swiftly surrounded a half-mile-square area of the cemetery, situated in the very heart of Jerusalem. A British officer said, however, that "about all we can hope to find is a dead body."

British officials attributed the kidnaping to Irgun Zvai Leumi, and said it was in "retaliation" for the sentence pronounced on Dova Bela Groner, alleged Irgun member who is under sentence to die Tuesday for an attack on a Palestine police station.

Kidnapers Carried Guns

Police quoted eyewitnesses as saying that the five kidnapers, all carrying guns, seized Collins and a woman companion as the couple were leaving a house near the cemetery.

Collins was chloroformed and a sack tied over his head, the police said, and then carried into the graveyard. The woman was ordered to face the wall, and was not injured.

Troops and police immediately converged on the cemetery, which is within 100 yards of the U. S. consulate. Government archeologists helped troops explore the labyrinth of catacombs.

Collins, who had served both as an army officer and a civilian government employe, went home to England four months ago, and subsequently returned here as a director, of the Palestine British bank, which is owned and operated by British Jews.

Before the kidnaping, Isaac Ben Zvi, president of the Jewish National council, asked Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, Palestine high commissioner, to reconsider the death sentence imposed on Groner. A clemency petition also was submitted by Asher Levitzky, Jerusalem lawyer. Reliable informants said Friday that Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker, British commander-in-chief in Palestine, had confirmed the death sentence.

Collins, who had served both as an army officer and a civilian Government employé, went home to England four months ago, and subsequently returned here as a director of the Palestine British Bank, which is owned and operated by British Jews.

Father Of Three Children

He was described as a 6-footer, married and the father of three children.

Before the kidnapping, Isaac Ben Zvi, president of the Jewish National Council, asked General Sir Alan Cunningham, Palestine High Commissioner, to reconsider the death sentence imposed on Groner. A clemency petition also was submitted by Asher Levitzky, Jerusalem lawyer. Reliable informants said Friday that General Sir Evelyn Barker, British commander in chief in Palestine, had confirmed the death sentence.

Zvi made his plea in a letter to Cunningham before leaving for London to join other members of the Jewish Agency Executive. The Palestine conference will be resumed in London tomorrow, with Palestinian Arabs sitting at the deliberations for the first time.

Jews Won't Attend

The Jews will not attend, but will be in London to express any reaction to Holy Land proposals and to confer separately with the British.

Levitzky said his clemency appeal was in the name of Groner's sister, Mrs. Helen Friedmann, of Lancaster, Pa. A Tel Aviv attorney visited the condemned man yesterday and told him that he was entitled to appeal to King George for clemency.

Groner, a Hungarian, has no family other than his sister in the United States. It was stressed at his sentencing that he served for five years with the British Army during the war and had no police record.

The Jewish orthodox religious organization Agudath Israel also asked that Groner be reprieved.

French Chief In Indo-China Views Communism As Foe

Saigon, Jan. 25 [AP-Delayed]—Admiral Georges Thierry d'Argenlieu, French High Commissoner to Indo-China, said today the Viet Nam government of President Ho Chi Minh is Communist-inspired and that the conflict in Indo-China is another battleground between the western democracies and marxism.

In an interview, d'Argenlieu charged that President Ho is under the domination of his Minister of War, Nguyen Wan Giap; that the Viet Nam national assembly is not an elective body, and that the Viet Nam Government is patterned after the Soviet Union.

Reported Communist Trained

D'Argenlieu, who has been accused by the Viet Nam Nationalists of favoring restoration of prewar colonial status for Indo-China, said the Minister of War was trained by the Communists in China.

He said that apparently anti-French public opinion in the United States on Indo-China results from the natural American sympathy for the ideal of national independence. But, he added, the American public does not have full appreciation of what he described as the real Marxist influence in the Viet Nam Government.

He said it struck him as very strange to see the American press supporting communism in Indo-China, as he expressed it, when the American press was strongly opposing Communist influence in other areas of the world.

Blames Lack Of Common Policy

The Admiral asserted that he believed one very important factor in delaying a solution in Indo-China was the failure of the big power nations, and particularly the United States, to join in a common policy that nations controlling nonself-governing peoples "recognize the principle that the interests of inhabitants are paramount" and guarantee to develop self-government, taking due account of the aspirations of the people.

He said that in the early days of occidental relations with the Orient there was no trouble because the white nations were in full policy agreement whenever damage was caused to a white nation's interest. He cited the Boxer war as an example.

The Admiral said the occidental front broke for the first time when the white powers failed to exert their influence to prevent the Russo-Japanese war in 1905. Japan's pride in victory over Russia, a white power, accelerated Japanese ambition and growth in strength, he said.

Ambitions Intensified

At the present time, after a second world war which intensified nationalist ambitious among Asiatic peoples, d'Argenlieu declared he believed the most important means for orderly settlement of Asiatic difficulties would be full agreement among the great powers for an orderly settlement on a common policy of carrying out Chapter 11 of the United Nations Chapter.

Chapter 11, devoted to nonself-governing peoples, sets out a program for furthering their development toward achieving self-government.

Two Forces Clash Head-On

He commented that because of disagreement among the western nations communism was making advances in southwest Asia and added:

"The tragedy of the present is that two powerful forces in the world oppose each other head-on. On one side is the United States and all the nations following the United States in the belief that in the world spiritual values prevail.

"On the other side are the Soviet and associated powers, which have but one inspiration—historic materialism."

He said that Ho had spent many years in Russia, but that he was far more moderate than his Minister of War.

Awaits New Orders

He declined to comment on the possibility of future negotiations with Ho if he broke free from what he described as Giap's influence, saying he was awaiting directives of the new French Government. The Colonial Ministry denied last week that it planned to recall him.

He said the official French view was that the Viet Nam Government as constituted before the attack on Hanoi last month no longer legally exists because it abrogated all existing agreements by the attack.

D'Argenlieu said he knew of no figure who could replace Ho, but said it was not impossible that other leaders could arise.

Ex-Jap Prisoners Honor MacArthur

Manila, Jan. 26 (AP)—In the garish surroundings of a manila night club, more than 1,000 former prisoners of the Japanese gathered today to celebrate the sixty-seventh birthday of General MacArthur, whom they credit with liberating them from Fort Santiago nearly two years ago.

It was not an ordinary party. For one thing, MacArthur was not there; he was quietly observing his birthday in Tokyo as supreme commander of occupation forces.

For another, the silken-gowned women and immaculately-clad men who danced to the strains of a Samba band were in startling contrast with the haggard figures they cut in the notorious Japanese political prison.

Some French Present

The crowd was predominantly Filipino, but there were also Americans, French and Chinese.

There were many speakers. One, Gil Puyat, Manila business man, toasted the absent guest of honor with these words: "Your name and memory shall forever remain enshrined in the hearts and homes of this country."

Others rose with similar toasts. They included Gaston Wiltheuet, the French Minister; Alfonso Sycip, Chinese banker, and Sixto Antonio, Governor of Rizal Province.

Maj. Gen. George E. Moore, who was captured on Corregidor with General Wainwright, reminded the group that they, above all, had reason to remember the fate of ill-prepared nations. He urged that they promote national defense as the keystone of security for the new Philippines republic.

MacArthur's Message Read

F. Ben Brillantes, secretary of the association of more than 5,000 former political prisoners, read a message from MacArthur.

It said, in part: "The record of Fort Santiago under enemy control, as with other notorious concentration camps of both Europe and Asia, depicts in stark detail the depravity of which mankind is capable in modern war, where civilization's carefully devised controls upon human conduct are swept away before the mad thirst for dominion, conquest and power.

"In its story of horror, agony and despair, its courage, fortitude and determination, there is indelibly recorded both the depth of dishonor and the height of nobility.

"It is for us, the living, who have viewed these things, humbly to petition God to grant that this curse against humanity, called war, with its involvements of peoples, races, nations and continents, may never again be visited upon the earth."

Jap Doctor At Manila Prison Given 25 Years

Manila, Jan. 26 (AP)—Capt. Naraji Nogi, a doctor at Manila's Japanese occupation, was sentenced today to 25 years at hard labor by the War Crimes Commission.

The Japanese medical officer was convicted of charges of systematic starvation of American prisoners of war and failure to provide clothing and medical care.

Viet Nam Overture To French Reported

Manila, Jan. 26 (AP)—Ho Chi Minh, president of the Indo-China Viet Nam Government, broadcast a conciliatory message to the French today.

The broadcast from Indo-China, heard by the Associated Press in Manila, said, "We wish to proclaim once again the Viet Nam's unchanged position, which can be summed up in two main points: First, independence and national unity within the framework of the French Union; and second, fraternal collaboration with France on the basis of equality and respect of treaties freely entered into."

It said the present warfare "is due less to divergencies of real interests and aspirations of our two peoples than to ambiguities and misunderstandings which have been stirred up and kept alive by some circles," and expressed hope that "a clearcut definition will finally be made of the policy which the new France intends to pursue."

JAP DEFENSE MOTIONS FILED

Dismissal Of Charges Against Tojo And 25 Others Asked

Tokyo, Monday, Jan. 27 (AP)—Sir William Webb, Australian president of the International War Crimes Court, refused today to hear defense motions challenging General MacArthur's authority to set up the tribunal.

Webb called the motions "political harangues," and undesirable "in this place and under these circumstances."

Sharply, he instructed David F. Smith, defense attorney, who appeared for all 26 Japanese defendants, to proceed with individual motions on behalf of each. Although he allowed the defense to place its challenge of MacArthur's authority in the tribunal record, he flatly refused to hear it read in court.

Pearl Harbor Cited

In addition to disputing the authority under which MacArthur set up the court, the defense also contended that:

1. A conspiracy among the defendants to violate international law and treaties had not been proved.

2. The attack on Pearl Harbor was not pertinent to the trial because prosecution testimony showed the United States had intercepted messages of Japanese diplomats, thus received "adequate warning" and had placed affairs with Japan "in the hands of the Army and Navy" before a shot was fired.

3. The defendants — differing from those of the Nuernberg Nazi trial—had not seized power but were bona fide members of twelve Government cabinets from 1928 and acted only as duly appointed officials carrying out their duties.

4. Admission of hearsay evidence and affidavits prejudiced the rights of the defendants to a fair trial under international law and under the laws of all the countries participating.

MacArthur's Rights Challenged

In challenging the validity of MacArthur's creation of the eleven-member tribunal, the defense submitted written arguments to the effect that the United States Constitution reserved to Congress the right to enter into international agreements and that no such authority had ever been delegated to MacArthur by the Congress or by the legislative bodies of any of the other participating nations.

While stating that this was not a personal attack upon MacArthur, the motion said his appointment of the judges and prosecutors was "a naked and extra-legal exercise of executive authority," and that he had no right to "create international law" by issuing to the tribunal a charter which attempted to define and apply a criminal code retroactively."

Not First To Err In U.S.

"If the supreme commander has made a mistake in this instance, we can only say that he is not the first man in America who took action in good faith on the strength of erroneous legal advice," said the argument filed with the motions by the 23 American and Japanese defense attorneys.

The motions on behalf of all defendants took up, one by one, the prosecution evidence on each of the 55 counts in the indictment.

The first 36 counts, grouped as "crimes against peace," were alleged by the defense to be invalid on the ground that all treaties cited reserved to each signatory nation the right to determine what constitutes war in self-defense. It said that all signatories of the Kellogg-Briand treaty had demanded such a stipulation and that Japan had gone to war in self-defense because of "military encirclement" by the United States, Britain, China and the Netherlands.

2-Week Adjournment Ahead

The next sixteen counts, charging murder, were alleged to be invalid for the same reasons and also on the grounds that the prosecution had failed to show any direct connection of any defendant with an express order except in connection with his duties as a government official.

In regard to the conventional war crimes alleged in the last three counts, the defense contended the prosecution had failed to show that any of the defendants was personally responsible for acts of Japanese commanders in the field who had control over prisoners of war and internees.

After receiving the motions, the tribunal was scheduled to adjourn for two weeks to give the defense further time for preparing its case. The prosecution rested Friday.

Jap Communist Party Holds Dance

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Japanese Communist party, which recently announced it had decided dancing was not objectionable bourgeois practice after all, held a terpsichorean shindig last night and really got the joint to jumping.

The occasion was a welcome-home party for Tatsuko Nosaka, wife of the Japanese Communist leader, and Misako Iwata, daughter of an old-time Communist. Both women returned last week after almost two decades in Moscow.

Three hundred of the party faithful turned out and whirled to the tunes of the Tokyo Electric Union Workers' band.

Their dancing was lively, even though they had to skip around holes in the floor and keep an eye peeled for plaster sifting from the cracked ceiling of the party headquarters hall.

9 Newspaper Executives From U.S. Reach Tokyo

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP)—A touring party of nine American newspaper executives arrived today after an uneventful flight from Guam.

The group is scheduled to lunch with General MacArthur Monday before starting a study of occupation activities which will include a trip to southwestern Honshu and perhaps to northern Kyushu. The itinerary calls for departure for Korea February 12.

During a one-day stop in Guam the party visited installations and discussed the island's problems with Maj. Gen. Francis Griswold, commandant of the Marianas and Bonin Islands and of the 20th Air Force, and with Rear Admiral Charles Pownall, military governor of Guam.

En route to Tokyo, the plane circled over Tinian, Saipan and Iwo Jima.

Jap Battleship Haruna Assigned To New Task

Matsuyama, Japan, Jan. 26 (AP)—The 33-year-old battleship Haruna, erroneously reported sunk by United States Army Air Forces December 10, 1941, is going to end her days by doing some useful work at last.

The onetime proud flagship of the Emperor's fleet will be converted into a floating pier at Imabari, a small inland port 20 miles northeast of this Shikoku Island city.

The 29,330-ton Haruna, found tied up, battered but generally intact when Japan surrendered, will be stripped at Kure for her new tasks.

1,600 Students In Japan Stage Novel Strike

Nagoya, Japan, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sixteen hundred students of Chukyo Commercial School and Girls' School have started a new kind of strike, which they call "teaching control."

Demanding "democratization" of the school system, the students barred their teachers from the classrooms, but went on with their studies, conducted by upper-grade students.

The controversy started with the firing of two popular instructors. The students demanded that the principal retire instead, and also that he publish the school's financial standing and permit a general "democratization."

Chinese Troops Approach Wangtu

Peiping, Jan. 26 (AP)—Government troops pressed today toward Wangtu, 111 miles southwest of Peiping, in an attempt to regain it from the Communists, who took it January 21 after a two-day battle.

The Government forces were reported semi-officially to have reached Hsinlo, 30 miles southwest of Wangtu, in their drive northward along the Peiping-Hankow railway on which both towns are situated.

The Communists were massed at Chaihsitien, 6 miles northeast of Hsinlo, and Chinese papers predicted a good-sized battle would be joined there. The principal Communist force was said to consist of 5,000 cavalry.

Still Holding Tinghsien

Latest semi-official reports said the Government still was holding Tinghsien, 17 miles southwest of Wangtu and 17 miles northeast of Chaisitien, The town has been under Communist attack for two days, however, and Government sources acknowledged that communications with it had been broken.

From Manchuria there were conflicting reports of skirmishing at numerous points but most sources confirmed that the Government troops had thrust the raiding Communists back northward across the Sungari River about 65 miles northeast of Changchun, Manchurian capital.

China Denies Arming Islands

NANKING, Jan. 26 (AP).—High government officials here today termed "absolutely unfounded" reports in the press that China had strengthened its forces in the French-claimed Paracel Islands off the east coast of French Indo-China.

China Relief Gets 3 Planes

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26 (AP).—Three C-47 Army transport planes for Major-General Claire L. Chennault's new relief-carrying airline arrived in China today from the Philippines. The planes were acquired from United States Army surplus stocks. Sixteen other C-47 and C-46 transports are being purchased in the Philippines and the Hawaiian Islands to complete the fleet.

'Capitol Beat' in Nanking Quite Unlike Washington

By HAROLD K. MILKS
(AP News Feature Writer)

Foreign correspondents whose "beat" is Nanking, the Chinese capital, sometimes speculate on the probable reaction of their Washington colleagues if Congress were off limits to all reporters during its sessions;

If President Truman never held a press conference, had no spokesman, and only met the luckiest of correspondents briefly at a formal tea upon their arrival or departure from Washington;

If cabinet sessions were closely guarded, their news released only to the staunchest of pro-government newspapers;

If reporters were automatically barred from regular sessions of the nation's highest official bodies.

That's Nanking

That's the way things are in Nanking.

The Kuomintang (national party) policy of "government by secrecy," built up over the years since the revolution, made its first major concession to the free circulation of official news during the recent national assembly which adopted a constitution. Reporters of all nationalities were allowed to witness both the regular sessions, and the meetings of the presidium, as well as certain committee hearings.

This development has raised the hopes of some that the end may come eventually for a situation in which the greater portion of news in Nanking is obtained second-hand from sources attending official sessions. Such sources frequently take advantage of the policy of secrecy by giving only their side of the story.

Chinese officials agree that secrecy has only resulted in making the confused Chinese situation seem even more so.

Nowhere in the world are such phrases as "it is learned," "informed sources," and "usually reliable informant" so overworked as in Nanking, where a first-hand account of such a commonplace occurrence as the National Defense Council meeting is still unknown.

Secrecy Is Watchword

Secrecy is by no means limited to the government. It is equally the rule within the opposition and minority political groups.

All officials news usually is handled through the government's central New Agency, which as an official organization can send reporters to sessions of government bodies. These reporters do not report what happens, but issue "handouts" on what the officials desire to see published.

Foreign correspondents who are not content with this controlled information must seek out some participant who is willing to disregard the secrecy rule and discuss what went on. Then the correspondents must decide its accuracy for themselves.

Correspondents are hopeful that the coming constitutional government will let them witness the government in action as freely as is the case in Washington, but it hasn't happened yet.

RUSSIA, CANADA BLOCK ACTION ON JAP REPARATIONS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. — (AP) Russia and Canada are holding up an American plan to begin distribution of reparations from Japan, government officials reported today.

Neither country has conferred with State Department officials to help draw up a directive for Gen. Douglas MacArthur telling him how to divide the initial 15 to 20 per cent these informants said.

Other Nations Cooperate

Eight other nations, including China, France and Britain, are reported to have expressed their views to the State Department since last November when the American proposal was put forward.

In an effort to get around Russian opposition, the United States announced its intention then of instructing MacArthur on how to begin the task. Soviet representatives within the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission earlier had blocked inter-allied agreement by claiming they had no instructions from Moscow.

Irked by the delay, the American government now is considering going ahead without Canada's and Russia's views, officials indicated.

Several countries, among them China and the Philippines, are known to be highly displeased at the way the Japanese reparations settlement has dragged on without action.

These nations have urged speed to keep the Japanese plants and facilities earmarked for removal from rusting and becoming otherwise unfit for use.

American officials said they are unable to explain Canada's failure to reply. They expressed confidence, however, that Canadian representatives would soon offer to talk over the subject.

Russia's stand had been more or less anticipated. But American officials professed confidence that Soviet representatives still would join the discussions.

U. S., Russia In Wrangle

A behind-the-scenes wrangle between Russian and American officials over the definition of reparations was the main reason the Far East Commission was unable to act during one year of consideration.

Russia insisted that properties seized by Soviet forces be classified as "booty" and not reparations. The United States declined to yield on this point.

The American reparations commissioner, Edwin W. Pauley, has estimated Russian removals from Manchuria "incapacitated" two billion dollars worth of industry.

If these Soviet removals had been classified as "reparations," it presumably would have reduced the amount of reparations from the Japanese mainland that Russia could get.

World War I Allies Sought 'Fence' Around Russia, Documents Reveal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. — (AP) A decision of the World War I allies to try to erect a "barbed wire fence" around Russian Bolshevism was detailed tonight in a new volume of official minutes of the 1919 Paris Peace conference which the State department published.

The records show that a session of the International Council of Premiers at London, Premier Georges Clemenceau of France acknowledged that direct intervention had proved a costly failure and proposed the shift of policy.

Backed by Lloyd George

It was approved by Prime Minister David Lloyd George of Britain, Foreign Minister Scialoja for Italy, and informally by American Ambassador John W. Davis. Davis, however, was only an observer.

As summed up by Lord Curzon, the British Foreign secretary, Clemenceau's proposal was:

"1. A barbed wire fence, as it were, around Russia, within which the Allies should not interfere.

"2. To put an end to contributions of supplies and money for the purpose of upholding or re-establishing order in Russia.

"3. To build up Poland as a barrier against Russia and a check on Germany."

Clemenceau said the purpose, aside from preventing Russia from "creating trouble" outside the ring, or "cordon sanitaire," was to "stop Germany from entering into relations with Russia, whether of a political or military character."

Lloyd George, in expressing full agreement, said Britain already had spent about $500,000,000 in Russia, mainly in support of the anti-Soviet forces of General Denikin.

Secret Talks Revealed

The minutes of meetings from Nov. 6, 1919, into the following January were contained in the latest of a series of long-secret peace conference records to be released by the State department. Included were the official summaries of discussion by the council of the heads of delegations to the peace conference, and also of several sessions of the council of Premiers and the Council of Foreign Ministers.

After the departure of the American delegation headed by Undersecretary of State Frank L. Polk on Dec. 9, 1919, the United States was represented only by observers.

Aside from the postwar turmoil in Russia attending the rise of the new Bolshevist regime, the conference had to wind up World War I peace treaties, and cope with crises in the Adriatic, Baltic states and Hungary.

The shift in policy toward Russia came with defeat of the Allied-supported anti-Bolshevist forces under Deniken and Admirol Kolchak. In the debate the conference heard from Clemenceau that Winston Churchill, who was to become Britain's World War II leader, was "reputed to hold very strong views" on Russia, and regarded Poland as "the left wing of Denikin's army."

Churchill himself figured in a session at Paris the following Jan. 19 when the Allied leaders debated means to bolster Georgia and Azerbaijan as a southern anchor of the anti-Bolshevist cordon.

At a session on Dec. 2, the Allies undertook to fix Poland's eastern boundaries with Russia by means of an arbitrary frontier line which corresponded with the so-called Curzon line of the following year. The Poles, then at war with Russia, rejected both, and won larger territory at Russia's expense in the 1921 treaty of Riga.

DEMOCRATS SEEK 4 'FIGHTERS' FOR WAR PROBE BOARD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(AP) Senate Democratic leaders today sought four able, hard-hitting freshmen senators to protect party interests in the Republican-dominated War Investigating committee.

They saw evidence that Republicans expect to use the group as a major sounding board prior to the 1948 presidential race in sharp senate debate which preceded the 49 to 43 vote to continue the special committee.

4 Minority Members

Chairman Brewster (R-Me.) told a reporter the group can begin public hearings shortly after Democrats decide upon the four minority committeemen. Democratic chiefs now are sounding out new members for the job.

Both remaining Democratic members of the old Truman committee have told friends they do not wish to continue to serve under Brewster. They are former Chairman Kilgore (D-W.Va.) and Senator Connally (D-Tex.).

Frequently mentioned for one of the four Democratic vacancies is Senator McGrath (D-R.I.), a former governor, former solicitor general of the United States, and veteran investigator.

Other freshmen Democrats being considered are Senators Umstead (N.C.), Sparkman (Ala.), Holland (Fla.) and Robertson (Va.).

Republican members of the old committee are expected to retain their places on the new one. Besides Brewster, they are Senators Ferguson (Mich.), Ball (Minn.) and Knowland (Calif.).

The two Republican vacancies are expected to go to freshmen Senators Malone (Nev.) and McCarthy (Wis.). Malone once served as secretary to a special senate investigation. McCarthy resigned as a Wisconsin judge to serve in the Marines during the last war.

To Fight "Partisan Politics"

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.) already has put Brewster on notice that he and other Democrats will battle any attempts is use the committee for "partisan politics."

Brewster replied that investigations of "graft and corruption are thoroughly non-partisan."

Hatch had protested on the Senate floor that a magazine article by Brewster and a committee report issued through the Republican National committee were offered "as evidence that the Truman administration has failed."

Brewster agreed that both moves had a "political connation" but insisted that the "ugly head of politics" first rose within the committee when former Chairman Mead (D-N.Y.) used facilities of the group in his campaign for governor in New York.

CONGRESS AWAITS TRUMAN DECISION ON WAR POWERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(AP) President Truman may give Congress this week his recommendations on dropping some war powers and continuing others, an official disclosed today, with decontrol of molasses under consideration.

The recommendations will deal with authority contained in the Second War Powers Act, now due to expire March 31. Government controls over the inventories of goods which manufacturers and distributors may keep on hand is one power considered for abandonment.

Some White House advisers also are debating the elimination of controls on molasses on the ground that this would bring to market supplies they believe are being withheld. One official whose name may not be used said producers apparently have slowed down deliveries in the expectation that molasses allocation will be dropped and that price ceilings will be abandoned at the same time. Price controls would be retained, however, on rice and sugar.

Complaints Studied

Officials of several agencies met at the White House with John R. Steelman, assistant to the president, yesterday to weigh complaints from the syrup, cattlefeed and other industries that they are unable to buy the molasses supplies allocated to them.

Feed producers, along with the makers of syrup for soft drinks, flavorings and other uses, have notified the Agriculture Department that they favor price decontrol. If allowed to pay a higher price, they suggested, they might be able to obtain adequate supplies.

Objections have been filed, however, by producers of industrial alcohol. They fear the price would rise so high that it would become impossible to use molasses for alcohol.

The conflicting views were argued before Steelman by spokesmen for the Agriculture Department and the OPA and Civilian Production Administration units of the Office of Temporary Controls.

The government men were concerned also over possible international repercussions from decontrol of molasses.

Buys Now In Cuba

At present the Reconstruction Finance Corporation buys the entire output of Cuba, at a comparatively low price negotiated with the understanding that this country would retain price control on the product.

The United States actually gets only half the Cuban supply, however. The rest is picked up in Cuba by the British and others who purchase from RFC. If domestic ceilings were removed, Cuba might seek a higher price from RFC. And if this were granted, England and other countries might protest on the ground that they could have contracted independently with Cuba for Molasses, at a lower price, except for RFC's exclusive-purchase arrangement.

Despite these possible complications, the government official said, White House advisers are seriously considering decontrol in view of the demands of the industrial users of molasses.

TRUMAN ASKS U.S. TO GUARD SECURITY

'Fateful' Problems Face Us, He Says in Hailing Week Set by Reserve Officers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Truman said today that the country faced "fateful" security problems and urged all citizens to join in observing "National Security Week" Feb. 12-22.

The Reserve Officers Association of the United States is sponsoring the observance. It made public the President's letter, which follows:

"Long before this country was plunged into World War II, Reserve officers were working quietly, unselfishly, and often at their own expense to train themselves as the nation's modern minutemen.

"When called, they came prepared, forming the nucleus about which was built our greatest armed force, and in war furnishing the leadership for the great citizen Army and Navy, and their various components, which gave this nation victory, preserving our freedoms.

"The nation will never forget the patriotic service and the valor of her citizen leaders of the armed forces.

"While the great majority of the hundreds of thousands of Reserve officers have returned to their civilian pursuits, their earnest patriotism has not been dimmed. Again, without fanfare and with little recognition, they are working on their own time to keep their ranks filled, to maintain readiness for service, whatever their duties may be.

"As an organized group, the Reserve officers of this nation believe in a nation that is vigilant, strong and democratic, with a national policy based upon our traditions of freedom and favoring justice and fairness toward all peoples. It is fitting that emphasis is to be placed upon that theme in plans for observance of National Security Week from Feb. 12 to 22.

"Not only out of respect for their service, but because the questions to be discussed are fateful for all of us, every citizen is urged to join our Reserve officers in their observance. The entire nation will do well to give thoughtful and prayerful consideration to our people's security, not only from wars, but from pestilences and other enemies which would undermine national strength, health, character and happiness."

U.N.R.R.A. Job In Dodecanese Nearing an End

Islands Will Be First Area in Which Agency's Relief Efforts Are Terminated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP).—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration reported today that its mission to the Dodecanese Islands probably will be the first to complete its post-war relief task. The last supplies are to be distributed there "in a matter of weeks," officials told a reporter. Only $94,000 remains to be expended of a $3,600,000 program in the eastern Mediterranean islands which belonged to Italy during the war.

Missions in a dozen European countries are due to shut down by summer and all active operations will cease with the distribution of the last supplies in China, probably in the fall.

Jan. 1 was U. N. R. R. A.'s target date for winding up its affairs in Europe and March 30 for the Far East, but the overall job was only 78 per cent finished by the turn of the year, as a result of strikes and other delays. It was then only about half completed in China. The result has been to extend the clean-up operations to the end of 1947.

Total outlays for supplies and administration, thus far about $2,325,000,000, are expected to reach $3,695,000,000 with final liquidation.

Summing up U. N. R. R. A.'s operations with the end of its task in sight, officials said all the forty-eight member nations have contributed to administrative expenses and thirty-two to operating outlays. The $2,700,000,000 share of the United States is much the largest.

The value of remaining shipments includes: Yugoslavia, $56,244,000; Poland, $67,974,000; Byelo-Russia, $11,794,000; Ukraine, $29,424,000, and China, $269,119,000. Relief to Russia was limited to the Ukraine and Byelo-Russia.

Other U. N. R. R. A. beneficiaries include Albania, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Ethiopia, Finland, Hungary, Greece, Italy, Korea, the Philippines and San Marino.

TRAINED MEN CALLED 'MUST' BY PATTERSON

Secretary Of War Lists 3 Basic Army Needs In Address

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, today listed universal training, a volunteer regular army, and enough money for essential operations as basic requirements for an army "adequate to safeguard the nation."

He described the citizen training program as a "must."

"In the past there has been—or we have been able to take—time to train those men between the hour when the war cloud first loomed on the horizon and the hour when the storm hit us," Patterson said in an address before the twenty-first Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense.

"In the future there will be no time lag during which we can prepare. Our first inkling of actual hostilities may be bombs and guided missiles crashing into our cities. . . . Only trained men, disciplined to co-operative effort in an emergency, can meet the need of that hour.

Time To Train Is Now

"The time to train those men is now; the means, universal military training."

Patterson told the conference, composed of representatives of 29 women's patriotic organizations, that the other two basic requirements are a volunteer regular army, and "funds with which to operate at the minimum demanded by safety."

The War Secretary said that the Army's budget of $6,700,000,000 "has been cut to fit the minimum basic needs of the Army in carrying out the assignments given to us by the American people."

Legion Chairman Wanted

The conference asked the American Legion Auxiliary to furnish the chairman for the next conference. Mrs. David D. Good, Osceola Mills, Pa., was re-elected secretary, and Mrs. Frederick C. Williams, Washington, D.C., treasurer.

Earlier, Gen. George C. Kenney told the women that in a future war the United States would be the first target. He envisioned a trans-polar aerial assault by the enemy which might kill or maim 25,000,000 persons in the first 24 hours.

"We are No. 1 priority on the list of objectives which the next Hitler will hand to his boss gunmen," Kenney declared.

Quick Knockout

Kenney, commanding general of the Strategic Air Command at Andrews Field, Md., said the enemy above all would strive for a quick knockout.

"The attack will come over the shortest air routes from the European-Asiatic land mass, across the North Polar basin," he said.

"It will be made by both piloted and pilotless aircraft, by radio-controlled missiles, by rockets—all loaded with atomic bombs, superexplosives, superincendiaries, bacterial weapons or whatever means of mass destruction happens to be in vogue at the time. It may result in a casualty list of 25,000,000 men, women and children in the first 24 hours."

Not Exaggerating

"If you need a yardstick to show you that I am not exaggerating this nightmare," he continued, "remember that four atomic bombs of the old Hiroshima-Nagasaki type, properly placed, would knock New York city out of commission."

Kenney cited the fact that Poland lasted only seventeen days against Hitler's armies, Holland four days, Belgium eighteen days, Norway two weeks, and Denmark a few hours. This was "the price of inadequate preparedness," he said.

"Formerly it took days and a terrific effort to kill a few thousand people," he continued. "Now one airplane in a single attack can wipe out a city and kill a hundred thousand people."

Air Force Needed

A powerful defensive air force would be needed to intercept the enemy, he said, and break up the assault sufficiently "to prevent a repetition of attacks which eventually might bring us to our knees."

Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the 2d Task Fleet, told the conference a strong navy is needed to keep the sea lanes open in any future conflict involving the United States.

Also, he said, "the Navy can frequently in time of peace be sent over the international salt-water highways to a point near a troubled area. It can thus exert a strong stabilizing influence, without any nation being able to take just offense."

Emphatic support for Patterson's views on universal training and Kenney's on how any new war will start came meanwhile from the National Defense Committee of the American Legion.

The committee, concluding a four-day conference here, drafted a general security program with citizen training as the No. 1 item.

Another recommendation was congressional action to terminate the war-emergency period. Legion officials explained that a principal purpose was to end the wartime draft and get undivided attention for universal training.

Secrets' Protection Sought

The committee requested legislation for severe punishment of any person revealing secrets affecting national security, whether or not the revelation is made with the intention of harming this country.

With reference to the situation of civilians, Paul H. Griffith, national commander, said in a statement:

"The complacent attitude of an uninformed public is inviting disaster. Civilian defense and protection must be developed now to an infinitely higher degree than it was during the war. It will be the industrial centers of this nation which will be the first target of scientific, lightning attacks. An incredible amount of death and destruction would be left in the wake of such attacks on civilian areas."

Gen. Kenney Visions Huge Casualties of Next War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(AP) Gen. George C. Kenney declared today that in a future war the United States would be the first target and envisioned a trans-polar aerial assault by the enemy which might kill or maim 25,000,000 persons in the first 24 hours.

"We are number one priority on the list of objectives which the next Hitler will hand to his boss gunmen," Kenney said in an address before the 21st Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense.

Kenney, commanding general of the strategic air command at Andrews Field, Md., said the enemy above all would strive for a quick knockout.

"The attack will come over the shortest air routes from the European-Asiatic land mass, across the North Polar basin," he said.

U.S. Expected to Press Demand For 40-Yr. German Control Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(AP) Diplomatic authorities predicted today that Secretary of State Marshall will press for acceptance of a 40-year Big Four German control treaty at the Moscow Foreign Ministers Conference.

Talk of such an alliance against any revival of German military power has been renewed here in the last few days as a result of the Stalin-Bevin exchange over the alliance between Britain and Russia.

American informants say that if Soviet Prime Minister Stalin is seriously interested in gaining maximum guarantees against the chance of a new German aggression, the 40-year treaty proposal looks like his best deal.

First Proposed by Byrnes

The idea was first put forward by Former Secretary of State Byrnes more than a year ago. Stalin himself is understood to have approved it at one point, but Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov found objection to it and never allowed it serious consideration in any of the Big Four meetings.

3024-7563

As a result of arrangements finally made in the foreign ministers conference at New York in December, however, the treaty proposal was listed as item No. 4 on the program for the Moscow conference in March. It thus ranks almost equally in importance with projects for German and Austrian peace settlements and may, in fact, be considered as a part of the total German peace settlement.

While Marshall has not yet gone into the treaty plan, his experts and advisers feel certain he will press it as enthusiastically as Byrnes did.

The former secretary regarded it as one of the clearest proposals ever made to prove to the people of Europe that the United States is willing to undertake permanent responsibilities in maintaining peace there and, specially, in preventing a German military revival.

It offers the Russians, British and French a virtual alliance with the United States against Germany. Russia now has such alliances with Britain and France; the British and French are committed to seek an alliance between themselves.

Not Sure of Red Reaction

Diplomats here are by no means sure that this latter move pleases the Kremlin. They speculate that recent developments between London and Moscow may have been partly designed to offset it.

Two weeks ago the Soviet newspaper Pravda picked up a "no commitments" remark by British Foreign Minister Bevin at a political meeting in England and charged that it meant repudiation of the 20-year London-Moscow alliance, made in 1942.

Bevin, in a message to Stalin, reaffirmed his faith in the treaty and Stalin two days later accepted the assurances. But he added that if the alliance was to be extended into a 50-year treaty it would have to be revised and improved. American officials who have been informed of the exchange from the outset are still not certain what the Russian leader wants.

Honolulu To N.Y. Flight Is Planned

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP) — The Army Air Forces will try to fly a fighter plane over the 5,000-mile route from Honolulu to New York soon, aiming at a speed and endurance record and seeking data on long-range fighter-escort problems of bombing missions.

The A.A.F. announced today it had chosen for the experiment one of its "twin Mustangs," a P-82 twin-fuselage airplane powered by two 2,200 - horsepower engines and capable of top speeds up to 475 miles an hour.

An average speed of 300 miles an hour is hoped for to make the flight in sixteen hours. The course will take the airplane over the 2,600 miles of water from Hickam Field, Hawaii, to a point 17 miles south of Point Arena, Cal. Then along a Great Circle course over Reno, Nev.; Rock Springs, Wyo.; Detroit and Erie, Pa., to LaGuardia Field at New York.

Assigned as pilot is Lieut. Col. Robert E. Thacker and as copilot First Lieutenant John M. Ard, both of Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. The date for the flight has not been set.

In Honolulu the Air Forces said the projected nonstop flight would be made "soon" and that it would be at an altitude of 20,000 feet.

The plane is named Betty Jo after Thacker's wife.

DULLES OFFERS PLAN FOR RHINE BASIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—(AP) John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser on international affairs, proposed yesterday that the Rhine basin be placed under the control of an European authority "selected by and responsible to the peoples of western Europe."

Speaking at a luncheon of the Women's National Republican Club of New York, Dulles asserted that under such a plan "its (the Rhine's) day-by-day use would not be directed by men who serve only Germany, but by men whose loyalty would be to a more prosperous, more peaceful, and more unified Europe."

At the outset of his address, Dulles departed from his prepared text to say:

"Foreign diplomats suspect what we know, that two years from now a Republican will be in the White House," adding that consequently "foreign governments will not take very seriously" foreign policy proposals "which are backed only by the Democratic party."

Turkey To Be Surveyed For American Investors

New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Twentieth Century Fund announced today it will survey Turkey's resources and possibilities for American investment.

Other case studies will follow, the fund said, to determine how American financial resources and technical skills may be used to assist other countries to develop their own possibilities and attain higher living standards for their citizens.

Making the Turkish survey will be Max Weston Thornburg, oil engineer and business consultant, and Graham Spry, writer on economic and social subjects, who will recruit a local staff in Turkey.

LONDON, JAN. 26-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVES AT THE FOUR-POWER DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS' COUNCIL WILL TRY TO SPEED UP THIS WEEK THE DRAFTING OF RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATIES.

AMERICANS WILL PRESIDE OVER BOTH THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN SECTIONS AND THUS WILL BE IN A BETTER POSITION TO PROD COMMITTEES AND GET AT STILL UNRAISED PROBLEMS.

GEN. MARK CLARK, WHO WILL BE CHAIRMAN OF THE AUSTRIAN SECTION FOR A WEEK, APPEARED EAGER TO GET COMMITTEES TO WORK ON THE PROBLEMS PRESENTED BY MORE THAN 500,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN AUSTRIA, THE COUNTRY'S ASSETS AND THE MILITARY STRUCTURE IT WILL BE PERMITTED TO HAVE. AT PRESENT ONLY TWO COMMITTEES ARE FUNCTIONING, ONE STRUGGLING WITH THE PHRASEOLOGY OF THE PREAMBLE AND THE OTHER WITH DRAFTING A POLITICAL SECTION.

IN SOME RESPECTS THE TASKS OF THE AUSTRIAN SECTION ARE MORE URGENT. IT IS EXPECTED TO HAVE A TREATY ACTUALLY DRAFTED FOR SUBMISSION TO THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MIMISTERS AT MOSCOW IN MARCH. THE GERMAN SECTION IS EXPECTED ONLY TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS WHICH NEED NOT BE IN FINAL FORM.

ROBERT MURPHY, AMERICAN DEPUTY, AS CHAIRMAN OF THE GERMAN SECTION, WILL BE CONFRONTED IMMEDIATELY WITH THE PROTESTS OF SMALLER ALLIES THAT THEY ARE NOT BEING PERMITTED TO PARTICIPATE ADEQUATELY IN THE PEACE MAKING.

THE AMERICANS WERE SAID TO BE SYMPATHETIC TOWARD THE SMALL NATIONS' DESIRE TO BE HEARD MORE FULLY, BUT PROSPECTS OF OVERCOMING SOVIET OBJECTIONS APPEARED DIM.

LONDON, JAN. 26-(AP)-BRITISH AND ARAB OFFICIALS, IN AN ATOMOSPHERE OF PESSIMISM HEIGHTENED BY REPORTS OF RENEWED VIOLENCE IN PALESTINE, WILL MEET AROUND A CONFERENCE TABLE TOMORROW TO RESUME DISCUSSIONS ON THE HOLY LAND PROBLEM.

THE CONFERENCE WILL BOYCOTTED BY JEWS, WHO ALSO REFUSED TO ATTEND SIMILAR DISCUSSIONS THREE MONTHS AGO.

NEITHER BRITISH NOR ARAB SOURCES DISAGREED WITH COMMENT IN THE SUNDAY OBSERVER THAT "HOPES OF AN AGREED SETTLEMENT ARE NOW MORE REMOTE THAN WHEN THE TALKS BEGAN."

HOW THE PALESTINE ARABS, BITTERLY HOSTILE TO FURTHER JEWISH PENENTRATION, CAN POSSIBLY FIND COMMON GROUND WITH THE ZIONISTS, WHO WANT ALL OR AT LEAST A MAJOR PORTION OF THE COUNTRY, WAS THE OBVIOUS QUESTION. BRITAIN OFFERED NO ANSWER, BEYOND PROMISING

"FULL AND SERIOUS CONSIDERATION" TO ANY PARTITION PLAN WHICH MIGHT BE PUT FORWARD.

JERUSALEM DISPATCHES ON THE EVE OF THE CONFERENCE TOLD OF THE KIDNAPING OF A BRITISH BUSINESSMAN AND OF THE TIGHTENING OF SECURITY MEASURES BY APPROXIMATELY 100,000 BRITISH TROOPS IN THE HOLY LAND. THE DISPATCHES QUOTED PALESTINE AUTHORITIES AS ATTRIBUTING THE KIDNAPING TO THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND.

MEANWHILE, BRITISH-ARAB RELATIONS, AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN THE PALESTINE PROBLEM, WERE NOT IMPROVED BY THE BREAKDOWN OF NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE REVISION OF THE BRITISH-EGYPTIAN TREATY AND THE LIKELIHOOD THAT EGYPT, TO BRITAIN'S UNCONCEALED ANNOYANCE, WOULD SUBMIT THE SUDAN CASE TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

LEADING GOVERNMENT FIGURES FROM BOTH BRITAIN AND EGYPT HAVE FAILED TO REACH AN AGREEMENT ON THE FUTURE OF THE SUDAN, WHICH THE EGYPTIANS WANT TO BE PERMANENTLY UNDER THEIR CROWN. BRITAIN HAS INSISTED THAT THE SUDANESE MUST BE FREE ULTIMATELY TO CHOOSE INDEPENDENCE, IF THEY WISH.

LONDON, JAN. 26-(AP)-RELEASE OF ALL GERMAN PRISONERS OF WAR BY THE END OF 1947 AND BETTER TREATMENT OF THE GERMAN POPULATION WERE URGED ON THE OCCUPATION POWERS TODAY IN A REPORT RELEASED BY A DELEGATION OF BRITISH CHURCHMEN.

THE GROUP, HEADED BY THE BISHOP OF CHICHESTER, VISITED ROMAN CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT CHURCHES IN THE BRITISH OCCUPATION ZONE LAST OCTOBER.

IT REQUESTED THAT "AT LEAST THE MINIMUM RATION NEEDED FOR MERE SUBSISTENCE BE MADE AVAILABLE FOR THE GERMAN PEOPLE IN A SYSTEMATIC AND RELIABLE LONG TERM PLAN."

EMPHASIZING THE BITTERNESS CAUSED BY DE-NAZIFICATION METHODS, THE REPORT URGES THAT PERSONS CHARGED WITH CRIMES BE TRIED BUT THAT ALL OTHERS BE GRANTED AMNESTY.

IT CONCLUDED THAT THERE WAS A NEED FOR MORE EMPHASIS ON RE-EDUCATION, INCLUDING RELIGIOUS TRAINING.

LONDON, JAN. 26-(AP)-A SOVIET COMMENTATOR TODAY BLAMED "DELAYS AND DEFERMENTS" BY ANGLO-AMERICAN MILITARY AUTHORITIES FOR "KILLING" THE PLANNED ADVANCE OF DELIVERIES OF GERMAN INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT AGAINST RUSSIA'S REPARATIONS DEMAND OF $10,000,000,000.

UNTIL LAST AUGUST, D. LEMIN WROTE IN A LENGTHY ARTICLE IN THE SOVIET MAGAINZE NEW TIMES CRITICIZING ANGLO-AMERICAN METHODS, RUSSIA HAD RECEIVED ONLY 20 PER CENT OF REPARATIONS DELIVERIES FROM THE AMERICAN ZONE IN GERMANY, 4.5 PER CENT FROM THE BRITISH ZONE AND NOTHING FROM THE FRENCH ZONE.

"THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN AUTHORITIES RESORT TO VARIOUS AND DEVIOUS MEANS TO RETAIN EQUIPMENT IN THEIR ZONES," LEMIN WROTE.

FOR EXAMPLE, HE SAID; ALL EQUIPMENT IN 15 AIRCRAFT FACTORIES AND OTHER PLANTS ON THE AMERICAN ZONE REPARATIONS LIST HAD DISAPPEARED WHEN THE RUSSIANS CAME TO COLLECT IT.

LEMIN DECLARED THAT RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE ON REPARATIONS "IS AS CLEAR AS IT IS FAIR."

RUSSIA CLAIMS $10,000,000,000 REPARATIONS--LESS THAN 10 PER CENT OF THE TOTAL DAMAGE INFLICTED BY THE INVADING GERMANS, THE NEW TIMES WRITER SAID, AND "IN REDUCING ITS DEMAND TO THIS MINIMUM, THE SOVIET UNION HAD BEEN MINDFUL OF GERMANY'S PEACE ECONOMY AND MAINTAINING LIVING STANDARDS FOR HER POPULATION."

ALTHOUGH BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES CITE CONCERN OVER THE PLIGHT OF GERMANY TO JUSTIFY THEIR STAND ON REPARATIONS, "THEY ARE NOT SHOWING THE SLIGHTEST INTENTION OF RENOUNCING THEIR SHARE OF REPARATIONS IN FAVOR OF GERMANY," THE ARTICLE CONTINUED.

THE WESTERN POWERS "ARE ACTUALLY TAKING CARE OF THEIR OWN REPARATIONS AT THEIR OWN DISCRETION," IT SAID, LISTING ANGLO-AMERICAN HOLDINGS VALUED AT 8,000,000,000 TO 10,000,000,000 MARKS, GERMAN FOREIGN ASSETS, GERMANY'S GOLD RESERVE AND A LARGE PART OF HER MERCHANT FLEET, AND A "HUGE INCOME" FROM ACQUISITION OF 200,000 GERMAN SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICOLOGICAL PATENTS.

"IMPORTANT DECISIONS OF THE POTSDAM CONFERENCE ON REPARATIONS REMAIN UNFULFILLED," THE ARTICLE COMPLAINED.

BUT IN THE SOVIET ZONE, "WHERE ALL THE POTSDAM DECISIONS, INCLUDING THE DECISION OF REPARATIONS, ARE BEING FAITHFULLY CARRIED OUT AND WHERE THE DISMANTLING OF WAR PLANTS ALREADY HAS BEEN COMPLETED, THE OUTPUT OF PEACE INDUSTRIES HAS REACHED 70 PER CENT OF THE PRE-WAR LEVEL, AS COMPARED WITH 25 TO 30 PER CENT IN WESTERN GERMANY," IT SAID.

THE UNRRA SURVEY WAS HALTED TEMPORARILY BY THE ARMY AFTER THE REFUGEES PROTESTED THAT IT WAS "POLITICAL."

SAIGON,JAN.22-(DELAYED)-(AP)-JACQUES DAUPHIN, 32, CORRESPONDENT OF AGENCE FRANCAISE DE PRESSE AND WINNER OF THE CROIX DE GUERRE FOR HIS PART IN RESISTANCE OPERATIONS DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION OF INDOCHINA, WAS BROUGHT TO SAIGON FROM TOURANE UNDER ARREST YESTERDAY AND THREATENED WITH COURT MARTIAL FOR ALLEGED "VIOLATION OF MILITARY SECURITY."

DAUPHIN FILED FOUR NEWS STORIES FROM TOURANE, ALL OF THEM CLEARED FOR "MILITARY SECURITY" BY THE CHIEF OF STAFF FOR BRIG.GEN. BERGUND, THE LOCAL MILITARY COMMANDER.

BUT THE STORIES WERE ADJUDGED IN SAIGON TO VIOLATE SECURITY REGULATIONS AND HE WAS ARRESTED AND RETURNED HERE.

DAUPHIN, REPRESENTING THE SEMI-OFFICIAL FRENCH NEWS AGENCY, WAS THE ONLY CORRESPONDENT COVERING OPERATIONS IN THE TOURANE-HUE AREA, WHERE THE FRENCH SITUATION HAS REMAINED THE MOST DIFFICULT SINCE THE VIET NAM ATTACK IN HANOI ON DEC. 19.

HIS DISPATCHES DESCRIBED A SUCCESSFUL FRENCH ADVANCE THROUGH COLE DES HAUGES (CLOUD PASS), NORTH OF TOURANE, NORTHWARDS TOWARD HUE, A MAJOR FRENCH CENTER AND THE CAPITAL OF ANNAM, WHICH STILL IS SURROUNDED BY VIET NAMESE. HE SAID THAT FRENCH FORCES HAD PROGRESSED ABOUT 40 OF THE 107 KILOMETERS BETWEEN TOURANE AND HUE.

DAUPHIN'S ARREST AND RECALL FROM TOURANE CLIMAXED THE UNUSUAL RECORD OF FRENCH CENSORSHIP OF DISPATCHES FROM INDOCHINA SINCE THE DEC. 19 ATTACK.

IN AREAS OF ACTUAL MILITARY OPERATIONS, SUCH AS HANOI, CENSORSHIP WAS ADMITTED BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES AND THE CORRESPONDENTS KNEW THAT THEIR STORES WERE EXAMINED FOR SECURITY REASONS. BUT THE WRITERS HAD NO WAY OF KNOWING WHAT HAD BEEN DELETED FROM THEIR DISPATCHES OR EVEN IF THEY HAD BEEN TRANSMITTED.

AFTER A REPORT OF THIS SITUATION BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HAD BEEN CLEARED FOR TRANSMISSION, A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE FRENCH INFORMATION SERVICE WAS AUTHORIZED TO INFORM CORRESPONDENTS WHAT HAD BEEN DELETED FROM THEIR REPORTS AND TO TELL THEM WHICH DISPATCHES HAD BEEN CLEARED.

HOWEVER, SCRUTINY OF THE DISPATCHES CONTINUES BY THE SECRET POLICE, WHO REGARD ANY INFORMATION AS QUESTIONABLE AND, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THEIR DIRECTIVES, REFER STORIES TO HIGHER AUTHORITIES. IN SEVERAL INSTANCES THE AUTHORITY TO WHICH THEY HAVE BEEN REFERRED WAS THE HIGHEST, THE FRENCH HIGH COMMISSIONER, ADM.GEORGES THIERRY D'ARGENLIEU.

ALL THE EVIDENCE INDICATES FULL AND COMPLETE CENSORSHIP OF ALL PRESS DISPATCHES FROM SAIGON DESPITE THE PROCLAMATION BY FORMER PREMIER LEON BLUM THAT THERE WAS NO PRESS CENSORSHIP FROM INDOCHINA.

--DASH--

(ON JAN.24, TWO DAYS AFTER THE ABOVE DISPATCH WAS WRITTEN, ADMIRAL D'ARGENLIEU ANNOUNCED IN SAIGON THAT CENSORSHIP WAS BEING ESTABLISHED BY THE FRENCH AUTHORITIES THROUGHOUT INDOCHINA AND THAT A CENSORSHIP COMMISSION WAS TO BE ORGANIZED BY THE COMMANDER OF FRENCH TROOPS IN THE FAR EAST. PREVIOUSLY, FRENCH AUTHORITIES HAD ACKNOWLEDGED CENSORSHIP ONLY IN HANOI, AND THERE ONLY SINCE JAN.13. THE ABOVE DISPATCH WAS SENT BY HAND FROM SAIGON TO SINGAPORE AND CABLED FROM THERE.)

HE SAID THE OFFICIAL FRENCH VIEW WAS THAT THE VIET-NAMESE GOVERNMENT AS CONSTITUTED BEFORE THE ATTACK ON HANOI LAST MONTH NO LONGER LEGALLY EXISTS BECAUSE IT ABROGATED ALL EXISTING AGREEMENTS BY THE ATTACK.

D'ARGENLIEU SAID HE KNEW OF NO FIGURE WHO COULD REPLACE HO, BUT SAID IT WAS NOT IMPOSSIBLE THAT OTHER LEADERS COULD ARISE.

PEIPING, JAN. 26-(AP)-THE OFFICIAL CHINESE COMMUNIST NEW CHINA NEWS AGENCY TODAY ASSAILED THE AMERICAN BRANCH OF THE EXECUTIVE TRUCE HEADQUARTERS FOR HAVING SUSPENDED AMERICAN PLANE SERVICE BETWEEN CHANGCHUN AND HARBIN.

THE AMERICANS FORMERLY OPERATED A WEEKLY COURIER PLANE IN MANCHURIA BETWEEN GOVERNMENT-HELD CHANGCHUN AND COMMUNIST-HELD HARBIN BUT STOPPED IT DEC. 23 WHEN THE AMERICAN LIAISON GROUP LEFT HARBIN BECAUSE OF THE COMMUNISTS' HOSTILE ATTITUDE.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE UNDER WAY FOR THE LIAISON GROUPS RETURN TO HARBIN, BUT THE COMMUNISTS HAVE NOT YET GIVEN PERMISSION.

NONE OF THIS WAS MENTIONED BY THE COMMUNIST AGENCY, WHICH CHARGED THAT SUSPENSION OF THE PLANE SERVICE WAS "AN UNJUSTIFIABLE DECISION" LINKED WITH RECENT CHINESE GOVERNMENT ATTEMPTS "TO FORCE THE COMMUNIST MEMBERS TO WITHDRAW FROM EXECUTIVE HEADQUARTERS AND THEREBY ESCAPE RESPONSIBILITY FOR FAILURE OF PEACE MEDIATION."

THE COMMUNIST AGENCY SAID THE COMMUNIST MEMBERS OF THE TRUCE BRANCH HEADQUARTERS IN CHANGCHUN HAS MAINTAINED CONTACT WITH "RED JOINT DEMOCRATIC ARMY HEADQUARTERS" IN HARBIN AND OBTAINED STAFF FUNDS VIA THE AMERICAN PLANE SERVICE.

NOW, IT WENT ON, THE MEMBERS HAVE BEEN UNDER SURVEILLANCE BY GOVERNMENT GUARDS SINCE JAN. 16 AND ARE "WORRIED ABOUT THEIR SECURITY."

IT ADDED THAT THE GOVERNMENT REFUSED TO LET A COMMUNIST REPRESENTATIVE GO FROM PEIPING TO CHECK UP ON THE CHANGCHUN SITUATION BECAUSE IT "COULD NOT GUARANTEE THAT GOVERNMENT TROOPS STATIONED AT CHANGCHUN AIRPORT WOULD NOT SHOOT HIM."

THE AMERICAN COURIER PLANE FROM CHANGCHUN TO PEIPING BROUGHT OUT SOME COMMUNIST PERSONNEL LAST WEEK. BOTH THE AMERICANS AND THE COMMUNISTS WERE DETAINED TWO HOURS AT THE PEIPING AIRFIELD WHILE GOVERNMENT GUARDS SEARCHED THE ~~COMMUNISTS'~~ BAGGAGE.

OTHER RUSSIAN NEWSPAPERS AND COMMENTATORS BLAMED THE UNITED STATES FOR THE GOVERNMENTAL CRISIS IN ITALY AND ASSERTED THAT THE AMERICANS HAD A MILITARY INTEREST IN NEAR AND MIDDLE EAST OIL DEVELOPMENTS.

SEVERAL COMMENTATORS SAID THAT THE RESIGNATION OF ALCIDE DE GASPERI AS ITALIAN PREMIER, SHORTLY AFTER HIS VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES, WAS BROUGHT ABOUT BY AMERICAN PRESSURE AND THE PROMISE OF ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE TO ITALY IF HE COMPLIED.

THE GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER IZVESTIA, SUMMING UP THE SOVIET ATTITUDE, SAID, "THE GOVERNMENT CRISIS CONTINUES IN ITALY. HOW IT WILL BE SETTLED IS STILL UNKNOWN. BUT NO REAL SOLUTION CAN BE REACHED BY IGNORING THE WILL OF THE DEMOCRATIC MASSES."

IN A LENGTHY SURVEY OF BRITISH AND AMERICAN PETROLEUM POLICIES, IZVESTIA SAID A PROPOSED NEW PETROLEUM PIPELINE FROM THE PERSIAN GULF TO THE EASTERN SHORES OF THE MEDITERRANEAN AND U.S. OIL CONCESSIONS IN ARABIA MIGHT BE DESCRIBED AS "SUBSIDIARY ENTERPRISES FOR THE AMERICAN WORLD SYSTEM OF BASES."

(vandenberg in Pravda made no comment.)

(REACHED FOR COMMENT IN NEW YORK, DULLES POINTED OUT THAT HIS PROPOSAL FOR ECONOMIC UNIFICATION OF EUROPE ORIGINALLY WAS MADE BY HIM ON SEPT. 18, 1941 WHILE SERVING AS CHAIRMAN OF THE FEDERATED COUNCIL OF CHURCHES' COMMISSION ON A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE. (CAPS)

(THE REPUBLICAN LEADER ALSO QUOTED BRITISH PRIME MINISTER CLEMENT R. ATTLEE AS HAVING SAID RECENTLY THAT "EUROPE MUST FEDERATE OR PERISH."

(DULLES ADDED THAT HIS PROPOSAL FOR A LINKING OF GERMANY'S ECONOMY WITH ITS EUROPEAN NEIGHBORS "THUS HAS AN ORIGIN WHOLLY UNRELATED TO THE PRESENT POSITION OF THE SOVIET UNION IN EUROPE OR MR.CHURCHILL'S PRESENT ADVOCACY OF A UNITED STATES OF EUROPE.")

(MEANWHILE, "THE WITNESS," NATIONAL WEEKLY PUBLICATION OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH, PUBLISHED IN NEW YORK, SAID IN AN EDITORIAL IN ITS CURRENT ISSUE THAT DULLES "SHOULD BE ASKED TO RESIGN AS CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMISSION OF A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE X X X AND FROM HIS POSITIONS OF LEADERSHIP IN THE WORLD COUNCIL OF CHURCHES."

(REFERRING TO THE DULLES PROPOSAL FOR EUROPE, THE EDITORIAL SAID:

"IT IS CERTAINLY CONTRARY TO THE FINDINGS OF ALL OUR CHURCH CONFERENCES ON ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, WHICH ASK FOR THE DEMOCRATIZATION OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL LIFE OF THE PEOPLE. WE CAN NEVER GAIN ANY MORAL INFLUENCE FROM A PLAN WHICH WILL APPEAR TO MOST PEOPLE IN EUROPE, AS WELL AS TO MILLIONS ELSEWHERE, AS A PLAN FOR CONTROL OF THE INDUSTRIAL AND WAR POTENTIAL OF GERMANY BY AMERICAN-BRITISH CAPITAL; TO BE USED IMMEDIATELY AS AN ECONOMIC WEAPON AGAINST THE DEMOCRATIZATION OF LIFE IN EUROPE; AND TO BE HELD AS A THREAT AGAINST THE FUTURE SECURITY OF THE SOVIET UNION.")

WITH TASK FORCE, FRIGID, FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, JAN.26-(AP)-A COUPLE OF US HAD AN UNEXPECTED HIKE IN THE WOODS LAST NIGHT WHEN THE MERCURY WAS IN THE MINUS FIFTIES.

ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT AND I TOOK A TRIP IN A WEASEL OVER TO THE KENNELS SEVERAL MILES FROM LADD FIELD TO SEE HOW THE SLED DOGS WERE TAKING THE COLD SPELL. ON THE WAY BACK THE WEASEL'S TRACK UNCOUPLED WHEN WE WERE MIDWAY ACROSS THE DEEPLY FROZEN TANANA RIVER.

OUR ESCORT, THE LAND RESCUE OFFICER OF LADD FIELD, SAID WE'D FREEZE IF WE WAITED FOR HELP. SO OFF WE TRUDGED. THERE WAS NOTHING BUT FROZEN WILDS IN SIGHT, AND WED DI,'T KNOW JUST HOW FAR WE WERE FROM THE BASE.

OUR MOOD WAS SUCH THAT NO EXTRA PROPS WERE REQUIRED TO PROVIDE LOCAL COLOR. ACTUALLY WE DID HEAR THE HOWL OF A WOLF, AND FOR A FEW MINUTES A SLIVER OF CRESCENT MOON SPARKLED THROUGH THE ROLLING MASSES OF ICE HAZE.

WE REACHED CAMP IN LESS THAN AN HOUR, NO WORSE FOR THE WEAR BUT THOROUGHLY REFRIGERATED.

THE INCIDENT INTERESTED ME IN THE PROBLEMS OF THE MOTORIST UP HERE UNDER THE ARCTIC CIRCLE, SO I TALKED TO MAJ.MYRON T.JOHNSTON, OF MARFA, TEXAS. THE MAJOR, WHO IS 28, IS SENIOR OFFICER OF THE SECTION TESTING THE EFFECT OF FRIGID CLIMATE ON AUTOMOTIVE EQUIPMENT.

HE NEVER RIDES ANYWHERE, HE SAID, WITHOUT FULL ARCTIC CLOTHING AND SOME RATIONS. IF HE DRIVES MORE THAN A DAY'S HIKE FROM BASE, ABOUT FIFTEEN MILES, HE TAKES HIS BEDROLL.

WHENEVER YOU PARK YOUR CAR, YOU HAVE TO LEAVE THE MOTOR RUNNING. MOST PEOPLE WHO LIVE HERE KEEP THEIR CARS IN GARAGES, BUT SINCE THE TASK FORCE IS SIMULATING COMBAT CONDITIONS THE ARMY MEN PARK MOST VEHICLES OUTSIDE. EMERGENCY EQUIPMENT, LIKE THE FIRE ENGINES AND AMBULANCES, ARE KEPT RUNNING CONTINUOUSLY.

AFTER A CAR HAS BEEN PARKED WITH THE MOTOR OFF FOR A FEW HOURS, IT HAS TO BE WARMED WITH HOT AIR BLASTS FOR A HALF HOUR OR MORE BEFORE IT CAN BE STARTED. THE GEAR GREASE AND LUBRICANTS FREEZE. THE WHEEL BEARINGS, TRANSMISSION AND DIFFERENTIAL ARE LOCKED STIFF IN ICE. IF YOU TRY TO START IT BY TOWING, THE WHEELS JUST SLIDE OVER THE ICE WITHOUT TURNING.

A178 (CORRECT)

TIRES BECOME SO STIFF WITH THE COLD THAT THEY DEVELOP A FLAT SIDE WHEN PARKED. THIS MAKES RIDING BUMPY FOR A FEW MINUTES UNTIL IT SOFTENS UP AND GETS ROUND AGAIN. LAST NIGHT ONE OFFICER HAD HIS TIRES DEVELOP TWO FLAT SIDES WHEN HE PARKED TWICE WITHIN A COUPLE OF HOURS. HE SAYS THE MOTION OF THE WHEELS WAS CURIOUS, INDEED.

A BLOWOUT IS NOT AN IMMEDIATE PROBLEM. A HEAVY DUTY MILITARY TIRE IS SO STIFF WHEN FRIGID THAT IT WILL SUPPORT THE VEHICLE WITHOUT AIR PRESSURE FOR A MILE OR TWO.

ANTI-FREEZE PROTECTS THE WATER SYSTEM DOWN TO MINUS SIXTY-SIX. BUT YOU HAVE TO MIX IT WITH WATER WHILE AT CAMP, BECAUSE PURE, UNMIXED ANTI-FREEZE WILL CONGEAL AT MINUS TWENTY FREEZE UNTIL YOU CAN'T POUR OR MIX IT.

A BIG RESEARCH PROBLEM IS FINDING AN ARCTIC LUBRICANT. STANDARD LUBRICANTS CAN BE DILUTED WITH GASOLINE, KEROSENE, OR DIESEL OIL SO THAT THEY WON'T FREEZE, BUT THEN THEY ARE TOO THIN TO BE GOOD LUBRICANTS.

"IF YOU DUMP A CAN OF ORDINARY OIL IN THE SNOW,"S SAID MAJOR JOHNSTON, "IT WILL GET HARD AS A ROCK IN LESS THAN AN HOUR."

OTTAWA, JAN. 26-(AP)-CANADA WILL ASK FOR A SERIES OF NEW AIR TRANSPORT ROUTES INTO AND THROUGH THE UNITED STATES AT AN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE OPENING HERE TOMORROW BETWEEN THE TOP CIVIL AVIATION OFFICIALS OF THE TWO COUNTRIES.

THE RIGHT OF COMMERCIAL AIRLINES TO TAKE ON AND PUT OFF PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT ALONG ROUTES THROUGH CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES TO MORE DISTANT POINTS -- THE SO-CALLED "FIFTH FREEDOM" OF INTERNATIONAL CIVIL AVIATION -- IS EXPECTED TO BE A PRINCIPAL POINT OF DISCUSSION.

CANADA'S AIR PLANS ARE EXPANDING. THE DOMINION ASKED FOR PERMISSION TO OPERATE ONLY ONE ROUTE INTO THE UNITED STATES WHEN AN AGREEMENT WAS NEGOTIATED IN 1938. WHEN THE LAST AGREEMENT WAS MADE, IN 1945, CANADA OBTAINED SIX NEW TRANS-BORDER ROUTES, AND THE UNITED STATES FOUR.

NOW, IT IS LEARNED, CANADA WOULD LIKE TO OPERATE INTO POINTS DEEP INTO THE UNITED STATES AND ALSO HAVE "FIFTH FREEDOM" RIGHTS ON INTERNATIONAL LINES WHICH WOULD RUN THROUGH THE UNITED STATES.

ONE OF THE CHIEF PROBLEMS, FROM THE AMERICAN POINT OF VIEW, IS WHAT CANADA WOULD HAVE TO OFFER IN RETURN FOR SUCH RIGHTS. THE NUMBER OF AMERICAN PASSENGERS USING LINES BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES IS GREATER THAN THE NUMBER OF CANADIANS, AND WHEN "ORIGIN OF TRAFFIC" IS RECKONED ON THIS BASIS THE UNITED STATES HAS MORE TO OFFER THAN IT CAN RECEIVE IN RETURN.

AS THE CANADIANS RECKON IT, HOWEVER, THE BARGAINING POSITIONS ARE MORE NEARLY EQUAL. THEY BASE THE ORIGIN OF TRAFFIC SIMPLY ON WHERE THE PASSENGER BOARDS THE PLANE, REGARDLESS OF HIS NATIONALITY AND THE SOURCE OF THE MONEY HE IS SPENDING.

THE UNITED STATES WOULD LIKE "FIFTH FREEDOM" RIGHTS IN CANADA IN CONNECTION WITH A ROUTE FROM CHICAGO NORTHWEST TO THE ORIENT THROUGH CANADA AND ALASKA, STOPPING ENROUTE AT EDMONTON OR WHITEHORSE OR BOTH.

THE TRAFFIC ORIGINATING AT THESE POINTS IS NOT EXPECTED TO BE LARGE COMPARED TO WHAT CANADA WOULD PICK UP IN AMERICAN CITIES ON ROUTES FROM CANADA THROUGH THE UNITED STATES TO FOREIGN POINTS.

THE CANADIANS NOW HAVE "FIFTH FREEDOM" RIGHTS ON A LINE FROM VANCOUVER THROUGH HAWAII TO AUSTRALASIA.

B12 (Q) (CP AGENCIES & RUTERS OUT)

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT HAS A VIRTUAL MONOPOLY OF CIVIL AVIATION IN CANADA. TRANS-CANADA AIRLINES, OWNED BY THE GOVERNMENT, OPERATES ALL MAIN LINES IN THE DOMINION AND RUNS CANADA'S ONLY FOREIGN LINES. PRIVATE COMPANIES ARE GRANTED ONLY FEEDER PRIVILEGES.

THE CANADIANS NOW OPERATE LINES FROM TORONTO TO NEW YORK, TORONTO TO CHICAGO, TORONTO TO CLEVELAND, VICTORIA TO SEATTLE, PORT ARTHUR TO DULUTH, WHITEHORSE TO FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, AND HALIFAX TO BOSTON.

UNITED STATES LINES OPERATE ON THESE ROUTES: FAIRBANKS-WHITEHORSE, SEATTLE-WHITEHORSE, SEATTLE-VANCOUVER, GREAT FALLS (MONT.)-LETHBRIDGE, (ALBERTA), FARGO (N.D.)-WINNIPEG, BUFFALO-TORONTO, NEW YORK-MONTREAL, WASHINGTON-MONTREAL, OTTAWA-NEW YORK, OTTAWA-WASHINGTON, BOSTON-MONTREAL AND BOSTON-MONCTON (NEW BRUNSWICK).

3024-7569

THE UNITED STATES ALSO HAS THE RIGHT TO OPERATE BETWEEN QUEBEC CITY AND NEW YORK OR BOSTON, BUT AT PRESENT NO LINE IS USING THIS ROUTE.

HEADING THE U.S. DELEGATION AT THE CONFERENCE OPENING TOMORROW WILL BE JAMES M.LANDIS, CHAIRMAN OF THE CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD. OTHER NEGOTIATORS FOR THE AMERICANS WILL BE OSWALD RYAN, VICE CHAIRMAN OF THE C.A.B. U.S. AMBASSADOR RAY ATHERTON AND GEORGE ROPER, CIVIL AVIATION ATTACHE AT THE U.S. EMBASSY IN OTTAWA.

THE CANADIANS ARE TO BE REPRESENTED BY C.D.HOWE, MINISTER OF RECONSTRUCTION, HERBERT J.SYMINGTON, PRESIDENT OF THE TRANS-CANADA AIR LINES, R.A.C.HENRY, CHAIRMAN OF THE AIR TRANSPORT BOARD.

SAN FRANCISCO,JAN.26-(AP)-CHINESE CONSUL GENERAL T.K.CHANG SAID TODAY HIS GOVERNMENT WAS "VERY EXERCISED" ABOUT THE U.S. IMMIGRATION SERVICE'S TREATMENT OF ITS NATIONALS ENTERING THIS COUNTRY AND CITED THE DETENTION OF A PROMINENT SCIENTIST AS RUBBING SALT INTO THE WOUNDS.

DR.SHEN WU-WAN, WHO ARRIVED HERE AS A CHEMISTRY RESEARCH FELLOW UNDER U.S. NAVY CONTRACT WITH YALE UNIVERSITY, WAS HELD FOR FOUR DAYS, SAID THE CONSUL.

DR.SHEN AND HIS WIFE WERE RELEASED BY IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS LAST WEEK AND PLANNED TO LEAVE TODAY FOR NEW HAVEN, CONN. THE SCIENTIST, WHO RECEIVED HIS DOCTOR'S DEGREE FROM YALE IN 1932, WAS QUOTED AS SAYING, "WE WERE TREATED LIKE PRISONERS."

CHANG SAID HE RECEIVED A CABLE FROM HIS GOVERNMENT IN NANKING YESTERDAY PROTESTING THE TREATMENT OF SHEN AND THE DAUGHTERS OF TWO PROMINENT CHINESE ENTERING THIS PORT WITH VISITORS' VISAS LAST WEEK.

LIN YU HUA, 15, DAUGHTER OF DR.LIN YUTANG, NOTED CHINESE NOVELIST AND PHILOSOPHER, AND MRS.ROSE KINGMAN, 34, DAUGHTER OF DR.FRANK W. LEE, CHINESE DIPLOMAT, WERE HELD ABOARD SHIP TWO DAYS AND WERE RELEASED AFTER CHANG POSTED $500 BONDS FOR EACH. MRS.KINGMAN LEFT YESTERDAY BY TRAIN TO VISIT HER FATHER IN NEW YORK, AND MISS LIN PLANS TO GO TO NEW YORK SHORTLY.

J.S.HERTOG, IMMIGRATION INSPECTOR IN CHARGE OF HOLDING OR CLEARING INCOMING PERSONS ABOARD SHIPS, SAID A QUESTION AROSE AS TO THE VALIDITY OF DR.SHEN'S VISITOR'S VISA.

IT SHOWED THE NAVY CONTRACT WAS "RENEWABLE FOR YEARS" WITHOUT ANY SPECIFIED DATE, THE INSPECTOR SAID, AND HAD TO BE HELD UP PENDING A TELEGRAM FROM YALE CONFIRMING THE SCIENTIST'S OCCUPATIONAL STATUS.

A.J.PHELAN, IMMIGRATION DISTRICT OPERATIONS OFFICER, ATTRIBUTED DELAYS TO AN ABNORMALLY LARGE INFLUX OF FOREIGN VISITORS AND SAID MANY HAD IMPROPER CREDENTIALS.

FIRST LEAD POLISH-AMERICAN (230)

NEW YORK, JAN 26-(AP)-NEW YORK POLISH-AMERICANS TODAY CALLED UPON PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL TO MAKE "STRONGEST REPRESENTATIONS" TO RUSSIA FOR THE REMOVAL OF RED TROOPS FROM POLAND AND THE HOLDING OF A NEW ELECTION IN THAT COUNTRY UNDER SUPERVISION OF A JOINT ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION.

THE ACTION WAS URGED IN A RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE DOWNSTATE NEW YORK DIVISION OF THE POLISH-AMERICAN CONGRESS. THE RESOLUTION ALSO DEMANDED THAT RUSSIA RESTORE TO POLAND THE LAND EAST OF THE CURZON LINE AS FAR AS THE PRE-WAR RUSSIAN-POLISH FRONTIER AND THAT THE SOVIETS RECALL "HER SECRET POLICE AND HER 'PUPPETS'" FROM THE COUNTRY.

THE POLISH GROUP SAID THAT "THE SAME TERROR AND OPPRESSION EXIST IN YUGOSLAVIA, LATVIA, ESTHONIA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, LITHUANIA, BULGARIA AND RUMANIA" AND IT ASKED THAT THE IDENTICAL DEMANDS BE MADE IN BEHALF OF THOSE COUNTRIES.

EARLIER,/ 5£3 $8;8'89, £3-4$

EARLIER,/ THE DIVISION HEARD A MESSAGE FROM GOV.THOMAS E. DEWEY OF NEW YORK IN WHICH HE, TOO, CRITICIZED THE RECENT ELECTION.

THE MESSAGE, READ TO THE 3,500 MEMBERS PRESENT, SAID:

"WE CANNOT ACCEPT THE RESULT OF THE POLLING ON JANUARY 19 AS GIVING THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT OF POLAND A MANDATE OR EXPRESSING IN ANY SENSE THE SPIRIT OF THE ATLANTIC CHARTER."

THE GOVERNOR ADDED THAT PLEDGES MADE AT YALTA TO PERMIT THE POLISH PEOPLE TO DETERMINE THEIR OWN FORM OF GOVERNMENT "IN A FREE ELECTION WERE CYNICALLY REPUDIATED."

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE WAS READ AFTER AN ADDRESS BY GEORGE H. EARLE, IN WHICH THE FORMER GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA AND FORMER U.S. MINISTER TO AUSTRIA AND BULGARIA ATTACKED RUSSIAN POLICIES, AND ASSERTED THAT THE RECENT POLISH ELECTIONS WAS "ONE OF THE GREATEST TRAVESTIES ON JUSTICE IN THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD."

ANOTHER SPEAKER, REP. ALVIN E. O'KONSKI (R-WIS), CRITICIZED AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD POLISH NATIONALS IN DISPLACED PERSONS CAMPS, AND DEMANDED THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT, WHICH HE SAID WAS HIDING THE FACTS OF THAT SITUATION, "BE FUMIGATED FROM TOP TO BOTTOM, AND YOU WILL HAVE TO USE A LOT OF DDT FOR THAT PURPOSE."

Russ Ignore U.S. Reich Plan And Advance Own

London, Jan. 27 (AP) — Russia turned a diplomatic cold shoulder today on an informal American suggestion that the Allies impose an unconventional "peace statute" on Germany, foregoing a formal treaty.

Ignoring the suggestion, a Soviet memorandum to the western members of the four-power Deputy Foreign Ministers Conference proposed instead that the major powers draft a formal treaty, sponsor a peace conference to approve it, and then submit it for ratification by the "German state."

Under the Soviet plan, the Council of Foreign Ministers would write the final treaty text after hearing suggestions at an international conference of active belligerents.

Further Provisions

The plan would be submitted to Allied nations who declared war but did not put forces in the field. Then it would go to the German state.

The Soviet note said a peace conference should be called only "when a central government is established which is recognized as suitable to accept" a treaty.

American sources said a clarification of the memorandum would be sought.

Poland and Greece, appearing before the deputies' German and Austrian sections, made their appeals today for reparations and peace guarantees.

Polish Losses Estimated

Poland estimated her material losses alone at $11,700,000,000, or 38 per cent of the "substance of our material wealth."

Polish spokesman, Stefan Wierblowski, renewed Poland's claim to 40,000 square miles of prewar German territory along the Oder and Neisse rivers.

The Poles, administering the region under the Potsdam Agreement, have had "considerable successes" there already, Wierblowski said, "in the field of economic and cultural life."

Greece made a formal demand today for reparations from Austria.

Reason For Such Action

Appearing before the Austrian section of the deputies' conference, the Greek Ambassador to London, Athanassis Aghnides, said the probabilities were that Germany would be unable to settle fully all claims coming from many quarters, and Greece believed that Austria should assume a "just share" of the responsibility.

The Greeks also suggested a treaty requirement that for fifteen years Austria buy one third of the Greek tobacco crop.

Questioned by the Russian deputy, Feodor T. Gousev, the Greek Ambassador said that no precise figure as to the reparations expected from Austria had been fixed.

Nor did he know the total value of Austrian properties in Greece, which he believed should be made available to the reparations account. He was asked to obtain data on these points for guidance of the deputies.

RUSSIA FILES TREATY PLAN

Ignore U.S. Idea For 'Peace Statute' For Germany

London, Jan. 27 (AP)—Russia submitted a memorandum to the Deputy Foreign Ministers Council today proposing that the United States, Britain, Russia and France write a formal peace treaty for Germany which would be presented to a future "German state" for ratification.

The proposal ignored an American suggestion of last week that a "peace statute" be adopted instead of a formal treaty. American sources said a clarification of the Russian plan would be sought.

To Hear Belligerents

The Russians proposed that the four powers write the German peace treaty after hearing suggestions at an international conference open only to those allied powers who were active belligerents. The treaty would be submitted in final form to allied nations who declared war but did not put forces in the field.

The final step would be the submitting of the treaty to the German state for ratification.

Robert Murphy, United States delegate, advanced the idea of a "peace statute" to save a new-born Democratic Government in Germany from criticism among the people for signing a peace with the victors.

The Soviet note said that a peace conference should be called only when "a central Government is established which is recognized as suitable to accept" a peace treaty.

Two Ask For Guarantees

Meanwhile Poland and Greece made their requests to the Security Council today for reparations and peace guarantees against Germany and Austria.

Stefan Wierblowski, the Polish spokesman, placed at $11,700,000,000, or 38 per cent of "our material wealth," the property losses suffered by Poland in the war. He said the loss in lives was about 6,000,000 men, women and children, or 13.3 per cent of the population.

He reiterated Poland's claims to 40,000 square miles of German territory along the Oder and Neisse rivers, which Poland regards as her permanent western borders.

Disagree On Federalization

Poland's proposal brought out fundamental differences of opinion regarding Germany, with the French delegation indicating its belief that a loosely federated Germany would offer less menace to a rise of a militant German nationalism. The Poles contended that a federalized Germany would eventually attempt to unite.

Greece informed the Austrian section of the Council that because Germany could not pay all off war claims, Austria should assume "a just share" of the responsibility. Greece offered no figure as to reparations expected from Austria, and was asked to obtain data on value of Austrian properties in Greece.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, American deputy who is chairman of the Austrian section, won approval for a suggestion that a subcommittee be appointed to frame military clauses of the Austrian treaty.

Jews Absent

Husseini spoke to the British-Arabian Palestine Conference, which resumed its sessions despite the continued absence of Jews, a principal party to any conclusion.

Addressing 22 Arab and 3 British delegates in St. James Palace, Husseini said the creation of "an alien Jewish state" would entail "the creation of another Balkans in the Middle East." He declared all Arabs would resist partition "with all the means at their disposal."

Calls Partition Menace

"To the Arab world, partition presents a further menace," Husseini said. "The Arab world is a territorial continuity, inhabited by a homogenous population with one natural outlook. As such, it is free from serious friction and a natural bulwark for peace.

"The creation of an alien Jewish state in Palestine means the destruction of that territorial continuity and national homogeneity and the creation of a running sore that will undoubtedly become a permanent source of trouble in the Middle East."

Arab Rejects Proposal To Partition Palestine

London, Jan. 27 (AP)—Dr. Jamal Effendi Husseini, vice chairman of the Palestine Arab Higher Executive, rejected partition today as a solution of the Palestine problem and warned that creation of a Jewish state there would be a "permanent source of trouble in the Middle East."

A fresh outbreak of anti-British violence in Palestine by the Jewish underground dimmed hopes for a satisfactory settlement.

As Reds View One U.S. Aim

London, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Moscow radio declared today that the United States had no intention of withdrawing troops from Iceland and Greenland, but, "on the contrary, is doing everything possible to strengthen its bases" as "part of a general program of American military measures in the Arctic."

"The United States War Department openly continues to show extreme interest in Iceland and Greenland," the English-language broadcast said.

Egypt Breaks With Britain Over Sudan

London, Jan. 27 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the Commons today that negotiations for revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty had broken down on the Egyptian demand for permanent union with the Sudan.

In a simultaneous announcement to the Chamber of Deputies in Cairo, Prime Minister Nokrashi Pasha said that Egypt's demands for evacuation of British troops and unity of the Nile Valley would be submitted to the United Nations.

Bevin, expressing the hope of future negotiations in which "broader and less stubborn counsels would prevail," declared that in the meantime the treaty will be adhered to. The pact extends to 1956.

U.S. To Question Russ Seizures In Reich

Berlin, Jan. 27 (AP) — Russia's seizure of about 200 German industrial plants, to be operated in their occupation zone as one unit for reparations will be questioned by the United States at the Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow in March, a high America. Military Government official said today.

The Russians disclosed recently through the German Socialist Unity party that they had confiscated 200 German factories and organized them into Soviet industrial corporations whose products, made with German labor and largely German materials, are taken by the Russians for reparations.

The Socialist Unity party added that Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky had promised to return 74 of these plants to German state ownership in a scaling down of reparations demands to "aid the revival of the German economy."

Applies To Seizures

The American official said that United States opposition to an increase of foreign ownership of German properties before the German economy is stabilized applied to the Soviet seizures.

He said that before the United States could agree to them it would have to be determined whether the plants were necessary to support German peacetime economy.

Plants which the Russians have seized range from chemical and machine works to the famed state-owned Meissen Porcelain Works.

Confiscation of ownership and operation in Germany was adopted where the Russians regarded that as more practical than dismantling a plant, carting it off to Russia and attempting to reassemble it there.

Occupation Force Faces Final Cut By July 1

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 27 (AP). The United States Army expects to be down to its permanent occupation strength of 155,000 ground and air force personnel in Europe by July 1, it was announced today.

At present there are 143,000 ground force and 38,000 air force troops in the theater, along with 11,500 American civilians.

Col. Durant Trial To Resume In U.S.

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 27 (AP). The Kronberg Castle jewel theft trial of Col. Jack W. Durant will be transferred to the United States this week, it was disclosed today.

The $1,500,000 worth of Hesse family jewels Durant is accused of helping to steal will be flown across the Atlantic along with the eight-officer court to Washington, D.C., where the military trial is expected to be resumed next week.

Hearings also will be held in Chicago, informed sources said, before the trial is returned to Frankfurt for its conclusion.

The move to the United States was requested by the prosecution in order to reach witnesses who could not be brought to Germany.

Killer Of RAF Pilot Executed

Livorno, Italy, Jan. 27 (AP)—Italo Simonetti, Italian, was executed today by a United States firing squad. Former Fascist captain, Simonetti was convicted last October of murdering an RAF pilot, Lieut. Alfred Lyth, of Kansas City, by shooting him after he parachuted to earth.

AMNESTY AIM OF GREEK HEAD

New Premier Outlines Moves For Ending Civil War

Athens, Jan. 27 (AP)—Premier Demetrios Maximos told Parliament tonight that "to end the civil war" his new coalition Government would apply "all possible measures of appeasement and pacification," including a general amnesty to all guerrilla bands who surrender within a fixed time.

He said also that the Government would renew claims for "martyred northern Epirus" and rectification of the Bulgarian border. He made his appearance before the Parliament, which will be asked to give him a vote of confidence, shortly after his Cabinet was sworn in by King George II.

Former Premiers In List

Among the 22 ministers sworn in tonight were three former premiers Constantin Tsaldaris, Populist, foreign affairs and vice premier; Sophocles Venizelos, Venizelist Liberal, minister without portfolio and vice premier, and George Papandreou, Social Democrat, interior.

Reading from a prepared statement, Maximos, a 74-year-old banker who came out of retirement to lead a cabinet composed of all but one party in Parliament, said that Greece's foreign policy was based on "equal friendship toward all great allies."

He outlined a three-point program:

All deportations will be reviewed, all women and children will be freed, and there will be a general amnesty for guerrillas who surrender within a fixed time. The state will guarantee protection to those so pardoned from reprisals by individuals and groups, he said.

Will Disarm All Groups

He promised the state would disarm all groups, including the Rightist bands which have been having a quasi-governmental status under the armed civilian law, and that as soon as the revisionary Parliament completed its tasks and order was re-established, he would call for new elections.

The Greek Foreign Ministry, meanwhile, denied Yugoslav charges that the Greeks had placed obstacles in the way of the United Nations Security Council's investigation of Greek border disorders by delaying the granting of visas to Yugoslav representatives on the United Nations investigating commission.

Yesterday the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry in Belgrade said it had sent a note to the Greek Government protesting a delay. The Greek Ministry said today the visas had been requested on January 23 through the Greek legation in Belgrade and that they had been issued yesterday after clearing through Athens.

Finns Accept Treaty

Helsinki, Finland, Jan. 27 (AP). The Finnish Parliament accepted the Allied peace treaty with Finland without formal ballot today after a debate during which many speakers complained of its hard terms but expressed hope of future modifications.

Madrid Greets New Envoy Of Argentina

Madrid, Jan. 27 (AP)—Pedro Radio, new Argentine Ambassador to Spain, was escorted by a brilliantly uniformed troop of mounted Spanish Moorish guards to the National Palace today to present his credentials to Generalissimo Francisco Franco. He spent two hours with the Spanish leader.

Radio was greeted by shouts of "Franco! Perón!" from the crowd which lined the sidewalks at the palace.

Buildings along the route were decorated with the Argentine and Spanish colors.

Yugoslavs Trying 14 On Charge Of Plotting

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Jan. 27 (AP). Fourteen persons went on trial today in Skoplje charged with jeopardizing the integrity of Yugoslavia by plotting a revolt against Albania.

George Herbert Burton, British consul, and Emin Veri Gerchek, Turkish consul, were said to have received letters from the defendants, termed members of a "Fascist terrorist organization," asking assistance and advice.

The fourteen were accused of being a central committee which the state asserted was formed in Bari, Italy, Cairo, and Greece.

The public prosecutor said the defendants "established contact and received directives for the organization's activity from the Turkish consul in Skoplje."

The accusation said also the defendants "acted with the English consul in Skoplje, from whom they requested directives for further work in organization."

U.S. Army Equipment Reported In Budapest

Budapest, Hungary, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Communist-dominated economic police today said they had seized 400 United States Army uniforms and other equipment which were to be used by "storm troopers" to create the impression that the Western powers supported a plot to overthrow the republic.

Anti-Communists said the opposite was true, and that Communists were using the discovery in an attempt to link the Western powers to the alleged plot. Official American circles withheld comment.

The materiel was found in the apartment of Mrs. Tihamer Banhegyi. The newspaper Vilagossag quoted her as saying her husband bought the equipment in France, apparently as surplus property, "merely as a business deal." She said the clothing was to be sold to Hungarian peasants cheaply.

Return Of Hungarians Is Blocked By Russia

Budapest, Jan. 27 (AP)—American military mission informants today said Russian authorities had denied clearance for entry into Hungary of an American hospital train returning between 400 and 500 sick Hungarians from Germany.

The mission was informed through the Hungarian Government that clearance was denied "for humanitarian reasons"—that it was too cold to transport sick persons. The Russians were quoted as saying no such movement was possible before April 1.

The action was looked on as retaliation for American orders to suspend shipment out of Hungary into Germany of Swabians, the German minority in Hungary, last November.

U.S., British Trade Ruling Hit By Pravda

Moscow, Jan. 27 (AP)—Pravda today criticized measures taken by British and American authorities which provide that trade between their occupation zones in Germany and that of the French shall henceforth be calculated in dollars rather than German marks.

Pravda's Berlin correspondent described the measure as a "unilateral action leading to the disorganization of economic relations in Germany."

The dispatch said the French delegate in the co-ordinating committee had made a statement to the effect that the measure "signified the final rejection by Anglo-American authorities of the principle of equitable distribution of Germany's basic output among the zones, which is the chief element in the economic unity of Germany."

The story asserted that the Soviet representative had supported the French protest, maintaining that the German mark was the only recognized currency in Germany and that the payment of interzonal accounts should be made in marks, not dollars.

Pravda concluded that the "actions of the American and British authorities violate the decisions of the Berlin Conference and are directed against the economic and political unity of Germany."

PALESTINE JEWS FACE ARMS RULE

British Demand Release Of Kidnapped Pair, Reprieve Man

Jerusalem, Jan. 27 (AP)—British officials issued an ultimatum to Jewish leaders tonight that military control would be imposed on portions of Palestine unless kidnappers released two prominent British subjects abducted within eighteen hours of each other.

The British announced an eleventh-hour reprieve for Dov Bela Gruner, 33, alleged underground member sentenced to hang tomorrow for an attack on a Palestine police station. Officials said the stay was granted to permit an appeal to the Privy Council, Britain's supreme court.

Judge Taken From Courtroom

Police had attributed the kidnappings to Gruner's scheduled hanging. Authorities expressed the opinion that Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground organization, was holding the two Britons as hostages to head off the executions.

Troops and police, meanwhile, combed the troubled Holy Land for two groups of kidnappers, who snatched a bewigged judge from his courtroom in Tel Aviv today and abducted a banker from his home in Jerusalem last night.

No trace was found of the victims, Judge Ralph Windham, 42, and H. A. I. Collins, 48.

90,000 Under House Arrest

British authorities imposed a dawn-to-dusk curfew on the Jewish quarters of Jerusalem and Haifa, and on all 200,000 residents of Tel Aviv. Some 90,000 Jews in Jerusalem were placed under house arrest. Traffic after dark was banned on all Holy Land highways.

Loud speakers, mounted on armored cars, announced the curfews to Jewish residents. Hundreds of Bren carriers clattered through Tel Aviv.

Judge Windham was hearing a routine inheritance case when the well-dressed gunman slipped quietly into his courtroom and ordered the small group of persons present to face the wall.

City's Streets Empty

"Do not be alarmed. We want to take only the judge with us," eyewitnesses quoted a gunman as saying in Hebrew.

The judge, wearing his wig and judicial robes, was whisked away in an automobile. The kidnap car later was found abandoned in Ramat Gan, suburb of Tel Aviv.

Within ten minutes of the kidnapping, sirens sounded throughout the all-Jewish city and police cordoned off the court area. Five minutes later, Tel Aviv's Mediterranean Beach, which had been crowded with thousands of bathers, was deserted and the city's streets were empty.

Ultimatum Delivered

Windham, president of the Tel Aviv court, is heir to the ancient Bowyer-Smyth baronetcy. He has been in the colonial service for fifteen years, eleven of which have been spent in Palestine.

The ultimatum concerning the kidnap victims was delivered by Lieutenant General Sir Alan Cunningham, the Palestine High Commissioner, to two members of the Jewish Agency, official spokesman for Jews in the Holy Land.

Sir Alan told Eliezer Kaplan and Mrs. Golda Myerson that unless Collins and Windham were returned "unharmed within a stated period," the British would take steps to "withdraw civil administration and facilities from certain areas which would be placed under military control."

Two Jews were detained for questioning in Jerusalem as helmeted troops searched the Jewish quarters for the five men and a girl who abducted Collins from his residence.

Several Jewish organizations prepared statements condemning the kidnappings.

Before Gruner's stay was made public, a riot broke out among prisoners in the Jerusalem central jail, in which he is confined. Two British constables were seriously injured and four prisoners were less seriously hurt.

Police said that Jewish prisoners clashed with Arab inmates after the Jews began shouting that Gruner's sentence should be commuted. The fighting lasted for 40 minutes.

90,000 Ordered Under House Detention

Jerusalem, Jan. 26 (AP)—Gunmen kidnapped a bewigged British judge from his courtroom in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv today, eighteen hours after the abduction of a British banker in Jerusalem.

Authorities clamped a curfew on 90,000 Jews and issued an "ultimatum" to Jewish leaders to see that the two Britons were returned unharmed within a stated period, it was announced officially. Authorities blamed Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, for the kidnappings. They expressed belief that Irgun acted in an effort to head off the execution of an alleged Irgun member scheduled to hang tomorrow.

Execution Delayed Indefinitely

This execution, however, was delayed indefinitely under orders of Lieutenant General Sir Evelyn Barker, commander of British forces. The delay was granted, officials said, to permit an attorney to make an appeal to Britain's supreme court, the Privy Council, on behalf of the condemned man, Dov Bela Gruner, 33. Gruner has a sister in Lancaster, Pa., Mrs. Helen Friedman.

An abandoned automobile was the only trace found tonight in the abduction of Judge Ralph Windham. Police said fourteen men and one Jewish woman entered his courtroom at noon and spirited him away.

No trace had been found of the banker, H. A. I. Collins, former British army major, seized last night in Jerusalem.

Return Of Men Demanded

The Palestine High Commissioner, Lieut. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, called in two members of the Jewish Agency, official spokesman for the Jew of Palestine, and demanded the return of the Britons. An announcement said Sir Alan warned that certain areas would be placed under military control unless his ultimatum was honored.

Already a house-to-house curfew, equivalent to house arrest, had been clamped on 90,000 Jews in Tel Aviv and Palestine. Hundreds of Bren gun carriers and armored cars rumbled through Tel Aviv within a few hours after the judge's abduction.

Police said they had no clues as to the whereabouts of Judge Windham, heir to a British baronetcy, or of Collins.

Kidnap Car Found

The automobile in which Judge Windham was kidnapped was found abandoned in Ramat Gan, Tel Aviv suburb. This was the scene of the attack on a police station for which Groner had been sentenced to die tomorrow.

Private sources said all of Tel Aviv was surrounded by airborne troops and that all automobiles and busses were being searched as they left the city.

When the alarm sounded shortly after Windham's abduction, Tel Aviv's Mediterranean beach was crowded with thousands of promenaders on the warmest day of recent weeks. Within five minutes the beach and promenade had been cleared and downtown streets emptied.

British Civilians Warned

A British radio announcement, not attributed to any Government source, said:

"In view of the danger of kidnapping, all British civilians are advised to remain in their homes or other places believed to be safe. Apparently your lives may be in danger."

In the house-to-house search, helmeted infantrymen armed with bayoneted rifles moved through the tangled streets and alleys of Jerusalem's Mea Shearim, Geula and Schneller quarters.

The curfew in the two cities was made effective from dusk to dawn until further notice.

Abductors Well Dressed

Unofficial sources said the abductors of Judge Windham were well dressed and apparently arrived at the Tel Aviv court building in three taxis. They addressed the judge in Hebrew and ordered him to accompany them. The courtroom was partly filled, but no case was in progress.

Windham, who is 42, is heir to the ancient Bowyer-Smith baronetcy. He is president of the Tel Aviv court and has been in colonial service for fifteen years, eleven of which have been spent in Palestine.

Cemetery Hiding Doubted

Troops had spent most of the night searching an ancient Moslem cemetery into the catacomb-like mazes of which Collins appeared to had been spirited by his abductors.

"They probably lured us into the cemetery while making their getaway in another direction," said one officer.

Police quoted eyewitnesses as saying that Collins apparently was chloroformed by his armed abductors before they carried him away.

Intimate U.S. Ties Vital, Roxas Tells Philippines

Manila, Jan. 27 (AP)—President Manuel Roxas, in a State of the Nation address before a joint session of the first Philippine Congress, today declared, "We must preserve at all costs our intimate relationship" with the United States.

He disclosed that the United States had recently expressed willingness to withdraw all military forces from the Philippines.

But, he added, "when I advised the American Government that the Philippine Congress by unanimous resolution had agreed to establishment of American bases here, and that the Filipino people desired the retention of these bases, it was decided to carry out the original program."

He said present plans "provide a much less ambitious schedule of bases than originally contemplated."

Plan For Free Port

Roxas further disclosed that during 1947 Philippine legations would be established in London and Nanking and the number of consulates increased.

Roxas said he looked forward to the development somewhere in the Philippines of a free port to serve as a transshipment point for trade with Asia and Australasia, with the hope that the Philippines thus could become the hub of trade, commerce and transportation between the Occident and Orient.

GI's "Again Welcome"

"There's no reason why the Philippines cannot capture a share of the former Japanese markets in this part of the world," he added.

Roxas termed "largely inaccurate" press reports that fundamental relations between the United States Government and the Philippines were being endangered by the presence of American troops. He said conditions had improved rapidly to a point where American troops "have again become welcome guests in our land."

Court May Rule On Fate Of Japs

Tokyo, Jan. 27 (AP)—A final decision on the fate of former Premier Hideki Tojo and 26 other Japanese war-crimes defendants may rest with the United States Supreme Court, Defense Attorney David F. Smith said today in seeking dismissal of the indictment.

Smith explained that his procedure would be to file suit in Federal Court in Washington to restrain the Secretary of War, under whose authority General MacArthur is acting, from carrying out any sentence of the international tribunal which is approved by MacArthur as reviewing officer.

The case then would be taken to the Supreme Court for argument on the authority of MacArthur and of the tribunal.

Rebuked For Challenge

Smith earlier was rebuked by Sir William Webb, tribunal president, for challenging the authority of MacArthur as supreme Allied commander. Webb termed the defense attorney's motions "political harangues" undesirable "in this place and under these circumstances."

At Webb's direction, the defense began arguments on individual motions in behalf of each defendant, a process expected to require about three days.

In challenging the validity of MacArthur's creation of the three-power tribunal, the defense argued that the United States Constitution reserved only to Congress the right to enter into international agreements, and MacArthur, a United States citizen, acted without congressional authority.

U.S. Gets 89 P.C. Of Japan's Exports

Tokyo, Jan. 27 (AP)—Eighty-nine per cent of Japan's 1946 exports, primarily agricultural products, went to the United States, the Ministry of Agriculture reported today.

Japan's second best customer was China, which absorbed 8.6 per cent.

Agricultural products exported were valued at 1,700,935,000 yen ($113,395,666). The great bulk of this was raw silk. Tea was second in importance.

Japanese trade experts predicted that agar-agar, a seaweed extract used as a laxative, would become a major export item, especially in the Far Eastern market. Lily bulbs, pearls, sponges and gourds are being prepared for shipment at present.

Japan Crime Rate Called Alarming

Tokyo, Jan. 27 (AP)—Crimes are sweeping Japan in alarming proportions, the newspaper Mianichi reported today, blaming the "terrible" inflation, repatriated soldiers who have retained the "barbaric mental state of the battlefield," and the "ravaged state of national psychology under defeat."

Citing a fearsome rash of organized robberies, swindles and murders, Mianichi observed:

"Not only are the figures amazing but the nature of the crimes is extraordinary. What ordinarily one would expect to happen once or twice a year—a crime that shakes the whole fabric of society—is happening almost daily."

Danish Emissary In Tokyo

Tokyo, Jan. 27 (AP)—Lars Tillitse, Danish diplomatic representative to Allied headquarters, and Minister to Japan from Denmark before the war, arrived yesterday to assume his new post.

Halt War, Avert Ruin, Plead 172 China Groups

Shanghai, Jan. 27 (AP)—Appealing to the Government and to China's Communists for an immediate, unconditional halt to civil strife, 172 trade guilds and associations issued a manifesto today declaring:

"As we reflect upon the present state of affairs and upon what the future has in store for us, we are seized with a cold shudder." A group of business and professional men issued a similar manifesto.

The fighting is wrecking the people's livelihood and impairing China's international status, the trade guilds manifesto said; "unless civil strife is immediately halted there can be no telling to what fearful proportions the present economic crisis might develop in the near future."

Sees Bankruptcy, Starvation

It foresaw rural bankruptcy, coupled with starvation within cities.

The manifesto urged an unconditional cease-fire order, immediate peace talks, reorganization of the Government, control of armies by the state and granting of political rights to the people.

Communists seemed bent upon causing internal economic collapse in order to achieve the downfall of the National Government, it said, and the Government thus far has not fulfilled "its pledges to the people" by granting them political rights.

Business Men Add Plea

The other manifesto was issued by 80 business and professional men in Shanghai, including Wong Hsiao-lai, chairman of the Chinese National Chamber of Commerce.

Wong told interviewers he hoped such appeals would develop into a national movement against civil war.

Battle Rages In Tinghsien

Peiping, Jan. 27 (AP)—Chinese Communists today were reported fighting through the streets of Tinghsien, on the Peiping-Hankow railroad, 35 miles south of Paoting, as reinforcements sped to relieve the small Nationalist garrison, which was receiving supplies dropped from planes.

One pro-Government newspaper said the defenders were outnumbered 10 to 1.

Government troops were driving south from Paoting, capital of Hopei province, toward Wantu, which was captured by the Communists four days ago. Wantu is 23 miles south of Paoting.

In central Shansi province, National troops recaptured Tunglungkung, near Fengyang, after eight hours of street fighting, and were reported to have scored a "great victory" near Hsiaoyi, 5 miles from Fengyang.

Peiping newspapers carried unconfirmed dispatches from Mukden, Manchuria, saying six "strange" planes bombed tiny Pochi Island, in the far northern arm of the Gulf of Chihli, last Friday, but that no casualties were suffered by the Government garrison.

U.S. Landing Craft Again At Port Dairen

Shanghai, Jan. 27 (AP)—LCI 1090 visited Dairen again last week, transporting supplies to United States Consul General H. Merrell Benninghoff "in a normal manner," the United States Navy reported today.

Last month the landing craft was given 20 minutes to leave the Soviet-occupied port after expiration of its prearranged 48-hour visit and an additional two hours.

The Navy said the ship returned to Tsingtao early Sunday after its regular monthly courier visit to Dairen had been "carried out without incident."

No correspondents or photographers were aboard the LCI. Two newsmen made the December trip but were refused Russian permission to disembark. State Department clearance for unofficial passengers now is required.

The Navy said the LCI skipper, Commander Edgar Yates, reported that during the short stay in Dairen "the attitude and manner of Soviet authorities present was friendly and cordial," and that Benninghoff likewise has enjoyed amicable relations with the Soviet authorities.

Navy Finds Dairen Visit Uneventful

Shanghai, Jan 27 (AP)—The United States Navy announced today that its LCI-1090 returned to Tsingtao Sunday after an uneventful visit to Russian-occupied Dairen.

When the craft made it sregular monthly trip to Dairen in December to take supplies to United States Consul General H. Merrell Benninghoff, an American business man, a newspaper reporter and a photographer were denied Russian permissioin to land, and the craft was given 20 minutes to leave port after expiration of its agreed 48-hour stay.

After last week's trip, with only official personnel, the Navy announced that Commander Edgar Yates reported "the attitude and manner of Soviet authorities present was friendly and cordial," and that the United States consul also had amicable relations with the Russians.

China Lays Claim To Paracel Isles

Nanking, Jan. 27 (AP)—Chinese newspapers devoted considerable space today to China's claims to the Paracel Islands off the east coast of Indo-China, quoting early Chinese history in an effort to prove France has no legal claim to them.

Ta Kung Pao, Government party mouthpiece, said the Foreign Ministry was preparing a formal protest to France on the sovereignty of the islands.

The newspaper quoted Ho Feng-shan, director of the Information Section of the Foreign Office, as saying the Paracels have been Chinese since the Ching dynasty (1644-1912 A.D.).

Reinforcements Denied

Press reports that China had reinforced the Paracels were termed "absolutely unfounded" by high Government officials. They acknowledged a number of small ships had sailed for the Paracels but only with supplies for the garrison.

Chinese officials said the Foreign Office had protested to France over the alleged landing of French troops January 21 at Pattle, one of the islands in the Paracel group, but had received no reply.

France occupied the Paracels until Japan seized them in 1940.

Fighting Starts Anew Near Dutch Navy Base

Batavia, Java, Jan. 27 (AP)—Dr. Hubertus J. van Mook, the Dutch governor general, and Maj. Gen. Burrman van Vreeden, acting commander in chief of the Netherlands East Indies army, flew today to the Soerabaja front, where Dutch forces were reported to have occupied the town of Krian Friday after a bloody battle.

The report of the fighting was carried by Antara, Indonesian news agency. A Dutch military spokesman said it was "not unlikely" that the Dutch had taken retaliatory action, since Netherlands positions had been harassed by Nationalist artillery and snipers ever since their location was disclosed in truce talks last month.

Indonesian sources expressed the fear that negotiations for the final signing of the Cheribon agreement, providing for a United States of Indonesia under the Dutch crown, might be endangered by the outbreak. The agreement was initialed in November.

Antara reported a large-scale Dutch assault with heavy weapons was launched early Friday against Krian, which is 13 miles south of the Soerabaja naval base in East Java.

Heavy Toll Reported

This report said the Dutch captured the town after both sides had suffered heavy casualties.

In Batavia, the Netherlands commission general and Indonesian republican government officials announced jointly Friday they had agreed on a formula to implement enforcement of the truce declared October 14. The terms were not disclosed.

GI Sentenced In Robbery

Yokohama, Jan. 27 (AP)—Private Thomas A. Shotwell, 20, of Morris Chapel, Tenn., was convicted by an 8th Army court-martial today of robbing a Japanese of 25,000 yen ($1,666) and slugging him with a pistol butt, and was sentenced to five years imprisonment at hard labor. Shotwell was returned here from the United States for trial.

'Too Cold' In Fairbanks For Arctic Sea Eskimo

By CLARKE BEACH

With Task Force Frigid, Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 26 (AP—Delayed)—I had a chat with an Eskimo about the weather today, which has reached minus 62, the lowest in some years, and his candid opinion was:

"It's too damn cold down here."

The Eskimo, Pfc. Augustus Kowunna, a Regular Army man who is in charge of the Army Air Forces' dog teams at Ladd Field comes from Point Hope, several hundred miles north on the Arctic Sea.

He said that at home they seldom have it any colder than 35 below zero.

The Weather's "Very Unusual"

Other cold weather notes:

The Fairbanks residents tell us now that this prolonged cold weather is "very unusual."

The dog-sled races scheduled for today have been postponed on account of the cold.

Most parties and visits are being called off. Trappers and most other people stay home when the temperature gets below 35 below.

Fairbanks is buried under a gray blanket of ice fog, created by the heat from buildings and chimneys. People on the streets go around muffled to their eyes. Automobile headlights glow dim and yellow in the murk.

The train from Anchorage is three weeks overdue, held up by the snow.

Argentina To Deal With Axis Agents

Buenos Aires, Jan. 27 (AP)—Foreign Ministry sources said today that the Argentine Government now was considering issuing a decree calling for the deportation of Axis agents involved in activities against the United Nations.

A list of the persons to be deported is expected to be announced this week, it was said.

The informants explained that the proposed new decree apparently was linked with the Government's recent action in taking control of 60 German firms.

It also was learned that the Government was considering the future situation of German schools now operating in Argentina.

M'Mahon Believes Reds Building Atomic Plant

Demands Control Pact Action; Lilienthal, M'Kellar Tangle at Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—(AP) A warning that "we may be in mortal danger" from atomic bombs—that "it seems obvious" the Russians are building an "atomic fission plant" now behind the Ural Mountains—was delivered in the Senate today by Senator McMahon (D-Conn).

30.24-7573

He sounded the alarm to emphasize the urgency of an international control agreement. To this end he renewed his proposal designed to meet Russia's insistence on the veto question—a treaty which would define violations, stipulate exact penalties, authorize the international court to sit in judgment, and the security council to impose the penalty automatically upon "conviction."

Warns of Dangers

McMahon, who headed the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee last session and fathered the domestic control act, declared the United States must "swap atomic knowledge for atomic control for this reason:

"We stand in no danger from whatever bombs may be in our possession but we may be in mortal danger from bombs in the possession of others. It is in the interest of our own security to get inspectors behind the high walls now so that we may know what is going on now, before it becomes possible for us to be shocked into awareness by the sudden explosion of an atomic bomb in our midst.

"Today we have no way of knowing what other countries are doing about atomic weapons or how far they have advanced. But this much we do know. Other nations are working night and day on the problem. So long as we do not have exact knowledge we become prey to fear and suspicion.

"For example, a news report out of the Soviet Union not long ago stated that their chief nuclear scientist, Peter Kapitse, had been sent to Siberia as punishment for some crime. It seems obvious to me that a more likely explanation is that Kapitza is now busily at work behind the Urals constructing an atomic fission plant. However, I cannot prove it. I do not know and none of us knows and there is no way of knowing.

Speeding of Control Urged

"Until we have international control coupled with an effective inspection system, we will never know who is producing atomic bombs or at what moment, or at what target, they may choose to launch them."

McMahon added that "there is nothing we can do to prevent others from learning how to make atomic bombs because the book of nature is open to all."

He contended that his control plan "meets the American objective" and should be acceptable also to the Russians if they are "sincere in their desire to do away with atomic and other weapons of mass destruction."

"If they are not sincere," he continued, "we will soon know it and we will then know what we must do to survive in a world of a potential aggressor."

Russ Suspected Of Developing Atomic Plant

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP)—Senator McMahon (D., Conn.) said today he suspects Russia is developing "an atomic fission plant" in the Ural Mountains while American and Soviet officials are debating plans for world-wide atomic control and disarmament.

The former chairman of the Special Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy added in a speech prepared for Senate delivery that this country must "swap atomic knowledge for atomic control" immediately or face eventual destruction by the awesome new weapon.

Pleads For Control Plan

McMahon, who three months ago proposed a compromise control plan designed to get around Russia's insistence upon the right of veto, pleaded anew for its acceptance, declaring:

"It is in the interest of our own security to get inspectors behind the high walls now so that we may know what is going on now, before it becomes possible for us to be shocked into awareness by the sudden explosion of an atomic bomb in our midst.

"Today we have no way of knowing what other countries are doing about atomic weapons or how far they have advanced. But this much we do know. Other nations are working night and day on the problem. So long as we do not have exact knowledge we become prey to fear and suspicion.

Cites Case Of Russ Scientist

"For example," McMahon continued, "a news report out of the Soviet Union not long ago stated that their chief nuclear scientist, Peter Kapitza, had been sent to Siberia as punishment for some crime. It seems obvious to me that a more likely explanation is that Kapitza is now busily at work behind the Urals constructing an atomic fission plant. However, I cannot prove it. I do not know and none of us know and there is no way of knowing.

"Until we have international control coupled with an effective inspection system, we will never know who is producing atomic bombs or at what moment, or at what target, they may choose to launch them. Until we have such control we will never dare release atomic energy for the peaceful uses which might raise standards of living among the peoples of the world to the point where they would have no interest in the siren song of Soviet propaganda."

McMahon said competent scientists have told him that if workable controls were in existence now within "five years we could have peacetime use of atomic energy on an ever-widening scale."

"Mad Atomic Armament Race"

But, the Senator said, the world is "engaged in a mad race for atomic armament" because Russia and the United States have not agreed upon such controls or upon other disarmament, including prohibitions against warfare with rockets and germs.

"There is nothing we can do to prevent others from learning how to make atomic bombs because the book of nature is open to all," McMahon said. "We could hide our so-called 'secrets' in the deepest vault at Fort Knox and shoot all our scientists, and other nations still will learn how to make atomic bombs." He continued:

"Since the Russians say they will not relinquish the right of veto and, since we can never permit any violator of an atomic controls agreement to find protection from punishment under the veto, it is obvious that a way out must be found at once to avoid stalemate and inaction."

Would Define Violations

McMahon's control plan calls for a treaty defining specific violations and the exact punishment. The International Court of Justice would be given authority to decide cases of suspected violation, and the court's findings would be carried out by the United Nations Security Council.

The Senator said such a plan "meets the American objective at the same time it eliminates the stated Russian objections, while simultaneously, it strengthens the United Nations and implements its principle of collective action."

"If the Russians are sincere in their desire to do away with atomic and other weapons of mass destruction," McMahon added, "then I can see no reason why they should refuse to acquiesce in this proposal for peace.

"If they are not sincere, we will soon know it and we will then know what we must do to survive in a world of a potential aggressor."

France And U.S. Agree On German Repatriation Plan

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP)—France and the United States have agreed on a plan under which 620,000 American-captured German prisoners of war will be sent home by next October unless they decide to remain in France as voluntary workers.

Maj. Gen. John Hilldring, assistant secretary of state for occupied areas, told a news conference today that the two countries want the International Red Cross to oversee recruitment of voluntary laborers from among the prisoners of war.

It's Now Up To Red Cross

The assistant secretary said the only thing holding up that program is the Red Cross which has not yet answered a note asking its assistance.

The United States has agreed also to help France recruit workers in the American-occupied zone of Germany, Hilldring disclosed.

He said that under the plan all conditions of labor, including pay, would be comparable to those of French workers. This would be explained to prisoner "candidates," he said, before they are asked to decide.

October 1 Deadline

Even if the recruiting does not go through, Hilldring said, repatriation of prisoners captured by the United States but held by France will be concluded by next October 1.

He said the first of these prisoners might be started toward Germany within a week or ten days, when final negotiations between French and American officials probably will be concluded.

Hilldring declared that any reports that France had refused to comply with United States suggestions on the plan were "just bad rumors."

"France never refused to agree to the plan," he said.

When the idea was first put forth by former Secretary of State Byrnes, Hilldring said, France agreed but asked this country to agree to let the International Red Cross supervise the recruiting of the voluntary workers.

Snyder Seeks Morgenthau's 'Diary' of New Deal Era

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 — (AP) Secretary of the Treasury Snyder wants the 900 volume, 60,000,000 word "diary" his predecessor Henry Morgenthau, Jr., kept during 12 years in the cabinet post.

Snyder says it is public property and the place for it is the U. S. Treasury files.

And Morgenthau says if he has anything Snyder "needs" Snyder can have it. But he doesn't say anything about giving up the whole record of his long career in the Roosevelt cabinet, which is what Snyder asked for.

Acheson Incident Recalled

Morgenthau has researchers going through the voluminous file for items of historical importance. Partial skimmings already made public have included such tidbits as a Morgenthau report that President Roosevelt once referred to Dean Acheson, then in the Treasury and now Undersecretary of State, as a "lightweight."

The Acheson reference was in connection with an account of the government gold-buying program in the '30s. Morgenthau related that a 21-cent increase in the price of the metal was decided on because Mr. Roosevelt called it a "lucky" number—three times seven.

Morgenthau mentioned that Acheson didn't like the gold buying deals. He recounted that at times the operations were so hectic that Morgenthau himself had to go home and rest.

The diary entries related that Mr. Roosevelt roared with laughter at the idea of the horror world financiers would feel if they knew how gold prices were arrived at, and that he referred to the late Montagu Norman, head of the Bank of England, as "old pink whiskers."

A Treasury official who would not speak for attribution first disclosed that there had been a "friendly" discussion between the present and former secretaries over the diary.

He said the Treasury considers come of the matter in the Morgenthau records as confidential, not subject to Morgenthau's decision on whether to make it public. He added that some of it is reported to consist of official documents that may be needed in the files for officials' guidance.

The official added that Snyder has asked for the whole file without distinction between official documents and any personal data which Morgenthau included.

Morgenthau's Stand

Morgenthau, reached in Los Angeles where he had gone for a meeting to raise funds for the world's displaced Jews, told a news conference:

"If I've got something Mr. Snyder wants and needs, he can have it.

"As to official documents, by and large, most of my collection is photostats. The ultimate disposal, in any event, of any papers or documents I might have of historical or official value would be in the government archives at the Hyde Park (N. Y.) library or the Library of Congress."

Later Snyder issued a statement saying he first heard of the existence of the file in press accounts. He said that upon inquiry he had learned that the diary included "the only copies of the transcripts of a great many official telephone conversations and of countless official conferences held in Mr. Morgenthau's office."

"On being advised that the 'diary' was in fact a record of public business and as such public property, he (Snyder) then indicated to Mr. Morgenthau his belief that the 'diary' should be returned to the Treasury," the statement said.

schools and removal of German ownership from business firms there.

Hopeful of Agreement

"There remains," the ambassador said, "only the question of enemy aliens who are found by the Argentine government to have committed acts against the state.

"I expect that the Argentine government, by the measures it has taken and is actively taking, will clean up that matter satisfactorily soon."

He said the State department's statement on Saturday welcoming the Argentine action in taking control of 60 German firms was based both on the opinion of the department itself and on his own recommendation.

These developments pumped new life into plans for the Rio conference which has been postponed indefinitely pending solution of the U. S.-Argentine wrangle. The inter-American meeting was originally scheduled for October, 1945, but was blocked by the U. S. stand on Argentina.

The military defense treaty planned for negotiation at the Rio conference is designed to make permanent the peace-keeping features of the Act of Chapultapec within the framework of the United Nations charter.

Envoy's Task Complicated

Messersmith has been negotiating with the Peron government on the Nazi problem for about eight months. His remaining task is complicated by the fact that some of the most important Nazi agents are now in hiding.

They escaped a police dragnet when a premature leak tipped them off that they were about to be arrested. Only 22 out of 52 were eventually rounded up.

The dispute between Messersmith and Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden over Argentine policy appeared to be dying down, at least for the time being.

Both continue in their jobs following individual conferences with Secretary Marshall.

Envoy Predicts Speedy End To U.S.-Argentine Dispute

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 — (AP) Ambassador George S. Messersmith headed back to Argentina tonight confident that the last remaining problem holding up an inter-American mutual defense treaty will be solved speedily.

After a farewell call on President Truman, he told reporters Argentina has satisfied two of the three specific demands which the United States has insisted must be fulfilled before it would enter into a hemisphere-wide defense treaty including Argentina.

These pertain to elimination of Nazi influences from Argentine

America's 300,000 War II Dead To Start Journey Home in August

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Heroes who will hear no bands and see no waving flags—America's 300,000 dead of World War II—will start coming home in August.

The first will come from seven cemeteries in Hawaii, reaching San Francisco about Aug. 18, the War department announced tonight. About the same time, bodies from the Henri Chapelle cemetery in Belgium will start arriving at New York.

After them will come their buddies from graves in Britain, Normandy, Brittany, Africa, the middle East, the Mediterranean; from the Caribbean Area, Bermuda, Australia, the Solomons, Philippines, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, China, India, and Burma—from 209 cemeteries in foreign lands.

The schedule is dependent upon deliveries by casket manufacturers who have been delayed because they could not get the necessary stee. They are expected to reach full scale deliveries of 25,000 a month by May.

Relatives were given the option of having the bodies remain in the American cemeteries overseas or having them brough home, with the nation bearing all costs. Officials estimated about 80 per cent have chosen to bring them home.

pended in 1941, will be resumed next Saturday.

There will be no limit on the amount of money which can be sent. The fee on international money orders is 10 cents for each $10 or fraction.

Money order service from Italy to this country is not available.

AUSTIN SAYS ATOMIC POLICY IS UNCHANGED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—(AP) Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate to the United Nations, said today following his first conference with Secretary of State Marshall that the United States policy for international atomic control remained unchanged.

Austin told reporters that "I'm not quoting General Marshall—I'm just saying that's the situation."

He said the United States will be prepared to resume disarmament discussions with other members of the Security Council Feb. 4, without a request for further delay, Austin added:

"No country on earth is more deeply committed to disarmament of any kind than the United States.

"We will not be put on the defensive on the subject now. We have always advocated disarmament and are in earnest now."

Austin conferred with Secretary Marshall for one hour and forty minutes on United Nations policies. He said he found the new secretary "quite well posted."

Harriman Appointment Confirmed By Senate

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Senate confirmed today the nomination of W. Averell Harriman to be Secretary of Commerce. He has been serving under a recess appointment.

Other nominations approved included:

William Chapman Foster, of New York, to be Under Secretary of Commerce.

Adrian S. Fisher, of Tennessee, to be Department of Commerce solicitor.

Clarence M. Young, of California, member of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Richard F. Mitchell, of Iowa, to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Scientists Guard U.S. From Blitz

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed today the War Department has a special staff whose sole responsibility is to prepare for a possible "super blitz" against the United States in event of another war.

The Army Chief of Staff, addressing the Women's National Press Club, said this staff is deemed a necessary part of American preparedness until there is international security.

He said this staff "goes only to one group for its information—the scientists."

Its responsibility is to keep up with developments concerning guided missiles and other scientific applications of warfare, he explained.

PATTERSON CALLS FOR STRONG U.S.

DENVER, Jan. 27—(AP) American influence for peace will be felt and "our contribution to world progress will be effective, only so far as it is known overseas that we can and will back up our commitments," Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said tonight.

"If we are to be a power for world peace, the lesson should be brought home to our citizens, the secretary said in a speech at a dinner honoring Denver University. The university is launching an expansion program.

Our Strength No Threat

"Our military establishment does not constitute a threat to any nation," he said, "but the condition of the military establishment has determined how well we can live at peace.

"Does anyone think that the Nazis and the Japs would have declared war on us in 1941 if they had imagined what our power would be in 1945?"

"Unfortunately," Patterson said, "our national education in the field of international relations has been one-sided."

He said that we have given every consideration to working with those who sincerely want peace, but have been unwilling to face the problem presented by those who are unwilling to cooperate for peace.

"Some ineptitude in the rough and tumble of foreign relations has cost us dear," the secretary said.

A challenge to American education, he said, is "realistic education in international relations and in the place of military strength in those relations. We must meet that challenge or see the United States sink into a state of helplessness that is an incentive to war."

Secretary Patterson said that "we can prevent a repetition of 1914 and 1939 best if the peoples of those countries learn the value of peace and world cooperation. If they are to learn, we must teach. Here is a challenge not only to the army, but to American education and to the entire nation."

Final Decision To Use A-Bomb On Japan Made By Truman

Boston, Jan. 27 (AP)—President Truman personally made the decision to use the atomic bomb against Japan.

He divulged this in a letter to Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, published in the February issue of the Atlantic Monthly out today.

Commenting on Dr. Compton's article that the atomic bomb saved "hundreds of thousands—perhaps several millions—of lives, both American and Japanese" and shortened the war several months, Mr. Truman wrote:

"Final Decision By The President"

"Your statement in the Atlantic Monthly is a fair analysis of the situation except that the final decision had to be made by the President, and was made after a complete survey of the whole situation had been made. The conclusions reached were substantially those set out in your article.

"The Japanese were given fair warning, and were offered the terms which they finally accepted, well in advance of the dropping of the bomb. I imagine the bomb caused them to accept the terms."

Dr. Compton, who was assigned to General MacArthur's staff in Manila two months before the bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, wrote:

No Other Decision Possible

"No one of good conscience knowing, as Secretary Stimson and the chief of staffs did, what was probably ahead and what the atomic bomb might accomplish, could have made any different decision."

Dr. Compton said that conversations he had later with Japanese scientists supported the contention that the bulk of the Japanese believed they were winning the war until surrender was announced.

SUDAN PROBLEM SEEN HEADED FOR SECURITY COUNCIL

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 27—(AP) Egypt's insistent demands for evacuation of British troops and permanent union with the Sudan appeared tonight to be headed for United Nations Security Council action.

In a simultaneous announcement, Britain and Egypt disclosed early today that negotiations for revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty had broken down, and Prime Minister Nokrashi Pasha told the Chamber of Deputies in Cairo that his country's demands for evacuation of British troops and unity of the Nile Valley would be submitted to the United Nations.

Albania Asks Delay

Meanwhile, Albania asked the security council to postpone its hearing of British charges of Albanian mine sowing in Corfu Channel until the Tirana government can get a representative here. The council is scheduled to open the case tomorrow at 11 a.m., (E.S.T.), but it was believed Britain would accede to the Albanian request if the delay is not too long.

Sources inside the British delegation said if it appeared the Albanians were stalling that Britain's chief delegate, Sir Alexander Cadogan, would insist that the council begin the hearing without the Albanian representative. The British argue that the Albanians have had sufficient time to get a representative here to answer charges that Albanian mines damaged two British destroyers and killed 44 sailors last October.

The Egyptian government's decision to put the future of the Sudan up to the Security Council may well present one of the hottest cases yet to come before the 11-member peace-making body.

There was no immediate indication on what grounds Egypt would submit the case inasmuch as there is an existing treaty with Britain on the controversial issues.

The pact between Britain and Egypt, signed in 1936, extends to 1956. But it has a stipulation that it could be revised at the end of ten years by mutual agreement.

Negotiations for revising the treaty began eleven months ago and Egypt immediately demanded the evacuation of British troops from her soil and permanent union with the Sudan.

Under the treaty, Britain and Egypt are jointly responsible for the control and defense of the Nile Valley.

British Oppose Union

The British are opposed to the union, arguing that the Sudan should be permitted to determine its own status.

Britain moved troops into Egypt and set up military installations when she went to war with the Axis. The Egyptians argue that the war is over and that Britain should evacuate her troops.

When the treaty revision talks began, British official sources, in London estimated that it would require from two to five years to evacuate all British troops from Egypt because of the time needed to dismantle installations and the disposition of various material dumps.

At that time, the British said the bulk of Britain's forces could be evacuated within a short time but that engineers and other technicians would have to stay on until installations and dumps were dismantled and removed.

Most UN observers believed that the British would make another attempt to resume negotiations in an effort to prevent the issue from being brought before the Security Council.

Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, expressed the hope of future negotiations in which "broader and less stubborn counsels would prevail" in the House of Commons in London today. He declared that in the meantime Britain would adhere to the treaty.

Britain Enemy, Egyptian Says

[In Cairo, at the close of the Egyptian Premier's speech, a Nationalist deputy asserted that "the British are our real enemy and we should fight them hard, not only in Egypt, but in the whole world. . . . There's no use to co-operate or reach an understanding with Britain because they are imperialists."]

There was no indication when Egypt would submit the case to the Security Council. There has been no communications thus far with the United Nations secretariat.

UN OPENS STUDY OF HUMAN RIGHTS

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 27.—(AP) The United Nations began work today on one of its most difficult and ambitious undertakings—the establishment of machinery to safeguard human rights and fundamental freedoms throughout the world.

As the 18-member Commission on Human Rights was called into session to take up the task, it had before it several specific proposals but the delegates were generally agreed that they faced a long and complicated problem.

Specifically the job of the newly-created UN organ, which includes among its members such prominent advocates of human rights as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippine Republic, is to implement the principles set forth in the UN charter.

In that document, all member states have undertaken to promote and encourage "respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion," but as one delegate pointed out, there are many parts of the world where such rights and freedoms exist only "on paper."

This view was expressed by Charles Dukes, British delegate who said one of the preliminary tasks of the commission was to arrive at definitions of human rights understandable by people everywhere.

Dukes said that, once such definitions had been agreed upon, Britain would press for the creation of an international body which would hear appeals on all cases involving human rights.

Bill Of Rights First

While he did not believe that such a body could supersede the sovereignty of nations, Dukes said an international court of appeal for the cases of aggrieved people could do much to mould public opinion.

The commision was expected to act first to establish an international bill of rights and then set up several subcommissions to lay down specific definitions of the rights and freedoms guaranteed by the United Nations Charter.

Awaiting action of the commission are three proposed subcommissions, recommended by the Economic and Social Council, the commission's parent organization to which it must report its findings. These are:

1. Subcommission on freedom of information and the press.
2. Subcommission on protection of minorities.
3. Subcommission on the prevention of discrimination.

U.N. Group Elects Mrs. Roosevelt

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected chairman of the United Nations Human Rights Commission today as it began a long task looking toward the establishment of machinery to safeguard fundamental freedoms throughout the world.

The wartime President's widow was nominated by Mrs. Hansa Mehta, of India, the only other woman delegate on the eighteen-nation commission, and chosen without opposition. Mrs. Roosevelt had headed the commission in its "nuclear" meetings in New York last spring.

The commission's job specifically is to implement principles set forth in the United Nations Charter.

Stimson Reveals Fact In Article On Atomic War

New York, Jan. 27 (AP)—Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of War, disclosed today that the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in August, 1945, were the only two the United States had ready at the time.

Stimson also disclosed in an article in Harper's Magazine that military leaders were convinced that unless atomic bombs were used, major fighting would not end before the latter part of 1946 "at the earliest," with an anticipated cost of over 1,000,000 casualties to American forces alone.

Controlled Resources

In his article, Stimson also disclosed:

1. "At no time, from 1941 to 1945, did I ever hear it suggested by the President (Roosevelt), or by any other responsible member of the Government, that atomic energy should not be used in the war."

2. On April 25, 1945, Stimson told President Truman the United States "is at present in the position of controlling the resources with which to construct and use (the atomic bomb) and no other nation could reach this position for some years."

3. Total Japanese strength in the Summer of 1945 was an army of 5,000,000 men and 5,000 suicide planes. The Japanese Navy had "practically ceased to exist except as a harrying force against an invasion fleet."

Tentative Jap Proposals

4. In July, 1945, prior to the atomic bombings, Japan was making tentative peace proposals to the Soviet Government, "hoping to use the Russians as mediators in a negotiated peace."

5. The strategic plans of the armed forces were formulated without reliance upon the atomic bomb.

[President Truman said in a letter to Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, published today in the Atlantic Monthly, that he personally made the decision to use the atomic bomb.]

Stimson said in his article that "the two atomic bombs which we had dropped were the only ones we had ready, and our rate of production at the time was very small.

"A Psychological Weapon"

"Had the war continued until the projected invasion (of Japan) on November 1 (1945), additional fire-raids of B-29's would have been more destructive of life and property than the very limited number of atomic raids which we could have executed in the same period. But the atomic bomb was more than a weapon of terrible destruction; it was a psychological weapon."

So completely did America keep its secret, that "so far as the Japanese could know," Stimson said, "our ability to execute atomic attacks, if necessary by many planes at a time, was unlimited."

"The decision to use the atomic bomb was a decision that brought death to over 100,000 Japanese," he said. "No explanation can change that fact and I do not wish to gloss it over. But this deliberate, premeditated destruction was our least abhorrent choice. . . . The bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki ended a war. They also made it wholly clear that we must never have another war."

Stimson also revealed that the small group of men who guided the development of the atomic bomb knew that its implications were manifold.

In his memorandum to President Truman on April 25, 1945, wherein he disclosed that no other nation could attain the position of the United States for several years, Stimson asserted:

"It is extremely probable that the future will make it possible for atomic bombs to be constructed by smaller nations or even groups, or at least by a larger nation in a much shorter time. . . .

Conquest In Few Days

"With its aid even a very powerful unsuspecting nation might be conquered within a very few days by a very much smaller one. . . .

"No system of control heretofore considered would be adequate to control this menace. . . . The question of sharing it with other nations and, if so shared, upon what terms, becomes a primary question of our foreign relations."

Stimson said the controlling factor in timing the atomic attacks was President Truman's decision that Japan first be warned at the Big Three Potsdam conference of disastrous results unless she immediately surrendered. This warning was issued July 26, 1945, to show Allied unity. The warning, Stimson said, followed the line of reasoning of a memorandum he delivered to the President July 2, 1945.

Bitter Fight Forecast

In the memorandum, Stimson declared:

"Once started in actual invasion (of the Japanese homeland) we shall in my opinion have to go through with an even more bitter finish fight than in Germany. We shall incur the losses incident to such a war and we shall have to leave the Japanese islands even more thoroughly destroyed than was the case with Germany. . . .

"I think that the attempt to exterminate her armies and her population by gunfire or other means will tend to produce a fusion of race solidity and antipathy which has no analogy in the case of Germany.

"We have a national interest in creating, if possible, a condition wherein the Japanese nation may live as a peaceful and useful member of the future Pacific community."

NIGHT LEAD EGYPTIAN

LONDON, JAN. 27-(AP)-FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY THAT NEGOTIATIONS FOR REVISING THE 1936 ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY HAD CRACKED UP OVER THE ISSUE OF THE SUDAN. IN CAIRO A CHEERING CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES HEARD PREMIER MAHMOUD FAHMY NOKRASHI PASHA SAY THE ISSUE WOULD BE PRESENTED TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL.

BEVIN EXPRESSED HOPE FOR FUTURE NEGOTIATIONS IN WHICH "BROADER AND LESS STUBBORN COUNSELS WOULD PREVAIL," BUT MADE NO REFERENCE TO EGYPT'S DECISION TO REFER THE MATTER TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL. HE DECLARED THAT INTERESTS OF BOTH COUNTRIES DEMAND A NEW TREATY AND JUSTIFY EVERY EFFORT TO ACHIEVE AN AGREEMENT.

WHILE KING FAROUK LISTENED FROM A BALCONY PREMIER NOKRASHI PASHA DECLARED THAT EGYPT HAD BEEN UNABLE TO ACHIEVE AGREEMENT ON THE DEMANDS FOR EVACUATION OF BRITISH TROOPS AND UNITY OF THE NILE VALLEY, AND THEREFORE HAD DECIDED "TO SUBMIT THE QUESTION" TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

THE PREMIER SAID IT WAS "RIDICULOUS THAT ANYBODY SHOULD CLAIM THAT EGYPT WANTS TO DOMINATE THE SUDAN"--NOW GOVERNED JOINTLY BY BRITAIN AND EGYPT.

A NATIONALIST DEPUTY ASSERTED AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE PREMIER'S SPEECH THAT "THE BRITISH ARE OUR REAL ENEMY AND WE SHOULD FIGHT THEM ~~HARD~~ NOT ONLY IN EGYPT BUT IN THE WHOLE WORLD X X X THERE'S NO USE TO COOPERATE OR REACH AN UNDERSTANDING WITH BRITAIN BECAUSE THEY ARE IMPERIALISTS."

BEVIN SAID HE HAD OFFERED TO SIGN A TREATY OF MUTUAL ASSISTANCE WITH AN ATTACHED AGREEMENT FOR EVACUATION OF BRITISH TROOPS. MOST OF THE TROOPS ALREADY HAVE BEEN MOVED FROM CENTRAL EGYPT TO THE SUEZ CANAL ZONE. HE DECLARED ALSO THAT HE HAD AGREED TO START SEPARATE DISCUSSIONS OF EGYPTIAN DEMANDS FOR THE SUDAN AT A CONFERENCE TO BE ATTENDED BY THE SUDANESE.

THE BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ADDED THAT ALL THESE PROPOSALS MET EITHER WITH "AN UNCOMPROMISING NEGATIVE" OR COUNTER PROPOSALS WHICH WOULD INVOLVE THE THEORY THAT THE SUDAN MUST BE JOINED PERMANENTLY WITH EGYPT. HE SAID HE MADE PLEDGES TO THE SUDANESE LAST MARCH THAT NO CHANGE WOULD BE MADE IN THEIR STATUS WITHOUT PRIOR CONSULTATIONS THROUGH CONSTITUTIONAL CHANNELS.

LONDON, JAN. 27-(AP)-BRITISH HOPES OF SETTLING THE PALESTINE PROBLEM BY SPLITTING THE COUNTRY BETWEEN THE JEWS AND THE ARABS RECEIVED A SETBACK TODAY WHEN THE IDEA OF PARTITION WAS REJECTED FLATLY BY THE ARABS.

SPEAKING AT THE FIRST SESSION OF THE RESUMED LONDON CONFERENCE ON THE FUTURE OF THE HOLY LAND, JAMAL EFFENDI HUSSEINI, SPOKESMAN FOR PALESTINE ARABS, SAID HIS DELEGATION COULD NOT ACCEPT A DIVISION OF THE COUNTRY AND DEMANDED INSTEAD THAT RESIDENTS OF PALESTINE THEMSELVES DETERMINE ITS FUTURE STATUS.

THE CONFERENCE THEN ADJOURNED UNTIL LATER THIS WEEK.

1947

THE ARAB DEMAND OF SELF-DETERMINATION UNDOUBTEDLY WOULD BE REJECTED BY THE JEWS AND PROBABLY WILL BE RECEIVED COLDLY BY THE BRITISH BECAUSE OF THE ARAB 2-TO-1 MAJORITY IN THE HOLY LAND WHICH WOULD DEPRIVE JEWS OF MUCH VOICE IN ITS ADMINISTRATION.

LONDON, JAN.27-(AP)-A FRESH OUTBREAK OF ANTI-BRITISH VIOLENCE IN JERUSALEM DIMMED HOPES FOR A SUCCESSFUL SOLUTION OF THE HOLY LAND PROBLEM AS THE CONFERENCE ON PALESTINE WAS RECONVENED HERE TODAY.

FOUR MEN AND A WOMAN, DESCRIBED BY POLICE AS MEMBERS OF THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND, LAST NIGHT KIDNAPED H.I.COLLINS, A BRITISH BANK DIRECTOR MOSLEM CEMETERY, DEFYING PURSUIT BY 600 BRITISH TROOPS WHICH QUICKLY SURROUNDED THE AREA.

BRITISH AUTHORITIES SAID COLLINS -- A FORMER BRITISH ARMY MAJOR -- APPARENTLY WAS SEIZED BY IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI IN RETAILIATION FOR THE DEATH SENTENCE PRONOUNCED RECENTLY ON A MEMBER OF THE EXTREMIST ORGANIZATION, WHO IS SCHEDULED TO DIE TOMORROW FOR AN ATTACK ON A PALESTINE POLICE STATION IN WHICH SEVERAL PERSONS WERE KILLED.

THE DEVELOPMENT CAST A SHADOW OF PESSIMISM OVER THE RESUMPTION OF THE TALKS WHICH BRITISH AND ARAB OFFICIALS BEGAN HERE LAST SEPT.9 AND WHICH WERE ADJOURNED OCT.2 WITHOUT ANY NOTABLE PROGRESS BEING ACHIEVED.

THE JEWS, WHO BOYCOTTED THE INITIAL DISCUSSIONS, ONCE AGAIN WERE ABSENT FROM THE COUNCIL TABLE -- THE JEWISH AGENCY HAVING DECIDED AGAINST PARTICIPATION AT ITS RECENT CONCLAVE IN BASEL.

HOWEVER, DAVID BEN GURION, CHAIRMAN OF THE AGENCY EXECUTIVE, WAS IN LONDON WITH HIS COLLEAGUES, AND IT WAS UNDERSTOOD HE WOULD BE AVAILABLE FOR INFORMAL TALKS. ANGLO-JEWISH ASSOCIATION AND AGUDAS ISRAEL, INTERNATIONAL BODY OF ORTHODOX JEWRY -- NEITHER OF WHICH ARE ASSOCIATED WITH THE JEWISH AGENCY -- ALSO ARE EXPECTED TO SEEK AN OPPORTUNITY TO EXPLAIN THEIR VIEWS.

THE PALESTINE ARABS, WHO ARE REPRESENTED FOR THE FIRST TIME, ARE EXPECTED TO PRESENT THEIR CASE INDEPENDENTLY OF THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SEVEN ARAB LEAGUE STATES, TO WHOM THEY LEFT THE EARLY STAGES OF DISCUSSION.

HOW THE CONFERENCE CAN RECONCILE THE VIEWS OF THE PALESTINE ARABS, WHO ARE BITTERLY OPPOSED TO FURTHER JEWISH IMMIGRATION, WITH THE DEMAN OF THE ZIONISTS, WHO WANT ALL OR A MAJOR PORTION OF THE COUNTRY, WAS A MOOT QUESTION.

BRITAIN HAS OFFERED TO GIVE FULL CONSIDERATION TO ANY PARTITION PLAN WHICH MAY BE PUT FORWARD, BUT THE BRITISH PRESS WAS FRANKLY SKEPTICAL THAT ANY SORT OF AGREEMENT COULD BE REACHED.

"THERE IS NO LONGER ANY POSSIBILITY OF BRIDGING THE GULF BETWEEN THE ARAB AND JEWISH POSITIONS BY COMMON CONSENT," DECLARED THE TIMES OF LONDON IN AN EDITORIAL TYPICAL OF BRITISH PRESS REACTION.

LONDON, JAN.27-(AP)-AN INFORMED SOURCE SAID TODAY THAT RUSSIA HAD REJECTED AN INFORMAL AMERICAN SUGGESTION THAT THE ALLIES IMPOSE A PEACE STATUTE UPON GERMANY.

INSTEAD, THIS SOURCE DECLARED, RUSSIA HAS SUBMITTED A MEMORANDUM TO THE DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS PROPOSING THAT THE BIG FOUR WRITE A COMPLETE TREATY, OBTAIN ITS APPROVAL BY ALL THE NATIONS WHICH DECLARED WAR AGAINST GERMANY, AND THEN REQUIRE ITS RATIFICATION BY A RECONSTITUTED GERMAN GOVERNMENT.

THE "IMPOSED PEACE STATUTE" WAS SUGGESTED LAST WEEK TO THE DEPUTIES -- WHO ARE MEETING HERE TO PREPARE THE GROUNDWORK FOR THE GERMAN TREATY -- BY U.S. DELEGATE ROBERT MURPHY.

UNDER THE SOVIET PROPOSAL THE BIG FOUR, AFTER DRAFTING A PROPOSED TREATY, WOULD CALL AN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS THE DRAFT. INVITED WOULD BE ALL THOSE NATIONS WHICH PARTICIPATED IN THE WAR AGAINST GERMANY.

AFTER THE CONFERENCE'S VIEWS HAD BEEN EXAMINED, THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL WOULD REVISE THE TREATY AND SUBMIT IT TO A SECOND CONFERENCE COMPOSED OF THOSE NATIONS WHICH FORMALLY DECLARED WAR ON GERMANY.

1947

THE TREATY AS IT EMERGED FROM THIS CONFERENCE THEN WOULD BE PRESENTED FOR SIGNATURE TO THE NEW CENTRAL GERMAN AUTHORITY WHICH, THE RUSSIANS ENVISAGE, WOULD BY THAT TIME BE CONSTITUTED.

LONDON, JAN.27-(AP)-FOREIGN MINISTER ERNEST BEVIN HELD A LONG CONVERSATION WITH SOVIET AMBASSADOR GEORGI ZARUBIN TODAY, PRESUMABLY TO DISCUSS COMPLAINTS FROM PRIME MINISTER STALIN CONCERNING "RESERVATIONS WHICH WEAKEN" THE BRITISH-RUSSIAN 20-YEAR FRIENDSHIP TREATY.

IT WAS ZARUBIN'S FIRST CALL AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE SINCE HIS ARRIVAL FROM MOSCOW ON JAN.13.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE DESCRIBED ZARUBIN'S APPEARANCE AS AN "OFFICIAL CALL," AND FOREIGN OFFICE SOURCES SAID THEY CONSIDERED IT UNLIKELY THAT BEVIN WOULD MISS A CHANCE TO TRY TO PIN DOWN SPECIFICALLY THE "RESERVATIONS" WHICH ANNOY STALIN.

1947

A GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID RECENTLY THAT STALIN "EXPRESSED HIS ANXIETY" OVER THE BASIS OF THE TREATY DURING A TALK WITH FIELD MARSHAL LORD MONTGOMERY WHEN THE CHIEF OF THE IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF VISITED RUSSIA EARLIER THIS MONTH.

TO DISCOVER THE CAUSE OF STALIN'S "PERPLEXITY" AS EXPRESSED IN HIS NOTE TO BEVIN AND TO DRAFT AN ALLIANCE WITH FRANCE HAVE BECOME THE TWO CHIEF TASKS OF BRITISH DIPLOMACY.

FIRST LEAD NAZIS (300)

NUERNBERG, GERMANY, JAN 27-(AP))-FRITZ SCHAEFFER, FIRST PRESIDENT OF BAVARIA UNDER U.S. OCCUPATION, SWORE TODAY HE SAW DOCUMENTS WHICH PROVED THAT ADOLF HITLER AND ERNST ROEHM PLOTTED TO OVERTHROW PRESIDENT PAUL VON HINDENBURG'S GERMANY GOVERNMENT IN 1932 ON THE PRETEXT OF A POLISH THREAT.

THE NEXT YEAR, HINDENBURG MADE HITLER CHANCELLOR AND SOON AFTERWARDS, ROEHM, THE STORM TROOP LEADER, WAS MURDERED IN THE NAZI BLOOD PURGE.

SCHAEFFER TESTIFIED BEFORE A GERMAN DENAZIFICATION COURT TRYING FRANZ VON PAPEN, CHANCELLOR JUST BEFORE HITLER AND ONE OF THREE MEN ACQUITTED IN THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES TRIALS.

HE SAID HITLER AND ROEHM PLANNED TO HAVE THE S.S. AND S.A. SEIZE THE GOVERNMENT, AT A TIME WHEN THE NAZIS STILL WERE A MINORITY, AND EXCUSE THE COUP BY ASSERTING THAT POLISH ARMIES WERE MASSED ON THE BORDER FOR AN ATTACK.

"HITLER AND ROEHM SIGNED AN ORDER TO THE S.A. AND S.S. NOT TO JOIN THE ARMY ON THE POLISH BORDER BUT TO SEIZE POWER WITHIN THE REICH," SCHAEFFER TESTIFIED.

"THE STORM TROOPERS WERE SUPPOSED TO RALLY IN KOENIGSBERG IN EAST PRUSSIA AND PROCLAIM HITLER AS LEADER AND GOVERNOR OF GERMANY, RECOGNIZING ONLY HIS AUTHORITY, REGARDLESS OF PRESIDENT VON HINDENBURG. THIS ORDER WAS DOUBTLESS HIGH TREASON AND NEVERTHELESS, VON PAPEN TRIED TO FORM A GOVERNMENT TOGETHER WITH THE NAZIS."

HE DID NOT EXPLAIN WHY THE PUTSCH FAILED TO MATERIALIZE.

SCHAEFFER ACCUSED VON PAPEN OF BEING A DIRECTOR OF THE "HERRENCLUB, WHICH HE SAID REALLY PUT THE NAZIS IN POWER. HE DESCRIBED THIS AS A GROUP OF POLITICIANS AND MILITARISTS WHO HAD THE GREATEST POWER BEHIND THE SCENES.

VON PAPEN, ANGERED BY THE CHARGES, RETORTED THAT THE CLUB WAS ONLY A PRIVATE ORGANIZATION WITHOUT MUCH INFLUENCE.

SCHAEFFER SAID THE FATE OF GERMANY WAS DECIDED BY THE HERRENCLUB, AND THAT IT WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE OUSTINGS OF CHANCELLORS HEINRICH BRUENING AND KURT VON SCHLEICHER TO MAKE WAY FOR THE PAPEN REGIME.

HANS FRITZSCHE, ANOTHER NAZI ACQUITTED IN THE WAR CRIMES TRIAL, TOLD THE COURT EARLIER HE WAS "BETRAYED" BY THE NAZI LEADERSHIP IN WHICH HE ONCE BELIEVED.

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 27-(AP)-American army headquarters announced the arrest today in Bremen of Cihal Bilen, a Czech wanted in Paris on a charge of killing an American soldier and one other person.

Corps Ervin R. Mueller of Lavelle, Wis., a student military policeman, arrested the suspect.

BELGRADE, JAN. 27-(AP)-GEN.VLADIMIR VELEBIT, DEPUTY MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE TODAY THAT YUGOSLAVIA WOULD "TAKE MEASURES" WITH THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT SEEKING PUNISHMENT OF CHETNIKS WHO ASSAULTED TWO YUGOSLAV AGENTS IN AN ITALIAN CAMP LAST SATURDAY, KILLING ONE AND SERIOUSLY INJURING THE OTHER.

"THIS IS ONE OF THE MOST SERIOUS CASES TO OCCUR IN THE MUTUAL RELATIONS BETWEEN BRITISH AUTHORITIES AND YUGOSLAVS," HE SAID. "YUGOSLAVIA WILL TAKE MEASURES WITH THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT TO ACHIEVE THE AIM OF PUNISHMENT OF THE WAR CRIMINALS AND TO CONDUCT A DETAILED INVESTIGATION OF THIS INCIDENT."

HE SAID NO FORMAL NOTE HAD BEEN DELIVERED TO BRITAIN AS YET, BUT THAT ACTION WOULD BE TAKEN SOON BY HIS GOVERNMENT.

(REPORTS FROM ITALY SAID THE TWO YUGOSLAVS WERE BEATEN BY CHETNIKS WHEN THEY VISITED THE CAMP UNDER BRITISH CONTROL IN AN EFFORT TO PERSUADE ITS INMATES TO RETURN TO YUGOSLAVIA.)

VELEBIT IDENTIFIED THE MAN KILLED IN THE ATTACK AS VISKO GLUMCHICH ACTING CONSUL-GENERAL AT NAPLES, WHO WAS ON SPECIAL DUTY DEALING WITH YUGOSLAV INMATES OF ITALIAN CAMPS.

warsaw, jan. 27 - (ap) - the british embassy said today that ambassador victor cavendish-bentinck had submitted a report to his government on poland's jan. 19 national elections, but did not indicate what the diplomat said in the report.

the embassy declared also that cavendish-bentinck had not conferred with vice-premier stanislaw mikolajczyk, whose polish peasant party won only 28 parliamentary seats of the 444 at stake in the elections.

newspapers supporting the pro-government bloc of parties prominently displayed news stories jan. 22 that the british ambassador conferred with mikolajczyk on that day--a meeting they said was of "great significance."

both great britain and the united states protested before the election that the government parties' campaign tactics precluded a fair, free election.

MOSCOW, JAN 27-(AP)-THE COMMUNIST PARTY ORGAN PRAVDA LASHED OUT AT REPUBLICAN LEADERS JOHN FOSTER DULLES AND SEN. ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG (R-MICH.) YESTERDAY, ASSERTING THAT IF THE U.S. FOLLOWED THEIR FOREIGN RELATIONS POLICIES, SHE "WOULD UNDERMINE THE VERY FOUNDATION OF INTERNATIONAL COLLABORATION."

DULLES, WHO HAS BEEN ATTACKED FREQUENTLY BY THE SOVIET PRESS, WAS TAKEN TO TASK FOR HIS PROPOSAL TO LINK GERMANY'S ECONOMY WITH SUCH EUROPEAN NEIGHBORS AS FRANCE, BELGIUM AND THE NETHERLANDS, WHICH PRAVDA DESCRIBED AS "AN AMERICAN VARIANT OF CHURCHILL'S NOTORIOUS PLAN FOR A UNITED STATES OF EUROPE."

THE ARTICLE ADDED THAT DULLES' PLAN HAD EVOKED ALARM AMONG "MOST PROGRESSIVE SOBER CIRCLES IN THE UNITED STATES."

(DULLES, WHO IS A MEMBER OF THE U.S. DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY, WAS FOREIGN AFFAIRS ADVISOR TO GOV. THOMAS E. DEWEY DURING THE 1944 PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.)

VANDENBERG WAS CRITICIZED FOR A SPEECH MADE IN CLEVELAND JAN.11, WHICH THE ARTICLE DESCRIBED AS "A CONSISTENT, FRANK PROGRAM OF IMPERIALIST EXPANSION."

THE PAPER SAID THAT VANDENBERG, WHO IS CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, DEMANDED "FIRMNESS" IN AMERICAN DEALINGS WITH RUSSIA, AND "ALTHOUGH AFTER 'FIRMNESS' HE MENTIONS 'FRIENDLINESS' THE MEANING OF THIS TERMINOLOGY COMING FROM VANDENBERG'S LIPS LEAVES NO DOUBTS."

PRAVDA SAID THAT THE SENATOR'S STATEMENT THAT THE U.S. SHOULD "FRESHEN" PAN-AMERICAN SOLIDARITY IN THE FACE OF A "THREATENING WAVE OF COMMUNISM" INDICATED THAT THE UNITED STATES WANTED TO "FORCE UPON LATIN-AMERICAN COUNTRIES THE SO-CALLED ALL-AMERICAN DEFENSE PLAN."

(IN NEW YORK YESTERDAY DULLES TOLD INTERVIEWERS THAT HIS PROPOSAL FOR THE ECONOMIC UNIFICATION OF EUROPE ORIGINALLY WAS MADE ON SEPT. 18, 1941 WHILE HE WAS SERVING AS CHAIRMAN OF THE FEDERATED COUNCIL OF CHURCHES' COMMISSION ON A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE.

(DULLES SAID THAT THE PLAN FOR LINKING GERMANY'S ECONOMY WITH ITS EUROPEAN NEIGHBORS "THUS HAS AN ORIGIN WHOLLY UNRELATED TO THE PRESENT POSITION OF THE SOVIET UNION IN EUROPE OR MR. CHURCHILL'S PRESENT ADVOCACY OF A UNITED STATES OF EUROPE.")

1947

THE PREMIER'S INTENTIONS WERE DISCLOSED LAST NIGHT BY COMMUNICATIONS MINISTER DESSOUKI ABAZA PASHA, FOLLOWING A TWO-HOUR SESSION OF THE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS.

DESSOUKI PASHA DECLARED IT WAS THE PREMIER'S PLAN TO SUBMIT EGYPT'S "WHOLE CASE" TO THE UNITED NATIONS--WHICH WOULD MEAN THAT THE U.N. WOULD BE ASKED TO CONSIDER THE RIGHT OF BRITAIN TO RETAIN TROOPS IN EGYPT AS WELL AS THE STATUS OF THE SUDAN.

NEGOTIATIONS LOOKING TOWARD REVISION OF THE 1936 TREATY HAVE BEEN UNDER WAY BETWEEN BRITISH AND EGYPTIAN REPRESENTATIVES FOR 11 MONTHS. THE EGYPTIANS HAVE BEEN DEMANDING THE EVACUATION OF BRITISH TROOPS FROM EGYPTIAN SOIL AND UNION WITH SUDAN, RATHER THAN THE PRESENT BRITISH-EGYPTIAN CONDOMINIUM OVER THAT TERRITORY.

ON THE EVACUATION ISSUE, QUESTIONS HAVE ARISEN WITH REGARD TO THE LENGTH OF TIME THE BRITISH ESTIMATE IS NECESSARY TO COMPLETE THE WITHDRAWAL AND ALSO AS TO THEIR FUTURE RIGHTS TO BASE TROOPS IN EGYPT IN EVENT OF WAR IN THE MIDDLE EAST.

ON THE SUDANESE QUESTION, BRITAIN HAS MAINTAINED THAT THE SUDAN SHOULD BE ALLOWED TO DETERMINE ITS OWN FUTURE STATUS.

PEIPING, JAN.27-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT SENT AIRBORNE SUPPLIES TO THE HARD-PRESSED GARRISON OF TINGHSIEN ON THE PEIPING-HANKOW RAILWAY TODAY AND ORDERED A TOP GENERAL TO THE SCENE TO DIRECT THE DEFENSE AGAINST COMMUNIST FORCES WHICH INVESTED THE ROUTE AT SEVERAL PLACES.

PRO-GOVERNMENT PRESS DISPATCHES SAID THE COMMUNISTS HAD BURST INTO THE STREETS OF TINGHSIEN, WHICH IS 128 MILES SOUTHWEST OF PEIPING, AND WERE BEING OPPOSED BY THE LOCAL DEFENSE FORCES IN A HOT BATTLE.

ONE PAPER SAID THE DEFENDERS WERE OUTNUMBERED 10 TO 1 BUT GAVE NO FIGURES. WHEN THE COMMUNISTS FIRST ATTACKED THE RAILWAY LAST WEEK AFTER A BRIEF LULL, THEY WERE SAID TO INCLUDE 5,000 CAVALRY.

GOVERNMENT REINFORCEMENTS WERE MOVING FROM PEIPING AND ALSO FROM THE SOUTHWEST, BUT THOSE FROM PEIPING WERE REPORTED STOPPED BY COMMUNIST SKIRMISHERS NEAR TSAOHO, 84 MILES FROM PEIPING AND SEVEN MILES NORTHEAST OF PAOTING.

ALTHOUGH WEBB ALLOWED THE DEFENSE TO PLACE ITS CHALLENGE OF MACARTHUR'S AUTHORITY IN THE RECORD, HE REFUSED TO HEAR IT READ IN COURT.

THE DEFENSE IN ITS MOVE FOR DISMISSAL CONTENDED THAT A CONSPIRACY AMONG THE DEFENDANTS TO VIOLATE INTERNATIONAL LAW AND TREATIES HAD NOT BEEN PROVED, THAT THE PEARL HARBOR ATTACK WAS NOT PERTINENT TO THE TRIAL BECAUSE THE UNITED STATES HAD RECEIVED "ADEQUATE WARNING" THROUGH INTERCEPTED JAPANESE MESSAGES, AND THAT HEARSAY EVIDENCE AND AFFIDAVITS HAD BEEN ADMITTED, THUS PREJUDICING THE RIGHTS OF THE DEFENDANTS TO A FAIR TRIAL.

IN CHALLENGING THE VALIDITY OF MACARTHUR'S CREATION OF THE THREE-POWER TRIBUNAL, THE DEFENSE ARGUED THAT THE U.S. COMSTITUTION RESERVED ONLY TO CONGRESS THE RIGHT TO ENTER INTO INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS, AND MACARTHUR, A U.S. CITIZEN, ACTED WITHOUT CONGRESSIONAL AUTHORITY.

THE DEFENSE APPARENTLY HOPED TO OBTAIN A SUPREME COURT RULING WHICH WOULD REDUCE THE TRIBUNAL TO THE STATUS OF A U.S. ARMY COURT PROVIDED UNDER AMERICAN LAW. UNDER SUCH A DEFINITION MUCH OF THE TESTIMONY AGAINST THE DEFENDANTS WOULD BE ELIMINATED BY AMERICAN RULES AGAINST HEARSAY EVIDENCE AND THAT FROM AFFIDAVITS WHICH THE DEFENSE HAD NO OPPORTUNITY TO CROSS EXAMINE.

THE JAPANESE DESTROYED MOST OF THEIR RECORDS, AND THE TRIBUNAL HAS ADMITTED CONSIDERABLE HEARSAY EVIDENCE FOR ITS "PROBATIVE VALUE" WITHOUT DEFINING THE WEIGHT THE JUDGES WILL GIVE IT.

BY NORMAN CARIGNAN

WASHINGTON, JAN. 27-(AP)-PROSPECTS FOR HOLDING THE LONG POSTPONED INTER-AMERICAN DEFENSE CONFERENCE AT RIO DE JANEIRO APPEAR BRIGHTER TODAY THAN AT ANY TIME DURING THE PAST 15 MONTHS.

THE REASON FOR THIS IS EVIDENCE THAT THE UNITED STATES AND ARGENTINA ARE NEARING A SETTLEMENT OF THEIR DIFFERENCES OVER NAZI INFLUENCES IN THE SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLIC.

THE CONFERENCE ORIGINALLY WAS SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER, 1945, TO NEGOTIATE A MUTUAL DEFENSE TREATY WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER.

THE UNITED STATES, HOWEVER, BALKED AT THE IDEA OF SIGNING ANY SUCH COMPACT WITH ARGENTINA UNTIL THAT COUNTRY HAD ELIMINATED GERMAN OWNERSHIP FROM BUSINESS FIRMS THERE, DEPORTED KNOWN NAZI AGENTS AND REMOVED GERMAN INFLUENCE FROM SCHOOLS AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS.

REPEATED CONTENTIONS THAT ARGENTINA HAD NOT FULFILLED THESE DEMANDS FINALLY LED TO INDEFINITE POSTPONEMENT OF THE CONFERENCE.

BUT THIS IMPASSE BEGAN TO BREAK OVER THE WEEK-END IN A RAPID SERIES OF EVENTS.

FIRST THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED THAT IT WAS TAKING OVER CONTROL OF 60 PROMINENT GERMAN FIRMS.

THEN AMBASSADOR GEORGE S.MESSERSMITH--WHO RETURNED HOME LAST MONTH FOR A SHOWDOWN IN HIS FIGHT WITH ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE SPRUILLE BRADEN--CONFERRED IN TURN WITH BRADEN AND SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL. MESSERSMITH FOR MONTHS HAS FAVORED A FRIENDLIER ATTITUDE TOWARD ARGENTINA.

ALMOST IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING HIS ANNOUNCEMENT THAT HE IS GOING BACK TO BUENOS AIRES TO RESUME HIS DIPLOMATIC POST, THE STATE DEPARTMENT RUSHED OUT AN UNEXPECTEDLY CONCILIATORY STATEMENT TOWARD ARGENTINA.

THE STATEMENT SAID THIS COUNTRY REGARDS THE DECISION TO BUY UP THE GERMAN FIRMS AS AN "IMPORTANT STEP" AND INDICATED IT NOW IS SATISFIED WITH ARGENTINA'S PERFORMANCE ON TWO OF THE THREE UNITED STATES DEMANDS.

IT SAID THAT ON THE ONE OUTSTANDING ISSUE--THE DEPORTATION OF GERMAN AGENTS--CONSULTATIONS WITH THE REGIME OF JUAN D.PERON WILL CONTINUE.

PRESUMABLY THIS WILL BE MESSERSMITH'S BIGGEST TASK UPON HIS RETURN.

A COMPLICATING FACTOR, HOWEVER, ACCORDING TO DIPLOMATS HERE, IS THAT MANY OF THE MOST NOTORIOUS NAZI AGENTS RECENTLY SCATTERED THROUGHOUT ARGENTINA WHEN A PREMATURE LEAK TIPPED THEM OFF THAT THE POLICE WERE ABOUT TO ROUND THEM UP.

ONLY 14 OUT OF 52 ON THE POLICE LIST WERE ARRESTED. EIGHT OTHERS WERE PICKED UP LATER. BUT SOME OF THE KEY GERMAN AGENTS WHO THE UNITED STATES CLAIMS OPERATED IN ARGENTINA DURING THE WAR ARE STILL AT LARGE.

DESPITE THESE DIFFICULTIES, MANY LATIN AMERICAN DIPLOMATS FIGURED OPTIMISTICALLY TODAY THAT THE ENTIRE SITUATION MIGHT BE STRAIGHTENED OUT SOON WITH PROSPECTS OF HOLDING THE RIO CONFERENCE BY THE MIDDLE OF THE YEAR.

AN EARLY DATE FOR THE MEETING WAS ONE OF THE POINTS STRESSED BY CHAIRMAN VANDENBERG (R-MICH), OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE IN HIS RECENT FOREIGN POLICY SPEECH.

WORLD FLIGHT

BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, JAN. 27-(AP)-SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL APPARENTLY WILL HAVE TO DECIDE SHORTLY BEFORE OR AFTER HIS TRIP TO MOSCOW WHETHER TO LET THE ARMY AIR FORCES SEND A FLEET OF B-29 BOMBERS AROUND THE WORLD.

THE SAME PROBLEM CAME BEFORE JAMES F.BYRNES LAST FALL WHEN HE WAS SECRETARY OF STATE AND BYRNES IN EFFECT BLOCKED THE VENTURE AT A DELICATE PERIOD OF UNITED STATES-RUSSIAN RELATIONS.

WHAT ACTUALLY HAPPENED WAS THAT AFTER ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR SYMINGTON SUDDENLY ANNOUNCED THAT THE AIR FORCES WERE PLANNING THE WORLD CIRCLING FLIGHT, THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S UNOFFICIAL OPPOSITION BECAME SO APPARENT THE MILITARY CHIEFS SUSPENDED IMMEDIATE PLANS FOR THE OPERATION.

BUT THAT WAS LAST FALL WITH THE PARIS PEACE CONFERENCE STILL AHEAD AND WITH MOSCOW STILL VOICING SHARP DISAPPROVAL OF THE AMERICAN NAVY'S MEDITERRANEAN CRUISES.

SINCE THEN THE SITUATION HAS CHANGED CONSIDERABLY. RECENTLY THERE HAVE BEEN PERSISTENT REPORTS THAT THE AIR FORCES ARE GOING AHEAD ACTIVELY AGAIN WITH ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FLIGHT. ARMY AIRMEN SAY SIMPLY THAT PLANS HAVE NEVER BEEN CANCELLED AND HENCE DO NOT NEED TO BE REVIVED.

THEY ARE RELUCTANT TO ACKNOWLEDGE THAT ANY FRESH IMPETUS HAS BEEN GIVEN THE PROJECT BUT, ACCORDING TO INFORMATION REACHING DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES UNOFFICIALLY, THIS APPEARS TO BE THE CASE.

AT WHAT POINT THE STATE DEPARTMENT MAY BE CALLED UPON FOR APPROVAL IS NOT YET INDICATED, BUT MOST INFORMANTS BELIEVE IT PROBABLY WILL BE EITHER LATE THIS WINTER OR EARLY IN THE SPRING.

THE PROBABILITY IS THAT THE REQUEST WILL BE DELAYED UNTIL AFTER THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' MEETING AT MOSCOW TO AVOID ANY QUESTION OF DISTURBING INTERNATIONAL DIPLOMACY AT A TIME WHEN THE UNITED STATES IS PREPARING FOR A MAJOR CONFERENCE.

THE PLANES ARE SUPPOSED TO GO BY WAY OF EGYPT, INDIA AND THE ISLANDS OF THE PACIFIC.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT TOOK THE POSITION WHEN THE REQUEST CAME UP LAST OCTOBER THAT IT HAD NO OBJECTION TO THE ARMY AIR FORCES' CARRYING OUT ANY KIND OF USEFUL FLIGHT PROVIDED: (1) THAT THE TIMING DID NOT DISTURB WORLD DIPLOMACY AND (2) THAT THE FLIGHT DID NOT TOUCH AT SUCH PLACES AS IRAN OR THE DARDANELLES--AREAS OF CONTROVERSY BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS.

THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY WAS MEETING IN NEW YORK AT THE TIME THE FLIGHT PROJECT WAS FIRST UP FOR DISCUSSION. WORD THAT IT WOULD BE DELAYED FOLLOWED BY JUST A DAY A SPEECH BY RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV TO HIS U.N. COLLEAGUES IN WHICH HE DECLARED:

"IT IS WELL KNOWN THAT SQUADRONS OF WARSHIPS AND MILITARY PLANES APPEAR SOMETIMES IN THE SEAS AND IN PLACES WHERE THEY WERE ABSENT BEFORE, WHENEVER THIS IS CONSIDERED ESSENTIAL FOR ACHIEVING THE GREATEST POSSIBLE SUCCESS IN DIPLOMATIC NEGOTIATIONS."

OTTAWA, JAN. 27-(AP)-CANADA'S CHINESE IMMIGRATION ACT, WHICH HAS ALWAYS BEEN REGARDED BY CHINA AS AN EXCLUSION ACT, IS TO BE REPEALED AND THE CHINESE WILL HENCEFORTH BE TREATED ON A PAR WITH OTHER ASIATICS, PRIME MINISTER W.L.MACKENZIE KING SAID TODAY.

"THE EFFECT OF THE REPEAL," KING SAID, "WILL BE TO REMOVE ALL DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THE CHINESE ON ACCOUNT OF RACE, AND TO BRING CHINESE PERSONS UNDER THE GENERAL PROVISIONS OF THE IMMIGRATION ACT AND NO LONGER UNDER LEGISLATION APPLYING EXCLUSIVELY TO PERSONS OF CHINESE ORIGIN."

THE CHINESE STILL WILL BE TREATED AS ASIATICS, HOWEVER, UNDER AN ORDER-IN-COUNCIL PASSED IN 1930. UNDER THIS ORDER ONLY WIVES AND CHILDREN OF PERSONS OF ASIATIC RACE WHO ARE CANADIAN CITIZENS MAY ENTER CANADA. HERETOFORE THE CHINESE WERE NOT GIVEN EVEN THIS PRIVILEGE.

KING ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE CHINESE ACT, PASSED IN 1923, "IS REGARDED BY THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT AS AN EXCLUSION ACT AND IN THE NATURE OF DISCRIMINATION ON GROUNDS OF RACE AGAINST A FRIENDLY AND ALLIED PEOPLE."

IT PROVIDES THAT ENTRY INTO CANADA OF PERSONS OF CHINESE ORIGIN SHALL BE CONFINED TO MEMBERS OF THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS, CHILDREN BORN IN CANADA WHO HAVE LEFT THE COUNTRY, MERCHANTS AND STUDENTS FOR THE DURATION OF THEIR PERIOD OF STUDY IN CANADIAN SCHOOLS.

KING SAID THAT THE BILL TO REPEAL THE CHINESE ACT WOULD BE INTRODUCED "AT AN EARLY STAGE" OF THE SESSION OF PARLIAMENT OPENING THURSDAY.

THE REPEAL WILL PERMIT ENTRY INTO CANADA OF A NUMBER OF WIVES AND UNMARRIED CHILDREN OF CANADIAN CITIZENS OF CHINESE ORIGIN WHO ARE NOW IN CHINA AND HAVE BEEN PROHIBITED HERETOFORE FROM JOINING THEIR HUSBANDS AND FATHERS IN CANADA.

THE CASES OF NON-ASIATICS DESIRING TO ENTER CANADA ARE DECIDED ON INDIVIDUAL BASIS. CANADA HAS NO QUOTA SYSTEM SUCH AS IS IN EFFECT IN THE UNITED STATES.

RECONSTRUCTION MINISTER C.D.HOWE, CHIEF CANADIAN NEGOTIATOR, SAID HE EXPECTS AN AGREEMENT WOULD BE REACHED THIS WEEK. THE CONFERENCE, A CONTINUATION OF DISCUSSIONS HELD IN WASHINGTON IN MID-DECEMBER WAS SECRET.

ONE OF THE NEW LINES CANADA WANTS TO OPERATE IS UNDERSTOOD TO BE FROM MONTREAL TO BERMUDA, WITH STOPS ENROUTE AT BOSTON OR BALTIMORE AND WITH THE RIGHT TO PICK UP AND PUT OFF PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT IN THE AMERICAN CITIES. CANADA FIRST PROJECTED SUCH A LINE TWO YEARS AGO

HOWE ALSO HAS INFORMED PARLIAMENT THAT CANADA WANTS TO OPERATE TO LATIN AMERICA, AND IN THIS CONNECTION A CARIBBEAN LINE MIGHT BE EXTENDED AND A LINE MIGHT BE OPERATED DOWN THE PACIFIC COAST FROM VANCOUVER TO MEXICO, WITH STOPS ENROUTE IN U.S.COASTAL CITIES.

THE RIGHT TO PICK UP AND PUT OFF PASSENGERS AT SUCH INTERMEDIATE STOPS--THE SO-CALLED "FIFTH FREEDOM" OF INTERNATIONAL CIVIL AVIATION--HAS BEEN THE CHIEF OBSTACLE TO REACHING A MULTILATERAL INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT CONVENTION.

THE AMERICANS, FOR THEIR PART, HAVE PROJECTED A LINE FROM CHICAGO NORTHWEST TO THE ORIENT THROUGH ALASKA, AND ALREADY ARE OPERATING IT TO ALASKA WITHOUT "FIFTH FREEDOM" RIGHTS IN CANADA. THEY WOULD LIKE SUCH RIGHTS AT EDMONTON, ALBERTA, OR WHITEHORSE, YUKON TERRITORY, OR BOTH.

IN ADDITION TO THE INTERNATIONAL ROUTES, THE CANADIANS ARE UNDERSTOOD TO DESIRE LINES RUNNING DEEP INTO THE UNITED STATES. WHAT THEY WOULD HAVE TO OFFER IN RETURN IS ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL ITEMS OF DISCUSSION.

THE U.S.NEGOTIATORS ARE HEADED BY JAMES M.LANDIS, CHAIRMAN OF THE CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD.

NOTE OTTAWA AIR CONFERENCE STORY. SEATTLE ASKS SPECIFIC ROUTES CANADA WANTS INTO U.S.MONTGOMERY SAYS THEY ARE MONTREAL-JACKSONVILLE OR MIAMI, MONTREAL-NEW ORLEANS, TORONTO-NEW ORLEANS, TORONTO-EL PASO, VANCOUVER-MEXICO THROUGH CALIFORNIA. ADDS THAT AMERICAN SOURCES ASKED HIM NOT TO MENTION THESE UNDER OTTAWA DATE BUT SUGGESTS MAY BE ABLE BREAK WASHINGTON SINCE REQUEST WAS MADE THERE IN DECEMBER.

NIGHT LEAD AVIATION (160)

OTTAWA, JAN.27-(AP)-LEADING CIVIL AVIATION OFFICIALS OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA OPENED A CONFERENCE HERE TODAY TO DISCUSS AMONG OTHER ITEMS A CANADIAN REQUEST FOR NEW LINES INTO AND THROUGH THE UNITED STATES.

CANADA IS UNDERSTOOD TO WANT THE RIGHT TO TAKE ON AND PUT OFF PASSENGERS IN BOSTON OR BALTIMORE ON A PROJECTED LINE FROM MONTREAL TO BERMUDA, AND TO HAVE SIMILAR RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA CITIES ON A LINE FROM VANCOUVER TO MEXICO.

THE UNITED STATES IS NEGOTIATING FOR SUCH RIGHTS IN EDMONTON, ALBERTA, OR WHITE HORSE, YUKON TERRITORY, ON A LINE NOW OPERATING FROM CHICAGO TO ALASKA AND PROJECTED FOR EXTENSIONS TO THE ORIENT.

IN ADDITION, SEVERAL OTHER PROJECTED LINES ARE UNDERSTOOD TO BE UNDER DISCUSSION. THE MAIN PROBLEM, FROM THE AMERICAN POINT OF VIEW IS WHAT CANADA COULD OFFER TO BALANCE THE RELATIVELY LARGER AMOUNT OF TRAFFIC AVAILABLE IN THE AMERICAN CITIES.

THE CHIEF CANADIAN NEGOTIATOR, RECONSTRUCTION MINISTER C.D.HOWE, SAID IN AN INTERVIEW THAT HE EXPECTED AN AGREEMENT WOULD BE REACHED SOMETIME THIS WEEK. THE MEETINGS ARE BEING HELD IN PRIVATE.

BRITAIN GIVES BURMA VIRTUAL INDEPENDENCE

Orders Creation Of Interim Government Pending Constitution

TOM WILLIAMS

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—Britain announced agreement with the Burmese today to grant virtual independence immediately to that Asiatic land of 17,000,000 people and ordered the creation of an interim government to administer its affairs while a new constitution is being written.

Winston Churchill, leader of the opposition, at once demanded and received a promise for an early debate on what he called "this dismal transaction."

Identical statements announcing the decision to free the 262,000 square miles of Burma from British rule were made in the House of Commons and the House of Lords by Prime Minister Attlee and Lord Pethick Lawrence, Secretary of State for India.

White Paper Issued

Additional details of the agreement reached during two weeks of discussion here with a six-man delegation of Burmese nationalist leaders headed by U Aung San were disclosed in a White Paper issued almost simultaneously.

Under the agreement Burma is given the right to decide whether to remain in the commonwealth as a British dominion or sever all ties.

An assembly to write a constitution will be elected in April and will be made up entirely of Burmese nationals.

While the constitution is being drafted, Burma will be ruled by an interim government—a native executive council and a British governor like that in India.

Besides agreeing in principle that Burma shall control her own finances in the interim period, Britain also granted immediate control of all Burmese armed forces to the Government of Burma.

British Troops Question

After the new constitution becomes effective, the question of retention or use of British forces in Burma will be subject to agreement between the two nations.

An "agreed objective" set forth in the White Paper was "early and willing unification of the frontier areas"—the Shan states and Chin Hills areas—but the decision on means of incorporating them under a Burmese Government was deferred for special study.

Approximately 5,000,000 Kerens, Chin and Kachin tribes and people of the Shan states inhabit these areas bordering India, Siam and China.

Lord Pethick-Lawrence said the British Government had "given definite pledges to the people of those areas," and whatever action was taken would have to be in "accordance with their wishes and with their free consent."

To Study Border Situation

A. G. Bottomley, dominions undersecretary, will leave by air tomorrow to investigate the frontier situation and a special committee will be set up immediately to work out the "best method of associating the frontier peoples" with Burma, he added. Representatives of the frontier areas will be on the commission.

The white paper said Britain will support a Burmese application for United Nations membership.

Churchill asked "does this statement mean that we pay as we go, or only that we go?"

Attlee replied "it means that the people of Burma have the right to decide in the future whether they should stay in the commonwealth or go outside."

Certain interest-free loans by the British will be continued for reconstruction purposes in the interim period, he added.

To Control Own Forces

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Besides agreeing in principle that Burma shall control her own finances in the interim period, Britain also granted immediate control of all Burmese armed forces to the Government of Burma.

After the new Constitution becomes effective the question of retention or use of British forces in Burma will be subject to agreement between the two nations.

The command paper also said that Britain would support a Burmese application for United Nations membership.

British, Burma Reach Accord On Freedom

London, Jan 28 (AP)—The British Government announced today it had reached an agreement with Burma that will permit the Asiatic dependency to attain independence.

Lord Pethick-Lawrence, Secretary of State for India and Burma, said that an interim Government similar to that established for India would administer affairs during the transitory period for the 262,000-square-mile region and its 17,000,000 inhabitants

Burma lies just east of India. It was a battleground in the war against Japan.

Lord Pethick-Lawrence announced the accord in the House of Lords. He said a Constituent Assembly made up entirely of Burmese Nationals would be elected next April.

Prime Minister Attlee was due to report the agreement to the House of Commons later today. The accord was reached after two weeks of discussions with Burmese Nationalist leaders.

Tass Criticizes British Ties With U.S.

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass called upon Britain today to "stand by the spirit" of her twenty-year treaty with the Soviet Union and criticized British ties with the United States, which it said "in fact have assumed the character of a military alliance."

Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin held a long conference last night with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin. An official source said the envoy was asked to clarify the "reservations" which Prime Minister Stalin recently said weakened the British-Soviet alliance.

This informant said Bevin told the British Cabinet today of the request to Zarubin.

"Matters Of Substance"

A Foreign Office spokesman would say only that Bevin ad Zarubin discussed "matters of substance" during the Ambassador's first formal call on the Foreign Secretary.

The official source, however, said Bevin knew he had the full backing of the British Government to go ahead with extension and revision of the treaty, provided the new alliance remains within the framework of Britain's United Nations obligations and that the amended pact consolidates Anglo-Soviet relations. Bevin has already offered to extend the treaty, signed in 1942, to 1992.

Out-Of-Date Clauses

There were no indications what Russia might seek in the way of amendments, but officials close to the Foreign Office stressed that it was the British view that some clauses of the existing pact were out of date, such as the one referring to mutual aid in "the war against Germany."

Diplomatic observers suggested that a revision of the British-Soviet alliance was linked directly with the Anglo-French treaty soon to be negotiated and with the already existing French-Soviet pact, completing a new European triple entente based on a series of common and inter-related objectives.

These objectives would include three-way guarantees of joint action against any future German aggression, maintenance of peace in Europe and continental security and economic prosperity.

Soon After Conference

The Tass complaint came a few hours after the Bevin-Zarubin conference. The news agency said: "One cannot say that British policy toward the U.S.S.R. conforms to the principles and demands of the treaty of alliance."

"Actually there are no few occasions when Britain and the United States have come out in a bloc against the Soviet Union," the news agency added.

"Military Alliance"

"Britain has not formally concluded a treaty of alliance with the United States; nevertheless, no one can doubt the existence of intimate relations between Britain and the United States, which in fact have assumed the character of a military alliance."

The Soviet news agency also called attention to a recent article in the Communist Daily Worker of London, which it quoted as saying that British-Soviet relations were in a "most unsatisfactory state" and that the friendship treaty, signed in 1942, "might just as well not exist for all the meaning it has at the present moment."

The new Tass statements seemed to indicate there was to be no relaxing of the pressure on Britain which began when Pravda interpreted a statement by Bevin that Britain "does not tie herself to anyone" as a repudiation of the treaty of alliance.

YUGOSLAVS CLAIM U.S. VIOLATES PACT ON REPARATIONS

JACK SMITH

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United States was accused by Yugoslavia today of a "flagrant violation" of the 1946 Paris Agreement on reparations from Germany.

Mladen Ivekovic, Yugoslav spokesman, in an address before the four-power Deputy Foreign Ministers Council declared "the United States abandoned their claims to German assets (in Australia) to the Austrian government," although the Paris pact stipulated that Allied nations could relinquish their aims only in favor of other allies.

Assails U.S. Stand

Ivekovic said the United States action could result in Austria receiving reparations from Germany "as reward for her role in the war," and was "untenable juridically, morally and politically."

The spokesman for Yugoslavia, who is demanding payment of a $11,000,000,000 reparations bill from Germany and Austria, also accused the occupation powers in western zone of Germany of not liquidating German trusts and dismantling reparations plants to the extent laid down at Potsdam. This policy, he declared, "amounts to a resurrection" of the economic and industrial power of Germany.

Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak foreign minister, said in an interview that his country wanted Germany set up as a unified state. Although this stand was at variance with the proposals of France, Holland and several other countries who have advocated a loose federation, Masaryk said this was a point "which may be stressed unduly." Russia also has been advocating a unified state.

Masaryk said Czechoslovakia did not intend to press reparations demands against Austria, and although she wanted a few small patches of Austrian territory she did not intend to ask for them in the treaty. Czechoslovakia was willing to leave them for negotiation with Austria later, he said.

He declared he was more optimistic over prospects for a lasting peace than at any time in the last six months.

Russian Plan Under Fire

Representatives of Brazil and Australia, who want full participation by the smaller powers in the writing of the peace for Germany and Austria, attacked Russia's plan for drafting the treaties as a "big power" peace. Fedor Gusev, Soviet deputy foreign minister, circulated a plan yesterday for the treaties to be written the same way as those for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland, with a peace conference called only to make recommendations concerning the work of the Foreign Ministers Council.

Authoritative sources said United States Deputy Robert Murphy planned to ask Gusev for amplification of his plan soon, especially his proposal to have the finished treaty ratified by "the German state." Murphy desired to know if Gusev meant ratification by plebiscite or by a future German government. The United States has suggested the imposition of a peace statute in the absence of a German government.

alliance" with the United States, although no formal treaty exists between the two countries, but often acted "in a bloc" with the United States against Russia, with whom she has a twenty-year alliance. Tass said British policy toward the U.S.S.R. was not in keeping with "the principles and demands of a treaty of alliance."

The Tass commentary appeared to be a demand that Britain reorient her actual policy as well as her treaty obligations toward the Soviet.

No Indication On Amendments

There were no indications here as to what Russia might want in the way of amendments to the existing treaty, but officials close to the Foreign Office said it was the British view, too, that some clauses were out of date, such as the one pledging mutual aid in "the war against Germany."

Other sources have suggested that Stalin may also have felt that a loophole existed in other clauses which envisaged eventual organization of the United Nations now accomplished.

Bevin Questions Russian Terms

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, has asked George Zarubin, Soviet Ambassador, for a clarification of the reservations in the British-Russian alliance which Prime Minister Stalin wants removed, an official source said today. L. GAVSTON

Presumably Bevin sought to learn just what reservations in the pact are considered by Stalin to be undesirable, with a possible view to taking the first step toward strengthening and extending the pact.

Bevin saw Zarubin last night, and the informant said the Foreign Secretary reported to the Cabinet today on what he had done.

Relations More Important

The Foreign Secretary acted in the face of a warning broadcast by Tass, official news agency, and printed in all Soviet newspapers that Russia regards "actual relations between the two countries incomparably more important than the formalities of treaty terms."

As an illustration of what was meant, Tass said Britain had close relations "bordering on a military

Bevin Delays Signing Treaties

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin will delay signing the peace treaties with Italy, Rumania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria until after a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons, due next week, a Foreign Office spokesman said today. As a result, the treaties will go to Moscow and Paris first. The Foreign Office spokesman explained that Mr. Bevin's decision was merely "an act of courtesy toward the House of Commons.

Council to Act for George VI

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP).—King George VI announced tonight the appointment of a three-member Council of State to act for him during the British royal family's forthcoming tour of South Africa. The members are the Duke of Gloucester, the King's younger brother, just returned from Australia; the Princess Royal, his sister, and twenty-three-year-old Viscount Lascelles, her son.

Russ Treaty Plan For Reich Hit

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—Representatives of Brazil and Australia asserted today that Russia's plan for writing a German treaty would lead to a "big power" peace.

The United States, authoritative sources said, planned soon to ask amplification of the Soviet proposal that the Big Four draft the treaty, submit it to an international peace conference for suggestions and then write the final text. J. SMITH

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Feodor T. Gousev circulated the proposal yesterday in the form of a memorandum to other members of the Deputy Foreign Ministers Conference, meeting here to lay the groundwork for the German and Austrian treaties.

Would Defeat Plan

Spokesmen for Australia and Brazil said the plan would defeat their request for full participation in the peace-making.

The request had support from Britain, France and the United States.

However, United States Deputy Robert Murphy's contemplated bid for amplification, informed sources said, would be as much concerned with Gousev's references to a "German state" as with the plan's de-emphasis on small-power participation.

Gousev had proposed that the treaty be ratified by "the German state." Murphy wanted to know whether this meant ratification by the German people through a plebiscite or merely approval by the future German government.

Satellite Treaties

"Mr. Gousev suggests the procedure used for the satellite treaties," an Australian Government source said. "Our dissatisfaction on that score is well known."

A Brazilian official said his country could never approve the plan but, like Australia, contemplated no immediate, formal protest.

Deputies drafting an Austrian treaty received a Czechoslovak Government memorandum asking that the Czechs be permitted to negotiate directly with Austria on relatively minor frontier problems.

FRENCH CABINET WINS

Paris, Jan. 28 (A. P.).—The Socialist Premier, Paul Ramadier, and his French coalition Cabinet received a huge vote of confidence from the National Assembly today after rightists had attacked the Government as impotent. The Government won by 543 to 18 votes.

A group of Rightist Deputies, excluded from the Cabinet, criticized the Premier for not forming an all-Socialist regime and for including Communists, Socialists, Popular Republicans, Radical Socialists and Independents. Rene Capitant, one of the challenging Deputies, said: "You have returned to a system of Government by a coalition of parties where the Ministers are only delegates of the parties."

Franco Foes Seek New Premier

Paris, Jan. 28 (AP)—President Diego Martinez Barrio of the Spanish Republican Government in exile conferred with anti-Franco leaders today in an effort to solve the political crisis opened by the resignation yesterday of Premier José Giral.

Giral himself was the first person to be consulted by the President. He said afterward that he had informed Martinez Barrio that he believed "a government of the most wide republican base must be formed under the chairmanship of a personality belonging to the National Republican party."

The French Communist newspaper L'Humanité published a statement by Santiago Carrillo, Spanish Communist party representative in the Giral Cabinet, saying that "we Communists have no responsibility in this crisis, which we considered inopportune."

SAYS U. S. DISCUSSES BUYING GREENLAND

Copenhagen, Jan. 28 (A. P.).—The political commentator of the Ekstrabladet said today that talks have been under way in Copenhagen for several months between "interested Danish and American parties" concerning the possibility of the sale of Greenland. Greenland is Denmark's only colonial possession.

The article said that the Danes had mentioned $1,000,000,000 "without frightening the Americans," but added that the Danish Government representatives were apprehensive of international prospects.

A plan like this would "prejudice Denmark's political position," the writer said, adding: "I foresee that responsible American and Danish quarters in Denark will deny even the knowledge that these discussions have taken place, but they will not be able to alter the fact that they have been going on."

Nazi Aides' News Banned To Bar 'Legends'

Nuernberg, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Allies have determined to wash the names of Hitler's leaders out of print and their deeds out of mind so they never can contribute to new German legends, it was learned here today.

This policy has been adopted by the Allied Control Council in Berlin for Nazi leaders generally and specifically for the seven Nazis who were convicted with Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop and others but were given only jail terms.

Order Sent To Prison

They are Admirals Eric Raeder life imprisonment, and Karl Doenitz, ten years; Walter Funk, reichsbanker, life; Diplomat Constantin von Neurath, fifteen years; Munitions Maker Albert Speer, twenty years; Youth Leader Baldur von Schirach, twenty years, and Deputy Führer Rudolf Hess, life.

The council decision was forwarded to prison officers here and is being implanted firmly at Spandau prison in Berlin, where the seven will serve out their terms. They will be moved to Spandau next month.

Meanwhile, the ACC order is that no news of any of the seven ever is to be divulged—that all their actions and comments are to be secret. The secrecy reputedly was advocated by the Soviet spokesman in Berlin. The Russians have long felt the best way for the people to forget any individual is by silence.

Russ Secretive

The Russians never have disclosed what they found in Hitler's Berlin bunker, whether they ever had the body. They never have said Hitler was dead.

Martin Bormann, deputy after Hess, had been reported unofficially several times to be in Russian hands, but the Soviets have neither confirmed nor denied the

Says Goebbels Urged Killing of U. S. Flyers

Dachau, Jan. 28 (A. P.).—Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels exhorted the German people to kill captive American airmen despite any plea they might make that they "followed orders" in bombing the Reich, a United States military court was told today.

Lieut.-Col. John S. Dwinell, prosecuting twenty-one high SS and Gestapo officers, introduced evidence of Goebbels's statement to show the Germans themselves considered following orders was no defense.

Death Demanded For Polish Spy

Warsaw, Jan. 28 (AP)—A military prosecutor demanded the death penalty today for Marian Golebiowski, chief aide to Col. Jan Rzepecki, alleged underground leader, with whom he is being tried on charges of spying for a foreign power. Life imprisonment was asked for Rzepecki and for most of the nine other officers involved on trial.

The prosecution has accused Rzepecki of being in command of an organization called "WIN"—the initials stand for the Polish words for "freedom," of seeking to overthrow the Polish Government and of carrying out espionage "on behalf of a foreign power"

The prosecution asserted that "WIN" was financed by the former exile Government of Poland in London.

The prosecutor told the court that the defendants were responsible for thousands of killings throughout Poland during the past eighteen months, as well as mass lootings and armed attacks against the Polish militia. He maintained that some $400,000 in American currency had been sent into Poland within a 90-day period to finance espionage and diversionist activities.

The tribunal is expected to announce the verdicts tomorrow.

Russia Accuses MacArthur of Church Rebuff

Tass Says Soviet Orthodox Aid Can't Enter Japan, Sees an 'Unfriendly Act'

MOSCOW, Jan. 28 (AP).—The official Soviet news agency Tass said today General MacArthur's staff had refused a representative of the Moscow Patriarchate permission to enter Japan on invitation from a Russian Orthodox Consistory, and that such refusal was "an unfriendly act toward the Russian Orthodox Church."

The Vladivostok dispatch, prominently displayed in the government newspaper "Izvestia," said, "The Church and public of the Russian Orthodox Church cannot consider this act other than as an unfriendly act toward the Russian Orthodox Church and a crude interference in the affairs of a spiritual Consistory of the Orthodox Church in Japan, long under supervision of the Moscow Patriarchy."

Tass said the Consistory requested the Moscow Patriarch last March to nominate a bishop for Japan. It said MacArthur's staff had been asked for permission for a representative of the Patriarchate to enter Japan, and that request was denied early in January.

"It is not without interest to note that MacArthur's staff some time ago urgently asked for a bishop from the United States for the Orthodox Church in Japan," Tass commented. "In order to give at least the appearance of consent to the Orthodox Consistory in Japan to accepting an American bishop, MacArthur's staff assigned a Special Service officer to the Consistory, under whose influence 'consent' was made official. Thus did MacArthur's staff dispose of the fate of Japanese Orthodox parishes.

"It may be concluded that, from the point of view of policy and methods, such unceremonious actions can find explanation, but from the public and Church point of view they are absolutely illegal."

The dispatch noted that the Orthodox Church was founded in Japan by Russian missionaries in 1861.

BIG U. S. RADIO DUE TO OPEN IN LUZON

Manila, Jan. 28 (A. P.).—American, Filipino and Australian engineers are putting the finishing touches to an elaborate, high-powered radio transmitting center designed to make American broadcasts audible to virtually all of the Eastern Hemisphere. The station is at Malolos, in Bulacan province, twenty-five miles northwest of Manila. It has been under construction for more than a year.

No official word has been released concerning the purpose of the station, but it is reliably understood to be an ultra-modern, superpower installation capable of beaming three programs simultaneously to any part of the world. Communications experts of the American State Department are on hand for the initial tests, expected shortly.

Tenative plans call for the use of one or more frequencies by the Philippines Government for domestic broadcasts during daylight hours. At night, when long-range transmission conditions are more favorable, programs from the United States will be beamed to Siberia, China and the countries of Southeast Asia, including India. Communications men say that only with a relay point like Malolos can American broadcasts be heard consistently well in some of these areas.

The State Department has a ten-year lease of the top floor of a downtown Manila office building in which it has constructed air-conditioned studios for the international service.

U.S. Seamen Quizzed About Huk Activities

Manila, Jan. 28 (AP)—Philippine military police said today they had questioned two American seamen at Cabanatuan, 55 miles north of Manila, about possible knowledge of the movement of Hukbalahaps (armed peasants).

They said the two, who gave their names as Harold R. Maxwell and H. E. Provencher (addresses unavailable), of the United States naval base at Subic Bay, denied any contacts with the Huks and said they were merely seeing the country.

Philippines Take Hemp Farms

MANILA, Jan. 28 (AP).—Highly productive, Japanese-established hemp plantations of Mindanao Island are being taken over by the Philippine government from the United States at a cost as low as one dollar each, President Manuel A. Roxas informed the Philippine Congress.

Philippines Buying Eight Church Estates

Manila, Jan. 28—The sale to the Philippine republic of eight estates belonging to the Catholic Church has been "practically concluded" at a conference between Secretary of Justice Ramon Ozeata and Archbishop Michael J. O'Doherty.

Only a few minor details remain to be worked out, according to Ozeata. The sale of the estates, all located on the island of Luzon, will involve about $2,000,000.

Manila, Jan. 28 (A. P.).—An American military commission today convicted three Japanese naval officers of war crimes for the beheading of four corporals of the Thirteenth United States Air Force who bailed out of a B-24 bomber over Celebes on June 25, 1945. Capt. Minorou Toyama, second in command of the Makassar naval base, was sentenced to life and Junior Lieuts. Yoshiyuki Nakamura and Toyaki Inagaki to twenty-five years' imprisonment. The base commander had been sentenced to life at an earlier trial.

Prosecutor Thomas J. O'Conner of 2755 Reservoir avenue, the Bronx, traveled thousands of miles to gather the evidence.

G. I. in Japan Killed In Gun Accident

Yokohama, Jan. 28 (A. P.).—Pvt. Glen T. Collins of Mountain City, Tenn., was killed accidentally last Wednesday while on guard duty at a motor pool near Sendai, the Eighth Army announced today.

The announcement said that a gun somehow was discharged while Collins was seated with the weapon pointed toward his stomach.

Chinese Stage Another Rally Assailing U.S.

Shanghai, Jan. 28 (AP)—A new anti-American demonstration developed today at a rally of 1,500 Chinese, mainly students, observing the fifteenth anniversary of the outbreak of the 1932 undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

Anti-American leaflets were distributed and one speaker read a declaration charging Americans with "robbing Chinese fruits of victory over Japan." The resolution, declaring America was treating China as a satellite, was adopted amid applause.

The declaration further charged, without amplification, that the United States was supporting "Japanese Fascists . . . which seriously menace the people of China."

In Previous Demonstrations

Most of the participants were students of National Chiaotung and Chinan universities, who recently staged anti-American parades here in protest against the alleged rape of a Chinese girl by a United States Marine in Peiping.

Gen. Chen Ming-shu, who defended the Chapei area in the 1932 hostilities, and several members of the Left-wing Democratic League presided at the meeting, held in the Chinese Y.M.C.A.

WACs In Tokyo Get Dress 'Break'

Tokyo, Jan. 28 (AP)—Enlisted WACs, the Cinderellas of Japan because they have to be in bed by midnight while their officer and civilian sisters continue to dance and play, brightened up today when the Army said they could wear good old civilian clothes on week ends.

Slacks and bobby socks in the daytime and formals at night from Saturday noon to Sunday midnight is the new order for the 700 enlisted WACs in the Tokyo-Yokohama area.

In By 12 Except Saturdays

But they still have to be in by midnight, except on Saturdays, unless they certify they are going to a private home or rest hotel.

It's quite a treat for the girls to wear civvies 36 hours each week in a foreign land where enlisted men and officers always must wear uniform. In dress, they now have equal rights with officer WACs.

Major Pauline V. Linch, ranking WAC officer in Tokyo, said the enlisted WACs have been good soldiers who have done a normal amount of griping about regulations but have conformed with good grace.

Morale Called Excellent

Their morale is excellent, she said, and they have boosted that of the soldiers, who welcome the little bit of America they represent.

The first WACs in this area arrived last fall. They live in the modern six-story Mitsubishi main building and have Japanese maids to do the routine housekeeping. Male guests may be entertained in the big first-floor lounge. The building is off limits to officers.

Off duty, there's plenty of recreation for the WACs at dinners, dances, teas and outings. And there are plenty of GI's to squire them about.

Cabinet Shakeup Is Foreseen In Japan

Tokyo, Jan. 28 (AP)—The resignation of Premier Shigeru Yoshida's cabinet is imminent again, the second time in two weeks, to make room for a coalition that would lighten the Conservative front against leftwing opponents of the Government, reliable sources said today.

Yoshida would be renamed Premier and four rightwing Social Democratic party leaders would receive portfolios under the reorganization plan, informants said.

Partial agreement has been reached in backstage negotiations, but the Socialists have not given a final answer.

Acceptance would mean a Cabinet resignation within a day or two. Rejection would throw Government efforts to strengthen itself back into the same confusion as on January 17, when Cabinet officials announced abandonment of their initial attempt to form a coalition.

Demonstration Fizzles

Leftwingers who vigorously opposed Socialist participation in the Government failed today to produce their promised "gigantic" anti-Government demonstration.

An unenthusiastic crowd estimated by American military police at 150,000 heard familiar speeches at the Imperial Plaza. At least one third of them left before the start of an orderly parade to the Diet Building.

Ryuichi Tokuda, secretary general of the Communist party, had announced today's demonstration would exceed the December mass meeting in which 400,000 participated.

Tetsu Katayama, chairman of the Social Democratic party's executive committee, said the Socialists would enter into a coalition, providing the Government replaced Finance Minister Tanzan Ishibashi.

He said the majority of the party supported the coalition but insisted on the elimination of Ishibashi's "inflationary finance."

Informants said Yoshida was expected to name one or two well known professors to the Cabinet, which still would be dominated by members of the Liberal and Progressive parties. These conservative parties give the Cabinet its support in the House of Representatives.

DISMISSALS ASKED AT JAP WAR TRIALS

Tokyo, Jan. 28 (A. P.).—A motion for dismissal of charges was laid before the International War Crimes Tribunal today in behalf of Hiroshi Oshima, former Ambassador to Germany, who was decorated by Hitler and Emperor Hirohito for engineering the Japan-Germany-Italy tripartite pact.

His counsel, Owen Cunningham of Des Moines, Iowa, argued that the defendant was only the agent through whom the Government leaders of Japan and Germany transmitted their decisions. A similar argument was presented in behalf of Toshio Shiratori, former Ambassador to Italy.

A dismissal motion for Mamoru Shigemitsu, career Foreign Office diplomat, claimed that he had no connection with the Army's aggression and declared that as Ambassador to Britain at the time the tripartite pact was signed he opposed an alliance with Germany.

Gen. MacArthur's Son Gets Wooden Sword

Tokyo, Jan. 28 (AP)—Little Arthur MacArthur, the General's 8-year-old son, has a new toy—a wooden sword with which an elderly Japanese carpenter tried to point up his opposition to the Premier Yoshida Government.

The carpenter, Ichiro Adachi, tried to present the encased sword, along with a note pleading for a janitor's job for his collegiate son and a plea against the Yoshida Cabinet, to General MacArthur Sunday. An honor guard nabbed Adachi, who was released on the occupation commander's orders.

Atcheson Flying To U.S.

Tokyo, Jan. 28 (AP)—United States Ambassador George Atcheson, Jr., and Lieut. Gen. Zinovi Pechkoff, head of the French mission to Japan, plan to leave for Washington tomorrow in General MacArthur's C-54 Bataan. Atcheson will attend routine conferences with the State Department and Pechkoff will confer with French diplomatic officials in Washington.

Gen. Ho, Troops Rejoin Side Of Chiang

Nanking, Jan. 28 (AP)—It could happen only in China. MILKS

Gen. Ho Peng-chu, who has been commanding 50,000 Chinese Communist troops in their battles against Government forces along the critical Kiangsu-Shantung border, decided it wasn't a very satisfactory way of life—so now he is commanding a Government army instead. Same troops, too!

The official Central News Agency reported the switch today, with much supporting detail. General Ho's latest fence-jumping is his fourth such swap, the Government agency related.

Was On Jap Side

During the war, the former Nationalist Government militarist became commander of Chinese puppet (anti-Government, pro-Japanese) troops in the Hsuchow-Haichow area. After Japan's surrender, he reappeared, beaming, as a Government army officer, and evidently all was forgiven.

In January, 1946, he moved to the Chinese Communist camp, taking command of the Communists' "Democratic Reconstruction Joint Army," which for the past year has fought Government troops along the Shantung province border.

Gets A New Title

Five days ago, in an exchange of messages with the opposing Government commanders at Hsuchow, he expressed dissatisfaction with Communist life. And yesterday, he appeared at the Lunghai railroad town of Haichow—bringing his four bewildered divisions with him.

Their welcome by Government forces was jubilant. Bygones obviously had become bygones.

"Communists," the Government news agency quoted him as concluding, "are the main deterrent to peace, unity and democracy in China."

With his new command, of course, goes a new title: Government Specification Commander in Southern Shantung, and concurrently commander in chief of the 42d Group Army. But he's right back where he started, geographically. His assignment: To smash Communists in Shantung.

New Shanghai Attack On U.S. Is Fairly Mild

Nanking, Jan. 28 (AP)—Shanghai had a new, comparatively small anti-American demonstration today, while on the military front the Government claimed the defection from Chinese Communist ranks of turn-about Gen. Ho Peng-chu and 50,000 troops.

One thousand five hundred Chinese, mostly university students, bitterly accused Americans of "robbing Chinese of the fruits of victory over Japan" in a revival of similar demonstrations that three weeks ago attracted much larger groups of university students in Nanking, Peiping, Shanghai, and Tientsin.

Occasion of the new outburst in Shanghai was the fifteenth anniversary of the outbreak of the undeclared Sino-Japanese War.

British Judge Freed By Jewish Kidnapers

Jurist Unharmed; Hunt Second Man Held by Palestine Underground

CARTER DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, Jan. 28. — (AP) A rumpled, unshaven British judge, still dressed in the dignified wig and robes of his office, was released by his abductors tonight as the police intensified their search for a second British subject kidnaped by members of the Jewish underground.

Judge Ralph Windham, who was seized Monday from the bench in his courtroom in Tel Aviv, described his captors as cordial, mannerly people who were careful about seeing that he had enough to eat and read. They remained masked at all times.

Report Collins Released

There were reports that the second man, H. A. I. Collins, a banker and former British army officer, also had been released, but police said these could not be confirmed.

Collins was seized Sunday night

from his home in Jerusalem by four men and a woman who chloroformed him and carried him into an ancient Moslem cemetery containing a maze of catacombs. Recalling that eyewitnesses told police that Collins' abductors struck him on the head with an ax handle, authorities speculated that the underground might hold him for a longer time in order to treat his injuries.

Shortly before Windham was released, reliable informants in Jerusalem said the British had fixed a deadline of 5 p. m. tomorrow for the invoking of statutory martial law in certain sections of Palestine unless both the judge and Collins were returned unharmed.

British authorities also drafted plans to protect other civilians from similar kidnapings.

Windham was taken by his captors to a textile factory on the outskirts of Ramat Gan and released. Police immediately cordoned off Ramat Gan, a suburb of Tel Aviv, and began a search for the judge's kidnapers.

The judge was released about five miles from the courtroom where he was seized.

He told a reporter that he walked three quarters of an hour after two armed men who had been his guards left him saying that he was free and that the police would call for him soon.

Judge Well Treated

"I was well fed and not mistreated in any way," he said.

Coincidentally, Ramat Gan also figured in the chain of events which authorities said led to the kidnaping of Windham and Collins.

Last May the police station in the town was attacked and Dov Bela Gruner, 33-year-old member of the Jewish underground, was wounded and captured. Subsequently Gruner was sentenced to be hanged for the attack—a sentence which has not yet been carried out.

(In London, British Colonial Minister Arthur Creech Jones told the House of Commons he understood that Collins had been seriously injured. Creech Jones warned Jews that any additional outbreaks would lead to "full military control and all it implies," and said British women and children might have to be evacuated from the Holy Land to protect them from violence.)

Hebrew newspapers earlier today received notes, reportedly from Irgun Zvai Leumi, saying the two kidnaped men would be "released shortly not because of threats of the head of occupation forces to impose martial law on occupied territory but because the practical aim has been achieved—Dov Gruner was not executed.

"If any crime is committed against him or against any other soldier (Irgun member) we shall not withdraw from any reaction which will prove to the subjugator that the price which they will have to pay for executing a Jewish warrior is too high."

The notes also promised that a detailed statement on the kidnaping would be issued tomorrow by the secret Irgun radio station.

Jewish leaders conferred in Jerusalem most of the day, and a spokesman said they were seeking means of forcing the underground to release the two. The mayor of Tel Aviv held an emergency meeting with his city council and reported receipt of the British ultimatum from Sir Alan Cunningham, the high commissioner.

A dusk to dawn curfew remained in effect in Jerusalem and the port city of Haifa. Some 181 persons were detained briefly in the capital as curfew breakers, and shots were fired into the air during the night to warn Jews to return to their homes. The city was placed out of bounds to military personnel off duty.

Protective Move Pondered For Holy Land

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones told the House of Commons today that British women and children might be removed from Palestine to protect them from extremist violence.

A concentration of British civilian personnel also is "under active consideration," the Colonial Secretary announced.

He said the Government, meanwhile, would continue to give unreserved support to Palestine civil and military authorities in efforts to end what he said was a reign of "terrorism."

Demanding that Britain "return" to its mandatory obligations in Palestine, David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, said today that Jewish "independence" and "statehood" were "logical and healthy outcomes" of the mandate.

The Jewish leader, whose illness caused postponement of arrangements to meet Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones this week, asserted in a prepared statement to the press that Britain was acting unlawfully in applying measures in Palestine which, he said, conflicted with the mandate.

Cites Land Ordinances

He cited prevailing land ordinances in the Holy Land which, he said, allowed the Jews free settlement in no more than five per cent of the country.

Jews, Ben Gurion continued, "claim the full right to settle freely on the land and particularly to develop the unused land and water resources of the country."

Immigration restrictions also have breached the mandate, he said, and are a "crying injustice to the Jewish people, whose surviving remnants in Europe are seeking a haven where they are entitled to find it—in the land of the internationally recognized national home."

3 Consuls Deny Viet-Nam Aid

Hanoi, Indo-China, Jan. 27 [AP—Delayed] —Chinese, British and United States consuls in Hanoi acknowledged today that they had been guests of Viet-Nam officials recently at a dinner, but flatly denied statements of encouragement for the Viet-Nam cause attributed to them by the Viet-Nam radio.

A joint statement by the American and British consuls said:

"American and British consuls in Hanoi, with the knowledge of the French commissariat, entered Sino-Viet-Namese quarters in the afternoon of the twenty-second (of January) at the invitation of Viet-Namese authorities therein to ascertain for themselves local conditions and treat various questions concerning civilian evacuation, which subsequently took place on January 24.

"Entertained At Dinner"

"The Chinese consul general accompanied them. Authorities in question entertained the consuls at dinner that evening.

"The Viet-Nam radio broadcast certain remarks alleged to have been made by the United States and British consuls. We authorize the issue of a flat denial of the respective statements attributed to them."

The Chinese consul general issued a similar denial.

The Viet-Nam radio quoted the three as saying:

Yen Tse-kien, Chinese consul general: "Although the Chinese people fought valiantly, they had to withdraw from their main cities; yet, thanks to their long resistance, they finally triumphed over the enemy."

"Thanked Authorities"

Trevor Wilson, British consul: Thanked the Viet-Namese authorities for protecting Indian nationals and said the world would appreciate Viet-Namese respect for international law.

James O'Sullivan, United States consul: "The longer the Viet-Nam people will persist in their struggle, the more certain their final victory will be."

INDIA RIOT AREA UNDER NEWS BAN

LAHORE, India, Jan. 28.—(AP) The government of Punjab Province, scene of recent riots, imposed a 15-day censorship on news today, ordering newspapers and agencies not to publish anything but official statements concerning any "agitation."

Four pro-Moslem League daily newspapers immediately announced they would suspend publication during the 15-day period, in protest against the order.

The announcement was made shortly after the government lifted a ban which it imposed Friday on the Moslem League's national guard and Rashtriya Sevak Sangh, Hindu youth organization.

The Moslem League's committee of action said it would "continue its present all-out non-violent mass struggle against the reactionary Punjab regime."

Removal of the five-day ban followed the release Sunday of eight Moslem League leaders arrested Friday by Punjab police during and after a raid on the guard's Lahore office.

Hundreds of Moslems were arrested for participating in demonstrations which followed the raids and nearly 200 persons were injured when police armed with clubs charged into a group of league leaders.

The Punjab government supports the program of the predominantly Hindu Congress party, although about 57 per cent of the population of the northwestern province is Moslem.

Kurdish Sally Into Iraq Imminent, Iran Hears

Tehran, Jan. 28 (AP)—Chieftain Mullah Mustafa el Barzani was en route to northwestern Iran today to rejoin his 10,000 displaced Kurdish tribesmen, and informed sources expressed belief he intended to fight his way back to his former properties in Iraq.

The Kurds are encamped between Lake Urmia and the Iraq border. J.C. GOODWIN

Diplomatic sources said they believed the tribesmen planned to reenter Iraq and join 15,000 Barzani followers in the mountains adjacent to the Turkish and Iranian frontiers. Iraq officials are alert to the possibility of tribal risings in the spring of the year when the snows thaw in the rugged frontier mountain and forest areas.

Hostages Held

A source close to Premier Ahmed Qavam said the Premier was concerned over reports that the Barzani tribesmen had mustered 3,400 rifles, despite a recent Iranian tribal-disarmament program. Last spring Barzani, apparently operating from Iranian territory, was reported to have directed tribesmen's attacks on Iraqi frontier posts.

An Iranian Army staff officer said the tribesmen were holding five Iranian officers as hostages for Kurdish leaders who have been "guests" of the Government here since the fall of Ghazi Mohammed's "National Kurdish Republic" and that of the leftist regime in Azerbaijan province.

Wants U.S., British To Stay Out

A close associate of Barzani said the tribal chief was seeking British and American assurances of nonintervention in the event he decided to fight his way back into his old Iraq properties. Barzani visited the mission chiefs this week, American and British embassy spokesmen said, but each termed the meetings "unofficial conversations." The American spokesman said Barzani's problems involved only Iran and Iraq, and "we so advised" him.

Barzani and some of his chiefs are under death sentence in Iraq

Evatt Heads Parley

Elected Chief of Pacific Talks on Advancement of Natives

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 28 (AP).—Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Minister for External Affairs, was elected president of the South Pacific Regional Conference today as forty delegates representing six nations convened to discuss the advancement of natives of dependent territories.

Evatt was chosen on motion of Robert Butler, American Ambassador to Australia and chief American delegate, after Australian Prime Minister J. B. Chifley had formally opened the conference.

Walter Nash, Deputy Prime Minister of New Zealand, who was named vice-president, said the conference hopes "to end gradually for all time the exploitation of native peoples of the South Pacific for the benefit of outsiders."

Other nations represented at the conference are the United Kingdom, France and the Netherlands.

Truman To Fly To Visit Mexican President

3-DAY STAY IN CAPITAL PROPOSED

White House Announcement Says Exact Date Has Not Been Set

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—President Truman will fly to Mexico City early in March for a three-day visit with President Miguel Aleman, who will return the visit in Washington shortly thereafter.

The announcement that the two presidents will make the historic exchange of visits was quickly interpreted here as a move to cement good relations between the American republics. Diplomatic authorities said the journey will be a "gesture of good will" toward Mexico.

The two presidents are expected to discuss generally a broad range of matters affecting the two countries.

Loan May Be Discussed

Some officials speculated that among the questions most likely to come up are the possibility of a United States loan to help finance Mexico's ambitious industrialization and road-building program, and the current epidemic of hoof-and-mouth disease in Mexico.

These officials said the President and members of his Cabinet have expressed concern over the Mexican epidemic's danger to United States cattle herds.

Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, is reported to have taken personal command of the campaign to keep the epidemic outside the United States.

Anderson was in Galveston, Texas, today and was said to be investigating sanitation conditions in the Southwest.

Plans Policy Statement

The Agriculture Department was reported to be preparing a "policy statement" and background information on the epidemic. The information will be distributed to governors of Western states and to congressmen investigating the epidemic and its dangers to United States cattle herds, informants said.

Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, said that neither the exact dates of the trip, nor other details, have been worked out yet. He added, however, that the trip "had been in the works for some time."

Informants in a position to know said details of the flight were arranged last fall by John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury.

Talk Led To Invitation

Snyder discussed the possibility of a presidential trip to Mexico with Aleman, who was then President-elect, and an invitation to Mr. Truman resulted.

Mr. Truman has wanted to see Mexico for a number of years it was said. His trip will be the first such journey to Mexico City by a United States President.

The late President Roosevelt visited Mexico by train April 20, 1943, when he met former President Manuel Avila Camacho at Monterrey.

Third Trip Outside Country

Ross said that Mr. Truman is expected to remain in Mexico City for about three days and will make the trip across the Rio Grande by plane.

This will be President Truman's third trip outside the country since taking office. He previously went to Potsdam for the Big Three conference in July, 1945, and spent a vacation in Bermuda last summer.

Tonight President Truman was host at a formal White House dinner in honor of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican presiding officer of the Senate. Republican and Democratic members of Congress and Bernard (Toots) Shor, New York restaurant man, were among the guests.

U. S. FLAYS POLISH ELECTIONS; WON'T BREAK RELATIONS

Reserves 'Liberty of Action' on Future Attitude Toward Government.

SAYS PLEDGES BROKEN

Intimidation Used Against Democratic Elements, Washington Charges.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 — (AP) The United States today denounced the Polish government's conduct of the January 19 national elections in Poland but declared that it intends to maintain a diplomatic mission in Warsaw.

While thus ruling out any immediate likelihood of breaking diplomatic relations with Poland, the United States reserved its "full liberty of action to determine its future attitude toward the government of Poland."

There was no official indication of what action might be taken, but possibilities included economic measures and even the recall of Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane. Lane could be brought home for "consultations" with no formal diplomatic break.

Approved by Marshall

A statement on Washington's view of the Polish elections was issued by the State Department after being approved by Secretary of State Marshall. It was the first major pronouncement on a question of European political policy since Marshall took office a week ago and was exactly in line with earlier declarations on Poland under former Secretary James F. Byrnes.

The U. S. objection to the handling of the election is based on complaints that the government suppressed democratic opposition elements.

The statement was issued after receipts of reports from Ambassador Lane. The reports were described as "based upon the observations of American officials who visited a number of Polish voting centers."

"These reports," the State Department said, "were corroborated by the general tenor of the dispatches from foreign correspondents in Poland.

Coercion Charged

"It is clear that the provisional government did not confine itself to the supression of the so-called 'underground' but employed widespread measusures of coercion or intimidation against democratic elements which were loyal to Poland although not partisans of the government 'bloc.'"

The State Department explained that the United States considers that the provisions of the Yalta and Postdam agreements, guaranteeing free and unfettered elections in Poland and accepted by the Polish provisional government, have not been fulfilled.

It was these agreements, the statement brought out, which persuaded the United States to establish diplomatic relations with the Polish government in the first place. The agreements were subscribed to also by Britain and the Soviet Union, and the American statement noted that Russia had rejected an American plea of January 5 for a joint big three appeal to the Polish government to end what Washington considered repressive political practices.

The main contest in the January 19 voting was between the co-called bloc of the government political parties under Communist domination and the Polish Peasant Party led by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk. The Polish Peasant party lost heavily.

AUSTIN CHAMPIONS MILITARY TRAINING

UN Representative Calls Plan Basis of U. S. Security Program.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 — (AP) With the White House as a background, Warren R. Austin today strongly championed universal military training and flatly rejected any idea of one-sided disarmament by the United States.

Emerging from a conference with President Truman, the American representative to the United Nations told reporters:

Basis of Security

1. The basis of the nation's whole security program "must be universal military training."

2. The United States never will consent to unilateral disarmament.

"Unilateral disarmament is done and finished," he said.

As for universal training, Austin declared "that's got to be the foundation—it supports the whole superstructure of peace."

"The world must have the knowledge that we have the trained men in the background," he emphasized.

Even while Austin talked with Mr. Truman at the White House, Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House Armed Services Committee announced that both the Senate and House Armed Services committees will hear Austin behind closed doors tomorrow.

Later, Andrews said, the lawmakers will hear from Secretary of State Marshall and former secretary Byrnes.

Military men have long urged the United States to adopt some form of universal training, but congressional leaders have shown great reluctance to take such a step. Some legislators have proposed that instead of universal training the United States should seek an international agreement against it.

Austin, a former Republican senator from Vermont, told newsmen he believes the senate would never consent to a disarmament treaty until collective security has been achieved.

He would not hazard a guess on how long it might take to bring about disarmament, but said a structure of safeguards must be established under the United Nations.

Austin said he talked with Mr. Truman about atomic energy, the regulation of armaments and the eventual possibility of disarmament.

This country, he said, will not exchange knowledge on atomic energy with other nations until after congress, by joint resolution, declares that enforceable international safeguards are set up against the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes.

Austin replied in the negative when asked if he had any information that other nations might be constructing atomic-fission plants. Senator McMahon (D-Conn) told the senate yesterday "it seems obvious" Russia is building an atomic plant behind the Ural Mountains.

Foreign Relief Bid Gets Cool Reception

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee cast an icy glance today at President Truman's request for $300,000,000 more to feed and administer occupied countries.

"They will have to show us that they need this extra money before they get it," commented Chairman Taber, (R., N.Y.), whose reaction jibed with that of his committee colleagues.

"What they ought to do," Taber said, "is put some of those people to work over there. There is a great need for labor in the mines and other industries in Germany and it seems that instead of keeping them idle and continuing to feed them, the occupation authorities ought to put them to work. At least they could pay for the food we send them then."

425 Million Voted Last Year

Taber noted that Congress refused last year to give the War Department the full $500,000,000 asked by the President for foreign-relief operations. Instead it voted $425,000,000, which was $75,000,000 more than the House had allowed originally.

The new funds, if granted by Congress, would boost to $725,000,000 the amount earmarked for the purpose during the fiscal year ending next June 30. A similar amount has been requested for the next fiscal year.

Budget Bureau's Reasons

In asking the extra money, Mr. Truman sent to Congress a Budget Bureau statement saying it is needed because of:

1. A larger-than-expected number of displaced persons.

2. Additional responsibilities in Austria following the end of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration program.

3. Transfer to the Army of responsibility for the Ryukyu Islands in the Pacific.

4. Unfavorable weather conditions and epidemics in Korea, and

5. Price increases.

Some Favor Curtailing

Some leading House Republicans, including Taber, have been advocating a curtailment of foreign-relief operations.

Earlier this month, Speaker Martin (R., Mass.) cautioned the House of what he called the danger that "war-stricken nations may be led to rely too much on the United States and try too little to help themselves."

WORLD WAR II BONUS IS URGED IN HOUSE STUDY

Committee Told Payment Is Needed To Equalize GI Bill Benefits

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Talk of a bonus for soldiers of World War II arose in the House Veterans Committee today as it went to work on a stack of legislation for former service men.

The committee approved unanimously a bill to let veterans have more time to reinstate their Government life-insurance policies.

Sentiment for a bonus appeared chiefly among southern Democrats, when the committee tackled measures to end or raise the ceilings on the amount the Government pays to veterans going to school or learning jobs.

Representative Rankin (D., Miss.), former chairman of the committee, remarked that millions of veterans are getting schooling, training, loans and the like. But other millions who had to come back and go right to work are getting nothing, he said. He added that a bonus is the only way to close part of the gap.

V.F.W. Favors Bonus

Representative Allen (D., La.) spoke up along similar lines.

Omar B. Ketchum, director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars legislative service, told the committee his organization had made a study of the cost of the G.I. Bill of Rights, and:

"We have come to the conclusion it will eventually cost this nation approximately $20,000,000,000 and benefit substantially less than 7,000,000 veterans. Unless this Congress pays adjusted service compensation (bonus), the bulk of veterans are going to receive nothing except the experience of having served in World War II."

The life insurance bill would give the Veterans Administration the right to reinstate policies without physical examination after February 1. That date is the present deadline for renewing the insurance.

Payment Ceilings Attacked

Under existing law, the Government pays up to $65 a month to a veteran-student who is single and $90 to one who is married. It pays up to $175 to a single and $200 to a married veteran taking on-the-job training.

The Government payments, however, are cut by the amount the veteran is paid for his work. Thus a married veteran doing apprentice work and getting $100 a month pay would receive $100 from the Government.

Amvets and the American Legion want the ceiling taken off payments. V.F.W. wants higher ceilings—$250 a month for a single man, $300 for a veteran with one dependent, $325 for a veteran with more than one dependent.

Parents of veterans attending school under the GI Bill of Rights got a break in a Treasury ruling governing their income tax.

Tax Exemption Allowed

The Treasury ruled a parent, in figuring income tax, may take an exemption for a son getting more than $500 from the Veterans Administration to attend school, provided the parent furnishes more than one half the son's support.

This amounted to an exception to the general rule that no one can be counted as a dependent if his gross income exceeds $500 a year. GI educational payments, such as tuition, do not constitute income for tax purposes, the ruling said. These payments are made directly to the educational institution.

On the other hand, the Treasury said the amount the parent spends on support of the son must be more than the amount of GI-benefit money used by the son toward supporting himself.

M'KELLAR ATTACKS TVA AT HEARING ON CLAPP PROMOTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 — (AP) Former Rep. Joe Starnes (D.-Ala.) praised Gordon Clapp's work as general manager of the Tennessee Valley Authority today, while Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.) demanded "the facts" on alleged "illicit relationships" between two TVA employes.

The Tennessee senator projected the question of the "Relationships" into a senate public works committee hearing on Clapp's nomination for promotion to the authority's three-member board of directors. He said the TVA while under Clapp's managership, had paid for the travel expenses of a married man and unmarried woman, who were not identified.

M'Kellar Attacks Clapp

McKellar has questioned Clapp's fitness for promotion and has suggested that he failed to use "diligence" in preventing Communistic "infiltration" of the agency. The senator often has been at odds with David E. Lilienthal, whom Clapp would succeed Lilienthal's nomination to the Atomic Energy Commission is also being opposed by McKellar before another senate committee.

Starnes testified that a 1940 investigation of TVA employes which he directed for the House committee on un-American activities failed to develop "one iota" of evidence connecting the agency board or those working on "higher levels" with Communism "in any shape, form or fashion."

He testified only three employes were found who professed ever having been members of the party. Two of them swore they resigned, he said, and the third, a woman, was fired by the agency upon evidence developed by the inquiry.

"I have known Gordon Clapp personally for more than a decade," Starnes said. "In my judgment he is a man of the highest integrity, calm, cool, efficient, loyal and courteous.

McKellar told the committee that TVA had paid $2,478 in 1938-39 for travel expenses of a "higher officer" of the agency and a woman employe who, he said, engaged in "illicit relationships." He said the pair made 16 trips "carried on at TVA expense."

The committee asked Clapp for "details," but he said he could recall no such case off-hand and asked for the names of those involved.

Names Withheld

McKellar replied that naming names would be "rather painful," and Clapp agreed that he probably should be told "in private" because "it might save what may be some innocent employes from the effects of gossip."

McKellar said those involved were a married man and an unmarried woman. Then in what he described as an attempt to "refresh" Clapp's memory, McKellar asked if the wife of the man did not "horse whip the other woman." Clapp replied he did not recall the case.

He promised to "look up" travel vouchers covering the $2,478 mentioned by McKellar, but declared that the agency would not have authorized travel expenses "for any reason other than official business."

"TVA does not attempt to control the individual morals of its employes," Clapp said. "What employes who travel on official business might do in their personal affairs is something else. If it reflected upon the reputation and efficiency of TVA, TVA would take action if it had evidence."

Chairman Revercomb (R.-W. Va.) ruled the names should not be made public until TVA records are examined by Clapp.

TRUMAN APPOINTS BIDDLE TO U. N. JOB

Washington, Jan. 28 (A. P.)—The White House announced today that President Truman is appointing former Attorney-General Francis Biddle to represent the United States on the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations. Biddle will replace John G. Winant, former Ambassador to London, who recently resigned from the U. N. post.

The White House also announced the resignation of W. Willard Wirtz as chairman of the National Wage Stabilization Board, effective January 30. The board is to wind up its work next month.

The Biddle nomination probably will go to the Senate tomorrow. He recently served as United States member of the military tribunal which tried the Nazi war criminals.

Atom 'Leaks' Imperil Security, Lilienthal Tells Congressmen

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—David E. Lilienthal, in a strong plea to shut off the "leaks" about American atom data, told a congressional committee today that "you can't maintain security if you are making yourself a laughing stock," by publishing technical knowledge.

Lilienthal, who has been nominated by President Truman for chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, explained that the publication of American technical reports has been of positive help to countries which he did not name. These reports on atom research, Lilienthal added, had made the commission's security efforts look "ridiculous."

"The Smyth report," he continued, "has been the biggest breach of security since the beginning of the project. Things like that make our chore a terribly hard one."

Report Contains Fission Data

The Smyth report contained the first authoritative general information on the successful development of nuclear fission for weapon uses. It was prepared by H. D. Smyth and printed by the Government Printing Office.

Lilienthal said its release was recommended by "a committee of some sort" and authorized by President Truman and Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the Army's Manhattan District atomic bomb project. The report, entitled "Atomic Energy for Military Purposes," was released by the War Department.

Senator McMahon (D., Conn.), former head of the Senate's special Atomic Energy Committee, brought up the publication of the Smyth report during a general discussion of security problems by Lilienthal.

"Of Intense Interest"

Senator Millikin (R., Col.), a member of the Senate panel of the joint Congressional Atomic Committee which must pass on Lilienthal's nomination, asked the former Tennessee Valley Authority head if he was concerned over the activities of foreign agents. Lilienthal replied that he preferred to reserve comment, but acknowledged:

"It is a matter of intense interest with me."

Lilienthal, who is serving as chairman of the all-important commission under an interim appointment, left the witness chair without being questioned further by his long-time political foe, Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.).

McKellar quit the proceedings to attend another Senate hearing and Lilienthal promised to make himself available for examination by the veteran Tennessee Senator later in the week.

Committee To Be Judge

During his lengthy testimony Lilienthal told the Senate panel that the military liaison committee, not the commission, will be the judge of the information the committee feels it is entitled to. The committee was created to keep the military authorities in touch with the work of the Atomic Energy Commission, which is a civilian agency set up to develop and control atomic energy within the United States.

"We are not putting ourselves in the position of saying 'this is nonmilitary and therefore none of your business,'" Lilienthal said.

Lilienthal also told the senators that he felt a satisfactory liaison system could be worked out with the joint congressional committee.

Secrets Already Known

At this point, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) interjected that he didn't think the congressional liaison men ever needed to know any of the atomic secrets.

"It is too late for that," Lilienthal interrupted. "They already knew the number of atomic weapons before we did."

Senator McMahon (D., Conn.) told Lilienthal that he wanted to "deny the right of the commission to keep secret from me anything I need to discharge my responsibility."

"In other words, if you want to know how to make a bomb you think you ought to be told," Vandenberg broke in. "I'm not sure I want you to be told."

Patterson Denies Report

From Senator Millikin came the suggestion that the congressional committee itself, by majority vote, could decide on how many secrets it had to have to discharge its functions.

At the War Department, meanwhile, Secretary Patterson issued a statement describing as "wholly unwarranted" a published report that army officials are concerned that the atomic bomb secret may not be kept safe by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The report, he said, was attributed in a press story to a "reliable army source."

Soviet Ambassador Notified

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, officially informed Nicolai V. Novikov, Soviet Ambassador, today of his intention to attend the Moscow Conference of Foreign Ministers beginning March 10.

Novikov inquired as to the size of the delegation Marshall intends to take with him and the Secretary, according to State Department informants, replied that he did not yet know.

Delay In Albanian Debate Is Due

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 28 (AP)—At the request of Albania, the British delegation expressed willingness today to postpone debate until late this week on its complaint to the United Nations Security Council that Albanian mines damaged two British warships and killed 44 men in Corfu Channel last October.

The British consented to postponement to give an official Albanian spokesman a reasonable time to reach New York, but indicated they could not countenance an indefinite delay.

Arrival Uncertain

Albanian Premier Enver Hoxha cabled the United Nations Secretariat last Friday that he had appointed Hysni Kapo as his representative and that Kapo and his assistants would "soon depart, but owing to great difficulties of communications it is impossible to fix the date of his arrival in New York."

Until receipt of that communication, Sir Alexander Cadogan, the chief British delegate, had intended to go ahead with a detailed allegation that Albania had obstructed open waters and damaged British warships.

At the last minute, however, the British took the position that the Albanian representative should be allowed one week from the date of Hoxha's cable to reach New York and planned to ask for adjournment of the case until Friday.

Speculation On Egypt

Speculation, meanwhile, turned to the manner in which Egypt's case against Britain over the rule of the Sudan and the withdrawal of British troops from Egypt might be submitted to the United Nations.

Even though Anglo-Egyptian negotiations have broken down, some observers felt that the Security Council might be reluctant to concern itself with such a case other than to recommend further efforts at bilateral settlement.

Although Egypt has announced that an appeal will be made to the United Nations, no communication to that effect has yet been received by the Secretariat.

The Human Rights Commission of the United Nations, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, resumed its two-a-day sessions. A Bill of Rights will be worked out from separate bills drafted by Cuba, Panama, Chile and the American Federation of Labor.

DELAYS ON ARMS, ALBANIAN ISSUES BALK UN ACTION

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 28—(AP) The United Nations Security Council, anxious to clear the deck for the start of far-reaching arms-atomic discussions next week, asked Albania today when its representative would appear to answer British charges of secret mine-laying in Corfu Channel.

Now the council is stymied on both the arms-atomic and the Albanian questions by postponements. It has agreed not to discuss the arms-atomic problem before next Tuesday and does not know now when the Albanian question will be heard.

Council Adjourns

The council adjourned after a 51-minute mid-day session and will meet next at the call of Chairman Norman J. O. Makin, of Australia.

Makin insisted today on a formal meeting 11 a.m. (E.S.T.) Friday despite the objections of Andrei A. Gromyko, of Soviet Russia, and Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, that the Albanian representative hardly could be here by Friday because of transport and communications difficulties.

The chairman said that if the Albanian were not present, the council at least could hear the latest information from Tirana as to the date on which the representative could be expected.

Lange, seeking to avert a showdown vote, reminded Makin that the chairman could call a meeting whenever he chose. Makin then obtained unanimous consent to dispatch a note to Tirana asking for definite information.

The British and Russians, already at sharp odds on the Albanian case, differed again.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain told the council that Albania had had plenty of warning to send a representative; that the case was urgent because of the necessity of disposing of it before taking up the other issues facing the council.

He was referring principally to the coming debates on the arms limitation and atomic control issues.

Russia Objects

Gromyko objected that the Albanain request for postponement until its representative could arrive was in order and spoke of poor communications. He suggested the council decide to take up the case upon the arrival of the nominated Albanian envoy, Hysni Kapo.

Makin emphasized that all parties to a dispute should be present but he declared that "neither the charter nor the principles of justice require us to defer the hearing of the case indefinitely until such time as the Albanian government wishes the council to proceed." Albania is not a UN member.

He said the council was due the courtesy of being given at least an approximate date when Kapo will be available.

Britain alleges that Albania was responsible for mine damage to two British destroyers and the loss of 44 British sailors last Oct. 22 in Corfu Channel.

tary of state has been able to stir into his thinking about American policy around the world.

Atcheson Flying Home

For routine conferences with the State department, the department's own No. 1 man in Japan, George C. Atcheson, Jr., is flying back to Washington. General MacArthur is supplying his personal plane, the Bataan, for the flight, which will bring also the chief of the French mission in Japan, Lt. Gen. Zinovi Pechkoff. France, it may be recalled, is having trouble in French Indochina which some have laid to Communist agitation.

Mr. Atcheson's job in Tokyo has been to serve as the American delegate on the Allied Advisory Council, of which he also is chairman.

This council has been the place where Soviet criticism of American occupation policy in Japan has been most frankly expressed on an official level. It also has seen British and Chinese delegates siding with the Russians at times in criticising American policy, generally about the alleged slowness of purges and reforms for Japanese government.

Soon after Marshall was named Secretary of State, a general feeling that American policy might be in a temporary state of suspension seemed to take hold in such places as Japan, China, and Russia. Everybody waited to see what would happen.

Government Crisis Seen

Then the leftist Japanese labor movement decided to resume demonstrations demanding a more liberal government in Tokyo. This has reportedly thrown the government into a crisis. It may resign and, reform itself into another regime which again would be dominated by the two conservative parties which control parliament.

Outside Japan, the wait-and-see attitude is giving way to more criticism.

In Shanghai, Chinese students dominated by the liberal Democratic league have held another anti-American demonstration, this time charging that the United States is supporting "Japanese fascists" and robbing China of the fruits of victory.

The Moscow press has come up with a dandy. The official news agency Tass says General MacArthur's staff is unfriendly to the Russian Orthodox church and has kept a Russian bishop out of Japan while trying to get an American bishop in.

That's one way, anyway, of keeping the ball rolling just in case Washington is examining the whole picture in Japan—and perhaps in the rest of East Asia.

American Policy in Japan

By JAMES D. WHITE

A quiet review of American policy in Japan may be getting under way.

This might happen with any new secretary of state. It's more likely under Gen. George C. Marshall because of his year in the Orient.

This has given him a personal knowledge of the weight of various Far Eastern factors — including Soviet-American divergences— which no previous American secre-

NIGHT LEAD PALESTINE

LONDON, JAN. 28-(AP)-COLONIAL SECRETARY ARTHUR CREECH JONES MADE A "SOLEMN LAST APPEAL" IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY TO JEWISH LEADERS TO SUPPRESS VIOLENCE IN PALESTINE OR FACE THE CONSEQUENCES OF "FULL MILITARY CONTROL."

FACING A BARRAGE OF QUESTIONS CONCERNING WHAT ONE GOVERNMENT SOURCE CALLED A "DELIBERATE AND PREMEDITATED REBELLION" IN PALESTINE, THE COLONIAL SECRETARY DECLARED:

1. BRITISH WOMEN AND CHILDREN MAY BE EVACUATED FROM PALESTINE TO PROTECT THEM FROM VIOLENCE.

2. THE CONCENTRATION OF BRITISH CIVILIAN PERSONNEL IS BEING ACTIVELY CONSIDERED FOR THE SAME PURPOSE.

3. "UNRESERVED SUPPORT" IS BEING GIVEN PALESTINE MILITARY AND CIVIL AUTHORITIES IN THEIR EFFORTS TO END "TERRORISM."

4. THE GOVERNMENT HAS CONSIDERED WITHDRAWING RECOGNITION FROM THE JEWISH AGENCY BUT BECAUSE THAT BODY IS MENTIONED IN BRITAIN'S MANDATE OVER THE HOLY LAND NO ACTION HAS BEEN DECIDED UPON.

5. BRITAIN IS MAKING EVERY EFFORT TO REACH A PERMANENT SETTLEMENT OF THE PALESTINE PROBLEM DURING THE CURRENT CONFERENCES IN LONDON WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE ARAB STATES AND THE PALESTINE ARABS, AND WITH JEWS WHO ARE AVAILABLE IN LONDON FOR SEPARATE TALKS.

"I WARN THE JEWS IN PALESTINE AND THOSE WHO CONDONE SUCH BRUTALITIES THAT THE COURSE RECENTLY TAKEN BY EVENTS MUST LEAD TO PLACING THE COUNTRY UNDER FULL MILITARY CONTROL AND ALL IT IMPLIES," HE SAID.

"THE SUPPRESSION OF TERRORISM DEMANDS ACTIVE PARTICIPATION OF THE WHOLE JEWISH COMMUNITY AND ALSO DIRECT COOPERATION BY THE JEWISH AGENCY WHICH I REGRET HAS NOT BEEN FORTHCOMING TO THE EXTENT ESSENTIAL TO PREVENT THESE ACTS OF TERRORISM.

"I MAKE ONE MORE SOLEMN APPEAL TO THE LEADERS OF THE COMMUNITY AND TO EACH INDIVIDUAL JEW TO RECOGNIZE THE END TO WHICH SUCH CRIMES MUST LEAD AND TO PROVE THAT THEY HAVE THE WILL AND POWER TO MAINTAIN THE ORDINARY DECENCIES OF CIVILIZED LIFE AND THE ESSENTIAL CONDITIONS FOR CONTINUANCE OF CIVIL GOVERNMENT."

REFERRING TO THE ABDUCTION OF JUDGE RALPH WINDHAM FROM HIS BENCH YESTERDAY, CREECH JONES SAID "I KNOW WITH WHAT DETESTATION THE HOUSE WILL HAVE LEARNED OF THESE LATEST CRIMINAL OUTRAGES. THE ABDUCTION OF A JUDGE FROM HIS OWN COURT MUST AROUSE A SPECIAL SENSE OF HORROR SINCE SUCH A CRIME IS AN ATTACK ON THE VERY FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIETY AND CIVILIZED GOVERNMENT."

DAVID BEN-GURION, CHAIRMAN OF THE JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE, DECLARED IN A STATEMENT THAT BRITAIN WAS ACTING UNLAWFULLY IN PALESTINE.

JS513PES

JEWS "URGENTLY NEED" A SETTLEMENT IN PALESTINE ALLOWING THE IMMEDIATE ABSORPTION OF THEIR REFUGEES FROM EUROPE, BEN GURION DECLARED AND CALLED UPON BRITAIN IMMEDIATELY TO ABANDON THE 1939 WHITE PAPER "WHICH SO MANY OF THE GOVERNMENT'S LEADING MEMBERS HAVE IN THE PAST SO ELOQUENTLY AND JUSTLY DENOUNCED." LONDON CONFERENCES ONLY "A RETURN BY BRITAIN TO THE MANDATORY LAW" WOULD ASSIST THE JEWS TO RESTORE PEACEFUL CONDITIONS. IN PALESTINE BEN GURION SAID.

MEANWHILE PALESTINE CONFERENCE OFFICIALS COULD GIVE NO INDICATION WHEN THE BRITISH-ARAB DISCUSSIONS WHICH WERE ADJOURNED AN HOUR AFTER THEIR RESUMPTION YESTERDAY WOULD BE CONTINUED. LAST NIGHT THE 22 ARAB DELEGATES IN LONDON WERE ENTERTAINED BY FOREIGN SECRTARY ERNEST BEVIN AT A COCKTAIL PARTY.

THE KIDNAPING OF TWO BRITONS, ONE A JUDGE AND ONE A BANKER, WAS THE LATEST IN A SERIES OF INCIDENTS IN THE HOLY LAND TO AROUSE BRITISH INDIGNATION.

"I WARN THE JEWS IN JERUSALEM AND THOSE WHO CONDONE SUCH BRUTALITIES THAT THE COURSE RECENTLY TAKEN BY EVENTS MUST LEAD TO PLACING THE COUNTRY UNDER FULL MILITARY CONTROL AND ALL IT IMPLIES," CREECH JONES SAID.

"THE SUPPRESSION OF TERRORISM DEMANDS THE ACTIVE PARTICIPATION OF THE WHOLE JEWISH COMMUNITY AND ALSO THE DIRECT COOPERATION BY THE JEWISH AGENCY, WHICH, I REGRET, HAS NOT BEEN FORTHCOMING TO THE EXTENT ESSENTIAL TO PREVENTING THESE ACTS OF TERRORISM.

"I MAKE ONE MORE SOLEMN APPEAL TO THE LEADERS OF THE COMMUNITY AND TO EACH INDIVIDUAL JEW TO RECOGNIZE THE END TO WHICH SUCH CRIMES MUST LEAD AND TO PROVE THAT THEY HAVE THE WILL AND POWER TO MAINTAIN THE ORDINARY DECENCIES OF CIVILIZED LIFE AND THE ESSENTIAL CONDITIONS FOR THE CONTINUANCE OF CIVIL GOVERNMENT."

CREECH JONES REPORTED THAT H.A.I.COLLINS, THE KIDNAPED BANKER, WAS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN SERIOUSLY INJURED. SO FAR AS IS KNOWN THE OTHER VICTIM, JUDGE RALPH WINDHAM WAS NOT HURT.

"I KNOW WITH WHAT DETESTATION THE HOUSE WILL HAVE LEARNED OF THESE LATEST CRIMINAL OUTRAGES," CREECH JONES SAID. "THE ABDUCTION OF A JUDGE FROM HIS OWN COURT MUST AROUSE A SPECIAL SENSE OF HORROR, SINCE SUCH A CRIME IS AN ATTACK ON THE VERY FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIETY AND CIVILIZED GOVERNMENT.

"THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT HAVE RECENTLY BROUGHT INTO REVIEW THE WHOLE PROBLEM OF TERRORISM IN PALESTINE, AND IN CONSULTATION WITH THE HIGH COMMISSIONER AND THE CHIEF OF THE IMPERIAL STAFF HAVE ISSUED A STRONG DIRECTIVE INTENDED TO ENSURE APPLICATION OF MORE EFFECTIVE MILITARY AND POLICE MEASURES FOR DEALING WITH THE SITUATION."

CREEK JONES SAID BRITAIN WAS "MAKING EVERY POSSIBLE EFFORT TO REACH FINAL AND PERMANENT SETTLEMENT OF THE PALESTINE PROBLEM" DURING THE LONDON CONFERENCE WITH ARABS WHICH REOPENED MONDAY. JEWS ARE NOT ATTENDING THE CONFERENCE, BUT THEIR REPRESENTATIVES ARE AVAILABLE FOR SEPARATE TALKS. CREECH (CORRECT) JONES APPARENTLY WAS ADDRESSING THEM WITH THE APPEAL TO END THE HOLY LAND VIOLENCE.

BEVIN INFORMED RUSSIA THAT "IT CERTAINLY IS NOT MY VIEW" THAT THE TREATY WAS DEAD AND PRIME MINISTER STALIN CONCURRED, BUT DECLARED THAT BEFORE IT COULD BE EXTENDED FOR 30 MORE YEARS, AS THE BRITISH HAVE URGED, IT WOULD HAVE TO BE PRUNED OF WHAT HE TERMED "WEAKENING RESERVATIONS."

"IT SHOULD BE SAID IN THIS CONNECTION," TASS COMMENTED, "THAT THE PROBLEM OF ALLIED RELATIONS BETWEEN BRITAIN AND THE SOVIET UNION CANNOT BE ESSENTIALLY SOLVED BY MEANS OF GENERAL ARGUMENTS ABOUT PROLONGING THE TERM OF THE ANGLO-SOVIET TREATY."

BUT FOREIGN OFFICE SOURCES SAID BEVIN HARDLY WOULD MISS A CHANCE TO TRY AND PIN DOWN SPECIFICALLY THOSE "RESERVATIONS" WHICH ANNOY STALIN AND THAT PROBABLY THE SUBJECT WAS DISCUSSED DURING ZARUBIN'S CALL AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE YESTERDAY, HIS FIRST SINCE HE ARRIVED IN LONDON JAN. 13.

London, Jan. 28—(ap)—The Labor government's agriculture bill, guaranteeing prices and markets for Britain's farmers, passed its decisive second reading in the House of Commons tonight without a record vote.

The bill, described by [redacted] as establishing a "farmers' magna [redacted] Carta," provides for an agricultural research service similar to that of the United States [redacted] department of agriculture. It also calls for the supervision, and as a last resort the dispossession of inefficient farmers.

Some portions of the measure were [redacted] criticised by the conservatives in a mild two-day debate. However, the opposition did not push its objections.

PLANNED TO PROMOTE "STABILITY AND EFFICIENCY" FOR AN INDUSTRY EMPLOYING APPROXIMATELY 1,250,000 PEOPLE ON 80 PER CENT OF BRITAIN'S LAND, THE BILL ESTABLISHING A VAST NEW GOVERNMENT PROGRAM, SETS UP NO EXACT SUM FOR GUARANTEEING PRICES. IT WAS ESTIMATED THAT EIGHTY MILLION POUNDS [illegible] ($340,000,000) WOULD COVER ANNUAL GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES FOR OTHER SUBSIDIES AND MARGINAL LAND IMPROVEMENT.

FATTENED LIVESTOCK, EGGS, MILK, GRAIN, POTATOES AND SUGAR ARE COVERED BY MINIMUM PRICE AND GUARANTEED MARKET PROVISIONS.

GOVERNMENT SPONORS OF THE BILL--AND EVEN SOME CONSERVATIVE OPPONENTS--SAID ITS PURPOSE WAS TO MAINTAIN [illegible] WARTIME RECORD HIGHS IN BRITISH FOOD PRODUCTION.

PARIS, JAN. 28-(AP)-DISPATCHES FROM SAIGON SAID TODAY THAT THE VIET-NAMESE ARMED REVOLT AGAINST FRENCH AUTHORITY HAD SPREAD DEEP INTO SOUTHERN INDOCHINA, AND THAT THE VIET-NAMESE HAD SUFFERED HEAVY LOSSES IN FIGHTING WHICH HAS BEEN UNDERWAY FOR AT LEAST A WEEK.

THE REPORTS, ALL APPARENTLY DELAYED SEVERAL DAYS BY FRENCH CENSORSHIP, QUOTED FRENCH AUTHORITIES AS SAYING THEY HAD REPULSED A NUMBER OF VIET-NAMESE ATTACKS AGAINST ISOLATED GARRISONS IN THE RICH, SOUTHEASTERN PROVINCE OF COCHIN CHINA.

THE DISPATCHES TOLD OF MULTIPLYING ATTACKS ON FRENCH POSITIONS IN THE LOWER MEKONG DELTA SOUTH OF SAIGON AND IN REGIONS WEST AND IMMEDIATELT NORTH OF THAT FRENCH STRONGHOLD.

FRENCH AUTHORITIES SAID "PARTICULARLY VIOLENT" ASSAULTS WERE MADE AGAINST TWO ISOLATED GARRISONS ABOUT 20 MILES SOUTHWEST OF SAIGON.

OTHER FRENCH REPORTS CLAIMED THAT BESIEGING FORCES WERE TURNED BACK BY MORTAR FIRE AFTER A FIVE-DAY ASSAULT IN THE MEKONG DELTA REGION; THAT THE VIET-NAMESE SUFFERED HEAVY LOSSES IN AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO DISLODGE THE FRENCH FROM THE HOLY CITY OF TAY-NINH 40 MILES NORTHWEST OF SAIGON; AND THAT HEAVY LOSSES ALSO WERE INFLICTED BY THE FRENCH ON THE LOWER PENINSULA OF COCHIN CHINA.

FRENCH DISPATCHES DESCRIBED THE FRENCH POSITION AT HANOI AS "SERIOUS." THE LATEST VIET-NAMESE TACTIC THERE, THE DISPATCHES SAID, WAS TO INFILTRATE INTO THE CITY AT NIGHT AND SET FIRE TO FRENCH-HELD BUILDINGS.

MEANWHILE, DIRECTORS OF THE FRENCH NEWS AGENCY AT SAIGON PROTESTED TO HIGH COMMISSIONER ADM.GEORGES THIERRY D'ARGENLIEU THE APPARENT DISACCREDITATION OF CORRESPONDENT JACQUES DAUPHIN, WHO ACCOMPANIED A FRENCH LANDING FORCE TO THE HUE-TOURANE AREA.

THE FRENCH NEWS AGENCY SAID DAUPHIN WAS EXPELLED FROM THE TOURANE AREA BECAUSE OF STORIES BY HIM APPEARING IN THE SAIGON PRESS. AN AGENCY OFFICIAL SAID THAT DAUPHIN'S ARTICLES HAD BEEN APPROVED BY FRENCH CENSORSHIP, SENT TO PARIS WHERE THEY WERE PUBLISHED AND THEN RETRANSMITTED TO ANNAMITE NEWSPAPERS IN SAIGON.

WHEN THE DISPATCHES ARRIVED IN SAIGON MILITARY OFFICIALS DECIDED CERTAIN PASSAGES MUST REMAIN "SECRET" AND HAD THEM SEIZED IN LOCAL EDITORIAL ROOMS, THE AGENCY SAID.

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, JAN.29-(AP)-COUNSEL FOR HIDEKI TOJO TOLD THE WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL TODAY THAT "UNDER EXISTING LAW" IT WAS "HUMANLY IMPOSSIBLE" TO PROVE HIM AND HIS 25 CO-DEFENDANTS GUILTY.

"NO PROSECUTION IN ALL HISTORY," SAID TOJO'S ATTORNEY, GEORGE BLEWETT OF PHILADELPHIA, "NOR ALL THE GREAT PROSECUTORS OF ALL TIME COMBINED HERE IN THIS COURT OF JUSTICE COULD WITH THE MATERIAL AT HAND PROVE THESE DEFENDANTS GUILTY OF ACTS ALLEGED TO BE CRIMES UNDER THIS INDICTMENT."

BLEWETT, AS DID 23 OTHER AMERICAN DEFENSE ATTORNEYS, PRAISED THE PROSECUTION FOR ITS EFFORTS IN "A TREMENDOUS TASK" AS HE ARGUED FOR DISMISSAL OF THE CHARGES AGAINST THE WAR-TIME PREMIER OF JAPAN.

BLEWETT, CONTENDED, HOWEVER, THAT THE PROSECUTION'S EVIDENCE HAD NOT LINKED TOJO AND THE OTHER DEFENDANTS IN A CONSPIRACY OR HAD SHOWN THAT TOJO AS HEAD OF THE CIVIL GOVERNMENT WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR ATROCITIES COMMITTED BY JAPANESE SOLDIERS.

SIR WILLIAM WEBB, TRIBUNAL PRESIDENT, ORDERED DEFENSE ATTORNEY DAVID F.SMITH, WASHINGTON, D.C., TO PRESENT AT THE CONCLUSION OF INDIVIDUAL MOTIONS A GENERAL DISMISSAL MOTION FOR ALL THE JAPANESE DEFENDANTS.

DEFENSE ATTORNEY MICHAEL LEVIN OF MILWAUKEE INTERRUPTED SMITH TO SAY THAT EIGHT DEFENDANTS, INCLUDING TOJO, HAD REFUSED TO SIGN THE GENERAL MOTION.

SOMEI UZAWA, CHIEF JAPANESE DEFENSE COUNSEL, TOLD THE COURT, HOWEVER, THAT HE HAD "THE SIGNATURES OF ALL THE DEFENDANTS AND ALL THE JAPANESE DEFENSE COUNSEL AUTHORIZING ME TO REPRESENT THEM AND I SIGNED THE GENERAL MOTION IN BEHALF OF ALL OF THEM."

The AP Bureau in Rio did not reve the telegram from the correspondent.

Asapress said Gen. Orestes da Rocha Lima, comdr of Natal military region and state interventor for the press, had declared that Djalma Maranhao, the correspondent, had been questioned by police on his order because of a telegram which he considered "tendentious and alarming."

Judge Regulo Tinoco, pres. of Rio Grande Norte State Electoral Tribunal, rptd to the Supreme Electoral Tribunal in Rio that there had been irregularities in that state, for which he held Gen. Rocha Lima responsible.

The Tinoco report said two deputies and a senator had protested the imposition of censorship by the state director of federal mails and telegraph and had requested a court order to prohibit such censorship. The judge said the order had been issued but that the manager of the telegraph company had refused to comply on the grounds it could obey such an order only from the director of federal mails and telegraph himself.

WASHINGTON,JAN.28-(AP)-THE GERMANS REPORTEDLY SOLVED THE PROBLEM OF EMERGENCY ESCAPE FROM HIGH SPEED JET AIRPLANES WITH A SIEVE PARACHUTE ALMOST TWICE AS EFFECTIVE AS ANYTHING THE ALLIES POSSESSED, GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS DISCLOSED TODAY.

IT ALSO COULD BE RELEASED BEHIND A PLANE IN FLIGHT, TO REDUCE SPEED, SHORTEN THE LANDING RUN OF LARGE OR FAST PLANES, AND LESSEN THE DANGER OF CRASH LANDINGS.

GERMAN EXPERTS WHO DEVELOPED THIS AND OTHER TYPES OF 'CHUTES DURING THE WAR HAVE BEEN BROUGHT TO WRIGHT FIELD, DAYTON, OHIO, TO HELP TEST THE DEVICES AND BUILD BETTER ONES.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE SAID THE GERMAN PARACHUTE IS MADE OF RIBBONS, SEWED INTO A NET. THE METHOD OF BUILT

BETWEEN THE RIBBONS PERMITS A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF AIR TO ESCAPE. THIS REDUCES THE SHOCK WHEN CREW MEMBERS JUMP FROM PLANES TRAVELING AT EXTREME SPEEDS; OTHERWISE THE SHOCK IS SUFFICIENT TO CAUSE SERIOUS INJURY OR DEATH.

GERMANS SAID THE 'CHUTES WERE TESTED FOR EMERGENCY ESCAPE WITH DUMMIES AT SPEEDS UP TO 700 MILES PER HOUR. THEY CONSIDERED THEM SAFE FOR BAILING OUT AT SPEEDS UP TO 500 MILES PER HOUR. THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID CONVENTIONAL PARACHUTES ARE SAFE ONLY UP TO 350 MILES PER HOUR.

WASHINGTON, JAN 28-(AP)-THE CURRENT TRIAL AT DACHAU OF 21 NAZIS ACCUSED OF MURDERING ALLIED AIRMEN WILL BE EXPANDED TO INCLUDE A WHOLE SERIES OF SIMILAR CASES, OFFICERS OF THE ARMY'S WAR CRIMES BRANCH SAID TODAY.

THE TRIAL AT DACHAU INVOLVES THE SLAYINGS OF AMERICAN AND OTHER ALLIED FLIERS FORCED DOWN IN ONLY ONE MILITARY DISTRICT OF GERMANY. IN THAT DISTRICT ALONE, THE OFFICERS SAID, "AT LEAST 1,000 AIRMEN WERE BEATEN OR MURDERED" ON ORDERS SENT DOWN TO SS TROOPS, THE GESTAPO AND THE CIVILIAN POPULATION FROM HEINRICH HIMMLER, HITLER'S CHIEF TERRORIST.

THE REPORT ON THE TRIALS WAS GIVEN TO A NEWS CONFERENCE BY LT. COL.WILLIAM WHEAR OF AIKEN, S.C., OF THE INVESTIGATION SECTION OF THE WAR CRIMES BRANCH, AND LT.COL.IRVIN J.CARPENTER OF CORNING, N.Y.,

CHIEF OF THE EVIDENCE BRANCH.

THE "SUPERIOR ORDERS" FOR THE MURDER OF AIRMEN STEMMED ORIGINALLY FROM REICHSMARSHAL HERMAN GOERING'S ASSERTION EARLY IN THE WAR THAT GERMANY NEVER WOULD BE BOMBED.

WHEN IN THE SPRING OF 1944 THE FULL WEIGHT OF THE ALLIED AIR OFFENSIVE BEGAN TO BE FELT PROPAGANDA MINISTER GOEBBELS ATTEMPTED TO DIVERT THE ATTENTION OF THE POPULATION FROM GOERING'S BRASH STATEMENT BY LABELING THE ALLIED AIRMEN "GANGSTERS" WHO SHOULD BE TREATED AS CRIMINALS, SWIFT AND CAREFREE SAID. THE GOEBBELS STATEMENT WAS FOLLOWED UP IN MAY, 1944, WITH AN ORDER TO LOCAL POLICE NOT TO INTERFERE WITH CIVILIANS TAKING VENGEANCE ON ALLIED AIRMEN.

THE NAZI LEADERSHIP ISSUED A SECOND ORDER IN JULY: THE POLICE SHOULD TURN AIRMEN OVER TO THE GESTAPO, NOT THE ARMY, AND THE AIRMEN SHOULD BE SHOT IF THEY MADE THE SLIGHTEST MOVE TO ESCAPE.

A FINAL ORDER WAS ISSUED TO THE GESTAPO IN SEPTEMBER. IT INSTRUCTED THAT ALL ALLIED AIRMEN SHOULD BE LIQUIDATED AND A REPORT MADE THAT THEY WERE SHOT WHILE TRYING TO ESCAPE.

SEVERAL OF THE DEFENDANTS AT DACHAU CONFESSED THE MURDER OF AIRMEN BUT INSISTED THEY DID IT UPON ORDERS AND THEREFORE COULD NOT BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE.

WASHINGTON,JAN.28-(AP)-THE INTERNATIONAL WHEAT COUNCIL TONIGHT CALLED A CONFERENCE TO DRAFT AN AGREEMENT STABILIZING WHEAT PRICES AND SUPPLIES AND DIVIDING THE WORLD MARKET. IT WILL BE HELD IN LONDON BEGINNING MARCH 6.

THE COUNCIL IS AN AGENCY COMPOSED OF MAJOR WHEAT PRODUCING AND IMPORTING NATIONS. IT WAS CREATED BEFORE THE WAR IN A MOVE TO DEAL WITH CHRONIC SURPLUSES WHICH PLAGUED PRODUCERS IN SUCH MAJOR EXPORTING NATIONS AS THE UNITED STATES, CANADA, ARGENTINA AND AUSTRALIA.

A TENTATIVE AGREEMENT WAS DRAFTED AT THAT TIME, BUT IT WAS ABANDONED WHEN THE WAR ELIMINATED THE SURPLUS PROBLEM.

AN INTER-GOVERNMENT AGREEMENT TO DEAL WITH SURPLUSES OF WHEAT AND OTHER FARM PRODUCTS WAS RECOMMENDED LAST WEEK BY THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION'S PREPARATORY COMMISSION ON PROPOSALS FOR IMPROVING WORLD NUTRITION AND STABILIZING FARM INCOME.

THE LONDON MEETING IS EXPECTED TO CONSIDER THE COMMISSION'S PROPOSAL THAT FUTURE INTERNATIONAL COMMODITY AGREEMENTS PROVIDE FOR DISPOSING OF SURPLUSES TO UNDERNOURISHED AREAS AT CUTRATE PRICES.

THE UNITED STATES, CANADA, AND AUSTRALIA HAVE EXPRESSED INTEREST IN SUCH A PROGRAM. IN ITS REPORT LAST WEEK, THE COMMISSION SAID THESE COUNTRIES CAN PRODUCE WHEAT EFFICIENTLY AND IN LARGE QUANTITIES AND DISLIKE THE IDEA OF RESTRICTING FUTURE PRODUCTION.

THE COMMISSION ALSO RECOMMENDED THAT WHEAT AND OTHER COMMODITY AGREEMENTS PROVIDE FOR SPECIAL FAMINE STOCKPILES AND OTHER RESERVES. BUYING FOR AND SELLING FROM THEM WOULD BE USED TO STABILIZE PRICES AT LEVELS CONSIDERED FAIR TO CONSUMERS AND PRODUCERS ALIKE.

THESE RESERVES WOULD BE HELD BY INDIVIDUAL EXPORTING AND IMPORTING COUNTRIES UNDER RULES LAID DOWN IN THE AGREEMENTS.

THE LONDON CONFERENCE ALSO IS EXPECTED TO CONSIDER OTHER COMMISSION RECOMMENDATIONS THAT A WHEAT AGREEMENT PROVIDE MAXIMUM AND MINIMUM PRICES IN WORLD EXPORT MARKETS AND THAT SUCH AN AGREEMENT BE MADE FOR A FIVE-YEAR PERIOD WITH PROVISION FOR EXTENSION.

MEMBERS OF THE WHEAT COUNCIL INCLUDE ARGENTINA, AUSTRALIA, BELGIUM, BRAZIL, CANADA, CHINA, DENMARK, FRANCE, INDIA, ITALY, THE NETHERLANDS, THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE UNITED STATES.

THIS IS THE AMOUNT THAT MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS, WHO HAVE AGREED TO CARRY ON UNRRA'S GIGANTIC TASK, WILL BE ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE IN ASSISTING EUROPE.

THE COMMITTEE REPORTED THAT IT REPRESENTS THE MINIMUM AMOUNT NEEDED TO SUPPLY THE BASIC ESSENTIALS OF LIFE IN AUSTRIA, GREECE, HUNGARY, ITALY, POLAND AND YUGOSLAVIA.

THE U.S. REPRESENTATIVE ON THE COMMITTEE IN A LETTER FILED AFTER THE REPORT HAD BEEN APPROVED SAID HE HAD LEARNED THAT ITALY WOULD REQUIRE AN ADDITIONAL $14,000,000 TO COVER AN ADDITIONAL 300,000 TONS OF COAL MADE AVAILABLE BY UNRRA.

THE COMMITTEE IN THE COURSE OF 30 SESSIONS EXAMINED DATA COMPILED BY THE U.N. SECRETARIAT AND HEARD ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE SUBMITTED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF AUSTRIA, CHINA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, FINLAND, GREECE, HUNGARY, POLAND AND YUGOSLAVIA ON RELIEF NEEDS. THE COMMITTEE ALSO CONSIDERED FINANCIAL NEEDS OF ITALY, ALBANIA, ETHIOPIA, KOREA AND THE PHILIPPINE REPUBLIC.

EVIDENCE SHOWED, THE COMMITTEE SAID, THAT NEITHER FINLAND NOR CZECHOSLOVAKIA WOULD NEED ASSISTANCE BECAUSE OF THEIR EXPORT TRADE WHICH WILL TAKE CARE OF THEIR NEEDS.

THE COMMITTEE PREPARED IN EACH CASE A MINIMUM LIST OF IMPORT REQUIREMENTS CONSISTING OF THE BASIC ESSENTIALS OF LIFE.

CAPITAL ITEMS AND IMPORTS REQUIRED FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND REHABILITATION OF AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY DAMAGED OR DESTROYED BY THE WAR, "HOWEVER ESSENTIAL THEY MIGHT BE TO THE COUNTRIES CONCERNED" WERE CONSIDERED OUTSIDE THE COMMITTEE'S JURISDICTION.

IN ARRIVING AT THE MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS THE COMMITTEE DEDUCTED THE UNRRA CARRY-OVER IN EACH CASE.

"THE COMMITTEE TOOK THE VIEW THAT, AS THESE REQUIREMENTS REPRESENT THE BASIC NEEDS OF THE COUNTRIES CONCERNED, IT WOULD BE RIGHT TO REGARD THEM AS A FIRST CHARGE UPON THE PROCEEDS OF EXPORTS AND OTHER FREE RESOURCES IN FOREIGN CURRENCY OF EACH OF THE COUNTRIES UNDER REVIEW," THE REPORT SAID.

(ADVANCE)..LONDON, JAN.25-(AP)-BRITAIN'S LABOR GOVERNMENT THIS WEEK LAUNCHED A GRIM, ALL-OUT DRIVE FOR INCREASED PRODUCTION-"KLONDIKE OR DUST" ONE NEWSPAPER DUBBED IT--BUT THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY, AFTER CRYING "WE'RE WITH YOU" FOR THE GOLDRUSH, RAISED ITS EYEBROWS.

"THE POSITION OF GREAT BRITAIN IS VERY SERIOUS," THE GOVERNMENT SAID IN A WHITE PAPER DETAILING THE DANGERS OF INFLATION AT HOME AND THE CRYING NEED TO RAISE EXPORTS BEFORE THE AMERICAN LOAN RUNS OUT.

"OUR VERY EXISTENCE IS AT STAKE, JUST AS IT WAS IN THE PHYSICAL BATTLE AGAINST HITLERISM," SAID AN ECHOING STATEMENT FROM THE "CITY", LONDON'S WALL STREET.

THE LEADING BANKER WHO MADE THIS STATEMENT, ADDED HIS OWN PROPOSAL FOR A SHORTCUT TO BETTER TIMES--"SELL MORE BRITISH GOODS TO THE UNITED STATES"--AND WAS ECHOED IN TURN BY A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN.

BUT WHAT THE BOYS IN THE CASH ROOM, COUNTING THE MONEY, WANTED TO KNOW WAS:

"JUST HOW ARE YOU GOING TO DO IT?"

WINSTON CHURCHILL REFLECTED THE QUESTION--AND HIS OWN DOUBTS THAT IT CAN BE ANSWERED--IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS ON THURSDAY.

THE OPPOSITION LEADER PROPOSED TO COMBINE THE FORTHCOMING HOUSE DEBATE ON THE ECONOMIC STATE OF THE COUNTRY, SCHEDULED FOR NEXT MONTH, WITH A MOTION OF CENSURE HE PLANS TO OFFER. THE GOVERNMENT ACCEPTED THE CHALLENGE.

THE GOVERNMENT WHITE PAPER SWUNG "FROM POLYANNA PRETENSES TO AN ALMOST EXAGGERATED ALARMISM," THE WEEKLY ECONOMIST EDITORIALIZED.

ITS POINT NUMBER ONE--THAT THE COUNTRY STILL WAS RUNNING INTO DEBT ABROAD AFTER 18 MONTHS OF PEACE AND WAS MAKING SLOW PROGRESS TOWARD RAISING EXPORTS TO BALANCE IMPORTS--FRIGHTENED INVESTORS.

THE WHITE PAPER PUT BRITAIN'S UNFAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE FOR 1946 AT £325,000,000 ($1,112,000,000).

1947

THIS, TOGETHER WITH THE IMPOSITION OF CUTS IN COAL FOR INDUSTRIES, BROKE A LITTLE BOOM THAT HAD BEEN BUILDING IN THE STOCK EXCHANGES, BASED LARGELY ON TRANSFERS OF MONEY FROM THE ELECTRICITY SUPPLY INDUSTRY AND OTHERS SLATED FOR NATIONALIZATION.

THE FINANCIAL TIMES INDUSTRIAL ORDINARY SHARES INDEX FELL 6.1 POINTS FROM MONDAY TO THURSDAY, DROPPING TO 134.5.

THE GOVERNMENT ALSO GAVE COLD FIGURES FOR THE COUNTRY'S INTERNAL INFLATION POTENTIAL--NATIONAL INCOME OF $28,000,000,000 DOLLARS IN PEOPLE'S POCKETS TO SPEND AGAINST ONLY $24,000,000,000 DOLLARS WORTH OF GOODS AND SERVICES TO BE BOUGHT PER YEAR.

ON THE BASIS OF ITS WARNINGS, A PLEDGE TO MAINTAIN PRICE CONTROLS ON CONSUMER GOODS AND A FORECAST THAT THERE WOULD BE NO UNEMPLOYMENT "FOR SOME YEARS TO COME," THE GOVERNMENT APPEALED TO BRITAIN'S TWENTY MILLION WORKERS FOR A GREAT VOLUNTARY DRIVE TO INCREASE OUTPUT PER MAN, PROMISING TO LEAVE JOB ALLOCATIONS TO THE LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

IT ASKED WORKERS NOT TO SEEK, AND EMPLOYERS NOT TO GRANT, HIGHER WAGE SCALES EXCEPT IN INDUSTRIES NOW REGARDED AS SERIOUSLY UNDERMANNED.

IT PROMISED TO TAKE CERTAIN UNSPECIFIED MEASURES TO PREVENT THE DANGER OF IMPORTING UNEMPLOYMENT FROM OTHER COUNTRIES' DEPRESSIONS.

- OTHERWISE, IT LEFT THE INCENTIVE FOR WHAT WOULD IN FACT BE AN INDUSTRIAL SPEEDUP TO "BOTH SIDES OF INDUSTRY TO PLAY THEIR FULL PART IN ROUSING THE NATION TO AN APPRECIATION OF THE COUNTRY'S GRAVE SERIOUS ECONOMIC POSITION."

"GOVERNMENT BY DELEGATED EXHORTATION," SNORTED "THE ECONOMIST," DECLARING THE WHITE PAPER HAD ONLY STATED THE NEED FOR A SHARP RISE IN PRODUCTIVITY, WITHOUT EVEN A "HINT AT HOW IT IS TO BE ACHIEVED."

THE FINANCIAL TIMES LODGED A SIMILAR BRIEF AGAINST LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH, CHAIRMAN OF LLOYD'S BANK, WHO MADE THE SUGGESTION FOR EFFORTS TO INCREASE EXPORTS TO THE AMERICAS.

H.A.MARQUAND, THE BOARD OF TRADE'S SECRETARY FOR OVERSEAS TRADE, ALSO PICTURED "A LONG-TERM PERIOD DURING WHICH VISIBLE AND INVISIBLE EXPORTS TO THE U.S. FROM THIS COUNTRY MUST INCREASE IF A TRUE BALANCE IS TO BE ATTAINED."

"AS TO WAYS AND MEANS OF ACCOMPLISHING THIS, BOTH LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH AND MR.MARQUAND HAD LITTLE TANGIBLE TO OFFER," THE FINANCIAL TIMES COMMENTED.

THE GOVERNMENT WHITE PAPER SAID A SHORTAGE OF 900,000 MEN AND WOMEN IN EXPORT INDUSTRIES ALONE MUST BE OVERTONE TO ATTAIN THE 175 PERCENT OF PREWAR EXPORTS THAT HAS BEEN SET AS BRITAIN'S GOAL.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, BOARD OF TRADE PRESIDENT, SET THE OVERALL LACK OF MANPOWER FOR ALL BRITISH INDUSTRY AT ABOUT 750,000. BUT BIG QUESTIONS REMAINED AS TO HOW THIS SHORTAGE MIGHT BE MADE UP, AND HOW

U. S. GIVES UP EFFORT TO FIND PEACE IN CHINA

Quits Committee of Three and Orders Withdrawal of Troops and Marines.

ALL-OUT STRIFE IS EXPECTED

State Department Announcement Hailed by Some on Capitol Hill —Vandenberg Is Silent.

Washington, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall today scrapped the machinery he set up in an effort to unify China, and arranged for the prompt withdrawal of more than 9,000 Marines and Army officers and men from that strife-ridden land.

The possibility of an all-out civil war between the Chinese National Government and the Chinese Communist forces in North China immediately increased, in the opinion of diplomats here. The presence of the American forces in China, even though small, has long been regarded at the State Department as a brake on hostilities.

Marshall's action, announced by the State Department, left American policy toward China more or less up in the air and officials were unable to say what would happen next. For the time being at least the next moves are up to the Chinese themselves—to fight out their differences or to try on their own to make peace.

Text of Announcement.

In an early morning statement the State Department announced the withdrawal of the United States from efforts to mediate the differences between the Central Government and the Chinese Communists. It declared:

"The United States Government has decided to terminate its connection with the Committee of Three which was established in Chungking for the purpose of terminating hostilities in China and of which Gen. Marshall was chairman. The United States Government also has decided to terminate its connection with Executive Headquarters which was established in Peiping by the Committee of Three for the purpose of supervising, in the field, the execution of the agreement for the cessation of hostilities and the demobilization and reorganization of the armed forces in China. The American personnel involved in Executive Headquarters will be withdrawn as soon as possible."

This last assertion was stated authoritatively to mean that American Army personnel and equipment in the Peiping-Tientsin area would be pulled out first and that the Marines, who serve as security and supply forces, would then be removed. According to information available here, this will leave in China only a very small force—estimated at from 1,000 to 2,000 Marines. They are at Tsingtao, aiding a naval training program.

Reaction at the Capitol.

The State Department issued its announcement at 5:30 A. M., simultaneously with formal notification of the Chinese Government and Communist representatives by Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart in Nanking. Indicating the importance attached to the news was the fact that only four or five high officials were told about it last night and these were pledged to secrecy.

Marshall's step won quick approval on Capitol Hill from Representative Eaton (R.-N. J.), the chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Representative Bloom of New York, the committee's top-ranking Democrat. Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, reserved comment, however, saying that he first wanted "to know more about it through official channels."

Eaton said that he and his committee "are 100 per cent behind Gen. Marshall and have absolute confidence in his judgment." Bloom said that Marshall "understands the situation better than any one else in the world," and that his decision must have been based on good judgment.

Officials here recalled that the presence of the American military forces in China has been frequently attacked by the Soviet Government, and that Premier Stalin himself has said they ought to be withdrawn. Today's announced intention thus should eliminate one point of Soviet-American friction, these authorities said and added that the objectives of American policy in China remain the same: The creation of a unified, strong China friendly to the United States as a bulwark of peace and security in Asia. One clew as to how these objectives may now be sought was give by Marshall before he took over as Secretary of State.

What Marshall Said.

When Marshall left China on January 7, after a year of unavailing effort to compose the differences between the two factions, he criticized the extremists in both camps. In a "personal statement," he declared that "sincere efforts to achieve a settlement . . . have been frustrated time and again by extremist elements of both sides," and that China's hope of salvation lay in "the assumption of leadership by the liberals in the Government and in the minority parties." With unusual frankness he asserted: "The reactionaries in the Government have evidently counted on substantial American support regardless of their actions. The Communists by their unwillingness to compromise in the national interest are evidently counting on an economic collapse to bring about the fall of the Government, accelerated by extensive guerrilla action against the long lines of rail communications—regardless of the cost in suffering to the Chinese people."

It was after this statement, while Marshall was en route home from China that his appointment to be Secretary of State succeeding James F. Byrnes, was announced by President Truman.

Chiang And Reds Notified Of U.S. Withdrawal

U.S. Action May Intensify Civil War, Some Chinese Say

Nanking, Jan. 29 (AP)—United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart today notified the Chinese Government and the Communists that American mediation had ended in failure and the elaborate machinery General Marshall established for bringing peace to this strife-torn land was being withdrawn as soon as possible.

Withdrawal from mediation means evacuation of more than 1,000 American officers and men assigned to executive (truce) headquarters in Peiping as well as an estimated 8,000 Marines remaining in North China for the purpose of servicing and guarding United States installations connected with headquarters.

Notifies Chiang And Wang

Stuart notified Chiang Kai-shek that the United States was withdrawing from the Committee of Three and from executive headquarters. An hour later he gave the same message to Wang Ping-nan, the Communist representative here, for transmission to Yenan.

An embassy spokesman said the announcement meant no change in the status of Ambassador Stuart.

Communists here declined to express Red reaction. The Government's reaction was contained in a statement issued through Chiang's Ministry of Information, which stated that the Communist refusal to reopen negotiations left the Government no course but to continue the policy of "political democratization" with the assistance of the minority parties.

Forlorn Hope Given Up

The United States action—expected since Marshall's departure from China—has been delayed only by the forlorn hope that the Communists would abandon their famous "two demands" and accept new Government officers of negotiation.

The announcement may signal intensification of the civil war. Several weeks may be required to accomplish the physical removal of executive headquarters personnel under Lieut. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem and the remaining Marines.

With their departure the only United States forces remaining in China will be the military advisory group of fewer than 750 officers and men, with headquarters here. This group was organized solely to serve the Generalissimo in an advisory capacity on military problems.

Peiping, Jan. 29 (AP)—China today was left to work out her own salvation as the United States announced it is closing the American branch of Executive (truce) Headquarters here and withdrawing United States Marines from North China.

Some military sources said the first effect might be intensification of China's civil war.

The announcement—made simultaneously in Washington, Nanking and Peiping—came without the slightest advance hint to either Chinese Government of Chinese Communist leaders.

Surprised Communist leaders at Nanking said they would have to await word from party headquarters at Yenan before commenting.

Nanking Comment

Equally surprised, the Ministry of Information, with Chiang Kai-shek's approval, commented briefly at Nanking: The Communists' refusal to reopen negotiations to end civil war left the Government no course but to continue its policy of political democratization with the assistance of minority parties.

"The Marines will not leave China until all American personnel attached to headquarters, their families and equipment have left the country," a high American source said tonight.

"The United States no longer can keep Marines in China."

The Leathernecks had a twofold purpose here: To keep a supply route open from the Chihli Gulf port, Tangku, through Tientsin to American headquarters in Peiping, and to protect American personnel.

Marines' Job Toughened

The Marines' job was toughened considerably by the headquarters closure order, said an American authority, because American personnel will be moved out of China along the Peiping-Tientsin railroad and highway. Strong Communist guerrilla bands constantly harass both, have cut the highway for several days at a time, and have interrupted rail traffic.

In Shanghai some foreign sources said the withdrawal order indicated Washington "is taking too seriously the quit-China movement sponsored by Reds." Early this month, Chinese university students in Peiping, Tientsin, Shanghai and Nanking violently and vituperously demanded that Americans get out of China.

Business Disappointed

The students used a Chinese girl's rape charge against a Leatherneck, since convicted of that crime, as the springboard for their outbreaks but some Chinese sources said the demonstrations were Communist inspired. Both Moscow and Chinese Communists—who deny any link—repeatedly had made such demands.

Leaders of the Shanghai quit-China groups received the withdrawal news gleefully but business sources were greatly disappointed.

A Shanghai Chamber of Commerce spokesman said he hoped the action did not reflect a policy change which would cause the United States to abandon plans for financial aid to China.

China Reds' River Barrier Pierced

Peiping, Jan. 29 (AP)—Gen. Tu Li-ming's counterattacking Government forces pushed the Chinese Communists across the frozen Sungari River in Manchuria and established several beachheads on the north bank, Government sources reported today.

The Sungari divides Communist and Nationalist territory in central Manchuria.

Communist Gen. Lin Piao had sent his men across the Sungari in a southbound push toward Changchun, the Manchurian capital, but General Tu's armies launched a counteroffensive that quickly rolled the Reds back across the Sungari.

May Drive On Harbin

Wily Tu did not stop at the south bank. Whether he intends to push toward Harbin from his new beachheads was only conjecture here.

In South Manchuria the commander of Soviet forces in Dairen was reported in the Chinese press to have conferred with Chinese Government army chiefs at Pulantien, highwater mark of the Nationalist drive down the Liaotung peninsula toward the Soviet-occupied seaport.

The nature of the talks was not disclosed but presumably concerned Nationalist occupation of Dairen. General Tu's forces stationed at Pulantien are waiting to move into Dairen when the Soviets withdraw.

Paoting Again Threatened

In North China the Communists stepped up a new oensive against the vital Peiping-Hankow Railway and once more threatened Paoting, capital of Hopeh province.

The Reds hit every main rail town between Paoting and Shihkiachwang, about 80 miles to the south. They were reported to have captured three towns and were fighting for a fourth.

China Takes Charge Of Tangshan Mine Area

Peiping, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Chinese Government took over yesterday the administrative, and police supervision of the Chinese-British Kailan Mining Administration's area at Tangshan, northeast of Tientsin.

The mining area, owned jointly by British and Chinese interests, was policed and administered for the last 60 years by the Kailan Mining Administration and was not under Chinese Government control.

The new measure does not affect the ownership but subjects the area to taxation for the first time and to other municipal and Government controls.

U.S. Parachutes Relief To Villages In China

Tientsin, Jan. 29 (AP)—Five United States Marine planes dropped 30,000 pounds of UNRRA medical supplies and clothing yesterday to poverty-stricken villages in North China.

More air drops are scheduled. In all, some 1,000,000 pounds of supplies will be parachuted to the destitute, ad virtually all will fall in Communist-controlled areas.

The good-will project, conceived several months ago, had an immediate salutory effect on admittedly strained American-Chinese relations, although its timing with recent anti-American demonstrations was describe dofficially as entirely unintentional.

SMALL ALLIES GAIN SUPPORT

Three Of Big Four Favor Their Sharing Treaty Plans

JACK SMITH

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France, opposing Russian views, gave strong support today to smaller allies clamoring for a big share in negotiating the German peace treaty.

No final decisions were reached at the meetings of the four-power deputy foreign ministers, but some observers said they detected a change in the Russian stand late in the day when Feodor T. Gusev, Soviet deputy, said that any committees set up by the deputies or by the Foreign Ministers at their meeting in Moscow in March might be instructed to receive data from the smaller powers.

Earned Rights, Murphy Says

Robert Murphy, speaking for the United States, expressed disappointment, informants said, with what was called the "rather grudging attitude" shown in a Russian memorandum toward some states which were active participants in the war against Germany. They have earned the "right and dignity," Murphy contended, for a broader part in the peace settlement, the informants said.

Speaking for Britain, Sir William Strang said that nations which fought in the war should participate in every phase of treaty-making.

Maurice Couve de Murville, French deputy, expressed the tentative French view, informants said, that the smaller allies should take part in all stages of treaty-framing as consultants and negotiators.

To Ask Higher Economy Level

A United States spokesman said the United States was prepared to ask for an increase in the agreed level of German economy if a four-power agreement is reached to unify Germany, and denied Yugoslav charges that the United States had flagrantly violated the Paris reparations agreement by waiving German assets in Austria.

The Yugoslav delegate, Mladen Ivekovic, declared yesterday that the Paris agreement permitted reparations to be waived in favor of other Allied nations but the United States action amounted to Austria's collecting German reparations for herself.

The American spokesman said the transfer of German assets to the trusteeship of Austria was "without prejudice to any nation's reparations rights."

No Decision Reached

Deputies considering the Austrian treaty considered clauses designed to prevent another anschluss by Germany, but no decisions were reached. The Soviet deputy, Feodor Gusev, objected to a United States draft clause which would bind Austria to abstain from any act likely to violate her own independent status. He said the phrasing was not specific enough. The only threat to Austrian independence, he asserted, would come from Germany.

The Greek Ambassador to London, Thanassis Aghnides, protested strongly to the Council against the allotment of only 4.35 per cent of German reparations to his country, declaring Greece should receive much more in view of the impoverishment caused by the German occupation.

Leopold Figl, Austrian Chancellor, has arrived in London to plead his country's case personally.

General Anglo-Russ Alliance

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—An official informant said today that Britain expects Prime Minister Stalin will ask for a general military alliance to replace the British-Soviet mutual assistance pact against Germany, and that there was no reason to believe he would be turned down.

The present mutual assistance pact, which Stalin has said is "weakened" by reservations, provides for military co-operation between Britain and Russia only if either is attacked by Germany or one of her satellites. It remains in effect until 1962.

A general military alliance would not be limited to Germany or a German satellite.

No Conflict With U.N.

The Government source said Britain, in principle, wanted "full co-operation" with Russia, and a general military alliance would in no way conflict with Britain's obligations to the United Nations.

The entire matter will be discussed by the British Cabinet as soon as Stalin clarifies his references to the "reservations" in the present treaty, the informant said.

Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, was reported yesterday to have asked Georgi Zarubin, new Russian Ambassador to London, for such a clarification.

Stalin has expressed "satisfaction" with Field Marshal Lord Mongomery's explanation about a British-American agreement to standardize certain military equipment to United States patterns, the source said.

Lessons Learned In War

He added that the chief of the British Imperial General Staff had told Stalin in Moscow early this month that the standardization resulted from lessons learned during the last war, when a number of United States weapons were found to be better than the English equivalents.

Montgomery did not propose any standardization of British and Russian arms, the informant said, but did suggest that the British and Russians work out an exchange of officers for training purposes.

The source said that Stalin did not object to this proposal "in principle," but said "this was not the time" for such an exchange.

The Tass news agency, quoting "competent sources," reported in Moscow last week that Stalin had turned down the proposal on grounds it might be interpreted as "preparations for war."

Molotov Signs Pacts With Five Satellites

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Minister, signed the peace treaties with the five Hitler satellite nations today, the Moscow radio said tonight.

The treaties which already have been signed by James F. Byrnes, former United States Secretary of State, will be signed by Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, some time before the formal and ceremonial signing which will take place in Paris February 10.

Britain Expects Stalin Call For Full Alliance

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—An official source said today that the British Government expected Prime Minister Stalin to call for a general military alliance between Russia and Britain to replace their present mutual-assistance treaty.

The source added immediately that, in principle, Britain wanted "full co-operation" with Russia.

The present treaty provides for military co-operation between the two countries only in the event of aggression by Germany and her wartime satellites any time until 1962.

Britain Seen Accepting

Although he said he could not prejudge any Russian elucidation of the "reservations" which Stalin had said "weakened" the existing pact, the informant emphasized there was no reason to believe Britain would turn down a request for a general military alliance.

Such a military alliance between the two countries would in no way be in discord with Britain's obligations to the United Nations, the source stated.

Yesterday other Foreign Office sources reported Foreign Secretary Bevin already had asked Georgi Zarubin, new Soviet Ambassador in Britain, to obtain a clarification of the reservations to which Stalin referred in his recent message to the Foreign Secretary.

Clarification Is Awaited

When that clarification is received, Bevin will bring the matter before the Cabinet again, the official source said.

30.24 - 7609

Stalin, he continued, had expressed "satisfaction" with the explanation given to him personally by Field Marshal Lord Montgomery in Moscow early this month on the agreement between Britain and America to standardize certain arms and equipment to fixed United States sizes and patterns.

Montgomery, according to the informant, had impressed on the Russian leader that the whole question of arms standardization had arisen between America and Britain "out of the experiences of the war."

Tells Of Officer Exchange

Some British officers, Montgomery was said to have told Stalin, had reported that various items of United States equipment and armament were considerably better than the British equivalents. Agreement to standardize followed.

Arising out of these talks, the USAAF and RAF agreement to interchange 100 officers for training purposes had emerged as well, the source said Montgomery told Stalin.

When Montgomery pointed out that a similar exchange of officers between the British and Soviet armies could serve an extremely useful purpose Stalin, the source said, "did not object to this proposal in principle" but expressed the view that "this was not the time" for such an arrangement.

U.S. Denies Slav Reparations Charges

1947

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—An American spokesman rejected today as "entirely untrue" a Yugoslav charge that the United States in its dealings with Austria had violated the Paris agreement of 1946 on German reparations.

Dr. Mladen Ivekovic, Yugoslav spokesman, told the deputies of the Four Power Foreign Ministers Council yesterday that "the United States of America abandoned their claims to German assets (in Austria) in favor of the Austrian Government."

This, he declared, was a flagrant violation of the agreement because the agreement permitted Allies to relinquish such claims only in favor of other Allies.

No Rights Prejudiced

"The United States," the American spokesman commented, "announced last July that it did not intend to exact reparations from Austria. At the time it transferred certain German assets to the trusteeship of the Austrian Government.

"But it did so without prejudice to any nation's reparations rights. The transfer of this German property was necessary so that certain Austrian industries could continue to function."

Another American source said Robert Murphy, United States deputy, was working on an American peace plan for Germany which would differ from that submitted by the Russian deputy, Feodor T. Gousev.

Meet Small-Nation Plea

Under the Gousev plan, the four powers would draft the treaty, sponsor a full-scale peace conference such as was held for Germany's satellites in Paris, and then write the final text.

Details of the American proposal have not been decided finally, this source said, but he added that it would meet demands by small nations for a greater voice in the deliberations.

American informants said that if four-power agreement was reached on the unification of Germany, the United States would request an increase in the controlled level of German economy to help Germany meet the mounting demands against her for reparations.

Decision To Split Palestine Hinted

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—A Government source said today that the British Cabinet had decided the partition of Palestine into independent Arab and Jewish states would be necessary to settle the troublesome Holy Land question.

This informant emphasized, however, that the Cabinet had not decided whether Britain should impose partition on the country or refer the Palestine problem to the United Nations with a partition recommendation.

Discussed At Conference

The source disclosed that, in the face of rejection of the idea of partition by Arab spokesmen at the British-Arab Conference here, the Cabinet had discussed both the unilateral imposition of partition and the United Nations alternative.

Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones favored the first course, this informant said, while Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin favored the second.

The informant added that the difference of opinion did not imply a Cabinet split.

"Any final settlement," he said, "would involve, first, a measure of supervision by the mandatory power (Britain) and, second, a period of transition during which the constitutional change-over would be effected."

Would Drop Territorial Rights

Final settlement of the Holy Land dispute, he added, would leave Britain no territorial rights in the Holy Land—it would be a two-way split between Arabs and Jews.

This would mean, he said, that Britain would give up rights even to Haifa, terminus for the Anglo-Iranian oil pipe line, and to certain sacred places.

The Government, he went on, has ruled out the possibility of any "binational Palestine state" of Arabs and Jews.

London Limits Export Plan

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—The British Government — supported wholeheartedly by manufacturers in its "economic salvation" drive to boom exports—has no plans to force exports into particular channels, Whitehall sources said today.

Proposals to set up priorities for sales to the United States, Argentina and other "hard currency" countries, in order to build up Britain's financial balances, have been rejected by Sir Stafford Cripps, Board of Trade president and the big chief of the export drive, one highly placed informant said.

Bulk Buying Of Food

Commenting on a Washington report by the Foreign Policy Association, which forecast that "if the need arises, the Government will closely control Britain's foreign trade," the informant said:

"We don't envisage a need arising for any further extension of control, in view of the co-operation we have had so far from industries producing for export."

Imports already are largely controlled through bulk buying of food and raw materials abroad.

Overall production of individual commodities is controlled through allocations of raw materials to manufacturers.

A third principle of foreign-trade policy worked out since V-J day is the greatest possible freedom for exporters, the informant said, and there is no indication of any change.

He cited Cripps again to support the view that, while raising exports to dollar countries appears to be the pressing immediate need to offset Britain's badly short balance of trade with North America, it is only part of the long-range problem of raising exports multilaterally to balance imports by 1951 when repayment of the American loan starts.

Voluntary Conferences

Cripps recently told Commons that his department and others concerned were initiating detailed voluntary conferences with industrialists and traders who have been asked to pursue "all possibilities" to increase exports to the Western Hemisphere.

No details of the products to be pushed for the American trade have been disclosed, but speculation here has mentioned items in which Britain claims technical leadership — jet engines, for example—and others such as pottery for which abundant raw materials are available.

Mrs. Roosevelt Approves Standing F.D.R. Statue

1947

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Times of London published today a letter from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt voicing approval of the statue of President Roosevelt to be erected in Grosvenor Square, the design for which has been the subject of much debate.

Addressed to Lord Derby, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Committee, the letter voiced hope that the matter might "go forward without further controversy."

The model for the statue represents the late President in a standing position leaning on a cane—a pose that has been criticized by some who say that he is best remembered from likenesses showing him seated.

To Unveil Memorial

Mrs. Roosevelt, who already has accepted an invitation to unveil the memorial on April 12, 1948, wrote:

"The question as to whether he should stand or sit is one for you to decide," she continued, "but I realized from the outset that whatever you do will not please everybody, as there are people just as anxious to remember him standing as those who desire to recall him sitting.

"I, of course, have not seen the present model in Sir William Reid Dick's studio, but I appreciate it is impossible to judge the statue by the small print which was put out by your committee to indicate to the public that it would be a standing statue.

Praised By Winant

"Mr. Winant (John G.), however, has seen the model and tells me it is a striking likeness of my husband in a characteristic pose and portrayed with great dignity. It has satisfied him as a suitable and worthy memorial.

"I understand six months work has already been done on it and the whole project has been approved by your Royal Fine Arts Commission. For my part I am content with the present standing statue and I cannot but think it would be wise to let the matter go forward without further controversy."

Royal Family Gives Party

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—Britain's royal family, its preparations for next month's South African tour completed, played host at a farewell party in Buckingham Palace onight attended by Prime Minister Attlee and most of his Cabinet.

Bevin Keeping in Close Touch With His Doctors

Suffered Slight Heart Attack, Has High Blood Pressure

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is in constant consultation with medical advisers about his health, an official source close to the Cabinet said today. Bevin, sixty-five, suffered a slight attack recently.

In addition, the informant said, the Foreign Secretary is troubled with high blood pressure, which makes it imperative for him to avoid strain.

So long as Bevin obeys his doctor's advice to rest frequently, however, there will be no necessity for his withdrawal from his public activities, the informant added.

Meanwhile, the illness of Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, which will keep him away from the House of Commons until March, is putting a strain on Prime Minister Attlee, the informant said. Morrison was confined to bed about ten days ago, following detection of a blood clot in one leg.

French Cabinet Agrees on Reich

Paris, Jan. 29 (A.P.).—France's coalition Cabinet reached a complete accord today on policy toward Germany, a communique announced.

This covered approval of the federalization plan and continued French insistence on internationalization of the Ruhr, the bulletin stated.

Palais Bourbon sources said that in a note to Washington, London and Moscow, France had explained that she would ask in the Foreign Ministers Council in Moscow in March for internationalization of the Ruhr's mines and other basic industries.

French Reaffirm Plans For Pact With Britain

Paris, Jan. 29 (AP)—The new French coalition Government has formally reaffirmed its intention of concluding a military and economic alliance with Britain, official circles reported today.

Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister who returned to the Government in the Cabinet of Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier, told Alfred Duff Cooper, British Ambassador, that he was determined to carry on the negotiations begun in London last month by Leon Blum, interim President-Premier, Foreign Office sources said. Bidault conferred with Duff Cooper on this topic Saturday.

Fierce Hand-To-Hand Battle Rages In Hanoi

Paris, Jan. 29 (AP)—Fierce hand-to-hand fighting raged tonight in the Chinese and Annamite quarter of Hanoi, where French troops sought to dislodge fiirmly intrenched Viet Namese defenders, dispatches from Indo-China reported.

French troops attacking Viet Namese forces repeatedly hurled high explosives against them to clear a path for their step-by-step advance. In many points only a narrow alleyway or a single house separated the opposing forces.

IL DUCE'S FRIEND IS FOUND GUILTY

15-Year Term Given Magda Fontages As Collaborator

Bordeaux, France, Thursday, Jan. 30 (AP)—Magda Coraboeuf Fontages, who boasted of a brief romance with Benito Mussolini a decade ago, was convicted today of collaboration with the German Gestapo and sentenced to fifteen years at hard labor.

A military tribunal of three civilians and nine officers deliberated for nearly an hour before convicting the 37-year-old, prison-worn woman who once was a famed French beauty.

Called Duce's "Proper Widow"

The prosecution charged that she had worked for the Gestapo in Marseille, Paris and Brussels but did not ask the death penalty. At one point the prosecution sardonically called her: "The proper widow of the Italian (Mussolini)."

The chief defense lawyer, Rene Floriot, defended her ten years ago when she was charged with shooting and wounding the Count de Chambrun, French Ambassador to Italy.

Plea For "This Poor Girl"

Pleading for acquittal "for this poor girl," Floriot said:

"Let's get this thing in its proper perspective. If this defendant were not named Magda Fontages, if she did not have the reputation of being the mistress of Mussolini, if she had not shot the Count de Chambrun ten years ago, you would not have all these newspaper men and photographers here and there would be no question of accusing her of treason."

CONFER ABOUT ITALY

Rome, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—Premier-designate Alcide de Gasperi interrupted his consultations on the Italian Cabinet crisis for a thirty-minute interview today with Gen. Sir William D. Morgan, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean.

The best information was that they talked about problems resulting from large-scale Italian emigration from Pola and other Venezia Giulia areas to be ceded to Yugoslavia. One aspect of the Government crisis De Gasperi and Morgan might have discussed was the signature of the peace treaty. Increasing opposition to its signature has become one of the underlying factors holding up the formation of a new Cabinet.

The Italian Navy, one of the stiffest centers of resistance to the treaty, said in a communique today that Italy "has not made any decision as to accepting the treaty."

Russian Bid To Reich Seen

Berlin, Jan. 29 (AP)—Soviet actions concerning Germany within the last ten days have led high American officials in Berlin to express the conviction that Russia has launched an intensive propaganda campaign against the Western Allies to win German support on the eve of the Moscow conference. WES GALLAGHER

Recent Soviet press attacks on the occupation policies of Britain and the United States and moves by Marshall Vassily Sokolovsky, the Russian occupation commander, have drawn expressions of resentment from high Western diplomats and other officials. Some of these said they fear the Soviet course foreshadows a deepening of the cleavages between East and West which they have been trying to mend.

Uncompromising Attitude

Some expressed fear today that recent Russian actions and statements foreshadowed an uncompromising Russian attitude in the Moscow meeting, in which the foreign ministers of the Big Four powers will attempt to draft peace treaties for Germany and Austria. They also said it might bring on an outright rivalry between East and West to win German favor.

Even persons who do not take this extreme view asserted that the situation was playing into German hands, setting one ally against another and putting the Allies in the position of currying favor with the defeated enemy at a time when unity is needed more than ever.

Factory Removal Ended

The alleged new Russian attitude became apparent some ten days ago when Sokolovsky, in a sudden unilateral action, announced through the Soviet-sponsored Social Unity party that the removal of factories from the eastern zone of Germany was at an end. Further, he announced that production would be increased 200 or 300 per cent.

Since this appeared to not be in conformity with the four-power plan for the level of German industry, the United States requested an explanation in the Allied co-ordinating committee. The Russian representative replied that the increases would be only in peaceful consumer goods and hence did not affect the level of industry.

Production Increased

The Russian-controlled Berliner Zeitung, however, published figures showing increases above the level of industry set by the Allied Control Council's plan in heavy machinery, tool machines and precision instruments, the very industries the Allied Control Council tried to control in its level of industry plan.

The Russian move was regarded among Western officials as a Soviet bid to offset the economic merger of the American and British zones of occupation.

Following Sokolovsky's announcement a steady stream of newspaper and radio attacks from Moscow criticized American and British de-Nazification policies, the failure to continue capital reparations and the economic merger of the two zones. All these charges had been aired time and again, but all were revived in almost daily criticisms from Soviet Government organs.

The consistency of these attacks has led American officials to believe that an organized propaganda campaign is under way. The Soviet charges have been picked up and echoed throughout Germany by the Communist-controlled German Unity party.

Papen Denies He Forged Will Of Hindenburg

Tells Trial He Got Disputed Document From Son and Turned It Over to Hitler

NUERNBERG, Germany, Jan. 29 (AP).—Franz Von Papen, admitting that he handed Adolf Hitler the supposed will of former President Paul von Hindenburg, today denied any part in a long-alleged forgery naming Hitler as German Fuehrer.

Papen told the de-Nazification court here before which he is appearing as a defendant that he handed Hitler the supposed will after Hindenburg's death in 1934, but he did not know its contents.

The former German diplomat said he had drafted a proposed will for the German President some time before his death, urging Hitler to restore the Hohenzollern monarchy, and when Hindenburg died he asked Oskar von Hindenburg, the Presidents song for the testament. He said he was handed two envelopes, and he gave these to Hitler at Berchtesgaden.

Papen took the stand after Hindenburg's biographer, Gerhard Schultze-Pfaelzer, had supported the long-held theory that the will was a fake. The biographer said Hindenburg vigorously opposed the naming of Hitler as Fuehrer, and quoted him as saying, "I do not want somebody else to use my name and decide the future of Germany."

Immediately upon Hindenburg's death Hitler sprang a coup d'etat by proclaiming the offices of President and Chancellor merged in himself. On Aug. 15, four days before the plebiscite he had ordered to confirm this decision, Hitler released the text of the purported Hindenburg will, which declared, "My Chancellor, Adolf Hitler, and his movement have taken a decisive stride of historical importance" for Germany.

DENIAL MADE BY VON PAPEN

Had No Part In Forgery Of Hindenburg Will, He Says

Nuernberg, Jan. 29 (AP)—Franz von Papen denied today that he had any part in the alleged forgery of the last political will of German President Paul von Hindenburg used by Adolf Hitler to clinch his grip as German Führer.

Von Papen told the de-Nazification court, before which he is appearing as a defendant, that he personally handed Hitler the supposed will after von Hindenburg's death in 1934 but he did not know its contents.

Von Papen took the stand after von Hindenburg's biographer, Dr. Gerhard Schultze-Pfaelzer had supported the long-held theory that the will was a fake.

The biographer said von Hindenburg vigorously opposed the naming of Hitler as Führer and quoted him as saying, "I do not want somebody else to use my name and decide the future of Germany."

Immediately upon von Hindenburg's death Hitler sprang a coup d'etat by proclaiming the offices of President and Chancellor merged in himself. On August 15, four days before the plebiscite Hitler had ordered to confirm this decision, Hitler released the text of the purported von Hindenburg will which declared, "My Chancellor, Adolf Hitler, and his movement have taken a decisive stride of historical importance" for Germany.

Refugees Stage Hunger Strike

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Jan. 29 (AP)—More than 2,000 Polish and Ukrainian displaced persons staged a four-day hunger strike at a camp in the United States zone in protest against removal of 130 inmates found ineligible for Allied care, United States constabulary officials reported tonight. With sixty-seven strikers hospitalized for malnutrition, the displaced persons abandoned their threatened seven-day fast, after hearing an appeal by a United States Army officer.

German Scientists' Trip Here Canceled

Frankfurt, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—A United States Military Government plan to fly German scientists to the United States to learn how to boost Germany's penicillin production was suddenly canceled on orders from Washington, it was learned today. Ten minutes before a group of scientists were scheduled to board a plane at Wiesbaden last week, they were stopped on orders contained in an urgent War Department cable, it was stated.

Instead, the informants continued, a committee believed to represent commercial penicillin interests in the United States will come to Germany to study the possibilities of shipping penicillin in bulk from America for packaging in Germany. Penicillin is urgently needed here.

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Jan. 29 (AP)—Ten minutes before a group of German scientists was scheduled to board a plane for the United States at Wiesbaden last week, Military Government sources said, officers stopped them on orders contained in an urgent War Department cable.

Greece Assails Yugoslav Action

Athens, Jan. 29 (AP)—A Greek Foreign Ministry spokesman accused Yugoslavia today of trying to divert a United Nations investigating commission from its objective — to determine whether Greek disorders are being aided from abroad.

Another Ministry source said that Yugoslavia, by requesting visas for six newspaper men while offering to grant a visa for only one Greek reporter, demonstrated determination to divert attention from the border violence and emphasize purely internal Greek disorders.

Visa Offer By Greece

Greece has offered to issue as many visas for Yugoslav newsmen as Yugoslavia issues for Greek writers. One reason given by Yugoslavia for the disparity in visas granted, a Ministry informant said, was that "all of Greece will be investigated while only the borders of Yugoslavia will be inspected."

The Ministry declared, however, that the United Nations had authorized its commission to inspect any section of the four countries involved—Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

Press reports, meanwhile, said eight members of Leftist bands operating in the Salonika region, including a woman, had been killed in the last 24 hours, with six others wounded and two captured.

'Quake Topples Houses

Adding to Greek troubles were these other developments:

An earthquake toppled houses in Moschokarya, near Lamia, yesterday, without loss of life.

Municipal and communal officials proclaimed a strike today in support of their demand for higher wages.

Greeks Buy Soviet Newsprint

Athens, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—Purchase of 3,000 tons of newsprint from Soviet Russia at $212 per ton was announced today by Greek Minister of Co-ordination Stephan Stephanopoulos.

Izvestia Challenges Pauley Manchu Report

Moscow, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Government newspaper Izvestia characterized today as "absurd and tendentious" Edwin W. Pauley's recent assertion that Russia was wrecking Manchuria's industrial economy by removal of productive machinery.

Pauley, acting as President Truman's personal representative on reparations, made the statement last month in a report based on a special mission to Manchuria during the summer.

Izvestia particularly challenged Pauley's estimate that $2,000,000,000 damage had been done in Manchuria since the Soviet occupation and reasserted Russia's right to seize Japanese military property as "war trophies."

"Smokescreen Created"

The paper declared that Pauley had deliberately tried to confuse these "war trophies" with the question of reparations.

"The immediate purpose of Pauley's report," Izvestia said, "is the creation of a smokescreen facilitating the implementation of an American reparations policy which would wholly ignore the interests of other Allied powers participating in the defeat of Japanese imperialism."

The Communist party organ Pravda, meanwhile, accused American and British authorities of pursuing a policy aimed at the political and economic dismemberment of Germany.

Hits Anglo-American Action

Commenting on the economic unification of the American and British occupation zones, Pravda Commentator B. Leontyev wrote:

"This Anglo-American agreement, which is leading to the economic and political dismemberment of Germany by converting the unified zone into a patrimony of Anglo-American capital, hardly is capable of contributing to the fulfillment of Allied decisions on the liquidation of Germany's military and industrial potential."

Hitting at the recently decreed amnesty for "little Nazis," Leontyev asserted that in implementing the unification agreement American and British authorities were "relying not on democratic elements but on German capitalists and on cadres of Nazi economic executives."

Gang Invades Spanish Village, 7 Persons Killed

Valencia, Spain, Jan. 29 (AP)—The civil governor announced today that a truckload of unidentified men invaded the village of Losa del Obispo Sunday, herded the villagers into a cafe and killed seven with machine-gun fire.

Six persons were badly wounded and slight injuries were suffered by "numerous others," he said. The motive for the shooting was not announced.

Japanese Sentenced To Die

Manila, Jan. 29 (AP)—After a three-months trial in which the testimony filled 3,500 pages, former Col. Masakasu Yamaguchi was convicted by a United States War Crimes Commission today and sentenced to the gallows. He was accused of permitting atrocities on Filipino civilians and guerrillas during his term of command of Negros Island.

Two Army Flyers Killed

Manila, Jan. 29 (AP)—Lieut. Calvin G. Fuller, of Macon, Ga., and Corporal Winfield H. Mobley, of Hazlehurst, Ga., were killed Sunday near the Palawan airbase in the crash of their advanced trainer. The Army today blamed a mechanical failure.

Conspiracy Linked To 26 Japanese

Tokyo, Jan. 29 (AP)—Prosecutor Eugene Williams, of San Gabriel, Cal., argued before the War Crimes Tribunal today that all 26 Japanese defendants must be held guilty of conspiracy to establish Japan's domination of all of East Asia.

Evidence has shown, he contended, that such a conspiracy existed between 1928 and 1945, and all defendants and "divers other persons" participated.

Linked In Common Design

Williams declared the defendants cannot disassociate themselves from the conspiracy charge by pleading they merely took orders from superiors. All were linked in a "common design" to violate treaties and enter into international agreements aimed at the military, political and economic dominance of Japan in East Asia, he asserted.

Earlier, George Blewett, of Philadelphia, counsel for former Premier Hideki Tojo, declared that under existing law it was "humanly impossible" to prove the defendants guilty. Arguing for dismissal of the charges against Tojo, Blewett contended the prosecution had failed to "make out a case against the accused."

22 Japs Face Trial

Tokyo, Jan. 29 (AP)—Twenty-two Japanese war crime suspects, including a lieutenant general and a vice admiral, were taken into custody at Sugamo Prison today by British and Australian officials for trial in Southeast Asia and New Britain.

Jap Doctor Escapes War Trial By Suicide

Tokyo, Jan. 29 (AP)—Hideo Chikami, one-time surgeon, accused in war-crime charges of cutting the heart out of an Australian soldier to watch its dying pulsations, strangled himself today after writing: "I am sure I cannot escape punishment . . . and cannot endure the humiliation."

He took his life atop a hill behind his native village after receiving notice that he was to be taken into custody. He tied a rope to a tree, placed one end about his neck, then took morphine. As he slumped unconscious, the rope pulled tight.

Japs Curb Construction

Tokyo, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Japanese Government placed a ban today on all construction except residential, asserting too many restaurants, black-market shops and movie houses were being built.

FOUGHT JEWS FOR FREEDOM, BANKER SAYS

Exhausted Briton Stumbles Into Clinic In Heart Of Jerusalem

Jerusalem, Jan. 29 (AP)—An exhausted 48-year-old British banker, held prisoner by the Jewish underground for 78 hours, stumbled into a clinic in the heart of Jerusalem tonight and told police he had fought his way to freedom.

Taken promptly to a heavily guarded Government hospital, H. A. I. Collins, the second of two civilians kidnapped by the underground, was quoted by police as declaring: "I was badly treated." Physicians at the hospital described his condition as "dangerous."

Police with drawn revolvers rode the running boards of the ambulance which took him from the Hadassam Clinic off Zion Square to the hospital. His head was bandaged, apparently from the ax-handle blow he received when he was abducted Sunday night.

6 Hours After Deadline

He appeared at the clinic—in a dazed condition and with his face bloody—at 11.05 P.M., a little more than six hours after the deadline fixed by British authorities for his return.

When that deadline passed, the British threw into gear the machinery to impose statutory martial law on one third of Palestine's Jewish population. It was understood, however, that the martial-law order could be countermanded quickly.

The other abducted civilian, Judge Ralph Windham, was freed unharmed near Tel Aviv last night and received an ovation when he returned to his court in that city this morning.

Retaliation For Sentence

British authorities said Collins and Windham were seized by the Jewish underground in retaliation for the death sentence pronounced on Dov Bela Gruner, 33, who was convicted of participating in an attack on a Palestine police station. Tension was eased somewhat when the attorney for Gruner said he finally had agreed to appeal for clemency to the Privy Council in London.

Legal circles here said the appeal would automatically stay the execution until the council acted, and Jewish sources said a several-weeks period of quiet might be expected in Palestine during the interim.

The Jerusalem office of the Heboker, a Hebrew newspaper in Tel Aviv, said it had received an anonymous telephone call at the time Collins appeared at the clinic. A girl, speaking Hebrew, said: "In the name of Irgun Zvai Leumi (Jewish underground organization), we have released Collins." Earlier the secret radio station of the Irgun had declared that Collins would be freed "at a time which we have decided."

Held In A "Cave"

Collins told authorities that he had been held in Jerusalem in "something resembling a cave."

Chloroform which his abductors used at the time they seized him burned his neck and mouth, making it impossible for him to eat. He said he could not read because he was too dazed. His captors had given him crude medical treatment.

[In London, where British and Arab officials are conferring on the future of the troubled Holy Land, a British Government source said the Cabinet had decided that the only long-term solution was to partition Palestine into separate, independent Arab and Jewish states.]

It was understood that the modified martial law would be imposed on the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, Petah Tikva, 10 miles to the east, and Ramat Gan, about half way between the two. Statutory martial law differs from full martial law in that the military is limited by rules promulgated by Government officials, rather than being given blanket authority.

Highway Curfews Lifted

Earlier today, curfews were lifted on highways and in Jerusalem and Haifa, in the apparent hope that the underground, thus given comparative freedom of movement, might turn Collins loose.

The Palestine police, meanwhile, launched an intensive hunt for a tall blond Jew named Shapiro, said to have been identified by photographs as the leader of gangs which abducted Collins and Windham. The judge was seized from his courtroom in Tel Aviv Monday.

BRITISH APPROVE HOLY LAND SPLIT

London, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—A Government informant said today that the British Cabinet had decided that the partition of Palestine into independent Arab and Jewish States would be necessary to settle the troublesome Holy Land question. This informant emphasized, however, that the Cabinet had not decided whether Britain should impose partition or refer the problem to the United Nations with a partition recommendation.

The informant disclosed that, in the face of rejection of the partition idea by Arab spokesmen at the British-Arab conference here, the Cabinet had discussed both the unilateral imposition of partition and the United Nations alternative. Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones favored the first course, this informant said, while Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin favored the second.

Moslem Group Opposes All Jewish State Plans

Tells Bevin It Will Fight Any Partition of Holy Land

CAIRO, Jan. 29 (AP).—The Moslem Brotherhood tonight adopted a resolution declaring that the entire Moslem and Arab world would fight "any plan which would give the Jews a state in Palestine." The resolution, a copy of which was cabled to British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in London, also denounced any plan to partition the Holy Land into separate Jewish and Arab states.

Haj Amin el Husseini, exiled Mufti of Jerusalem and head of the Palestine Arab Executive Committee, said in a statement to reporters: "I, on behalf of Palestine, reject any solution which would not give Palestine complete independence. The partition plan, as I previously declared, is strongly opposed and definitely rejected."

U. S. Denies Iraq Troop Report

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Jan. 28 (Delayed) (AP).—The United States Embassy said today it was authorized by the State Department to deny reports published by "New Times" of Moscow and Iranian newspapers asserting that United States troops had arrived in Iraq and Turkey and that the United States had supplied forty bombers to Iran for use in occupying Azerbaijan.

Burmese Sees Constitution By October

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—U Aung San, Burmese Nationalist leader, said today that a constitution for a Burma free of British rule should be ready by October.

The British Government announced yesterday an agreement to grant autonomy to the Asiatic dependcy within or outside the Commonwealth, and arrangements to elect a Burmese Constituent Assembly in April.

Winston Churchill dubbed the whole thing a "dismal transaction."

Aung San, head of the six-man Burma indepepndence mission to London, said the Constituent Assembly should be in session by May and should complete a new government "within six months."

British Link Undecided

Whether Burma decides to enter the British Commonwealth, he said, "depends on how the present agreement is implemented in practice."

He expressed a belief that his country's frontier provinces—not now integrated into the structure of Burma—would agree to join an independent Burmese government.

There are 5,000,000 tribesmen in these areas—the Shan states and the Chin Hill areas along the borders of India, Siam and China.

"If His Majesty's Government as well as those representatives of His Majesty's Government now in Burma stay out of the way, I think unification can be brought about soon," he declared, adding that he was quite prepared to grant autonomy, "probably more than local," to the frontier peoples.

Lack Of Time Limit Hit

The departure of A. G. Bottomley, British Parliamentary Under Secretary for the Dominions, for Burma to ascertain the wishes of the frontier tribesmen on the question of independence, was delayed by the weather.

In Rangoon, Dr. Ba Maw, chief adviser to the Mahabama (Greater Burma) organization, expressed surprise that the British Government had fixed no specific time limit for granting Burma freedom, commenting: "This looks like a believe it or not story."

He said he was "most perturbed" about that part of the agreement referring to the frontier areas and declared: "My first impression of the agreement is that it looks very much like what the Germans would call a 'cow's deal.'"

"My reaction to the agreement," he said, "would be precisely according to the extent of past illusions—and I'm a very disillusioned man."

12 Moslem Chiefs Are Arrested

Lahore, India, Jan. 29 (AP)—A doen Moslem leaders were arrested today, most of them for the third time in five days, amid demonstrations throughout the Punjab against the Provincial Government's ban on mass meetings and parades.

A Government communiqué said the twelve were taken into custody under a Punjab public-safety ordinance which provides that leaders may be held a month without trial for defying such a ban. The men were reported moved to "different destinations."

586 Arrests Yesterday

The communiqué did not mention civil-disobedience incidents of Moslem League members today, but said arrests throughout the Punjab yesterday totaled 586.

Unofficial sources said those arrested included Firoz Khan Noon, president and secretary of the Punjab Moslem League.

Bans Lifted

This reported action followed by only a few hours announcement by the Punjab Provincial Government that a ban imposed last Friday on the Moslem League's National Guard and the Hindu Youth Organization had been lifted. Eight Moslem League leaders arrested that day were released Sunday.

A short time later the Punjab Government, which supports the program of the Hindu-led Congress party in this northwest province—which is 57 per cent Moslem—imposed a fifteen-day censorship on news, directing that nothing but official statements be published concerning any "agitation." Four pro-Moslem League newspapers immediately said they would suspend publication for that length of time.

PUNJAB RIOTS ARE RENEWED

Mass Arrests Of Moslems Also Reported In Lahore

Lahore, India, Jan. 29 (AP)—New rioting and mass arrests were reported today in the Punjab, India's richest province, as Moslem League members staged disobedience campaigns against the provincial government's bans on mass meetings and parades.

A Government communiqué said that 586 persons were arrested yesterday, and that twelve Moslem League leaders were taken into custody early today. Most of the twelve had been arrested and freed on two other occasions in the last six days.

British troops were called out to guard a police station at Amritsar, 30 miles east of here, after a two-hour brickbat battle in which a number of policemen were injured.

Guard Headquarters Raid

The outbreaks started last Friday when provincial police raided the headquarters of the Moslem League National Guard, a uniformed quasi-military organization, and banned the guard and the Rashtriya Sevak Sangh, Hindu youth organization. The ban was lifted yesterday, but the Moslem League's committee of action said it would continue its civil disobedience campaign against what it termed the "reactionary Punjab regime."

The provincial government yesterday imposed a fifteen-day censorship on news of disturbances, most of which have been nonviolent, and ordered newspapers and press services to print only official announcements concerning any trouble.

The Punjab, in northwestern India, has a population of about 28,000,000 and an area of close to 100,000 square miles—about the size of Oregon. Although about 57 per cent of its population is Moslem, the province's government favors the predominantly Hindu Congress party.

INDIAN PRINCES AGREE TO HELP CONSTITUTION

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Chamber of Princes adopted a resolution today expressing willingness "to render the fullest possible cooperation in framing a agreed Constitution" for the proposed union of India.

They emphasized that the union must be within the framework of the British Cabinet mission's plan. More than sixty of the leading Maharajahs and Princes attended the meeting.

The resolution specified that "the entry of states into the union would be on no other basis than negotiation, with the final decision resting with each state." It also specified that the states "retain all subjects and powers except those ceded to the union. The union would receive power over defense, communication and foreign affairs.

The action specified that state boundaries remain unchanged except by consent and that the central Government have no dealings with "questions bearing on the internal administrations or constitutions of the states."

A negotiating committee of the princes of the 561 Indian states, 158 of which adhere to the Chamber of Princes, will meet with a board from the Constituent Assembly for talks starting on Feb.

Ban On Exports Set For Dutch East Indies

Batavia, Java, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Netherlands East Indies Government today banned exports of rubber, cupra, spices and a long list of other products from both Indonesian and Dutch-controlled areas except with the express permission of the Indies Government.

It also prohibited the import of weapons to the Indonesian Republic.

A series of eleven decrees issued by H. J. Van Mook, acting governor general, by the Netherlands Navy and the N.E.I. Department of Economic Affairs is intended to end unauthorized export of raw materials from the Indonesian Republic, which controls virtually all of Java and Sumatra except Dutch perimeters comprising about five per cent of the territory.

Millions In Trade

This trade has brought millions of dollars in consumer goods to the republic, mostly from Singapore.

The Dutch decrees, in essence, placed all goods illegally exported from the Indies under Government control and threatened five years imprisonment and a maximum fine of 10,000 guilders ($2,640) for violators.

They prohibited exports of virtually all Indies products worth more than $10 by firms and worth more than $26 by individuals without permits and banned all imports to the Indies of weapons and materials from which weapons might be made, unless licensed by the Dutch. Imports of other materials were not affected, either in Dutch or Republican areas.

Airborne Troop Attack Held Only Way To Invade Alaska

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 28 (AP.—Delayed)—If Alaska ever is attacked the enemy will strike with airborne troops, in the opinion of leading military authorities here.

"I can't imagine moving masses of troops across this country by land," Maj. Gen. Howard A. Craig, who has the overall tactical command of both army and navy forces in Alaska and the Aleutians, said today.

Substantially the same statement was made a few days ago by Col. Paul V. Kane, commander of Task Force Frigid at Fairbanks, in talks to a group of news correspondents and photographers touring this area.

Communications The Key

Communications is the key to the strategy of Alaskan defense, in the opinion of both men. There is only one railroad, which is blocked sometimes for weeks in bad winter weather, and a few main gravel highways connecting coastal cities with one another and the interior.

Transporting large numbers of troops and supplies by surface travel presents the utmost difficulty. In winter any movement through the frozen wilderness is painfully slow and uncertain. And in summer the few muddy roads provide travel surfaces which are not much better than in winter.

Sending mechanized divisions across the muskeg and tundra in the summer would be impossible, and in winter it could be done only by following the frozen creeks and rivers.

Housing Shortage Cited

"The greatest contribution that could be made to the security of Alaska would be the development of the country," said General Craig.

"If substantial numbers of civilians settled here, they would help to build up communications. They would make it economically feasible to extend the highway system and improve and extend the railroad.

"The housing is the limiting feature just now," the General added.

Housing is so scarce that even those who are most eager to see the territory develop hope there will be no large influx for several years, until homes can be built.

Yet, General Craig feels, Alaska gives settlers a chance to make a good living—"a hard living but it can be a good one."

Col. Frank A. Bogart, director of logistics for the Alaska Department, indicated today that the Alaska highway is primarily of value as a means for emergency supply.

This new travel road, running from Edmondton, Canada, to Fairbanks, through hundreds of miles of muskeg which is entirely uninhabited, is now in daily use, even in the recent rough weather.

"To supply Alaska by truck over the Alaska highway is not economically feasible," he said.

He related that the Alaska railroad organiaztion ran a convoy of trucks over the highway during the recent West Coast shipping strike, and it found the costs so high that use of the route would be prohibitive from a commercial standpoint.

Rail Connection Held Possible

Colonel Bogart said however, that "rail connection" with the United States is possible. Such a route has been surveyed."

He could give no further details on the project, but in his opinion the railroad would be primarily of strategic value and would have to be built and initially maintained by the Government, since at first it would not be commercially profitable.

Trygve Lie Gets Degree

CUIDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Jan. 29 (AP)—The University of Santo Domingo, the oldest in this hemisphere, conferred an honorary doctorate of laws today on Trygve Lie, the United Nations' General Secretary. Dr. Ortega Frier, who next week becomes Ambassador to the United States, made the award. Mr. Lie was received later by President Rafael Trujillo and members of his Cabinet.

Calls for Big 3 Talk on Poland

Vandenberg Demands Instant Joint Action on 'Rigged and Terrified' Election.

Washington, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and adviser to former Secretary of State Byrnes, called today for "frank and immediate" Big Three consultations on what he called the "rigged and terrified" election in Poland.

Vandenberg told the Senate that he believes there must be immediate clarification by the United States, Great Britain and Russia of "who is who and what is what in Poland." Supporting the official State Department criticism of the conduct of the election of January 19, when a new government was chosen, he asserted that the solemn promises of the Big Three at Yalta and Potsdam, pledging a "free and unfettered" election, had been violated.

Noting that the State Department had protested in much the same vein, Vandenberg declared: "We must establish the total truth in respect to the State Department charges of yesterday and then we must face realities." These realities, he continued, must go beyond the filing of a mere unpursued "indictment" by which nothing would be accomplished. "We must have frank and immediate consultations between the Big Three with facts summarily acquired to find out who is who and what is what in Poland."

Wants Peaceful Accord.

He was not suggesting anything but a peaceful settlement, he said, adding that any settlement must come as a part of the "torturous" process by which "peace-living" nations are striving for international integrity.

Vandenberg began by saying he wished "to register American unity behind the sturdy statement" of the State Department yesterday. He declared that repeated warnings that the elections must be fair had been disregarded by Warsaw and Moscow alike. "Great Britain joined us in those warnings," he said. "Soviet Russia declined."

He declared that the last world war "was started on behalf of Polish liberty" and can hardly now be said to have been won in the face of a rigged election. "We would have no business intervening in the affairs of another country in purely domestic matters" he said, "but this leaps beyond that. This involves the sanctity of international agreements. This is a four-way question, involving four Powers and not just one."

He invited the Senate to take note that he had not spoken out until the State Department had issued its statement.

Pledges Civic Rights.

Warsaw, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—The Government bloc parties in control of Poland's first post-war Parliament issued a manifesto today promising freedom of speech, freedom of the press and the right of public assembly in Poland. These three rights were cardinal issues in the recent election campaign, during which Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk's Polish Peasant party bitterly accused the Government of resorting to repressive and terroristic measures to influence the voters.

"The new Constitution," today's manifesto said, "will guarantee freedom of speech and the press, public assembly and equal rights of all citizens. It will guarantee liberty of conscience and religious tenets, particularly the rights of the Catholic Church. The Constitution will also create wide possibilities for the development of cooperatives and will safeguard private property as the basis of sound, private initiative." In addition, the manifesto promised increased employment, higher wages, the development of social services, improved housing, school reforms and financial aid to farmers.

On the subject of the Polish Peasant party, the manifesto declared: "By becoming the legal superstructure of the reactionary underground, the movement has put itself outside sound social forces and has eliminated itself from the list of forces which may contend over Poland's fate."

Says British Plan to Rule the Air

Brewster Warns of Threat to U. S. in Race for World Commercial Routes.

Washington, Jan. 29 (A. P.).—Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) said today that British aviation leaders plan to "sweep the skies as they did the seas in years past."

He told a reporter that is why the Senate air safety investigation he is leading hopes to assemble all possible safety data and aids for United States air lines, both overseas and domestic.

"The British expect to have a jet turbine air liner ready for commercial service in the next five years," Brewster said. "Glenn Martin told me the British now are eighteen months ahead of us in this field."

Martin is one of the nation's large aircraft manufacturers.

"Whereas a year or two ago the British were worried about us, now they think they have the jump on us," Brewster said.

Russia Also a Threat.

He added that Russia also is a possible competitor of this country for global air business and "has talked of establishing 107,000 miles of air lines. That's as much as the United States and Great Britain have together."

Brewster said that the United States airlines are in fair shape to compete for world business in the next four or five years "because we now have the planes and the organizations. It is crucial to our national defense that we continue these world air routes," he added.

Urges Safety Board.

Both Senate and House commerce committees are currently conducting separate inquiries into air safety problems. David L. Behncke, president of the Air Lines Pilots Association, told the House committee today that the Government should have an air safety board independent of other Federal agencies. Back in the 1930s there was an independent board. It was abolished in June, 1940, and its functions placed under the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Behncke said the result is that in effect the same agency is writing regulations and conducting investigations to determine whether its regulations are proper. He called that a cart-before-the-horse precedure.

Truman Kills Order for 10% Hike in Rents

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29 (AP).—President Truman in a sudden last-minute action today killed an order for a 10% boost in rent ceilings and passed on to Congress the responsibility for any general increase.

The OPA, under instructions from the Office of Temporary Controls, had gone so far as to prepare for the mimeograph room a press announcement of the increase. Then a sudden "hold" order came just as newsmen were expecting the release.

The White House said Truman believes any general revision of rents—which have been frozen in many sections since May, 1942—is a matter for Congress to decide.

For several hours, however, it appeared that the rent lid was going to be lifted at least in part.

The sequence was this:

In the late afternoon the OPA revealed that it had received an order to prepare a press release announcing the increase. The order had come about 1 P. M. from the Office of Temporary Controls, an OPA official said.

Ross Calls Conference.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) told reporters he understood the announcement would call for a 10% increase, with certain exceptions for veterans' housing.

Other legislators confirmed this, and OPA officials were busy giving reporters background material to supplement the expected announcement.

But at 5:15 P. M. the OPA passed the word that there would be "no statement tonight."

Then Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, hurriedly summoned newsmen to a conference.

No Flat Rise Mentioned.

He said he had relayed to Mr. Truman a report that the President had approved a 10% raise in rents. The President told him in reply, Ross said, that he had not.

Ross added:

"The President's position" Ross added, "is the same as that he announced last week at a news conference: He feels the line ought to be held on rents, but that this is a matter for Congress."

From a man who sat in on conferences between Truman and Major Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of the Office of Temporary Controls, came the statement that in these talks there was no mention of any across-the-board rent increase.

Fleming told reporters at the White House last week that OPA regional directors had been instructed to liberalize ceilings when a landlord is suffering hardship. Ross said tonight that the policy is to permit rent increases on an individual basis only, where hardship can be shown.

The OPA estimated that a 10% rent hike would add $576,000,000 a year to rent bills and would boost the cost of living index by about 1.3%.

The OPA estimates that 16,000,000 houses and apartments are under control in 649 rental areas, and that 60,000,000 persons live in controlled units.

Real estate interests long have contended that present rent ceilings are unfair in view of rises in most other cost-of-living items. This viewpoint has gained some support in Congress. Earlier this week, a group of Senators introduced a bill to authorize a 15% rent increase.

To Testify Before Senators.

Today's proposed order was based on the appeal of the real estate industry last Fall for a 15% increase. Those familiar with it said that apparently nothing was to be said about the industry's further request of new construction.

The order to kill the release, it was said at the OPA, came from James W. Follin, Deputy Administrator of the Office of Temporary Controls.

Follin is scheduled to testify before the Senate Banking Committee tomorrow on rent ceilings. There were some who thought OTC had planned to take some of the heat off the OPA by meeting the 15% demand with the 10% in- [illegible] thought that the

TRUMAN STEPS INTO DISPUTE OVER DIARIES

He May Plac[illegible] On Future Removal of Government Documents

Washington, Jan. 29 (AP)—President Truman stepped into the Cabinet "paper chase" controversy today and the White House said he is considering a flat ban on the future removal of Government documents.

Charles G. Ross, the President's press secretary, said Mr. Truman believes "official papers" should be left with the Government and not taken away by Cabinet members and other Federal officials when they retire to private life.

Ross said the "matter has not been thought through" but has been considered by the Chief Executive.

Two Departments Involved

So far, the case has centered on the Treasury and Interior departments. Involved are:

1. A 900-volume diary kept by Henry L. Morgenthau during his 1934-1945 tenure as Secretary of the Treasury.

2. Some 50 filing cases of papers which an Interior Department official said were removed by Harold L. Ickes, when he quit as Secretary of the Interior in a row with President Truman last February 13. Ickes has been a Cabinet member for thirteen years.

Morgenthau has offered to return any papers "needed" by the Government, while Ickes has invited "any proper and legitimate curiosity" about documents he may have removed. Ickes added, however, that he does not intend to let anybody stick his nose "into affairs that are strictly personal and private."

Although the President my rule on future withdrawals, the White House made it clear that steps to regain the Morgenthau files are in the hands of John W. Snyder, Treasury Secretary.

Up To Secretary Snyder

Snyder said today the Government is not seeking to suppress anything in Morgenthau's sometimes-lively 60,000,000-word record. On the contrary, he said, Morgenthau is free to publish any sections of the diary "within his own discretion."

"All we want is documents needed for the files of the Treasury Department," Snyder said. "We aren't trying to take anyone's private papers. Nor am I trying to suppress anything he might think it proper to release."

Only Official Record

Snyder said he knew of no law or custom restricting a man in what he says or publishes after an official post, but declared he had "no doubt" that Morgenthau would decide the diary is "in major part, at least, public property."

Snyder said he had been advised that the diary contains "the only copies of the transcripts of a great many official conversations and of countless official conferences" held in Morgenthau's office during his secretaryship.

Among other things, in sections of his diary already published, Morgenthau related that President Roosevelt once referred to Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson as "a lightweight" and that Mr. Roosevelt joked about making a change in the price of gold on the random basis of a "lucky number."

U.S. Plan for U.N.R.R.A. Revision Reported Near

Austria, Greece, Poland and Italy Likely to Benefit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP).—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's governing officials were reported near agreement today on an American-sponsored proposal to revise the final phase of the international agency's relief program to provide more food to Austria and other hungry lands.

In the latest form of the plan some of the funds earmarked for such post-war rehabilitation equipment as locomotives and farm machinery would be diverted to food.

Aside from Austria, Greece, Poland and possibly Italy would benefit, largely at the expense of shipments to Czechoslovakia, China and Yugoslavia.

Officials familiar with current conferences of the central committee of the U. N. R. R. A. said a final agreement was being sought by the end of the week.

They said it promised to be a compromise of proposals first advanced by United States representatives in December and counter-proposals submitted by the U. N. R. R. A., which is headed by Major General Lowell W. Rooks.

RUSSIAN BOOK UNDER FIRE

Mundt Tells House It Depicts Vital Industrial Facts Here

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Representative Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota told the House today that its Committee on Un-American Activities was investigating Russian publication of a book giving vital details of industrial information about the United States.

Demanding a tightening of security regulations in this country, Mr. Mundt said:

"We should grant to the Russians over here only what they grant to us over there."

During the war, Mr. Mundt said, the Russians had free access to industrial plants and vital operations in this country and photographed them in detail. Holding up a big volume before the House, he said the information gathered by the Russians was published last year under the title "American Construction."

The book contained 175 full-page advertisements, he added, paid for by United States business men, largely manufacturers of machine tools which were sold to Russia. He suggested that Congress determine whether the cost of the advertising was deducted when income taxes were computed.

Alaska-Canada Rail Line Studied By Army In '42

Washington, Jan. 29 (AP)—Army engineers in 1942 surveyed a route for a railroad to connect the Canadian National Railway at Prince George, B.C., with the Alaska railroad at a point south of Fairbanks, Interior Department officials said today.

The maps, studies and the fact that the survey was made remained a secret until after the end of hostilities with Japan. The project was dropped when the Japanese threat to Alaska and the Aleutians was averted.

Attaches of the Alaska branch of the Interior Department's territories division said no congressional proposals for a railroad are now pending. They expressed belief such a railroad's sole justification would be as a military and not as an economic enterprise.

AUSTIN DISCUSSES WORLD WAR III

Talks With Senate-House Unit On How To Prevent It

Washington, Jan. 29 (AP)—Warren Austin, United States delegate on the United Nations Security Council, said today he discussed "how to prevent World War III" at a meeting of the joint House-Senate Armed Services Committee.

He did not elaborate, and members of the committee were almost equally tight-mouthed on developments during the two-hour parley behind closed doors.

Chairman Gurney (R., S.D.) of the Senate committee said the members were "glad to get in more detail" a report from Austin on United Nations activities.

Was "Most Enlightening"

The air of secrecy was further heightened by the terse comment of Chairman Andrews (R., N.Y.) of the House committee, who said the off-record discussion was "most enlightening."

Before Austin's appearance, an informal check of a ten-man congressional subcommittee which holds the fate of universal military training showed little agreement with Austin's contention that universal training is vital for national security.

This group, known as "subcommittee No. 2" of the House Armed Services Committee, will have jurisdiction over any peacetime draft bill. The full committee traditionally follows its recommendations.

Austin For Universal Training

Austin previously had said that the United States must have universal training because the world "must have the knowledge that we have the trained men" to support American policy.

Only two of the ten-man subcommittee said they are definitely in favor of such a program. Two others are opposed, and six declared they had not yet made up their minds.

Vet Jilted, English Girl To Pay Fare

Superior, W.Va., Jan. 29 (AP)—Arnold Buesing, Grand Island (Neb.) ex-service man, lost his pretty English fiancé to a Superior coal miner, but she's promised to return the $250 trans-Atlantic passage money he forwarded her.

Buesing located Eileen Edwards, 17-year-old London blonde, here yesterday after a cross-country search from Yadkinville, N.C., and found her engaged to Theodore Crabtree.

Said she on Buesing's arrival: "He'll be reimbursed financially."

Buesing sadly recalled he had become engaged to her two years ago when he was stationed in England. Shipped home six months later, he continued the romance by mail, forwarded her fare, and was waiting on the dock with a wedding ring when her ship arrived in New York last Thursday.

Three hours after they arrived at his sister's home in Yadkinville, where they were to be married, she disappeared, and he learned she had taken a bus to Winston-Salem and thence to West Virginia.

Of her new fiancé, whom she met in London a year after Buesing left, Miss Edwards said:

"It was not love on first sight; as I grew to know him, I fell in love with him."

She plans to marry him "in a few days."

AUSTIN PLANS ATOM TALKS

To Sound Out Council Members On Breaking Deadlock

Lake Success, Jan. 29 (AP)—An American delegation spokesman said tonight that Warren R. Austin would begin private consultations tomorrow with members of the United Nations Security Council in efforts to break the deadlock on priorities in the international disarmament discussions.

This was interpreted as implying that the United States would be willing to withdraw its demand that atomic energy control be given priority if the consultations result in agreement that the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission's report be given immediate or prompt consideration.

To Seek All Members' Views

The spokesman said that Austin, chief United States delegate who is returning to New York tonight after consultation with Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, and President Truman, would seek the views of all members of the Security Council on the atomic question, [illegible]ities, arms limitation and other phases of the disarmament problem before the eleven-nation peace-keeping body resumes arms discussions next Tuesday.

Following the consultations with his United Nations colleagues, the spokesman added, Austin will go before the Security Council Tuesday to state the United States position on atomic controls and general arms reduction.

It was learned that Austin would give a sharper definition of the United States atomic-arms policy in an effort to leave no doubt as to where this country stands on the major issues.

American sources emphasized, however, that there would be no change in the basic United States policy on atomic energy control.

Concurrent Talks Possible

There were indications that the United States following the Austin-Marshall-Truman talks, might possibly agree to concurrent talks on atomic energy control and general arms limitation if the atomic problem was not given a secondary place.

The United States long-term view is that there cannot be disarmament without collective security. At the heart of collective security, the United States contends there must be a system of genuine international control of atomic and all other weapons of mass destruction as well as armaments generally.

Meanwhile, in another United Nations branch, the United States took a stand for protecting atomic-energy secrets.

In other respects the American delegate in the Commission on Human Rights, Mrs. Eleanore Roosevelt, took the lead in attacking all barriers to the free flow of information throughout the world. But official notice was served that, until adequate United Nations controls are established, the atomic energy secrets must be carefully guarded.

Subcommission Approved

The commission, by a vote of 10-to-0 with eight members either absent or not voting, approved formation of a subcommission on freedom of information and the press.

Then, by a vote of 9 to 2, with Russia and Australia in the negative, the commission gave to a temporary drafting committee the task of defining the duties and the makeup of the information body.

The United States submitted to the commission its suggestions on the subcommission's duties and makeup and said formally that the subcommission "shall have due respect for the functions of the Atomic Energy Commission."

Described As Reservation

A spokesman for the United States delegation explained off the floor that this meant the United States was reserving in any declaration on freedom of information its rights to the atomic energy secrets until the United Nations has set in motion an atomic energy control system to which the United States has agreed.

The United States and Soviet Russia renewed an earlier dispute over whether the subcommission should have governmental or non-governmental representatives.

The United States feels that the members should be eleven individuals chosen from nominations made by the eighteen nations of the Human Rights Commission. Russia proposed seven governmental representatives. The matter was turned over to the drafting committee for action. The battle goes back to the formative days of the commission when the United States and Russia originally disagreed on the point of individual representation.

Would Recommend Program

The United States also proposed that the subcommission formulate recommendations on the program of the freedom of information conference to be convened before the end of 1947, under a resolution adopted unanimously by the United Nations General Assembly last month. Under this proposal, the subcommission would assist in preparations of draft resolutions, conventions and model clauses on freedom of information.

The United States suggested that the subcommission have the following broad charter:

1. To examine and define what rights, obligations and practices should be included in the concept of freedom of information and to make recommendations to the commission on human rights with a view to obtaining effective recognition by the United Nations members and other governments of such rights, obligations and practices.

U.S. Atom, Arms Policy Outline Is Expected

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 29 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Warren R. Austin probably would make a major pronouncement on United States atomic-arms policy when the United Nations Security Council resumes international disarmament discussions next week.

These sources said they expected the American representative to the United Nations to give a sharper definition of United States ideas on how the Council should proceed with atomic control and disarmament.

Austin's talks with Secretary of State Marshall and President Truman in Washington were believed to be aimed at working out this definition so there could be no doubt as to where the United States stands on these issues.

No Policy Change Seen

American sources here said there would be no change in basic policy on atomic control and disarmament as far as they knew. They said the United States still opposes the Russian proposal to establish a disarmament commission until the procedure for handling the atomic question is settled.

The Disarmament Commission and the Atomic Energy Commission might work concurrently, they explained, if the atomic issue were not bypassed and made secondary in discussions.

Meanwhile, the Security Council was more or less stymied today by postponements.

The vital arms question cannot be tackled until Monday, due to the postponement two weeks ago to give Austin and Marshall time to confer.

Albanian Reply Awaited

The Council was still awaiting word from Albania as to when its representatives could be expected here to answer the British charges of mine sowing in Corfu Channel.

Meanwhile, the United States called on the Economic and Employment Commission to instruct its subcommisison on economic development to investigate problems of industrial development in the undeveloped areas of the world.

The Social Commision decided informally to recommend an international conference of housing experts to discuss means of providing the world with the 100,000,000 new homes it is estimated to require.

EUROPE'S AID NEEDS LISTED

United Nations Told 6 Nations Will Require $583,000,000

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 29 (AP)—A special United Nations technical committee estimated tonight that six war-ravaged countries of Europe would require $583,000,000 in financial assistance this year to prevent suffering or economic retrogression.

This is the amount that members of the United Nations, who have agreed to carry on UNRRA's task, will be asked to contribute in assisting Europe.

The committee reported that it represents the minimum amount needed to supply the basic essentials of life in Austria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland and Yugoslavia.

Adds To Italy's Bill

The United States representative on the committee, in a letter filed after the report had been approved, said he had learned that Italy would require an additional $14,000,000 to cover an additional 300,000 tons of coal made available by UNRRA.

The committee in the course of 30 sessions examined data compiled by the United Nations secretariat and heard additional evidence submitted by representatives of Austria, China, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Poland and Yugoslavia on relief needs. The committee also considered financial needs of Italy, Albania, Ethiopia, Korea and the Philippine Republic.

Evidence showed, the committee said, that neither Finland nor Czechoslovakia would need assistance because of their export trade which will take care of their needs.

Basic Essentials Listed

The committee prepared in each case a minimum list of import requirements consisting of the basic essentials of life.

Capital items and imports required for reconstruction and rehabilitation of agriculture and industry damaged or destroyed by the war, "however essential they might be to the countries concerned" were considerad outside the committee's jurisdiction.

In arriving at the minimum requirements the committee deducted the UNRRA carry-over in each case.

"The committee took the view that, as these requirements represent the basic needs of the countries concerned, it would be right to regard them as a first charge upon the proceeds of exports and other free resources in foreign currency of each of the countries under review," the report said.

Some Already Allocated

"Certain foreign loans and credits were found to be specifically allocated to objectives which were outside the purview of the committee, such, for instance, as loans specifically allocated to the purchase of capital equipment."

The committee also considered reparations, but found that only a small part of reparation deliveries expected in 1947 could be regarded as applicable against minimum import requirements.

The committee agreed that China's problem was different from the European countries because UNRRA assistance is expected to continue there until June 30.

On the basis of figures submitted by the Philippine Government, the committee said it appeared that the Philippine Republic would not be in need of strictly relief assistance in 1947.

Korean Data Insufficient

The committee said that information on the economic position of Korea was insufficient for forming a final conclusion. The committee also said it had no information enabling it to check an import program totalling $31,347,000 submitted by Albania.

The net amount of financial assistance required for the six European countries as estimated and recommended by the committee:

Austria, $143,500,000; Greece, $84,300,000; Hungary, $40,200,000; Italy, $106,900,000; Poland, $139,900,000; Yugoslavia, $68,200,000.

The committee was created by the Economic and Social Council following adoption of a resolution by the United Nations Assembly in December. The resolution directed the committee to study the minimum import requirements of countries which the committee believes might require assistance in the prevention of suffering or of economic retrogression."

Greece Denies Refusing Visas to U. N. Yugoslavs

Failure to Notify Legation In Belgrade Blamed for Delay

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I., Jan. 29.—Greece denied tartly today a Yugoslav charge that the Greek government had refused to let an official Yugoslav party enter Greece on official United Nations business.

The squabble began yesterday, when Stanoje Simich, Yugoslav Foreign Minister, notified the U. N. Secretariat that twenty-one Yugoslavs en route to join the Security Council commission investigating conditions along the northern Greek border had been refused visas by the royalist Greek government.

Vassili Dendramis, permanent Greek representative at the U. N., replied in a letter today that the Yugoslav charge "is not in line with actual facts." The Yugoslav party, he said, left Belgrade on its way to Athens without waiting for the granting of visas and without even advising the Greek Legation in Belgrade of their move. The Yugoslavs consequently had to wait three days at the Yugoslav-Greek border before the necessary formalities could be completed, he said.

U.S. And British Veterans Unite

New York, Jan. 29 (AP)—Formation of the Fellowship of United States-British Comrades, open to veterans of the United States and the British Commonwealth who served together during World War II, was announced today by James H. Doolittle, Tokyo raider and former lieutenant general in the United States Army Air Forces.

Doolittle said at a news conference the purpose would be "to perpetuate the comradeship formed during the war."

He said he hoped the two-nation organization would "set an example" and that it might "lead to better fellowship among all nations."

Doolittle, named president of the fellowship, said he believed there would be 8,000,000 eligibles among the soldiers, sailors, marines, airmen and civilian employés of the military.

WARSAW, JAN.29-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT BLOC PARTIES CONTROLLING POLAND'S FIRST POSTWAR PARLIAMENT ISSUED A MANIFESTO TODAY PROMISING THE POLISH PEOPLE FREEDOM OF SPEECH, FREEDOM OF THE PRESS AND THE RIGHT OF PUBLIC ASSEMBLY.

ALL THREE PRIVILEGES WERE CARDINAL ISSUES IN THE RECENT NATIONAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN, DURING WHICH VICE PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK'S POLISH PEASANT PARTY BITTERLY ACCUSED THE GOVERNMENT OF USING REPRESSIVE AND TERRORISTIC MEASURES TO INFLUENCE THE VOTERS.

THE FIRST TASK OF THE NEW PARLIAMENT WILL BE TO ELECT A PRESIDENT WHO WILL APPOINT A CABINET. THE PARLIAMENT WILL THEN PROCEED TO DRAFT A CONSTITUTION TO REPLACE THAT OF 1921.

"THE NEW CONSTITUTION," THE GOVERNMENT BLOC MANIFESTO SAID, "WILL GUARANTEE FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND THE PRESS, PUBLIC ASSEMBLY AND EQUAL RIGHTS OF ALL CITIZENS. IT WILL GUARANTEE LIBERTY OF CONSCIENCE AND RELIGIOUS TENETS, PARTICULARLY THE RIGHTS OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.

"THE CONSTITUTION ALSO WILL CREATE WIDE POSSIBILITIES FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF COOPERATIVES AND WILL SAFEGUARD PRIVATE PROPERTY AS THE BASIS OF SOUND, PRIVATE INITIATIVE."

IN ADDITION THE MANIFESTO PROMISED INCREASED EMPLOYMENT, HIGHER SALARIES, THE DEVELOPMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES, IMPROVED HOUSING, SCHOOL REFORMS AND FINANCIAL AID TO FARMERS.

OF MIKOLAJCZYK'S POLISH PEASANT PARTY, THE MANIFESTO SAID:

"BY BECOMING THE LEGAL SUPERSTRUCTURE OF THE REACTIONARY UNDERGROUND THE MOVEMENT HAS PUT ITSELF OUTSIDE SOUND SOCIAL FORCES AND HAS ELIMINATED ITSELF FROM THE LIST OF FORCES WHICH MAY CONTEND OVER POLAND'S FATE."

THERE WAS NO ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING THE GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS TOWARD THE UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT, BUT POLITICAL OBSERVERS EXPECTED THAT THE BLOC PARTIES WOULD ATTEMPT TO STRENGTHEN THEIR POSITION BY A NEW AMNESTY OFFER TO RESISTANCE GROUPS WHICH LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS IN A SPECIFIED TIME.

DESPITE MIKOLAJCZYK'S APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT TO NULLIFY THE JAN.19 ELECTIONS ON THE GROUND OF FRAUD AND IRREGULARITIES, THE BLOC PARTIES WENT AHEAD WITH THE PRELIMINARY WORK OF ORGANIZING THE NEW PARLIAMENT.

A19

MIKOLAJCZYK, MEANWHILE, CALLED A MEETING OF HIS PARTY'S EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FOR FEB.1 TO DECIDE WHETHER ITS REPRESENTATIVES SHOULD BOYCOTT THE PARLIAMENTARY SESSION.

THE GENERAL ELECTION COMMITTEE ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY CONFIRMATION OF FINAL ELECTION RETURNS SHOWING THAT THE BLOC PARTIES HAD WON 394 SEATS IN THE PARLIAMENT AND THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY ONLY 28.

PEIPING, JAN. 29-(AP)-LT.GEN.ALVAN C. GILLEM, AMERICAN COMMISSIONER AT EXECUTIVE HEADQUARTERS, INFORMED THE GOVERNMENT AND COMMUNIST BRANCHES TONIGHT THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS WITHDRAWING FROM THE TRUCE ORGANIZATION CONCEIVED BY GENERAL MARSHALL 13 MONTHS AGO.
HE ASSURED THE COMMUNISTS THAT "NECESSARY TIME" WOULD BE ALLOWED FOR THE RETURN OF COMMUNIST HEADQUARTERS PERSONNEL TO THEIR AREAS, AND AMERICAN AID WOULD BE GIVEN.
WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICAN PERSONNEL AND THEIR FAMILIES WILL BEGIN IMMEDIATELY AND IS EXPECTED TO TAKE ABOUT A MONTH. APPROXIMATELY 1,000 OFFICERS, ENLISTED MEN AND WOMEN ARE ATTACHED TO THE AMERICAN BRANCH.
AMERICANS ON 24 FIELD TEAMS AND LIAISON GROUPS ARE SCATTERED OVER NORTH CHINA AND MANCHURIA BUT NO DIFFICULTY IS EXPECTED IN RETURNING THEM TO PEIPING. ALL ARE REACHABLE BY AIR.
THE WITHDRAWAL PLAN PROBABLY WILL INVOLVE THE SYSTEMATIC TRANSFER OF AMERICAN PERSONNEL TO ARMY POSTS IN KOREA, JAPAN, THE PHILIPPINES, OTHER PACIFIC BASES AND THE UNITED STATES.
ALL EQUIPMENT WILL BE REMOVED.

NIGHT LEAD CHINA

BY EDWARD E.BOMAR

WASHINGTON,JAN.29-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES SUDDENLY ENDED TODAY A YEAR'S EFFORT TO MEDIATE BETWEEN CHINA'S WARRING FACTIONS AND ANNOUNCED THAT MOST OF THE REMAINING MARINES AND ARMY FORCES WOULD BE PULLED OUT SHORTLY.

SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL'S ACTION WAS ANNOUNCED SIMULTANEOUSLY HERE AND AT NANKING.

IT PUT SQUARELY UP TO THE CHINESE THEMSELVES THE TASK OF WORKING OUT THEIR SALVATION AND RAISED A BIG QUESTION MARK OVER FUTURE UNITED STATES POLICY TOWARD CHINA.

BOTH AMONG DIPLOMATS HERE AND AT NANKING IT WAS VIEWED AS A LIKELY SIGNAL FOR THE START OF THE FULL SCALE CIVIL WAR LONG BREWING BETWEEN CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT AND THE COMMUNISTS IN NORTH CHINA.

NEVERTHELESS SOME HOPE REMAINED THAT THE MOVE WOULD SPUR THE NATIONALISTS INTO GIVING THEIR GOVERNMENT A BROAD BASE OF "LIBERAL" ELEMENTS, AS URGED BY MARSHALL UPON HIS RETURN THIS MONTH TO BECOME SECRETARY OF STATE.

"THE ASSUMPTION OF LEADERSHIP BY THE LIBERALS IN THE GOVERNMENT," MARSHALL SAID THEN, WOULD BE "THE SALVATION OF THE SITUATION."

THE SPECIFIC DECISIONS ANNOUNCED BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN AN EARLY MORNING STATEMENT WERE:

1. ENDING AMERICAN CONNECTION WITH THE COMMITTEE OF THREE SET UP UNDER MARSHALL'S CHAIRMANSHIP LAST FEBRUARY TO TRY TO END CHINA'S INTERNAL STRIFE.

2. ENDING THIS GOVERNMENT'S CONNECTION WITH THE PEIPING EXECUTIVE OR "TRUCE" HEADQUARTERS WHICH SUPERVISED THE EXECUTION OF AGREEMENTS TO CEASE FIGHTING AND DEMOBILIZE ARMED FORCES.

3. WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICAN PERSONNEL CONNECTED WITH THE HEADQUARTERS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

THE WINDUP OF THE MEDIATION EFFORT MEANS THE EVACUATION OF MORE THAN 1,000 ARMY OFFICERS AND MEN AT THE TRUCE HEADQUARTERS ALONG WITH AN ESTIMATED 8,000 MARINES WHO HAVE GUARDED AND SERVICED THE HEADQUARTERS AND ITS LINES OF COMMUNICATION.

A215WX

WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICAN FORCES IN CHINA HAS BEEN URGED BY SOVIET RUSSIA AND AGITATED BY SOME CHINESE STUDENTS, BUT THERE WAS NO HINT AMONG DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES THAT THE AMERICAN ACTION WAS AIMED AT PLACATING EITHER.

WITH THE DEPARTURE OF THE 9,000 ARMY MEN AND MARINES ONLY A RELATIVE HANDFUL OF AMERICAN ARMED FORCES WILL REMAIN ON CHINESE SOIL. THESE INCLUDEE FEWER THAN 750 OFFICERS AND MEN WITH A MILITARY MISSION AT NANKING AND A SMALL GROUP OF MARINES ATTACHED TO THE U.S.SEVENTH FLEET WHO HAVE BEEN TRAINING CHINESE AT TSINGTAO.

NANKING HAS UNTIL JUNE 30 TO SUBMIT FOR APPROVAL A SPECIFIC LIST OF PROJECTS FOR WHICH THE MONEY WOULD BE SPENT.

CONGRESS MEMBERS VIEWED THE WITHDRAWAL FROM CHINA WITH MIXED REACTIONS.

SENATOR WHITE OF MAINE, REPUBLICAN LEADER AND A MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, SUGGESTED THAT THE ACTION MAY HAVE BEEN TOO HASTY.

"I THINK IT WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER FOR US TO HAVE KEPT OUR REPRESENTATIVES THERE, BUT I DOUBT THAT THE BULK OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE AGREE WITH ME ON THAT POINT," WHITE TOLD A REPORTER. "I THINK MOST OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE TIRED OF THE ETERNAL FIGHTING THERE AND THINK WE OUGHT TO GET OUT."

SENATOR WHERRY OF NEBRASKA, REPUBLICAN WHIP, SAID THAT "WHEN WE FIRST STARTED OUR POLICY OF APPEASEMENT IN CHINA" HE PREDICTED THAT "SOONER OR LATER WE WOULD BE FORCED TO PULL OUT. WE ARE GETTING REALISTIC."

REP.EDITH NOURSE ROGERS (R-MASS) TOLD THE HOUSE THAT THE MOVE LEAVES THE CHINESE MILLIONS "TO COMMUNISTIC CONTROL" AND SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.

HOWEVER, CHAIRMAN VANDENBERG (R-MICH) OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE RESERVED COMMENT, SAYING HE FIRST WANTED "TO KNOW MORE ABOUT IT THROUGH OFFICIAL CHANNELS."

IN THE HOUSE, CHAIRMAN EATON (R-NJ) OF THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE, SAID HE AND HIS GROUP WERE "100 PERCENT BEHIND GENERAL MARSHALL AND HAVE ABSOLUTE CONFIDENCE IN HIS JUDGMENT." THE ACTION WAS SIMILARLY ENDORSED BY REP.BLOOM OF NEW YORK, THE COMMITTEE'S TOP RANKING DEMOCRAT.

THE SCRAPPED MEDIATION MACHINERY WAS SET UP BY MARSHALL HIMSELF WHEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN SENT HIM TO CHINA TO TRY TO MAKE PEACE IN DECEMBER, 1945, FOLLOWING HIS WARTIME SERVICE AS CHIEF OF STAFF.

ASIDE FROM THE "BIG THREE" TRUCE COMMITTEE CONSISTING OF MARSHALL AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE NATIONALISTS AND COMMUNISTS, IT INCLUDED THE EXECUTIVE HEADQUARTERS AND THE TRUCE TEAMS WHICH WERE SENT OUT TO SUPERVISE PEACE AGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE HOSTILE FORCES.

FROM THE WORDING OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENT IT WAS ASSUMED THAT THE ARMY PERSONNEL AT PEIPING WOULD FIRST BE PULLED OUT, FOLLOWED BY THE MARINES IN THE PEIPING-TIENTSIN AREA.

ESTIMATES OF THE TOTAL OF AMERICAN ARMED FORCES REMAINING IN CHINA FAILED TO AGREE. MR.TRUMAN IN HIS DECEMBER 18 STATEMENT ON CHINA SAID THEIR NUMBER WAS "BEING REDUCED TO LESS THAN 12,000, INCLUDING SOME 2,000 DIRECTLY CONCERNED WITH THE OPERATIONS OF EXECUTIVE HEADQUARTERS." PEIPING DISPATCHES SAID TODAY, HOWEVER, THAT SOME 15,000 MARINES WERE STATIONED IN PEIPING, TIENTSIN AND TANGKU, PLUS 1,000 TO 2,000 TRAINING THE CHINESE AT THE TSINGTAO NAVAL HEADQUARTERS.

THOUGH SMALL COMPARED WITH THE MILLIONS OF CHINESE UNDER ARMS, THE AMERICAN FORCES HAVE LONG BEEN REGARDED AS A BRAKE ON HOSTILITIES.

AT PEAK STRENGTH, AMERICAN FORCES OF ALL KINDS NUMBERED ABOUT 113,000 IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING V-J DAY. THEIR CHIEF RESPONSIBILITY WAS TO DIRECT AND ASSIST IN THE EVACUATION OF SURRENDERED JAPANESE.

BRIDGES

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,JAN.29-(AP)-SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH), CHARGING THAT RUSSIA'S AIM IS TO TURN GERMANY INTO A "SATELLITE AND ALLY," CALLED UPON SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL TODAY TO STAND FIRM AT THE MOSCOW FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE.

"IF MOSCOW SUCCEEDS IN THE GREAT DESIGN OF MERGING RUSSIAN MANPOWER AND GERMAN TECHNICAL DISCIPLINE, THE LAST CHANCE OF SAVING DEMOCRATIC CIVILIZATION WILL BE LOST," BRIDGES DECLARED IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR THE SENATE.

"THAT IS WHY THE SCHEDULED BIG POWER CONFERENCE IN MOSCOW (MARCH 10) IS SO TERRIBLY IMPORTANT. IT IS THERE THAT OUR NEW SECRETARY OF STATE WILL HAVE HIS FIRST AND MOST DECISIVE TEST."

BRIDGES, A MEMBER OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, SPOKE ONLY TWO DAYS AFTER SENATOR MCMAHON (D-CONN) TOLD HIS COLLEAGUES HE SUSPECTED RUSSIA OF BUILDING AN ATOMIC PLANT IN THE URAL MOUNTAINS AND THAT THIS COUNTRY "MAY BE IN MORTAL DANGER."

SHARPLY CRITICAL BOTH OF AMERICA'S WARTIME DIPLOMATIC DEALINGS WITH RUSSIA AND OF THE SOVIET UNION'S POSTWAR ACTIVITIES, BRIDGES ASSERTED:

"WHATEVER ACCOMPLISHMENTS WE CAN CLAIM IN RECENT MONTHS, CAME AFTER WE STIFFENED OUR POLICY WITH AN INJECTION OF THE IRON OF SELF-RESPECT.

"LET'S NOT FORGET," HE CONTINUED, "THAT OUR REPRESENTATIVES TRAVELED A HARD ROAD, A HUMILIATING ROAD, BEFORE THEY REACHED, AT LONG LAST, A POLICY OF SO-CALLED 'PATIENCE AND FIRMNESS.'"

WHILE DECLARING THAT "THERE IS STILL A LOT MORE PATIENCE THAN FIRMNESS IN THE AMALGAM," THE NEW HAMPSHIRE REPUBLICAN ADDED:

"WE COUNT ON SECRETARY MARSHALL TO RESIST THE EFFORTS OF A NOISY MINORITY, TYPIFIED BY HENRY WALLACE AND HIS FELLOW-TRAVELING ENTOURAGE, TO STEER AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY BACK INTO THE BLIND ALLEY FROM WHICH IT HAS ONLY RECENTLY EMERGED."

PRESIDENT TRUMAN LAST FALL FIRED WALLACE AS SECRETARY OF COMMERCE AFTER THE THEN CABINET OFFICER PUBLICLY CRITICIZED WHAT HE TERMED SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES' "GET TOUGH WITH RUSSIA" POLICY.

More

30. 24 - 7623

BRIDGES, RECALLING THE RINGING TRIBUTES PAID TO BYRNES UPON HIS RETIREMENT EARLIER THIS MONTH, SAID THEY SPRANG FROM A PUBLIC AWARENESS OF THE "GREAT HANDICAPS UNDER WHICH HE STARTED HIS TERM AS SECRETARY."

"EVERYONE KNOWS," THE SENATOR CONTINUED, "THAT HE INHERITED A SORRY MESS OF APPEASEMENT AND POLITICAL MUDDLING FROM THE WAR YEARS." HE ADDED:

"THE POPULAR APPLAUSE--LET'S BE CANDID ABOUT IT--IS NOT FOR THE SECRETARY WHO WAS OBLIGED, IN THE FIRST STAGE OF HIS WORK, TO MAKE THE BEST OF SHABBY AND SHAMEFUL BARGAINS AT THE EXPENSE OF OTHER PEOPLE'S FREEDOM.

"IT IS, RATHER, FOR THE SECRETARY--AIDED BY THE ABLE COUNSEL OF OUR TWO COLLEAGUES, SENATOR VANDENBERG AND SENATOR CONNALLY--WHO SHOWED HIMSELF FIRM, PERSISTENT AND CONSCIOUS OF PRINCIPLE IN THE LATTER STAGES OF HIS WORK."

VANDENBERG (R-MICH) SUCCEEDED CONNALLY (D-TEX) AS CHAIRMAN OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE. BOTH SERVED AS FOREIGN POLICY ADVISERS TO BYRNES FOR MORE THAN A YEAR.

LASHING OUT AT WHAT HE SAID HISTORIANS PROBABLY WILL CALL "THE GREAT AMERICAN SURRENDER AT YALTA," BRIDGES SAID THE UNITED STATES DISSIPATED ITS "MORAL PRESTIGE" AMONG PEOPLES OF THE WORLD" WHEN WE ALLOWED RUSSIA TO GRAB THE TERRITORIES OF ITS NEIGHBORS AND IMPOSE ITS CONTROL ON A HUNDRED MILLION PEOPLE THROUGH THE OLD FAMILIAR STRONG-ARM METHODS X X X."

"FOR OUR GIFTS OF APPEASEMENT WE HAVE BEEN PAID OFF IN CONTEMPT, BROKEN PLEDGES, CALCULATED DELAY AND CONFUSION--ALL OF THIS AGAINST A BACKDROP OF WORLDWIDE ANTI-AMERICAN PROPAGANDA."

BRIDGES SAID, HOWEVER, THAT "IT WILL NOT DO TO PUT ALL THE BLAME ON RUSSIA. WE CAN HARDLY SHRUG OFF OUR SHARE OF RESPONSIBILITY."

HE ADDED THAT HE IS UNABLE TO UNDERSTAND THE "JOY" WITHIN THIS COUNTRY BECAUSE "MESSERS.STALIN, MOLOTOV AND VISHINSKY HAVE FINALLY DEIGNED TO SMILE ON US; BECAUSE AFTER GUMMING UP THE PEACE FOR A YEAR AND A HALF, AFTER LOOTING MANY AREAS OF FRIEND AND FOE ALIKE, THE KREMLIN HAS GENEROUSLY CONSENTED TO NEGOTIATE TREATIES."

THIS ATTITUDE OF GRATEFULNESS FOR SIGNS OF SOVIET COOPERATION, BRIDGES WENT ON, "IS BEHAVIOR UNWORTHY OF A FOURTH-RATE NATION UNDER THE SHADOW OF SOVIET AGGRESSION, LET ALONE THE WORLD'S GREATEST REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT."

"THE PLAIN TRUTH IS THAT FOR ALL THEIR SUPPOSED SOFTENING OF ATTITUDE, THE RUSSIAN RULERS HAVE GIVEN UP NOTHING ESSENTIAL. THEY HOLD WHAT THEY'VE GRABBED AND ARE PROCEEDING AT DOUBLE SPEED TO CONSOLIDATE THE EMPIRE THEY'VE CARVED FOR THEMSELVES."

ASSERTING THAT RUSSIA HAS NEVER HESITATED "TO THROW ITS FULL MORAL, POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC WEIGHT INTO THE SCALES ON THE SIDE OF DICTATORSHIP, IN SUPPORT OF ITS SATELLITE GOVERNMENTS AND FIFTH COLUMNS EVERYWHERE," BRIDGES ADDED:

"I SUBMIT THAT WE SHOULD HAVE NO MORE SQUEAMISHNESS ABOUT THROWING OUR FULL WEIGHT AT ALL TIMES AND EVERYWHERE ON THE SIDE OF FREEDOM, DEMOCRATIC ASPIRATIONS, LIBERAL WORLD TRADE, AND ABOVE ALL, HUMAN RIGHTS."

(ADVANCE FOR RELEASE AT 7:30 P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, THURSDAY, JAN. 30)

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, JAN. 30-(AP)-ADOLF HITLER, IN A FIT OF ANGER, ORDERED THE GERMAN HIGH SEAS FLEET LAID UP IN JANUARY, 1943, ALMOST TWO YEARS BEFORE THE END OSALET LAID UP IN JANUARY, 1943, ALMOST TWO YE ARS BEFORE THE END OF THE WAR.

THIS WAS DISCLOSED IN SECRET NAZI DOCUMENTS MADE PUBLIC HERE AND IN LONDON TONIGHT.

A HEAVY FLEET OF BRITISH WARSHIPS, REINFORCED FROM TIME TO TIME BY AMERICAN BATTLESHIPS, CRUISERS AND DESTROYERS, MAINTAINED CEASELESS PATROL IN THE NORTH SEA BETWEEN BRITAIN AND NORWAY, UNAWARE THAT THEIR QUARRY HAD BEEN IMMOBILIZED.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY DID NOT KNOW OF THE HITLER ORDER UNTIL LAST YEAR, FLEET ADMIRAL ERNEST J.KING SAID IN AN INTERVIEW, AND WOULD NOT HAVE DEPENDED ON IT, IF IT HAD KNOWN. FEWER SHIPS MIGHT HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED TO SOME AREAS, BUT A WATCH WOULD STILL HAVE BEEN KEPT ON THE NORTH SEA, THE NORWEGIAN COAST AND APPROACHES TO GERMAN-HELD PORTS, THE ADMIRAL SAID.

AS LATE AS AUGUST, 1943, TWO NEW AMERICAN BATTLESHIPS, THE SOUTH DAKOTA AND ALABAMA WITH A GROUP OF DESTROYERS OPERATED WITH THE BRITISH HOME FLEET, LED BY FOUR OR MORE POWERFUL BATTLESHIPS AND INCLUDING AIRCRAFT CARRIERS AND SQUADRONS OF CRUISERS AND SMALLER SHIPS.

THAT THIS HEAVY FLEET WAS NOT ENTIRELY WASTED WATCHING THE DEAD LAID-UP GERMAN FLEET WAS SHOWN BY THE DESPERATE NORTHERN RAID OF THE SCHARNHORST IN DECEMBER, 1943. ALTHOUGH SCHEDULED TO BE DECOMMISSIONED BY HITLER JULY 1, NAVAL OFFICERS APPARENTLY SUCCEEDED IN POSTPONING THE END OF THEIR LAST CRACK FIGHTING SHIP. SHE WAS CAUGHT BY THE BRITISH AND DESTROYED WHILE RUNNING FOR HOME.

ANOTHER LONG-KEPT SECRET ALSO CAME TO LIGHT.

ADMIRAL KING, IN ANALYZING GERMANY'S NAVAL WEAKNESSES, CASUALLY REVEALED THAT THE UNITED STATES MADE PLANS BEFORE THE WAR TO SEIZE THE PORTUGUESE AZORES WITH THE UNOFFICIAL APPROVAL OF PORTUGAL.

ANTICIPATING A GERMAN GRAB FOR THE STRATEGIC ISLANDS LOCATED IN MID-ATLANTIC, THE UNITED STATES CONSIDERED EARLY IN 1941 AND THEN LAID ACTUAL PLANS FOR OCCUPYING THE AZORES, AS HAD BEEN DONE WITH ICELAND.

SINCE PORTUGAL WAS NEUTRAL "SUB-ROSA" CONVERSATIONS WITH U.S. REPRESENTATIVES AGREED TO THE OCCUPATION, BUT ARRANGED FOR AN OFFICIAL "PROTEST" TO HOODWINK THE GERMANS, KING RELATED.

THE NAZI DOCUMENTS SHOW A THREE-CORNERED FIGHT IN (JAN) 1943, AMONG THE AIR FORCE, ARMY AND NAVY ENDED WITH HITLER BERATING HIS NAVY CHIEFS FOR LEAVING THEIR SHIPS "IDLE IN THE FJORDS, UTTERLY USELESS LIKE SO MUCH OLD IRON."

HE TOPPED OFF A SERIES OF VIOLENT CONFERENCES WITH A FLAT ORDER THAT DECOMMISSIONED EVERY SHIP IN THE GERMAN NAVY LARGER THAN A DES-

TROYER.

THE DOCUMENTS WERE RELEASED FOUR YEARS AFTER THE RESIGNATION OF GRAND ADMIRAL RAEDER, WHICH SWIFTLY FOLLOWED HITLER'S DRASTIC ORDER. AMONG THEM WAS AN "ESSAY" BY ADMIRAL DOENITZ, THE SUBMARINE CHIEF WHO SUCCEEDED RAEDER, PRESENTING THE FIRST HIGH-COMMAND PICTURE OF THE SIX YEARS OF WAR. RAEDER WAS SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT, DOENITZ TO TEN YEARS, AT THE NUERNBERG TRIALS.

THE DOCUMENTS STRESSED THAT GERMANY DID NOT THINK SHE WOULD HAVE TO FIGHT ENGLAND, AT LEAST NOT FOR ABOUT FIVE YEARS AFTER THE OUTBREAK OF WAR IN 1939. A BIG GERMAN NAVY WAS PLANNED BUT WOULDN'T BE READY TO ATTACK THE BRITISH UNTIL 1944 OR 1945 RAEDER SAID.

INTERROGATION OF ADMIRAL DOENITZ BY BRITISH AUTHORITIES CONFIRMED THIS VIEW THAT GERMANY WAS NOT PREPARED FOR A NAVAL WAR. EVEN ON SEPT. 1, 1939, TWO DAYS BEFORE ENGLAND DECLARED WAR, HITLER WAS SURE SHE WOULD NOT.

LAKE SUCCESS, NY., JAN 29-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES SERVED OFFICIAL NOTICE TODAY TO A UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION STUDYING WORLD FREEDOM OF INFORMATION THAT ATOMIC ENERGY SECRETS MUST BE CAREFULLY GUARDED UNTIL ADEQUATE UNITED NATIONS CONTROLS ARE ESTABLISHED.

THE UNITED STATES, WITH ITS DELEGATE, MRS.ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, PRESENTING ITS PROPOSALS, OTHERWISE TOOK THE LEAD IN THE U.N. COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN ATTACKING ALL BARRIERS TO THE FREE FLOW OF INFORMATION THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

THE COMMISSION, BY A VOTE OF 10 TO 0 WITH EIGHT MEMBERS EITHER ABSENT OR NOT VOTING, APPROVED FORMATION OF A SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND THE PRESS.

THEN, BY A VOTE OF 9 TO 2, WITH RUSSIA AND AUSTRALIA IN THE NEGATIVE, THE COMMISSION GAVE TO A TEMPORARY DRAFTING COMMITTEE THE TASK OF DEFINING THE DUTIES AND THE MAKE-UP OF THE INFORMATION BODY.

THE UNITED STATES SUBMITTED TO THE COMMISSION ITS SUGGESTIONS ON THE SUB-COMMISSION'S DUTIES AND MAKEUP AND SAID FORMALLY THAT THE SUB-COMMISSION "SHALL HAVE DUE RESPECT FOR THE FUNCTIONS OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION."

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION EXPLAINED OFF THE FLOOR THAT THIS MEANT THE UNITED STATES WAS RESERVING IN ANY DECLARATION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ITS RIGHTS TO THE ATOMIC ENERGY SECRETS UNTIL THE UNITED NATIONS HAS SET IN MOTION AN ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL SYSTEM TO WHICH THE UNITED STATES HAS AGREED.

THE UNITED STATES AND SOVIET RUSSIA RENEWED AN EARLIER DISPUTE OVER WHETHER THE SUB-COMMISSION SHOULD HAVE GOVERNMENTAL OR NON-GOVERNMENTAL REPRESENTATIVES.

THE UNITED STATES FEELS THAT THE MEMBERS SHOULD BE ELEVEN INDIVIDUALS CHOSEN FROM NOMINATIONS MADE BY THE 18 NATIONS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION. RUSSIA PROPOSED SEVEN GOVERNMENTAL REPRESENTATIVES. THE MATTER WAS TURNED OVER TO THE DRAFTING COMMITTEE FOR ACTION. THE BATTLE GOES BACK TO THE FORMATIVE DAYS OF THE COMMISSION WHEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA ORIGINALLY DISAGREED ON THE POINT OF INDIVIDUAL REPRESENTATION.

THE UNITED STATES ALSO PROPOSED THAT THE SUB-COMMISSION FORMULATE RECOMMENDATIONS ON THE PROGRAM OF THE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION CONFERENCE TO BE CONVENED BEFORE THE END OF 1947 UNDER A RESOLUTION ADOPTED UNANIMOUSLY BY THE U.N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY LAST MONTH. UNDER THIS PROPOSAL, THE SUB-COMMISSION WOULD ASSIST IN PREPARATION OF DRAFT RESOLUTIONS, CONVENTIONS AND MODEL CLAUSES ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.

THE UNITED STATES SUGGESTED THAT THE SUB-COMMISSION HAVE THE FOLLOWING BROAD CHARTER:

"1. TO EXAMINE AND DEFINE WHAT RIGHTS, OBLIGATIONS AND PRACTICES SHOULD BE INCLUDED IN THE CONCEPT OF FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS WITH A VIEW TO OBTAINING EFFECTIVE RECOGNITION BY THE U.N. MEMBERS AND OTHER GOVERNMENTS OF SUCH RIGHTS, OBLIGATIONS AND PRACTICES.

"2. TO INITIATE STUDIES OF PTLITICAL, ECONOMIC, TECHNICAL AND OTHER OBSTACLES TO THE FREE FLOW OF INFORMATION AND TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS REGARDING MEASURES

30.24-7625

INCLUDING PREPARATION OF INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS DESIGNED TO ELIMINATE OBSTACLES TO AND TO PROMOTE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION;

"3. TO SUBMIT FROM TIME TO TIME REPORTS TO THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS WHICH IN TURN MAY RECOMMEND TO THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL THE PUBLICATION OF SUCH REPORTS;

"4. TO PERFORM ANY OTHER SERVICES WHICH MAY BE ENTRUSTED TO IT BY THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS."

PRESS FREEDOM 220

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JAN.29-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES TOOK THE LEAD TODAY IN EFFORTS TO ENLIST THE UNITED NATIONS IN A CAMPAIGN FOR WORLDWIDE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND OF THE PRESS.

THE U.S.DELEGATION SUBMITTED PROPOSALS TO THE U.N. COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS AIMED AT LAYING THE GROUNDWORK FOR AN INTERNATIONAL TREATY ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.

THE PROPOSALS WERE SUBMITTED AFTER THE 18-MEMBER COMMISSION APPROVED THE CREATION OF A SUB-COMMISSION WHICH WILL PREPARE FOR AN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON PRESS FREEDOM TO BE HELD BEFORE THE END OF THE YEAR.

TEN MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION VOTED TO ESTABLISH THE SUB-COMMISSION WITH EIGHT MEMBERS EITHER NOT PRESENT OR NOT VOTING. RUSSIA WAS AMONG THOSE NOT VOTING BUT DID NOT REGISTER AN ABSTENTION.

THE U.S.PROPOSALS, SUBMITTED BY MRS.ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE AND CHAIRMAN OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, ARE AN EXPANSION AND REVISION OF THE TERMS OF REFERENCE LAID DOWN BY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL FOR THE SUB-COMMISSION.

THE U.S. PROPOSED THAT INFORMATION ON ATOMIC ENERGY SHOULD BE SAFEGUARDED UNTIL THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC CONTROLS HAVE BEEN PUT INTO EFFECT. THIS WAS THE ONLY RESERVATION THE U.S. MADE.

UNDER THE U.S. PROPOSALS, THE SUB-COMMISSION WOULD BE EMPOWERED TO EXAMINE AND DEFINE WHAT RIGHTS, OBLIGATIONS AND PRACTICES WOULD BE INCLUDED IN THE CONCEPT OF FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS WITH A VIEW TO OBTAINING EFFECTIVE RECOGNITION BY U.N. MEMBERS AND OTHER GOVERNMENTS OF SUCH RIGHTS, OBLIGATIONS AND PRACTICE.

NEW YORK, JAN.29-(AP)-THE ATTORNEY FOR DR.KARL VON KLECZKOWSKI, FORMER GERMAN ESPIONAGE AGENT IN TURKEY, AND HIS WIFE, STELLA, SAID TODAY UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON HAD DECLARED THEIR INTERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES RESULTED FROM THEIR FAILURE TO CONVINCE AUTHORITIES OF THE VALUE OF THEIR SERVICES TO THE ALLIES.

LOUIS WALDMAN, THE ATTORNEY, SAID THAT ACHESON HAD WRITTEN A LETTER TO MRS.ELEANOR ROOSEVELT GIVING THAT REASON FOR THE ORDER TO DEPORT THE VON KLECZKOWSKIS EITHER TO TURKEY OR AUSTRIA.

THE TWO ARE FIGHTING THE DEPORTATION ORDER IN FEDERAL COURT ON THE GROUND THAT THEY WERE PROMISED A HAVEN HERE IN RETURN FOR SERVICES TO THE ALLIES AFTER THEIR DESERTION OF THE GERMAN CAUSE IN 1943.

A TRIAL ON ALL ISSUES IN THE CASE HAS BEEN FIXED FOR FEB.10 IN FEDERAL COURT.

WALDMAN SAID THAT ACHESON WROTE TO MRS.ROOSEVELT, IN REPLY TO HER QUERY:

"THEY (THE VON KLECZKOWSKIS) WERE EMPLOYED AS GERMAN AGENTS IN TURKEY WHEN THEY INDICATED THAT THEY MIGHT BE OF VALUE TO THE ALLIED CAUSE. THEY WERE SUBSEQUENTLY AFFORDED A SOMEWHAT UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY TO PROVE THE VALUE OF THEIR POSSIBLE SERVICES BUT FAILED TO CONVINCE THE AUTHORITIES CONCERNED AND WERE CONSEQUENTLY INTERNED IN THIS COUNTRY AS DANGEROUS ENEMY ALIENS."

WALDMAN SAID HE HAD WRITTEN TO ACHESON FOR INFORMATION ON THE "AUTHORITIES" THE ALIENS "FAILED TO CONVINCE." THE ONLY AMERICAN OFFICIALS MENTIONED SO FAR HAVE BEEN FORMER GOVERNOR GEORGE H.EARLE, OF PENNSYLVANIA, FORMER PRESIDENTIAL ENVOY TO ISTANBUL, AND GEORGE W.H.BRITT, FORMER HEAD OF THE OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION IN TURKEY.

WALDMAN SAID HE WROTE ACHESON THAT BOTH HAVE TESTIFIED THAT "AMONG DR.VON KLECZKOWSKI'S SERVICES TO THE ALLIED CAUSE WAS ONE WHICH PRODUCED GREAT AND VALUABLE RESULTS BEYOND ANY QUESTIONS." THE LAWYER WROTE THAT IF OTHER OFFICIALS WERE INVOLVED HE INTENDED TO SUBPOENA THEM.

THE COUPLE ARRIVED IN BOSTON IN JANUARY, 1944. THEY WERE SENT TO AN INTERNMENT CAMP IN LOUISIANA AND RELEASED ON BAIL A YEAR LATER WHEN THE DEPORTATION PROCEEDINGS WERE BEGUN. THEY HAVE DECLARED THEY ARE CERTAIN TO BE KILLED IF THEY ARE DEPORTED.

Mrs. Marshall Has 'Great Pride In And Great Pity For' General

Leesburg, Va., Jan. 29 (AP)—Most emphatically Mrs. George C. Marshall said today she "thoroughly agreed" with the General's decision that he is not and would not be a candidate for any public office—not even the presidency.

She has no ambition to change the family address to the White House. She much prefers their whitewashed brick late Eighteenth Century home, Dodona Manor, the original part of which was built by George Washington Ball, nephew of the first President, on the edge of Leesburg.

Commenting on General Marshall's appointment as Secretary of State, she said: "I feel great pride in him and great pity for him. He won't get the rest he wants."

Rest, Their Postwar Dream

It had been the Marshalls' hope that when he stepped out as chief of staff at the end of World War II they could live quietly in their home secluded behind a high picket fence amid four acres of huge trees and flowers. But President Truman sent him to China on a special mission.

During the war, the Marshalls drove down to the home they bought five years ago, 35 miles from Washington, as often as they could over week ends. Leesburg folks accepted the military celebrity among them and respected his desire for privacy—that is the grownups did. Not so the neighborhood children.

Astonished parents learned that the man with whom their children were playing "soldier" and games was the army chief of staff. Friends suggested the Marshalls lock their gates, but the General would have none of it, and the gates stand open to the children.

Going To North Carolina

Mrs. Marshall said she is leaving next week for Pinehurst, N.C., where they have a cottage. The climate there gives her relief for her sinus trouble. She expects to be back in the Leesburg house when the General returns from the Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow, "and as the best way to help him in his new responsibilities, keep the place going so he can bring folks home with him."

Italy Asks Role In Making Of Reich Treaty

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—Italy asked today for a share in the writing of the German peace treaty.

"The Italian nation, which sided first with Germany and then the Allies in six years of war, said the request was morally justified by 'contributions to the victory of the United Nations.'"

Ambassador Nicolo Carandini, Italian representative in London, entered the plea in a note to the Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers, who are deliberating here on German treaty problems.

American sources said the note was likely to receive favorable consideration by the United States delegation. The attitude of Britain, France and the Soviet Union was not immediately determined, but some Western officials suggested that Russia, firm with Italy during the Paris Peace Conference, was not likely to approve without a fight.

War Sacrifice Cited

Carandini's note said the request was justified by the fact that Italy had been in a state of war with Germany since October 13, 1943, by "sacrifices borne by the Italian people" during the war and by their contributions to the Allied cause.

It observed that the preamble of Italy's own peace treaty recognized her war contributions and her status as a cobelligerent.

As further justification, the memorandum cited the importance of the treaty in the rehabilitation of Europe, a problem in which, it said, Italy was vitally interested because of her geographical and political positions.

Carandini said Italy would make known her views on the treaty in due course.

Political Clauses

Deputies drafting an Austrian treaty resumed discussion of political clauses and deputies for Germany called a meeting this afternoon to hear Czechoslovakia's views.

Authoritative sources said the German section gave some consideration yesterday to a Chinese request for participation in the work.

The Netherlands Government sent a note to the Austrian section asking that the treaty bind the United Nations, "in consultation with Austria," to determine and carry out the measures which would enable Austria "to achieve gradually a satisfactory level of prosperity."

Danube Navigation

The note also asked treaty guarantees for free navigation on the Danube.

"The Netherlands Government does not desire to lay claim to reparations from the state of Austria," the memorandum added, but "reserves the right to demand compensation for all losses, damages and expenses which Netherlands subjects and Netherlands institutions have had to bear as a result of the Anschluss and in the course of the war."

Small-Nation Role

Meanwhile, the United States, Britain and France appeared to be lined up together today in opposing the Soviet Russia's contention that the smaller nations should be allotted strictly secondary roles in drafting the German peace treaty.

American sources said that Robert Murphy, speaking for the United States, had criticized Russia last night for a "rather grudging attitude" toward small Allied states.

Both the British and French deputies were said to have supported Murphy in opposing the idea that the Big Four should virtually dictate the peace terms.

British Position

Britain's Sir William Strang declared that nations that fought Germany should have the right to participate in all stages of negotiations concerning the treaty. He advocated small-nation membership on committees for study of aspects of the German treaty.

Deputies Hear Pleas

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—Two former combatant nations on the Axis side entered pleas with the Deputy Foreign Ministers Council today for consideration in the drafting of peace treaties and one of them, Austria, encountered a formal Yugoslav protest against the appearance of its representatives.

Italy, in a note presented by Nicolo Carandini, Italian Ambassador in London, asked for a share in writing the peace terms for Germany, her Axis partner through three years of war, on grounds of Italian cobelligerency with the Allies during the last two years of the conflict.

Austria, through her Chancellor, Dr. Loepold Figl, appeared before the deputies to ask that the Austrian treaty be the "Magna Carta" of a new and independent Austria and not an instrument of punishment.

Nazi Connections Charged

Austria had been invited by the deputies to present her case, but the presence before the deputies of Dr. Hans Piesch, an Austrian representative, drew a protest from Yugoslavia who charged him with having Nazi connections.

The deputies took no action to exclude Piesch, however. The Yugoslavs said he took over the rule of the Austrian province of Carinthia in a clear succession of authority from the hands of the last Nazi governor. Piesch, answering pointed Russian and Yugoslav questions at a later news conference, denied any Nazi connections. He did not participate in the presentation of Austria's plea.

Carandini's note said Italy's plea was justified by "contributions to the victory of the United Nations," and pointed out that the preamble of the Italian peace treaty, already completed, recognized Italy's contribution to the Allied war effort and her status as a cobelligerent.

Reception Called Lukewarm

It pointed out that Italy had been in a state of war with Germany since October 13, 1943.

The Italian plea received a lukewarm reception in American quarters and some officials at the conference said Russia was likely to maintain her stern attitude toward the former Axis member. No immediate reaction was forthcoming from Britain or France.

Chancellor Figl, appearing as the representative of the "first victim of Nazi aggression," said Austria wanted a democratic constitution, membership in the United Nations, early withdrawal of occupation troops, re-establishment of her boundaries exactly as they were before the anschluss, and wanted to be excused from paying any reparations.

Opposes Yugoslav Demands

He thus opposed Yugoslav demands for a part of Carinthia and Styria and payment of any part of the huge Yugoslav demand for $11,000,000,000 reparations from Germany and Austria.

"The Austrian nation has learned from bitter experience," he said, "and is resolved that Nazism in all its variations must be destroyed."

He recalled the provisional government's declaration of April 27, 1945, proclaiming the anschluss null and void, and said Austria wanted the "means of defense" of her separate existence.

The Netherlands and Belgium, in notes to the deputies, withheld claims for reparations against Austria and proposed that the United Nations carry out measures to lift the level of economy in Austria, but asked treaty guarantees for free navigation of the Danube.

YUGOSLAVS ACCUSE AUSTRIAN LEADER

London, Jan. 30 (A. P.).—Yugoslavia protested to the Austrian division of the Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers' Conference today against the appearance at the meeting of an Austrian whom the Yugoslavs accused of having Nazi connections. The man in question is Dr. Hans Piesch, Governor of the Austrian province of Carinthia. Yugoslavia has demanded territory belonging to Carinthia.

Piesch was already in Lancaster House when the protest was filed, and the deputies, the American, Gen. Mark W. Clark, presiding, took no action to exclude him. There were indications that the Yugoslavs, with Russian support, would object strenuously if Piesch came again.

Meanwhile today Austria appealed to the conference to draft a peace treaty that could be the Magna Carta of the Austrian people rather than a burden. Italy also presented an appeal to the deputies, asking for a share in the writing of the German treaty in view of Italy's co-belligerency in the war. And the representatives of the United States, Britain and France appeared to be lined up against the Soviet Union's delegate, who seeks to relegate the small Powers to secondary roles in the drafting of the German peace treaty.

Canada Presents Claims For Part In Treaty Talks

Ottawa, Jan. 30 (AP)—Canada wants full participation in the making of a peace treaty with Germany because she went all-out to defeat Nazi aggression and because the Dominion has "no escape from the consequences of a bad peace," Parliament was told tonight.

Louis St. Laurent, External Affairs Minister, made public the text of a statement submitted yesterday to the London conference of the four-power Foreign Ministers' deputies protesting against the procedure, spearheaded by Russia, now being followed in London and which Canada interprets as denying her the desired full participation in shaping the peace with the Reich. H. T. MONTGOMERY

Gave Without Reserve

"In the waging of war," St. Laurent declared, "Canada contributed her resources of men and material without reserve. No question of partial participation arose.

"It should be possible, therefore, to insure for Canada an opportunity to contribute to the negotiation of peace on the same basis of honorable partnership that characterized her contribution to the war."

The Canadian statement to the London deputies said "the Canadian people, even if they so desire, cannot isolate themselves from this question of a German peace settlement. . . ."

Canada suggested reaching a setlement with Germany by stages.

No Government At Present

"The settlement need not result immediately in a formal peace treaty," the statement said, adding that "there is at present no German Government to sign such a treaty, nor is it clear that any such government will exist in the near future . . . .

"It might indeed be preferable to regard the present negotiations as the preparation of an international statute constituting a new German state and governing the relations of that state with its neighbors and with other parts of the world until it can be replaced by a permanent treaty."

The suggested procedure, Canada pointed out, would not "saddle" a successor German government with the "formidable initial responsibility of accepting voluntarily an imposed treaty settlement."

As Preliminary Views

The Canadian statement, 4,000 words long, was submitted as an exposition of preliminary views which it was hoped would not prejudice full Canadian discussion at later stages.

It suggested a federal German state, decentralized economically as well as politically, with political authority of the various German states developed and with economic ties of these states linking them with neighboring countries of Europe.

"In particular," the statement said, "the constitution should so circumscribe the financial and military powers of the central government as to make it legally impossible for the reconstituted German state to build up the resources necessary to make war."

A Democratic Government, "genuinely subject to the control of the German people," was proposed, along with drawing of German boundaries on an ethnic basis to the fullest extent possible, with transfers of populations where necessary.

For Industry Control

"A measure of international control" was proposed as necessary "in German industrial areas."

"Those nations which are charged with the responsibility of drawing up the peace settlement with Germany cannot hope by themselves to settle the German problem," the statement said. "In the long run to settle the German problem, and other world problems we must build the United Nations into an effective instrument for the preservation of the peace."

Canada Renews Demand

Ottawa, Jan. 30 (AP)—Canada has sent to the Foreign Minister's deputies in London a new statement of her position as a small power demanding a voice in the shaping of the peace treaties with Austria and Germany, it was learned today.

Hitler's Atlantic Base Dreams Doused By Navy

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's dream of German naval bases in the Azores or Iceland got a dousing from Nazi naval bigwigs, leaving these islands free to contribute to the smashing British-American victory in the "Battle of the Atlantic."

This disclosure—together with details of Germany's bold U-boat successes against America and the inability of the German Navy to face or invade Britain—was made today in three lengthy captured German naval documents released by the British Admiralty.

Hitler talked down his Navy's pleas for more big battleships because Germany had no foreign bases to maintain or support them, according to the private papers of Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, who served for a time during the war as German naval commander in chief.

Every Available U-Boat

A report by Doenitz said that Germany threw "every U-boat available" into American waters where the "traffic was heavy and consequently the results were good."

Oil-soaked Atlantic beaches marked the Nazi successes and, the document said, the wide area of operations allowed U-boats to cruise off the shores of South America "when operations off Cape Hatteras became too difficult as a result of strong defenses."

Doenitz—now serving a ten-year sentence imposed by the Allied Military Tribunal after his conviction as a war criminal—bragged in in his essay of "exceptionally experienced" Nazi submarine commanders' triumphs over "inexperienced" American defenses.

Nazi Navy Failure Is Explained

Washington, Jan. 30 (AP)—The failure of the German Navy to make good use of its heavy ships was due to lack of the "sea-going habit," the wartime leader of the United States Navy said today.

Discussing secret Nazi documents now on file here and in London, Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King disclosed a few United States secrets of the war.

The United States feared another raid by German war ships such as that the Bismarck and the Prince Eugen undertook in 1941, so a "heavy detachment" of ships was stationed at Argentina, New Foundland, he said at a news conference.

Hood Sinking Main Result

[The principal result of the 1941 raid was the sinking of the British battle cruiser Hood. Later the German ship fled homeward but the Bismarck was sunk.]

The plan called for these ships to put to sea instantly in case German ships broke loose again and, under direction of the British forces, head the enemy off in the North Atlantic.

Details of Hitler's angry decision to scrap his "battleship admirals" and their high-seas fleet in January, 1943, were contained in the German documents, which were made public here and in London tonight (some contents of these documents had been disclosed previously, however).

Hitler's secret order officially terminated the fighting life of every German warship larger than a destroyer more than two years before V-E day.

Heavy Fleet Patrol

A heavy fleet of British warships, reinforced from time to time by American battleships, cruisers and destroyers, maintained ceaseless patrol in the North Sea between Britain and Norway, unaware that their quarry had been immobilized.

The United States Navy did not know of the Hitler order until last year, Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King said in an interview, and would not have depended on it, if it had known. Fewer ships might have been assigned to some areas, but a watch would still have been kept on the North Sea, the Norwegian coast and approaches to German-held ports, the Admiral said.

As late as August, 1943, two new American battleships, the South Dakota and Alabama with a group of destroyers operated with the British home fleet, led by four or more powerful battleships and including aircraft carriers and squadrons of cruisers and smaller ships.

Scharnhorst Raid

That his heavy fleet was not entirely wasted watching the dead laid-up German fleet was shown by the desperate northern raid of the Scharnhorst in December, 1943. Although scheduled to be decommissioned by Hitler July 1, naval officers apparently succeeded in postponing the end of their last crack fighting ship. She was caught by the British and destroyed while running for home.

Another long-kept secret also came to light.

Admiral King, in analyzing Germany's naval weaknesses, casually revealed that the United States made plans before the war to seize the Portuguese Azores with the unofficial approval of Portugal.

[Naval evidence introduced in the congressional Pearl Harbor investigation disclosed that the high command had drawn up a plan for occupying the Azores if necessary.]

U.S. Would Take Azores

Anticipating a German grab for the strategic islands located in mid-Atlantic, the United States considered early in 1941 and then laid actual plans for occupying the Azores, as had been done with Iceland.

Since Portugal was neutral, sub rosa conversations with United States representatives agreed to the occupation, but arranged for an official "protest" to hoodwink the Germans, King related.

The Nazi documents show a three-cornered fight in January, 1943, among the Air Force, Army and Navy ended with Hitler berating his navy chiefs for leaving their ships "idle in the Fjords, utterly useless like so much old iron."

He topped off a series of violent conferences with a flat order that decommissioned every ship in the German Navy larger than a destroyer.

Jews Opposing Sending Issue To The U.N.

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—Seven members of the Jewish Agency Executive told Foreign Secretary Bevin and Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones they would oppose any British move to place the Palestine problem before the General Assembly of the United Nations, an agency spokesman disclosed today.

He said the agency view expressed during an Anglo-Jewish conference yesterday was that reference of the Palestine problem to the United Nations would create "a void in a policy for the Holy Land for six months."

Urgency Stressed

The spokesman added:

"This prospect is untenable because it is essential that immediate steps be taken to relieve the present situation."

Yesterday a Government source disclosed that the British Cabinet might refer the Palestine problem to the United Nations General Assembly, having decided partition was necessary as a basis for a settlement.

Asked to amplify the agency's interpretation of the "immediate steps" required to relieve the tension in Palestine, the spokesman said:

"The steps we have in mind short of a solution would take the form of a really substantial move relating to the transfer of displaced persons from Europe to Palestine and, secondly, in the Holy Land itself, a radical change in the laws would be necessary."

Talks Not Part Of Parley

The spokesman emphasized that the present discussions with the Government were "outside the formal conference on Palestine" and were accepted as such by British representatives who are meeting in formal conference with Arab representatives.

He said the agency executive members who saw Bevin and Creech Jones were "dubious" about the prospects of an agreed solution emerging from "talks alone."

Elaborating, he declared:

"In addition to the talks, we require some gesture or action."

BRITISH PLANNING BILL WINS VOTE

ROBT WEIL

Conservative Challenge Beaten On Second Reading Stage

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—The House of Commons approved tonight the transfer of control of all future real estate development from private hands to state-appointed planning authorities.

The far-reaching town and country planning bill—establishing Government control over the future improvement of every acre of Welsh and English soil—passed its decisive second reading without a record vote after the Labor majority defeated, 342 to 150, a Conservative party motion to reject the measure. A similar bill relating to Scotland will be introduced in the House of Commons soon.

Toward Nationalism

"We are moving toward the nationalization of land, and not by slow steps," Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, declared in a temperate debate preceding the planning bill's approval.

Conservative critics centered their fire on the possible inadequacy of the $1,200,000,000 sum established to compensate landlords for "hardships" suffered under the bill. Several Labor party back benchers, on the other hand, considered the sum too high and abstained from voting.

Unlike most of the major proposals of Prime Minister Attlee's Government, the bill faced only mild Conservative opposition because its origins lay in earlier reports, recommending similar land reforms, which were issued by Conservative and coalition governments.

No landlord may develop or change the character of his property without Government consent under the bill's terms. If consent is granted he must pay a development fee covering the increased value of the land.

Dalton said "we are getting a very good bargain indeed in obtaining for the community, for all time, all development values, present and future, for the payment in five years" of $1,200,000,000.

While the second reading is the important one in the British Parliament, the bill still must go through committees, where the Conservatives intend to try to load it with amendments; receive final passage in the House of Commons, and approval in the House of Lords.

Labor Party Split Seen On Conscription Issue

London, Jan. 30—The possibility of a new division in the Labor party on the question of peacetime conscription materialized in Parliament today after the Government had expressed hope of cutting Britain's regular army to "substantially" less than 1,000,000 men.

One segment of the party decided last night to press for an end to conscription when Prime Minister Attlee presents the Government's new peacetime draft bill in the House of Commons, probably in about six weeks.

Another group of Laborites is known to favor sharp reductions in the military forces in view of the nation's grave manpower shortage.

Report To Lords

Whether the Government's statement of a planned army cut would be sufficient to allay the concern of many Laborites traditionally opposed to peacetime conscription remains to be seen when the bill is presented.

Viscount Addison, labor leader in the House of Lords, told the lords last night that the Government expected the future size of the Army would be "very much less" than 1,000,000 men, but he did not give detailed figures.

New Palace Bomb Scare

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—Police searched Buckingham Palace for a bomb early today after a "warning" telephoned from a public booth, but nothing suspicious was found.

Scotland Yard said an unknown person called a London telephone exchange and shouted: "Clear Buckingham Palace because bombs have been placed there to go off on Saturday."

Similar warnings, all of which proved to be false, were reported more than a month ago. Some newspapers suggested that the warnings were linked with attacks on Government installations in Palestine.

Normal security precautions were in force today at Buckingham Palace, where the King, Queen and Princesses are in residence.

British 'Promote' Envoy In Warsaw

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Foreign Office announced tonight that Victor F. W. Cavendish-Bentinck, British Ambassador to Poland, will be "promoted" soon to another post. In Warsaw an informant close to the Polish Government said it considered the ambassador "recalled" because of embarrassing testimony at the treason trial of Count Kawery Grocholski.

The Foreign Office refused to connect the withdrawal with Britain's protests over the conduct of recent Polish elections. A spokesman would only say that Cavendish-Bentinck's name in the diplomatic list had been reviewed and that "he has been promoted" to an undisclosed post.

Named By Witness

The Ambassador was named by a witness in the recent Warsaw trial of Count Grocholski as the recipient of state secrets supplied by a member of a Polish underground organization. The Foreign Office here denied any implication that Cavendish-Bentinck had plotted against the present Communist-dominated Warsaw regime.

Grocholski, sentenced to death, appealed the verdict to the supreme military tribunal, as did several others convicted with him.

The trial was held prior to the January 19 elections in which the Communist-supported government bloc parties defeated the opposition Polish Peasant Party (PSL) headed by Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk. The Vice Premier charged coercion of his party members by the Government which in turn accused PSL members of anti-government activities.

The United States and Britain protested that guarantees for "free and unfettered" elections, stipulated in the Yalta and Potsdam agreements of the Big Three had not been carried out.

Known First In Warsaw

News of the Ambassador's withdrawal became known in Warsaw before it was announced in London.

The Polish Foreign Ministry said it had been advised that Cavendish-Bentinck was leaving the capital shortly. Previously a source close to the Polish Government had said the Warsaw regime had made plain that Cavendish-Bentinck was regarded as persona nongrata.

The British foreign office refused to disclose the nature or place of Cavendish-Bentinck's new assignment.

The 49-year-old diplomat had been Ambassador to Poland since 1945. He served in the British legation in Warsaw in 1919, and has been attached to embassies in Paris, Athens and Santiago.

British Embassy Employe Arrested In Warsaw

Warsaw, Jan. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Marie Marynowska, translator of the Polish press for the British Embassy in Warsaw and affectionately known as "Contessa" by foreign newspapermen in Poland, was arrested today by security police.

Victor Cavendish-Bentinck, British Ambassador, immediately protested to the Foreign Ministry, demanding that Polish Vice Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzellewski disclose the reason for her arrest and her whereabouts.

Later, Brig. Gen. Wiktor Grosz, director of the press and foreign propaganda department of the Foreign Ministry, informed the British Embassy's press attaché that "Mrs. Marynowska is held on a serious charge."

SPAIN RECALLS TROOPS FROM FRENCH BORDER

MADRID, Jan. 30 — (AP) A spokesman for the foreign ministry said today that Spanish troop contingents on the Franco-Spanish border had been reduced to the normal number because of the stability which had existed in the area for some time.

He did not reveal the number of troops withdrawn from the border and refused to comment on a report that the retirement of the troops was a move to influence France to reopen the border.

Reports of the withdrawal of troops from the border to what is called the "Ebro River line" had been current here recently but could not be confirmed. These rumors said that deep snow and intense cold in the Pyrenees made garrisons unnecessary in the mountain area.

Spain Move To Reopen Border Denied In Paris

Paris, Jan. 30 (AP)—Reports that Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco had made overtures through London for a reopening of the French-Spanish frontier were described as "fantastic" today by authoritative sources in the French Foreign Ministry.

The border has been closed almost a year to all commercial traffice and to nationals of both countries. However, nationals of other countries and shipments in transit to and from Portugal are permitted to cross.

According to one story, denied in Foreign Ministry circles, Franco offered to withdraw all troops from the Spanish side of the border if France would order all Spanish refugees on French soil to withdraw at least 80 kilometers (about 50 miles) from the frontier.

Officials denied reports that the border question had been discussed in London by France's interim President-Premier, Leon Blum, and Prime Minister Clement Attlee last month.

Jewish Refugee Ship Impounded At Le Havre

Le Havre, France, Jan. 30 (AP)—Port authorities here impounded an 800-ton Honduran vessel bearing 600 Jewish refugees bound for Palestine today and refused to permit it to continue its voyage.

There were 200 women among the passengers. Harbor police armed with machine guns guarded the ship to prevent illegal departure.

THE VESSEL, THE ULNA, ARRVD FEW DAYS AGO FROM SWEDEN BEFORE GOING TO MEDITERRAN.

FRANCO REPORTED WOUNDED; STORY DENIED BY SPAIN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Paris newspaper French Soir said yesterday that Generalissimo Francisco Franco had been wounded slightly in the left shoulder, but in Madrid a spokesman for the Spanish foreign ministry denied that the generalissimo had been wounded or that an attempt had been made on his life.

According to the informant in Madrid, Franco has returned to the Spanish capital from a two-day hunting trip in Toledo Province. The source added that the generalissimo was enjoying perfect health and had not been the object of any attack.

French Soir's dispatch from Madrid said Franco was wounded slightly in the left shoulder on Jan. 9 by a Spanish army colonel who fired three shots as the generalissimo walked down the steps of the palace.

The dispatch added that the colonel told police he "did not want to kill Franco" but had intended to fire into the air to protest against the exiling of Gen. Antonio Aranda Mata, Spanish monarchist leader.

With the dispatch French Soir carried a note saying the story was being "published with all the reserves it needs owning to the fact that it has been impossible to check it for obvious reasons."

Von Papen Trial In Disorder

Nuernberg, Germany, Jan. 30 (AP). The de-Nazification trial of Franz von Papen was thrown into an uproar during quarreling between defense and prosecution counsel. Order was restored only after the court president threatened noisy gallery spectators with arrest.

Attorneys wrangled for the third day over the authenticity of the purported will of former President Paul von Hindenburg, which Hitler used as an instrument to seize power. The prosecution contends the will was a forgery and that von Papen, who was one of Hitler's leading diplomats, had a part in the deception.

Two Envelopes

Von Papen testified yesterday that he had drafted a proposed will for the German President. After von Hindenberg's death, he said, he asked the President's son, Oskar, for the testament and was handed two envelopes, both of which, he said, he handed to Hitler unopened. He said he did not know the contents. He said in the will he had drafted the President had urged Chancellor Hitler to restore the Hohenzollern monarchy.

The prosecution calle Franz Seldte, Hitler's First Minister of Labor, to testify against von Papen, who was acquitted by the International Military Tribunal last November of war-crime charges. Seldte was excused shortly after when a loud argument developed over his own status. Seldte himself is being held in the Nuernberg jail pending trial in new war-crime proceedings.

HEARINGS OPEN ON GREEK CHARGES

U.S. CHARGES

ATHENS, Jan. 30—(AP) Hearings on Greek charges that pro-Soviet neighbors inspired border strife which has taken thousands of lives and provoked near civil war opened today before the Balkan inquiry commission of the United Nations Security Council in the bullet-marked Acropole Hotel.

Yugoslavia, named by the Greeks with Albania and Bulgaria as aiding guerrilla bands in the north, immediately presented a formal protest against alleged delay by the Greeks in issuing visas to the Yugoslav liaison delegation and accompanying news correspondents.

The Greek foreign ministry said it had offered to issue visas to newsmen on a reciprocity basis, but that while Yugoslavia had asked for visas for six correspondents she had granted only one visa to a Greek juornalist seeking to enter Yugoslavia when the commission goes there.

The 11-member commission approved unanimously a motion by Soviet representative A. A. Lavrischev that the commission delay work on "substantive" matters until liaison officers arrive from all four of the nations involved in the controversy. Col. A. Roscher Lund of Norway, principal secretary of the 11-man commission, was instructed to investigate the delay and expedite arrival of the liaison officers.

The Yugoslav and Bulgarian delegations orrived tonight. The Albanians were reported en route by automobile from Tirana.

Col. Lund presided at the initial session, held in the dining room of the hotel.

Approximately 100 newsmen and photographers have been issued official accreditation to the commission's hearings.

Island Claimed

Athens, Jan. 30 (AP)—A Foreign Ministry spokesman said today that Greece, in signing the Albanian and Bulgarian peace treaties next month, will reserve the right to claim the small island of Saseno at the entrance of the Albanian harbor of Valona and will offer the island for United Nations control.

The spokesman said the right to claim the island would be among treaty reservations, including possession of northern Epirus and fortification of the Bulgarian border, which now are being drafted.

He said the Ministry had confirmed reports that fortifications were being constructed on Saseno and that Albania had secretly ceded the island to Russia during the tension over the status of Trieste.

"Greece is basing her claim to Saseno on the Treaty of 1864 whereby the Ionian Islands—in which Saseno is included—were transferred to Greece by Great Britain, in whose possession they had been since 1815," he said.

British Holding Six Jews In Kidnapping

CARTER DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, Jan. 30 (AP)—British troops swooped down on the Montefiore quarter of Jerusalem today and began a house-to-house search for the kidnappers of a British banker who stumbled into a clinic, dazed and bleeding, last night after being held prisoner for 78 hours.

The section—an ancient Jewish quarter outside the old city walls—was cordoned off and several hundred persons were herded into hastily erected screening pens for questioning. At midmorning it was announced that six had been detained for further examination.

Police also closed off and searched the Jewish industrial suburb of Givat Shaul.

The second kidnapped Briton to regain his freedom was H. A. L. Collins, a banker and retired army major, whose head and eyes were injured by blows and chloroform burns. Previously, Judge Ralph Windham had been released.

Police Tells Of His Experience

Police gave this version of Collins's experiences:

He was chloroformed when kidnapped and when the drug wore off, he found himself blindfolded, gagged and his head covered with a sack. He was being marched over rough ground. After a distance Collins estimated at some kilometers, he found himself in a cave having an iron door, a clay floor and a stone shelf on which there was a mattress.

Next morning a doctor came to attend him and he was informed the doctor had been delayed the previous night because of the curfew. Collins could not describe his guards, of whom he had three a day.

Release Details Not Clear

The account was not clear as to how Collins actually was released at Hadassah Clinic. The police version said:

"Just before his release, the same doctor who previously attended him advised him the best thing he could do was to go as fast as possible to a doctor. The guards then blindfolded and gagged him and put a sack over his head. He then was walked about for more than an hour, twisting and turning over extremely rough road with ditches. The last thing his escort told him was to remove his bandages when he heard a car coming along."

Condition Not Serious

The clinic first reported Collins was in a "serious" condition but announced later he was "recovering from the ordeal and should not be disturbed."

The hospital said he received a severe blow on the head "which had been stitched in the cave. He also is suffering bad burns on the face and neck caused by chloroform. His eyes are in bad condition due to the effect of chloroform and to the fact that he was without spectacles."

An official announcement said "plans for the transfer of certain areas of Palestine to military control are ready for immediate introduction, but are not being brought into effect at once since the conditions of the ultimatum for the release of Windham and Collins have been fulfilled. This does not imply any cessation of the activities of the security policy, which are continuing."

Martial Law Suspended

British orders clamping martial law on Tel Aviv, Petah Tikvah and Ramat Gan were reliably reported rescinded early today. The British had issued an ultimatum invoking martial law if Collins was not released by 5 P.M. yesterday. He was released about five hours after the deadline.

Found in a dazed condition, he first told police:

"I was treated badly and had to fight my way out."

Tombs Area Searched

Judge Windham was freed unharmed Tuesday night.

One of the areas in which police were looking for the cave in which Collins said he had been held was around the ancient tombs of Sanhedrin, at the edge of the city, where presumably lie buried judges who were officials in Israel 2,000 year ago.

Also searched today was the house of Rabbi G. L. Fishman, 72-year-old vice chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive. A Jewish Agency spokesman declared, "Nothing suspicious was found but an old copy of a Hebrew newspaper." Rabbi Fishman's home was the only one of a Jewish leader to be searched and the spokesman said Jewish officialdom was "furious" and had protested both here and by telephone to London.

BRITISH HUNT KIDNAPPERS

Question Hundreds Of Jews In Palestine Kidnappings

CARTER DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, Jan. 30 (AP)—British soldiers and police rounded up several hundred Jews in hastily erected screening pens in the Montefiore Quarter of Jerusalem and combed through ancient Jewish tombs today in a relentless hunt for kidnappers who seized two English hostages then set them free.

All the Jews were soon released.

The British rescinded an order for clamping martial law on three Jewish cities, Tel Aviv, Petah Tikvah and Ramat Gan, however, and tension eased somewhat throughout the Holy Land.

78 Hours In Barred Cave

H. A. L. Collins, banker and retired army major, who was seized on Sunday, was released late last night. He spent 78 hours in a yet unlocated iron-barred cave where a doctor "stitched" his head wounds. A Government report said he was recovering from his ordeal. Previously the abductors released Judge Ralph Windham, who was taken from his courtroom on Monday.

Authorities attributed both kidnappings to Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground group, which held the two men as hostages for the death sentence on Dov Bela Gruner, alleged Irgun member. Gruner's execution for his part in an attack on a police station was stayed, pending an appeal to a higher court.

Ultimatum Given Monday

Release of Collins was said to have prompted the British to withdraw the order for martial law, which was in line with an ultimatum given Jewish leaders Monday saying that unless the two men were set free martial rule would be imposed. Today's announcement said:

"Plans prepared for the transfer of certain areas of Palestine to military control are ready for immediate introduction, but are not being brought into effect at once, since conditions of the ultimatum for the release of Windham and Collins have been fulfilled. This does not imply any cessation of activities of security forces which are continuing."

Tombs On Sanhedrin

British troops swooped down on the Montefiore Quarter of Jerusalem and the Jewish industrial suburb of Vivat Shaul in their hunt for the kidnappers. Police combed through the tombs of the Sanhedrin, where the bodies of Jewish judges who ruled in Israel 2,000 years ago presumably are buried.

The authorities detained for a time six Jews in the Montefiore Quarter, an ancient Jewish section outside the Old City walls, and seized pamphlets issued by Irgun Zvai Leumi. Several hundred persons were questioned in an attempt to learn the location of the cave in which Collins was held.

Police searched the home of Rabbi J. L. Fishman, 72-year-old vice chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, in the Givat Shaul district. The search caused vigorous protests from Jewish Agency leaders, and the army apologized later, saying the home had been entered by error.

Suffered Head Wound

Collins suffered a head wound and severe burns on the face and neck caused by chloroform, which also affected his eyes. Although the hospital report said he was recovering, police banned all interviews and limited their interrogation of him to brief periods.

Police quoted him as saying that after the effects of the chloroform wore off he found himself bound, blindfolded and gagged and covered by a sack. He was marched over rough ground to a cave guarded by an iron door. It had a mud floor and a stone shelf on which a mattress had been placed for him.

His head wound was "stitched" in the cave by a doctor, who saw him again in the morning and advised him that he should seek additional medical attention "as fast as possible," the police said. His guards blindfolded and gagged him, put a sack over his head, then walked him about for more than an hour "twisting and turning over an extremely rough road with ditches," the police said.

It was not clear how Collins's release was accomplished at the Hadassah Clinic where he showed up, but his abductors told him at the last moment to remove his bandages when he heard an automobile approach, police said.

REDS CUT MARINES EVACUATION ROUTE

Rail Attacks in China Threaten to Delay Withdrawal of U. S. Personnel

TOM WHITE AP

PEIPING, Jan. 30—(AP) Violent Communist attacks on the Peiping-Tientsin railway and freezing up of the Tangku and Chinwangtao harbors threatened tonight to delay the withdrawal of American personnel from China.

The Communists, in their most serious assault in weeks, burned stations and tore out rails a score of miles southeast of Peiping on the route to the sea.

The highway presumably remained open but it has been cut often in the past and is a poor road at best.

Evacuation Mapped

American members of the disbanding executive (truce) headquarters in Peiping completed a series of alternative plans for evacuation of nearly 2,000 Americans and dependents there.

Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Jr., U. S. commissioner, declined to estimate the time necessary for the evacuation, saying "it will depend on the ships and air lifts made available."

Still awaiting explicit orders from Washington following the American decision to abandon China, Gillem said that despite the conflict he anticipated no difficulties in removing either the Americans in Peiping or those attached to 32 field teams scattered over north China and Manchuria.

"Extraordinary precautions appear unnecessary," Gillem said, explaining he believed the Communists would not actually attack Peiping or Tientsin before the Americans pulled out.

Headquarters personnel in Peiping includes 581 army officers and men, 78 WACS, 134 civilian employes and about 1,000 wives and children.

(The number of U. S. Marines to be withdrawn from China is uncertain. Peiping dispatches mention 15,000; Washington estimates are 8,000. Withdrawal would leave the navy's training school at Tsingtao and the military advisory group in Nanking as the only American forces in the country. The advisory group has not been approved by Congress, so its future is uncertain.)

Seek to Reopen Rail Line

Chinese government troops set out in an armored train to attempt to clear and restore the railway.

The Communists at truce headquarters said they would be ready to leave Peiping within a week, transferring their 70 men and women to Yenan and Hantan and their 13 representatives in Changchun to Harbin.

Under the agreement which established the headquarters last year, General Marshall, now secretary of state, pledged that the United States would return the Communists to their own territory if the truce effort failed.

A spokesman for the government said today the Communists would be guaranteed safe conduct, but bad weather and a shortage of planes may delay their departure.

Even though executive headquarters failed to halt the civil war, some Chinese military quarters predicted an explosion of total war now that the mediation definitely was ended.

Late field reports said that besides the Peiping-Tientsin railway battles, Communists had captured Tinghsien, on the Peiping-Hankow railway 125 miles southwest of Peiping, and were hitting that important north-south artery along an 80-mile stretch between Paoting and Shihchiachuang. Government sourced estimated the Communist strength there at 70,000 to 80,000 men.

London, Jan. 30 (AP)—A British Foreign Office spokesman said today that it was a "matter for regret" that the United States had decided to end its efforts to reconcile the Chinese Government and the Chinese Communists.

Hopeful Waiting On U.S. Policy On China Seen

Washington, Jan. 30 (AP)—Any positive new American policy toward China appears certain today to be delayed until officials here can see what the Chinese themselves do about restoring unity to their own badly divided nation.

Ambassador John Leighton Stuart at Nanking has the authority to do whatever he can to help the Communists and the Chiang Kai-shek Government come to terms, but he has to wait until the Chinese themselves ask him to help.

Authorities here discount any suggestion that the United States is following a negative policy now that American-sponsored peace machinery in China has been scrapped.

30.24-7629

by Secretary of State Marshall.

"Wait-And-See" Policy

Rather, the policy is described as a more-or-less passive one—a "wait-and-see" attitude based on hope.

This hope is twofold: First, that the Communists and Nationalists will not come to a final showdown struggle in an all-out civil war and, second, that in the interest of China itself they will make some moves toward unity on their own initiative.

The United States is continuing, meanwhile, to hold available a $500,000,000 Export-Import Bank fund from which the Chinese may borrow for economically sound projects if and when conditions in China improve.

Relief Needs Watched

Officials also predict that the American Government will "not ignore China" in making relief funds available to various countries to carry on some of the work which UNRRA formerly did.

The implication of much that is being said here about the China situation seems to be that if the Communists do not finally agree to take part in a reorganized national government, the United States at some point will give much stronger support to the Chinese Government than it has heretofore.

Again, however, authorities say that a great deal depends on the reorganization.

Marshall, in leaving China early this month, called for Chiang to shift the controlling power of the Government out of the hands of his Kuomintang party leaders into the hands of "liberals."

Action Not "Punitive"

Officials here stress that there was nothing "punitive" in Marshall's action yesterday in ending American participation in the Communist-Nationalist-American Executive Headquarters.

The failure of the most positive effort the United States ever has made to convert China into a strong and peaceful nation actually was symbolized by Marshall's withdrawal from China just before he became Secretary of State earlier this month.

This recognition of failure was made more definite, however, by his decision not to send someone else to keep the headquarters running but to withdraw from it completely.

China Reds Cut Yank Route Of Withdrawal

SPENCER MOOSA

Shanghai, Jan. 30 (AP)—Communist forces in North China cut the vital Peiping-Tientsin Railway today, shortly after the announcement that American military units are being withdrawn from China.

The Communists severed, temporarily at least, the route over which United States forces must withdraw from Peiping, site of the truce headquarters that will be abandoned with the end of America's long but futile peace efforts.

John Roderick, Associated Press correspondent, reported from Tientsin that the railway link was cut at Weishanchuang, about midway between Tientsin and Peiping. Fighting still raged there.

Quick Repairs Possible

Before the Communists attacked the Government's rail artery, American authorities in Peiping discredited reports that the Communists might attack the city before United States personnel left.

They asserted that the Communists were too weak to take either Peiping or Tientsin, although they could delay or imperil the American withdrawal by damaging the railway—which is just what they did. However, such disruptions ordinarily can be quickly repaired.

It was the first serious Communist attack on the railway, which once was guarded by United States Marines, and was different from the sniping and ambushes in which Marines were caught several times.

Armored Train Dispatched

Roderick said that Weishanchuang railway station was burned, a section of track "destroyed," and the attackers were in such force that the Government sent up an armored train from Tientsin.

The countryside along the route teems with bands of Communist guerrillas, but they are not equipped or organized for any major offensive.

Link May Be Retained

Observers in Peiping, in common with many in other Chinese cities, were convinced, however, that the withdrawal of all American mediators would invite heavier fighting. They predicted that both the Government and the Communists would try to make drives in Manchuria and North China.

While both Government and Communist leaders speculated over the effects of the Americans' departure, informed sources in Nanking predicted that all Communist liaison offices in Government territory would be closed.

However, Nanking quarters said the Communists might be able to retain their Nanking office because Government officials were anxious to keep open the door to any possible resumption of peace talks.

Under the terms of last year's agreement establishing mediation machinery, Secretary of State Marshall, then special United States envoy, pledged that the United States would return Communists from executive headquarters at Peiping, as well as liaison officers, to Communist territory.

Transport Big Job

Transportation will be a big job for the thin United States Air Forces remaining in China. The task probably will be turned over to pilots of the United States 332d Troop Squadron, plus crews from the Air Advisory Group in Nanking.

Withdrawal of the United States Marines, which American sources in Peiping said would follow the departure of the 1,000 army and civilian personnel from Peiping headquarters, will leave few American military forces in China.

There still will remain the Navy's training school in Tsingtao and the Military Advisory Group in China, both small. Either could pull out easily on orders from Washington.

The American withdrawal was expected here to meet not only the wishes of Yenan but a fairly large section of public opinion in Government China.

Some elements of the Kuomintang favor unrestricted warfare against the Communists, and they have resented the hampering presence of the Americans.

One opinion is that the withdrawal also would put Marshall in a better position at Moscow to ask about evacuation of Russian troops from the great Manchurian port of Dairen.

Friend Didn't Touch Girl, Marine Testifies

Peiping, Jan. 30 (AP)—Marine Corporal William G. Pierson, who has been convicted of raping a Chinese coed, testified today at the court-martial of Marine Pfc. Warren Thomas Pritchard that the defendant did not at any time touch the girl.

Pritchard is charged with assaulting Shen Chung, 19, and "failing to use his utmost exertions to detect, apprehend and bring (Pierson) to punishment."

Pierson, who did not testify in his own defense, told the naval court that Pritchard went to a nearby polo field with him and the girl last Christmas Eve, but stayed around only twenty minutes. The girl testified at Pierson's trial that "a second Marine" helped drag her to the field.

Lieut. Richard C. Odown, of Kingston, N.C., who investigated the case for the Marine Corps, testified that when he questioned Pritchard four days after the incident the defendant claimed the girl had gone to the polo field willingly with the two men.

Jap Coalition Hits New Snags

Tokyo, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Government today officially announced the failure of its third attempt to bring the Socialists into a coalition Cabinet to meet mounting economic problems.

Japanese observers considered it likely that Phemier Shigeru Yoshida now would attempt to reshuffle the Cabinet, relying mainly upon the two Government parties—the Liberals and the Progressives—and nonparty men.

"Complicated Reasons"

The announcement said the latest coalition failure was due to "complicated reasons." The main barrier was a dispute over continuance in office of Finance Minister Tanzan Ishibashi. The Social Democratic party had insisted upon his resignation before it would accept four proffered portfolios in the proposed coalition Government.

This actually revolved around the deep divergence between the Socialist economic philosophy and industrial liberalism advocated by Ishibashi, who was supported by the Liberal party and key industrialists.

The current negotiations were the second in two weeks conducted by Yoshida in an attempt to strengthen his Conservative Cabinet and silence labor unions by giving a prospective labor portfolio to the Socialists.

Japs Fear They Can't Avert Banned Strike

Tokyo, Jan. 30 (AP)—Fear of a crippling general strike by 2,400,000 Government employés spread today although Allied headquarters in behind-the-scenes negotiations have ordered it canceled.

Japanese labor-union officials have been "advised" that the walkout, scheduled for next Wednesday, would violate General MacArthur's directive prohibiting labor disputes which interfere with the purposes and conduct of the occupation.

Now officials of the government unions are striving desperately to find a face-saving formula for calling off the walkout and applying the brakes to their more excitable followers.

A general strike would halt railways, streetcars, mail, light, power, gas and water service, the government administration and even schools.

Plans for the strike were drawn by a labor committee which has proclaimed itself leftwing and which includes Kyichi Tokuda, secretary general of the Communist party.

Its announced purpose is to win pay increases amounting to triple the present scales and to bring pressure for the overthrow of Premier Shigeru Yoshida's cabinet. Government mediators have offered to double present wages.

Potsdam Pact Cited At Jap War Trial

Tokyo, Jan. 30 (AP)—Japan fully understood before signing the surrender terms that the Potsdam declaration on the punishment of war criminals included those responsible for the war, the prosecution argued before the International War Crimes Tribunal today.

Assistant Prosecutor A. Coymns Carr, of Britain, thus answered defense motions seeking the dismissal of charges against former Premier Hideki Tojo and 25 other Japanese leaders.

The defense had contended that only commanders of the Japanese army and navy units in the field were responsible under international law for alleged murders and violations of the Geneva conventions of warfare in regard to the treatment of prisoners.

...avy to Decorate Gen. Eichelberger

Yokohama, Jan. 30 (A. P.)—Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, United States Eighth Army commander, is to receive the United States Navy's Distinguished Service Medal tomorrow for "professional skill, resolute leadership and brilliant military tactics" against Japan during the Papuan campaign in New Guinea in late 1942 and early 1943. Vice Admiral Robert Griffin will make the presentation aboard the cruiser Fall River.

Saigon Paper Suspended For Ramadier Article

Saigon, Indo-China, Jan. 30 (AP)—The daily newspaper Thoi Bai has been suspended by the Cochin-China Ministry of Information for publication of a front-page box headlined "Ramadier (French Premier Paul Ramadier) denies independence and unity to Viet Nam."

The paper is known as an organ of ultra-Nationalistic groups hostile to President Ho Chi Minh of the Viet Nam Republic.

Borneo Town Overrun By Indonesians

Batavia, Java, Jan. 30 (AP)—Indonesian Nationalists operating from jungle hideouts overran the Dutch garrison at the east Borneo oil center of Sangasanga and held the town for two days before being driven out, a Netherlands army spokesman said today.

It was the first serious fighting reported from Borneo in months and tended to confirm Indonesian reports that there was a widespread guerrilla movement in Borneo favoring the incorporation of Borneo into the Indonesian republic with Java and Sumatra.

Dispersal Of Huks Near Manila Ordered

Manila, Jan. 30 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Jose Zulueta ordered military police today to disperse Hukbalahap bands in six provinces around Manila after President Roxas's charge that the armed Peasants had marked him and other leaders for assassination.

Roxas told the Philippine Congress in his message Monday that "by documents captured in headquarters of these organizations (Hukbalahaps) we ascertained that plots were laid to murder prominent citizens and leaders of the Government, including the President."

Zulueta told newsmen that he acted under the President's own directive in instructing military police to intensify their campaign against the dissident peasants.

Zulueta asserted that others who were objects of the purported assassination plot were Defense Secretary Ruperto Kangleon, Maj. Gen. Rafael Jalandoni, Philippine Army chief of staff, and Brig. Gen. Mariano Castaneda, head of the military police.

Health Study Urged Among Pacific Natives

Canberra, Jan. 30 (AP)—A subcommittee of the South Pacific Regional Conference recommended today the early inauguration of surveys of the health problems of the natives of dependent territories.

The committee urged that the work be given priority by a permanent twelve-member commission that the conference voted to establish yesterday. It was agreed that the commission hold two regular meetings annually and special sessions as dictated by circumstances.

Represented at the conference are the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Australia and the Netherlands.

Rio Grande Do Norte Censorship Protested

Rio de Janeiro, Jan. 30 (AP)—Djalma Maranhao, Associated Press correspondent at Natal, reported today that his telegrams on the recent election in the state of Rio Grande do Norte still were held by censorship and that he had been arrested and held for six hours on a charge of attempting to send a "tendentious and alarming" dispatch.

State deputies have protested censorship of telegrams and mail in the state to the electoral tribunal, accusing Gen. Orestes Rocha Lima, Federal interventor (governor) for the state and military commander of the region, of responsibility.

'Let 400,000 Refugees In'

Philadelphia, Jan. 30 (AP)—Urging immediate easing of United States immigration laws, Earl G. Harrison, America's representative on the Intergovernmental Committee on Refugees, declared today that "this country can easily absorb 100,000 European displaced persons a year for four years."

Harrison, dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school, chairman of the Citizens Committee on Displaced Persons and former United States Commissioner of Immigration, said in a statement "there seems to have been launched a campaign of misrepresentation and distortion concerning immigration into the United States."

"Inspired falsifications from several sources seek to create the impression that a regular swarm of persons from Europe has been and is now coming into this country," Harrison asserted.

Harrison said the governments of the United States, Great Britain and France are on record against compelling people "to return to their homelands against their will."

Chile To Get 6 LCI's

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 30 (AP)—The United States Navy will transfer six LCI's (landing craft, infantry) to the Chilean Government next month, Fifth Naval District headquarters announced today. Four of the landing ships are here and two are at Charleston, S.C. Date of the transfer has not been fixed.

Newsmen 'Stranded' in Alaska Find 'Banana Belt' Not So Bad

By CLARKE BEACH

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 29—(Delayed)—(AP) We were set to take off for the Aleutians about 11 a.m. when a couple of engines developed a cough. It's a bit chilly here—about eighteen below zero—even though it is called the "Banana Belt" of Alaska. The party of newsmen and photographers who are making this tour of our military establishments in this area figure that it must be frozen bananas or banana splits they are talking about. If engines get bronchitis we don't blame them.

The army ground forces gave us a trip to a local resort, Fire Lake Lodge, to kill time. It's in the Chugach mountains, 17 miles from Anchorage where Myron "Pete" Merriman has a year 'round hunting and fishing lodge. Pete highly recommended the fishing right now. All you do is carve yourself a hole in the ice of Fire Lake, let down a line and draw up a rainbow trout or silver salmon.

The skating is nice, he said, but he has trouble keeping the snow swept off the lake. Pete deplores the weather with all these newspaper men around. From his description Anchorage is normally about like Atlanta and it's seldom as cold as Chicago.

The photographers had a field day. The dismal ice fog of Fairbanks stymied them but the sunny snow scenes of Anchorage set them crazy. When you get outside of Fort Richardson, you wind through a crystal forest. The condensation of ice particles makes every twig round and thick and heavy. They all curve down with the weight, looking like a forest of white plumes and feathers. It's a Garden of Eden place.

(Pete has a gray moustache and goatee like nearly every man here in Anchorage. He talked about his years in New York, 1914-1916, when he was apprentice chef of the Waldorf. His specialty up there in his tiny mountain hostelry is lobster thermidor—Atlantic ocean lobster.)

While he was talking his wife was busy on the two-way radio set—rural Alaska's equivalent to the telephone. A couple of men concluded a business deal reading letters and documents back and forth; a woman reminded her husband 20 miles from her cabin to bring home some eggs. The two-way radio is like a party line—you can just keep the receiver on and learn all about your neighbors' affairs. A man came in to use the radio and he paid $1.50 just like a pay station in the states.

Pete isn't troubled with animals up there any more but for the first two years the black bears were a nuisance.

"They were all over the front porch and the back porch," he related. "One day in the summer I went into the back yard to spill a bucket of hot ashes from the stove and I poured them in the bushes. It just happened there was a black bear there and I poured them on his back. He ran off howling. I froze stiff in my tracks, even if it was in the middle of summer."

Seat Declared Vacant

Ottawa, Jan. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today moved in the House of Commons that the seat of Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive member convicted of espionage and sentenced to six years' imprisonment, be declared vacant. The motion was adopted without discussion.

Bricker Raises Objections To Sharing Atomic Secrets

Washington, Jan. 30 (AP)—Senator Bricker (R., Ohio) raised strong objection today to sharing the secret of the atomic bomb even with an internationally policed organization.

Bricker contended, in questioning one of President Truman's appointees to the new domestic Atomic Control Commission, that any move to deliver the atomic bomb to a world organization might "head us right into the holocaust we're trying to prevent."

As an alternative, he suggested an international agreement to outlaw the bomb as a weapon of war.

Editor Before Committee

William W. Waymack, Des Moines (Iowa) editor whose nomination was before the Senate Atomic Committee, replied that he was not prepared to "favor outlawry of the bomb as an answer, standing alone."

Waymack mentioned that Bricker's idea paralleled in some major respects the Russian proposals for outlawing the bomb.

He said he would not be satisfied with anything less than the "real" inspection and control system proposed in the plan submitted by Bernard M. Baruch and adopted by the United Nations Atomic Commission in a vote in which Russia and Poland did not participate.

Objective To Stop Use

Bricker said after the hearing that, as a supporter of the Baruch plan, he was not offering the Russian proposal as an alternative.

"My objective is to stop the use of this atomic bomb in war and I want to do it any way we can," he said.

Bricker told the committee that he thinks the delivery of the atomic secret to an international organization would be equivalent to delivering it "to the whole world."

"Wouldn't that be a step in the direction of world government?" he asked Waymack.

"It certainly moves in the direction of world government," the witness replied.

To Get Major Emphasis

Under further questioning by Bricker, Waymack said there is no doubt that the major emphasis of the control commission is going to have to be on the development of military aspects of atomic energy for some time to come.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) brought up the question whether some of the operations of the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) atomic plant might be obsolete.

"I challenge anybody to go to Oak Ridge and not see where millions and millions of dollars have been wasted and are being wasted," he declared.

Waymack said there had been some waste in the wartime effort to develop the bomb, but added that the commission is going to watch its spending. He said some operations at Oak Ridge were being curtailed.

Quizzed On Experience

When Carroll L. Wilson, named as business manager for the commission, came before the committee, Johnson asked the 36-year-old former Government official bluntly whether he had "ever met a pay roll."

Wilson replied that he was in charge of the finances for the National Research Corporation, of Boston, a firm which he said employs upward of 200 persons, from April to November of last year.

Some members developed through questions to Wilson that many of the key employés of the new commission had been in Government service for several years. Several previously had been employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority, formerly headed by David E. Lilienthal, nominated for commission chairman.

World Atom Power Agreement Needed, Senator McMahon Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—International agreement on atomic energy must be reached as quickly as possible in order that "its blessings may be spread," U. S. Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) declared tonight over the Connecticut state network.

Appearing with Senator McMahon was Congressman Chet Holifield, (D-Calif.) a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, who discussed the experimental use of the atomic bomb at Bikini last July. More ships were sunk in the first explosion, he said, than in a major naval engagement.

Speaking of the need for "moral leadership" by America in striving for international control of atomic energy, Senator McMahon said:

"At long last, man has learned the prime secret of nature, but, alas, he cannot use it to enrich and ennoble his life because he has not yet learned how to keep it from destroying him. What a commentary on mankind's wisdom and sagacity it would be if our very failure to put this energy to work for our benefit were to result in our annihilation from this earth!"

Discussing the future benefits, Senator McMahon said:

"The scientists inform us that present developments indicate that the greatest promise of atomic energy in biology and medicine is in the use of intense radiations and radioactive isotopes, the radioactive species of elements. How does a plant use solar energy to turn carbon dioxide into food and how does man reverse the process and convert plant food into life-giving energy? What is the nature of cancer? How does radiation cause genetic changes to produce new animal and plant species? The scientist's hope today is fired by his belief that clues to the secrets of these and other questions may emerge from research with radiation and radioisotopes.

"There will be many, many uses by which radioactive iodine, phosphorus, carbon and other elements will be invaluable as tracers to tell us the cause of diseases. We must make these great new tools available to medicine, to all humanity. But we cannot as long as we are the creatures of fear, creatures of the terror that what we have made may destroy us."

Lilienthal Gets Vandenberg Backing On Atom Stand

Washington, Jan. 30 (AP)—David E. Lilienthal's firm stand for keeping atomic secrets appears today to have won him the powerful support of Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) in the controversy over President Truman's Atomic Commission nominations.

Vandenberg said he is "very much impressed" by the stand Lilienthal took in advocating even greater precautions against leaks than had been taken under military control of the A-bomb project.

After a review of further testimony by Lilienthal, named as chairman of the commission, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) said he thinks "the battle is over" and the five commission nominees, as well as the general manager, "will be confirmed without serious opposition."

Constant Information

In this testimony, Lilienthal promised that Congress and a military liaison committee will be kept constantly advised of what is going on in the atomic setup.

Johnson's observation seemed to discount the fight Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.) has planned to make on Lilienthal. That fight hasn't really got under way, however, because McKellar has been too busy opposing the appointment of Gordon R. Clapp to the place on the TVA board Lilienthal vacated.

McKellar's Inning

But McKellar will have his inning tomorrow.

The committee called William W. Waymack, of Iowa, commission nominee, and Carroll L. Wilson, of Massachusetts, named for general manager, for public testimony today. It had previously heard from Robert F. Bacher, of New York, Sumner T. Pike, of Maine, and Lewis L. Strauss, of Virginia, other commission nominees.

Chairman Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) said the committee will close its doors next week to hear Lilienthal talk about the spy menace and other security problems.

TRUMAN MAPS MEXICAN AND FLEET VISITS

President Also Will Receive Degree From Baptist Institution

Washington, Jan. 30 (AP)—President Truman mapped out a travel program today that will take him to Mexico, Texas and Puerto Rico and cover an inspection of Atlantic Fleet maneuvers during the first two weeks in March.

The President will visit Waco, Texas, to receive an honorary degree from Baylor University where a similar invitation stirred up a fiery Baptist controversy over bourbon and poker in 1945.

The original invitation prompted the Baptist convention of Texas to adopt a resolution asking Baylor, a Baptist school, to withhold the degree because of Mr. Truman's "reported attitude" toward "gambling and drinking."

Assailed By Committee Head

The Rev. W. L. Shuttlesworth, of Houston, chairman of the convention's civic righteousness committee, took the floor to say that no Baptist school should confer a degree on any man who liked poker and drank bourbon.

Not even the President of the United States, Mr. Shuttlesworth asserted, "could be a good Baptist and drink his liquor."

Nevertheless, Baylor University went ahead with plans to award the degree until developments on the labor-management front led Mr. Truman to call off all travel plans. He was vigorously upheld by the Washington District Baptist Conference which assured him of its "earnest and continuous prayers."

To Leave March 3

At the White House today, Charles G. Ross, press secretary, outlined the President's itinerary as follows:

March 3—By plane to Mexico City, where Mr. Truman will confer with President Miguel Aleman during a three-day stay. Side visits to points of interest are likely.

March 6—By plane to Waco, where Mr. Truman will receive his doctor of laws degree, make a brief speech and take off after lunch on a nonstop flight to Washington.

To Set Off Again

Within a day or so—the exact date has not yet been set—the Chief Executive will set off again, bound for San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he is due March 10 to board his yacht, the U.S.S. Williamsburg, to witness part of the Atlantic Fleet maneuvers.

Ross said Mr. Truman will leave Washington on the ten-hour flight to Mexico City in time to reach the Mexican capital in midmorning of March 3.

He said the President may stop overnight at the Key West (Fla.) Naval Base en route to San Juan. Mr. Truman recently spent several days at the Key West station and subsequently expressed a desire for further swimming, walking and sun bathing on the Florida sands.

U.S. Seeks Boost In Sugar Quota

Washington, Jan. 30 (AP)—The United States has asked for sufficient sugar from this year's world supply to allow an average of 95.1 pounds per person. Consumption last year averaged about 73 pounds.

This quantity would be divided among individual consumers and industrial users. Last year individuals got ration allowances of 25 pounds. The rest went to industrial users, such as candy makers, soft drink bottlers and bakers.

The American request has been laid before the International Food Emergency Council, an inter-governmental agency which recommends division of export supplies of foods in short supply among importing nations.

In a report issued today, the council estimated the 1947 world sugar supply at 30,100,000 short tons, raw value. This compares with a world consumption of 26,700,000 last year and with a pre-war average consumption of 32,500,000 tons.

Demands of all countries participating in commercial markets were reported at 1,200,000 tons in excess of the supply.

The United States estimated its total 1947 requirements at 6,800,000 tons. It said domestic production and stocks from last year would supply 1,785,000 tons, leaving an import requirement of 5,015,000 tons.

The bulk of the imported sugar would come from Puerto Rico and Cuba.

30.24-7631

Prewar consumption in this country averaged 103.2 pounds a year.

The American request for a 1947 per capita supply of 95.1 pounds compares with requests of 92.3 for the United Kingdom, 95.3 for Canada, 70 for Belgium, 15.5 for Italy, 62 for the Netherlands, 56.4 for Finland, 125 for Sweden, 19.9 for Greece, 40 for France and 13 for Austria.

G.O.P. STILL SEEKS 20 P.C. INCOME TAX CUT, SAYS MARTIN

Party Not Committed to an 'Across the Board' Slash, Speaker Admits.

TAX TEMPERS FLARE

Knutson and Engel Near Blows After Heated Exchange Over Levies.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Speaker Martin (R-Mass) reasserted today the Republican objective of cutting individual income taxes 20 per cent but added that the GOP is not committed to an "across the board" slash.

He made the statement at a news conference after a Republican family fight over the method of cutting taxes flared to the verge of fisticuffs in a capitol cafeteria.

Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, advocate of a 20 percent slash for virtually all taxpayers, and Rep. Engel of Michigan, who says that would benefit the rich and be little help to the small fellow, shouted angrily at each other, but colleagues stepped in before any punches were tossed.

20 P.C. Is Objective

"A 20 percent tax cut is definitely and positively our objective," Martin said. "I think every Republican I know is for a 20 percent tax cut."

"We have a three-way objective: 1. Balance the budget; 2. Make a payment on the national debt; and 3. A 20 percent cut in taxes."

Martin had just emerged from a closed door session with Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Asked whether his party is committed to the "across the board idea," he replied, "No."

Knutson later issued a statement quoting Martin as saying "we have got to know how much money can be saved to be distributed before we can decide on the specific details of the tax cut." The statement added: "Mr. Knutson concurs in the above, as do the overwhelming majority of the membership."

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, House Democratic whip, recalled to reporters that the Republican slogan last fall was "had enough?" and added:

"I think the people have had enough of the consistent shifts in Republican promises."

After a meeting of the House Republican steering committee Nov. 14, the week after the election, a statement was issued from Martin's office saying:

"The committee was a unit in the view that there can be a 20 per cent reduction across the board in personal income taxes."

Martin said today the method of trimming taxes will be determined when the Ways and Means committee goes into the subject, but reemphasized the objective is an overall 20 per cent cut.

Engel commented later that he agreed with Martin that there is no party commitment on "across the board" tax reduction, and added "I didn't know there was a 20 per cent commitment of any kind. Nobody has committed me. Knutson has been doing all the talking and he certainly isn't speaking for me."

Engel, 59, and Knutson, 66, shouted angrily at each other in the cafeteria at breakfast time until colleagues intervened.

Peacemakers Intervene

The peacemakers were Reps. Hoffman (R-Mich) and Mason (R-Ill).

The incident was a repercussion to the attack launched by Engel in the house yesterday against the "across the board" bill by Knutson, chairman of the tax-framing ways and means committee. Engel accused Knutson of trying to help the rich and not the poor.

Knutson was seated at breakfast when Engel entered the cafeteria this morning.

Mason said that when Engel passed the table Knutson started "ribbing" him about the speech against Knutson's bill. This went along lightly, the witnesses said, until Knutson told Engel he must have "joined up with the CIO."

Engel flared back with something like this: "Your bill would give a $12-a-week man tax relief of only two cents a week; it would give a $300,000 man a cut of $50,000 a year. If I were the little man I'd tell you to take the two cents and go to hell."

Engel, who has his own tax bill proposing largest relief for small income groups, told the house yesterday Knutson's bill looks after the big fellow and might "spell defeat" for the Republican party in 1948.

In the cafeteria encounter, Knutson said Engel's bill would cost the government $8,000,000,000 a year.

Engel told reporters that when Knutson "made the crack about the CIO he started to run. I wouldn't let him run, but I wouldn't hit the old man for the world."

Almost a Fight

With the breakfast crowd looking on as the two came to close quarters, one shouted: "Don't you take hold of me!" the other roared: "Don't you take hold of me, either!"

At this point the other members intervened, and the two men subsided, Knutson leaving the room and Engel finishing his coffee and bun.

On an elevator a few minutes later a friend of Engle, knowing nothing of the incident, asked: 'How are you this morning, congressman?" Engle responded: "Well I guess I am holding my own."

Knutson declined to discuss the encounter.

Engel earlier had told reporters he is confident there are enough votes in the house to kill Knutson's bill, and, if there is to be tax relief, put the most emphasis on easing the burden of small income groups.

Incidentally, Mason announced later he would address the house Monday, answering Engel's attack on Knutson's bill.

The actual showdown on the income tax issue will not occur for a month or more, after congress has put its own ceiling on federal spending.

Arms-Procedure Accord Seen

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 30 (AP)—The United States was believed ready today to agree conditionally that the United Nations Security Council consider simultaneously international atomic control and world disarmament.

This appeared to be the decision reached by Warren R. Austin, the American representative to the United Nations, in talks with Secretary of State George C. Marshall and President Truman. MARRIS

Fresh from the Washington talks, Austin began private consultations today with members of the Security Council in an effort to break the deadlock on priorities in the international disarmament discussions, which will be resumed next Tuesday by the eleven-nation peacekeeping body..

Interpretation Of Move

The fact that Austin initiated these consultations was interpreted as implying that the United States would be willing to withdraw its demand that the matter of atomic control be given priority if the Council members agree that the United Nations atomic-energy report will be given immediate or prompt consideration.

It was understood that Austin would also attempt to discover to what extent the other members of the Council are in unanimous agreement on the atomic-energy report, which includes America's plan for international controls.

Although Austin appeared ready to agree to concurrent discussion of atomic energy and disarmament, American sources emphasized that the United States would not change its basic policy on the atomic issue.

Control Machinery

United States willingness for concurrent discussion was believed to be based on the condition that effective and enforcible machinery for atomic control be established before any final action is taken on general disarmament.

Meanwhile, the United States served official notice to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights studying world freedom of information that atomic-energy secrets must be carefully guarded until adequate international controls are established.

At the same time, the United States took the lead in the commission in attacking all barriers to the free flow of information throughout the world. The commission, by a vote of 10 to 0, with eight members either absent or not voting, approved formation of a subcommission on freedom of information and the press.

Then, by a vote of 9 to 2, with Russia and Australia joining in the negative, the commission gave a subcommittee the task of defining the duties and makeup of the information body.

UN COUNCIL ACTS TODAY ON BRITISH COMPLAINT

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 30 (AP)—The United Nations announced tonight that the Security Council would meet tomorrow at 3 p.m. to take up Great Britain's mine-laying complaint against Albania.

The case has been pending more than a week, with Russia insisting that discussions be held up pending arrival of an Albanian representative. The Albanian government so far has made no report of an envoy being enroute.

Two British destroyers struck mines off Albania last Oct. 22 with 44 casualties and the British charged the Albanian government with responsibility for sowing the mines.

SECOND LEAD DEPUTIES

BY ROBERT HEWETT

LONDON, JAN.30--(AP)--AUSTRIA ASKED THE FOUR-POWER CONFERENCE OF DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS TODAY TO DRAFT FOR HER A PEACE TREATY WHICH COULD BECOME A "MAGNA CARTA" FOR AUSTRIANS RATHER THAN A BURDEN. ITALY ALSO PRESENTED AN APPEAL TO THE DEPUTIES, ASKING FOR A SHARE IN THE WRITING OF THE GERMAN TREATY IN VIEW OF ITALY'S CO-BELLIGERENCY LATE IN THE WAR.

DEPUTIES OF THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE, MEANWHILE, APPEARED TO BE LINED UP AGAINST THE SOVIET UNION'S DELEGATE, WHO SEEKS TO ALLOT STRICTLY SECONDARY ROLES TO SMALLER NATIONS IN DRAFTING THE GERMAN PEACE TREATY.

BRITISH SOURCES SAID AUSTRIA PUT HERSELF FORMALLY ON THE RECORD AGAINST YUGOSLAV CLAIMS TO THE PROVINCE OF CARINTHIA BY ASKING THE DEPUTIES FOR A DEMOCRATIC CONSTITUTION, MEMBERSHIP IN THE UNITED NATIONS, EARLY WITHDRAWAL OF OCCUPATION TROOPS AND RESTABLISHMENT OF PRE-WAR BOUNDARIES.

THESE INFORMANTS SAID AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR LEOPOLD FIGL TOLD THE DEPUTIES, NOW DRAFTING TREATIES FOR THE MARCH MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS IN MOSCOW, THAT HE ASSUMED NO REPARATIONS WOULD BE IMPOSED UPON AUSTRIA BECAUSE THAT NATION WAS "THE FIRST VICTIM OF NAZI AGGRESSION."

"THE AUSTRIAN NATION HAS LEARNED FROM BITTER EXPERIENCE, AND IS RESOLVED THAT NAZISM IN ALL ITS VARIATIONS MUST BE DESTROYED," FIGL WAS QUOTED AS SAYING. "THE NATION WILL OPPOSE ANY KIND OF REVIVAL OF NAZISM OR IDEOLOGIES BASED ON NATIONALISM, INTOLERANCE, MATERIALISM, ACQUISITIVENESS, OR THE DOMINATION OF OTHER NATIONS."

FIGL SAID HE CONFIRMED IN THE NAME OF THE AUSTRIAN PEOPLE AND PARLIAMENT THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT'S DECLARATION OF APRIL 27, 1945 PROCLAIMING SEPARATION FROM THE GERMAN REICH AND DECLARING THE ANSCHLUSS WELL AND VOID.

AUSTRIA EXPECTED THAT "THE MEANS OF DEFENSE" WOULD NOT BE WITHHELD FROM HER AND HOPED THAT ALL AUSTRIAN PRISONERS, MILITARY AND CIVILIAN, WOULD BE RETURNED, HE SAID.

ITALY'S PLEA FOR A PART IN THE WRITING OF THE GERMAN PEACE, WAS MORALLY JUSTIFIED, HER REPRESENTATIVE TOLD THE DEPUTIES, BY "CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE VICTORY OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

LONDON, JAN.30-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE APPEARED TO BE LINED UP TOGETHER TODAY IN OPPOSING SOVIET RUSSIA'S CONTENTION THAT THE SMALLER NATIONS SHOULD BE ALLOTTED STRICTLY SECONDARY ROLES IN DRAFTING THE GERMAN PEACE TREATY.

AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THAT ROBERT MURPHY, SPEAKING FOR THE UNITED STATES, HAD CRITICIZED RUSSIA IN THE DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL LAST NIGHT FOR A "RATHER GRUDGING ATTITUDE" TOWARD SMALL ALLIED STATES WHO, MURPHY DECLARED, HAD EARNED "THE RIGHT AND DIGNITY" TO PARTICIPATE ACTIVELY IN THE PEACE MAKING.

BOTH THE BRITISH AND FRENCH DEPUTIES WERE SAID TO HAVE SUPPORTED MURPHY IN OPPOSING THE IDEA THAT THE BIG FOUR SHOULD VIRTUALLY DICTATE THE PEACE TERMS -- A PROCEDURE THAT DREW THE BITTER CONDEMNATION OF SMALL BELLIGERENTS WHEN THE TREATIES FOR GERMANY'S SATELLITES WERE DISCUSSED IN PARIS LAST YEAR.

BRITAIN'S SIR WILLIAM STRANG DECLARED THAT NATIONS WHICH FOUGHT GERMANY SHOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO PARTICIPATE IN ALL STAGES OF NEGOTIATIONS CONCERNING THE TREATY. HE ADVOCATED SMALL NATION MEMBERSHIP ON COMMITTEES CREATED BY THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL FOR STUDY OF VARIOUS ASPECTS OF THE GERMAN TREATY.

AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THAT NO DECISION HAD BEEN REACHED ON THE ISSUE. SOME OBSERVERS, HOWEVER, SAW A HINT OF CONCESSION BY THE RUSSIANS WHEN SOVIET DEPUTY FEODOR T.GOUSEV REPORTEDLY SUGGESTED THAT COMMITTEES SET UP BY THE DEPUTIES OR BY THE FOREIGN MINISTERS AT THEIR MARCH MEETING IN MOSCOW MIGHT BE INSTRUCTED TO RECEIVE DATA FROM THE SMALLER NATIONS.

THE LESSER NATIONS, LED BY AUSTRALIA, CANADA AND BRAZIL HAVE MADE STRONG REPRESENTATIONS TO THE DEPUTIES IN SUPPORT OF THEIR CONTENTION THAT THEY SHOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE HEARD AT ALL STAGES OF NEGOTIATION ON BOTH THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN TREATIES.

LONDON, JAN.30-(AP)-THE ADMIRALTY ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT BRITAIN HAS LOANED, SOLD OR ARRANGED TO SELL 420 NAVAL VESSELS TO SIX DOMINION AND 13 FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS DURING THE PAST SIX YEARS.

LARGEST OF THE CRAFT, THE 28,150-TON BATTLESHIP ROYAL SOVEREIGN, WAS LOANED TO RUSSIA IN 1944 AND HAS NOT BEEN RETURNED.

AMONG THE WELL-KNOWN SHIPS YET TO CHANGE HANDS ARE THE CRUISERS ACHILLES AND AJAX-- WHICH FOUGHT THE GERMAN POCKET BATTLESHIP ADMIRAL GRAF SPEE IN THE BATTLE OF THE RIVER PLATE-- AND THEIR SISTER SHIP, THE LEANDER, ALL TO BE SOLD TO INDIA.

DURING 1947, THE ANNOUNCEMENT ADDED, THE 14,000-TON LIGHT FLEET CARRIER MAGNIFICENT WILL BE LOANED TO THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT, WHICH ALREADY HAS ON LOAN THE MAGNIFICENT'S SISTER SHIP, WARRIOR.

OTHER SHIPS TRANSFERRED TO CANADA INCLUDE SIX ESCORT DESTROYERS LOANED IN 1943 AND 1944, THE 8,000- TON CRUISERS ONTARIO AND UGANDA, GIVEN TO THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT IN 1944 AND 1945, AND THE DESTROYERS CRESCENT AND CRUSADER, MADE PART OF THE CANADIAN NAVY IN 1945.

MOST OF THE SHIPS INVOLVED IN THE TRANSFERS ARE SMALL CRAFT, A STATEMENT BY VISCOUNT HALL, FIRST LORD OF THE ADMIRALTY, EXPLAINED, ADDING:

"THEIR TRANSFER WILL NOT IN ANY WAY IMPAIR THE STRENGTH OF THE ROYAL NAVY."

FRANCE, THE NETHERLANDS AND GREECE OBTAINED THE LION'S SHARE OF THE CRAFT, RECEIVING 79, 76 AND 62, RESPECTIVELY. THE 14 TRANSFERRED TO RUSSIA INCLUDED NINE DESTROYERS AND FOUR SUBMARINES.

OTHER COUNTRIES PARTICIPATING IN THE EXCHANGE WERE BELGIUM, CHINA, DENMARK, GREECE, ITALY, NORWAY, PORTUGAL, TURKEY, YUGOSLAVIA, SIAM, AUSTRALIA, NEW ZEALAND, UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.

(ADVANCE)..LONDON, JAN 30-(AP)-OPPONENTS OF BRITAIN'S LABOR GOVERNMENT HAVE FOUGHT BITTERLY THE PRINCIPLE OF NATIONALIZATION BUT THERE HAS BEEN NO CRITICISM OF PRICES PAID FOR HOLDINGS TAKEN OVER IN THE FIRST FOUR MOVES ON THE SOCIALIST CHECKERBOARD.

THERE HAVE BEEN NO CRIES OF EXPROPRIATION FROM PRIVATE OWNERS AFFECTED IN THE NATIONALIZATION OF THE BANK OF ENGLAND, THE CIVIL

30. 24- 7633

AIRLINES, THE COAL MINES AND THE COMMUNICATION NETWORK OF CABLES AND WIRELESS, EVEN THOUGH THE COAL MINE OWNERS AND CABLE AND WIRELESS STOCKHOLDERS WILL NOT RECEIVE FINAL SETTLEMENT FOR ANOTHER TWO YEARS.

SQUAWKS ARE RISING, HOWEVER, AS THE LABOR GOVERNMENT ASCENDS THE NEXT RUNG OF ITS NATIONALIZATION LADDER. RAILWAY PROPRIETORS AND OTHERS ARE FIGHTING A BILL TO BRING INLAND TRANSPORT UNDER GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT IS UNDER ATTACK OF PHYSICIANS.

A BILL TO NATIONALIZE ELECTRIC UTILITIES WAS PUBLISHED JANUARY 10 FOR ACTION BY THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, AND A BOARD TO SUPERVISE AND CONTROL THE IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY HAS BEEN CREATED, BUT A MEASURE TO NATIONALIZE IS IMPROBABLE FOR ANOTHER YEAR.

5E3'3 ,-589,-)8"-569, 049'365' 0491-7)6 28)) 19.

MEASURE TO NATIONALIZE IS IMPROBABLE FOR ANOTHER YEAR.

THESE NATIONALIZATION PROJECTS PROBABLY WILL COMPLETE THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S FIRST "FIVE-YEAR" PLAN. THEIR REALIZATION IN 1948 WOULD GIVE THE SOCIALISTS TWO YEARS TO CONSOLIDATE THEIR LINES BEFORE SEEKING ANOTHER FIVE YEARS IN OFFICE IN THE 1950 ELECTIONS.

COMPLETE NATIONALIZATION OF BUSINESS, INDUSTRY, TRANSPORT AND THE LAND--EVENTUAL GOAL OF THE PARTY--MAY TAKE 10 TO 25 YEARS, IF THE SOCIALISTS CAN STAY IN POWER THAT LONG.

IN THE FINANCIAL PAYOFFS TO DATE, PRIVATE OWNERS HAVE FARED AS WELL--AT LEAST FOR THE PRESENT--UNDER GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP AS THEY DID BEFORE.

BANK OF ENGLAND STOCKHOLDERS, FIRST TO SURRENDER THEIR SECURITIES

CH 1, 1946, WILL RECEIVE FOR THE NEXT TWENTY YEARS THE SAME RETURN ON THEIR INVESTMENTS THEY DID IN THE PREVIOUS TWO DECADES.

IN CIVIL AVIATION, NATIONALIZED LAST YEAR, BRITAIN SIMPLY AUTHORIZED THE THREE COMPANIES IT FORMED TO ISSUE STOCK AND BORROW NECESSARY FUNDS TO OPERATE. THERE WERE NO PREVIOUS PRIVATE OWNERS SINCE THE GOVERNMENT ALREADY WAS IN THE AIRLINE BUSINESS WITH BRITISH OVERSEAS AIRWAYS CORPORATION FORMED IN 1939.

BRITAIN DEPARTED FROM THE STOCK VALUE METHOD IN PLANNING COMPENSATION FOR COAL MINE OWNERS. THE ENTIRE HOLDINGS--EQUIPMENT AND COAL YET TO BE MINED--WERE ESTIMATED TO BE WORTH $638,640,000. ONE PUBLISHED ESTIMATE OF THE TOTAL STOCK OF THE VARIOUS COMPANIES TAKEN OVER WAS $800,000,000.

AN INDEPENDENT TRIBUNAL DURING THE NEXT TWO YEARS WILL DECIDE WHICH PART OF THE TOTAL EACH OF THE MINING COMPANIES RECEIVES AND IN THE INTERIM THE GOVERNMENT WILL PUT UP CASH TO CONTINUE EXISTING DIVIDENDS.

IT IS TOO EARLY YET TO MEASURE THE COMPENSATION A STOCKHOLDER WILL RECEIVE, BUT IT IS SIGNIFICANT TO NOTE THAT THE COAL MINE OWNERS ACQUIESCED WITHOUT PRICE ARGUMENT. THE GOVERNMENT STOCK ISSUED FOR THE PAYOFF WILL YIELD ABOUT 2 1/2 PER CENT INTEREST BUT WILL BE NONNEGOTIABLE.

BOTH THE COAL MINES AND CABLE AND WIRELESS CAME UNDER THE GOVERNMENT THE FIRST OF THIS YEAR. ANOTHER TRIBUNAL WILL DECIDE HOW MUCH CABLE AND WIRELESS STOCKHOLDERS WILL GET FOR THEIR TOTAL STOCK OF SOME $120,000,000. CABLE AND WIRELESS PAID A 5 PER CENT DIVIDEND

LAST YEAR. THE DECISIONS WILL BE REACHED ON A "WILLING-SELLER WILLING-BUYER" BASIS WITH CONSIDERATION TO NET MAINTAINABLE REVENUE WHICH MEANS THAT THE INDIVIDUAL STOCKHOLDER'S RETURN ON HIS INVESTMENT SHOULD REMAIN APPROXIMATELY THE SAME.

THE INLAND TRANSPORT BILL TO NATIONALIZE RAILROADS, CANALS, HARBORS AND A LARGE SHARE OF MOTOR TRANSPORT THE FIRST OF NEXT YEAR IS THE MOST COSTLY VENTURE TO DATE: THE GOVERNMENT WILL PAY AN ESTIMATED $4,260,000,000. IN NEGOTIABLE STOCKS TO PRIVATE OWNERS ACCORDING TO STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS ON THEIR HOLDINGS DURING THE FIRST FIVE WEEKS OF NOVEMBER, 1946.

1947

THE OWNERS, PARTICULARLY OF THE FOUR MAJOR RAILROADS WHICH ARE TO RECEIVE $3,600,000, HAVE COMPLAINED THAT THE TOCK QUOTATIONS DID NOT SHOW THE REAL VALUE.

THE LABOR GOVERNMENT CHIEFS COUNTERED WITH AN ARGUMENT THAT THE HOLDERS WOULD RECEIVE A SMALLER, BUT RISKLESS, REVENUE.

TO COMPENSATE OWNERS UNDER THE NEW ELECTRICITY BILL, THE GOVERNMENT PLANS TO FIX AN AVERAGE BASED ON MARKET PRICES ON CERTAIN DATES YET TO BE SPECIFIED. PAYMENT IN GOVERNMENT STOCK WILL BE AT A RATE OF VALUE EQUAL TO THE WORTH OF THE SECURITIES REPLACED. BEST ESTIMATES WERE THAT THE GOVERNMENT WOULD PAY OUT $1,400,000,000 FOR THE HOLDINGS.

THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT, PASSED IN 1946 AND SCHEDULED FOR IMPLEMENTATION THIS YEAR, PROVIDES FREE MEDICAL AND DENTAL TREATMENT FOR 40,000,000 PEOPLE. IT ALSO PROVIDES FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO BUY UP DOCTORS' PRACTICES, AND THIS IS ONE OF THE BIG BONES OF CONTENTION. HERETOFORE, DOCTORS IN ENGLAND HAVE BOUGHT PRACTICES FROM RETIRING PHYSICIANS AND THIS REMUNERATION TO OWNERS STILL IS BEING ARGUED. #

PARIS, JAN 30-(AP)-FRENCH SOCIALISTS TODAY SUGGESTED QUARTERING TROOPS OF THE UNITED NATIONS ARMED FORCES IN THE RUHR.

THE IDEA WAS PUT FORWARD IN AN ARTICLE IN THE SOCIALIST ORGAN "LE POPULAIRE," BY PIERRE LAPIE, UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE DURING LEON BLUM'S RECENT TENURE AS FOREIGN MINISTER.

HE SAID IT WAS FRANCE'S DESIRE TO HAVE THE RUHR'S INDUSTRY PUT UNDER INTERNATIONAL CONTROL SO THAT THE AREA'S RAW MATERIALS WOULD BELONG "NEITHER TO PRIVATE CAPITALISM NOR AGGRESSIVE CAPITALISM."

FRANCE WILL ARGUE AT THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL IN MOSCOW FOR CREATION OF AN INTERNATIONAL AUTHORITY UNDER A HIGH COMMISSIONER TO BE NAMED BY THE UNITED NATIONS TO CONTROL THE RUHR'S INDUSTRIES, HE SAID.

SOME SORT OF POLICE FORCE WOULD BE NEEDED, HE SAID, "AND IT IS NOT IMPOSSIBLE THAT THE RUHR BECOME A PLACE FOR BILLETING MILITARY UNITS OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

BORDEAUX, FRANCE, JAN.30-(AP)-MAGDA CORABEUF FONTAGES, 37, ONCE BEAUTIFUL SWEETHEART OF BENITO MUSSOLINI, WAS SENTENCED TODAY TO SERVE 15 YEARS IN PRISON FOR COLLABORATION WITH THE GERMAN GESTAPO.

A MILITARY TRIBUNAL COMPOSED OF THREE CIVILIANS AND NINE OFFICERS CONVICTED HER AFTER AN HOUR OF DELIBERATION DESPITE A PLEA BY HER DEFENSE COUNSEL, RENE FLORIOT, WHO DECLARED:

"LET'S GET THIS THING IN ITS PROPER PERSPECTIVE. IF THIS DEFENDANT WERE NOT NAMED MAGDA FONTAGES, IF SHE DID NOT HAVE THE REPUTATION OF BEING THE MISTRESS OF MUSSOLINI, IF SHE HAD NOT SHOT THE COUNT DE CHAMBRUN 10 YEARS AGO, YOU WOULD NOT HAVE ALL THESE NEWSPAPERMEN AND PHOTOGRAPHERS HERE AND THERE WOULD BE NO QUESTION OF ACCUSING HER OF TREASON."

MAGDA FIRED TWO SHOTS AT COUNT CHARLES DE CHAMBRUN, THEN FRENCH AMBASSADOR TO ITALY, IN A PARIS RAILWAY STATION IN 1937, BLAMING HIM BECAUSE HER ROMANCE WITH IL DUCE HAD SOURED. THE SHOOTING CAUSED A SENSATION, BUT THERE NEVER WAS A TRIAL.

SHE WAS CHARGED HERE WITH HIRING HERSELF OUT TO THE NAZIS FOR $42.90 A MONTH, PLUS EXPENSES, AS A SPY. MAGDA CLAIMED SHE WAS A NEWSPAPERWOMAN WHO GAVE THE GERMANS USELESS INFORMATION WHICH MISGUIDED THEM.

AT AN ALTITUDE OF 6,000 FEET THE CONTROL LEVER WILL BE BROUGHT IN ITS MARKED POSITION AND, AFTER REDUCING VELOCITY, A TAKE OFF WILL BE IMITATED."

A WEDGE FOUND AT KASTRUP AIRFIELD, COPENHAGEN, SCENE OF THE CRASH, GAVE RISE TO A THEORY THAT THE ELEVATORS OF THE DAKOTA PLANE WERE LOCKED WHEN THE PILOT ATTEMPTED TO TAKE OFF. EYE WITNESSE ACCOUNTS GIVEN TO AN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION HAVE DIFFERED, SOME SAYING THEY SAW THE ELEVATORS LOCKED WHEN IT WAS ON THE RUNWAY, OTHERS THAT THE PILOT TESTED THE CONTROLS BEFORE HE TOOK OFF. DANISH AIRPORT WORKERS DECLARED THEY DID NOT LOCK THE CONTROLS.

BECAUSE OF ITALY'S URGENT POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC SITUATION -- COMPLICATED BY THE IMMINENT NECESSITY OF SIGNING THE PEACE TREATY -- IT WAS GENERALLY EXPECTED THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS WOULD GIVE THEIR APPROVAL. 1947

DE GASPERI WAS REPORTED TO HAVE OFFERED THE IMPORTANT MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS TO COUNT CARLO SFORZA AND TO HAVE RECEIVED HIS VIRTUAL ACCEPTANCE. IT WAS UNDERSTOOD THAT SFORZA WOULD ACCEPT THE PORTFOLIO AS AN INDEPENDENT RATHER THAN AS A MEMBER OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, WHICH LAST NIGHT REAFFIRMED ITS STAND NOT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE NEW GOVERNMENT.

TOKYO,JAN.31-(AP)-GENERAL MACARTHUR ORDERED JAPAN'S LABOR LEADERS TODAY TO DESIST FROM A GENERAL STRIKE OF GOVERNMENT WORKERS SCHEDULED FOR MIDNIGHT TONIGHT.

THE SUPREME COMMANDER DECLARED HE COULD NOT PERMIT THE USE OF "SO DEADLY A SOCIAL WEAPON" AS A GENERAL STRIKE IN THE PRESENT "IMPOVERISHED AND EMACIATED CONDITION OF JAPAN."

"IT IS WITH THE GREATEST RELUCTANCE," HE ADDED, "THAT I HAVE DEEMED IT NECESSARY TO INTERVENE."

APPROXIMATELY 2,400,000 WORKERS IN TRANSPORTATION, LIGHT, GAS, WATER AND POSTAL SERVICES WERE SCHEDULED TO WALK OUT IN SUPPORT OF DEMANDS FOR TRIPLED WAGES AND THE RESIGNATION OF THE CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT OF PREMIER SHIGERU YOSHIDA.

MACARTHUR SAID HE WAS TAKING A HAND "ONLY TO FORESTALL THE FATAL IMPACT UPON AN ALREADY GRAVELY-THREATENED PUBLIC WELFARE."

"THE PARALYSIS MIGHT REDUCE LARGE MASSES OF THE JAPANESE PEOPLE TO THE POINT OF ACTUAL STARVATION AND WOULD PRODUCE DREADFUL CONSEQUENCES UPON EVERY JAPANESE HOME."

THE GENERAL ASSERTED THAT PERSONS INVOLVED IN THE THREATENED STRIKE WERE "BUT A SMALL MINORITY" WHICH "MIGHT WELL PLUNGE THE GREAT MASSES INTO A DISASTER NOT UNLIKE THAT PRODUCED IN THE IMMEDIATE PAST BY THE MINORITY WHICH LED JAPAN INTO THE DESTRUCTION OF WAR."

IN CONCLUSION HE SAID: "I DO NOT INTEND OTHERWISE TO RESTRICT THE FREEDOM OF ACTI[illegible] HERETOFORE GIVEN LABOR IN THE ACHIEVEMENT OF LEGITIMATE OBJE[illegible]VES."

THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE REACTION FROM LABOR CIRCLES, BUT THE MAJORITY OF UNION MEMBERS WERE EXPECTED TO OBEY THIS INJUNCTION.

THE STRIKE HAD BEEN CALLED TO SUPPORT EXTENSIVE DEMANDS FOR WAGE INCREASES, TO PROTEST THE CONTINUANCE OF PREMIER SHIGERU YOSHIDA IN OFFICE AND APPARENTLY ALSO AS A TEST OF THE FIRMNESS OF OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES.

MACARTHUR'S BAN WAS THE SUPREME COMMANDER'S FIRST DIRECT INTERVENTION IN THE JAPANESE LABOR SITUATION. PREVIOUSLY SCHEDULED STRIKES AFFECTING THE OCCUPATION HAD BEEN CALLED OFF BEFORE THE STRIKE DEADLINE AFTER SUPREME HEADQUARTERS HAD "ADVISED" WITH LABOR LEADERS.

THE MAGAZINE IN ITS JAN.27 ISSUE SAID UPWARD OF 30,000 JAPANESE FACED REMOVAL FROM THEIR JOBS, WHICH WOULD CUT OFF "THE MOST ACTIVE, EFFICIENT, EXPERIENCED, CULTURED AND COSMOPOLITAN SECTION OF THE NATION."

MACARTHUR DECLARED THAT "IT WAS THESE VERY PERSONS, BORN AND BRED AS FEUDALISTIC OVERLORDERS" WHO HAD HELD THE MAJORITY OF JAPAN'S PEOPLE IN ECONOMIC BONDAGE AND WORKED WITH THE MILITARY TO GEAR THE NATION FOR WAR.

HIS STATEMENT SAID THE PURGE PROGRAM HAD BEEN "CAREFULLY EVOLVED SO AS NOT TO DISTURB THE ORDINARY BUSINESSMAN NOR TECHNICIANS WHOSE SKILL AND BRAINS DID NOT INFLUENCE THE FORMULATION OF POLICY WHICH DIRECTED JAPAN'S COURSE TOWARD AGGRESSIVE WAR."

MACARTHUR SAID THAT EVEN IF, AS NEWSWEEK AVERRED, THE PURGE MADE INDUSTRIAL RECOVERY SUFFER THEN "THE INTERESTS OF THOSE OTHER HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WHO WANT AND SEEK PEACE LEAVE NO ALTERNATIVE THAN THAT JAPAN MUST BEAR AND SUSTAIN THE CONSEQUENCES."

MACARTHUR TOOK SHARP ISSUE WITH THAT PART OF THE ARTICLE, ENTITLED "BEHIND THE JAPANESE PURGE--AMERICAN MILITARY RIVALRIES", WHICH SAID THAT RELATIONS BETWEEN FOUR SECTIONS OF HIS MILITARY GOVERNMENT HAD "PROGRESSIVELY DEGENERATED AS THEIR AIMS AND METHODS DIVERGED."

MACARTHUR REPLIED THAT "WHILE THERE HAVE BEEN NATURAL DIFFERENCES OF VIEWS ON DETAIL, THERE HAS BEEN COMPLETE UNITY OF PURPOSE BY THE STAFF SECTIONS CONCERNED AND EVERY DECISION HAS BEEN PERSONALLY MADE BY ME."

THIS LAST APPEARED TO BE AN ALLUSION TO NEWSWEEK'S REMARK THAT "IT IS AN OPEN QUESTION AS TO THE EXTENT TO WHICH GENERAL MACARTHUR IS AWARE OF THE IDEOLOGICAL IMPLICATIONS OF THE ACTIONS OF HIS MILITARY GOVERNMENT."

(ADVANCE) NEW YORK,JAN.30-(AP)-COMMUNISTS OR THEIR FELLOW TRAVELERS INFILTRATED INTO THE STAFFS OF AT LEAST FIVE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES, SAYS ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE, JR.

IN A SIGNED ARTICLE IN THE CURRENT COLLIER'S MAGAZINE, THE FORMER U.S. SENATOR FROM WISCONSIN ASSERTED THAT BY GETTING ON CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE STAFFS, COMMUNISTS AND THEIR SYMPATHIZERS HAD "ACCESS TO COMMITTEE FILES" AND SAT IN ON EXECUTIVE MEETINGS. THUS, LA FOLLETTE SAID, THEY OBTAINED CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION WHICH THEY WERE ABLE TO USE "AS A PRIVATE SPYING SYSTEM AGAINST THEIR ENEMIES."

THE FORMER SENATOR NAMED THE FIVE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES AS: THE SENATE CIVIL LIBERTIES COMMITTEE, A SUB-COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION AND LABOR, THE PEPPER SUBCOMMITTEE ON WARTIME HEALTH AND EDUCATION, THE KILGORE SUBCOMMITTEE ON WAR MOBILIZATION, AND THE MURRAY SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON SMALL BUSINESS.

HE SAID THAT ONE SOURCE OF COMMITTEE "INFILTRATION" WAS THE BORROWING OF 'DOWNTOWN PERSONNEL' FROM THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT IN STAFFING COMMITTEES." THIS PRACTICE HAS BEEN "CURBED" BY THE SENATE, LA FOLLETE SAID.

LAKE SUCCESS ADD XX ISSUE.

U.S. WILLINGNESS FOR CONCURRENT DISCUSSION WAS BELIEVED TO BE BASED ON THE CONDITION THAT EFFECTIVE AND ENFORCEABLE MACHINERY FOR ATOMIC CONTROL BE ESTABLISHED BEFORE ANY FINAL ACTION IS TAKEN ON GENERAL DISARMAMENT.

THE U.S. HAS BEEN INSISTING THAT ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL BE CONSIDERED BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL BEFORE GENERAL DISARMAMENT.

THE RUSSIANS ARE INSISTING THAT THE COUNCIL BEGIN IMMEDIATE DISCUSSIONS ON GENERAL DISARMAMENT. THEY ARGUE THAT THE ATOMIC PROBLEM CAN BE CONSIDERED DURING THE DISARMAMENT DISCUSSIONS AND HAVE PROPOSED THAT THE COUNCIL ESTABLISH A DISARMAMENT COMMISSION IMMEDIATELY.

THE U.S. HAS FELT THAT IF THE RUSSIAN PROPOSAL WERE ACCEPTED THE ATOMIC PROBLEM WOULD BE LOST IN THE SHUFFLE, THAT GENERAL DISARMAMENT QUESTIONS WOULD OVERSHADOW AND MINIMIZE ATOMIC CONTROL.

ALTHOUGH MOST OF THE COUNCIL MEMBERS APPEAR TO FAVOR CONCURRENT DISCUSSION, IT WAS BELIEVED THE U.S. COULD OBTAIN MAJORITY SUPPORT FOR PROMPT AND IMMEDIATE CONSIDERATION OF THE ATOMIC QUESTION.

A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID THERE IS SO MUCH WORK TO DO IN BOTH THE ATOMIC AND DISARMAMENT FIELDS THAT HE SAW NO OBJECTION IN SETTING UP THE DISARMAMENT COMMISSION PROVIDED IT DID NOT INTERFERE WITH THE WORK OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION.

1947

THE U.S. DELEGATION HAS TAKEN THE LONG-TERM VIEW THAT THERE CANNOT BE DISARMAMENT WITHOUT COLLECTIVE SECURITY. AND AT THE HEART OF COLLECTIVE SECURITY, THE U.S. HAS ARGUED, THERE MUST BE A SYSTEM OF GENUINE INTERNATIONAL CONTROL OF ATOMIC AND ALL OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION AS WELL AS ARMAMENTS GENERALLY.

INTERNATIONAL DISARMAMENT, THE U.S. CONTENDS, WILL FLOW OUT OF A SYSTEM OF CONTROL.

RIGHT NOW AUSTIN WANTS TO SEE IN HIS TALKS WITH OTHER MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL JUST HOW FAR UNANIMOUS AGREEMENT CAN BE ATTAINED ON THE ATOMIC ISSUE BEFORE IMPLEMENTING THE REST OF THE DISARMAMENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE U.N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

IT WAS BELIEVED THAT THE U.S. DELEGATION CONSIDERS THAT IT WOULD BE RECOMPENSED IN WITHDRAWING ITS PROPOSAL FOR ATOMIC PRIORITY IF THE COUNCIL MEMBERS AGREE TO IMMEDIATE OR PROMPT CONSIDERATION OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY REPORT AND OPEN THE WAY FOR SETTING UP AN ATOMIC TREATY WHICH WOULD HAVE THE NECESSARY CONTROLS.

AMERICAN SOURCES POINTED OUT THAT UNDER THE ATOMIC ENERGY ACT OF CONGRESS, THE U.S. COULD NOT RATIFY AN INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC TREATY UNLESS THERE WERE ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS.

MEANWHILE, THE UNITED STATES SERVED OFFICIAL NOTICE TO THE U.N. COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS STUDYING WORLD FREEDOM OF INFORMATION THAT ATOMIC ENERGY SECRETS MUST BE CAREFULLY GUARDED UNTIL ADEQUATE INTERNATIONAL CONTROLS ARE ESTABLISHED.

AT THE SAME TIME THE UNITED STATES TOOK THE LEAD IN THE COMMISSION IN ATTACKING ALL BARRIERS TO THE FREE FLOW OF INFORMATION THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. THE COMMISSION BY A VOTE OF 10 TO 0, WITH EIGHT MEMBERS EITHER ABSENT OR NOT VOTING, APPROVED FORMATION OF A SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND THE PRESS.

1947

THEN, BY A VOTE OF 9 TO 2, WITH RUSSIA AND AUSTRALIA JOINING IN THE NEGATIVE, THE COMMISSION GAVE TO A SUB-COMMITTEE THE TASK OF DEFINING THE DUTIES AND THE MAKE-UP OF THE INFORMATION BODY.

Churchill Pleads For U.S.-British Palestine Rule (2)

ED CREAGH

London, Jan. 31 (AP) — Winston Churchill today called on Britain to produce at once a workable Palestine solution, with United States aid—or to surrender the mandate to the United Nations.

Characterizing the present situation as one of "blood and shame," Churchill said the likelihood of civil war should not deter Britain from giving up the mandate if she cannot resolve the problem.

The wartime Prime Minister addressed the House of Commons as the Government, in an apparent prelude to an all-out onslaught against the Palestine underground, ordered the evacuation of women, children and "unessential" civilian men from Palestine by next Tuesday.

Pledges Broken, Charge

Asserting that Britain had broken her pledges to the Jews and now had no reason to stay in Palestine, Churchill referred fleetingly to the current London talks between British officials and Arab Government representatives, and then declared:

"Unless that conference produces a solution which it is in our power to enforce effectively, we should definitely give notice that unless the United States will come in with us on a fifty-fifty basis on an agreed policy—on all the bloodshed, odium and trouble and work—we will lay our mandate at the feet of the international organization.

"Blood And Shame"

"I earnestly trust that the Government at the earliest possible moment, unless we have the aid of the United States, will give due notice to divest ourselves of a responsibility which we are failing to discharge and which in the process is covering us with blood and shame."

He said Britain had no obligation to withdraw from the Suez Canal zone now that treaty negotiations with Egypt have broken down, and added:

"Let us then stay in the canal zone and have no further interest in the strategic position of Palestine. I never thought we had a strategic interest there."

Bow To Threats, Charge

Churchill bitterly charged the Government with bowing to threats from what he called "terrorists and criminals" in Palestine. Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones denied the Government postponed the execution of Dov Bela Gruner, convicted terrorist, because two British subjects were held as hostages in Palestine.

Questioned sharply by Churchill and by Conservative Oliver Stanley—who said "the biblical land of milk and honey will become a bloody hell" if peace is not established—the Colonial Secretary said the postponement was for other reasons.

"There was a riot in the prison virtually the whole of that day," Creech Jones said. "Jews and Arabs provoked one another. Prisoners got out of hand. It was impossible for his (Gruner's) legal representative to gain access to the prisoner."

1922 Mandate

Churchill referred to talks in progress here aimed at reconciling Jewish and Arab claims in Palestine, and said:

"When the present conference is over, unless the United States comes in with us on a 50-50 basis to shoulder an agreed policy, then we should lay our mandate at the feet of the United Nations."

Britain, which conquered Palestine from the Turks in the first World War, administers it under a 1922 mandate from the League of Nations, held by some to have expired. Churchill made a similar proposal last fall, but the Labor party government has shown no disposition to leave Palestine.

As the debate raged in the Commons, Jewish sources in London expressed "shock" at the Government's plan to evacuate women and children from Palestine. Arabs here for conferences welcomed the step.

"The announcement has taken us by surprise and is a great shock to us," said Moshe Shertok, head of the Jewish Agency's political department. Agency representatives have been holding unofficial talks with Government officials outside the formal Anglo-Arab talks.

The Arab delegation spokesman, Dr. Fadil Jamali, Iraq Foreign Minister, said: "We certainly hope that strong measures will now be taken to suppress terrorism of any kind in our country and that a peaceful solution will be evolved under peaceful conditions."

Deplores Violence

Churchill asked that the Government make every effort to avoid "squalid warfare with terrorists" in Palestine, with the United States and the rest of the world looking on. But he urged against bowing to intimidation by threats from the Palestine underground, declaring:

"If you are brought into a quarrel, pugnacity and will power cannot be dispensed with. It is a terrible thing to be drawn into a quarrel and to be cowed out of doing your duty.

"Good gracious me! How should we have got through our late struggle if we had allowed our will power to be influenced in this way?

"What would have been said when the Germans were bombing London if we had sent a message to say 'if only you will leave off, we will guarantee not to touch Berlin.'

"That is the road of abject defeat. I hate this quarrel with the Jews—but when you are engaged in the matter, at least bear yourselves like men."

Stanley Opens Attack

Stanley opened the Conservative attack.

"It must be the urgent task of the Government to re-establish our authority in Palestine as an essential preliminary to any final settlement," Stanley said.

Stanley opened a general House debate on the whole question of Palestine violence, which was climaxed this week by the kidnapping of two prominent Britons and the still impending threat of martial law.

Sources close to the Government said the Palestine evacuation order was a prelude to an all-out drive to stamp out Holy Land disorders. News of the order was welcomed by Arab delegates to the London Conference on Palestine.

Pressure on the Government to break the Arab-Jewish deadlock by imposing a solution even at the risk of widespread disorders was growing, with some of the Labor Government's stanchest supporters leading the outcry.

Churchill called for the debate on the new violence in Palestine and the Government agreed after opposition leaders declared that "firmer measures" by the Palestine Government would have checked the lawlessness that culminated in the kidnapping of two Britons.

LEAVE PALESTINE, BRITONS ARE TOLD (N)

Women And Children Ordered Evacuated By Tuesday

C. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Palestine Government ordered today the compulsory evacuation of all British women and children in the Holy Land to Great Britain and the removal of all Government officials into security camps in a move presaging drastic military action to stamp out Palestine terrorism.

The first reaction from some British civilians affected by the evacuation order was blunt refusal. Many of the women, only recently reunited with their husbands, said they would not heed the order to return to Great Britain to face housing problems and food shortages.

It was rumored without confirmation in Jerusalem that the next step in the security program after the evacuation will be the declaration of statutory martial law. It was said the plan for martial law was drafted during Field Marshal Lord Montgomery's recent visit to Palestine.

Gruner Execution Forecast

Another unconfirmed report set in circulation by the evacuation order was that Dov Bela Gruner, sentenced to hang for participation in an attack on a police station, would be executed Tuesday and that acts of violent retribution probably would follow the hanging.

Gruner was to have been executed last Tuesday, but the hanging was stayed after two British civilians were kidnapped last Sunday and Monday by members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground movement to which Gruner was attached. The civilians, both former officers, were released after Gruner was reprieved.

The evacuation order gave the High Commissioner authority also to remove "nonessential personnel not being Palestinian citizens," a phrase which might apply to Americans.

Lowell C. Pinkerton, United States consul general, recommended to the State Department that "all assistance" be given to American citizens who may wish to leave. He was advised by the High Commissioner, however, that no Americans were likely to be endangered.

Citizens of the British dominions as well as Britons came under the order.

Affects Up To 2,000

The Palestine government said that the exodus, affecting up to 2,000 women and children in families of government officials and business men, must be accomplished by Tuesday.

"Certain other civilians" were included in the evacuation order and British business men in a hastily called session drafted the "strongest protest" to the Board of Trade in London against possible evacuation of civilian business men.

The families will be concentrated in the Sarafand Army Camp on the coastal plain Tuesday morning and will be sent to the United Kingdom from Haifa. Air transport will be arranged for invalids.

News Correspondents Warned

Pinkerton, who conferred with the High Commissioner, Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, this afternoon, said United States Consulate families probably would remain. He said the High Commissioner had advised him that other Americans were unlikely to be in danger since terrorist attacks thus far have been directed against the British.

The Government summoned two dozen British news correspondents and advised them to "leave Palestine or stay at your own risk." A Government spokesman said the correspondents were not regarded as essential civilians.

No mention was made of the military in the order, but families living in private flats were ordered into compounds by 5 P.M. All Government officials remaining in Palestine will be placed either in compounds or military camps where a constant guard can be maintained.

Five hundred army families were directed to move from private quarters to married-family quarters in army camps.

'Only One Suitcase

Departing civilians will be permitted to take with them only one large suitcase and contents not to exceed 60 pounds and $80 in cash.

The order provides that if any person urged to leave Palestine for security reasons refuses to do so "he shall be guilty of an offense against such regulations, and any police officer or members of his Majesty's forces may take any action in relation to such persons which may be appropriate to effect the purpose contemplated by such directions."

Step Taken To Allow Government To Insure Peace (D)

C. DAVIDSON 1947

Jerusalem, Jan. 31 (AP) — The Palestine Government today ordered the compulsory evacuation of British women and children from the Holy Land to clear the stage for new action against terrorism.

The families of Government officials and business men will be evacuated by next Tuesday and returned to Britain. Families of army officers were ordered into such secured areas as the Allenby barracks by 5 P.M. today. The Government estimated that up to 2,000 women and children would be affected. No estimate was given of the number of "unessential" civilian men who also may be evacuated.

D.C. Asked For Orders

United States consular officials telegraphed Washington for orders on what instructions to give Americans in Palestine.

A Government spokesman said the evacuation results from "recent terroristic acts," including the kidnapping of British civilians. It will "allow the Government and the military to carry out the task of maintaining peace," he added.

"Certain persons," such as correspondents, will have the option of remaining, but the Government served notice it would not be responsible for their safety. British correspondents were told their presence was not considered essential.

Based On 1945 Regulations

"Appropriate" action will be taken against any persons refusing orders to leave. The order was based on 1945 defense emergency regulations permitting the evacuation of "nonessential personnel, not being Palestine citizens" or "any persons or class of persons other than persons so evacuated."

The order was signed by H. L. G. Gurney, chief secretary of the Palestine Government.

Ironically, it was the earlier deportation of thousands of Jews which led indirectly and in part to evacuation of the British families. Thousands of Jews who reached Palestine waters without immigration certificates have been deported to Cyprus, and Jewish underground organizations have struck back in protest, leading to widespread disturbances.

Zionist, Arab Aims

Zionist organizations seek to establish in Palestine a national home for the Jews. The British Government, which rules the Holy Land under a League of Nations mandate, has been conferring in London with Jewish and Arab leaders. The Arabs oppose extension of Jewish immigration and the Arab League seeks to establish Palestine as an independent, Arab-dominated state.

The order did not mention any anticipation of a London conference decision on the future of Palestine, but it gave rise to speculation that the British military was planning much more stringent measures to stamp out underground activities.

The spokesman said "there is a hint in this announcement of its connection with the political state of affairs."

In addition to the civilians, about 150 army families have been living outside barracks. Hundreds of others live in barracks. Officers of the 3d Infantry Division, now believed moving from Egypt to Palestine, were told to leave their families behind.

Potential Violence Factor

Some sources speculated that the British expected widespread violence if Dov Bela Gruner, condemned for participating in a raid on a police station, was executed. Gruner, a member of the underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, was expected to apply for the right to appeal his death sentence to the British Privy Council, but thus far the application has not been sent.

Two prominent Britons, Judge Ralph Windham and H. A. I. Collins, were kidnapped early this week and apparently were held by Irgun as hostages for Gruner. Both were released later in the week.

Belgium Suggests Occupation Of Germany For 25-40 Years (N)

A. STEINHOFF

London, Jan. 31 (AP)—Military occupation of Germany for 25 to 40 years was suggested to the Deputy Foreign Ministers Council today by Belgium, doormat of German invasion armies in two world wars, American informants reported.

Baron Herve de Gruben, who presented Belgium's recommendations, said complete military occupation might not be necessary for such a long period, but that strategic areas and zones where war industries might spring up should be controlled for that period at least.

A tapering-off process in military occupation elsewhere might provide a transition period for Germans to accommodate themselves to a world of peace, he suggested.

Harmony For A Change

Other Belgian suggestions included a Federal political system in Germany with unification of economic enterprises, a special Allied control commission for the Ruhr and Rhineland after the end of military occupation, and political supervision of western Germany from Holland to Switzerland to a depth [illegible] miles east of the Rhine by an international body for an indefinite time. This body, he said, should be composed of France, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Belgium and Britain.

Baron de Gruben's views were given in response to a question from Feodor Gousev, the Soviet deputy, who said the opinion from a country occupied twice within memory should be of particular value.

The deputies proceeded harmoniously for a change today.

U.S. And Russia Closer

American and Soviet deputies were disclosed to be in a wide area of agreement on small power participation in the German peace making, and Yugoslavia did not renew her effort, which produced fireworks yesterday, to exclude Hans Piesch, an Austrian delegate.

Robert Murphy, the United States deputy for Germany, appeared to have brought the United States and Russia closer together on one of the conference's most controversial issues when he announced he wanted "constant consultation by the smaller nations" with all the deputies' committees.

This appeared to be close to a position to which Gousev finally has retreated by saying he wanted the committees to "take the testimony" of the smaller nations.

Protests Are Not Renewed

This access to committee was far from what Brazil and Britain's dominions, Australia, Canada and South Africa, have been fighting for, however. So far they have been restricted to a bare presentation of views, with the United States, France and Britain sympathetic to their fuller participation, and Russia objecting.

American sources said Yugoslavia did not renew her protests that Piesch, governor of the Austrian province of Carinthia, was "unfit" to appear before the deputies when they sat down at the conference table today with Piesch in his seat.

The Russian deputy who yesterday supported Yugoslavia in a spirited exchange appeared satisfied with a decision to ask the Allied Control Council at Vienna to report by February 15 on whether Piesch had Nazi connections.

Austrians Questioned Closely

It appeared that presentation of the Austrian case will be concluded before that date, and that the Piesch case will be a dead issue by then.

Gousev questioned the Austrians closely as to their attitude toward German assets in the eastern zone of Austria which the Russians say were allotted to the Soviet by the Potsdam declaration. Britain and the United States have declared the Russians were not entitled to these assets as reparations if they were formerly Austrian property.

Dr. Karl Gruber, Austrian Foreign Minister, replied to Gousev that Austria was handicapped by having no clear definition of what constitutes German property, either from the Potsdam document or the Vienna control council.

He said 70,000 Austrians were thrown into concentration camps by the Nazis and that no completely Austrian division served in the war. Although there were some Austrian individuals who served voluntarily, he said, the great majority served unwillingly.

Some U.S.-Russ Accord Seen (D)

JACK SMITH

London, Jan. 31 (AP)—A certain area of agreement between Soviet and American diplomats on the issue of small-power participation in framing the German peace treaty was indicated today.

Robert Murphy, of the United States, asked at the four-power Deputy Foreign Ministers Conference how much he believed lesser powers should take part in writing the peace, said he wanted "constant consultation by the smaller nations" with all the deputies' committees.

This suggested that Murphy did not favor full participation by all belligerents at all stages such as the smaller nations, led by Britain's dominions, have demanded.

Russian Position

Soviet Deputy Feodor T. Gousev, who had opposed the demand from the start, said he wanted the committees to "take the testimony" of smaller nations.

Diplomatic circles speculated that Britain and France, too, might tacitly approve the Russian stand.

The development came as the State Department in Washington, in consultation with the American delegation here, drafted a formal proposal on treaty-making procedure.

Disagreement persisted over the right of one Austrian delegate to present his views before the Deputies' Austrian section, but another —Foreign Minister Karl Gruber— appeared before that section again today.

30-24-7645

Forced To Fight

British sources said that Gruber, questioned by Gousev about "Austria's responsibility" for fighting alongside Germany, replied: "Austria was forcibly annexed and it was Austrian citizens, not an Austrian Government, who took part in the war and most of these were forced to do so. Most Austrians were opposed to Hitler." Gruber added, "and more than 70,000 were sent to concentration camps."

The Moscow radio, meanwhile, stepped up its propaganda against Western proposals for reorganization of Germany into a federation of small states.

In the sharpest of a series of commentaries this week on the London deputies' sessions, the Soviet radio pushed a Russian plan for "economic and political unity" of Germany and charged that the United States and Britain were seeking "permanent Anglo-American guidance in German political life."

The question of Germany's future form of government has not yet been raised formally in the session, but the Moscow radio for several days past has been stressing Polish, Czech and Yugoslav statements to negotiators favoring a unified Germany.

ROYAL FAMILY BADE FAREWELL

To Leave Britain on Warship for Africa Tomorrow.

R. LAWSTROM

London, Jan. 31 (A. P.)—England bade farewell for three-and-a-half months today to the royal family, as they made final preparations to board the battleship Vanguard for a sixteen-day voyage to South Africa.

Traveling by special train to Portsmouth, King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose were to embark late this afternoon amidst a ceremonial display by the R. A. F., Royal Navy and picked military units.

The Vanguard, the newest and largest of Britain's battle fleet, is scheduled to leave Portsmouth before dawn tomorrow, escorted by two cruisers, one destroyer and an aircraft carrier.

Because of the cold wave, the King and Queen canceled their plans for a state drive from Buckingham Palace to Waterloo Station, thereby disappointing many pomp-loving Londoners and provincial visitors who, despite the bitter temperatures, expected to show up early to be sure of good spots along the official route.

Tribute by Masefield.

John Masefield, the 72-year-old poet laureate, today contributed six lines of verse as his tribute to the King, upon the sailing of the royal family.

Published in the London Times and described by Masefield as "nothing pretentious but an expression of our feelings at a moment when everybody is wishing the royal family especially good fortune," the poem follows:

Most gracious sovereign, leaving England's shore
To bind your peoples by a link the more,
Deign to accept, from one, the hopes of all,
That at your going happy fortunes fall,
That on your journey blessed stars may burn,
And fair winds company your wished return.

It is one of the few such ceremonial inspirations of the poet laureate since the coronation of the King and Queen in 1937.

BUTCHER'S SON SUCCEEDS DUKE

Ex-Boilermaker Named Australian Governor General

London, Jan. 31 (AP)—William J. McKell, son of a butcher and a former boilermaker, tonight was appointed Governor-General of Australia.

Despite protests from some quarters in Australia against the appointment of an active political figure, King George VI approved the appointment.

McKell is Labor Prime Minister of New South Wales. He succeeds the King's brother, the Duke of Gloucester, as the King's representative in Australia.

Recommended Appointment

The appointment was made on recommendation of the Commonwealth Government of Australia.

McKell was born at Pambula, New South Wales, in 1891. He left school at 13 and was apprenticed to a boilermaker. When elected to the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales in 1917 he was its youngest member. He became Premier and Colonial Treasurer in 1941 and has held the dual office since.

French Resistance Leader Acquitted Again

Paris, Jan. 31 (AP)—René Hardy, a French resistance leader twice charged with being a tool of the Germans during the occupation, was acquitted b a high court jury on January 24. He had been acquitted previously of similar charges before a purge court in Algiers.

Hardy had been suspected by some resistance members because a group of their leaders was rounded up by the Gestapo near Lyon in June, 1942, and he managed to escape under what his accusers said were mysterious circumstances.

CLAY SHIFTS OFFICERS

Berlin, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Deputy Military Governor for the United States Occupation Zone of Germany, ordered twelve transfers of military government personnel today, but a spokesman for Clay denied the order was a shake-up.

The order followed persistent rumors that a shake-up was impending among officers who had become involved in Bavarian politics in Munich. Most of the changes involved affected intelligence, legal and information control divisions of the Bavarian military government.

Henry Parkman, chief of the Military Government's Administration Division, said the order was not "a shake-up due to any specific things that happened in Bavaria," but was issued by Clay to "obtain rotation and keep the military government from getting in a rut." Officers withdrawn from Munich were switched with officers from Stuttgart in Wuerttemberg-Baden, or from Wiesbaden in Greater Hesse.

ARMY SHIFTS IN GERMANY

U. S. to Drop Third and Base Unit as Major Commands

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Jan. 31 (AP)—The gradually dwindling United States Army in Germany announced today "major changes in the organizational command" that will eliminate the Third United States Army and the Continental base section as major commands and place in their stead four military districts.

The first district will comprise Wuerttemberg-Baden, the second, Greater Hesse, the third, Bavaria, and the fouth, the Bremen enclave.

A headquarters announcement said the changes were "designed to obviate continuous changes in commands, which would otherwise occur as United States occupational objectives are met and theatre strength declines."

Headquarters announced that the Western Base Section in France will be deactivated by April 1 and that other units still in France will assume the responsibilities formerly held by that organization.

Berlin, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Wilhelm Pieck, Communist chairman of the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party, suggested today that a conference of political parties and trade unions in Germany should be held to plan the establishment of a German central Government which could sign the peace treaty. Pieck insisted, however, that the unification of Germany was a prerequisite to the establishment of a national Government.

WORK STOPPAGES SPREAD

BERLIN, Jan. 31—(AP) Work stoppages spread through the Ruhr coal fields today, despite Allied appeals for increased production, as German miners protested the continued shortage of bread. Spokesmen for the miners said they were prepared to go to extremes in demands for a remedy.

Two Aides Of Hitler (a) Sentenced

Munich, Germany, Jan. 31 (AP)—German de-Nazification courts today sentenced Hans Fritzsche, former Nazi broadcaster, and Heinrich Hoffman, personal photographer to Adolf Hitler, to long terms at hard labor for aiding the Hitler regime.

Fritzsche, aide to Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, was acquitted last November by the four-power International Military Tribunal, which tried top-ranking Nazis. The German court in Nuernberg, however, sentenced him to nine years.

Loss Of Fortune

Hoffman was sentenced to ten years and the loss of a personal fortune of about $800,000, for being Hitler's personal cameraman for nearly 25 years. The prosecution said Hoffman was to pictures what "Goebbels and Hans Fritzsche were by word of mouth"—top propagandists for the Nazi party. Hoffman contended he was a photographer only to make money and that his prints extoling high Nazis were not propagandistic.

The prosecution produced a copy of Hitler's personal newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, which listed Hoffman as part of the Propaganda Ministry.

Enough For Family

Fritzsche was convicted of being "a major offender" under deNazification laws. The five-man court ordered him deprived of all his property, but left enough for his wife and daughter to live on. He pleaded that he was a tool of higher Nazis and argued that he believed in what he said or wrote.

Franz von Papen, also acquitted at Nuernberg, is facing a similar deNazification court.

Slayer of U. S. Flyer To Hang in Reich

Dachau, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Alwin Reinke, a German civilian, was sentenced to hang by an American war crimes court today for shooting an American flyer in the back after the flyer parachuted to earth during a 1944 air raid on Kiel.

'Amnesia Hoax' Term Cut In Half

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 31 (AP). The 40-year prison sentence given Private Gene F. Jackson, of French Lick, Ind., described by the Army as perpetrator of the "biggest amnesia hoax" of World War II, was reduced to twenty years today.

Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, 3d Army commander, in reviewing the case, halved the term. Jackson must forfeit all pay and allowances and will be dishonorably discharged under the finding.

Jackson disappeared from his unit in France September 27, 1944, and was declared "administratively dead." Found in the French zone of Germany last July, he said he had been an amnesia victim. The court held him to be mentally competent.

Rabbi Bernstein placed no credence in rumors that Germany might see outbreaks similar to those in Palestine or that battles between Jews and occupation troops were imminent, but added in an interview:

"One cannot predict how long these people can remain normal under abnormal circumstances. They have already suffered more than enough. Their quick resettlement in Palestine, the United States and other countries is the need of the hour."

D. P.'s Outlook Described.

Describing the outlook of the D. P.'s, he said: "There is increasing restlessness and frustration as the weary months drag on without any solution of their main problem, which is resettlement. But they have not cracked under the strain. In fact, more of them are working than ever before, and in every camp there are more workers than there is work available. Although there have been some incidents between D. P.'s and military personnel, they have been few in number."

He attributed the incidents to language difficulties, to youthfulness of American troops and, on the part of the D. P.'s, a misunderstanding of the intentions of men in uniform.

He has written to the Major-General, Ernest N. Harmon, commander of the Third Army and the United States constabulary, asking that soldiers be given special orientation on D. P. problems. Simultaneously, Jewish agencies are undertaking to give Jewish D. P.'s orientation on "the mission of the United States military in Germany."

Nevertheless, Rabbi Bernstein declared: "In my judgment, military policies in relation to the displaced persons are as good as can be expected under the circumstances."

He said that Jews represent about one-quarter of the displaced persons in Germany and Austria.

76 Dropped in German School

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 31 (AP)—Erlangen University, where the Rev. Martin Niemoeller was booed by students after the war, was ordered today to dismiss five professors and seventy-one employes for having Nazi tendencies. The United States Military Government for Bavaria made the announcement after an inquiry of some months.

Rising Tenseness of D.P.'s Told

But Aid to McNarney Sees No Big Outbreaks by 200,000 Jews in Reich and Austria.

Frankfurt, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—A sense of restlessness and frustration is growing among the more than 200,000 Jewish displaced persons in Germany and Austria, Rabbi Philip H. Bernstein said today. He is adviser on Jewish affairs to Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, retiring commander of United States forces in Europe.

ALLIES ABOLISH BOARD IN ITALY

Need for Control Commission 'No Longer Exists,' Supreme Head Says.

ROME, Jan. 31—(AP) The Allies tonight abolished, effective at midnight, the Allied Control commission set up shortly before the Italian armistice to advise and supervise the Italian government.

Gen. Sir William Morgan, supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, announced the commission—headed for the past year by Rear Adm. Ellery W. Stone of the U. S. Navy—was being eliminated because the need for it "no longer exists."

Morgan said abolition of the commission was part of the general reduction of military establishments in Italy, preparatory to the signing of the Italian peace treaty in Paris Feb. 10.

The "residual functions" of the commission will be absorbed by Allied Force Headquarters to which Stone will be attached as chief of the Italian Military affairs section.

A simultaneous announcement said Stone's right-hand men, British Brig. Matthew Carr and U. S. Col. De Walbach Peen, had been appointed chief and deputy chief, respectively, of the liaison and civil affairs branch with offices in Rome.

U.N. Probe In Greece To Be Open To Public

Athens, Jan. 31 (AP)—A principle of open sessions for press coverage was adopted today by the United Nations Security Council Commission investigating conditions along both sides of the northern Greek frontier.

The commission also adopted a system of rotation for its chairmanship under which each chairman will serve for seven days. John Hood, of Australia, took over the chair for the first week.

The Bulgarian liaison staff arrived last night. The remainder of the Yugslav staff was expected today from Salonika. There has been no word on the whereabout of the Albanian delegation.

The representatives of Greece and her three neighbors, whom she charges with fomenting guerrilla warfare near the northern frontier, were scheduled to meet late today with the commission for a preliminary exchange of views on methods of procedure.

Red Cross To Distribute Shoes

Vienna, Jan. 31 (AP)—Headquarters of the United States Army in Austria announced today the American Red Cross would distribute 55,000 pairs of children's shoes.

Criticism (N) Of British

Belgrade, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Yugoslav Government charged today that British military officials permitted Chetniks to beat to death a Yugoslav representative at a displaced-person's camp in Italy Saturday, and demanded the arrest and extradition to Yugoslavia of the perpetrators and the punishment of the British officers responsible.

Visko Glumchich, the Yugoslav official, was fatally beaten and his assistant, Josip Engel, was seriously injured by the Chetniks, who oppose the regime of Marshal Tito, a Yugoslav note declared. The Yugoslavs were attempting to persuade the Chetniks to leave the camp at Naples and return to their own country.

Asks Compensation For Family

The note submitted to the British Foreign Office in London also asked for compensation for Glumchich's family, the placing of all Yugoslav members of "Quisling groups" in prisoner-of-war camps, and establishment of a mixed commission to investigate the killing.

[The British Foreign Office acknowledged receipt of the note, but said no action could be taken until it gets a complete report from British officials in Italy. A Foreign Office spokesman said "sorrow" had been expressed to the Yugoslavs over the death.]

Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, said that the note "expresses the bitterness of the Yugoslav peoples toward Chetnik war criminals who murdered" Glumchich and also against "British military officials who permitted an official of an Allied country to be murdered before their very eyes."

British Major Criticized

The note charged that the Chetniks, armed with iron rods, "bestially attacked Yugoslav officials before the very eyes of the British officers and inflicted such heavy injuries upon them that Glumchich succumbed to wounds in three hours after the attack, while Engel's condition is uncertain."

The note added that the Yugoslav officials, seeing the danger confronting them, appealed to a British major for protection, but that he failed to act, although he had at his disposal a dozen soldiers and military police. The Yugoslav officials had received previous assurance that Chetniks were unarmed, the note said.

Yugoslavs Ask British To Give Up Chetniks (D)

Belgrade, Jan. 31 (AP)—It was officially announced today that Yugoslavia had submitted to Britain a five-point demand for extradition of Chetniks who killed one Yugoslav representative and injured another at a British-controlled displaced-person camp in Italy last Saturday.

Chetniks are Yugoslavs opposed to the regime of Premier Marshall Tito. They formerly were led by Gen. Draja Mihailovic, who was executed by the Tito regime as a war criminal.

Arrests Demanded

The official announcement said the Yugoslav Embassy in London submitted the Yugoslav demand to the British Foreign Office. Arrest of all persons connected with the attack was asked.

The note also demanded punishment of British military officials who witnessed the incident, which occurred at a camp near Naples; compensation to relatives; placing of all Yugoslav members of "quisling groups" in prisoner-of-war camps, and establishing of a mixed commission to investigate the killing.

Yugoslavs Protest To Vatican

Belgrade, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Yugoslav Government addressed two notes to the Vatican secretariat today accusing the Vatican of harboring and aiding the escape to South America of alleged Yugoslav war criminals.

The first note demanded the return of five "notorious Yugoslav war criminals, who, according to information received by the Yugoslav Government from the Foreign Office of Britain, are located on Vatican territory."

The second protested the activities of the Commissione di Assistenza Pontificia, which the Yugoslavs asserted made possible the departure of a number of Yugoslav war criminals to South America with visas and financial aid. The note said some of these fugitives departed from Genoa last December 29 and some from Naples on December 30.

Five Named In First Note

The first note named as the men on Vatican territory Vladimir Velmar Jankovic, Dr. Milorad Nedeljkovic, Milosav Vasiljevic, Marisav Petrovic and Ilija.

"Their guilt," it declared, "already has been ascertained both by competent Yugoslav authorities and by American and British authorities, who were searching for them in Italy in order to hand them over to Yugoslav authorities to be tried. The Yugoslav Government asks the Holy See to issue necessary orders that the aforementioned war criminals might be arrested immediately and handed over to Yugoslav authorities."

After naming several of the more important alleged war criminals who were reported to have departed for South America, the second Yugoslav note said the Government had been informed that "the Holy See's commission, the Commissione di Assistenza Pontificia, has enabled the departure of a large number of these war criminals by providing them with visas and financing their passage."

Documents Called False

"The documents, on the grounds of which these war criminals applied to the commission, were false and issued on the part of the 'St. Gerolano Brotherhood' and the 'Yugoslav Charity Society,' which have no right whatsoever to issue documents to Yugoslav citizens," it continued.

"The Yugoslav Government protests against such activities on the part of this commission and expects that the Holy See will issue the necessary orders to the effect that the commission cease its activities directed against the interests of the Federated Peoples Republic of Yugoslavia and all the United Nations."

U. S. NAVY BUILDING CHINA BASE, SAY REDS

MOSCOW, Jan. 31.—(AP) Pravda's New York correspondent reported today that the U. S. Navy department was building a big naval base in the Chinese port of Tsingtao, which, he said, according to secret agreement between China and the United States, would be turned over to America in the event of war.

"The construction of this base," the writer said, "is only part of the American military program on Chinese territory."

The message said further that the Chinese government was "dissatisfied with the financial terms which were being imposed upon China in building this base, but thus far had not been able to defend its position in negotiations."

Soviet Paper's Report Of Secret Base Denied

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Navy denied today a report in the Soviet newspaper Pravda that the Navy is building a secret base at Tsingtao, China, or that there is a secret agreement for use of the Chinese port in event of war.

Press officers at the Navy Department volunteered the assertion that the Pravda report is "untrue."

Moscow, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Russian newspapers published today dispatches from Washington announcing that the United States is withdrawing from attempts to mediate the dispute between the Chinese Communists and Chungking government. There was no immediate editorial comment.

Moslem League Again Rejects New Delhi Bid

Karachi, India, Jan. 31 (AP)—The All-India Moslem League said tonight it was declining again to join the Constituent Assembly at New Delhi which is drafting a constitution for an independent Indian Government.

The announcement said the Moslems would not join because the predominantly Hindu Congress party had not accepted the full terms of the British Cabinet mission's plan which is to serve as the basis of the new Government.

French Advance in Hanoi

HANOI, Indo-China, Jan. 30 (Delayed) (AP)—Besieged Viet Namese inside Hanoi fell back before advancing French Colonial forces today, setting fires block by block.

On the perimeter of the area held by forces of the Viet Nam Republic, Nationalists launched several sharp attacks last night but were thrown back and the French penetrated another 100 yards.

About 5,000 Chinese civilians still are in the district, concentrated in its center.

Peiping Rail Line Cleared Of Reds

Peiping, Jan. 31 (AP)—Traffic on the Tientsin-Peiping railway, which was disrupted for 24 hours by violent Communist attacks at three of its stations, was resumed today after the nationalist army had driven off the guerrilla forces.

Armored train reinforcements from Tientsin engaged attackers who had assaulted Anting, Weishanchuang and Wanchuang stations, all within 20 miles of Peiping, and ripped up more than 100 yards of track in their first assault on the important line in two months.

Battalion Wiped Out

A battalion of Nationalist defenders at Anting were reported by the newspaper Hsin Min Tao to have been wiped out and the station buildings set fire. The town was later recaptured from the estimated 6,000 Communists who made the assault.

A freight train loaded with Marines and supplies en route from Peiping to Tangku was held up about 20 miles from the fighting but was in no way involved in it.

Traffic on the Peiping-Mukden Railway, which was also halted because of the attacks, has been resumed.

Marine Denies (D) Assaulting Chinese Coed

Peiping, Jan. 31 (AP)—Private Warren T. Pritchard, United States Marine, charged with assaulting a Chinese coed, Shen Chung, told a naval court today: "I did not touch or molest the girl."

Pritchard, who did not take the stand in his defense, read a short statement after both defense and prosecution had rested. A verdict will be given tomorrow.

Shen Chung charged that Corporal William Gaither Pierson, who already has been convicted of raping her, and "another Marine" dragged her into a field and assaulted her.

Chinese Dollar Falls to New Low

Shanghai, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Chinese currency hit a record low of 7,600 Chinese dollars to one United States dollar today. The slump was attributed in part to America's decision to end mediation efforts in China. The price yesterday was 6,800 to one.

JAPS TO DEFY M'ARTHUR BAN (N)

One Union Says It Will Ignore His Bar On Strike

Tokyo, Saturday, Feb. 1 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur forced cancellation today of Japan's great general strike, but one big union declared it would ignore his order and other labor leaders obeyed reluctantly.

Union leaders told their 2,400,000 workers to stay on the job only after MacArthur issued a written directive to "desist" because he could not permit such a weapon to be used in improverished Japan.

The unions had ignored verbal orders from supreme headquarters, and today the all-Japanese Express Company Union, claiming 130,000 members, said it would strike tomorrow, defying the written order as well.

Hauls Most Of Food

The express union hauls in most of Tokyo's food and hence falls squarely within MacArthur's prohibition.

Not a single wildcat strike was reported, all utilities were operating, and streetcars and subways were running in Tokyo. The strike had been set for midnight last night.

Yashiro Ii, chairman of the central strike committee of the powerful Government workers unions, declared in a nation-wide broadcast last night the strike was off on "General MacArthur's orders."

"Although it is extremely regrettable," he said, "we must comply as it is a categorical imperative. We respect Americans and are thankful to them for what they did during the food crisis (last year). We must comply."

New Negotiations Urged

Ii called on the Government to reopen negotiations on wage issues, and in terms reminiscent of those used by Japanese propagandists in explaining defeats during the war, added:

"There is such a thing as 'one step retreat, two steps forward.'"

MacArthur's statement was issued nine hours before the strike was set to begin and was prominently displayed in Tokyo newspapers.

With tension easing, Maj. Gen. Illiam Chase called off an alert which he had ordered on his own initiative yesterday for his 1st Cavalry Division. He had sent out additional security patrols, declaring, "I don't intend to be Pearl Harbored here in Tokyo."

No General Alert

Officers at United States 8th Army headquarters said there had been no general alert, but reported that occupation forces would have been ready to swing into action at a moments notice, if necessary.

Even before the strike was called off, the Conservative Japanese Cabinet, which was a primary target of the unions, was reshuffled with six new members—all Conservatives.

In addition to calling for resignation of the Cabinet, the unions demanded a 200 per cent increase in wages.

The Government, which had offered a 100 per cent increase, agreed to a previous union mediation proposal, but the labor leaders said it was too late.

30. 24 - 7647

Acts With Reluctance

MacArthur said he acted "with the greatest reluctance" and "only to forestall a fatal impact upon an already gravely threatened public welfare."

Such a strike, he said, "might reduce large masses of the Japanese people to the point of actual starvation."

The occupation commander declared the "small minority" involved "might well plunge the great masses into a disaster not unlike that produced in the immediate past by the minority which led Japan into the destruction of war."

He concluded, "I do not intend otherwise to restrict the freedom of action heretofore given labor in the achievement of legitimate objectives."

War Of Nerves

The central strike committee mulled this over for five hours and then announced it had decided to call off the walkout and sent such instructions to locals throughout the country.

The action of the union leaders in delaying the cancellation until well after MacArthur personally intervened was viewed here as a war of nerves that was part of the eternal conflict underlying the occupation, in which Leftwingers more and more openly have been challenging the General's authority.

Yashiro Li, chairman of the Council of Government Workers Unions, and Ichizo Suzuki, leader of the Railway Workers union which claims 500,000 members, said it would take at least 30 hours to notify everybody and that some locals probably would go out before they got the word.

Between the time MacArthur acted and the unions bowed, Premier Shigeru Yoshida dropped five of his cabinet ministers and put in six new ones, tightening the Conservatives' grip on the government.

Yoshida himself took over the ministry of agriculture and forestry and retained the foreign ministry and premiership.

Various other cabinet positions were reassigned and two new men were given ministries without portfolio.

The new cabinet was invested by the emperor this afternoon.

Gen. MacArthur, in his first direct personal intervention in Nipponese labor disputes, ordered the leftist labor leaders to cancel their call for a strike tomorrow of all government employees. The walkout, in support of demands for triple current wages and as a protest against continuance of Premier Shigeru Yoshida and his conservative cabinet, would have crippled seriously if not halted transportation, communications, utilities and other services. The government had offered to double wages.

MacArthur said that the strike would have violated his directive against activities detrimental to the occupation.

Two hours later, Emperor Hirohito invested a reorganized cabinet which included six newly appointed conservatives. Yoshida himself added the important agriculture and forestry portfolio to his premiership and the foreign ministry he already held.

A previous Yoshida bid to the third ranking Japanese party, the Social Democrats, to join the leading liberal and progressive (actually conservatives) parties in forming a coalition cabinet failed after the social democrats divided between strong leftist and rightist factions—failed to agree among themselves.

MacArthur killed the strike order with an order of his own: "I will not permit the use of so deadly a social weapon."

Five hours after the order was issued and four hours before the midnight strike deadline which was to have pulled 2,400,000 Government workers off their jobs the Tokyo Central Strike Committee, composed of Left-wing labor leaders, announced that it had "decided to call off the strike."

All Locals Notified

The committee issued instructions to all locals throughout the nation to abandon all strike plans.

Earlier the leaders of the strike, which would have crippled almost the entire Japanese economy, indicated they would ignore the Supreme Commander's order. They said they had not advised their members the walkout was canceled and that probably many would stay off the job after midnight.

Jap Leftists Dealt Twin Blow

MacArthur Bars General Strike and Cabinet Adds Six Conservatives in Reshuffle.

Tokyo, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Japanese leftists, including labor leaders of Japan's 2,400,000 Government employees, suffered a quick double defeat today.

Jap Cabinet Reorganized

Tokyo, Jan. 31 (AP)—A reorganized Cabinet of Conservatives, with six new Ministers included in it, took office today two hours after General MacArthur had issued an order killing the proposed general strike.

In his new Cabinet, Premier Shiberu Yoshida tightened the Conservative hold on the Government, which is plagued with increasing economic problems, and sidestepped a general resignation after two failures to draw Socialists into a coalition cabinet.

Emperor Hirohito invested the new Cabinet in office in a special ceremony at the Imperial Palace at 5 P.M.

Five Dropped

Yoshida dropped five of the former Cabinet members and appointed Conservatives to their places and then named one of his close confidants to a sixth position.

The Premier will take over the important Agriculture and Forestry portfolios in addition to holding the Premiership and the Foreign Ministry.

Kineshichi Masuda, nonpartisan friend of the Premier and former governor of Hokkaido, became Transportation Minister, instead of Eisaku Sato, Transportation Ministry career official, who had been scheduled to take the post.

Admiral Hasegawa Is Cleared

TOKYO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Admiral Kyoshi Hasegawa, former Governor of Formosa and commander of the Japanese Third Fleet, was cleared of suspicion as a war criminal and released from Sugamo prison today.

Prospects For Early Indonesia Peace Fade

Batavia, Java, Jan. 31 (AP)—Prospects for an early return of peace in Indonesia faded today. The Netherlands Commission General and Indonesian Premier Sutan Sjahrir announced separately their readiness to sign the Cheribon agreement immediately, but disagreed on their conditions for signing.

A Dutch communiqué said the Indonesians must first issue a general cease-fire order under the October 14 truce agreement and accept as binding the Commission General's explanation of the agreement to the Dutch Parliament and Netherlands Overseas Minister J. A. Jonkman's explanatory speeches of October 10 and December 19.

Sjahrir referred to his offer of two weeks ago to sign the agreement, which would set up a United States of Indonesia, united with the Netherlands under the Dutch crown, and to accept as binding minutes of the two delegations' joint discussions at Cheribon.

"This offer was not accepted, although it still stands," Sjahrir said. "The Dutch are entitled to say what they want about the agreement, but to demand that we accept as part of the agreement speeches and statements made after the draft was initialed virtually constitutes negotiation of a new agreement."

FIRST JAVA CARGO

Batavia, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Indonesian Premier Sutan Sjahrir said today that he had been advised by cable from New York that the 7,176-ton American freighter Martin Behrman, "with the consent of the United States Department of State," would pick up the first cargo moving directly from the unrecognized Republic of Indonesia to America.

Sjahrir released a cable from the Isbrandtsen Company, Inc., of 26 Broadway, stating that the ship was en route to Cheribon, Java, and that the Flying Cloud, a vessel of 6,214 tons, would follow in mid-March. He said that the first cargo would be 5,000 tons of rubber and 1,300 tons of sugar.

South Pacific Group Stabilized

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 31 (AP)—The South Pacific Regional Conference voted today to establish a $200,000 fund, contributed by all six member nations, to make their organization permanent. The United States is one of the members. The conference also voted to sponsor an annual meeting of natives and missionaries representing all South Pacific territories.

Mrs. Peron's Paper Hails U. S. Envoy

Buenos Aires, Jan. 31 (A. P.)—The newspaper Democracia, owned by Mrs. Eva D. Peron, wife of President Peron, today carried an eight-column front page headline announcing the return from Washington of United States Ambassador George S. Messersmith.

The headline read: "Messersmith Arrives Tomorrow; Peronist People Let's Welcome Him! With Peron at Nornon (airport) at Midnight.

TERMS OF U.S. GIVEN RUSSIA (N)

Concerns World-Wide Arms Reduction Program Plans

M. HARRELSON

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—The United States was reported tonight to have outlined to Soviet Russia the terms on which it would agree to the Soviet proposal for immediate creation of an eleven-nation commission to draft plans for a world-wide arms reduction program.

Informed quarters said Warren R. Austin, American delegate to the United Nations Security Council, in an informal conversation with Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, had offered to accept the Soviet proposal on these conditions:

1. That the Security Council agree in advance to "consider" at its next meeting the Atomic Energy Commission's report for an international atomic control plan.

Austin Is Optimistic

2. That the Securtiy Council stipulate that the General Arms Reduction Commission would in no way overlap or interfere with the future work of the Atomic Commission.

3. That the Security Council, meeting as a committee of the whole, work out a resolution laying down in detail the scope of the work to be assigned to the new commission.

Informed quarters said Austin was optimistic that a formula would be found before the Security Council's next meeting, probably Tuesday.

Work on the general arms reduction question and the atomic control plan has been held up by differences between the United States and Russia over the procedure to be followed. The United States has insisted that atomic control be given priority, while Russia has demanded that the Security Council take up immediately the broader question of regulating all weapons.

Situation Complicated

The situation was complicated further today when one delegate, who declined use of his name, said the United Nations must assure the world that it can maintain peace before a single gun is scrapped under the arms reduction program.

Meanwhile, the Security Council today again postponed action on Great Britain's charges that Albania caused the death of 44 British seamen last October by laying mines in the Corfu channel. The case was postponed to give Albania more time to get a representative to New York to present Albania's side of the dispute.

Peace Security Held Basic To Arms Plan (D)

1947

E. HAUCK

Lake Success, N.Y., Jan. 31 (AP). The United Nations must assure the world that it can maintain peace before a single gun is scrapped under a proposed 55-nation arms-reduction program, a Security Council delegate said today.

This delegate said the first step toward such security would have to be the setting up of an international military force by the United Nations.

He added that he would demand that the Council ask a report from the military staff committee, which has been working on the global force for nearly a year without apparent progress.

Complaint On Albania

This development came as the Security Council was called into session to consider taking up Great Britain's mine-laying complaint against Albania. Forty-four sailors were killed last October 22 when two British destroyers struck mines off the Albanian coast.

The case has been pending more than a week awaiting the arrival of an Albanian representative, but the United Nations said it still had no word that an envoy had actually left Albania for New York.

Dissatisfaction over the progress of the military committee has been apparent in United Nations circles for some time, but the demand for a report would be the first evidence of direct pressure on the group.

The military committee includes representatives of Russia, the United States, Great Britain, France and China. It began sessions last March and in its latest communiqué disclosed that it was still studying the "principles" surrounding the establishment of global forces.

No Discussion Of Strength

It was learned that the committee has not at any time approached the stage of discussing the actual strength of the forces, the contributions of any one country, or who would command the units.

Military men have privately expressed the opinion that the generals and admirals could reach a speedy decision under ordinary circumstances but that they were stymied by political considerations. Some claim no progress can be made until such political barriers are removed.

Full-scale debate on the whole arms-slashing proposal will be touched off next week when American Delegate Warren R. Austin, recently returned from Washington conferences, offers the United States views to the Council.

BRIDGES ASKS FIRM ATTITUDE BY MARSHALL

New Hampshire Senator Assails 'Appeasing' Of Moscow

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R., N.H.) today bitterly assailed what he called United States "appeasement" of Russia and urged Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, to take a firm stand at the Moscow Foreign Ministers Conference in March.

"For our gifts of appeasement we have been paid off in contempt, broken pledges, calculated delay and confusion—all of this against a backdrop of world-wide anti-American propaganda," he said in a statement.

The New Hampshire lawmaker, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he could not understand the "joy" in this country because "Messrs. Stalin, Molotov and Vishinsky have finally deigned to smile upon us: because after gumming up the peace for a year and a half, after looting many areas of friend and foe alike, the Kremlin has generously consented to negotiate treaties."

"Unworthy Behavior"

American "gratefulness" for signs of Soviet co-operation, he continued, "is behavior unworthy of a fourth-rate nation under the shadow of Soviet aggression, let alone the world's greatest representative Government."

Bridges charged that Russia's aim today is to turn Germany into a "satellite and ally," and declared:

"If Moscow succeeds in the great design of merging Russian manpower and German technical discipline, the last chance of saving democratic civilization will be lost."

Seen As First Test

"That is why the scheduled big-power conference in Moscow (starting March 10) is so terribly important. It is there that our new Secretary of State will have his first and most decisive test."

Bridges's criticism followed a Senate speech earlier this week by Senator McMahon (D., Conn.), declaring "it seems obvious" that Russia is building an atomic plant in the Ural Mountains and that the United States "may be in mortal danger."

Bridges lashed out sharply at both America's wartime diplomatic dealings with Russia and at Moscow's postwar activities.

"Whatever accomplishments we can claim in recent months came after we stiffened our policy with an injection of the iron of self-respect," he said.

Patience And Firmness

"Let us not forget that our representatives traveled a hard road, a humiliating road, before they reached at long last a policy of so-called 'patience and firmness.'

"There is still a lot more patience than firmness in the amalgam," he added.

Reverting to the Soviets, Bridges said:

"The plain truth is that for all their supposed softening of attitude, the Russian rulers have given up nothing essential. They hold what they've grabbed and are proceeding at double speed to consolidate the empire they've carved for themselves."

"U.S. Counts On Marshall"

Bridges said Americans "count on Secretary Marshall to resist the efforts of a noisy minority, typified by Henry Wallace and his fellow-traveling entourage, to steer American foreign policy back into the blind alley from which it has only recently emerged."

Wallace was fired from his Cabinet post as Secretary of Commerce last fall after publicly criticizing what he termed Secretary of State Byrnes's "get tough with Russia" policy.

Bridges said "everyone knows" that Byrnes, in taking over the State Department, "inherited a sorry mess of appeasement and political muddling from the war years" and "was obliged to make the most of shabby and shameful bargains at the expense of other people's freedom."

U.S. Lacking Oil For Major War, 1947 Report Says

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Senate Oil Investigating Committee declared today this country couldn't fight another major war if it had to rely on its own oil alone.

It urged "bold steps" to get synthetic fuel production ready.

The committee emphasized in its final report, however, that source materials for synthetic fuels appear to be "capable of meeting all domestic petroleum requirements for many centuries," hence:

"It is folly to be apprehensive that this nation is facing a shortage of liquid fuel.

But the eleven-member committee—created two years ago to recommend a national petroleum policy—said the military aspect is more serious.

Development Urged

It asserted that in the event of an invasion with all oil imports cut off, known United States reserves could not supply the requirments of a large-scale campaign.

Despite the atomic bomb, it added, oil remains the key to military victory and "no nation which lacks a sure supply of liquid fuel can hope to maintain a position of leadership."

Hence the answer, the committee declared, "is to be found in synthetic production."

Two Alternatives

The group, headed by Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), said two alternatives face the nation: It either can wait and hope for oil to be discovered or it can "take steps to guarantee a domestic supply adequate for all eventualities" by:

1. Promoting the domestic hunt for oil, and

2. Continuing synthetic fuels research.

"It behooves the nation as soon as possible to take bold steps in the direction of synthetic production so that such production can become readily geared into the oil economy," the committee asserted.

It listed natural gas, oil shale, coal and lignites as sources and said synthetic gasoline can be produced from natural gas at about the same cost as from crude oil. The others run about eight cents a gallon higher.

Declaring that although demand is greater than ever, the committee said the United States "is no longer the world's greatest reservoir of oil" and discoveries of new fields have been decreasing in size and importance for the past ten years.

Besides O'Mahoney, members of the special committee include Senators Connally (Texas), Edwin C. Johnson (Col.), Overton (La.), Lucas (Ill.) and Maybank (S.C.), Democrats, and Vandenberg (Mich.), Moore (Okla.), Brewster (Maine) and Gurney (S.D.), Republicans. Robert M. La Follette (Prog., Wis.) was a member, but his senatorial term ended with the last Congress.

Five-Point Program

The committee recommended that Congress adopt this five-point program:

1. Laws stimulating exploration development at home. Encouragement of conservation. Promotion of interstate oil compacts but guarding against misuse of conservation laws to restrain unduly any operator. Administering public lands, not primarily as a revenue source, but to stimulate private initiative to develop oil.

2. Use of Government facilities to promote research in manufacture of synthetic liquid fuels, but without permitting Government competition with private industry. Legislation to encourage "secondary recovery" of oil from old fields.

3. Encouraging free competitive enterprise by tax reforms to "restore the incentives for the risk of private capital in new ventures." Enforcement of anti-trust laws. Adherence to the law barring shipments of oil produced in violation of state law. Continuing income-tax provisions permitting deductions for depletion and intangible drilling costs.

4. Require full disclosure to the Government of the principal terms, conditions and obligations by which American companies undertake to carry on the petroleum industry abroad."

5. A foreign policy to promote full development of oil resources of the whole world for all people, securing adequate supplies for all people, and discouraging restrictions preventing full opportunity for all people to benefit.

International Problems

Turning to international problems in its report, the committee said:

"The facts are that a torrent of foreign oil could be released on our shores and that imports are already rising rapidly and net exports declining."

An inundation of low-cost foreign oil would injure recovery of domestic oil from old wells and "stifle many an independent enterprise," the report said.

It said, too, that the danger of a world surplus flowing into the United States and destroying the market of the independent operator "could be readily averted by an increased industrialization in foreign countries."

TRUMAN'S FIGURE ON REVENUE UPPED BY $200,000,000

Experts Estimate Next Year's Treasury Income at $37,928,000,000.

G.O.P. HOPES BRIGHTER

Tax Slash Supporters Given Boost; Lucas Warns Against Cut.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP) Republican tax-slashing plans got a boost today from an estimate by congressional tax experts that revenues next year will reach $37,928,000,000—$200,000,000 above President Truman's figures.

Yet, all was confusion as to how the easing of the tax load may be shared as between the little and big man.

Sees Security Menaced

Meanwhile, Senator Lucas (D-Ill) took to the radio with a charge that Republicans, in their determination to cut taxes 20 per cent, are threatening the nation's military security and also "the financial security of every American" who has invested in government bonds.

The Republicans, he said, have "the atmosphere befogged" and are "misleading our people in the hope of gaining some personal or party advantage.' "

These developments came close on the heels of yesterday's statement by Speaker Martin (R-Mass) disowning a previous Republican statement calling for an "across the board" slash in income taxes which would give large and small income persons the same 20 per cent reduction.

The retreat from the "across the board" approach came after Representative Engel (R-Mich), leading a revolt in Republican ranks, charged in the house that this would mean a two cents a week tax reduction for the $12 a week man and $50,000 a year for the $300,000 man.

If the Republican congress passes the bill by Representative Knutson (R-Minn) embodying the 20 per cent across the board proposal, Engel said, it might "spell defeat" for the G.O.P. in 1948.

Dead as Mummy

But Engel commented today "that bill is as dead as an Egyptian mummy."

Martin said the party has no commitment on an "across the board" cut but stands for a 20 per cent overall slash. A statement issued by the House Republican Steering committee shortly after the November G.O.P. election victory said the committee was "a unit in the view that there can be a 20 per cent reduction across the board in personal income taxes."

There was no clear indication today whether party leaders would call directly for revision of the Knutson bill, to give more tax relief to persons with small incomes.

Colin F. Stam, chief of the staff of tax experts employed by congress, told the Senate-House Budget committee today that revenues in the fiscal year beginning July 1 are likely to reach $37,928,000,000.

Budget Balancing Easer

Representative Taber (R-NY), chairman of the Budget group through which congress will review the President's $37,500,000,000 budget and set its own ceiling on spending, told reporters that the extra $200,000,000 estimated by Stam would make easier the Republican program of balancing the budget reducing the national debt and cutting taxes.

Also, he said this program would be facilitated further by legislation freezing excise levies—on liquor, furs, jewelry and other so-called luxuries—at their war time levels and maintaining the increased postal rates. This would bring around $1,500,000,000 into the treasury, above the estimates by the President and Stam.

Moreover, Taber declared "I still stand on" prior estimates that Mr. Truman's budget figure can be cut about $5,000,000,000—as a further aid to debt payment and budget balancing.

After today's meeting of the budget committee, Representative Cannon (D-Mo) said "it is just going around in circles, doing nothing" toward arriving at a spending ceiling. Representative Doughton (D-NC) said "they haven't done anything but talk, and there's a confusion of figures."

Committee Backs President In Hope Prices Will Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP) The joint "congressional committee on the economic report" joined President Truman today in expressing hope that business will cut prices and labor will not seek too-high pay raises.

This committee, established under the Employment Act of 1946, withheld specific legislative recommendations, however, in its first annual report to Congress.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) explained to the Senate that it was not possible to reorganize the committee (following five election casualties) until this month, and that the committee's staff has not yet been selected.

Report Is Considered

Nevertheless the committee considered the report of the Council of Economic Advisers to the President, made in December, and the economic report of the President which he sent to Congress Jan. 8. With regard to the President's recommendations, the committee said:

"The committee agrees with the President that removal of war-time controls and the return to a freer economy places on business, farmers, labor, management and consumers the main responsibility for working out price and wage relationships.

"The committee joins in the President's hope that business will reduce prices; that labor will refrain from excessive wage demands, and that both will bend every effort to increase productivity."

The report said the President's short range recommendations could be summarized as follows: Congress should extend rent control, extend the coverage and revise the benefits under social security, extend the coverage and raise the rate of the minimum wage, and enact a long range, comprehensive housing program; that the tax burden should be reduced as soon as possible, but not at this time; and that Congress should deal with the whole field of labor-management relations in which sound collective bargaining is essential.

Highly Controversial

The committee said that most of these matters are "highly controversial" and that all are under consideration by congressional committees.

"A recommendation from this committee at this time, which could only be casual before our studies are made, would not be helpful to the solution of the problems," the report declared. "The committee will proceed to consider these problems with reference to their effect on the maintenance of a stable economy and continuous employment."

The committee of seven senators and seven representatives saw its basic problem as working out "a method of preventing depressions so that substantially full employment may be continuously maintained."

HIRSCH CITES WAR PROFITS

Says 2 Per Cent Would Bring Wealth In Some Cases

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Republican members of the Senate War Investigating Committee heard today from Brig. Gen. Maurice Hirsch that a two per cent profit on one war contract might make one contractor "outrageously rich" while another contractor might make 80 to 90 per cent profit without "criticism from anyone."

Hirsch is the retiring chief of the War Contracts Renegotiation Board, set up to recapture for the Government any profits deemed excessive.

He was a witness at a hearing called by Chairman Brewster (R., Maine), before the four Democratic members of the committee were appointed. Brewster explained that Hirsch is leaving Government service today and departing on a wedding trip.

"Best Estimate" Sought

Brewster and Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) pressed the General for his best estimate at what was the average profit of all war contractors.

"Substantially under ten per cent," was the reply.

"How much under?" Ferguson demanded.

"I could not guess," he said. "I do not think anyone could give you an honest answer."

Crystals Given As Example

Hirsch cited war contracts for crystals used in radios and other communications equipment as an example where two per cent would be too high a profit.

He explained that a crystal contractor could turn over his sales dollar "119 times in a year" so that a two per cent sales profit would be well over 200 per cent for a year.

At the other extreme, the General said, were companies where families had developed a secret process or patent over a period of years or generations. If they turned over these developments for war purposes, the General said, "I doubt that anyone would criticize 80 or 90 per cent (profit)."

Ferguson wanted to know whether contractors were paid for products that "shortened the war efforts" or saved lives.

Example Is Given

Hirsch said that a device known as "the snake" might fit this description. He said it was a mechanical device which could be used in landings on beaches where the enemy had obstacles such as pillboxes.

The General said "the snake" could be moved onto the beach to destroy the obstacles.

"Fortunately we did not have to use it much," he added. "But it was of tremendous value to the war effort."

Hirsch said that the contractor who planned and produced "the snake" would get a larger profit than another contractor who produced the same item from plans furnished by the inventor.

Many Landlords Entitled to Higher Ceilings, OTC Head Believes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP) Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming shouldered full responsibility today for the 10 per cent rent increase order which President Truman personally quashed at the last minute.

Fleming, head of the Office of Temporary Controls, went before the Senate Banking committee to explain the mysterious mixup which has intrigued the capital since the order was almost issued Wednesday.

He said he felt that many landlords were entitled to higher ceilings, and that the easiest way was to grant an across-the-board raise rather than try to make individual changes.

Believed Order Justified

He discussed the rental problem in general with the President, he said, and went away thinking that he was justified in ordering a general increase.

"At the time," he explained, "I did not know the President had three times expressed himself against a general increase."

His disclosure ended a splurge of speculation as to who ordered the ceiling boost. Few guessed Fleming, for he was out of town.

The square-built, beribboned general said he was called to Iowa by the death of his mother but before leaving instructed his deputy, James W. Follin, to "put in a general raise in rent ceilings."

Release Machinery Starts

OPA, now part of Fleming's control office, began grinding out the announcement Wednesday, on the eve of hearings on rent control before the Banking committee headed by Senator Tobey (R-N.H.).

But Mr. Truman stepped in when the order reached the White House late in the day, Fleming testified. The President declared any general increase was "unwarranted" and forbade its issuance, saying the decision should be left to Congress.

Instead, it was decided to grant the individual adjustments wherever necessary, and "as expeditiously as possible," Fleming said.

The Senate committee—which today heard a long list of property owners' spokesmen seek either an increase or an end of rent ceilings—started a quest for the "person in authority," as Tobey put it, who began the "comedy of errors."

Hearing-Room Packed

Fleming hastened back to Washington and told his story to a packed hearing-room. He wound up by declaring:

"I recommend that the law be re-enacted substantially in its present form."

The rent control act expires June 30. Fleming said he believes the extension should run for 12 more months because "inflationary pressures on rentals are much more powerful now than they were after World War I."

"It is not difficult to foresee what would happen if present controls on rent were suddenly lifted," he added.

Some officials expressed the view privately that the incident increased the likelihood that Congress would order some sort of flat increase in view of the disclosure that Fleming had decided a flat increase was desirable.

Fleming Takes Full Blame For Order to Boost Rents

FRANCE RENEWS PROTEST ON OIL

Insists Middle East Deal Violates Pact of 1928.

Washington, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—France was reported today to have renewed her protest to the United States against the Middle Eastern oil deal involving four major American companies.

Government officials told reporters that the second French note details contentions made in the first note of a month ago that the agreement violated a 1928 pact to which a French company was a party.

France specifically objected to to a deal whereby Socony Vacuum and Standard of New Jersey were permited to buy 40 per cent of control in the Arabian-American oil company.

The Arabian - American Oil company formerly was operated solely by the Texas company and Standard of California. It has exclusive rights to exploit the tremendous quantities of oil in Saudi Arabia.

France's position is that this agreement is illegal because Standard of New Jersey and Socony Vacuum pledged in 1928 that they would not seek concessations in the so-called "red line" area independently of French, British and Dutch firms. The "red line" area roughly covers the territory within the limits of the former Turkish Ottoman Empire of which Saudia Arabia is part.

State Department officials said they were studying both French notes and hoped to reply within the next week or ten days.

The United States, in effect, rejected the first French protest on this matter, claiming it was a deal between private companies and not an inter-governmental matter.

Later, a State Department spokesman retracted this stand and said the American Government regarded it as an inter-governmental matter and would weigh the French position carefully.

Outlook For Armed Forces: No Draft, Must Rely On Volunteers

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Prospects are stronger than ever today that the armed services will have to rely on volunteers alone for quite a while after March 31, when the draft expires.

Extended White House hearings on compulsory universal training and undiminished congressional opposition to continuing selective service are combining to create this situation.

Actually, however, there have been no draft calls since last October.

Report Due In April

Officials of President Truman's Advisory Commission on Universal Training said it now appears that their report will not be ready until sometime in April.

The commission was created December 19, and has been meeting twice a week. Its chairman, Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, first said he believed recommendations could be made by the end of March.

Even if this schedule were met, however, there is considerable doubt among House leaders that a compulsory training bill could be enacted for several months after that, if at all.

Faces Hostile Majority

An informal poll of the House Armed Service subcommittee shows a majority against such a program. Senate opponents have called it out-of-date "goose-stepping" and forgetful of the lessons of mechanized warfare.

President Truman, however, has de-emphasized the military phase. He stresses that it would provide "physical as well as mental and moral development." Army, Navy and State Department officials are supporting the proposal, although the War Department has insisted that any training system must be based primarily on national security considerations.

Meanwhile, the Army is going ahead at Fort Knox, Ky., with a "guinea pig" training course for 18 and 19 year old volunteers.

Draft "On Way Out"

Congressional opposition to extending the draft is even stronger than against the training proposals. Leaders say selective service is definitely on the way out.

Secretary of War Patterson has promised to send his department's recommendations to Congress next week whether he draft should be extended beyond March 31. He said if the Army can get the volunteers it needs—an average of 35,000 a month—it will not require the draft.

The enlisted strength of the Army now is 970,000. Recruiting since October, 1945, has brought 1,100,000 volunteers, but 50 per cent were for short terms and these are expiring in large numbers.

Recruiting picked up this month over previous months, but it will not hit the 35,000 goal.

ASKS MORE SAFETY FOR TROOP SHIPS

Washington, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—Representative Weichel (R.-Ohio) contended today that the Maritime Commission is operating troop-carrying ships that do not meet safety standards. He said Congress should intervene "before there is a tragedy."

Weichel told a reporter that Vice-Admiral William W. Smith has acknowledged to the House Merchant Marine Committee, of which Weichel is a member, that ships carrying troops and displaced persons home are not adequately provided with lifeboats and rafts. Many of the vessels, Weichel said, are converted cargo ships.

While civilian passengers coming home from foreign stations are required to sign waivers disclaiming their right to damages in the event of an accident, he said, troops are not given even that option.

"They are under orders and when they are ordered to board a ship, they must do so," he commented. "That was all right during the shooting war, but it certainly isn't right now that the emergency is over."

Weichel said Congress should enact a law giving troops the same protection as civilians in the matter of sea transportation.

A Maritime Commission official expressed astonishment at Weichel's comments. This official, asking that his name not be used, said all troops moved in the ships are adequately provided with lifeboats and rafts, and that their safety is assured. The Army and Navy are fully satisfied with the arrangements, he added.

Gen. Devers To Inspect Alaskan Task Forces

Fort Monroe, Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general of the Army Ground Forces, accompanied by a party of ground forces and tactical air command officers, will leave Langley Field tomorrow on an inspection trip to task forces Frigid and Williwaw in Alaska, it was announced today by AGF headquarters at Fort Monroe.

Devers's party, including Maj. Gen. E. R. Quesada, commanding general of the tactical air command with headquarters at Langley Field, is scheduled to be away for more than two weeks.

Seamen's Training To Be Curtailed

Washington, Jan. 31 (A. P.).—The Maritime Commission said today that budget cuts and the diminishing demand for merchant seamen will necessitate a sharp reduction in its widespread training program in the fiscal year beginning July 1. No decision has been reached, the commission said, on the amount of reduction or on which merchant seaman schools will be closed.

"The merchant seaman training program was instituted to meet a wartime need," a public relations spokesman for the commission said. "We turned out 350,000 to 400,000 trained seamen. More than 1,700 ships have been tied up in the reserve fleet, and now there are more seamen available than can possibly go out. A sharp reduction in the training program is very normal and in the interest of the taxpayers."

6 DEADLY POISONS TAKEN FROM ATOMS

Splitting Of Plutonium And Uranium Lead To Find

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Six new poisons, all metals, all created by fission in atomic bombs or in atomic power plants, were reported to the American Physical Society today by J. G. Hamilton, M.D., University of California.

The six are probably the most deadly poisons known to science, with one exception. The exception is plutonium, one of the metals that, by its splitting, fathers the horrid half dozen. Plutonium is equally as deadly a poison as its brood of split atoms.

Uranium, which also makes the same six poisons by splitting, is by itself not nearly as poisonous as its six daughters. All six are common metals.

Emit Radioactive Rays

But when created by atom-splitting the six are isotopes, that is, with slightly different-than-normal weights. Because of this weight difference the six all emit radioactive rays for months.

Their peril is due to the fact that all six, and their father plutonium, deposit themselves in the bone lining next to the marrow. Bone marrow, said Dr. Hamilton, is man's Achilles heel, when attacked by radioactive rays. These rays kill him quicker when they can get at the marrow than when they hit any other tissue. In the inner bone lining they reach the marrow in all cases and first.

There are only two ways of these poisonous metals getting into the blood, and thence to the bones. One is through cuts. The other is by breathing them into the lungs in a spray. If taken in food they are excreted with little or no harm.

One Named Americium

The six poisonous metals are ittrium, lanthanum, cerium, praseodymium, zirconium and columbium.

The new synthetic metal, Element 95, created in cyclotrons, and named Americium, also deposits in bones and is dangerous, but there is no human risk because the amounts produced are far too small to be visible in microscopes.

Hamilton said that the new radioactive metals from atom-splitting have no obvious applications for medical use or for cancer. The studies he reported today were done by K. Scott, H. Copp, Miss Dorothy Axelrod, Dr. L. Jacobsen and Professor R. Overstreet, all of the University of California.

duced very good meteors. Copper nose covers made the best meteor fragments for photographic study. Not only in speed, but in some other way, these flying fragments resembled natural shooting stars. Their trail was 50 to 300 feet long, and straight as a flash of lightning.

This discovery was the tipoff that led to attempts last December to shoot man-made meteors off from a V-2 rocket after it had reached high altitude, where lack of air would give the artificial shooting stars velocities of perhaps 10 miles a second. This experiment failed. Dr. Wood said that the reason was possibly the fact that iron liners or cones were used. In his observations, he said, iron seldom gave decent artificial meteors.

'Meteors' At Aberdeen

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Artificial meteors or shooting stars, traveling about six miles a second, were the secret of American war rockets and some other projectiles.

These man-made meteors shot forward out of the rocket's nose at the instant of impact and explosion, and they bored through steel and concrete like a knife through cheese.

Their discovery was reported to the American Institute of Physics today by Dr. R. W. Wood, research professor of physics, Johns Hopkins University, who conducted the tests at Aberdeen Proving Ground during the war.

Fired By Bazooka

One such rocket was fired by the bazooka. This rocket traveled much too slow to penetrate armor and pill boxes. But the nose explosion did just that. This explosion shot straight ahead like a stream of water out of a hose. For a time it was not known that anything except fire and drive accounted for the penetration.

One dark night at Aberdeen, the instrument known as the spectroscope was used to photograph the jet from a bazooka shell's nose. This picture revealed that the main part of the stream of fire was small fragments of solid matter, travelling at unheard-of speeds, and incandescent because of air friction.

The speeds were those of slow meteors. The particles were as big as, and sometimes bigger, than many visible shooting stars, that are not larger than grains of dust. Even dust traveling six miles a second has a big punch.

Like Conical Cups

The fragments were made of the shattered packing over the nose of the explosive in the rocket. These nose covers, shaped like inverted, conical paper drinking cups, were made of various metals.

Lilienthal Denies 'Red' Charge

1947

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—David E. Lilienthal, nominated by President Truman to head the new Atomic Energy Control Commission, denied before Senators today that he is a Communist.

His deniel in testimony before the Senate Atomic Committee came in response to a question from Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.) who has described Lilienthal as "the head Communist of my State."

"Are you a Communist?" McKellar demanded.

"No," Lilienthal replied firmly.

"Are you a Democrat?"

"No."

"Are you a Republican?"

"No," Lilienthal said. "I am like a great many other people. I am not affiliated with any party. I am an independent voter."

Lilienthal now is acting head of the atomic energy commission, but cannot continue unless the Senate approves his selection for the post. He resigned as head of the Tennessee Valley Authority to accept nomination to the commission.

McKellar has feuded with Lilienthal for years over TVA matters. He told the committee Lilienthal exercised dictatorial control over TVA and sought to prove in questioning that the former TVA head believes in "one man government."

Lilienthal, seated near by, denied vigorously that he holds any such views.

"You don't believe in government by law, do you?" the Tennessee Senator asked.

Lilienthal replied that he doesn't know any other kind of government. He added that he thinks the right kind of men are needed to run any government.

State Dept. Secrecy Plea

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—A quiet but intensive campaign to tighten up on official secrets is in progress at the State Department and in United States embassies abroad.

Several thousand officials and employés in the Capital have been required to view a special film which undertakes to dramatize the importance of care in handling classified documents.

Need Equal To Wartime

In the foreword to a new security handbook, which has been widely distributed, Under Secretary Dean Acheson advises that the need for security is as great as in wartime.

"Leakage of information—in Washington or overseas—might undermine the strength of prestige of our country," Acheson said.

He added that the security efforts are not aimed "at any nation or group of nations."

Officials indicated that the campaign, which was started before Gen. George C. Marshall became Secretary of State, is designed to correct what was regarded as a postwar tendency to carelessness.

Truman Greets Jewish Committee

Atlantic City, Jan. 31 (A. P.)—With messages from President Truman and Gov. Dewey, some 600 delegates from thirty-five States and Canada convened here today for the first post-war convention of the Jewish Labor Committee.

Representatives from seven European and four South American countries were scheduled to be present.

Roosevelt Doctor Receives Medal

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Dr. James Edgar Paullin, of Atlanta, Ga., who was called to attend President Roosevelt in his fatal collapse at Warm Springs, today received the President's Medal for merit in a ceremony at the Navy Department.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal presented the award for services to the Navy during the war.

Dr. Paullin, professor of chemical medicine at Emory University Medical School in Atlanta, was an honorary consultant to the Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery and a member of the Procurement and Assignment Service Board of the War Manpower Commission.

As a medical consultant he visited Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines, doing research in treatment of rheumatic fever and tropical diseases.

World Bank Showed Loss in 1946

Washington, Jan. 31 (A. P.)—The forty-nation World Bank, which has yet to make any of the reconstruction and development loans for which it was organized last year, reported today it had an operating loss of $432,022 for the last six months of 1946. The bank showed that its income for the period was $289,889, earned from interest on investments, while its expenses amounted to $721,911.

Total assets of the bank will be $7,790,172,628 in subscriptions to capital stock by member countries, although only a fifth of that is to be paid in unless losses should require further calls upon members for payments.

Salaries constituted the biggest item of expense, totaling $361,226.

Gardner Taking Vittles Abroad; Also Knee Pants

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Ambassador O. Max Gardner will leave for England next week prepared for anything from a formal levee at the Court of St. James's to a 60-day siege. In his baggage will be:

1. Two pairs of satin knee breeches.
2. A 60-day supply of food.

The knee breeches were presented to Gardner by friends at a stag dinner—although the formal levees at which they are required have not been held for nine years.

The Ambassador said he and his family are taking along the food to avoid, as much as possible, draining scant British supplies.

One pair of Gardner's shiny knee pants is the regulation black, but the other is a brilliant green with stripes. These, his friends told him, are in case he goes to Eire and wants to wear breeches there.

If he ever does wear the black breeches, Gardner said, they'll become items of historical interest in North Carolina.

"I shall present them to the North Carolina State Historical Society—if I wear them," he declared.

THE DEPUTIES TOOK NO ACTION ON THE YUGOSLAV CHARGES YESTERDAY BUT INFORMED SOURCES SAID DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER FEODOR T. GOUSEV OF RUSSIA TOOK A SERIOUS VIEW OF THE ACCUSATIONS. AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES DID NOT IMMEDIATELY COMMIT THEMSELVES, BUT COMMENTED THAT CARINTHIA WAS IN THE BRITISH ZONE OF AUSTRIA AND THAT PIESCH APPARENTLY WAS SATISFACTORY TO THE BRITISH.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN PLANS FOR FEDERALIZATION OF GERMANY, RADIO COMMENTATOR LEMIN SAID, "CONCEAL PLANS FOR ESTABLISHING COMPLETE RULE OF FOREIGN MONOPOLY AND CAPITAL IN GERMAN ECONOMY."

THE DEPUTIES TOOK NO ACTION ON ITALY'S FORMAL REQUEST YESTERDAY FOR A SHARE IN WRITING THE GERMAN PEACE TREATY AND SOME QUALIFIED INFORMANTS EXPRESSED BELIEF THE MATTER WOULD BE REFERRED TO THE MOSCOW MEETING OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS IN MARCH FOR FINAL DECISION. ITALY'S CLAIM WAS BASED ON THE FACT THAT SHE WAS A CO-BELLIGERENT OF THE ALLIES DURING THE LAST TWO YEARS OF THE WAR.

ANOTHER PROTEST CONCERNING THE PROCEDURE WHICH MAKES THE BIG FOUR THE ONLY FULL PARTICIPANTS IN WRITING THE TREATIES ALSO FACED THE DEPUTIES TODAY. EXTERNAL AFFAIRS MINISTER LOUIS ST.LAURENT OF CANADA MADE PUBLIC IN OTTAWA LAST NIGHT A DECLARATION DEMANDING AN EQUAL VOICE IN WRITING THE PEACE BECAUSE CANADA HAD A FULL SHARE IN FIGHTING THE WAR AND HAS "NO ESCAPE FROM THE CONSEQUENCES OF A BAD PEACE."

SMALL NATIONS THUS FAR HAVE BEEN PERMITTED ONLY TO PRESENT THEIR VIEWS TO THE DEPUTIES AND THEN RETIRE. GOUSEV HAD STURDILY REJECTED ANY SUGGESTION FOR CHANGING THIS METHOD.

INSTEAD OF TRAVELLING IN A COLORFUL HORSEDRAWN PROCESSION, THE ROYAL FAMILY CHOSE TO MOTOR SLOWLY TO THE STATION IN ORDER TO RECEIVE THE PLAUDITS OF THE CROWDS. LARGE NUMBERS OF PEOPLE GATHERED ALONG THE 75-MILE STRETCH FROM LONDON TO PORTSMOUTH TO BID FAREWELL TO THE ROYAL FAMILY.

EARLIER IN THE WEEK THE ROYAL LUGGAGE WAS PLACED ABOARD THE SHIP. IT INCLUDED NEW WARDROBES FOR THE QUEEN AND PRINCESSES, WHICH WILL GIVE THE PEOPLE OF SOUTH AFRICA AND THE WORLD AN IDEA OF WHAT BRITISH POSTWAR DRESS AND HAT DESIGNERS ARE DOING.

THE VANGUARD--NINTH VESSEL OF THAT NAME IN THE BRITISH NAVY -- HAS BEEN MAGNIFICENTLY FITTED OUT FOR ITS GOOD WILL MISSION. STEEL CABIN BULKHEADS HAVE BEEN BRIGHTLY DECORATED, CURTAINS HUNG OVER PORTHOLES AND FURNITURE MOVED FROM THE ROYAL YACHT INTO THE ROYAL STATEROOMS. NO STOPS WILL BE MADE BEFORE CAPETOWN.

SOUTH AFRICA IS REPORTED TO BE PLANNING A HUGE WELCOME DESIGNED TO SURPASS ANTHING OF ITS KIND EVER UNDERTAKEN IN THAT PART OF THE WORLD.

THE ROYAL FAMILY'S FIRST TRIP OF ANY CONSEQUENCE SINCE THE WAR AND THE PRINCESS ELIZABETH'S FIRST CLOSE-UP OF THE EMPIRE, THE PROJECT -- THOUGH GAY ENOUGH IN MANY WAYS -- IS CONSIDERED GENERALLY TO HAVE TOO MANY SIGNIFICANT IMPLICATIONS TO BE VIEWED MERELY AS A HOLIDAY.

IT IS REASONED THAT THE VISIT MIGHT WELL DETERMINE WHETHER THE UNITED PARTY OF SOUTH AFRICAN PRIME MINISTER JAN CHRISTIAAN SMUTS -- A COMMONWEALTH SUPPORTER, BUT UP AGAINST STRONG OPPOSITION -- SHALL REMAIN IN POWER. SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC QUESTIONS AS WELL AS POLITICAL ONES WILL BE STUDIED CAREFULLY BY THE KING AND QUEEN -- AND BY PRINCESS ELIZABETH, FOR THIS IS A MAJOR PHASE OF HER SCHOOLING AS A FUTURE QUEEN.

PORTSMOUTH, ENGLAND, JAN. 31-(AP)-BRITAIN'S ROYAL FAMILY WAVED FAREWELL TO JOSTLING THOUSANDS IN WINTRY LONDON AND THIS BOMBED PORT TODAY AND BOARDED THE BATTLESHIP VANGUARD FOR A 3 1/2 MONTH TRIP TO SOUTH AFRICA.

BEGINNING THEIR FIRST MAJOR TOUR SINCE THEIR 1939 VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA, KING GEORGE AND QUEEN ELIZABETH, ACCOMPANIED BY THE PRINCESSES ELIZABETH AND MARGARET ROSE, TRAVELLED HERE FROM THE CAPITAL BY SPECIAL TRAIN, AND EMBARKED READY TO SAIL WITH THE PRE-DAWN TIDE TOMORROW MORNING.

IN LONDON MILLING CROWDS CHEERED AND WAVED ALONG THE ROUTE FROM BUCKINGHAM PALACE TO WATERLOO STATION, AND THOUSANDS MORE INSIDE THE STATION SHOUTED GOODBYES. PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE AND SEVERAL OF HIS CABINET SHOOK HANDS WITH THE KING AND JOINED IN A GREAT HURRAH AS THE TRAIN PULLED OUT.

BECAUSE OF THE COLD WEATHER THE USUAL HORSEDRAWN CARRIAGE PROCESSION WAS DISPENSED WITH AND THE TRIP TO THE STATION WAS BY MOTOR CAR.

THE QUEEN MOTHER, QUEEN MARY, THE KING'S BROTHER, THE DUKE OF GLOUCESTER, AND THE PRINCESS ROYAL, THE COUNTESS OF ATHLONE, TRAVELLED WITH THE ROYAL PARTY TO PORTSMOUTH.

WHILE THE RAF SENT PLANES ROARING OVER THE QUAYSIDE AND ARMY AND NAVY UNITS, SPECIALLY DRILLED FOR THE OCCASION, PARADED COLORFULLY ON THE DOCKS THE PARTY WENT ABOARD DECKS WHICH HAD BEEN SWEPT OF EVERY DROP OF AN EARLY MORNING SNOW.

THE 42,500-TON VANGUARD, NEWEST AND BIGGEST OF BRITAIN'S BATTLESHIPS AND NINTH SHIP OF ITS NAME IN ROYAL NAVY HISTORY, HAD BEEN POLISHED TO PERFECTION. LUXURIOUS SUITES HAD BEEN BUILT IN FOR THE ROYAL PASSENGERS FOR THE 16-DAY VOYAGE, FURNITURE FROM THE ROYAL YACHT MOVED IN AND BRIGHT CURTAINS AND DECORATIONS PROVIDED. 1947

SUMPTUOUS NEW WARDROBES FOR THE QUEEN AND PRINCESSES ALREADY HAD BEEN PLACED ABOARD.

THE 6,500 VOYAGE WITHOUT A STOP TO SOUTH AFRICA AND THE 10,000-MILE TRAIN, MOTOR CAR AND AIRPLANE TOUR OF THE DOMINION WILL PROVIDE A FIRST VIEW OF ANY PART OF THE EMPIRE FOR PRINCESS ELIZABETH, HEIR TO THE THRONE, AND HER SISTER, AND A POST-WAR HOLIDAY FOR THE REST OF THE FAMILY.

BUT IT ALSO HAS POLITICAL OVERTONES, FOR ATTENTION IS FOCUSING ON THE POLITICAL AND SOCIAL STRUGGLE SHAPING UP IN THE DOMINION. SOUTH AFRICA'S NEXT GENERAL ELECTION IS IN 1948, AND MANY BRITISH ARE OF THE OPINION THAT PRIME MINISTER JAN CHRISTIAAN SMUTS, LEADER OF THE UNION PARTY, IS IN FOR A HARD FIGHT. HIS CHIEF OPPOSITION IS THE NATIONALIST PARTY WHICH ADVOCATES SEPARATION FROM THE BRITISH EMPIRE AND AN INDEPENDENT REPUBLIC.

RECENT REFUSAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO SANCTION ANNEXATION BY SOUTH AFRICA OF HER MANDATED COLONIES, AND COMPLAINTS OF THE TREATMENT OF THE INDIAN MINORITY ALSO HAVE DRAWN WORLD ATTENTION TO SOUTH AFRICA.

REPORTS FROM CAPETOWN SAID PREPARATIONS WERE BEING MADE FOR A WELCOMING CELEBRATION SURPASSING ANYTHING OF ITS KIND EVER SEEN IN SOUTH AFRICA.

ON THE SCHEDULE ARE DOZENS OF SPEECHES, A CEREMONIAL OPENING OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN PARLIAMENT, TRIPS ACROSS THE VELDT TO THE FAMOUS DIAMOND FIELDS OF KIMBERLEY, TO VICTORIA FALLS AT THE HEAD OF THE NILE, TO THE BURIAL PLACE OF CECIL RHODES AND TO PICTURESQUE ZULU TRIBESMEN.

HOFFMAN, 63, WHO TESTIFIED TO THE AMASSING OF A $800,000 FORTUNE AS THE OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHER OF HITLER AND THE NAZI PARTY WAS SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS AT HARD LABOR AFTER A FOUR-HOUT HEARING HERE IN THE COLD, BARE PALACE OF JUSTICE WHERE ELITE GUARDS ONCE SNAPPED TO ATTENTION WHEN HE WENT BY.

FRITZSCHE, ONE OF THE THREE NAZIS ACQUITTED IN THE NUERNBERG TRIAL OF HERMANN GOERING AND ASSOCIATES, WAS SENTENCED TO NINE YEARS AFTER A FIVE-DAY TRIAL.

HOFFMAN, THE PROSECUTION DECLARED, WAS IN THE PICTURE FIELD "WHAT JOSEPH GOEBBELS AND HANS FRITZSCHE WERE BY WORD OF MOUTH" --A TOP PROPAGANDIST FOR THE NAZIS.

HOLDING A VIRTUAL MONOPOLY ON NAZI PARTY PHOTOGRAPHS FOR 25 YEARS, HOFFMAN ONCE SECRETLY FILMED HITLER AND EVA BRAUN IN INTIMATE SCENES AT PLAY. ALTHOUGH HE CONTENDED HE WAS PRIMARILY A PHOTOGRAPHER INTERESTED IN THE FINANCIAL REWARDS OF HIS BUSINESS, THE COURT DECIDED HIS PICTURE BOOKS OF HIGH NAZIS WERE PROPAGANDISTIC. THE ORDER WAS BASED ON THE 1945 DEFENSE EMERGENCY REGULATIONS. THE PALESTINE CHIEF SECRETARY, H.L.G.GURNEY, ACTING IN THE NAME OF THE HIGH COMMISSIONER, SIGNED THE ORDER.

A201 ADD JERUSALEM (NITE)—XXX DIRECTIONS

A GOVERNMENT OFFICER SAID THE ACTION WAS TAKEN BECAUSE OF "RECENT TERRORISTIC ACTS IN PALESTINE" AND TO "ALLOW THE GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY TO CARRY OUT THE TASK OF MAINTAINING PEACE."

HE DENIED THERE WAS ANY CONNECTION "WITH THE POLITICAL STATE OF AFFAIRS." THE BRITISH AND ARABS ARE CONSULTING IN LONDON ON THE HOLY LAND AT CONFERENCES WHICH THE ZIONISTS, REPRESENTING PALESTINE JEWS, REFUSE TO ATTEND. THE ZIONISTS WANT PALESTINE TO BECOME A JEWISH STATE. THE ARABS WANT INDEPENDENCE FOR PALESTINE, NOW A BRITISH MANDATE, WITH THE JEWS RELEGATED TO A MINORITY AND FURTHER JEWISH IMMIGRATION BARRED.

THE LATEST VIOLENCE IN THE HOLY LAND WAS THE KIDNAPING BY IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, JEWISH UNDERGROUND GROUP, OF TWO PROMINENT BRITONS, AS HOSTAGES FOR DOV BEL GRUNER, ALLEGED IRGUN MEMBER UNDER DEATH SENTENCE FOR AN ATTACK ON A POLICE STATION. THE HOSTAGES, A BRITISH BANKER AND A BRITISH JUDGE, WERE RELEASED LATER, AND THE SENTENCE ON GRUNER WAS STAYED.

THERE WAS SPECULATION THAT THE EVACUATION ORDER MAY HAVE BEEN GIVEN BECAUSE A SHOWDOWN ANNOUNCEMENT SHORTLY MAY BE ISSUED IN LONDON ON LONG-RANGE POLICY IN PALESTINE WHICH MIGHT PRECIPITATE STRIFE BETWEEN ARABS AND JEWS, OR AGAINST THE BRITISH. IT SEEMED UNLIKELY SUCH A DECISION WOULD PLEASE BOTH JEWS AND ARABS.

THERE WERE RUMORS ALSO THAT GRUNER HAD WITHDRAWN HIS AUTHORIZATION FOR AN APPEAL IN HIS CASE WHICH HAD STAYED THE CARRYING OUT OF HIS EXECUTION.

FEARS WERE EXPRESSED THAT AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF ANY PLAN TO PARTITION THE HOLY LAND, OPPOSED BY BOTH JEW AND ARAB, WOULD RESULT IN AN OUTBREAK OF BLOODSHED. SIMILARLY ANY DECLARATION THAT GRUNER WAS TO BE HANGED WOULD PROVOKE FURTHER TERRORISM BY THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND, AUTHORITIES SPECULATED.

VETERAN SGT.-MAJOR FRANK H.WAGNER, JR., HARRISBURG, PA., COMMENTED "IT WON'T MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE TO ME WHETHER WE ARE HERE OR TIMBUCTOO. IT'S BEEN AN INTERESTING EXPERIENCE, NEITHER GOOD NOR BAD."

PFC F.L.BERRY OF RALEIGH, N.C., SAID "I'LL BE GLAD TO LEAVE. I JUST DON'T SEEM TO MIX WITH THESE CHINESE."

"I'VE BEEN OUT HERE LONG ENOUGHT TO BE CALLED 'WONG' BY MY BUDDIES, GRINNED CPL.JIM MACHIN, 829 PARK AVE., NEW YORK. "SINCE MY ARRIVAL 14 MONTHS AGO, I HAVE BEEN VERY MUCH DISAPPOINTED. HEARING OF THE MARINES LEAVING CHINA IS JUST LIKE GIVING THE OLD HEART A SHOT OF ADRENALIN. I'D EVEN WELCOME BEING STATIONED ON A PACIFIC ISLAND TO GET AWAY FROM THE MYSTERY AND INTRIGUE OF THE FAR EAST."

"I'M GLAD TO GO BACK--JUST AS EVERYBODY ELSE IS," ADDED PVT.JOHN

WAYTON OF NEWARK, N.J.

BUT THE JOY OF THE MARINES IN THE PROSPECT OF GOING HOME WASN'T SHARED BY A GROUP OF RUSSIAN GIRLS WHO SAW IN THE REPORT ONLY THE PROSPECT OF LOSING SOME DESIRABLE BOY FRIENDS.

"I DON'T LIKE IT," SAID A PRETTY BLONDE. "WE'LL BE LONESOME."

"BUT," SAID A FEMININE PHILOSOPHER, "WE HAD BOY FRIENDS BEFORE. WE WILL AGAIN."

THE CABLE SAID THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT HAD AGREED TO AMERICAN SHIPS' TRADING WITH REPUBLICAN PORTS PROVIDED NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES EXPORT DUTIES WERE PAID AND THE GOODS WERE DEFINITELY INDONESIAN PROPERTY. UNDER THIS ARRANGEMENT, THE REPUBLIC WOULD RECEIVE DOLLAR CREDITS IN NEW YORK OR PESO CREDITS IN MANILA FOR THE EXPORTS, THE FIRST FOREIGN EXCHANGE TO REACH THE NATIONALISTS EXCEPT FOR A FEW THOUSAND SINGAPORE DOLLARS.

MEANWHILE, A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID GILBERT MACKERETH, BRITISH CONSUL GENERAL, HAD FORMERLY PROTESTED TO THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT THE INTERCEPTION BY THE DUTCH NAVY OF TWO BRITISH FREIGHTERS AT CHERIBON. THE FREIGHTERS WERE DIVERTED TO DUTCH-HELD SEMARANG, ALSO ON JAVA, WHERE A RUBBER CARGO WAS UNLOADED FROM ONE OF THE VESSELS.

UNDER STRICT NEW CONTROLS IMPOSED TUESDAY BY THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT, ALL EXPORTS WERE ORDERED TO CLEAR THROUGH THE DUTCH. IN THE PAST THE NETHERLANDS NAVY HAS INTERCEPTED BRITISH SHIPPING TRADING WITH THE REPUBLICANS AND DIVERTED IT TO DUTCH-HELD PORTS. IN CONSEQUENCE, THE NATIONALISTS HAVE BEEN CUT OFF FROM FOREIGN TRADE, EXCEPT FOR UNAUTHORIZED TRAFFIC WITH SINGAPORE, AND RUBBER AND SUGAR HAVE BEEN PILING AT INTERIOR POINTS ON JAVA AND SUMATRA.

MANILA, JAN 31-(AP)-THE PHILIPPINES SUPREME COURT TODAY DENOUNCED THE THEORY OF SUSPENDED ALLEGIANCE DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION, UNDER WHICH ACCUSED COLLABORATORS HAD SOUGHT TO ESCAPE TRIAL FOR TREASON.

THE 10 TO 1 DECISION, AFFECTING SOME 5,000 FILIPINOS AWAITING TRIAL, HELD THAT ENEMY OCCUPATION HAD NOT ABROGATED OR SUSPENDED ALLEGIANCE TO THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PHILIPPINES.

SUCH A THEORY, THE COURT SAID, "WOULD LEAD TO DISASTROUS CONSEQUENCES FOR SMALL AND WEAK NATIONS AND WOULD BE REPUGNANT TO THE LAWS OF HUMANITY AND THE REQUIREMENTS OF PUBLIC CONSCIENCE. X X IT WOULD BE COMMITTING POLITICAL SUICIDE."

THE CONTENTION THAT THE PHILIPPINES GOVERNMENT CEASED TO EXIST UPON THE JAPANESE CONQUEST WAS PUT FORWARD BY JOSE P.LAUREL, THE MAN INSTALLED BY THE JAPANESE AS PRESIDENT OF THEIR OWN PUPPET PHILIPPINES GOVERNMENT, AND BY HIS ASSOCIATES.

WITH TASK FORCE WILLIWAW, ADAK, ALEUTIANS, JAN. 30-(AP)-THIS IS ANOTHER ONE OF THOSE BASES THE ARMY GROUND FORCES LIKES BECAUSE THE WEATHER IS SO BAD.

HERE A TASK FORCE OF 840 MEN COMMANDED BY COL.JOSEPH D.RANEY IS BUCKING THE ETERNALLY SOFT AND WET TUNDRA AND SOME OF THE NASTIEST WEATHER IN THE WORLD. IT IS TESTING THE PERFORMANCE OF EQUIPMENT AND THE ENDURANCE OF MEN UNDER "COLD WET" WEATHER CONDITIONS.

OFFICERS HERE HAVE HEARD THAT THE MARINE CORPS, ALSO, WILL CHALLENGE THE FAR NORTH IN AN EXPERIMENTAL AMPHIBIOUS LANDING NEXT MONTH ON KODIAK ISLAND. THE MARINES' EXPERIENCE IN COLD CLIMATES HAS BEEN LIMITED. ALMOST ALL THEIR FAME HAS BEEN WON IN TROPICAL AND TEMPERATE ZONES.

THE "POLAR CONCEPT" HAS STIRRED THE ARMED FORCES. THIS IS THE THEORY THAT IF THERE IS ANOTHER WAR IT IS LIKELY TO BE FOUGHT IN THE ARCTIC BECAUSE AERIAL ROUTES BETWEEN NORTHERN LAND MASSES ARE SHORTER THAN IN LOWER LATITUDES.

HERE AT WILLIWAW, THE TEMPERATURE SELDOM GETS BELOW 20 DEGREES BUT THE REGION IS NOTORIOUS FOR BONE CHILLING DAMPNESS, PENETRATING COLD MISTS AND ALMOST CONSTANT HIGH WINDS SOME OF WHICH REACH A VELOCITY OF 120 MILES PER HOUR.

THE PARTY OF NEWSMEN AND PHOTOGRAPHERS TOURING THE ALASKAN BASES WAS GIVEN A SAMPLE OF THE PROBLEMS THE UNITED STATES FORCES WOULD FACE IF THEY EVER AGAIN HAD TO FIGHT IN THE ALEUTIANS OR SIMILAR FAR NORTHERN REGIONS.

THE ARMY MEN HAVE LEARNED THAT OPERATIONS WITH MECHANIZED FORCES WOULD ALMOST BE IMPOSSIBLE UNLESS OUR PRESENT EQUIPMENT WAS MODIFIED. AND THE CLOTHING AND EMPLOYMENT OF MEN WOULD HAVE TO BE RADICALLY READJUSTED.

WE WATCHED TANKS ATTEMPTING TO CROSS THE CUSTARD SOFT TUNDRA; HEAVY ARTILLERY BEING TOWED BY TWO LARGE TRACTORS AND STILL GETTING STUCK. SMALL STREAMS AND GENTLE SLOPES WERE ENOUGH TO MIRE THEM DOWN UNTIL THEY WOULD HAVE BEEN HELPLESS UNDER ENEMY ATTACK.

WE WATCHED GI'S IN SLUSHY FOXHOLES, HEATING CANNED RATIONS OVER HEAT TABLETS. THE MEN CAN'T SAFELY BE KEPT OUT IN THIS CLIMATE LONGER THAN SEVENTEEN HOURS, COLONEL RANEY HAS CONCLUDED.

THE ARMY HAS MADE A CAREFUL STUDY OF THE EFFECT OF HIGH WINDS AND MODERATELY COLD TEMPERATURES ON THE HUMAN BODY AND HAS COME UP WITH SOME SIGNIFICANT FIGURES. FOR INSTANCE, THEY HAVE LEARNED THAT EVEN WHEN THE TEMPERATURE IS ONLY THIRTY-SIX DEGREES ABOVE ZERO, IF THERE IS A WIND OF SEVENTY MILES PER HOUR, THE CHILLING EFFECT TO THE BODY IS AS BAD AS IF THE TEMPERATURE WERE FORTY-THREE DEGREES BELOW ZERO IN AN AREA WHERE THERE WAS NO WIND.

THERE ARE NO NATIVES ON ADAK. IT SEEMS TO BE A LAND THAT NOBODY LOVES. THE ARMY TOUR OF DUTY ON ADAK IS LIMITED TO EIGHTEEN MONTHS, THE SHORTEST OF ANY OVERSEAS BASE. YET SOME OF THE ARMY AND NAVY PERSONNEL HERE HAVE THEIR WIVES AND CHILDREN ALONG--ABOUT 114 FAMILIES.

THE HEALTH OF THE COMMAND IS EXCELLENT, ACCORDING TO THE MEDICAL OFFICERS. THE VENERAL DISEASE RATE IS ZERO, THEY SAY, WHICH MAKES ADAK UNIQUE AMONG ARMY BASES. AND HERE THE COMMANDING OFFICERS ARE NEVER TROUBLED WITH MEN GOING ABSENT WITHOUT LEAVE.

ANCHORAGE,ALASKA,JAN.31-(AP)-I RAN ACROSS MRS.MARION BOOTH SEATER -- TO WHOM I GAVE MY CADET COMPANY ARMBAND WHEN WE WERE FRESHMEN IN CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL, WASHINGTON,D.C., BACK IN 1919 -- ON ELMENDORF FIELD HERE THIS WEEK.

SHE WAS AT AN AIR TERMINAL AWAITING A PLANE FOR WASHINGTON. I WAS HEADED FOR THE ALEUTIANS.

JUST BEFORE THE WAR, SHE TOLD ME, SHE MARRIED JAMES SEATER, A DARK-HAIRED LUMBERJACK WHO HAD STUDIED AT THE UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, AND WAS AN ENGINEER. HE WAS 10 YEARS HER JUNIOR.

MARION AND JIM HAD A DREAM OF LIVING IN THE SOUTH SEAS. THEY HEADED FOR MANILA. THEIR TWO CHILDREN, DIANA AND DAPHNE, WERE BORN THERE.

THEN THE JAPS STRUCK.

JIM TOOK OVER A 75-FOOT ABANDONED LAUNCH, AND PUT HIMSELF UNDER THE COMMAND OF THE ARMY. WITHIN TWO MONTHS, IN FEBRUARY, 1942, HE WAS COMMISSIONED A LIEUTENANT.

WHEN OUR ARMY WITHDREW FROM MANILA, HE RAN A FERRY SERVICE BETWEEN CORREGIDOR AND BATAAN, TAKING MEN AND SUPPLIES BACK AND FORTH. HIS EXPLOITS BROUGHT HIM DECORATIONS. MARION HAS LETTERS FROM OFFICERS WHO SAID HE WAS AWARDED THE SILVER STAR SEVERAL TIMES, AND THAT GEN. JONATHAN WAINWRIGHT CONFERRED ON JIM THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS.

THE SURRENDER OF CORREGIDOR BROUGHT SILENCE FOR A WHILE. THEN SHE BEGAN TO GET LETTERS FROM JIM--LONG, WONDERFUL LETTERS, SHE RECALLS, WHICH FRIENDLY FILIPINOS BROUGHT, THROUGH THE UNDERGROUND.

SHE WAS ALLOWED TO LIVE IN THEIR HOUSE IN MANILA FOR ABOUT A YEAR. THEN SHE AND THE CHILDREN WERE INTERNED AT SANTO TOMAS PRISON CAMP.

SHE RECEIVED HER LAST LETTER FROM JIM ON CHRISTMAS DAY, 1944.

FROM THE TIME OF THE JAPANESE SURRENDER UNTIL NOW, MARION HAS BEEN SEARCHING FOR HER JIM. SHE HAS POURED OVER OFFICIAL RECORDS; WRITTEN TO AND INTERVIEWED DOZENS OF OFFICIALS; TOURED THE PHILIPPINES, THE CHINA SEA AND JAPAN FOR SOME TRACE OF HIM.

WHEN THE ARMY ARRANGED THE EVACUATION OF INTERNEES TO THE UNITED STATES, SHE REMAINED IN MANILA FOR 14 MONTHS TO CONTINUE HER SEARCH.

SHE WENT INTO THE HILLS AND TALKED TO CAPTURED JAPANESE. SHE WENT INTO THE TUNNELS OF CORREGIDOR AND SCANNED THE WALLS AND THE TRASH, LOOKING FOR SOME CLUE TO HIS FATE.

THE REPORTS WERE CONFLICTING. SOME SAID JIM WAS EXECUTED IN THE LAST MONTHS OF JAPANESE OCCUPATION. OTHERS SAID HE WAS KILLED BY AMERICAN FIRE WHILE PILOTING A RAFT TO THE MAINLAND DURING THE FINAL BATTLE.

IN WASHINGTON SHE HOPES TO FIND THE ANSWER TO THE MYSTERY.

OTTAWA, JAN. 31-(AP)-CANADA, IN ADDITION TO FINANCING HER OWN WAR EFFORT, CONTRIBUTED CLOSE TO $4,000,000,000 WORTH OF SUPPLIES, FOODS AND WAR MATERIALS TO WARRING UNITED NATIONS AND LIBERATED COUNTRIES, THE GOVERNMENT SAID TODAY.

THE CANADIAN MUTUAL AID BOARD'S FINAL REPORT SAID THAT MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES FURNISHED THE UNITED NATIONS UNDER THE MUTUAL AID ACT ALONE FROM SEPT. 1, 1943, TO SEPT. 1, 1945, TOTALED $2,471,212,000.

OF THE TOTAL $2,112,150,000 WENT TO THE UNITED KINGDOM. THE REMAINDER, IN VARYING AMOUNTS, WENT TO AUSTRALIA, THE BRITISH WEST INDIES, CHINA, FRANCE, GREECE, INDIA, NEW ZEALAND AND RUSSIA.

IN ADDITION TO MUTUAL AID (CANADIAN VERSION OF LEND-LEASE), CANADA MADE A $1,000,000,000 GIFT TO THE UNITED KINGDOM, CONTRIBUTED $154,000,000 TO UNRRA, PROVIDED $95,000,000 IN MILITARY RELIEF AND GAVE GREECE $19,000,000 WORTH OF WHEAT.

(600) NIGHT LEAD ATOMIC

WASHINGTON, JAN.31-(AP)-THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION DISCLOSED TODAY THAT "RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT WORK ON IMPROVED ATOMIC WEAPONS IS IN PROGRESS."

THE STATEMENT APPARENTLY MEANS THAT WORK IS UNDER WAY ON A MORE POWERFUL BOMB THAN THE TYPE USED AT NAGASAKI AND IN THE BIKINI TESTS. THIS TYPE, IN TURN, HAS BEEN OFFICIALLY DESCRIBED AS MORE POWERFUL THAN THE FIRST BOMB DROPPED AT HIROSHIMA.

THE DISCLOSURE WAS MADE, WITHOUT AMPLIFICATION, IN A REPORT TO CONGRESS WHICH SAID THAT CHANGES BEING MADE IN THE PROCESS OF SEPARATING URANIUM 235 AT OAK RIDGE, TENN., WILL PERMIT SAVINGS IN COSTS AND A REDUCTION IN THE NUMBER OF EMPLOYES. U-235 IS A FISSIONABLE ELEMENT WHICH CAN MAINTAIN A CHAIN REACTION AND IS USED IN THE ATOMIC PILE.

THE REPORT ALSO SAID THAT THE COMMISSION PLANS "TO CONSULT WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF INTERESTED AMERICAN INDUSTRIES IN SUCH FIELDS AS UTILITIES, ELECTRICAL MANUFACTURING, CHEMICALS AND OTHERS, IN ORDER TO ASSURE BROAD PARTICIPATION BY PRIVATE ENTERPRISE IN ITS RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM."

THE REPORT DISCLOSED THAT WALTER J.WILLIAMS, FORMER DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS AT THE OAK RIDGE PLANT, HAS BEEN NAMED BY THE COMMISSION AS ITS DIRECTOR OF PRODUCTION. DR.JAMES B.FISK, FORMERLY WITH THE BELL TELEPHONE LABORATORIES, WAS NAMED DIRECTOR OF RESEARCH.

THE REPORT SAID THAT THE SECRETARIES OF WAR AND THE NAVY HAD DESIGNATED THE FOLLOWING MILITARY LIAISON COMMITTEE: LIEUT.GEN.LEWIS H.BRERETON, CHAIRMAN; MAJ.GEN.LUNSFORD E.OLIVER, COL.JOHN H.HINDS, REAR ADM.THORVALD A.SOLBERG, REAR ADM. RALPH A.OFSTIE, AND REAR ADM. WILLIAM S.PARSONS.

SENATORS CONSIDERING THE QUALIFICATIONS OF DAVID E.LILIENTHAL TO BE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMISSION, MEANWHILE, HEARD A DENIAL FROM HIM THAT HE IS A COMMUNIST.

IT CLIMAXED A HOT RUNNING EXCHANGE BETWEEN HIM AND SENATOR MCKELLAR (D-TENN), WHO DENIED HE IS CONDUCTING A "FEUD" WITH THE FORMER CHIEF OF THE TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY.

"THE ONLY FEUD THAT EVER EXISTED BETWEEN US WAS WHEN I ATTEMPTED TO FORCE YOU TO PAY YOUR (TVA) RECEIPTS INTO THE TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES LIKE EVERY OTHER AGENCY," MCKELLAR DECLARED.

LILIENTHAL SAT WITH LEGS CROSSED, ANSWERING FIRMLY AS MCKELLAR PUMPED QUESTIONS AT HIM ABOUT HIS VIEWS ON GOVERNMENT IN GENERAL, HIS POLITICAL AFFILIATION AND HIS FORMER TVA ASSOCIATES.

MCKELLAR DEMANDED TO KNOW WHETHER LILIENTHAL IS A COMMUNIST.

"NO," THE WITNESS REPLIED SHARPLY.

MCKELLAR THEN ASKED WHETHER THE ATOMIC CHAIRMAN IS A DEMOCRAT OR A REPUBLICAN.

"NO," LILIENTHAL SAID, "I AM LIKE A GREAT MANY OTHER PEOPLE. I AM NOT AFFILIATED WITH ANY PARTY. I AM AN INDEPENDENT VOTER."

AT ANOTHER POINT THE SENATOR ASKED LILIENTHAL IF HE DOES NOT BELIEVE IN "ONE MAN GOVERNMENT," ADDING THAT WAS THE WAY THE TVA WAS RUN UNDER LILIENTHAL'S GUIDANCE.

"DO YOU KNOW ANY DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THOSE VIEWS AND THE VIEWS OF PREMIER STALIN OF RUSSIA?" MCKELLAR DEMANDED. "HE BELIEVES IN GOVERNMENT OF MEN -- ONE MAN -- AND DON'T YOU?"

"NO," THE WITNESS REPLIED.

LILIENTHAL ANNOUNCED THE APPOINTMENT OF COL.JAMES MCCORMACK,JR., AS DIRECTOR OF MILITARY APPLICATIONS OF ATOMIC ENERGY.

AT A NEWS CONFERENCE LATER HE WAS ASKED WHETHER THE PLANTS PRODUCING FISSIONABLE MATERIALS ARE RUNNING "24 HOURS A DAY." HE SAID HE COULD NOT ANSWER THAT, BUT HE COULD SAY THEY ARE CONTINUING OPERATIONS ON THE SAME BASIS AS WHEN THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION TOOK THEM OVER FROM THE ARMY'S MANHATTAN DISTRICT JAN.1.

NEITHER WOULD HE COMMENT ON A QUESTION WHETHER IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE IN A-BOMBS TO MAKE THEM MORE POWERFUL.

HE AND SECRETARY OF WAR PATTERSON SAID THEY HAD NO COMMENT ON REPORTS THAT GERMAN SCIENTISTS HAVE BEEN BROUGHT TO THE UNITED STATES TO AID AMERICAN SCIENTISTS IN ATOMIC RESEARCH.

PATTERSON SAID, IN REPLY TO A QUESTION, HE IS "SATISFIED IN EVERY WAY" WITH THE COMMISSION'S PLANS FOR GUARDING SECRETS.

LILIENTHAL GAVE THIS DESCRIPTION OF HOW THE ATOMIC SETUP WILL FUNCTION:

THE COMMISSION WILL MAKE POLICIES, TO BE EXECUTED BY ITS GENERAL MANAGER, CARROLL WILSON.

THERE WILL BE FOUR DIVISIONS, EACH WITH A DIRECTOR, ON MILITARY APPLICATIONS, ENGINEERING, RESEARCH AND PRODUCTION.

IDEAS AND PLANS FOR MILITARY PRODUCTION WILL COME FROM THE ARMY AND NAVY AND ANYONE ELSE WHO WANTS TO OFFER THEM, LILIENTHAL SAID, BUT THE MILITARY WILL NOT DOMINATE.

MCCORMACK WILL BE A MEMBER OF THE "ATOMIC TEAM," STUDYING THE "WHOLE OVERALL PICTURE" AND NOT MERELY THE MILITARY NECESSITIES, LILIENTHAL SAID.

THE MILITARY LIAISON COMMITTEE, RATHER THAN MCCORMACK, WILL HAVE THE JOB OF RELAYING ARMY AND NAVY IDEAS, HE ADDED.

MCCORMACK, 38, IS A GRADUATE OF WEST POINT AND DURING THE WAR SPECIALIZED IN WEAPONS. HE ALSO SERVED IN EUROPE UNDER GEN.OMAR N. BRADLEY.

PALESTINE 1947

WASHINGTON, JAN 31-(AP)-STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID TODAY THERE ARE ABOUT 4,900 AMERICAN CITIZENS IN PALESTINE.

OF THESE, 2,786 WERE LISTED AS HEADS OF FAMILIES AND 2114 AS DEPENDEN

IN VIEW OF THE GREAT NUMBER WHO WENT THERE WITH THE INTENTION OF MAKING PALESTINE THEIR PERMANENT HOME, OFFICIALS CONSIDER IT UNLIKELY THAT VERY MANY WILL WANT TO LEAVE DESPITE THE BRITISH ORDER FOR BRITISH WOMEN AND CHILDREN TO GO.

THUS FAR THERE HAVE BEEN NO MOVES TO ASSIST THOSE WHO DO WISH TO LEAVE. OFFICIALS SAID THEY HAD RECEIVED NO ADVICES FROM LOWELL C.PINKERTON, U.S. CONSUL GENERAL WHO WAS QUOTED IN JERUSALEM DISPATCHES AS SAYING HE WAS RECOMMENDING TO WASHINGTON THAT THE DEPARTMENT GIVE ALL ASSISTANCE TO AMERICANS WANTING TO LEAVE.

FEDERAL EMPLOYES

WASHINGTON, JAN.31-(AP)-FIRING OF 1,000,000 OF THE GOVERNMENT'S 2,300,000 CIVILIAN EMPLOYES, AT AN ANNUAL SAVING OF $3,500,000,000, WAS PROPOSED FORMALLY BY REP.TABER (R-NY) TODAY TO THE SENATE-HOUSE BUDGET COMMITTEE.

CHAIRMAN KNUTSON (R-MINN) OF THE HOUSE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE SAID "IT WAS THE GENERAL FEELING" OF THE BUDGET GROUP, WHICH IS TO SET A CEILING OF FEDERAL SPENDING, THAT GOVERNMENT PERSONNEL CAN BE CUT BY TABER'S FIGURE. THE "FIRING" WOULD BE ACCOMPLISHED BY CUTTING OFF APPROPRIATIONS FOR SALARIES OF THE 1,000,000 EMPLOYEES.

TABER, CHAIRMAN OF THE BUDGET COMMITTEE, DISCLOSED THERE WAS DISAGREEMENT AT THE MEETING, AS TO WHETHER IT WAS PRACTICAL TO CUT OFF 1,000,000 EMPLOYEES. HE SAID SOME COMMITTEE MEMBERS MAINTAINED SUCH A CUT WOULD INJURE GOVERNMENT FUNCTIONS.

KNUTSON SAID HE DID NOT THINK SO.

"WE FIGURE A CUT OF A MILLION WOULDN'T CRIPPLE THE GOVERNMENT," KNUTSON COMMENTED.

"IN 1935, THE GOVERNMENT HAD 720,000 EMPLOYES, IN 1939 THE FIGURE WAS 900,000. NOW IT IS 2,300,000. IF WE CUT 1,000,000 OFF WE STILL WOULD HAVE 400,000 MORE THAN IN 1939."

TABER SAID THE GOVERNMENT HAS "AT LEAST 250,000" CIVILIAN EMPLOYES WITH THE OCCUPATION FORCES ABROAD, "AND THIS NUMBER STILL IS GOING UP."

A12WX

"THESE PEOPLE BEING FED BY US ACROSS THE WATER SHOULD GO TO WORK," HE SAID. "WE SHOULD BE ABLE TO GET ALONG WITH FEWER EMPLOYES ABROAD. I CAN'T SEE WHY WE SHOULD FEED THESE PEOPLE IN IDLENESS."

AS FOR THE 1,000,000 OVERALL CUT IN FEDERAL EMPLOYES, TABER SAID THIS WOULD "SAVE $2,500,000,000 IN SALARIES AND $1,000,000,000 IN INCIDENTALS."

HE REITERATED PREVIOUS ASSERTIONS THAT AROUND $5,000,000,000 CAN BE CUT FROM PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S $37,500,000,000 BUDGET, MAKING ROOM FOR A BALANCED BUDGET, PAYMENT ON THE NATION'S DEBT AND FOR TAX REDUCTION. 1947

TABER, DISCUSSING THE DIFFERENCES OF OPINION AMONG COMMITTEE MEMBERS, SAID THE ESTIMATES OF THE NUMBER, OF FEDERAL EMPLOYES WHO COULD BE DROPPED "RAN ALL THE WAY FROM NONE TO 1,000,000."

REP.CANNON (D-MO) DESCRIBED THE COMMITTEE'S MEETING "A POLITICAL FIELD DAY" FOR THE REPUBLICANS. HE DISPUTED KNUTSON'S STATEMENT THAT THERE WAS A GENERAL FEELING THAT 1,000,000 CAN BE FIRED.

"OF COURSE WE ARE GOING TO CUT OUT UNNECESSARY EXPENDITURES AS WE FIND THEM," HE SAID. "BUT THIS SITUATION REQUIRES STUDY BEFORE ANYBODY CAN SAY WHAT WE WILL DO."

THE SUBJECT OF CUTTING GOVERNMENT PERSONNEL CAME UP WHEN THE COMMITTEE WAS HEARING BUDGET DIRECTOR JAMES E.WEBB EXPLAIN THE DETAILS OF MR.TRUMAN'S BUDGET FOR THE FISCAL YEAR BEGINNING JULY 1.

IN THE CLOSED DOOR MEETING, WEBB WAS REPORTED TO HAVE TOLD THE COMMITTEE THE MATTER OF FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT WAS "CAREFULLY SCREENED" BEFORE MR.TRUMAN SENT HIS BUDGET TO CONGRESS. WEBB SAID DEPARTMENTAL REQUESTS WERE CUT BY $4,000,000,000 TO $5,000,000,000 BY THE BUDGET BUREAU BEFORE THE PRESIDENT'S RECOMMENDATIONS ON SPENDING WERE SENT TO CONGRESS.

(250) WASHINGTON, JAN.31-(AP)-ENACTMENT OF A BASIC INDUSTRIAL MOBILIZATION LAW TO TAKE EFFECT UPON THE OUTBREAK OF ANY FUTURE WAR INVOLVING THE COUNTRY WAS A TENTATIVE GOAL SET TODAY BY REP. SHAFER (R-MICH) FOR THIS CONGRESS.

HE IS CHAIRMAN OF A HOUSE ARMED SERVICES SUBCOMMITTEE RESPONSIBLE FOR MILITARY ORGANIZATION AND INDUSTRIAL MOBILIZATION PLANS.

SHAFER SAID HIS IDEA IS TO ENACT LEGISLATION WHICH WILL THROW THE NATION'S ECONOMY INTO WARTIME GEAR AUTOMATICALLY WITH THE START OF HOSTILITIES.

THE LAW WOULD PROVIDE FOR PRICE CONTROL, PRIORITIES AND OTHER REGULATIONS, AS WELL AS STOCKPILING CRITICAL MATERIALS AND CONVERSION OF INDUSTRY TO WARTIME PRODUCTION.

"IN THE ATOMIC AGE," SAID SHAFER IN AN INTERVIEW, "WE CAN'T FIDDLE AROUND. WE'VE GOT TO HAVE EVERYTHING ON THE LINE AND READY TO GO."

HE ADDED THAT THERE MAY NOT EVEN BE TIME FOR CONGRESS TO VOTE A DECLARATION OF WAR, THAT IT MAY BE NECESSARY TO PROVIDE FOR THE LAW TO TAKE EFFECT UPON A PROCLAMATION OF HOSTILITIES BY THE PRESIDENT.

PLANS FOR INDUSTRIAL MOBILIZATION WERE DRAWN UP BEFORE THE LAST WAR. SHAFER SAID FAILURE TO PUT THEM INTO EFFECT AND THE ENACTMENT INSTEAD OF "PIECEMEAL LEGISLATION DELAYED VICTORY A YEAR AND A HALF TO TWO YEARS."

WITH THE GUIDANCE OF THESE EARLIER PLANS AND THE AID OF EXPERTS FROM THE ARMY AND NAVY MUNITIONS BOARD, WHICH HAS A SIMILAR RESPONSIBILITY, SHAFER SAID HE HOPED THE COMMITTEE COULD DRAFT A LAW FOR ENACTMENT AT THIS SESSION OF CONGRESS.

HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT IT WILL BE "A TREMENDOUS JOB REQUIRING INTENSIVE STUDY OF ALL INDUSTRY."

ONCE A BASIC LAW FOR INSTANT MOBILIZATION OF INDUSTRY IS ENACTED, SHAFER SAID, IT CAN BE KEPT UP TO DATE BY LATER AMENDMENTS.

British Barricade Streets As Palestine Crisis Mounts

PATROLS HEAVILY STRENGTHENED IN JERUSALEM AREA

Tension Grows as Day Nears for Execution of Terrorist Gruner.

MARTIAL LAW THREAT

Authorities Ready to Clamp Down Hard if Violence Flares.

C. Davidson

JERUSALEM, Feb. 1—(AP) British troops rolled out new barbed wire barricades and merged with police to form heavy street patrols of eight to 10 men today as rumors spread that Dov Bel Gruner, convicted member of the Jewish underground would go to the gallows on Tuesday.

Some Jewish quarters in the city were divided into half mile square pens by triple barbed wire rolls.

A reliable informant said the Palestine government had informed Jewish Agency leaders that if the tall bushy-haired Hungarian Jew hangs Palestine would be placed under 24-hour curfew. If any violence occurs, as has been threatened by Irgun Zvai Leumi, the underground group, martial law will be imposed on some parts of the country, the Jewish leaders were told.

NIGHT

Gruner, clad in the dyed red overalls of a condemned man, sat in his cell in a Jerusalem jail with the draft of an appeal for permission to take his case to a higher court still unsigned. He was sentenced to death on Jan. 2 for an attack on a police station nine months before.

Attorneys for Gruner, who became an underground expert by dodging Hitler's men, said he did not want to appeal. It was understood the Palestine government had given him until tomorrow to decide.

Tension mounted because of Gruner's stand since most observers believe that his hanging would result in Irgun Zvai Leumi's making good its previous threat of "immediate reaction" to his execution.

The Rehavia quarter, containing the Jewish Agency and other Jewish national offices, was heavily fortified during the day.

Spot identity checks were made throughout Jerusalem all day. Road-blocks manned by bren carriers and tommy gunners were established on all roads leading into the city.

One reliable informant said a Jewish Agency leader was informed by Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, the Palestine high commissioner, that curfew and martial law might be necessary because the agency had "failed to take its own steps to curb terrorism." (INSERT)

As Jewish leaders met to discuss developments, one report said Hagana, the armed force of the Jewish resistance movement, had been put "on the alert" for a possible move against terrorist groups.

Barricades Thrown Up

Work patrols from the British army turned out at dawn in rain and mud to restring barbed wire barricades and renew defense installations. Blocks of flats in Jerusalem used previously as officers' clubs were made more secure by barricades, indicating they were being taken over as compounds. An entire 30-house section in Jerusalem's Katamon quarter was surrounded with a double thickness of barbed wire, presumably for use as a principal compound for government officials who have been ordered into security camps.

The military held high level conferences ostensibly to discuss measures to be undertaken to maintain order. Police and soldiers searched 40 cafes in Jerusalem this morning and detained 20 persons for questioning without incident.

Meanwhile, housewives, businessmen and government officials continued to protest the action of the Palestine government yesterday in ordering the evacuation to Britain by Tuesday of all British women and children and some non-essential civilians.

Women Vote to Stay

Wives of Palestine police officers were given the option of staying with their husbands, if the latter agree. The women, banded together in the Sarona encampment at Tel Aviv, declared "we stay."

Wives of British soldiers who moved into "married officers' quarters" last night learned they would follow the civilians wives to the United Kingdom.

Evacuation operations will be in charge of the army, and every effort will be taken to safeguard the comfort of the evacuees.

Informants at the Lydda airdrome said 40 Dakotas were due Monday to aid in evacuation directly to England.

American diplomatic officials stressed there was no necessity of evacuating the approximately 4,900 American civilians in Palestine since there is apparently no danger to nationals other than British subjects.

(The U. S. State department said in Washington today that any American can leave Palestine who wants to do so, and no special steps for evacuation are necessary).

Some Americans were leaving, however, among them Mrs. John Keegan, wife of a Transworld Airline Official, and her children. Numerous families of American oil men in Haifa and Jerusalem were planning trips to Lebanon, Cyprus or Egypt.

Keegan said he was bringing in three planes from Cairo "for the use of any Americans, British, or other nationals evacuating to parts of the Middle East."

British Turning Palestine Into A Fortress

1947

C. Davidson

Jerusalem, Feb. 1 (AP)—Military labor crews went into action before dawn today restringing barbed-wire barricades and renewing defenses, in an apparent second step by the British Government to turn all Palestine into a fortress against underground violence.

Yesterday the Government ordered most British women and children, together with some men, evacuated by Tuesday, moved the families of married army men into barracks and told Government officials to prepare for a similar move.

Working in rain and mud, military groups could be seen refurbishing Jerusalem's defense lines with barbed wire. Some blocks of flats previously used as officers' clubs were being barricaded, lending impetus to reports that the blocks were being taken over as compounds.

DAY

Housewives Protest

Protests against yesterday's evacuation order increased today as housewives vehemently opposed leaving their husbands to return to wintertime England. Wives of police officers, given the option of staying if their husbands agreed, banded in Sarona encampment at Tel Aviv to declare: "We stay."

British newspaper correspondents objected strenuously to the Palestine Government ruling classing them as "unessential" civilians who could stay in the Holy Land only at their own risk. They demanded protection and said they intended to stay.

Now scheduled to leave Tuesday morning, the housewives—about 2,000 women and children are affected—reluctantly began the task of packing, even though the more optimistic among them clung to hopes that the order would be rescinded or modified.

Appeal Rejection Rumored

Meanwhile, fears that the next step in the British campaign against violence would entail the imposition of martial law in some form spread through Jerusalem along with unconfirmed reports that Dov Bela Gruner, Jewish underground member under death sentence, had rejected his right to appeal to the Privy Council, Britain's supreme court.

Reliable informants said the Palestine Government has given him until Sunday to make up his mind, at which time is may declare an end to the respite given him from his sentence to hang for engaging in an attack on a police station.

He originally was sentenced to die last Tuesday, but the execution was postponed after two Britons had been kidnapped. Both were released later.

"Reaction" Is Expected

All observers here anticipate that Irgun Zvai Leumi, the organization to which Gruner is reported to belong, will fulfill its threats of "immediate reaction" if Gruner is executed. Most recent "reaction" was the kidnapping of the two civilians as hostages for Gruner's life. (END)

BELGIUM WANTS REICH OCCUPIED 25 TO 40 YEARS

Demands It at London Talks as Ban Against Rebirth of Aggression.

GERMAN FEDERATION ASKED

Meanwhile Russians Again Call for Unified Central Rule in Defeated Nation.

B. Hewett

London, Feb. 1 (A. P.).—Overrun by German armies in two world wars in a generation, Belgium demands that Germany be occupied, at least partially, for twenty-five to forty years to guard against a rebirth of aggression.

DAY

Belgium's views on what kind of peace should be written for a beaten Germany were presented to the Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers Council last night at a session in which Russia's Feodor T. Gousev again emphasized the Soviet view that Germany should be re-established under a unified central government.

Baron Herve De Gruben, speaking for Belgium, proposed formation of a federation of German States to prevent emergence of a strong central government, coupled with long-time occupation of strategic German areas.

De Gruben also advocated economic unity of the Reich to restore a measure of prosperity there. American sources said that he was questioned by Gousev as to how economic unity could be achieved under a federation of States with no political unity.

Cites Soviet Federation.

The informants said that De Gruben replied that the two suggestions might seem at first glance to be contradictory but observed that the United States was federalized and said he believed also that the Soviet Union was a federation.

He proposed control of the Ruhr and the Rhineland by an Allied commission even after the end of occupation.

His appearance concluded one of the deputies' rare harmonious days. Action on a Yugoslav protest against hearing Hans Piesch, the Governor of Austrian Carinthia, was deferred pending a report by the Austrian Control Council on the Yugoslav charges that Piesch had Nazi associations.

In addition, American and Soviet representatives were found to be in nearer agreement on small nation participation in drafting a German treaty for action by the Big Four at Moscow next month.

Gousev had declared that he wants the deputies only to take the testimony of the smaller nations and the United States representative, Robert Murphy, told a newsman he wanted constant consultation by the smaller nations.

Bevin Awaits Stalin Reply

Alliance Negotiations Are Held Up to Clarify "Reservations"

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP).—A Foreign Office spokesman said today negotiations for revision of the Anglo-Russian alliance had not begun.

DAY

In the first and only preliminary talk held so far, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin asked Soviet Ambassador George N. Zarubin Monday night for clarification of the "reservations" which Prime Minister Stalin said weakened the existing alliance, an official source said. No reply has yet been received.

Red Magazine Urges Tight Radio Controls

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Moscow Radio broadcast today an appeal to local Communist committees in the Soviet Union to tighten control over Russia's far-flung radio networks to stimulate "education of the people in the spirit of communism."

DAY 1947

The broadcast quoted the Soviet magazine Culture And Life, which criticized "serious shortcomings" in Russian radio and complained that "weak and inartistic productions lacking ideological content have frequently been broadcast."

Culture And Life in recent weeks has sharply criticized Soviet writers, actors and musicians for straying off the revolutionary path and even in some cases of indulging in "reactionary" artistic notions.

Soviet broadcasts are made in 70 languages of the peoples of the U.S.S.R. and in 28 foreign languages, the magazine said.

Royal Ship Hits Bad Weather After Passing Floating Mine

B. Landstrom

With the Vanguard at Sea, Feb. 1 (AP)—Britain's mighty warship Vanguard, bearing the royal family on a three-month empire-strengthening mission to South Africa, steamed tonight into choppy seas and the prospect of a gale on the first night out.

[The British news agency Exchange Telegraph said the Vanguard escaped a floating mine twentw miles west of the Isle of Wight. The battleship passed the mine when it was less than two miles off the port bow and floating into the course of the royal ship. The mine was discovered after the Vanguard had passed through a sea lane formed by the home fleet, and the escorting vessels immediately put up a special lookout.]

Rough Weather Forecast

A forecast of rougher weather failed to interfere with the first day's schedule of relaxation, exercise and diversion for King George, Queen Elizabeth and the two princesses.

Queen Elizabeth took home movies of RAF I. T. K. M. Reed as he set his helicopter down on the battleship's deck when it was two-ond-one-half hours out of Portsmouth. He settled it among ventilating funnels in a space so small one of the rotor blades almost touched the muzzle of a 15-inch gun. He stayed only long enough to pick up mail from the Royal family and press photographs.

Soon after the escorted Vanguard drew out of snow-swept Portsmouth harbor early today the royal family strolled on deck in the wan sunlight. Later they took another walk in the cold air. Movies were scheduled as one of the man entertainments tonight.

A small shivering crowd ashore and crewmen afloat saluted and cheered as the newest of Britain's battleships set out on its nearly three-week nonstop voyage of 6,000 miles to the youngest of the dominions.

Guns Boom At Farewell

Guns boomed and the music of "God Save the King" was carried across the water. A final farewell message from the Royal Navy whirled from the semaphore arms of Portsmouth signal tower.

The King replied and later sent the time-honored message to the Portsmouth command and the Home Fleet "splice the main brace." The command means a drink of rum for all hands.

[An editorial in the Cape Town Times, South Africa, declared "South Africans of all races feel an added excitement with the actual embarkation, and although they may feel a trifle anxious about how South Africa will appeal to the royal visitors, there is no anxiety about the human welcome that the King, Queen and princesses will receive.

[Cape Town's Nationalist newspaper, which favors a republic, did not mention the royal family's sailing. Both houses of South Africa's Parliament, despite a large Republican element, adopted unanimously a motion that Parliament presents to the King "a humble address of welcome to him and his family."

[In both Cape Town and London, speculation persisted whether Prince Philip of Greece, whose name has been linked romantically with Princess Elizabeth, sailed on the Vanguard as a ship's officer. Buckingham Palace has disavowed the rumor.]

rived last night to go aboard the Vanguard.

The vessel quickly faded out of sight in the gray, early morning light, on the first day of its seventeen-day voyage, with Cape Town listed as the first stop.

Soon after arriving there on February 17, the King and his family will set out on a nine-week, 10,000-mile tour by train through the veld and gold mining country—the first visit of a reigning monarch to South Africa.

The 42,500-ton Vanguard had been polished to nearly spotless perfection for the occasion and luxurious suites had been built in for the comfort of the royal passengers. Sumptuous new wardrobes for the Queen and Princesses were aboard.

Reports from Cape Town said that the South Africans were preparing a welcoming celebration to surpass anything ever seen in that far-off land.

Britain's Royal Family Sails

Leaves on New Battleship for South African Tour Aimed at Tightening Empire Bonds.

DAY

Portsmouth, Feb. 1 (A. P.).—Britain's newest and biggest battleship, H. M. S. Vanguard, sailed for South Africa today, carrying King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and the two princesses on a royal tour to tighten the bonds of empire.

The royal family will be absent from England for three and a half months for a ceremonial tour of all parts of Britain's youngest dominion. It was the first trip abroad for the Monarch and his family since their 1939 visit to Canada and the United States.

[The Vanguard sighted a floating mine twenty miles off the Isle of Wight today, Exchange Telegraph said. It was less that two miles off the ship's bow and was floating in her direction, the dispatch added.]

The King, and Queen and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose stood on the flat surface of a gray gun turret and waved to a cheering crowd standing amid falling snow as the big ship swung away from the pier in bomb-pocked Portsmouth harbor.

The crowd was small, in contrast to the hundreds who greeted the royal family when they ar-

RUSSIA BLOCKS U.S. PROPOSAL TO CURB ARMS

Soviet Objections Arise As Austin Confers With Gromyko

C. Grosvich

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—An American proposal for worldwide arms reduction being drafted for presentation to the United Nations Security Council already has snagged on Russian objections, authorative sources said today.

The basic arms-atomic plan, authored by Delegate Warren R. Austin after consultations with President Truman and George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, was taken up privately and in advance with the other ten nations on the Security Council. The Soviet objections developed during a conference between Austin and Andrei A. Gromyko, Deputy Foreign Minister, who represents Russia on the peace making body.

Whether the United States now will give ground or insist on all major provisions of the proposal was not known.

Many Noncommittal

RIGHT

Indications were that Austin would be guided by the ultimate results of his off-the-floor parleys with the other delegates. Many of the diplomats were noncommittal, preferring first to seek instructions from home governments, and their views likely will become known in detail at next Tuesday's Security Council meeting.

At that session Austin will offer the proposal in the form of a resolution, which stresses these points:

1. The Security Council should establish an eleven-nation disarmament commission to make recommendations. This body would not take up the atomic bomb or other weapons of mass destruction, which would be kept under the present Atomic Energy Commission.

2. A committee of the whole should be formed to lay down the specific terms of reference for such a disarmament commission.

Russian Objections

3. At the following meeting, the Security Council should begin to "consider" the report of the Atomic Energy Commission. (This report, carrying all the basic elements of the Baruch plan, was adopted in the commission without opposition but with Russia and Poland abstaining.)

Soviet objections center on the second point, Gromyko contending that the committee-of-the-whole procedure would slow down handling of the arms problem. It was felt in some quarters that Russia feared such a step would hold up the arms-cutting plans indefinitely, while in reality giving the United States what it originally asked—priority for atomic control.

British Complaint Delayed

The American answer to the Soviet point was that no commission could tackle a task so momentous as arms limitation without having at hand specific terms of reference.

Several other delegates were understood to have questioned the desirability of having a "terms-of-reference" committee, and one possible solution advanced was to have the Security Council itself lay down the rules.

Meanwhile, Great Britain's long-standing complaint against Albania over mining the Corfu channel was delayed again by reopening of the arms issue. Also, there was still no official word on arrival of the Albanian representative, and Russia has insisted that hearings cannot start until an envoy gets to Lake Success.

Austin Completing Council Calls

C. Grosvich

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate to the United Nations, set out today on the final round of calls aimed at convincing his Security Council colleagues that atomic control must be made the paramount issue in any world-wide arms reduction program.

The ex-Senator from Vermont, who represents the United States on both the Council and the Atomic Energy Commission which reports to it, is now plugging for an agreement that general arms reduction and atomic controls may be discussed concurrently but that the latter must be a special subject for separate determination.

Talks With Gromyko

DAY

After spending more than an hour yesterday with Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate and Deputy Foreign Minister, Austin was described by his associates as pleased with the progress of that conference and with his talks with other Council members.

Austin had conferred earlier in the week with President Truman, Secretary of State Marshall and congressional leaders in Washington, and then carried the American campaign into the New York offices of his Council mates. He had visited seven up to this morning, including the retiring and incoming chairmen of the Council, and had the other three on his calendar for today.

Change In U.S. Policy

The only actual change in American policy since the Americans a month ago asked for a delay in arms-reduction talks in the Council until this coming Tuesday is that the United States has agreed that approach to the long-range subject may encompass simultaneous dis-
